LAW SUMMARY

9 Years DIGEST
(2008 to 2016)

By

A.R.K. MURTHY, Advocate

ALAPATI VIVEKANANDA, Advocate

ALAPATI SAHITHYA KRISHNA, Advocate

LAW SUMMARY PUBLICATIONS

SANTHAPETA EXT., 2ND LINE, ANNAVARAPPADU , (☎:09390410747)

ONGOLE - 523 001 (A.P.) INDIA,

E-mail: lawsummary@rediffmail.com

Publiched:
Law Summary Publications,
Ongole - 523 001

2017 Edition

Printed at: Law Summary Off-Set Printers,
Santhapeta Ext., Ongole - 523001, (AP)

Price: Rs.1,500/-

Justice M. Jagannadha Rao
Formerly, Judge, Supreme Court of India,
Formerly, Chairman, Law Commission of India

H.No. 3-6-281/B,
2nd Floor, Above SBI,
Opp : Old MLA's Qtrs, Himayathnagar,
Hyderabad - 500 029.

FOREWORD

Date : 29 It JUNE 2017

This publication of 9 years Digest of Law Summary Reports cover the judgments rendered in the period 2008 to 2016 and runs into 1218 pages. The index of cases contained in this Digest runs into more than 50 pages and, taking into account that each of page of index covers about 28 cases, the number of cases digested comes to nearly 1040 cases or more. This is a massive exercise involving great industry.

The decisions which are covered are those of the High Court Andhra Pradesh and also of the High Court of Judicature at Hyderabad for the States of Telangana, and also the Supreme Court of India. The decisions are tabulated with reference to the sections under several Central and State statutes and also under other general headings.

I would take this opportunity to briefly refer to the history of law reporting and publication of Digests in England and in India for the benefit of the readers.

The Year Books of English Law started in the 16th Century containing decisions from the year to 1268 to 1535, covering the reigns of King Edward I to Henry VIII. Pollock and Maitland said "They should be our glory, for no other country has anything like them". The original manuscripts and editions were either in Latin or Law French. They were compiled mostly by law students. Subsequent volumes came up in 1678 and 1680. The first Abridgment was printed in 1470. After 1535 AD, the printed Law Reports came into being in England. It is said that humour and passion often manifest themselves beneath the formalities of procedure. To the lawyer, they reveal the material out of which, and the foundation of writs, the structure of common law, came to be developed.

M J Rao

Phone : 040-23224533, Mobile : 098109 72203 (Del), Fax : 040-23221181, E-mail : mjrao1935@yahoo.co.in, Website : www.mjrao.com

The old law reports were also printed in the ER (English Reports) series and contain not only the decision of the Courts but also the summary in the arguments of the lawyers who argued the cases. The English and Empire Digest series contains the short notes of earliest cases in common law. It was first published in 1919 and several new versions have been published since then.

Much earlier, the Digest in Roman Law was published in the 6th Century (CE 530-533) divided into 50 volumes. It was discovered in 1135 AD.

In India too, several law journals started reporting cases, in the first phase, of the cases from 1813-1861 and the second stage from 1862 containing the judgments of the Presidency High Courts. The judgments of the Privy Council were reports by Knapp and Moore, called the Moore's Indian Appeals. Reports of the Calcutta Supreme Court were published in 1831. Morley, and later Morton, Fulton, Montriou published several collection of decisions of the Calcutta Supreme Court. Strange, CJ published judgments of the Madras Supreme Court from 1816. Judgments of the Bombay Supreme Court published Morley and Perrey, CJ. Reports of the Courts established by East India Company were also published in 1827. (The history of law reporting in India can be read from the article of J K Mittal, LLM, Lecturer in Law, University of Allahabad (www.allahabadhighcourt.in/event/HistoryOfLawReportinginIndia JKMittal.pdf). That completes a brief history of law reporting.

The Law Summary had published the Digest of cases of 1976 to 1998 covering a period of 22 years and later a Supplement covering the period up to 2000. I think that there was a subsequent publication of a Digest of cases from 2001 to 2007. The present volume consists of summary of case law from 2008 to 2016.

The legal fraternity and the Judiciary has given enormous support to the publishers of Law Summary in the last more than 4 decades and the Journal has moved from strength to strength, thanks to the herculean efforts of Mr.A.Radhakrishna Murthy and his son Mr. Vivekananda and other family members. One of the important features of the Journal is that a number of articles written by lawyers and Judicial officers are regularly published which enlighten the readers.

M J Rao

I am sure that the Journal will move forward higher up in its service to the lawyers and the Judges at all levels and even for the Government Departments.

As repeatedly stated by several Chief Justices and Judges of our High Court, the uniqueness of the Journal is that it is published not from the seat of the High Court at Hyderabad but is published from Ongole and one can understand the hard work and zeal with which Mr.Radhakrishna Murthy and his family members have been working untiringly.

I am sure that this Digest of 1218 pages covering the period 2008 to 2016 will be immense help to the lawyers and the Judges.

29th June 2017

M. Jagannadha Rao

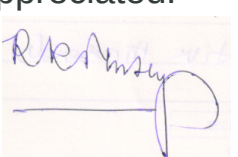
(Justice M.Jagannadha Rao (Retd.)

PREFACE

This 9 years Digest covering period (2008-2016) supplemental to 22 years digest (1976-1997), 3 years digest (1998- 2000), 6 years digest (2001-2006) and one year digest covering period of 2007, produced with same standard.

I wish to place on record my appreciation to Smt.M.Gargeyi, Advocate who assisted in compiling this digest.

I hope that this supplemental Law Summary 9 years digest will be of immense use to the Bench and Bar as a day to day reference book and also will be well appreciated.



A.R.K. Murthy,
Advocate,
Editor, Law Summary

LAW SUMMARY 9 Years DIGEST (2008 to 2016)

CONTENTS

NOMINAL - INDEX

LAW SUMMARY

9 Years DIGEST

(2008 to 2016)

A.P. (T.A) ABOLITION OF INAMS ACT, 1955:

—Secs.2(d), 3 and 4(1) - "Inamdar" - Defined - Litigation between legal representatives of original inamdar - 2nd respondent granting Occupancy Right Certificate (ORC) in favour of 3rd respondent who is grand son of inamdar - 1st respondent/Joint Collector rejected appeal filed by petitioner another grand-son of original inamdar - Hence present, writ petition - Petitioner contends that 1st respondent having found that 3rd respondent and others constitute a joint family committed a serious error in not incorporating all coparceners' names of joint family and that he has completely ignored definition of inamdar u/Sec.2 (d) of Act - 1st respondent/Joint Collector also further observed in his order that u/Sec.4(1) of Act every inamdar has to be registered as an occupant of all inam lands which were under his personal cultivation on crucial date i.e, 1-11-73, and that 3rd respondent alone applied for ORC over lands in question and that petitioner has neither approached authorities nor filed any application for grant of ORC and therefore respondent No.2 has issued ORC in name of 3rd respondent and that it is open to petitioner and other coparceners to file civil suit for redressal of their grievances - In this case, while petitioner has contended before Joint Collector that property in question is joint family property, respondent No.3 has maintained that there was an oral partition by virtue of which he was in exclusive and personal occupation of same under unregistered partition deed - Fact however remains that Pahanies for 1973 which is relevant year, mentioned names of both branches namely, names of respondents 3 & 10, petitioner and his father in column no.11 - Further in possession column, names of respondent no.3 and his father are mentioned - However finding has been given by 1st respondent/Joint Collector that suit lands were jointly held by both parties, but however as respondent no.3 and his father were found to be in personal cultivation of land, 2nd respondent was justified in grant ORC in favour of R3 - CONSTRUCTIVE POSSESSION - In law as to constructive possession in case of Hindu coparcenery Supreme Court held "that possession of a property belonging to several co-sharers by one co-sharer shall be deemed that he possess on behalf of other co-sharers unless there has been a clear ouster by denying title by co-sharers and mutation in revenue records in name of one co-sharer would not amount to ouster, unless there is a clear declaration that title of other co-sharers was denied" - Where an inamdar is a joint Hindu family, such joint Hindu family shall be inamdar - Granting of ORC in favour of respondent No.3 alone on ground that in possession column he was found in personal cultivation cannot be sustained in law - Merely because a manager or coparcener was found in actual possession of property, rights of coparceners cannot be defeated under law of succession - Orders of respondents 1 & 2, unsustainable - Hence, quashed - 2nd respondent directed to issue fresh ORC incorporating names of petitioner and respondent nos.4 to 10 - Writ petition, allowed. Govind Rao Vs. The Joint Collector, Adilabad 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 89 = 2010(5) ALD 650 = 2010(6) ALT 248.

—-Secs.24(1) and 28 - A learned Judge referred this case to a Division Bench for an authoritative pronouncement as to whether a revision is maintainable u/Sec.28 of the A.P. (T.A.) Abolition of Inams Act, 1955, against an order passed u/Sec.24(1) thereof and as to whether a revision filed u/Sec.28 of Act of 1955 can be converted into one under Article 227 of Constitution, after an application filed for such conversion is withdrawn - This reference arose mainly due to difference of opinion on first issue separately expressed by two learned Judges.

Held, appellate order passed u/Sec.24(1) by prescribed authority, District Collector, as well as reference order passed by prescribed authority, Special Tribunal, u/Sec.24(2) is revisable by High Court in exercise of power conferred by Sec.28 of Act of 1955, on limited grounds prescribed there under - Beyond scope of such revision, these orders are conferred with finality on purely factual aspects.

Notwithstanding act of a party in withdrawing application filed by it seeking conversion of a statutory revision into one u/Art.227 of Constitution, it would always be open to Court, either suo motu or upon an application of party, to consider whether it should exercise its plenary power and permit conversion of a statutory revision into one u/Art.227 of Constitution of India. K.Chandra Sekhara Rao Vs. District Collector, R.R. District 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 135 = 2016(6) ALT 360 = 2016(6) ALD 272.

A.P (A.A) ABOLITION OF INAM AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI ACT, 1956

—A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS ACT, 1971 - A.P. LAND REFORMS (CEALING ON AGRICULTURAL HOLDINGS) ACTS, 1973 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA: —Art.226 - Govt., took certain extent of surplus land from Maharaja of Vijayanagaram and subsequently lands in said village were held not to form part of Estate but to an inam village - MRO passed orders holding that petitioners are entitled for Ryotwari pattas inrespect of lands and all petitioners were issued ryotwari pattas in Form-VIII, but however they were not put in possession of lands as possession was taken over by State on premise that it formed part of surplus land of erstwhile Maharaja under provisions of Land Reforms Act - 2nd respondent RDO passed order afresh confirming exclusion of petitioners patta lands from declaration of erstwhile Maharaja and against said order Govt., did not prefer any appeal - MRO regularized unregistered sale transaction and had issued Certificate in their favour u/Sec.5-A(4)

of Act, r/w Rule 22(5) - Consequently MRO had issued pattadar passed books and title deeds to petitioners - Apprehending encroachment over said lands a direction is sought by petitioners that possession of lands, for which they were hitherto granted ryotwari pattas be delivered to them - Respondent/Govt., contends that agreement of sale or unregistered sale document, said to have been executed in favour of petitioners is not bindings on Govt. since sale itself is not genuine - It is not in dispute that petitioners never in possession of lands pattadar pass books and title deeds, if any issued in their favour is contrary to provisions of A.P. Rights in lands Act, 1971 - Eighty two ryots have impleaded themselves as respondents in writ petition and it is their case that they are absolute owners and are in possession of agricultural lands in said village and they have been cultivating lands from time of their forefathers and that so called ryotwari pattas alleged to have been issued in favour petitioners 1to 17 are ex facie illegal - Petitioners have been issued ryotwari pattas, pattadar pass books and title deeds and as possession of lands was taken on its being declared surplus Govt., was duty bound to deliver possession of said land to petitioners herein as they are owners thereof - Govt., contends petitioners have surpressed and misrepresented material facts before this High Court only with view to grab vast extents of precious agricultural lands in Vijayanagaram District; documents were created only to grab huge tracks of land - High Court in exercise of its jurisdiction under Art.226 of Constitution would not adjudicate disputed questions of fact, more so as serious allegation of fraud and misrepresentation are made and relief of delivery of possession can only be sought by way of suit before competent civil Court and not in summary proceedings under Art.226 of Constitution - In proceedings under Art.226 of constitution High Court would not ordinarily, determine title of any individual over immovable property nor would it put him in possession thereof - Since genuineness of alleged sale deed of 1967 is put in doubt by State Govt., and unofficial respondents terming it as a concocted document it becomes necessary for Court to decide factual controversy as to whether said document is real or has been concocted by petitioners for clandestine purpose - As said controversy is purely factual, it is not proper for High Court to take up investigation of such disputed facts and record its finding thereupon - In this case, relief sought for in writ petition, of delivery of possession, when examined in light of submissions land was in occupation of other ryots for past 100 years, would necessarily means that petitioners seek their eviction from lands in question - Such a relief has neither been sought for nor can any such relief be granted in proceedings under Art.226 of Constitution - Petitioner did not choose to array ryots, who would be effected by any such order being passed as respondent in writ petition and it is they who have impleaded themselves as respondents in proceedings - No reason to exercise discretion under Art.226 of Constitution to grant relief sought for that is of delivery of possession of lands which petitioners claim to be owners of - Writ petition, dismissed. M*.S.N.Raju

Vs. M.R.O., Jami Mandal, Vizianagaram, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 113 = 2011(4) ALD 90 = 2011(3) ALT 118.

A.P. ADMINISTRATIVE TRIBUNAL ACT, 1985:

—Sec.19 - Appointment on compassionate grounds - Deceased Group-D Mazdoor working in Air Force Academy expired on account of suicide due to mental illness, leaving widow one son and one daughter - Application submitted seeking appointment to son of deceased on compassionate grounds - 1st respondent/Director General refused to take up matter with Ministry of Defence for obtaining necessary sanction on ground that it is contrary to policy guidelines in view of obnormal delay - Tribunal dismissed order of 1st respondent - Petitioner/Director General contends that family members of deceased were not vigilant and they ought to have made an Application so as to seek immediate relief and instead of doing so they approached Tribunal and Tribual ought not to have undertaken exercise of condoning delay - Respondent contends that she is not aware of Scheme and it is duty of Authority to inform grief family regarding said scheme so as to take necessary steps but that was not done therefore, respondent did not send any application within time stipulated - It is also no doubt true that because of her illteracy respondent has not taken any steps seeking compassionate appointment of her son by making application to authorities - But it is bounden duty of Authorities to act fairly and honestly so as to provide benefits to deceased's children - As per para-12(b) of scheme Welfare Officer in each Ministry/Department/Office should meet members of family of Govt., servant in question immediately after death to advise and assist them in getting appointment on compassionate grounds and applicant should be called in person at very first stage and advised in person about requirement and formailities to be completed by them - But that has not been done in present case - Respondent deprived benefit because of delay in submitting representation - However Tribunal ought not to have undertaken exercise of condoning delay and should have remitted back matter so as to enable Department to process application of applicant respondent and forward same for considering request relating to compassionate appointment of her son - Order of Tribunal modified directing petitioner to forward papers of respondent/applicant to Ministry of Defence to examine and consider case of respondent for appointment of her son on compassionate grounds including aspect of delay as per para 12 (b) of Scheme framed by Govt. Director General MilitaryEngineer Service Vs. Smt.B.Indira 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 397 = 2010(3) ALD 115 = 2010(3) ALT 207.

A.P. AGRICULTURAL LAND (CONVERSION FOR NON AGRICULTURAL PURPOSE) ACT, 2006

—And LAND ACQUISITION ACT,,Secs.4(1), 5-A, 9(1), 9(3) and 10 - Petitioner's land proposed to be acquired without conversion of agricultural land for non-agricultural use and that respondents cannot acquire petitioner's land and that respondents have kept petitioner in dark by initiating acquisition proceedings behind her back without publishing her name in notification issued u/Sec.4(1) of Act and without issuing any notice in enquiry purportedly held u/Sec.5-A of Act and that even notices issued u/Secs.9 and 10 of Act do not contain her name - Respondents/Collector and RDO have not disputed fact that while petitioner is true owner of subject land, which was notified for acquisition along with other lands, name of one MPR was shown as its owner in notification published under Sec.4(1) of Act and in Form-6 u/Secs.9(1) and 10 also again name of MPR was shown as owner - Respondents also attempted to impute knowledge to petitioner about proposed acquisition and was given sufficient opportunity to oppose such proposal - Even though State has power of eminent domain, by which it can forcibly acquire land contrary to will of owner, Supreme Court has time and again held that such power has to be exercised in a fair, transparent and proper manner - "Eminent domain is a right inherent in every sovereign to take and appropriate property belonging to citizens for public use..." - In this case, petitioner was denied proper and sufficient opportunity to put forth her objections to proposed acquisition of land and therefore, respondents are liable to afford such opportunity to her before seeking to proceed therewith - Declaration issued u/Sec.6 of Act, quashed - Petitioner permitted to file her objections - Writ petition,allowed. Manivisetty Parvathi Vs. Collector, East Godavari Dt., Kakinada 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 25 = 2011(5) ALD 453.

A.P. (AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE AND LIVESTOCK) MARKETS ACT, 1966, —Secs.2(v),2(x),2(xv),2(xvi),3(1), 3(3),3(4), 4(3), 4(4),7(1),12,14 & 15, G.O.Ms.No.286, dt.5-7-1994 - "Ghee", produce of livestock - Govt. of A.P issued Notifi-cation vide their Order in G.O.Ms.No.286, dt.5-7-94 in supersession of all earlier G.Os under which Ghee deleted from notified products, treating Ghee is product of livestock and insisting for taking licence and payment of fee - Petitioners contend that a reading of definition of 'livestock' and 'products of livestock' in Sec.2(v) and 2(xv) respectively would show that Ghee is not a product of livestock as it is not directly extracted from livestock but it is extracted from products of livestock i.e., butter or cream - Though cows, buffaloes, goats and sheep are defined as livestock, unless and until a product is directly derived from livestock, it cannot be treated as product of livestock - G.O. issued without mentioning any reasons and without following due procedure prescribed under provisions of Act - Govt. contends that Notification issued under these provisions is a one-time exercise of declaring notified areas or notified market area and every time market products are varied, there is no neessity to invite objections and that power conferred u/Sec.4(4) of Act includes power to include or exclude from list of products for purpose of regulating without resorting to procedure contemplated u/Sec.4 (3) of

Act and that levy of market fee on a notified market product is not subject to quid pro quo and therefore petitioners cannot press for invalidating impugned Govt. order.
Majority view:
JUSTICE V.V.S. RAO (JUSTICE N.V. RAMANA CONCURRING) Held: "Ghee" is a product of livestock and subject to observations made above with regard to daily farmer or small time agriculturist, every trader in Ghee, (other than daily farmer or small time agriculturist who keeps cows and buffaloes) is required to obtain licence under Sec.7(1) of Act - Impugned notification vide G.O.Ms.No.286, dt.5-7-1994 does not suffer from any illegality and infirmity and same is valid - Writ petition, dismissed. Sri Kommisetty Nammalwar & Co.Vs. Agrl.Market Committee,Guntur 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 258 = 2009(4) ALD 369 = 2009(4) ALT 431 = 2009(3) APLJ 10(SN).

—Secs. 4,7,12(1),17(c),23 & 23(5) (i) - TOBACCO BOARD ACT, 1975 (Central Act), Secs.13, 13-A, 14-A - G.O.Ms.No.2095 dt.29-10-1968 - "Payment of Market fees on sale of Tobacco" - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.141 - Petitioner, Company ITC is to buy/process/sell and export Tobacco in various States in Country such as A.P. & Karnataka - Respondent, AMC lauched prosuction in Court of Magistrate which has registered the case as STC - Hence, present writ petition - Petitioner contends that in view of provisions of Secs.13,13-A of Central Act, no Market Committee in Date of A.P. including respondent is competent to insist on Tobacco Companies to take out licence and levy and demand market fee - SCOPE AND AMBIT OF PROVISIONS OF CENTRAL ACT - Stated - Parliament did not intend to invalidate any provision of Market Act and it has created space for State Legislation by consciously clarifying Sec.31 of Central Act to effect that Central Act shall be in addition to not in derogation of any other law - Thus while making an authoritative pronouncement that power of State Legislature in making legislation for collecting marketing fee on raw materials is not in any manner whittled down by Central Act - Contentions of petitioner that judgment has laid down that in States in which Secs.13,13-A, 14-A of Central Act are brought in to operation, Tobacco Boards, are not liable for payment of market fee, cannot be accepted - Launching of prosecution against petitioner - Not illegal - W.P, Dismissed. ITC Ltd., Vs. The Secy., Grade- 1, AMC, Jangareddygudem, 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 287 = 2011(1) ALD 59 = 2010(6) ALT 760.

—Sec.12 – A.P. (Agricultural Produce and Livestock) MARKETS RULES, 1969, Rule 74(1) - All such items like Paddy, Rice, Wheat, Maize, Bajra, Cotton seed, Sunflower, Jowar etc., which are specified in the Schedule-II appended to the Act sold within the precincts of notified market area/market yard, are eligible to the levy of market fee - SeeIVIL ds like Tomato, Castor, which are derivatives of the main produce, but are sold separately and which are not specified in the Schedule-II annexed to Act, cannot be made liable to the levy and collection of market fee - Such items specified in Schedule-II referred to above which suffered the payment of market fee in an agricultural market committee, shall not again be subjected to payment of market fee in any other Agricultural Market Committee within the state of Andhra Pradesh, if the proof of such payment is furnished to the authority concerned - Agricultural produce, livestock and products of livestock which are carried by any means and entering into the area of a Market Committee, cannot be subject to pay the market fees for the second time if proof is produced before the Officers of the Market Committee of the market fees having been paid in another Market Committee - Even at the check posts, the same procedure has to be followed - Writ Petition is allowed and accordingly disposed of. Sree Ramanjaneya Rice Mill Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 161 = 2015(2) ALD 705 = AIR 2015 AP 13 = 2015(2) ALT 456.

A.P. ANCIENT AND HISTORICAL MONUMENTS AND ARCHEOLOGICAL SITES AND REMAINS ACT, 1960:

—Ancient Monuments and Archeological Sites and Remains Act, 1958 - Questioning the action of the respondents in proceeding against the petitioners on the ground that the residential apartments are constructed within the prohibited area thereby violating the provisions of A.P. Ancient and Historical Monuments and Archeological Sites and Remains Act, 1960 and the Rules framed there under and the provisions of the Ancient Monuments and Archeological Sites and Remains Act, 1958, as illegal and arbitrary, the present Writ Petition came to be filed.

Held, a reading of Rules 28 and 29 clearly show that two notifications are necessary for initiating the proceedings - First one is under Rule 28 giving a month's notice of its intention to declare a particular area as a prohibited or regulated area and second one is by Government after considering the objections received under Rule 28 specifying area to be prohibited or regulated area for purpose of mining or construction as per Rule 29 - As stated earlier, averments in counter and material on record does not anywhere indicate issuance of any Gazette notifications till date - On other hand averments in counter filed by respondents clearly show that such a notification was never issued and negotiations are going on even as on today between one department and another department for purpose of making such declaration - In absence of any such notification being issued till date, objections which are now raised by respondents with regard to construction of Flats in area are totally illegal and contrary to provisions of Act and Rules - Further, material on record would also show that Municipal Corporation granted permission for construction of residential complex in said premises, pursuant to which, first petitioner constructed two Blocks, each comprising 20 flats - Petitioners 2 to 11 have purchased Flats in one Block by way of registered documents after obtaining loans from Nationalized Banks.

In absence of issuance of any notification in Gazette, as required under Rule 28 and Rule 29, contention of respondents that constructions raised by the petitioners fall in a regulated or prohibited area, cannot be accepted and hence, the Writ Petition is liable to be allowed - Accordingly, Writ Petition is allowed. Shivani Builders Vs. State of Telangana 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 457 = 2016(2) ALD 743.

A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFER) ACT, 1977:

—Secs.3,4 & 6 - E.P filed for attachment and sale of schedule property assigned to petitioners - Executing Court passing order holding that objection raised by petitioners that property being house property built in assigned house site cannot be sold in execution is untenable and order to proceed further in execution proceedings - Respondent/DHR contends that under patta issued to 2nd respondent transfer is prohibited only for a period of 10 years from date of issuance of patta, and 2nd respondent also mortgaged property to Khadi Industry which is a Govt. organization and he therefore is owner of property having self interest and as such it can be sold in execution of decree passed by civil Court for realization of decretal amount - By virtue of Secs.3,4 & 9 of Act, despite fact that conditions attached to patta enable assignee to alienate property 10 years after assignment, assigned property cannot be sold in execution of decree - Assigned land shall not be transferred and shall be deemed never to have been transferred and accordingly no right or title in such assigned land shall vest in any person acquiring land by such transfer - Assigned property is only heritable but not transferable and assignee can mortgage land to bodies under control of Govt. for purpose of securing loan - As such there is a specific bar against execution of decree of order of civil Court in respect of assigned land and therefore any such execution is impermissible - In view of specific restrictions imposed in Sec.3(4) of Act, respondent is precluded from bringing E.P. schedule property for attachment and sale in execution of decree passed in his favour by civil Court - Order passed by trial Court is not only erroneous and also illegal - Order, set aside - Revision, allowed. M.Anumakka Vs. Turpu Gopal Reddy 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 129 = 2009(4) ALD 473 = 2009(4) ALT 401.

—Secs.3(1)(2) & (3) & 5, 4-A & 4-B - A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFERS) RULES, 2007, Rule 4 - REGISTRATION ACT, Sec.22 - Resumption of assigned lands - Petitioners purchased assigned lands from various assignees under various registered sale deeds and have grown mango and cashew gardens in said lands - MRO passing resumption order exercising power u/Sec.4(1) of Act, stating that petitioners are not landless poor and that protection u/Sec.35 (1) is not available to them - Appellate authority as well as revisional Authority confirmed resumption orders - Hence, writ petition - When there is a prohibition of transfer of assigned lands, any acquisition of such lands even by way of registration of sale deeds shall be deemed null and void as no registering authority shall accept the registration of any document for transfer or creation of any interest in assigned lands - There is a total prohibition to transfer assigned lands except mortgage in favour of State or Central Govt., or Co-operative Bank - If such lands are mortgaged, it is not open for authorities to resume lands as mortgage shall not be treated as a transfer - In this case, petitioner purchased assigned lands in violation of Sec.3(1) & (2) and therefore resumption orders have been passed in accordance with law - Impugned order - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. Beeraka Bharamari Vs. Joint Collector, Visakhapatnam 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 156 = 2008(2) ALD 45 = 2008(3) ALT 261.

A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFER) ACT, 1977

—Secs. 3(1), 3(3), 3(5), and 4 - Tahsildar, issued order stating that a representation came with regard to the pathway and enquiries made by Village Revenue Officer and Additional Revenue Inspector, revealed that original assignee has violated the conditions of patta by alienating part of assigned land in favour of third parties - It is averred that said land was not under cultivation and is also vacant with erected stone fencing - A notice is said to have been issued to petitioners and also to original assignees, but petitioners failed to attend enquiry - Having regard to material collected, D.K.T. patta granted in favour of original assignee was cancelled and land was resumed to Government - Challenging said action on ground of jurisdiction present writ petition is filed - Respondents disputed averments made in affidavit filed in support of writ petition - It is stated that under Board Standing Orders, Tahsildar alone is competent to cancel pattas if there is a violation of condition of patta and Collector gets jurisdiction to cancel patta only when there is a suppression of material facts and misrepresentation of facts - In any event, it is stated that petitioners have a remedy of appeal under provisions of A.P. Assigned Lands (Prohibition of Transfers) Act, 1977, which petitioners should have availed before approaching this Court.

Held, in a case where there is a violation of Section 3 (1) of the Act, 1977, and in case of any action is being initiated by an officer not below rank of Mandal Revenue Officer, for violating provisions of sub-section (1) of Section 3 of the Act, 1977, an appeal would lie before Revenue Divisional Officer under Section 4-A of Act, 1977, and any person aggrieved by order passed by Revenue Divisional Officer may within ninety days file another appeal before the District Collector - If argument of petitioners, namely, that it is only the District Collector alone who is competent to cancel patta irrespective of reason is to be accepted, then paragraph (12) and (15) of Board Standing Order 15 will be nugatory and provisions of appeals and revisions which are there in statute book will be of no use - Definitely that would not have been the intention of legislatures - From analysis made, it is clear that Collector will get jurisdiction to cancel patta only if it is found that it was grossly inequitable or was passed under a mistake of fact or owing to misrepresentation or fraud or in excess of limits of authority delegated to assigning officer under Board Standing Order 15 or that there was an irregularity in procedure - In all other circumstances,

A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFER) ACT, 1977

Mandal Revenue Officer alone is the appropriate authority to cancel patta and resume land - Therefore, argument of petitioners that Tahsildar has no jurisdiction to cancel patta for violation of conditions of patta cannot be accepted - For foregoing, no merits in writ petition and same is liable to be rejected, giving liberty to petitioners to avail remedies available under law - Accordingly, writ petition is dismissed. B.Jayaprada Vs. State of A.P. 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 513 = 2016(4) ALD 656.

—-Sec.3(2),and 2 (2) and 4 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - Petitioner purchased land in name of her minor children from two persons alleged to be pattadars - MRO issued notice alleging that said land originally assigned to Co-operative Society and that consequent on liquidation of Society said land assigned in favour of three persons - After considering explanation, MRO issued proceedings ordering eviction of petitioner - Respondent/MRO contends that since petitioner had acquired assigned land in contravention of Sec.3(3) of Act, notice issued for resumption of land and that petitioner gave a vague reply by taking stand that land is a patta land and not assigned land - Petitioner contends that in order to initiate proceedings u/Sec.3 of Act and resume land, it is necessary to show that original assignees sold assigned land and on MRO's own showing purported assignees have not sold property to petitioner - DOCTRINE OF ALTERNATIVE REMEDY - By applying this doctrine ordinarily High Courts decline to entertain writ petitions, which are filed bypassing effective alternative remedy - Supreme Court in catena of judgments, however, held that this is only a rule of procedure and not a rule of law and that in appropriate cases High Court, can entertain a writ petition despite availability of such alternative remedy - From statutory provisions of Act 1977, it is clear that Act was made with objective of prohibiting transfers of assignments and for punishing purchasers, subject to only exception u/Sec.3 (5) - Irrespective of whether purchaser purchasers assigned land from original assignee or anybody else, transfer of assigned land is prohibited - Prohibition of transfer contained in Sec.3 is not confined either to transfer by assignee or his transferee alone - If contention of petitioner that provisions of Act are not attracted is accepted, purpose and object for which Act is made will be rendered otiose - In instant case, allegation is that vendors of petitioner manipulated record by substituting their names in survey and Sub-Divison record for names of original assignees and sold assigned land to petitioner - If land purchased by petitioner is found to be assigned land, sale of such land by whosoever attracts prohibition contained in Sec.3(1) and is liable for action u/Sec.4 - Impugned order of MRO traced history of land in holding that it is an assigned land - MRO referred to incorportation of changes by way of Sub-Divisions in FMBs in year 1982 - Respondent/MRO discharged initial burden of proving that land in question is assigned land - Onus has shifted to petitioner to prove that land in question is not assigned land - Neither in her reply to show cause notice nor in her affidavit, petitioner, except making a denial of allegation that land is an assigned land, has explained as to how land is not assigned land, but is a patta land - It could not have been difficult at all for petitioner to rely on documents of title of her predecessors-in-interest and relevant revenue records - Hence contention of petitioner that land in question is not an assigned land - Not acceptable - Impugned order of MRO, in resuming land - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. Kusampudi Sarada Vs. MRO, Bapatla, Guntur 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 12 = 2008(5) ALD 522 = 2008(3) APLJ 157 = 2008(6) ALT 85.

—Secs.3(2) and (3) & 3(5) – Petitioners purchased property bona fide for consideration – 2nd respondent, restored land to respondents Nos.3 to 6 as per directions of 1st respondent/Joint Collector, holding that petitioner and his family members are financially sound and they are having Ac.8.38 cents jointly apart three members of family being salaried employees working in Central Govt., and that sale transactions in favour of petitioner are contrary to provisions of Sec.3 (2) & (3) – RDO dismissed Appeal and Joint Collector dismissed Revision filed by petitioner - Petitioner contends that all three Authorities committed serious error in not considering explanation offered by petitioner and that on admitted facts of case, petitioner was entitled to benefit of Sec.3 (5) of Act which provided exception to general Rule in favour of persons who purchased assigned lands being landless poor person in good faith and for valuable consideration from original assignee or his transferee prior to commencement of Act and is in possession of such person - While determining status of landless poor person, shares of all major members of joint family have to be computed on basis of notional partition - EXERCISE OF SUO MOTU REVISIONAL POWERS – REASONABLE TIME – STATED – Absence of prescription of any limitation period for exercise suo motu power does not authorize authority vested it power to invoke it after a lapse of any length of time, since exercise of an administrative or quasi judicial power is necessarily linked to concept of rule of law and exercise of power after long lapse of time is prima facie, arbitrary - If there were lack of bona fides on part of petitioner in purchasing property, respondent nos.3 to 6 would not have kept quiet for than 25 years allowing petitioner to enjoy property without any demur – 2nd respondent without applying his mind to these hard realities, exercise his power u/Sec.4 merely 28 and 24 years after two sale transactions taken place – During this time lag, undisputedly petitioner dug a well and developed land by spending considerable money and also raised mango garden – Act does not certainly give a license to revenue authorities by ignoring ground reality that by efflux of time person, who purchased property developed deep interest and expectation therein - While intendment of Act was certainly to prevent transfer of assigned lands from gullible assignees, at same time process of presumption on basis stale claims shall not leave at trial of disaster for bona fide purchases after passage of decades – Authorities cannot harm interest of another section by subjecting them to long process of litigation many years after land is purchased - A legislation, which is a boon for one section of society shall not become a bane for others, in its purported implementation - Unless there are proper and sufficient reasons such as blatant fraud played by purchaser of assigned lands and same which despite give diligence did not come to light, authorities cannot initiate proceedings beyond reasonable period after assigned land is sold – Lest remedy will become worse than decease - Case of petitioner squarely falls within provisions of Sec.3 (5) of Act as he is a landless poor person and bona fide purchaser of property for valuable consideration – Respondent ought not to have initiated action on stale representation of respondents Nos. 3 to 6 after long lapse of time – Orders of Joint Collector, RDO and 2nd respondent – Quashed - Writ petition, allowed. Madamaneni Chinnaswamy Vs. Joint Collector,Chittoor, Chittoor Dt. 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 245 = 2009(1) ALD(NOC) 5 = 2009(1) ALT 424 = 2008(4) APLJ 156.

A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFER) ACT, 1977

—Sec.3(5) - Petitioner purchased land in various survey numbers from respondents 4 to 6 under registered sale deed - Almost two decades later respondent 4 to 6 approached 3rd respondent/MRO, to resume lands and restore same to them on ground that alienations made by them in favour of petitioner is in violation of provisions of Act, 1977 - 3rd respondent initiated proceedings and after enquiry he resumed lands and restored same to respondents 4 to 6 holding that alienation made in favour petitioner is in contravention of provisions of Act and that there are no bona fides on part of petitioner in purchasing lands as every one in village is expected to know whether land is assigned land or not, and that petitioner possessed total extent of Ac.23.69 cents and not entitled to benefit u/Sec.3(5)of Act - RDO dismissed Appeal and Joint Collector dismissed Revision preferred by petitioner - In this case, 1st respondent/Joint Collector made perfunctory approach - Conclusions arrived at by 3rd respondent that petitioner owned an extent of 23.69 cents at time of purchase of assigned land was his imagination and that he did not owned such land at all and he specifically pleaded that he was owning only Ac.4.13 cents of land apart from pleading that his joint family consisted of his father, himself and his brother - It is obligation of respondents 1 and 2/Joint Collect and RDO, who act as quasi-judicial bodies to adjudicate disputes on basis of facts available on record and not on surmises or report submitted by subordinate Officers - 1st respondent not decided revision in manner in which he ought to have decided - As regards findings of 3rd respondent that petitioner was not a bona fide purchaser, said finding is rendered on a surmise that everybody in village right from shepherd to big land lord is expected to know which are assigned lands and which are not - There can be no such presumption unless there is material to show that petitioner is aware of fact that lands are assigned lands - Order of 1st respondent - Quashed - Matter remitted for fresh consideration - Writ petition, allowed. Golla Narasappa Vs. Joint Collector, Ananthapur, Ananthapur Dt. 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 125 = 2008(6) ALD 194.

—Secs.3 (5) & 4 - BOARD STANDING ORDERS, 15, Paragraph 18 - Petitioner's father was assigned Ac.1.25 cents of land and was issued DKT Patta and made said land fit for cultivation and continued in possession till his death and thereafter petitioner continued in possession and enjoyment of same - 3rd respondent encroached said land and obtained pattadar pass books and title deeds in his favour - 2nd respondent failed to take any action petitioner made, repre-sentation before District Collector to direct 2nd respondent to take action as per provisions Act 9 of 77 - 2nd respondent issued notice calling upon petitioner to showcause as to why D-Form patta granted to him should not be cancelled - Hence present writ petition, contending that impugned show cause notice is without jurisdiction and contrary to order of 1st respondent/District Collector - 3rd respondent contends that land in question sold by petitioner's father to her husband under sale deed and 2nd respondent issued pattadar pass books and title deeds in favour of 3rd respondent and filed suit for permanent injunction against petitioner since interfering with possession and enjoyment of lands in question - As a matter of fact, petitioner's father alienated assigned land long back prior to enactment of Act 9 of 1977 and therefore 3 respondent is entitled to benefit of Sec.3(5) of Act as her husband was landless poor person and purchased assigned lands for valid consideration in good faith - Having made necessary enquiry, it is found by 1st respondent/Collector, though land in question was assigned to petitioner's father same alienated in favour of 3rd respondent's husband and that purchasers are in possession and enjoyment of same for past 30 years - As per Sec.3(5), prohibition shall not apply to assigned land which was purchased by landless poor person in good faith and for valuable consideration from original assignee - Power to cancel power under Paragraph 18 of Board Standing Order 15 has to be exercised by District Collector on grand of suppression of material facts and misrepresentation of facts and that MRO has no power to cancel patta for breach of conditions of D-Form Patta - 2nd respondent is expected to conduct necessary enquiry as contemplated u/ Secs.3 & 4 of Act following procedure prescribed in Rules - However, strangely, 2nd respondent issued notice for cancellation of patta which is beyond scope of Act 9 of 1977 - Impugned notice issued by 2nd respondent is not in terms of directions issued by 1st respondent/Collector - Hence, liable to be set aside - Since admittedly petitioner is not in possession and enjoyment of land in question and that respondents 3 & 4 are in possession of land in question, their possession should not be disturbed except in accordance with law. B.Mani, Chittoor Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 361 = 2011(2) ALD 298 = 2011(1) ALT 334.

A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFER) ACT, 1977

—BSO No.31- REGISTRATION ACT AND STAMP ACT - Petitioner, possessor of certain land, holding pattadar pass book and title deeds, when sought to present a sale deed for registration in respect of said land, same was not entertain on ground that in list of prohibited lands communicated by respondents 2 & 3 to respondent 4 and entire land was shown as assigned land - Respondent having admitted in a counter that pattadar pass books and title deeds were issued in favour of petitioner, averred that petitioner has obtained same by misleading revenue authorities - 3rd respondent maintained that land in that Survey No. is classified as "Govt. AW" and pattadar column was kept blank with dots - Except stating that R.S.R. has described land "Govt. AW", no other revenue record has been referred in counter affidavit nor has been produced by respondents at time of hearing - Mere entry in R.S.R. will not constitute proof of title and in absence of any other revenue record showing land as Govt. land, it cannot be said that there is dispute regarding title - At any rate mere registration of conveyance deed does not create title in transferee - If Govt. feels that property belongs to it, it can always avail appropriate remedy to assert its title and claim property - Mere registration of sale deed would not come in way of Govt. in asserting its right and availing appropriate remedy - 4th respondent directed to entertain sale deed and register same in accordance with provisions of Registration Act and Indian Stamp Act - Writ petition, allowed. Madiga Papanna Vs. State of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 53 = 2011(2) ALD 487 = 2011(2) ALT 2.

— and CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.14,19,21 & 300-A – Petitioners purchased land in the years 1989 and 1993 under Registered sale deed and eking out their livelihood by raising Neem, Mango and Teak trees in said lands – Respondent, Government resumed land for purpose to lay Ring Road along with other lands – Respondents contend since petitioners purchased assigned lands which is forbidden under Act, they are not entitled for any compensation - Petitioners contend that subject lands are private lands and not assigned lands - In this case R.S.R., produced before Court, at Cloum no.4 "G" is mentioned and at Cloum no. 16 "dots" are given and as per ratio laid down in Judgment of High Court, same cannot be basis for holding that it is Government assignment land – Admittedly petitioners are given title deed and Pattadar Pass Books to the subject lands under provisions of A.P Records of Rights Act - Having regard to various entries in Revenue Records and various Transactions in respect of subject lands, Writ Petition is allowed - Respondents are directed to initiate appropriate proceeding for acquisition of lands of petitioners and for payment of compensation in respect of lands of petitioners.Chapati Ramachandra Reddy Vs. The Government of A.P. 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 6 = 2014(3) ALD 776 = 2014(3) ALT 740.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

A.P. BOARD STATING ORDERS:

—12(3) (iii), 15 (18)G.O.Ms.No.1019, Revenue, (ASN.I), dt:5-10-1994 - Petitioners were assigned house site pattas - 4th respondent/Tahsildar issued show cause notice calling upon petitioners as to why assignment in their favour should not be cancelled, alleging that house site pattas were obtained by four persons belonging to same family - Petitioner contends that Tahsildar is not competent to initiate proceedings for cancellation of assignments and therefore impugned show cause notice is liable to be set aside and that impugned notice is contrary to G.O.Ms.No.1019 and that allegation that assignments were granted to members of same family is unfounded - 4th respondent/ Tahsildar contends that as per A.P Board Standing Orders 12(3) (iii) Tahsildar and Deputy Tahsildar being assigning authorities are competent to order resuumption in case of breach of conditions of grant and that said G.O.Ms.No.1019 not applicable to present case since petitioners had draudulently obtained pattas - Writ petition at stage of show- casue notice is premature unless it is found that such notice was issued without power or authority to initiate proceedings - Therefore only question that requires considration is whether Tahsildar is competent to initiate proceedings for cancellation of assignment granted to petitioner - In this case, admittedly pattas are sought to be cancelled on ground that petitioners had suppressed fact that all four asignees belong to same family and thus they have fraudulently obtained pattas - It is relevant to note that pattas to petitioners did not contain a clause that pattas liable to be cancelled if it is found that pattas are obtained on misrepresentation or by playing fraud - Only condition prescribed in pattas is to effect that land will be resumed in event of violation of any of conditions of patta - It is further contended by petitioner that patta can be cancelled only under conditions mentioned in paragraphs (a) to (d) of B.S.O. 15 12(3) and if for any other reason patta is to be cancelled, it shall be by Collector under B.S.O. 15 (18) - Hence, power of cancellation on ground of fraud or misrepresentation only by Collector - Action proposed is cancellation of patta, but not resumption - District Collector alone is competent to initiate proceedings - Impugned notice issued by Tahsildsar is without jurisdiction - Hence, set aside - Writ petitions, allowed. B.Suvarna Vs. Govt. of A.P., , 2012(1) Law Summary 298 = 2012(3) ALD 389 = 2012(3) ALT 654.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Petitioner/Landlady filed eviction petition on plea that she requires premises for proposed business of her second son, stating that her son is unemployed and has gained experience in shop of her first son and therefore he requires suit premises to commence his own business in said premises for running general stores and that tenant is not regular in paying rents - Respondent/tenant contends that he is running Clinic in said suit premises since 35 years and also paying rents regularly and not troubled landlady and that land lady and her sons have several non-residential properties

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

- During trial first son of landlady was examined her first son as P.W.1 - Trial Court allowed eviction petition on ground of bona fide requirement pleaded by land lady - Appeal filed by tenant against order of Rent Controller, allowed - Hence present Revision Petition filed by landlady - Petitioner/landlady contends that Rent Controller after considering pleadings and oral and documentary evidence, rightly allowed eviction petition, but appellate Court set aside same only on ground that landlady and second son of lady were not examined and just because there is delay in filing eviction petition after issuing notice to tenant, it cannot be said that requirement of suit premises for second son of landlady is not bona fide and that appellate Court erroneously set aside well considered order of trial Court - Respondent/tenant contends that except examining P.W.1, elder son of landlady, no evidence is adduced on behalf of landlady to show that premises was required for running business of second son of landlady and that appellate Court appreciated evidence and arrived at finding which cannot be disturbed in Revision - In this case, respondent/tenant is unable to show that landlady is having other non-residential premises and same is vacant - When P.W.1 deposed himself that he already started business in rice and STD booth, his younger brother wants to start general stores business and that aspect not considered in proper perspective and that appellate Court by taking erroneous view only on ground that landlady and her second son were not examined set aside well considered order of eviction passed by Rent controller - It is not necessary that landlady should be examined when her elder son, who is looking after affairs of family, is examined and that trial Court believed P.W.1 and just because different view is possible, appellate Court cannot reverse well considered judgment of trial Court - Order passed by Rent Controller and view taken by it is reasonable - Appellate Court has taken different view, even though view taken by trial Court is not erroneous - Hence order of appellate Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. G.Venkatamma Vs. Dr. Vijay Chandra Mathur 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 230 = 2014(1) ALD 347 = 2014(1) ALT 648.

—Secs. 4 & 22 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec. 151-Revision Petition filed against order lower appellate court upholding rent fixed by trial Court without enhancing rent as prayed for by petitioners - Held, rent legislations were enacted at a time when there is acute dearth of accommodation and owners of premises were exploiting tenants and the situation has changed drastically and plenty of accommodation is available - Rent can be enhanced - Accordingly, CRP is allowed. G.S.Ashok Vs. Dhirajlal Maganlal Shah (died) Per LRs, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 100 = 2014(5) ALD 763

—Sec.4 and 32(c) - "Fixation of fair rent" - "Eviction for willful default" - Land lady filing rent control case for fixation of fair rent after amendment of Sec.32(c) claiming rent of Rs.2,72,610/- per month @ Rs.5/- per sq. feet - Tenant opposed petition filed

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

by landlady for enhancement of rent contending that landlady to construct godown with RCC structure and agreed to charge rent at Rs.1/- per sq. feet, but went back on promise and filed petition for fixation of fair rent to harass it and that tenant also took plea that it has been paying monthly tax to a tune of Rs.86,000 per year - FIXATION OF FAIR RENT - Rent controller accepted version of landlady and fixed fair rent of schedule premises at Rs.2,72,610/- per month by enhancing same from Rs.2750/- per month - Appellate authority fixed fair rent Rs.82,000/- per month by partly allowing appeal - Landlady contends that fixation of fair rent by Rent Controller is reasonable and tenant contends that even enhancing rent of schedule premises to Rs.82,000/- is unreasonable and that rent has been abnormal increase from Rs.2750/- per month to Rs.82,000/- - In this case, in fact premises situated in a commercial locality and is leased out by land lady for business purpose is not in dispute and lease was entered into in year 1965 on agreed rent of Rs.1700/- - Appellate authority while dealing with appeal relating to fixation of fair rent u/Sec.4 of Act, kept in mind principles laid down by Apex Court and High Court, such as, locality in which premises is situate and steep increase in rents of Urban properties in these said lands which Apex Court remained that judicial notice of said fact can be taken - Fixing fair rent at Rs.82,000/- per month by appellate authority by partly allowing appeal filed by appellant is based on evidence and reasoning and by following principles governing fixation of fair rent u/Sec.4 of Rent Control Act - No valid grounds to interfere with judgment passed by appellate authority - EVICTION FOR WILLFUL DEFAULT - Rent Controller considering entire evidence on record arrived at finding that tenant committed willful default in payment of complete rent for period alleged in eviction petition and accordingly ordered its eviction - Appellate authority reversed finding of Rent Controller - In this case, Rent Controller was clearly of view that tenant is liable to pay rent as well as municipal tax and other taxes which was agreed to be paid under lease agreement and that even after dates stipulated in lease agreement, tenant shall continue to pay rent as well as taxes under lease agreement and having failed to do so, committed willful default in payment of rent and is therefore liable for eviction - In this case, appellate authority is clearly in error in holding that since there was no separate agreement between landlady and tenant to pay taxes apart from agreed rent after expiry of lease, it is not possible to hold that tenant committed willful default in payment of rent - Questionm, whether there was any separate agreement between landlady and tenant about payment of taxes from actual rent which was agreed does not arise because land lady never consented to continue tenancy after expiry of lease - Conduct of tenant clearly amounts to committing willful default and payment of rent has rightly held by Rent Controller, it is liable for eviction on said ground - Finding of appellate authority being contrary to settled legal principles governing subject is liable to be set aside - Tenant directed to vacate schedule property within two months. Shakuntala

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

Devi Darak Vs. M/s.Transport Corpn., of India Ltd. Sec'bad 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 46 = 2011(5) ALD 386 = 2011(6) ALT 471.

—Sec.7(a) (i), 7(1), 7(2) & 7(3), 10 (3) (a) (iii) - "Willful default" and "bona fide requirement" - Petitioner landlord seeking eviction of respondent/tenant on grounds of willful default and bona fide requirement - Respondent/tenant contends that he deposited Rs.40,000/- with petitioner towards security deposit at time of inception of tenancy, and also sent cheque towards rent for months of February to March 1999, hence contention of petitioner that he is due for rent from March 1999 onwards after adjustment is not correct and that grand son of petitioner not qualified Dentist by date of filing eviction petition and there are no bonafides in claim of petitioner - Rent Controller on issue of willful default came to conclusion since an amount of Rs.40,000/- was deposited landlord, even if respondent fell due in payment of rent same has to be adjusted and therefore, landlord failed to prove that respondent/tenant has committed willful default - On point of bona fide requirement Rent Controller came to conclusion landlord is best judge to decide which ever premises is required by him, and accordingly upheld contention of landlord and ordered eviction - Appellate authority recalled witnesses and further examined them and came to conclusion that landlord have constructed big commercial complex and also obtained vacant possession of other adjacent mulgies and grand son of petitioner may shift his dental clinic in one of premises available with landlords - Thus held landlords have failed to prove that they bona fidely require premise and accordingly allowed appeal - Hence present revision by landlord - Petitioner/Landlords contend that mulgies 1 to 4 are in occupation of tenants and mulgi no.5 & 6 are not suitable and useful to grand son of petitioner and that it is for landlord to choose which mulgi is suitable to him to start his own business and that tenant cannot dictate terms to landlord with regard to selection of mulgies and that there is no prior understanding between landlord and tenant that deposited amount should be adjusted towards dues of rents as and when tenant fails to pay rent and that even if tenant paid security deposit he cannot stop paying rents or commit default in payment of rents and plead adjustment of same and that view taken by Court below on this aspect is erroneous and same is liable to be set aside - In this case, admittedly landlords have taken deposit amount of Rs.40,000 and even if one month premium is deducted towards advance, landlord is deemed to be holding a deposit of Rs.39,050/- which is clearly contravention of Sec.7(2) of Act - Therefore amount already in deposit with landlord was rightly adjusted towards arrears of due rents by both Courts below and no interference is called for therewith - BONA FIDE REQUIREMENT - Crucial date for deciding as to bona fides of requirement of landlord is date of his application for eviction - Admittedly eviction petition filed in 1997 - As seen from evidence of P.W.2 for whose benefit eviction of tenant is sought he has admitted that he completed his House Surgeon in 1998 and that first floor of petition schedule premises was constructed in year 1997 and P.W.2 further admitted that as he was not experienced in profession he did not start private practice in 1998 itself - Thus it is clear P.W.2 had no intention to start his private clinic as on date of filing evection petition - Landlord has to specifically plead and establish factors such as size, quality, suitability and convenience and in this landlord has not pleaded about availability of other non residential premises in his original pleadings - In fact not whispering about other residential premises by landlord amounts to suppression of fact - Provision of Sec.10(3) (a) (iii) of Act is very clear even if bona fide requirement is given liberal meaning, landlord who is owner of more than one non-residential premises should specifically plead and prove as to how other non-residential premises owned by him are not suitable for his own business or expansion of business - Admittedly on date of filing of eviction petition P.W.2 was not prepared to start his own Clinic - It is therefore clear claim of petitioner/landlord is not bona fide - Appellate Authority passed well reasoned order and no interference is called for by High Court - CRP, dismissed. Rayapuraju Venkatarama Rao (Died per LRs) Vs.GangadharanNair 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 302 = 2012(1) ALD 564 = 2012(1) ALT 384.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.8, 11, & 10(2) (i) - A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL RULES, 1961, Rule 5(4) and (6) - Tenant contends that Rule 5 (4) is merely directory and any non-compliance, per se, cannot be considered as wilful default, in light of Sec.10(2) (i) - Land lord contends that said Rule is mandatory and once tenant opted for taking recourse to Sec.8 of Act and any non-compliance with statutorily prescribed procedure will, ex facie, make tenant a wilful defaulter and that Sec.10(2)(i) and Rule 5 governed different situations and are not mutually conflicted - Sec.8 provides a right to tenant paying rent or advance to a duly signed receipt from landlord or his authorised agent - If land lord refused to accept or evades receipt of any rent, tenant can require landlord by notice to specify a bank for deposit of rent and can deposit rent in such bank and relative challan has to be delivered in office of Controller or appellate authority - SECS.8, 11 AND RULE 5 - SCOPE OBJECT AND EFFECT - STATED - Object and effect of Sec.11 and Rule 5 (6) are different from Sec.8 and Rules 5 (1) to (5), former being for protection of landlord during pendency of eviction proceedings and latter being for protection of tenant to avoid any liability for eviction on ground of wilful default - While respective fields in which Secs.8,9 and 10 (2)(i) proviso and Sec.11 operate are distinct and different without transgressing in to each other's limits though capable of creating an illusion of overlapping at times, there is no conflict between provisions of Act inter se or with any Rule, more particularly Rule 5 - Where tenant obtains order to deposit rent, same shall be deposited at least by last day of month following that for which rent is payable and rent challan shall be delivered in office of Controller within a reasonable time so that Rent Controller can take necessary action for service of notice of deposit under Rule 5(4) within seven days of such delivery - In absence of compliance in so depositing rent and delivering challan in office of Controller, tenant shall be deemed to have committed wilful default. Mohammed Izhar Ali Vs.Olive Founseca (died) L.Rs. 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 268 = 2008(4) ALD 254 = 2008(4) ALT 147 = AIR 2008 AP 196 = 2008 AIHC 3168.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—-Secs.10(1), 10 (3) (a) (iii) and 11(iii) - Petitioner, landlord filed petition for eviction of respondent/tenant from petition schedule premises on ground of bona fide requirement for purpose of providing passage to entire Complex constructed by him - Respondent contends that petitioner does not require petition schedule property as there is passage on rear side of building - If business premises shifted, he will loose his customers and there is already four feet passage on southern side towards main road and therefore no inconvenience is caused to users of entire premises - Rent Controller on appreciation of entire oral and documentary evidence dismissed RC observing that petitioner is not maintainable u/Sec.10 (3) (iii) (b) of Act as requirement of premises for purpose of passage cannot be treated as for purpose of his business - Appellate authority allowed appeal holding that three feet passage on rear side of premises is not sufficient to pass through a four wheeler and widening of passage by landlord also has to be treated as a bona fide requirement - Even in a case where landlord requires additional accommodation for residential purpose or for purpose of business which he is carrying on as case may be he may seek eviction of tenant - "Business" - Meaning of - Business means man engaged in trade or commerce - Thus business includes things dealing with - Merely because landlord constructed Complex for getting more rental income cannot be said that petitioner is not entitled to make further constructions and get more rents - In this case, petitioner is prepared to give alternative accommodation in same complex on rear side and if respondent agrees for same he is prepared to construct required premises within one month - Petition can be allowed on such condition to enable tenant to continue his business - It is duty of Court to do justice to parties - Though in some cases there may be a specific prayer or not, but where Court feels that in interest of justice and interest of both parties if certain directions are required, Court is empowered to give such direction - Order of appellate Court, set aside order passed by Rent Controller is restored with certain modifications - Revision petition, allowed - Petitioner shall provide alternative accommodation to respondent towards main road within one month from date of receipt of order and on providing such alternative accommodation, respondent/tenant shall vacate premises within one month thereafter. Syed Abdul Wahab Vs. Dr.Wilfred D'Souza 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 254 = 2011(1) ALD 93 = 2011(1) ALT 60.

—Secs.10(2) (i), 10(2) (iii) - Respondent/landlord filed petition for eviction of petitioner/ tenant seeking vacant possession of premises for self occupation - Rent Controller ordered eviction on sole ground of bona fide requirement - Appellate Court confirmed order of eviction - Petitioner/tenant contends that 1st respondent required premises for starting business after his retirement, but died during pendency of RCC and his wife and children who were brought on record have not filed any amendment saying that premises required for running business and that lower Courts erred in coming to conclusion that petitioner is liable to be evicted - Respondents contend that even after death of 1st respondent petition is maintainable as person includes family unit of 1st respondent and as children expressed their intention to carry on business in suit premises under self employment scheme - Requirement of premises by any of family members is certainly requirement of landlord, therefore eviction petition cannot be rejected on that ground - Respondents herein required premises for bona fide requirement of doing business under self employment scheme and as there is no alternative premises, Rent Controller came to conclusion that demised premises is required for conducting business of family - Orders passed by Courts below - Justified - Revision petition, dismissed.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

Madhyahannapu Narasimharao Vs.Sunkara Srirama Hanumantha Rao(died)
2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 399 = 2008(3) ALD 340 = 2008(4)ALT 38.

—Secs.10(2) (i), proviso to Sec.10 (2) and 10(3) (a) (iii) - A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL RULES, 1961, Rule 5 (4) - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.58 - 'Willful default' - 'Bona fide requirement' - Petitioners/landlords filed petition for eviction of respondents/tenants from non-residential premises on grounds of willful default in payment of rent and bona fide requirement for personal occupation for commencement of business - Rent Controller ordered eviction holding that requirement is genuine and bona fide, but negatived allegation of willful default - Appellate Court reversed order of trial Court and dismissed Appeal - Petitioners contend that notice of deposit under Rule 5(4) of Control Rules was never given by tenants and therefore impugned order of appellate authority in reversing finding of learned Rent Controller is irregular - Since admittedly petitioners received copies of challans showing deposit of rents regularly, question of non-compliance with Rule 5(4) does not arise - One should not forget that supine indifference or wanton negligence in payment of rent can only be a ground u/ Sec.10(2)(i) and that proviso to Sec.10(2) mandates that it is only when Rent Controller is satisfied that default in payment of rent was willful, eviction can be ordered - BONA FIDE REQUIREMENT - Though petitioners/landlords took possession of two rooms in building, those rooms are not suitable for commencing proposed business and that it is always choice of landlord to choose suitable building - For purpose of Sec.10(3) (a) (iii) of Act, it is sufficient for tenant to show that landlord own a non-residential building, which is his own and/or to possession of which he is entitled to - Even when in opinion of Rent Controller, landlord proves bona fide purpose to commence new business and also owns another non-residential premises which according to him not suitable, still eviction cannot be ordered as it would amount to reading suitability, sufficiency and convenience factor into provision, which are very conpicuous by absence - Even while examining bona fide purpose, Controller has to keep in mind conduct of parties, intention of parties motive behind eviction petition and efforts made by landlord to secure tenanted premises - In this case, petitioners/landlord, suppressed factum of owning mulgis and that prior to filing petition, landlords made demand for enhancement of rent - Petitioners not only suppressed facts from Court, but also demanded enhancement of rent - As such inference has to be drawn that plea of requirement for personal occupation for commencement of business is not bona fide - CRP, dismissed. Mohammed Abdul Rahman Vs. Smt.B. Manorama 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 227 = 2008(4) ALD 586 = 2008(4) ALT 702.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.10(2)(i) and 2(vi) - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.32 - Willful default - Denial of title by tenant - Rent Controller on appreciation of oral and documentary evidence, held that jural relationship is proved between parties and that tenants are liable to be evicted - Appellate authority confirmed same - Hence present revision - DENIAL OF TITLE - Wherever there is denial of title by tenant, Rent Controller has to examine whether said denial of title is bona fide or not - If it appears that there are no reasonable grounds to believe that dispute raised by tenant is bona fide and if that appears that landlord has prima facie title to property or that he can be treated as a landlord within definition of landlord under Act then Rent Controller has jurisdiction to entertain petition - If facts and circumstances reveal that landlord has no title to property or that he cannot be treated as landlord within definition of landlord or denial of title by tenant has some reasonable basis and in view of controversy a declaration is necessary by civil Court to decide dispute of title of landlord, then Rent Controller has to direct landlord to seek declaration from civil Court or direct parties to approach civil Court for appropriate relief - When tenant denies title of landlord, documentary evidence assumes importance - In this case, all receipts signed by tenant - Perusal of receipts makes it clear that rents were collected on behalf of Dharmasaala - Petitioner was collecting rents as Trustee of Dharmasala - When tenant was paying rents to Dharmasala his admission that he was a tenant of petitioner falls to ground - In this case, petitioner who is examined as P.W.1 has categorically admitted that he has not filed any title deeds in respect of petition schedule property to show he is owner and landlord - Therefore, in Rent Control proceedings it cannot be declared that petitioner is owner of property or he is entitled to receive rents - Thus, it is clear that denial of title of petitioner by respondent cannot be said to be baseless or not boa fide - Rent Controller need not make a roaring enquiry with regard to title of landlord - However where title of landlord is in dispute, Rent Controller must verify whether such denial of title of landlord by tenant is bona fide or not - Present matter requires a detail consideration by competent civil Court - Lower Courts have mainly relied on deposition of dead person and also failed that rents were collected on behalf of Dharmasala and not considered admission of petitioner that there are no documents to establish his title to petition schedule premises - Impugned orders are liable to be set aside - CRP, allowed. M.Sarojini Devi Vs. Jugal Kishore Sanghi 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 219 = 2011(6) ALD 680.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.10(2)(i) and 10(c) - Landlord filed eviction petition on ground of willful default and bona fide requirement - Tenant contends that he purchsed schedule premises from landlord on oral sale and he is not tenant under respondent landlord and he is absolute owner of premises - Rent Controller ordered eviction of petitioner/ tenant on ground of denial of title of respondent is not bona fide he also did not pay rent since 2003 and thereby committed default - Order of eviction confirmed by appellate Authority - Executing Court rejecting contention of revision petitioner and issued warrant directing delivery of property - Revision petitioner contends that Courts below ought to have directed parties to pursue there remedies before civil Court before which suit for specific performance of oral contract is pending - Question of reference to civil Court for adjudication of disputes relating to title would arise only if Rent Controller or Appellate Court, as case may be comes to conclusion that denial of title by a tenant is a bona fide one - In this case, only after filing counter by revision petitioner it was revealed that revision petitioner has set up ownership in himself and thereby denied relationship of landlord and tenant between him and respondent - Therefore, it is not necessary on part of respondent/landlord to amend eviction petition adding ground of denying his title by revision petitioner without any bona fides - Since revision petitioner disputed very existence of landlord and tenant relationship and set up title in himself under a oral contract of sale, rent Court can order eviction u/Sec.10(2)(i) and 10(3)(a)(i) of Act - Rent Controller as well as appellate Authority have recorded a specific finding that there is no convincing evidence placed by revision petitioner in proof of his acquiring title suit schedule property under oral contract of sale from respondent and thus concurrently held that denial of title by respondent/revision petitioner is not bona fide - Rent Controller and appellate authority have jurisdiction under Act to go into question of title for limited purpose of ascertaining whether their existed any landlord and tenant relationship and also to find out whether denial of title of landlord if any pleaded by tenant is bona fide - Suit pending before Civil Court is not an impediment for Rent Courts to order eviction having recorded a positive and definite finding that denial of title by tenant is not bona fide - Order impugned in revision petition - Justified - Revision petitions, dismissed. Umakanth Padhi Vs. Poornachandra Padhi 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 140 = 2011(4) ALD 4 = 2011(4) ALT 271.

—Secs.10(2)(i) and 10(3) (a)(iii) (b) - Wilful default - Petitioners acquired suit property under registered Will - Tenant occupied ground floor of suit property and doing business in Garments - After death of original owner tenant did not pay rents and committed default of payment of three months rent - Hence petition filed for eviction of tenant for wilfull default and bona fide requirement that 2nd petitioner's son needs premises to start his business of his own having experience and knowledge in garments business - Respondent/tenant contends that petition not maintainable since it is filed within three month from date of death of original owner and that he remitted monthly month in name of eldest son of deceased original owner and that 2nd petitioner's son was minor on date of filing of eviction petition and undergoing studies and he has no experience and knowlege in garments business and that there is no bona fide requirement as claimed by petitioners - Rent Controller dismissed petition that tenant not committed any willful default and that 2nd petitioner's son only a student and has no experience in doing business and there is no bona fide requirement for petitioners - Appellate Court upheld findings of rent controller - In this case, suit property situated in heart of city and having business potentiality and therefore findings of Courts below that past experience is pre-condition and that P.W.2 has no past experience appears to be perverse - Evidence of P.Ws.1 and 2 proves that they require suit premises for starting business by P.W.2 and their claim is bona fide one and that findings of Court below are not based on proper appreciation of evidence on this point - What is required to be seen is whether bona fide requirement is genuine or not and whether facts and circumstances of case show that claim is just and reasonable and whether it is made with sole mala fide intention to evict tenant - In this case, reasons given by P.W.2 are genuine - As far as comparative hardship that may be caused to parties circumstances appear to be in favour of landladies - If eviction is not ordered landladies would be put to great hardship when compared to hardship that may be caused to tenant - Courts below ought to have allowed petition on ground of bona fide requirement - CRP, allowed. Yashoda Devi Sarada Vs. Poornima Dresses, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 234 = 2011(2) ALD 734 = 2011(3) ALT 570.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.10(2) (i) and 10(3) (iii) & 32(c) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.14, Rule 12 - Petitioners filed RC seeking eviction - Respondent/tenant raised objection on maintainability of eviction petition on ground that since rent of building is Rs.3500/- p.m. as per amended provision of Sec.32(c) of Act if rent exceeds Rs.2000/- in areas other than Municipal Corporation areas, rent Controller will cease to have jurisdiction to entertain Application for eviction - Admittedly demised premises is situated in Secunderabad Contonment area and therefore it does not form part of Hyderabad Municipal Corporation area and consequently within expression in other areas u/ Sec.32(c) of Act - Rent Controller rejected preliminary objection of respondent - Appellate Court allowed Appeal filed by respondent - In view of undisputed position as rent is shown to have been in excess of Rs.2000 and demised premises falls in "other areas" as per Sec.32(c), of Act, has no application and consequently Rent Controller is denuded of jurisdiction to entertain eviction petition filed by petitioners

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

- While ordinarily Rent Controller will not entertain preliminary objections where it was thought fit to entertain such objection and decision is taken, party who did not raise any demur on Rent Controllers power has succeeded before Principle Rent Controller and lost before lower appellate Court cannot be permitted to resile and plead that Principal Rent Controller ought not to have entertained preliminary objection - Perhaps, it is too late in day for petitioners to raise such contention in this revision petition - Order passed by lower appellate Court, justified - Revision, dismissed. T.M.Nagarani Vs. M/s.Andhra Tiles, 2012(1) Law Summary 254 = 2012(4) ALD 584 = 2012(4) ALT 551.

—Secs.10(2) (i)(e), 10(2) (v) and 10(3)(iii) and Sec.9(3) - Respondent/land lady filed RCC for eviction of original tenant, who died during pendency of RCC - RCC dismissed by negativing all pleas of willful default, tenant securing alternative accommodation and landlady having bona fide requirement - In appellate Court landlady pleaded that original tenant has denied title of landlady and he was liable for eviction only on that ground u/Sec.10(2) (6) of Act - Appellate Court remanded case to Rent Controller for consideration of pleas of landlady - After remand Rent Controller allowed RCC only on ground that original tenant denied title of landlady and same is not bona fide - In this case, original tenant received notice from Executive Officer of Ranganadhaswamy Temple Nellore claiming that said T emple is owner of premises in occupation of original tenant and he was, thereby, called upon to pay rents to him instead of respondent landlady - On receipt of said notice, original tenant addressed a letter to respondent landlady informing her that he has received notice from temple thereunder he was asked to pay rents to its E.O and that he is going to pay rents accordingly to Temple and requested landlady to send her comments in that regard - Obviously, caught in this cross fire, original tenant filed Application before Rent Controller u/ Sec.9(3) of Act seeking permission to deposit rents and that after receiving permission original tenant started depositing rents into Court - In this case, finding of both Courts below suffer from serious infirmity - As a conscientious person, original tenant has promptly address letter to respondent by bringing said fact to her notice and inviting her comments on his proposal to pay rents to Temple - Stretching this notice to an extent, same cannot be construed as original tenant denying title of landlady and even after issuing notice, original tenant has not paid rent to Temple - In fact as soon as he has received reply from respondent/landlady he has approached Rent Controller by filing RCC u/Sec.9(3) of Act - This, by itself would indicate that original tenant who was drawn into a deep state of dilemma caught between devil and deep sea, has taken recourse to approaching Rent Controller as he was unable to decide as to who was real owner of subject premises - It is really incomprehensible that both Courts below have treated this act of original tenant as denial of title of respondent - In order to constitute act of denial of title, it must be established that tenant has through his express acts conveyed to landlord that he is not owner of property or that he is disputing his title either setting up title in himself or some one else and no such act was committed by original tenant in issuing notice to respondent - Conclusions drawn by both Fora below are based on perverse appreciation of facts and therefore both orders are set aside. Immadisetty Nagaratnamma (died) Vs. Gostu Prameelamma, 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 231 = 2013(1) ALD 140 = 2013(1) ALT 272.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.10(2)(iii), 10(2)(iv) and 12 – Eviction was sought by land lord on grounds that respondent-tenant was committing acts of waste causing nuisance and disturbance to inhabitants of other mulgies and also buildings in vicinity have much demand for demolition and petitioner-landlord intended to develop property by constructing complex in place of existing mulgies – Learned Rent Controller arrived at conclusion that the land lord failed to prove that the respondent has been committing acts of waste and has been causing inconvenience and disturbing neighbouring tenants, but taking into consideration of undertaking submitted by landlord as required u/Sec.12(2) of Act, that on completion of reconstruction of building, schedule premises will be offered to tenant for occupation.

Appellate Court reversed finding on ground that land lord failed to prove that premises is in a dilapidated condition requiring reconstruction.

Held, if landlord satisfies Court that she has financial capacity to reconstruct building and her requirement is bona fide, then Court can pass an order of eviction against tenant u/Sec.12(2) of Act and land lord need not prove that building is in a dilapidated condition and therefore it requires reconstruction.

Accordingly judgment passed by appellate Court is set aside and order passed by Rent Controller is restored. Meer Mustafa Ali (Died) Vs. Syed Afsar Ali Khan 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 315 = 2016(2) ALD 421.

—-Sec.10(2)(v) and 10(2)(iii) - “Committing acts of waste” - Landlords’ father given premises leased out premises to father of tenant for carrying on business of petrol bunk - Tenant continued same business after death of his father - Landlords filing petition for eviction on two grounds, one is cease to occupy building for continuous period of four months without reasonable cause u/Sec.10(2)(v) of Act and other ground is committing acts of waste u/Sec.10(2)(iii) alleging that tenant has not been carrying on business since more than 1 1/2 years prior to date of filing of eviction petition since IOC cancelled licence granted to tenant and taken away pump and other equipment and that premises lying vacant without utilization - Since decree obtained in suit by father of landlords on unexecutable landlords filed R.C seeking eviction of tenant - It is also alleged that some rooms in premises have been demolished after filing eviction petition resulting impairment of value and utility of premises as per provisions of

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

10(2)(iii) and that tenant is liable to be evicted - Rent Controller having considered oral and documentary evidence came to conclusion tenant has ceased to occupy premises without any reasonable cause - Appellate Court passed order accepting contentions of tenant on both grounds - Hence present revision filed by landlord - SEC.10(2)(v) - Landlord can seek eviction of his tenant wherein a tenant ceases to occupy building for continuous period of four months without reasonable cause - In this case, merely because dispute with IOC and tenant was pending on date of filing of eviction petition, it does not mean that tenant has shown reasonable cause for ceasing to occupy - "Reasonable cause means sufficient cause" - When tenant' licence seems to have been cancelled in 2002 and she could not get renewal or fresh licence in year 2005 i.e. on date of filing of eviction petition and when there is no scope of getting licence and when tenant has suppressed genesis of dispute it cannot be said that tenant has shown reasonable cause for ceasing to occupy - COMMITTING ACTS OF WASTE - Impairment of value or utility of building has to be considered from point of view of landlord and not of tenant or any one else - A tenant may construct a room or a garage for parking car or may make some alterations with consent of landlords or without consent of landlords, but without consent of landlord tenant cannot demolish any structure - Even if a construction is made solely at expenses of tenant, he is not expected to remove same unless without consent of landlord - In this case appellate Court failed to consider that tenant has suppressed genuineness of her dispute with IOC and thereby failed to show sufficient cause for ceasing to occupy building for a continuous period of more than four months before filing eviction petition - Courts below also have failed to take into consideration that certain constructions made by tenant were demolished during pendency of proceedings and that demolition of construction amounts to acts of waste as or likely to impair material value or utility of building - Findings of appellate Court are perverse resulting miscarriage of justice and same liable to be set aside - Eviction petition filed by landlords stands allowed - Accordingly Revision, allowed. Pradeep Lohade (died) per L.Rs. Vs. Radhika Agarwal 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 248 = 2012(1) ALD 177 = 2012(1) ALT 294.

—Sec.10(3)(a)(iii) & Sec.4 - "Bona fide requirement" - "Fixation of fare rent" - Landlord/ 1st respondent filed petition for eviction of petitioners from premises on ground of bona fide requirement for his son who is unemployed - Rent Controller allowed eviction petition on ground of bona fide requirement - Rent Controller also disposed of petition filed by landlord for fixation of fare rent - Tenants have filed appeals against orders of eviction and fixation of fare rents - Appellate Court confirmed order of eviction and also confirmed fare rent fixed by Rent Controller - Hence present Cr.Ps - Tenants contend that plea of bona fide requirement of landlord in Ex.P.1, notice issued by landlord is completely silent about bona fide requirements and that eviction petition is merely a cloak for extracting higher rents - In fact there is no reference in notice to proposed business of landlords, son and that whole emphasis was on enhancement of rent - However in Rent Control petition it is specialty averred that landlord was proposing to commence business for his son - In this case, landlord is examined as P.W.1 and his son was examined as P.W.2 and it is noteworthy that tenants have failed to put suggestions to P.W.1 and P.W.2 in their cross-examination suggesting that plea of bona fide requirement is false - As rightly concluded by both Courts below, by merely failure of landlord to mention about bona fide requirement in Ex.P.1 notice, his plea of bona fide requirement cannot be disbelieved - On careful consideration of reasons assigned by lower appellate Court same do not warrant any interference of High Court in exercise of its revisional jurisdiction - Therefore market rate of rent fixed by Courts below does not call for any interference - Having considered long standing possession of tenants and further fact that they need reasonable time for securing alternative premises, tenants are given six months time for vacating demised premises - Both Cr.Ps are dismissed. Kiron's Partnership Firm Vs. Mangalagiri Mohammed Ibrahim, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 248 = 2012(3) ALD 519 = 2012(4) ALT 481.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.10(3)(a)(iii), 22- Learned Rent Controller and Additional Chief Judge had recorded concurrent findings of fact that landlord had established requirement of the schedule premises for the bonafide purpose of commencement of business, and that the tenant had failed to establish any of the contentions raised in defence to show the disentitlement of landlord to evict the tenant - Tenant could not point out that said findings suffered from any factual or legal infirmity - Therefore, on careful examination of the facts and evidence, this Court is satisfied that it is not open to this Court in exercise of revisional jurisdiction to interfere with the concurrent findings of the Courts below, more particularly, when such findings are based on proper appreciation of the facts and evidence and are also found to be legally sustainable - Points are accordingly answered in favour of landlord and against tenant - For aforesaid reasons, the Revision is devoid of merit and is unsustainable and is liable to be dismissed - In result, Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. Syed Ahmed Ali Vs.Shaik Mohd. Bin AbdulBin Ali Ramazan, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 284 = 2014(6) ALD 296.

—Secs.10(3)(a)(iii)(a) r/w 10(c) & 20(3) - - A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT, EVICTION) CONTROL RULES, 1960, Rule 11(2) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.41, Rule 27(1) - Respondent filed R.C before Rent Controller seeking eviction of petitioner on ground of bona fide requirement - Petitioner/tenant denied title of respondent and consequently, pleaded that there is no jural relationship of tenant and landlord - Rent Controller dismissed R.C upholding objection of petitioner - Aggrieved by said order respondent filed Appeal and pending appeal respondent filed Application u/Sec.23 of Act r/w Or.41,

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

Rule 27 of CPC for receiving certain documents by way of additional evidence - Appellate Court allowed not only application but also appeal filed by respondent - Hence present, CRP - In this case, lower appellate Court, not followed proper procedure before considering additional evidence and granting relief in favour of respondent - U/Sec.20(3) of Act, appellate Court shall send for records of case, from Rent Controller and give parties opportunity of being heard and if necessary after making such further enquiry as he thinks fit either personally or through Rent Controller and decide appeal - Rule 11(2) envisages that if appellate Court decides to make further enquiry it may take additional evidence or require such evidence to be taken by Rent Controller - Order of appellate Court cannot be sustained as petitioner was not given opportunity of leading rebuttal evidence with reference to documents filed by respondent and admitted additional evidence at stage of appeal - Order of appellate Court, set aside and case remanded to lower appellate Court for fresh consideration directing to record further evidence either by itself or by directing Rent Controller to record evidence and forward same to it with reference to additional evidence produced by respondents - CRP, allowed. Agarwal Brothers Vs. Savithri Bai, 2012(1) Law Summary 305 = 2012(3) ALD 3 = 2012(3) ALT 460.

—Secs.10(3)(c) – Landlady filing RC for eviction of tenant on ground of requirement for additional accommodation to her son and daughter-in-law, are both Doctors – Tenant contends that existing accommodation is sufficient for them and present requirement is neither bona- fide nor genuine – Rent Controller ordered eviction – Lower appellate Court allowed appeal filed by tenant - Petitioners contend that interpretation of Sec.10(3)(c)by lower appellate Court is erroneous and that landlady herself alone can ask for additional accommodation for her requirement and not for requirement for her son or daughter-in-law and that under proviso to Sec.10(3) (c) "relative hardship" must be construed even if requirement is accepted and eviction petition lacks any pleadings in regard to relative hardship and that Rent Controller in his order not focused on hardship to tenant but considered advantage to lady - PARAMETERS OF CONSI-DERING REQUIREMENT U/SEC.10(3) (c) – Stated – Contention of respondent/tenant that lower appellate Court has correctly interpreted provisions of Sec.10(3) (c) of Act and that requirement of any other member of family of landlady would not fall within requirement of landlady as envisaged u/Sec.10(3) (c) is liable to be rejected - In this case, requirement pleaded by petitioners was duly established by evidence adduced on behalf of landlady - 6th petitioner and his wife being doctors it cannot be disputed that they need consultation and treatment to male and female patients separately and are justified in seeking that they should separate consulting clinics so that privacy to patients would be ensured - RELATIVE HARDSHIP – Question with regard to "relative hardship" is required to be considered whenever requirement u/Sec.10(3) (c) of Act is pleaded – It is no doubt true that Rent Controller has used word "inconvenience" as synonymous is that of "hardship", and that mere use of word "inconvenience" would not vitiate finding of Rent Controller in his order – Evidence on record fully justifies hardship of petitioners in event of there being denied requirement - Stand taken by tenant is highly abstinent and as such disallowing genuine requirement of petitioners would negate very purpose of Sec.10(3) (c) of Act - Order of lower appellate Court, set aside – Order of Rent Controller in directing eviction of tenant, restored - Revision petition, allowed. B.Rukmaiah Vs. M.A. Samad 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 43 = 2009(2) ALD 264 = 2009(2) ALT 271 = 2008(4) APLJ 39 (SN).

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Sec.10(3)(c) - Petitioner/land lord filed RCC for eviction of respondent contending that he bona fidely required RCC schedule shop for doing business in fancy and general stores and that respondent is regular willful defaulter in payment of monthly rents and is liable to be evicted - Respondent filed counter that he is doing business of Cigars in Schedule shop and petitioner really do not have bonafidely need or intention to start business and that he is not willful defaulter in payments of rents and that he would suffer great hardship and lose his livelihood if eviction is ordered - Rent Controller dismissed RCC on ground that petitioner failed to prove his avocation prior to filing of petition for eviction and that he had experience in doing fancy business and that he required to do his business to maintain his family - Appellate Authority dismissed appeal filed by petitioner - In revision High Court remitted back matter to Appellate Authority to consider petitioner need for RCC Schedule shop in occupation of respondent is one for "additional accommodation" by observing that Appellate Authority should give opportunity to both parties to let in further evidence on aspect of bonafide requirement for additional accommodation - Thereafter petitioner amended RCC petition and added paras contending that the other rooms are small in area and one shop is not sufficient and that unless petitioner is put to vacant physical position other rooms including RCC Schedule shop it is not possible for petitioner to start fancy and general store business and that petitioner having no avacation at that time and he is well experienced in business as he was previously managing his brothers fancy stores and therefore he bonafidely require RCC Schedule shop for his personal requirements and for starting fancy and general stores - Appellate Authority again dismissed said Appeal on ground that proviso relevant to Sec.10(3) (c) dealing with additional accommodation enjoins Rent Controller to examine issue of hardship which may be caused to tenant if eviction were to be ordered as against advantage to landlord and that no evidence is adduced in that regard by petitioner landlord and that as per evidence of petitioner he was already having a shop after getting vacated one tenant and that he is not using that shop and that again he is asking eviction of respondent for additional accommodation by way of bona fide requirement and that it is duty of landlord to produce evidence that there is hardship to tenant in order to get him evicted - Petitioner contends that appellate authority erroneously placed burden of proving that there is no hardship to tenant on petitioner seeking additional accommodation and that it is for tenant to prove said fact and that tenant failed to adduce any evidence in regard thereto and that land-lord cannot be compelled to resize nature of business which he intends to start - In this case, it is clear that only after order of remand by High Court in CRP, issue of additional accommodation came in to focus and thereafter petitioner amended RCC and included pleadings that respondent tenant filed counter simply stating that he will suffer great hardship and will lose his livelihood and therefore petition should be dismissed and in counter filed by respondent there is no mention whether respondent had made any attempt to secure alternative accommodation in neighborhood or any other facts which would indicate that he would suffer great hardship - In view of categorical admission in his evidence that he did not attempt to secure other premises for his business or to vacate subject premises as rent for neighborhood shops are very high - Appellate authority also erred in holding that it is duty of landlord to produce evidence that there is hardship to tenant if he is evicted from subject premises - In fact burden is clearly on tenant to prove his hardship - In this case, tenant had failed to establish hardship which will be caused to him would outweigh advantage to landlord - Appellate authority has failed to correctly apply principles of law as to burden of proof and also failed to appreciate evidence on record in deciding question whether petitioner has bona fide requirement for additional accommodation and that advantage which would ensure to his benefit is not outweighed by hardship which may be cause to tenant - Tenant directed to vacate premies on particular date - CRP, allowed. Danduboina Madhava Rao Vs. Kandi Atchiraju (died), 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 185 = 2013(3) ALD 23 = 2013(2) ALT 626.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.10(3)(c) & 22 - Petitioners/appellants filed petition u/Sec.10(3)(c) to evict first respondent contending that petitioners require additional accommodation which requirement is bona fide and that hardship to petitioners outweighs requirements of 1st respondent - 1st respondent contends that petitioners have no right to seek eviction u/Sec.10(3)(c) of Act and that 1st respondent has been allotted an independent separate Municipal number and is not part of any other building as such, provisions of 10(3)(c) are not attracted and that requirement of petitioners is not bona fide and business of 1st respondent in schedule premises is only source of income for him and for his family members and that hardship that would be caused to him would outweigh advantage to petitioners - Rent Controller dismissed petition for eviction holding that premises in occupation of petitioners and RC schedule premises are not two separate buildings but are part of same building and that petition for eviction is maintainable to seek eviction of respondent from RC schedule premises under Sec.10(3)(c) of Act; however that it is not possible for 1st respondent to get similar accommodation for business in same locality and therefore hardship which may be caused to 1st respondent would outweigh advantage to petitioner, if petition for eviction is allowed - Chief Judge dismissed appeal filed by petitioners land while setting aside the findings of Rent Controller holding that RC schedule premises is a separate building within definition of Sec.2(iii) of Act for all practical purposes and petitioners are not entitled to invoke Sec.10(iii)(c) of Act and that requirement of RC schedule premises as additional accommodation is not genuine and bona fide and 1st respondent is not liable to be evicted from R.C. Schedule premises - Hence, present CRP by 1st and 2nd petitioners - In this case, 1st respondent in his counter merely pleaded that if he is evicted he and his family members will be deprived of their source of income and therefore hardship would be caused to him in event of his eviction will outweigh advantage to petitioners - In his deposition 1st respondent did not say what attempts he made to secure other accommodation in area but merely stated that his family consists of 8 members and their source of income of livelihood from business in RC premises only and in event of eviction he will be put to great hardship - In fact, some hardship is bound to be caused if 1st respondent is disturbed from premises where he had been carrying on business but if he had made no attempt to find out whether alternative accommodation for his purpose is available in same or any other locality it has to be held that hardship caused to him would not outweigh advantage of landlord - Land lord cannot be compelled to live in an inconvenient position merely because he had tolarated it for some time - Advantage to landlord in facts and circumstances of case would clearly outweigh hardship which tenant is likely to suffer because of his eviction - Petitioners have established their need for additional accommodation u/Sec.10(iii)(c) and their need is bona fide and that hardship which would be caused to 1st respondent is outweighved by advantage to petitioners - Order of appellate Authority and order passed by Rent Controller are set aside - 1st respondent, is directed to deliver vacate possession of RC premises to 1st petitioner - CRP, allowed. Sri Srinivasa Enterprises Vs. Sri Narayanadas 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 324 = 2013(3) ALD 777 = 2013(4) ALT 353.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—-Secs.11 and 20 - This Civil Revision Petition under Article 227 of Constitution of India by tenant/petitioner/appellant in unregistered RASR is directed against orders of City Small Causes Court, passed in aforementioned unregistered Appeal.

The landlord brought the Rent Control Case in RC.no.13 of 2013 on the file of the Court of the learned II Additional Rent Controller, City Small Cause's Court, Hyderabad for eviction of the tenant. After full fledged trial and on merits, the said Rent Control Case was allowed on 03.06.2014 directing the tenant to vacate and handover physical possession of the petition schedule property to the landlord. Aggrieved of the said orders, the tenant had filed the aforementioned unregistered appeal before the learned Chief Judge, City Small Causes Court, Hyderabad. However, since rents are not deposited while instituting the said unregistered appeal, the Office of the Court of the learned Chief Judge has taken an objection for numbering the said appeal. A contention was raised that there is no finding in the judgment of the learned Rent Controller in regard to the period of default and that the tenant is disputing the jural relationship. However, since an order of eviction was also granted to the landlord on the ground of willful default, the learned Chief Judge had refused to register the appeal and had directed the tenant to deposit the rents from August, 2010 onwards to have the Appeal numbered. Aggrieved of the said orders, the tenant had preferred this Revision Petition.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

Held, there is an order of the learned II Additional Rent Controller against the petitioner/tenant. Though the said order is being sought to be assailed in the unregistered Rent Appeal, the law ordains that such appeal shall not be entertained unless the rental arrears are deposited. The deposit of rental arrears is a condition precedent for entertaining and proceeding with the hearing of the rent appeal (RA). In the case on hand, the petitioner had not paid to the respondent herein or deposited the arrears of rents at the time of institution of the proposed appeal. The law is clear that Section 11 applies to cases where the jural relationship and the arrears of rent are disputed, but, on enquiry, it is found by the learned Rent Controller that the relationship of landlord and tenant exists between the parties and that the tenant is a wilful defaulter in payment of rents. As held in the cited decision, the purpose of Section 11 is to minimize the hardship to the landlord; by inserting Section 11 in the Act, the legislature clearly intended to give protection to the tenants provided they paid the rent due to the landlord, and continue to pay till the disputes are settled; no tenant can prefer an appeal under Section 20 of the Act unless he has paid the landlord or has deposited in Court, the entire arrears of rent; payment of rent is a condition precedent for entertaining an appeal.

In view of the facts of the case and the settled legal position, this Court is of the well-considered view that the order impugned does not call for any interference. 8. In the result, the Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. Mohd. Taufeeq Vs. Ahmadi Begum 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 326 = 2016(5) ALD 268 = 2016(5) ALT 680.

—Sec.11(1), 20 and 22 - Inspite of clear language in Sec.11 of the Act, appellate authority granted stay without imposing any conditions - Respondents should have shown sufficient cause to satisfy appellate authority to pass an appropriate order or should have shown mitigating circumstances for non-deposit of rents - No such attempt was made - Appellate authority observed in a single sentence that payment of defaulted rents cannot be asked to be paid by petitioners/appellants without assigning any reason for such finding - Though decree directs appellants to deposit a sum of Rs.5,500/- towards costs and was noticed by appellate authority, same was also not directed to be deposited - In view of above circumstances, order passed by appellate authority is not in accordance with law and remains suspended. Ameda Nityanandam Vs. Gettu Babu 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 19 = 2015(3) ALD 645 = 2015(2) ALT 414.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.11(4) & 10 (2) (a) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.6, Rule 17 - "Subsequent events" - 1st respondent/owner of premises filed petition for eviction against petitioner/ tenant on ground of wilful default in payment of rent - Since 1st respondent died during pendency of R.C, his Lrs, 2 to 6 brought on record - 7th respondent who became owner of premises by virtue of gift settlement deed filed I.A with prayer to permit him to add paragraph to petition, pleading, ground of wilful default, subsequent to transfer in his favour - I.A opposed on ground that 7th respondent came to be impleaded after evidence is completed and arguments heard and amendment not permissible in law - Rent Controller allowed I.A. - Hence present Revision - Petitioner contends that I.A is untenable in law, and if there is an any default in payment of rent, subsequent to filing of R.C, only course open for respondents was to file Application u/Sec.11 (4) of Act - 7th respondent contends that it is always permissible to plead subsequent events in petition u/sec.10 of Act, and that default committed during pendency of proceedings, can also be treated as one of grounds for eviction and that filing of Application u/Sec.11(4) of Act is one of options and is not step to exclusion of plea of eviction, on ground of wilful default - If default in payment of rent is committed during pendency of proceedings not only it can be urged as basis for consequences provided for u/Sec11(4) of Act that is, directing tenant to put landlord in possession of premises, but also can be pressed into service as an additional ground referable to Sec.10 (2) (i) of Act - Since Application u/Sec.11 was already filed, amendment is permissible - In this case, in I.A no oral evidence was recorded and still reference was made to oral testimony - Proper attention ought to have been paid in framing sentences to connote definite idea - Even while moulding relief, proper care not exhibited - Question of directing petitioner to amend prayer does not arise - CRP, dismissed - OBSERVATIONS OF HIS LORDSHIP: "....That learned Presiding Officer and others, if any, writing orders in similar fashion would note that adjudication of disputes is a respectable function assigned by Society to a Judge and failure to maintain proper quality thereof, would not at all be appreciated by society at large". Shankarlal Loya Vs. Ramdev Rathi 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 60 = 2010(5) ALD 800 = 2010(6) ALT 1.

—Secs.12 , 10 (2) (1), 8 (5) & 22 & RULES 5 (4) & 16 - Rent Controller ordered eviction on ground that tenant secured alternative accommodation and bonafide personal requirement and negatived ground of wilful default - Appellate authority came to conclusion that ground of wilful default has been made out for period of 70 months and accordingly ordered eviction - Appellant/landlord contends that in light of clear evidence available on record, apart from wilful default eviction should have been ordered on grounds of bona fide personal requirement and also on ground of securing alternative accommodation - Since it is choice of landlord to choose his own building findings recorded, unsustainable - Respondent/tenant contends that as building was old, respondent-tenant reconstructed same and let out same to tenant as per provisions of Sec.12 of Act and therefore respondent-tenant is not liable to be evicted - Burden is on tenant, when eviction had been prayed for u/Sec.10 (2) (1) of Act to establish that he had not committed any default, much less, wilful default in payment of rent - In this case, specific stand taken by landlords is that no notice of deposit of rent had been given to them after obtaining order u/Sec.8(5) of Act in compliance of Rule 5(4) of Rules - Since tendering of rent was not communicated by way of notice in terms of Rule 5(4) & 16 of Rules, appellate Court is right in coming to conclusion that it was a wilful default - When a tenant takes recourse to section 8 of the Act for deposit of rents into the Court, he has to follow the procedure prescribed therein. If he fails to deposit challans into Court and give notice of deposit or fails to deposit process fee to enable the Court to cause service of notice of deposit on landlord for a considerably long time, it cannot but be held that he becomes a wilful defaulter, thereby creating a right in the landlord seeking his eviction from the demised premises on ground of wilful default - Finding of appellate authority in ordering eviction of tenant on ground of wilful default for about 70 months - Justified - Findings recorded by appellate authority, confirmed - CRPs, dismissed. Omkar Tele Vs. Mohd. Abdul Rahman 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 248 = 2010(4) ALD 550 = 2010(5) ALT 571.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Secs.12 and 10(3)(a)(iii)(b) - A plain reading of the facts and ratios in the cited cases would clearly indicate that eviction petition seeking eviction of tenant from a non-residential building for purpose of intended business of landlord is maintainable and that landlord who requires bona fide building in occupation of tenant which is in a dilapidated condition may simultaneously plead and prove requirement of building for demolition and reconstruction and also his bona fide personal requirement on such demolition and reconstruction - In the case on hand, both requirements are satisfied and are held proved - Accordingly, the points are answered holding that eviction petition is maintainable and revision is devoid of merits - In the result, the civil revision petition is dismissed. Kesar Bai Vs. D.Kamal Kumar 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 255 = 2015(4) ALD 69 = 2015(3) ALT 203.

—Secs.16 & 22 - Landlady let out some portion of premises to tenant for business purpose and remaining portion of building is used by landlady to maintain in lodge - Landlady filed RCC seeking eviction of tenant on ground of personal requirement - RCC was dismissed on merits and subsequently CMA and CRP also were dismissed and SLP also dismissed by Supreme Court - Thereafter Rent Controller dismissed another RCC filed by landlady on ground that she suppressed material fact of earlier litigation which she lost upto Supreme Court and on premise that her claim is barred by res judicata - Requirement sought by landlady in subsequent RC is held to be different one i.e. for expanding her lodge business, whereas initial requirement was to start business in name and style of Gemini Tape Centre and according appellate authority itis not hit by Sec.16 of Rent Control Act - In this case, since landlady disclosed about earlier litigation between her and tenant, it cannot be said that she is guilty of suppression of any material fact and thereby played fraud on Court with a view to have any advantage - Requirement of landlady in earlier RCC is different one in instant case and decision in earlier case does not attract bar u/Sec.16 of Act or principles of Res judicata, since issues arose for determination in both cases are not substantially same - Tenant is directed to vacate premises - CRP, dismissed. Sri Pydeti Raja Rama Mohana Gandhi Vs. Smt Katreddi Janaki Murthy, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 313 = 2011(2) ALD 760 = 2011(5) ALT 185.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Sec.22 - General rule that High Court will not interfere with concurrent findings of the courts below, is not an absolute rule - Some of well recognized exceptions are where i) courts below have ignored material evidence or have acted on no evidence; ii) the courts have drawn wrong inferences from proved facts applying law erroneously; or iii) the courts have wrongly cast burden of proof - Orders passed by both Courts below, do not fall under any of exceptions referred to herein above - Concurrent findings of fact, reached on an overall consideration of material and relevant facts, by courts below do not, therefore, necessitate interference in revision proceedings under Sec. 22 of Act - Transfer of Property Act, Sec.107 - Mere fact that petitioner did not produce a registered lease deed, to show that she had let out subject premises to respondent, is of no consequence - Lease of immovable property can be established by other evidence, even in absence of a registered lease deed - If there is other uncontroverted evidence available on record to support the claim of grant of lease, that would be sufficient to uphold the decree - De hors instrument, parties can create a lease as envisaged in second paragraph of S. 107 of the T.P. Act - Indian Evidence Act - Admission is best piece of evidence against persons making admission - While evi-dentiary admissions are not conclusive proof of facts admitted, and may be explained or shown to be wrong, they do raise an estoppels and shift burden of proof placing it on person making admission or his representative-in-interest - Unless shown or explained to be wrong, they are efficacious proof of facts admitted (per Avadh Kishore Das v. Ram Gopal (1979) 4 SCC 790) - Rent Control Act- In instant case, it is not as if additional evidence was required by Court to enable it to pronounce judgment - Documents sought to be brought on record are not documents which were discovered later - Documents could have been produced before Rent Controller - Nothing has been averred as to how these documents have any bearing on any of the issues involved in the present case - Even in application there is no averment as to relevancy and necessity of document to be brought on record by way of additional evidence, and for it to be read in evidence - It is, therefore, not in interest of justice to allow such an application - CRP fails and is accordingly dismissed. K.Chengalraya Chetty (died) and Ors. Vs. Gomatheeswari, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 192 = 2014(6) ALD 236.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—Sec.22 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.115 - Petitioners, College Committee filed RCC for eviction of respondent/tenant contending that it is absolute owner of properties belong to Institution and respondent took on lease a small room for running soda shop on monthly rent and paid rent only upto 1994 and thereafter did not pay rents and committed wilful default of payments of rents and that petitioners require RCC schedule shop for their personal use and occupation - Respondent initially filed counter admitting that he was paying rents and that his father served petitioner Institution without any remuneration and expired later; that as gesture of goodwill for services of father of respondent has rendered, Management of petitioner permitted him to run soda shop in premises and also denied that he is in arrears of rent and committed any wilful default in payment of rent - Respondent thereafter changed his Counsel and filed IA before Rent Controller seeking to amend his counter by raising plea that there was no relationship of landlord and tenant between respondent and petitioners and that only vacant site was allotted to father of respondent for services faithfully rendered by him to petitioners without any remuneration and that constructions over said site were made by father of respondent at his own cost - Rent Controller passed orders permitting amendment of respondent's counter and withdrawing admissions made by him in earlier counter and basing on such amended counter Rent Controller dismissed RCC and Appellate Court confirmed order in RCC - In this case, amendment petition destroys admissions made in earlier counter filed by respondent wherein he had admitted that he was a tenant and he was paying rents upto end of 1997 and that there was no default in payment of rent - It is settled law that admission in a pleading cannot be allowed to be withdrawn by way of amendment - In this case, both of Rent Controller and Appellate Authority acted upon said amended counter of respondent and came to conclusion that there is no jural relationship of landlord and tenant and that there is no wilful default in payment of rent by respondent and that petitioners failed to prove that there is bona fide requirement of RCC schedule premises - Both Rent Controller and Appellate Authority have misdirected themselves by taking to account amended counter of respondent raising plea of absence of jural relationship of landlord and tenant and have erroneously came to conclusion that there is no wilful default in payment of rent - Findings of Rent Controller and Appellate Authority cannot be sustained in light of pleadings of respondent in original counter about existence of landlord and tenant relationship between petitioners and respondent - In this case, respondent failed to adduce any evidence in support of his pleading that he had paid rents upto 1997 and on other hand, stated in his evidence that no rent is fixed at all for shop in his occupation - Petitioners have made out case for eviction of respondent on ground of wilful default in payment of rent since 1994 - Orders of Appellate Authority and Rent Controller are set aside - CRP, allowed - Respondent directed to vacate RCC schedule premises and deliver vacant possession to petitioners within four months. Hindu College Committee Vs. Shaik Subhani 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 7 = 2013(4) ALD 361 = 2013(4) ALT 307.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

—-Secs.22 and 10 - Petitioners-landlords filed R.C. u/Secs.10(2)(ii)(a) and 10(3)(a)(iii)(b) of Rent Control Act, seeking a direction to respondent-tenant, and all others claiming under or through him, to vacate and deliver vacant, peaceful, physical and legal possession of petition schedule premises to them - Subject property was let out by their grandmother to grandfather of tenant and after his death, his son carried on business in said property by paying a monthly rent - Petitioners-landlords became absolute owners of property by virtue of a Will made by their grandmother - Respondent owned several commercial properties in same locality - The first petitioner needed entire premises for his personal requirement for commencing some business - Petitioners do not have any other non-residential premises, except petition schedule property - Respondent-tenant had illegally sublet a major portion of ground floor of subject mulgi to a third party who was carrying on business under the name and style of "Saheli Suits"; respondent had also allowed several petty vendors to carry on business in front of premises by collecting a hefty license fee per day - Petitioners came to know of this through reliable sources - Respondent-tenant denied allegations contending that petitioners were not his landlords and neither had he ever paid rent to them nor had they claimed rent at any time as owners of subject property - In his order, Rent Controller held that petitioners, who were the sons of C.Sriramulu and the grandsons of C.Kanakalakshmi, were legally entitled to receive rents from petition schedule property in view Sec.2(vi) of Act - Respondent-tenant was directed to vacate premises within sixty days from date of order, failing which petitioners-landlords were given liberty to evict him from subject property in accordance with law - When respondent-tenant appealed, Additional Chief Judge, City Small Causes Court, held that respondent, who was only a tenant in subject property, had no right to question validity of Will and dismissed appeal confirming eviction order passed - Aggrieved by that order, respondent-tenant filed this revision before this Court.

Held, as has been held by Appellate Court, respondent-tenant has taken contradictory stands - On one hand, he contended that "Saheli Suits" was a shop run by him as its owner, and on other he stated that C.Kanakalakshmi and C.Sriramulu had consented in writing that he could sublet subject property, and consent was given on a stamp paper - He denied suggestion that there was no such document, hence he did not file it before Court, and he was deposing falsely about document

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT, 1960:

- In his evidence affidavit, respondent-tenant stated that he was permitted to let out subject property by entering into a partnership with "Saheli Suits" - Fact, however, remains that it is not even his case that he was authorized to sublet premises to a third party - Concurrent findings of fact recorded by both Courts below, that respondent-tenant had sublet premises to "Saheli Suits" without permission of petitioners-landlords, is based on evidence on record, and does not necessitate interference in revision proceedings u/Sec. 22 of Act.

Both on ground of bona fide requirement, and on ground that respondent-tenant had sublet premises without permission of petitioners-landlords, both Courts below were justified in directing his eviction from the subject premises - Order under revision does not necessitate interference - Civil Revision Petition fails and is, accordingly, dismissed. R.Ajay Kumar Vs. Cheela Narayana Rao 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 158 = 2016(6) ALD 150.

—Secs.32(B) - G.O.Ms.No.636m Dt.27-10-1983 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Secs.106 & 116 - Suit filed for recovery of possession of suit property, Cinema Hall - While rent control proceedings are pending, notice given to 1st defendant terminating lease and reply notice was given by 1st defendant contending that notice of termination is not valid and not in accordance with Sec.106 of T.P Act since it is not given by all owners - Trial Court dismissed suit on ground that there is no valid notice of termination of tenancy, since it was not given by all lessors - Single Judge allowed appeal observing that it is not necessary to go into correctness of notice as there is no applicability of Sec.106 of T.P Act - Hence present LPA - Appellants/defendants contend that in plaint 1st defendant is described as tenant-holding-over and thereby u/Sec.116 of T.P. Act he is entitled for a valid notice u/Sec.106 of Act and inasmuch as notice not given on behalf of all lessors, appeal should have been dismissed and that single Judge has not considered case of appellants as tenants holding over - Respondents contend that description of appellants as tenant-holding over is by mistake of parties and by applying requirements of Sec.116 of Act appellant does not fit in with status of tenant-holding over - A tenancy is created by consent of parties or conduct of parties - When tenant himself denies status as tenant- holding over and payment of rents only long after lease period expired by efflux of time, it clearly goes to show that he is not a contracting party for continuation of tenancy - Therefore if tenant is claiming benefit u/Sec.116 of Act, he has to show that by conduct or otherwise he was willing to be tenant and landlord had assented to him to continue possession of property and he was paying rent after period of tenancy - In this case, basic requirements of benefit u/Sec.116 of Act are wanting - When all landlords have not assented for continuation of lease after efflux of time, no fresh lease is created u/Sec.116 of Act - Evidently, even before institution of suit, rent control proceedings were instituted and landlord was not interested in continuation of possession of property by defendants and there was no acceptance of rents and thereby there is not status of tenant holding over - Appellant cannot take shelter for a notice u/Sec.106 of Act or for a protection as statutory tenant, since rent Act is not applicable - Appellants are only tenants by sufferance and consequently judgment under appeal - Justified - LPA, dismissed. Bandaru Giribabu Vs. N.V.Satayanarayana Murthy, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 108 = 2011(2) ALD 623 = 2011(2) ALT 546.

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL RULES, 1961:

A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL RULES, 1961:

—Rule 23(7) - 1st respondent filed RCC against 2nd respondent for eviction from petition schedule premises and same was allowed and in pursuance thereof 1st respondent filed E.P. - Revision petitioner filed claim petition (E.A) in E.P under Rule 23(7) of Act seeking enquiry into matter and dismissed E.P, on ground that order passed in RCC not binding on her and unenforceable against her and that 1st respondent is not landlord and owner of petition schedule premises and that she purchased property under Ex.A.1 registered sale deed and put in possession of property and she is enjoying same by paying taxes and got mutated property in official records of Municipal Corporation - 1st respondent filed counter contending that petitioner's alleged vendor is no other than his mother and that she executed registered settlement deed in his favour during her life time - Petitioner contends that basing on Ex.A.1 registered sale deed, she filed suit for declaration and permanent injunction and same was decreed and as such Claim Petition filed by petitioner should have been allowed by Rent Controller as injunction is operating on 1st respondent - 1st respondent contends that 2nd respondent who is no other than husband of revision petitioner was inducted by 1st respondent as tenant and 2nd respondent paid rents to 1st respondent, as such, landlord and tenant relationship is existing and order of eviction passed by Rent Controller and same has to be executed and that order of eviction passed against tenant can be executed against a person claiming to be a transferee of tenancy rights - After considering evidence of both oral and documentary, Rent Controller dismissed Claim petition filed by revision petitioner - In this case, when civil Court had declared title of revision petitioner and granted injunction in her favour and against 1st respondent, Rent Controller cannot dismiss Claim petition filed by revision petitioner and proceed with execution of eviction order passed on RCC - Rent Controller cannot decide question of title to immovable property - When title of landlord is in dispute, Rent Controller has no jurisdiction to decide title - In this case, when 1st respondent has already filed a comprehensive suit for possession and other reliefs in respect of petition schedule premises against revision petitioner and others it is appropriate that rights of revision petitioner and 1st respondent are decided in that suit instead of deciding issue in E.P herein which is summary in nature - Order of Rent Controller in dismissing claim petition filed by revision petitioner - Erroneous - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed - However 1st respondent is at liberty to seek for eviction of revision petitioner, after suit filed by him is decreed. Eedi Anjali Devi Vs. Chagantipati Lakshminarayana @ Srinu 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 52 = 2014(4) ALD 447 = 2013(5) ALT 644.

A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987:

—Secs.2(13), 2 (29), 8, 29(2) (3) (5) & (6), 35, 36,37 and 39 - Powers of Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner and Asst. Commissioner of Endowments Department to suspend temple employee discharging functions of Executive Officer [person-in-management (PMI)] and Liability of Religious Institution of temple to pay salary of PIM who on transfer works in other temple – Stated - (a)Officer holders and servants of any charitable religious institution or endowment authorized to perform functions and discharge duties of EOs of an institution cannot be treated or considered as EOs appointed under Section 29(2) and (3) of the Act read with Andhra Pradesh Charitable and Hindu Religious Institutions and Endowments Subordinate Service (Non-Gazetted) Rules, 2002; (b)Officers and holders authorized to perform functions and discharge duties of EOs cannot be treated as Government servants under Section 29(6) of Act, and therefore, they cannot be paid salary, allowances, pension or other remuneration out of Consolidated Fund of State; (c)Andhra Pradesh Civil Services (Classification, Conduct and Appeal) Rules, 1991 have no application to EOs appointed under Section 29(2) of the Act. As a corollary, these Rules are not applicable to office holders and servants of temple who are authorised to discharge functions of EOs; (d)The Commissioner and/or Assistant Commissioner of Endowments are not competent to suspend a temple employee performing functions and discharging duties of EO as authorised by Commissioner under Section 29(5)(d) of Act; and (e)It is competent to trustee/board of trustee or EO, as case may be, to take disciplinary action against temple employees and temple employees discharging functions of EO in accordance with Office Holders and Servants Punishment Rules, 1987 - If trustee or board of trustee or EO fails to take such action including action to suspend a temple employee pending enquiry, then alone Commissioner and/or department officers can take action - Impugned orders of suspension, qushed - Writ petition No. 241815 of 2005 and Writ appeal No.150 of 2006, allowed. N.Ravindra Murthy Vs.Shri Veerabhadra Swamy Temple,Bonthupally, Medak 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 20 = 2008(3) ALD 372 = 2008(3) ALT 287 = 2008(2) APLJ 33 (SN).

—Secs.6, 15, 18, 19 and 29 and A.P.Charitable and Hindu Religious Institutions and Endowments, appointment of Trustee Rules, 1987 - By proceedings of the Deputy Commissioner, Endowments, petitioner was appointed as single trustee - There has never been a complaint of mismanagement of affairs or misuse of funds of the subject temple - While so, by proceedings of the Deputy Commissioner, Executive Officer Temple, is appointed as single trustee - The said proceedings are challenged in this writ petition - Held, admittedly, the procedure as envisaged in the Act read with Rules 1987 is not followed before appointing the 6th respondent as single trustee - Such appointment is ex facie illegal as no such power is vested in the Deputy Commissioner to appoint a single trustee without following due procedure - Furthermore, there is merit in the contention urged by the learned counsel for the petitioner that in accordance with the provision contained in section 18(d), person appointed as a trustee, more so if he is a single trustee, should have sufficient time and interest to attend to the affairs of the institution - Admittedly, the 6th respondent is an Executive Officer of big temple, which is located far away from the subject temple - Therefore, it cannot be expected that 6th respondent would be able to spare sufficient time and interest to attend to the affairs of the subject temple - The clause in Section 18(d) has to be given due weight - It is in the interest of proper administration of the temple - The very purpose to appoint a single trustee is defeated if a person so appointed is unable to spare his time to the temple - Thus, in terms of the provision contained in section 18(d), the 6th respondent is not qualified to be appointed as single trustee - For all the reasons stated above, the order impugned is not sustainable - Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. Guduru Ramalingeswara Vs.The State of Andhra Pradesh 2015(3) Law Summary(A.P.) 101.

A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987:

—Sec.6(c)(ii), 9,12 & 28 - G.O.Ms.No.81, Revenue Dt.25-1-1989 - Basing on complaint, 1st respondent/Regional Joint Director, Endowment issued Memo no.A/650/2009, dt.18-8-2009 dispensing with operation of Bank account jointly by petitioner/one of the founder trustees of Temple and Executive Officer - Petitioner contends that 1st respondent/Joint Commissioner is not appointing authority and has no competence or jurisdiction to take action against Trustee u/Sec.28 of Act - Respondent contends that as petitioner holding joint cheque power to operate Bank account which was being misused, joint cheque power was dispensed with pending enquiry and that impugned order was not disciplinary action as contemplated u/Sec.28 of Act, it is only as administrative measure to prevent illegal activities of petitioner - Admittedly Temple was registered as institution falling under provisions of Sec.6(c) of Act and Asst. Commissioner is administrative authority for same subject to administrative control of R1/Regional Joint Commissioner and in view of complaints received and to ensure better administration and to avoid to mis-management and misuse of funds impugned memo issued dispensing with operation of Bank account jointly by petitioner and Executive Officer - It is to be noted that it is not a case of suspension or removal or dismissal of a Trustee - Impugned order merely as effect of withdrawing joint cheque powers from petitioner - It is therefore not a case of 1st respondent usurping powers u/Sec.28 of Act - There is nothing on record to show that impugned order is visited with civil consequences and does not suffer from any illegality - On other hand petitioner is not entitled to assail impugned order as no legal right is vested in or conferred on petitioner to operate Bank account jointly along with Executive Officer - Executive Officer alone is competent authority to operate and maintain bank account of Temple in view of Sec.29 (5) (b) (iv) of Act - Petitioner who is founder Trustee cannot claim that he is entitled to operate Bank account jointly along with Executive Officer - W.P. dismissed. K.Shankar Reddy Vs. Regional Joint Commissioner, Endowments Dept., 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 275 = 2010(3) ALD 239 = 2010(3) ALT 702 = AIR 2010 (NOC) 655 (AP).

—Sec.77 and Sec.85,82 & 83 of Act 30 of 1987 – A.P (A.A) INAMS (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1956 – CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.39, Rules 1 and 2 - Petitioners contend that land to an extent of about Ac.400 endowed by Nawabs to CHALIVENDRAM, is under their possession and enjoyment and are paying revenue to Govt. – Said Chalivendram, Institution brought under provisions of Endowment Act and that Deputy Commissioner of Endowments issued proceedings dt.2-8-2007 directing eviction of encroachers over land belonging to Institution - Suits and appeals against taking over of land by Endowment Department, were dismissed - Petitioners contend that valuable rights have accrued to them on account of long standing possession and respondents have no right to interfere with their possession and that at no point of time they were put on notice bringing Institution under purview of Endowment Department or for trying to evict them and that procedure prescribed u/Sec.83 of Act not followed and that with abolition of Inams, ryots are entitled to ryotwari pattas – Respondent contend that petitioner did not derive any right over land in question and all of them are liable to be evicted - In recent past, properties held by religious endowments particularly agricultural lands have become very soft targets of encroachments by organized groups vested interests and in some cases by agencies of Govt. itself - Very object of public spirited and nobale indi-viduals in endowing valuable properties for effective maintenance of endowments and institutions is being defeated - It is not as if persons, who are said to be in enjoyment of property, owned by endowment or institution are without remedies – They could have approached authorities under Act, concerned enactment or a civil Court, for adjudication of their rights – Petitioners do not claim to have approached any authorities to seek enforcement of their rights – Hence, no relief can be granted to petitioners – Order passed by Deputy Commissioner of Endowment, dt.2-8-2007 shall be enforced and land resumed to Institution shall be dealt with, strictly in accordance with provisions of Act 30 of 1987 – Writ petitions, dismissed. Mandala Penchalaiah Vs. S.P. of Police, Nellore 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 209 = 2009(1) ALD 218 = 2009(1) ALT 664.

—Secs.83,84 & 143 - Petitioners have perfected their title of subject land by way of adverse possession and it was contention of petitioners that 3rd respondent-Mutt has no manner of right, title or interest to claim whatsoever in respect of subject land in which petitioners' houses are situated - That subject land does not come within purview of Section 83 of Andhra Pradesh Charitable & Hindu Religious Institutions & Endowments Act, 1987 - That being so, 2nd respondent upon an erroneous view and contrary to provisions of Section 83 of Act of 1987, forwarded eviction proposals submitted by 3rd respondent and in that regard, notices were issued to petitioners and that 1st respondent registered same as O.A - Petitioners, who are respondents in above OAs filed counters and basing on same, without considering pleas of petitioners herein, 1st respondent passed impugned Common Order declaring petitioners as encroachers over OA schedule premises as same belongs to 3rd respondent Mutt and directed petitioners to vacate OA schedule premises under their possession and to handover vacant physical possession of same to Mahant of 3rd respondent Mutt, within 15 days from date of receipt of order, failing which, action as contemplated under Section 84 of Act of 1987 shall be initiated against them - Aggrieved by same, present writ petitions are filed.

A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987:

Held, in view of Secs.143 of Act, plea of adverse possession is not tenable as it has no application to lands belong(ing) to 3rd respondent Mutt - Even otherwise, petitioners have not adduced any evidence to show that they are in continuous possession - It is pertinent to note that when Govt., acquire(d) subject property and granted pattas to petitioners, 3rd respondent Mutt filed writ, wherein plea relating to title of 3rd respondent-Mutt was recognized and upheld by Government and so called pattas granted in favour of petitioners were cancelled, by virtue of which, C.C.No.1138 of 1996 filed by 3rd respondent was closed by this Court - Therefore, petitioners miserably failed to prove that they are owners of subject property - Even otherwise, a presumption can be drawn in favour of 3rd respondent Mutt as per Section 87 (4) of Act of 1987 and it is for person claiming property to prove otherwise - In this case, petitioners could not prove same, as such, presumption is also attracted in favour of 3rd respondent Mutt.

First respondent rightly considered all aspects in proper perspective and came to conclusion that petitioners are encroachers and liable to be evicted - When conclusions of authority are based on evidence, same cannot be re-appreciated by this Court in exercise of its powers of judicial review - It is only in cases where either findings recorded by administrative/quasi judicial authority are based on no evidence or are so perverse that no reasonable person would have reached such a conclusion on basis of material available that Court would be justified to interfere in decision - Scope of judicial review is limited to decision making process and not to decision itself, even if same appears to be erroneous.

In view of above discussion and also having regard to facts and circumstances of case, Court do not find any error in award passed by 1st respondent - Writ petitions are devoid of merits - Accordingly, writ petitions are dismissed.

K.Satyanarayana Vs. The Depy. Commissioner Endowment Dept., Hyderabad
2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 29 = 2016(2) ALT 589 = 2016(1) ALD 533.

A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987:

\—Secs.83, 84 & 151 - Deputy Commissioner Endowments passing order declaring 1st respondent as encroacher and directing him to handover vacant land to temple and in case of default initiate action u/Sec.84 - Single Judge of High Court dismissing writ petition filed by respondent with liberty to file suit u/Sec.84(2) of Act - Appellant/temple contends that 1st respondent was declared as encroacher u/Sec.83 of Act by Deputy Commissioner and that order of single Judge again giving liberty to 1st respondent to institute suit u/Sec.84(2), is unsustainable since he is not claiming any title and furthermore competent Courts have already declared temple as absolute owner - A person who is permitted to be in possession of land of religious institution or endowment by way of lease, license or mortgage, is barred from instituting a civil suit - In present case, 1st respondent, admittedly not disputing title of appellant-temple and as such is barred from instituting civil suit - Observation of single Judge that 1st respondent has an alternative remedy under Sec.84(2) of Act and further giving him liberty to file a suit - Unsustainable. Sri Sanjeeva Anjaneya Swamy Vari Devasthnam Vs. T. Dasaradharamayya 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 400 = 2009(2) ALD 356 = 2009(2) ALT 431.

—Secs.83, 84(2) & 143 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.34 - Trustee of a Temple, 1st respondent filed O.A for eviction of appellant contending that temple is situated in 632 sq.mts in T.S.No.60 and that appellant had encroached in an extent of 133.3 sq.yds with structures thereon - Appellant contends that premises under his occupation are those with house Number and they have been purchased by his wife through a sale deed - Deputy Commissioner, Endowment allowed O.A and order of eviction became final - Appellant filed suit u/Sec.84(2) for declaration, contending that 1st respondent has no right, title or possession over plaintiff schedule premises and that property was purchased by his wife - Trial Court dismissed suit - G.P contends that petitioner suffered an order of eviction and that suit was filed only to resist eviction - A suit u/Sec.84(2) can be filed only by those who possess title and not being a registered owner and that appellant lacked competence to file suit and failed to discharge his burden - Normally, law provides for relief of declaration as to right that exist in plaintiff - Declaratory relief is claimed as a prelude to assert rights of either category such as recovery of possession or injunction - Suit contemplated u/Sec.84(2) of Act is not one for declaration of rights in respect of property in plaintiff - It is for declaration to effect that defendant in this does not hold title of property - In ordinary course, plaintiff in a suit has to prove his right or title pleaded by him - However in a suit filed u/Sec.84(2) of Act, nature of burden to be discharged by a plaintiff is totally different - For all practical purposes he has to prove a negative fact, viz., absence of title in defendant therein - It is not even necessary that plaintiff must prove his title as a necessary concomitant - Once it emerges that appellant did not claim title himself, nor he alleges that he is in possession and enjoyment of premises bearing No. suit filed by him was totally untenable - As a matter of fact a suit u/Sec.84(2) of Act can be filed only in relation to property which is subject matter of proceedings u/Sec.83 of Act - At any rate alleged rightful owner is wife of petitioner and he did not implead her as a party - In clear and categorical terms, 1st respondent asserted its title over property - Appeal, dismissed. S.Mohan Singh Vs. Bhairavi Matha Temple 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 121 = 2009(6) ALD 235.

A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987:

——Sec.83(1) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Order 7 Rule 11 - Petitioners herein filed their counters to said applications and also filed interlocutory applications under Order 7 Rule 11 CPC praying Tribunal to reject Original Applications for their eviction from petition schedule premises - In support of their applications they have stated that they are not encroachers but tenants for more than 60 years and no cause of action arose between them and respondents - A counter was filed by the original applicants stating that the Original Applications were filed indicating proper cause of action and petitioners herein come under definition of 'encroachers' as defined under explanation to Sec.83(1) of Andhra Pradesh Charitable and Hindu Religious Institutions and Endowments Act, 1987 - Tribunal considered applications, counter filed by parties and held that in view of details given in Original Applications, present applications filed by tenants cannot be entertained - Accordingly it dismissed applications by separate orders - Challenging said orders, present Civil Revision Petitions are filed.

In light of issue raised by petitioners in present applications filed before Tribunal, it has to be seen whether provisions of Code of Civil Procedure in toto are applicable to Original Applications filed before Tribunal or not and whether applications filed by tenants can be entertained by Tribunal.

Held, thus, it is clear that procedure prescribed in Rules made by Government alone are applicable and other provisions of CPC cannot be invoked while dealing with petitions filed before Tribunal - Rules are self-contained and does not give any scope for application of provisions of CPC - In view of above clear position of law, rules framed by Government in year 2010 alone govern procedure before Tribunals and provisions of CPC are not applicable - Accordingly, both Civil Revision Petitions are dismissed. Ghanshyam Jaju Vs. Asst. Commissioner, Endowments Dept.,Nizamabad 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 135 = 2016(5) ALT 331 = 2016(4) ALD 330.

—Sec.84 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.197,198,156 and 482 - 2nd respondent/tenant of a shop belonging to Temple committed default in payment of rents - Disputes pending in civil Court regarding arrears of rent - Deputy Commissioner Endowment passed order directing petitioner/tenant to vacate shop - Tenant obtained order of status quo from civil Court against petitioners/accused and thereafter petitioners accused 1 to 3 high handedly entered into shop and caused damage to property in shop - Hence, 2nd respondent filed complaint against petitioners - Magistrate took cognizance of offence u/Secs.166,447,448 and 428 IPC against accused - Hence present petition filed to quash entire proceedings in CC contending that even if allegations pursuant to orders passed by Deputy Commissioner, Endowments and that Magistrate ought not to have taken cognizance of case in absence of required sanction against petitioners who are public servants discharging their legitimate duties and remedy if any of 2nd respondent is only civil remedy for violation of orders passed under Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - In this case, taking steps for physically evicting 2nd respondent is not an offence since it is in accordance with provisions of Endowments Act and there is a reasonable nexus between official duty and act allegedly committed by petitioners in discharge of their duties - Amended Endowments Act authorizes petitioners to remove encroachment even with help of police as provided u/Sec.84 of Act when encroacher even after passing of eviction order by Deputy Commissioner, Endowments failed to vacate premises involving petitioners in a criminal case therefore, is misconceived and it nothing but abuse of process of law - Proceedings in CC quashed - Criminal petition, allowed. P.Guruprasad Vs. State of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 203 = 2011(1) ALD(Crl) 731 = 2011(1) ALT (Crl) 310.

A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987:

—Sec.87, 87(c),87(1)(c),87(5),83, 84(2), 85 & 91 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.115 - Deputy Commissioner passed orders dismissing petition filed u/Sec.87 for declaration of particular Mutt as private temple intended for worship - District Judge passed order against order of Deputy Commissioner - Hence present revision filed by E.O seeking to assail orders of District Judge in present CMA - Petitioner/E.O raised preli-minary objection as to very maintainability of Appeal filed before District Judge and that having regard to provisions as contained under Act, appeal lies only to High Court, but not District Court - Respondent contends as against any orders passed by Deputy Commissioner, necessarily appeal has to be filed only before District Court, since as contemplated under very same provision no Tribunal has been constituted and therefore, it is procedure under repealed Act, which has come into action - Admittedly/Tribunal is not constituted at relevant point of time and as regards Sec.87(5) of Act, in absence of Endowments Tribunal being constituted, Deputy Commissioner having jurisdiction can entertain appeal and enquire into all such matters and therefore since there was no Tribunal, respondent approached Deputy Commissioner and set up claim and same ultimately dismissed - However, fact remains Sec.88 of Act contemplates right of appeal against decision of Endowments Tribunal u/Sec.87 of Act "that any person aggrieved by decision of Endowment Tribunal u/Sec.87 and Sec.119 may, within 90 days from date of receipt of decision prefer an appeal to High Court" - Admittedly in this case, responent has not approached High Court against said order - Admittedly, under earlier ligislation, appeals were provided only to District Court, but not straight to High Court - Having regard to said contraversy it cannot be said that they have intended to take away statutory power of right of appeal to High Court - A right of appeal necessarily has to be provided by statute and cannot be implied under any circumstances - Even u/Sec.91 of Act, High Court is conferred with powers of revision only against orders, where no appeal is provided, but not otherwise - Order on CMA passed by District Judge, set aside - District Judge directed to return original papers of appeal to respondent - CRP, allowed. E.O. Group Temples, Srikakulam Vs. Sri Sakhiya Matt 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 80 = 2010(5) ALD 739 = 2010(6) ALT 16.

A.P. CHIT FUNDS RULES, 2008:

—Secs.155, 83, 87, 17(1), Explanation - I - At the instance of petitioner/sole hereditary Trustee of Temple, eviction proceedings initiated against 2nd respondent/encroacher of property belonging to temple - Deputy Commissioner passed order declaring 2nd respondent as encroacher, directed removal of encroachment and deliver vacant possession of property to petitioner - Since 2nd respondent failed to deliver possession of property in his occupation, 4th respondent/Asst. Commissioner requested Police to provide Police assistance for removal of encroachment and handover physical possession to 5th respondent-E.O of Temple - Petitioner contends that impugned letter addressed by Asst. Commissioner to Police is quite contrary to order passed by Deputy Commissioner and that Asst. Commissioner has no power to alter order passed by Deputy Commissioner - E.O. contends that petitioner has not been acting in interest of Temple and high-handedly utilizing services of temple employees and interfering with affairs of temple - In this case, Board of Trustees as provided u/Sec.15 of Act 1987 has not been constituted to temple in question so far, and that unless and until Board of Trustees is constituted, petitioner cannot claim any right to administer affairs and manage properties of temple and that as petitioner has not been appointed as a Trustee, property in question was rightly directed to be delivered over to E.O - In this case, charges were framed against petitioner relating to several grave irregularities such as mis-management, maladministration and misappropriation of Temple Funds - Mere fact that 4th respondent/Asst. Commissioner initially directed delivery of vacant possession to founder family member does not confer any legally enforceable right on petitioner to take possession of property in question, since he is not entitled under law to manage temple properties - Writ petition, dismissed. Anant Prasad Ganerwal Vs. Government of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 108 = 2010(6) ALD 268.

A.P. CHIT FUNDS RULES, 2008:

—Rule 17(3) - A.P. CHIT FUNDS ACT, Sec.89 - Petitioner challenges that Rule 17(3) as arbitrary and discriminatory and violative of Arts.14, 19 (1) (g) and 21 of Constitution of India - Subscribers are not denuded or deprived of assistance of an agent, absolutely - What all impugned provision is, employment of foreman or a member of his family to act as an agent or subscriber for purpose of participating in a chit auction - Impugned provision is clearly structured to ensure that there is no conflict of interest, which is potentially situation if foreman acts not only for chit fund company but also for subscriber - Impugned provision is enacted to ensure public morality and suffers from no infirmity warranting its invalidation - Writ petition is misconceived - Hence, dismissed. M.Purijagannadh Vs. State of A.P., 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 419 = 2010(5) ALD 436 = 2010(5) ALT 410.

A.P. CINEMAS (REGULATION) RULES, 1970:

A.P. CINEMAS (REGULATION) RULES, 1970:

—Rules 8 (b) (2) and 9 (a) - Cancellation of "No Objection Certificate" - Petitioner/Firm was granted "No Objection Certificate" by licensing authority-Joint Collector for construction of 70 MM permanent theatre - When construction was almost completed order passed cancelling "No Objection Certificate" as well as construction permission on complaint that a Mosque is situated within prohibited distance of 182 metres - Contention that having failed to get injunction order in civil suit, Mosque brought influence on licensing authority and authority erroneously cancelled "No Objection Certificate" as well as construction permission - It is stated that on complaint Joint Collector alongwith RDO and MRO inspected site and found that there is a Mosque and other educational institutions and a temple are existing within 182 metres from Theatre which would lead to communal disturbances and therefore "No Objection Certificate" and construction permission cancelled - It is stated as on date of inspection and grant of NOC and also permission to construct Theatre, there was no any educational institutions, hospitals and place of worship and after satisfying that proposed construction of theatre was in accordance with Rules and therefore all concerned authorities recommended for NOC - Once building permission was granted, that NOC cannot be cancelled and so also building permission, unless particulars furnished by petitioner are found incorrect or any fraud has been played in obtaining NOC as well as building construct permission - Subsequent existence of so called Mosque itself is illegal and it is not there either on date of application or at time of grant of NOC as well as grant of construct permission and therefore impugned cancellation of NOC and constructions permission by Joint Collector is illegal and unsustainable - In this case, undisputedly Mosque not at all constructed by obtaining any permission - Under Municipal Laws a place of worship cannot be constructed without prior permission of District Collector and so called Mosque itself was brought into existence without having any permission to construct building and it is situated within residential area, whereas cinema Theatre is in Central Commercial Zone - It is duty of Government to maintain law and order problem, but authorities cannot allow such things to exist unlawfully objecting lawful persons who were proceeding construction of cinema Theatre after getting NOC and permission to construct same in accordance with law - In this case, petitioner proceeded with construction and even if any educational institutions, place of worship comes into existence at a later point of time, same cannot operate as violation of such grant of NOC and construct permission

A.P. CIVIL SERVICES (CLASSIFICATION, CONTROL AND APPEAL) RULES, 1991:

- Action of Joint Collector in cancelling NOC and construction permission is illegal, unsustainable and contrary to Rules - Impugned order, set aside - Writ petition allowed. Marri Pushpal Reddy Vs. Joint Collector & Licensing Authority, Medak 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 207 = 2008(4) ALD 336 = 2008(4) ALT 517.

A.P. CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE AND CIRCULAR ORDERS, 1980, —And CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.VII Rule. 14 r/w Or. XIII Rules 1to 3 and 7- Petitioner is defendant in the suit - Suit was filed for possession over the suit plot of an extent of 2281.5 square feet out of Survey No. 122 - Issues in the suit were framed on 27-01-2014 - Plaintiff filed an affidavit in lieu of chief examination on 19-03-2014 - Plaintiff filed the documents on 30-04-2013 - Out of said documents, during course of evidence of P.W 1, Exs. A6 to A10 were already marked - When the plaintiff sought to mark the memorandum of understanding dated 21-10-1980, which was shown at serial No. 6 of the list of documents filed on 30-04-2013, defendant raised an objection for marking the document stating that the same was not mentioned by the plaintiff in his plaint and he should not be permitted to mark the document without pleading the same in his plaint - Trial court overruled the objection - This Civil Revision Petition is directed against that order - Since, in instant case, order of trial court speaks of receiving of document only without passing a judicial order on its admissibility, the defendant can as well raise his objection as to its admissibility at a later stage, and the trial court shall consider the same and pass appropriate order thereon - Objection relating to relevancy of document need not be decided at time of marking the document - It relates to admissibility and can be raised by the time of pronouncement of judgments - Though plaintiff has not sought leave of court while filing list of cocument on 30-04-2013, subsequent to filing of the plaint, this court considers the said defect as an irregularity and not an illegality. Since Exs. A6 to A10 were already marked from out of list of documents, it is assumed that trial court has permitted such filing of documents. However, the trial court, hereafter, should scrupulously follow the provisions of CPC while receiving and marking the documents - C.R.P disposed of accordingly. G.Sukender Reddy Vs. M.Pullaiah, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2015(4) ALD 194 = 2015(3) ALT 575.

A.P. CIVIL SERVICES (CLASSIFICATION, CONTROL AND APPEAL) RULES, 1991:

—Government, dismissing petitioners/employees from service under G.O.Ms.No.91 invoking Rule 25(1) since convicted on criminal charge and same upheld by Administrative Tribunal - Another Division Bench of High Court allowed writ petitions filed by petitioners, employees holding that in view of pendency of criminal appeal as well as suspension of sentence imposed by ACB Court has not become final and in view of pendency of criminal appeal and suspension of sentence, order of dismissal is not sustainable, consequently setting aside said dismissal order of Tribunal directed State to reinduct applicants forthwith - Hence State questioned said order in present batch of writ petitions - Respondents contend that disciplinary authority must apply its mind to facts and circumstances of each case, and should not mechanically pass orders of dismissal or removal merely based on conviction - Gravity of charge and punishment imposed must satisfy test of proportionality - In view of several pronoun-cements of Supreme Court and High Court of A.P, there is no room for doubt as to how State disciplinary authority must act in a situation where Govt., employee is convicted of a serious offence - Power of dismissal or removal exercised by State/disciplinary authority in such cases has been held to be in public interest - It has also been held that continuing such officer in service could not only be against public interest but would also demoralize other honest officers - Impugned orders of Tribunal are set aside and A.Os filed by respondents are dismissed - Writ petitions, allowed. State of A.P. Vs. P.Rajasekhar 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 36 = 2010(1) ALD 595 = 2010(1) ALT 468.

A.P. CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1964:

A.P. CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1964:

---Secs.2(n), 3, 60, 83(3) -Writ petition filed for a Mandamus to set aside Proceedings of respondent No.1 whereby he has authorized respondent No.2 to file a criminal complaint against petitioner - Proceedings u/Sec.60 were initiated for alleged misappropriation of a certain amount by petitioner - Initially a surcharge order was passed by Joint Registrar/District Cooperative Officer - Said order was questioned by petitioner by way of an appeal - Appeal was allowed and case was remanded to original authority - After remand, Deputy Registrar of Cooperative Societies, has passed a fresh order wherein petitioner was found guilty of misappropriating a part of amount belonging to Cooperative Society, along with the then Paid Secretary - Petitioner, stated, instead of questioning said order has paid entire amount of Rs.85,735/- payable under the surcharge order - Following surcharge order passed against petitioner, respondent No.2 has approached respondent No.1 for sanction of petitioner's prosecution - Impugned proceedings respondent No.1 has granted sanction - It is this order which is questioned in this writ petition - Held, Mere absence of such a provision u/Sec.83(3), does not denude an appointee u/Sen.3(1) of Act of exercise of specific power conferred on him by Government - Therefore, it is not correct to contend that persons other than the Registrar appointed u/Sec.3(1) of the Act can exercise powers only if a particular statutory provision under the Act permits such exercise - Hence, submission of petitioner that respondent No.1 has no jurisdiction to sanction prosecution of petitioner is without any merit - At best it could be said that where in respect of any power that is exercisable by persons appointed under sub-section (1) of Sec.3 of Act as Registrars, the Registrar of Cooperative Societies may issue general directions and in such a case such Registrars shall not act in violation of such directions - In instant case, it is not the pleaded case of petitioner that impugned sanction of prosecution granted by respondent No.1 against petitioner is contrary to any of such general directions issued in exercise of his powers of general superintendence by the Registrar of Cooperative Societies - Writ petition is therefore dismissed. Thota Tata Rao Vs. The District Collector Krishna Dt.at Machilipatnam 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 352 = 2015(5) ALD 482 = AIR 2015 (NOC) 1196 (Hyd.)

A.P. CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1964:

—-Secs.21-B, 23-B & 61 - Petitioner is a director of Managing Committee of The Dharmavaram Co-operative Town Bank Limited - A show-cause notice was issued by bank on petitioner that he had deliberately not attended meetings on three occasions in spite of issuing notices to him to attend the meetings - It was also alleged that on 20.09.2013 after a General Body meeting was held, he had given a statement to Mee TV news channel in the premises of Bank that Bank will become bankrupt and depositors should take back their deposits - It was further alleged that this was telecast was made not only on 29.09.2013 but also on 30.09.2013 and thereby acted detrimental to interests of Bank - It was also alleged that on 26.09.2013 itself petitioner had withdrawn a sum of Rs.12,63,913/- which he had deposited in Bank by closing his deposit and crediting it to his Savings account - Petitioner was asked to show-cause why he should not be removed as a Director of Bank for these acts within fifteen (15) days from date of receipt of notice - Allegations were denied by petitioner through a reply registered post - It was rejected by resolution of Managing Committee of Bank - It was approved by General Body.

The Deputy Registrar under Sec.61 of the Act held that notice was not properly served and resolution by Managing Committer were not proper as required quorum was not there - This order was questioned by the Bank in O.A.No.70 of 2014 before the Andhra Pradesh Co-operative Tribunal at Vijayawada under Section 76(1) of Act - Tribunal dismissed appeal confirming findings of the Deputy Registrar.

Challenging the order passed by the Tribunal, W.P.No.2785 of 2015 has been filed by the Bank. The petitioner in W.P.No.33312 of 2014 however filed the said W.P.No.33312 of 2014 to implement the order passed by the Deputy Registrar on 26.07.2014 in A.R.C.No.1 of 2013.

Held, having regard to above findings that notice of three meetings was not served on petitioner in accordance with procedure prescribed under Act, and there was no quorum for atleast two of those meetings, disqualification of petitioner under Section 21-B by Managing Committee of Bank or its ratification by General Body are void ab initio - Consequently, Court not find any merit in W.P.No.2785 of 2015, and it is accordingly dismissed - So Bank has no choice but to implement order passed by the Deputy Registrar as confirmed in Andhra Pradesh Co-operative Tribunal - Therefore, W.P.No.33312 of 2014 is allowed, and the Bank which is impleaded as 5th respondent therein is forthwith directed to give effect to said orders. Addagiri Gopal Vs. State of A.P. 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 520 = 2016(3) ALT 714 = 2016(5) ALD 513.

A.P. CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1964:

--Secs.34(a) and 76 - Petitioner is President of Primary Agricultural Cooperative Society Limited - On requisition dated made by some of the members of Society to take up motion of no confidence against petitioner, Deputy Registrar of Cooperative Societies-respondent No.3, by notice dated 07.06.2016, decided to convene meeting of no confidence motion against petitioner on 24.06.2016 - Against said order, petitioner moved Telangana Cooperative Tribunal, by filing an appeal u/Sec.76 of the Cooperative Societies Act, 1964 - Tribunal adjourned matter to 24.06.2016, day on which no confidence motion was to be taken up - Along with appeal, petitioner filed I.A. to stay motion of no confidence against petitioner - The impugned memo dated 22.06.2016 was issued by respondent No.1 staying motion of no confidence scheduled to be held on 24.06.2016 - Petitioner, having strength of members to face no confidence motion, withdrew I.A. filed before Tribunal - Writ Petition is filed questioning impugned memo dated 22.06.2016 on ground that respondent No.1 did not have jurisdiction in matters relating to no confidence motion as same is governed by provisions of Cooperative Societies Act, and, in particular, Sec.34(a) of Act.

Held, arguments of learned Special Government Pleader that passing of orders by Minister are on account of ignorance or wrong guidance cannot be accepted and countenanced as Minister holding a cabinet rank either deemed to be aware of or to be made aware of settled legal principles, more so with respect to jurisdiction and scope of power which he can exercise - Even assuming that Minister is not aware of, respondent No.1, being Principal Secretary, ought to be aware of and is duty bound to educate public representative of scope of power which he exercises and ought to exercise - There cannot be any ignorance especially by administrative officers who are manning State and, in whose hands, entire affairs of Sate and lives of people are placed by entrusting governance - Impugned memo dated 22.06.2016 is ultra vires as it is passed without authority and conduct of petitioner, by no stretch of imagination, can be said to be blameworthy for reason that what all he has done is, admittedly, he exercised right of appeal u/Sec.76 of Act - Merely because, an individual aggrieved by an act approaches forum constituted under statute which has jurisdiction to redress grievance, such conduct cannot be said to be blameworthy - On other hand, blameworthy conduct is of respondent No.1 or one who has directed to pass such an order without jurisdiction - Writ petition is allowed with costs. B.Vijay Kumar Reddy Vs. State of Telangana 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 115

—Secs.61 & 51 - Appellant, widow of Ex-Secretary of Co-operative Rural Bank, who is 3rd respondent in writ petition, in which single Judge directed fresh proceedings against her for alleged misappropriation of Bank's funds by her deceased husband and others - Enquiry initiated u/Sec.51 against all persons including husband of appellant who died during pendency of enquiry, and orders passed u/Sec.60 against appellant's husband - Tribunal set aside order passed against appellant's husband - Single judge issued directions to proceed against appellant and other legal repre-sentatives of deceased, Ex-Secretary - Appellant contends that as her husband died during pendency of enquiry u/Sec.51 of Act, cause has automatically ceased to survive and therefore direction given by Single Judge that proceedings u/Sec.61 of Act shall be initiated against appellant and other legal representatives cannot be sustained - Bank contends that u/Sec.61(1)(c) of Act any dispute, inter alia between Society and heir or legal representatives of any deceased Officer or deceased employee can be referred to Registrar for a decision - In view of said provision directions given by single Judge referring dispute to Registrar for decision - Justified - Expression 'dispute' referred to in Sec.61 does not comprehend a dispute of nature, which is now sought to be referred, viz., whether deceased Ex-Secretary has committed misappro-priation or not - Admittedly appellant's husband was involved in management and business of Bank and appellant being wife, is undoubtedly heir or legal representatives of deceased Ex-Secretary of Bank - Therefore, no reason to restrict scope of Sec.61 to exclude dispute of nature which has arisen in instant case, viz., whether husband of appellant has misappropriated Bank's funds - Sec.61(c) of Act clearly enables Bank to refer dispute to arbitration to decide as to whether husband of appellant has misappropriated Bank's funds - Order of single Judge - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. A.S.N. Aravinda Vs.Mallidi Tirupayyagiri Venkata Reddy 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 326 = 2010(4) ALD 522 = 2010(4) ALT 806.

A.P. CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1964:

—Secs.61, 62(4) & 128 & Rule 49 (4) of Rules - 1st respondent, member of Army Housing Co-operative Society, who was allotted flat, entered into agreement to sell flat and received substantial amount - 4th respondent, Arbitrator /Divisional Cooperative Officer passed order directing petitioner to pay balance amount with interest - Co-operative Tribunal set aside award in toto, holding that Arbitrator has no jurisdiction to entertain disputes relating to specific performance of contract in respect of immovable property - Petitioner contends that relief sought by petitioner before arbitrator for a direction to 1st respondent to execute register sale deed was part and parcel of affairs of 2nd respondent, Society and therefore, arbitration proceedings maintainable and that Tribunal committed grave error in setting aside award in toto on erroneous assumption that Arbitrator had no jurisdiction - A plain reading of Sec.61 shows that certain classes or types of disputes arising between certain classes of persons alone can be referred to Registrar - A dispute regarding disciplinary action taken by Society or its committee against paid employee of Society has been expressly excluded from purview of Sec.61 - Admittedly it is not complaint of petitioner that there was any irregularity in allotment of plot or any other activity/ business of 2nd respondent Society - In this case dispute raised by writ petitioner cannot be termed as a dispute calling within purview of Sec.61 of Act - Conclusions of Tribunal that Arbitrator had no jurisdiction to entertain dispute relating to specific performance of agreement of sale cannot be found fault with -Contentions of petitioners rejected - Writ petition dismissed. V.Shravan Kumar Vs. Lt.Col.S.B. Sharma 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 281 = 2011(1) ALD 385 = 2011(1) ALT 1.

A.P. CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1964:

—Secs.61 (1) (b), 62 (1) and 121 - Govt., assigned certain extent of land to N.G.Os Cooperative Building Society for alloting house sites to members and said Society got prepared layout marking house sites for allocation and for some specific public purpose, that is parks, play ground, school, religious places etc. - Layout plan was also approved by Director Town planning - Defendant Society sold certain vacant sites meant for parking under registered sale deeds, contrary to byelaws of Society and in violation of approved lay out plan of Society - Arbitration Application filed before District Cooperative Officer seeking declaration that sale deeds executed by 1st defendant in favour of other defendants are null and void and for cancellation of allotment of disputed site to 2nd defendant - Defendants contend that arbitration Application filed u/Sec.61 (1) (b) not maintainable as Welfare Association is not member of Society and other plaintiffs are also not members - Arbitrator took cognizance of dispute in view of dismissal of suit on file of Senior Civil Judge, where in, it is held that Civil Court has no jurisdiction to entertain case - Arbitrator held that sale covered by sale deed is null and void and therefore cancelled - Suit filed by Welfare Association - Decreed - Appellant Tribunal dismissed appeals confirming award passed by arbitrator - Petitioner contends that Divisional Cooperative Officer has no authority or jurisdiction to decide dispute of this nature or grant relief prayed for declaring sale deeds as null and void - Sec.61(1) - Perusal of provision would show that any dispute touching constitution, management or business of Society other than a dispute regarding disciplinary action taken by Society or its committee against a paid employee of society can be referred to Registrar - Before a dispute can be referred to arbitration u/Sec.61 (1), it must be shown that said dispute is one touching constitution, management or business of Society - Admittedly present dispute regarding alienation of certain extents are not disputes touching constitution or management of society - In present case, disputes pertains to alleged alienations of vacant site by society to petitioners who are non-members and such alienations does not form part of business of Society nor is one to nature of promoting objectives of society - 2nd respondent/arbitrator appears to have decided dispute usurping jurisdiction of civil Court - Impugned order passed by 2nd respondent as confirmed by 1st respondent Tribunal suffers from lack of inherent jurisdiction to entertain or adjudicate upon dispute, which is found to be not a dispute touching business of Society - Impugned award of 2nd respondent/ arbitrator as confirmed by 1st respondent/Tribunal held vitiated for want of jurisdiction and are set aside - Writ petitions, allowed. M.Venkataramana Vs.The A.P. Cooperative Tribunal, 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 122 = 2010(4) ALD 500 = 2010(4) ALT 34.

A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATIONS ACT, 1956:

A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATIONS ACT, 1956:

—Secs.6,34, 50,29, 21 and 22 - Pecuniary jurisdiction - Junior Civil Judge passing order holding that he did not have jurisdiction to entertain suit as its value was in excess of Rs.1 lakh and directed to return plaint - District Judge reversed order holding that suit had been properly valued at less than Rs.1 lakh and same was within pecuniary jurisdiction of Junior Civil Judge - Hence revision by defendants - As per Sec.6(1) of Act plaint in such a case is chargeable with a fee on aggregate value of all reliefs claimed - However, proviso thereto clarifies that if a relief sought is only ancillary to main relief, plaint shall be chargeable only on value of main relief - In this case, plaintiffs claimed partition and separate possession of both A and B schedule lands - However, as they were not in joint possession of plaint schedule land, they separately sought recovery of possession in so far as this land was concerned - Other prayers in suit are for injunction restraining defendants from interfering with possession and enjoyment of plaintiffs over plaint schedule land and for cancellation of Form-13(B) certificate issued by MRO under provisions of ROR Act - Case of defendants is that plaintiffs would have valued suit for partition of A and B schedule lands and as a distinct and independent relief was sought with regard to delivery of plaint B schedule land, it has to be separately included in such valuation which would then be in excess of Rs.1 lakh and take suit out of pecuniary jurisdiction of Junior Civil Judge - Case of plaintiff is that they sought partition of A and B schedule lands out of which plaint A schedule land was in their joint possession along with defendants but plaint B schedule land was not in their possession and therefore they separately sought in recovery of possession in respect thereof - These reliefs were accordingly valued u/ Sec.34 of CF Act which put valuation of suit at less than Rs.1 lakh and that recovery of possession prayed for by them was incidental to relief of partition and therefore same could not be treated as independent and distinct relief to be valued separately - In so far as prayer for partition and separate possession of plaint A schedule land is concerned, it would fall u/Sec.34(2) of Act and as fixed Court fees is fixed thereunder, valuation of this relief for purpose of jurisdiction would have to be dealt with u/Sec. 50(2) - In this case aggregate value of reliefs for purpose of jurisdiction comes to Rs.93,257/- - Valuation of suit for purpose of jurisdiction as per Sec.50(1) of Act is therefore less than Rs.1 lakh and Junior Civil Judge had pecuniary jurisdiction to entertain same - Order of appellate Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Venpati Sridevi Vs. Atla Narsimha Reddy 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 5 = 2011(5) ALD 787 = 2011(6) ALT 154.

—Sec.11(2) - This Revision Petition is filed under Article 227 of Constitution of India challenging the order of District Court - Petitioners valued relief of perpetual injunction notionally at Rs.18.00 lakhs and relief of declaration to declare above documents as null and void also at Rs.18.00 lakhs and paid court fee thereon which was contended by respondents - Court below allowed said I.A. and directed the petitioners to value the suit insofar as relief of "declaration declaring 107 sale deeds as null and void and not binding on plaintiffs" as per valuation certificate Ex.A-1 issued by Sub Registrar, filed by respondent Nos.1 to 7 valuing suit schedule property at Rs.47,52,27,500/-, and pay the Court Fee thereon before 14-08-2012 failing which it directed that plaint would be rejected - After referring to case laws cited by both sides, Court observed that there is no prayer for declaration of title sought by petitioners in plaint and they had sought only injunction simplicitor; that without seeking relief for declaration that petitioners are absolute owners and possessors of the suit schedule property, petitioners want to declare all the 107 documents executed by some of defendants as null and void and not binding on them; the relief of injunction simplicitor, which is shown as main relief in plaint, cannot be treated as a main relief when the relief of declaration of whatever nature is added to it, and at best it can be treated as a consequential/ancillary relief - It held that whenever a declaration is sought for, it is incumbent on the part of petitioners to value suit as per Sec.24(d) of Act and for that purpose, they should take the total value of suit property into consideration - Held, the Court below also erred in observing that relief of injunction simplicitor cannot be treated as main relief since relief of declaration is also prayed for by petitioners in the plaint - In the facts and circumstances of present case, relief of injunction sought by petitioners has to be held to be a main relief and cannot be said to be an ancillary relief - Reliance on Sec.24 by Court below in this regard also cannot be sustained since provisions therein would be attracted only if petitioners have sought a declaration of their title and sought relief of possession/injunction or if they sought for a declaration that documents to which they are parties are null and void or a declaration of any nature other than one sought for in the plaint - Said provision would have no application in a situation where petitioners are not parties to documents which they wish to be declared as null and void and not binding on them - For above reasons, the Court of opinion that the impugned order cannot be sustained - It is accordingly set aside and C.R.P. is allowed. Nade Ali Mirza Vs. Khalida Mohammed Salim Dawawala 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 341.

A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATIONS ACT, 1956:

—Secs.20, 49,50 & 6 – Petitioner/appellant/defendant preferred appeal before District Court against decree and judgment of Senior Civil Judge – Office took objection relating to payment of Court fee – District Judge upheld office objections - Petitioner contends that objection raised by office cannot be sustained and that merely because plaintiff in suit wrongly calculated and paid excess Court fee, defendant also cannot be directed to pay said Court fee and that appellant has to pay Court fee that would be payable on decretal amount on subject matter of appeal, but not on same amount paid by plaintiff in suit - In this case, respondent/plaintiff in suit before trial Court filed suit based on four promissory notes and Court fee was paid on different causes of action – For each of such promissory notes valuing every claim separately u/Sec.20 r/w Sec.6 of Act, but appellant did not pay court fee on respective promissory notes amounts covered by four individual causes of action of suit, but however, appeal was valued on entire decree amount with subsequent interest till date of presenting appeal – Office raised objection and matter called on bench – District Judge referring sections 20, 49 & 50 and 6 of Act recorded reasons and upheld objections of office in directing petitioner/appellant to value Court fee by separately showing each of pronotes amounts decreed with subsequent interest till date of appeal on respective sums separately and not on lump sum amount - When parties are common for purpose of convenience even on strength of more than one promissory note, one suit would be instituted, but on that ground itself it cannot be said that inasmuch as cause of action is one, court fee to be paid in lump sum computing all amounts due on all promissory notes – Separate Court fee need to be paid and respondent, plaintiff had correctly valued suit by paying separate Court fee – Objection raised by office, upheld by District Judge – Justified – Petitioner/appellant directed to comply with objections of office relating to DCF – CRP, dismissed. Ranga Parameswari Vs. Ranga Ramadevi 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 185 = 2008(6) ALD 334.

A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATIONS ACT, 1956:

—-Secs.24(b), 24(d), and 43 - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND & PATTADAR PASS BOOKS ACT, 1971 – CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Order 7, Rule 11(b) – Lower Court held that plaintiffs have undervalued relief of claim to pay court fee in plaint, that plaintiffs have to pay court fee u/Sec.24(b) of AP CF & SV Act, but not under Section 24(d) of the said Act and consequently directed plaintiffs to pay the court fee on one-half of market value of property i.e., on Rs.33,09,60,000/-, as per Section 24(b) of the APCF & SV Act, as market value of suit property as per Ex.A.1 was Rs.66,19,20,000/-, and they have to pay the court fee after deducting the court fee which has already been paid, within a period of 30 days and it was also held that in event of not paying the court fee as directed, plaint shall be rejected as per Order 7, rule 11(b) of CPC.

Held, relief sought for by appellants is for a declaration of title basing on their long possession over and above 12 years - Such a relief has to be asked specifically and directly but not by an indirect method by twisting facts for sole purpose of avoiding court fee - As already said, for correction of entries in the record of rights on ground that they were not properly made cannot be instituted against government or its officials - Such a relief cannot be granted by court in view of specific bar enacted in Section 8 of the A.P. Rights in Land & Pattadar Pass Books Act, 1971.

The learned trial court thus considering material averments in plaint, rightly held that plaintiffs have to pay court fee u/Sec.24(b) of the AP CF & SV Act and they cannot value the suit separately u/Sec.43 and 24(d) of the AP CF & SV Act.

In view of facts and circumstances of case, order of learned trial court does not require any interference of this court in present appeal - Consequently, appeal is dismissed. Mohan Singh Vs. K.Suryanarayana 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 388 =2016(3) ALD 653 =2016(2) ALT 626.

A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATIONS ACT, 1956:

—-Sec.34(1) - Original suit was filed for partition and separate possession of suit property claiming that it was ancestral property and remained still a joint property - According to petitioners/plaintiffs, the 1st, 2nd and 3rd defendants had alienated agricultural land in favour of 4th, 5th and 6th defendants with a dishonest and malafide intention and said alienation, being a sham and collusive one, was not binding on them - Trial Court recorded that as possession was delivered, question of petitioners/plaintiffs claiming joint possession did not arise and directed petitioners/plaintiffs to pay ad valorem court fee u/Sec.34(1) of Act of 1956 - Plaintiffs filed this revision petition against order.

Held, when petitioners/plaintiffs specifically averred that alienation effected under the sale deeds was a sham and nominal one and that it was not binding upon them, trial Court could not have gone by contents of said documents to exclusion of plaint averments, which read to effect that property in question was a joint family property and that without prior partition, share falling to lot of petitioners/plaintiffs had been alienated unlawfully - As to what would be impact of such alienation on joint possession claimed by petitioners/plaintiffs was a matter which essentially fell for consideration during trial - The finding of Court at threshold, while dealing with valuation of suit for purpose of court fee, that petitioners/plaintiffs could not claim joint possession therefore effectively decided one of crucial issues arising for consideration in main suit - This approach on part of trial Court was completely unsustainable in law.

Going by plaint averments, petitioners/plaintiffs were entitled to pay court fee u/Sec.34(2) of the Act of 1956 - However, as observed by this Court in judgments cited power u/Sec.11 of Act of 1956 would be available to trial Court and in event issue of valuation of suit and payment of proper court fee thereon arises at a subsequent stage, trial Court would always be at liberty to take recourse to use of such power - Civil revision petition is allowed - Trial Court is directed to accept court fee on subject suit u/Sec.34(2) of Act of 1956 and proceed in matter accordingly. N.Savithri Vs. N.Hanmappa 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 422.

—Secs.34(1), 34(2) and Sec.11(1) (a), 11(1) (b), and 11(2) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.18 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for partition of suit properties and allot 1/4th share to her - Defendants filed written statement denyning plea of plaintiff that suit property is joint family property and that joint possession and enjoyment claimed by plaintiff has also been specifically denied contending that defendants are in possession and enjoyment as evidenced by revenue records - On basis of pleading in written statement, defendants filed Application seeking direction to plaintiff to pay Court fee under Sec.34(1) of Court Fee Act contending that plaintiff who is not joint in possession of suit property cannot maintain suit for partition on payment of fixed Court fee u/Sec.34(2) of Act - Trial Court allowed Application and directed plaintiff to pay Court

A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATIONS ACT, 1956:

fee u/Sec.34(1)on market value of property claimed by plaintiff to her share - A plain reading of Sec.34 shows that in a suit for partition Court fee shall be computed on market value of plaintiff's share if plaintiff has been excluded from possession of joint family property in terms of sub-sec.(1) of Sec.34 - However if plaintiff is in joint possession of joint family property sub-Sec.(2) of Sec.34 is attracted and a fixed Court fee has to be paid at rates specified therein - In present case, plaintiff while pleading that she has been in joint possession and enjoyment of plaint schedule properties paid Court fee of Rs.200 u/Sec.34(2) of Act - However defendants disputed plea of joint possession and enjoyment and contended that entire suit properties were already partitioned among defendants and they are in exclusive possession and enjoyment of their respective shares and that claim of plaintiff that she has been in joint possession and enjoyment is false - On consideration of rival claims trial Court while disbelieving plaintiff's plea of joint possession along with defendants, held that plaintiff is liable to pay Court fee u/Sec.34(1) - Court has to decide fee payable on basis of material disclosed in plaint as provided u/Sec.11(1) (a) of Act - However it is clear from Sec.11(1) (b) that decision of Court under Cl. (a) regarding proper fee shall be subject to review from time to time as occasion requires - As per Sec.11(2) of Act defendant may plead that subject matter of suit has not been properly valued or that fee paid is not sufficient and in case it is decided that subject matter of suit has not been properly valued Court shall fix a date before which deficit fee shall be paid - Reference to Or.18 CPC in sub-sec(2) of Sec.11 is only with regard to hearing of suit but not with regard to decision on question as to sufficiency of Court fee - There is no other provision which either expressly or by necessary implication supports contention that it is mandatory to record evidence for deciding question under Sec.11(2) of Act as to sufficiency of Court fee paid - In this case, even according to petitioner/ plaintiff, defendants are in possession of suit properties - However it is pleaded that plaintiff was being paid her share out of profits from suit properties - Thus it is clear from recitals of plaint itself that plaintiff has been excluded from possession of suit properties - Therefore order of trial Court, directing plaintiff to pay Court fee u/Sec.34(1) of Act on share claimed by her in suit property - Justified - Revision petition, dismissed. Veena Challa Vs. A.Pandu Ranga Reddy 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 331 = 2012(1) ALD 302 = 2011(6) ALT 609 = AIR 2012 AP 47.

—Sec.34(2) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.X - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for partition and separate possession by paying court fees of Rs.200 - During cross-examination, P.W.1 confronted with document said to be partition deed and marked as Ex.B.1 - Taking admission of petitioner as to execution of Ex.B.1 between himself and respondents, trial Court arrived at conclusion that jointness of family is disrupted and it cannot be said that petitioner is in joint possession of suit property and on that premise trial Court required petitioner to pay ad valorem Court fee of Rs.44,952/

A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATIONS ACT, 1956:

- - Respondents contend that trial Court took note of important aspect touching upon Court fee and it is always competent for a Court, to insist on plaintiff in a suit to pay deficit Court fee - It is not at all safe for a Court to form a final opinion on an important issue, in middle of proceedings - Parties have to be given full opportunity to present their point of view on any controversy, even if it relates to alleged admission - In this case, trial Court proceeded on presumption that admission by P.W.1 as to execution of Ex.B.1 would clinchingly prove prior partition of suit property - Petitioner given opportunity to explain purport of alleged admission - He is entitled not only to lead further evidence, but also to elicit necessary admission in cross examination of witnesses to be examined by respondents - Impugned order, unsustainable - CRP, allowed. Palla Krishna Murthy Vs. Palla Subrahmanyam 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 32 = 2009(6) ALD 134 = 2009(3) ALT 644.

—Secs. 34(1) & 11(2) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.14, Rules 1 & 2 & Or.18 - Suit for partition - Defendants denying plea of plaintiff that suit properties were joint family properties and that 3rd defendant is absolute owner of items 2 to 4 of suit property and that Court fees ought to have paid u/Sec.34(1) of A.P. Court Fees Act - Trial Court allowed application filed by 2nd defendant u/Sec.11(2) C.P.C to try additional issue relating to correctness of Court Fees as preliminary issue holding that there was a triable point regarding controversy - Or.14, Rule 2 shows that an issue may be tried as a preliminary issue only where it is an issue of law relating to jurisdiction of Court or a bar to suit created by any law for time being in force and where case or any part thereof may be disposed of on such issue - In this case issues were already settled under Or.14, Rule 1 and admittedly there is a specific issue with regard to sufficiency of Court fee paid by plaintiffs - Contention of defendants that Court fee paid by plaintiffs is not sufficient is based on ground that 3rd defendant is absolute owner of items 2 to 4 of suit property - Thus it is apparent that issue relating to sufficiency of Court fee is not mere issue of law - Contention of 2nd defendant that issue relating to payment of Court fee shall be decided as preliminary issue - Unsustainable - Impugned order, set aside - Additional issue relating to sufficiency of court fee shall be heard and decided in accordance with law along with other issues - CRP, allowed. Moola Vijaya Bhaskar Vs. Moola S.S. Ravi Prakash 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 35 = 2009(3) ALD 363 = 2009(2) APLJ 43 = 2009(3) ALT 663 = AIR 2009 AP 150.

—Sec.37 - Cancellation of sale deed - "Payment of Court fee" - In this case, value of suit for purpose of Court fee and jurisdiction are shown as value of deed to be cancelled Rs.1 lakhs and Court fee was paid u/Sec.37 - Single Judge passed order that Court fee has to be calculated as per market value on date of registration of plaint and not as per value shown in document and consequently they held that Court has no pecuniary jurisdiction to entertain suit and plaint returned under Or.7, Rule 10 CPC - Appellate Court dismissed Appeal holding that Court below has no jurisdiction to entertain suit and plaint was correctly returned for presentation before appropriate Court holding that Court fee has to be calculated as per market value of property as on date of presentation of plaint and not value shown in registered sale deed - Single Judge of High Court took view that u/Sec.37 of Court fees Act cancellation of sale deed suit has to be valued on basis of market value on property governed by sale deed on date of presentation of plaint for purpose of Court fees and jurisdiction and not on basis of sale consideration mentioned in sale deed and review petition also dismissed - Sec.37 COURT FEES ACT - Interpretation of - Apex Court in Satheedevi case, gave its approval to judgment of Single Judge of A.P. High Court in A.V. Reddy wherein single Judge took view in a suit for cancellation of deed which was executed for specific amount the Court fee has to be paid on that amount and not on the basis of market value of property at presentation of plaint - Appeals is allowed. Polamrasetti Manikyam Vs. Teegala Venkata Ramayya 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 61 = 2014(3) ALD 79(SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 1345 = AIR 2014 SC 1286.

A.P. EDUCATION ACT, 1982:

A.P. EDUCATION ACT, 1982:

—-Sec. 53 - Petitioners filed this Writ Petition challenging the action of Municipal Corporation, Kurnool in granting approval for a layout in Sy. Nos.123 (P), 125 (P), 126 (P) and 127 (P) forming part of property of above school on 27-02-2003 and consequential action of respondent Nos.5 to 7 and 22 to 96 in making constructions therein - They contended that basing on approval granted by 1 st respondent, respondent Nos.5 to 7 demolished part of compound wall of school, commenced construction therein and even though staff of school approached respondent Nos.1 and 2 and asked them to stop construction, no action was taken - They contend that area which is sold to respondent Nos.5 to 7 is part of play ground of school and it could not have been sold without obtaining permission of Government under Section 53 of the Act - Petitioners filed Writ to stop construction activity in above land which is part of the School property pending disposal of Writ Petition - Writ Petition was admitted and an interim direction was granted that any construction made by respondent Nos.5 to 7 in land in possession would be subject to further orders in application.

Respondents contended that since they are absolute owners of property, which was purchased under different registered sale deeds and since they were in possession and enjoyment of the land, relief prayed by petitioners is opposed to principle that there cannot be any restraint on true owner - They contend that contention of petitioners that there has been a violation of provision of the AP Education Act, 1982 is baseless and misconceived.

Held, it has to be held that sanction of layout by 1st respondent in subject land belonging to the High School, is clearly contrary to law and unsustainable and consequently no constructions should have been made by any of private respondents on basis of said sanction - Therefore all structures erected by private respondents are liable to be demolished by 1 st respondent after notice to private respondents or other persons interested therein and land of the High School is liable to be restored to 3rd respondent by evicting all private respondents.

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES LAND ACT 1908:

Consequently 1st respondent is directed to demolish structures erected by private respondents in above property and private respondents are directed to restore possession of vacant land of High School to 3rd respondent within three months from date of receipt of a copy of this order .

The Writ Petition is allowed as above and respondent Nos.5, 6 and 16 to 96 are directed to pay costs of Rs.5,000/- to petitioners. A.Devasahayam Vs. Commissioner, Municipal Corporation Kurnool 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 23 = 2016(6) ALD 542 = 2016(5) ALT 253.

—Sec.84-A - A.P. EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS (INSPECTION & VISITS) RULES, 1988, Rule 15 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.482 - Since salaries denied to complainant/Telugu Pandit by Management for certain period, he filed writ petition and obtained directions against authorities concerned for taking action against management - Inspite of directions of RJD of School Education in pursuance of directions in writ petition, to DEO, to see that order is implemented, claim not settled - Hence complaint filed before Magistrate for offence u/Sec.84-A - Petitioners/accused contend that proper person to launch prosecution for offence u/Sec.84-A is competent Authority mentioned in Rule 15 - 1st respondent/complainant contends that Rule 15 clearly enunciates that Authorities who can initiate action for violating provisions of not only Act but also Rules made thereunder, are prescribed Authorities therein - In case Rule 15 prescribed only with regard to academic matters and not financial matters, which are out side Rules, then, wording of Rule 15 should have been confined to violation of Rules only - Instead, Rule 15 speaks about not only violation of Rules but also violation of provisions of Act - It follows that prosecution u/Sec.84-A of Act has to be initiated by competent Authorities mentioned in Rule-15 and not by aggrieved party himself - 1st respondent, complainant being victim has to approach competent authorities mentioned in Rule-15 for initiating prosecution against management for offence u/Sec.84-A of Act and he cannot shoulder task of filing private complaint by himself - Proceedings in CC before Magistrate, quashed - Criminal petition, allowed. T.Nathanial Vs. D.Satyanarayana Murthy 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 271 = 2009(2) ALD (Crl) 990 (AP).

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES LAND ACT 1908:

—-Sec.3(2), 3(5),3(10),3(11) & 3(16) - MADRAS ESTATES (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1948, Secs.11, 12,13,14 r/w 15 - Suit instituted on file of District Munsif's Court for recovery of possession of suit land contending that property is private property - Suit dismissed holding that land is private land but is forming part of Estate - Sub-Court held in Appeal that suit land is zirayathi land and confirmed same would part of Estate which vested in Govt., in terms of Sec.3 of Abolition Act - Settlement Officer claiming patta in terms of Sec.15 of Act - Original claim petitioner filed claim petition for grant of ryotwari patta u/Sec.11 of Act - Settlement Officer granted patta in favour of original claimant - High Court allowed writ petition filed by original petitioner and set aside orders passed by Estate Abolition Tribunal - On remand Tribunal held that judgments rendered by civil Court operates as res judicata in as much as civil Court held suit land as forming part of Estate but not private land of original claimant - Expressions estate "land holder - "Private land" - Defined - Sec.3(10) of Act defined expression "private land" as meaning domain or home-form land holder which is proved to have been cultivated as private land by landholder himself by his own servants or by hired labour, with his own or hired stock, for continuous period of 12 years immediately before commencement of said Act - Sec.181 of Estate Land Act recognizes that land holder has liberty to convert his private land into ryoti land and conferred occupancy right in land so converted, therefore Estate land Act is one of foremost legislation which recognizes rights for permanent occupancy of ryots over land in their possesssion as also right of landholder over his private land - U/Sec.11 of Estated Abolition Act every ryot in Estate shall with effect on and from notified date was entitled to ryotwari patta in respect of ryoti lands which immediately before notified date were included or ought to have been included in his holding - Settlement Offier is required to take into account and consideration nature and history of land only in case he is satisfied that land is private land held by landholder, so recognized in terms of Estate Land Act, then alone ryotwari patta can be granted in favour of lad holder - If on other hand land is ryotwari land and not private land, then landholder cannot be granted patta, but it is ryot in possession of such land who should be granted patta in respect of such a ryotwari land - Tribunal is Appellate authority over decision of Settlement Officer, therefore it has to be satified that Settlement Officer had arrived at correct finding of fact that land in question is private land - What is relevant is not mere title or ownership of land but it's status as private land determine as such in accordance with Estates Land Act - Ryotwari patta is liable to be conferred upon a ryot in terms of Sec.11 of Abolition Act - Even though he may not hold title or ownership over land in his possession - In this case, Estate Abolition Tribunal not correctly appreciated relevant facts and circumstances of case and hence its decision is unsustainable - Orders passed by Estate Abolition Tribunal are set aside - Matter remanded for fresh consideration and disposal. Tirumareddy Tirupati, died Vs. The Estates Abolition Tribunal, 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 266 = 2011(6) ALD 787.

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES LAND ACT 1908:

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1948:

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1948:

—Sec. 11(a) - Settlement Officer, rejected certain applications filed u/Sec.11(a) of the Andhra Pradesh (Andhra Area) Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act, 1948 on ground that they were not filed within 30 days from date of introduction of settlement rates, as prescribed under Rule 2(4) of Andhra Pradesh (Andhra Area) Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Grant of Ryotwari Patta Rules, 1973 - Orders of Settlement Officer were confirmed in revision by the Director of Settlements, Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, by common order- Said common order was subjected to further revision before the Commissioner, Appeals, Office of the Chief Commissioner of Land Administration, Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, and was again confirmed under the common order - Aggrieved thereby, the petitioners are before this Court seeking Writs of Certiorari to call for the records relating to the three orders and to quash same along with a consequential direction to the Settlement Officer, to entertain their applications for issuance of pattas under Sec.11(a) of the Act of 1948 - Held, in the totality of the above circumstances, as the authorities concerned stood vested with the power available u/Sec. 5 of the Limitation Act by virtue of notification dated 17-10-1950, which remained untouched all through, their ignorance of same and their bald refusal to consider condonation of the delay, on short ground that the Rules framed u/Sec. 67 (2)(d) of the Act of 1948 denied them such power, cannot be countenanced - Lack of clarity on the part of the authorities in this regard finds resonance in their counter affidavits, filed before this Court in these cases- As valuable property rights of petitioners are at stake and as the legal position, as set out supra, was ignored by the authorities in so far as the extant rule u/Sec. 67 (2) (e) of the Act of 1948 is concerned, this Court has no hesitation in holding that the summary rejection of applications filed by petitioners and/or their predecessors-in-title u/Sec. 11(a) of the Act of 1948 on short ground that they were time barred, applying the rules framed u/Sec. 67(2)(d) of the Act of 1948, cannot be sustained - Orders impugned in these writ petitions are accordingly set aside and the matter is remitted to the Settlement Officer, for re-consideration on the issue of delay in the filing of the applications u/Sec. 11(a) of the Act of 1948, on merits. Gadde Krishna Murthy Vs. MRO, Sitanagaram 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 372 = 2015(3) ALD 316 = 2015(2) ALT 534 = AIR 2015 AP 33.

—- Sec.11(a) - LAND ACQUISITION ACT, Secs.4(1) & 6 - REGULATION ACT, Sec.22-A (Introduced to A.P. Act, 19 of 2007) - Petitioners purchased land from vendor who purchased land from original owner to whom ryotwari patta was granted - Petitioner approached 4th respondent-Sub-Registrar with a request to furnish market value, stamp duty and registered charges in respect of plots held by them - 4th respondent refused to furnish information on ground that land in Survey No.119/2 figured in list of Govt.,lands furnished by revenue authorities - When petitioners approached Tahsildar, Tirupathi with a request to issue NOC, he issued endorsement to effect that land is classified as "pagullastalam" and request for issuance of NOC cannot be considered - Petitioners assert that patta in respect of land in S.No.119/2 was issued under Sec.11(a) of A.P. Estate Abolition Act, in year 1979 in favour of one Vadivelu and District Collector, Chittoor issued Notification u/Sec.4(1) and 6 of L.A, Act in year 1997 proposing to acquire land for purpose of construction of railway station etc and that only shows that Govt.. and particularly revenue Department recognized ownership of Vadivelu over said land - Original owner i.e. vadivalu sold land in favour of one G.R and from him petitioners purchased plots - Basis for 4th respondent to refuse registration is list furnished by 3rd respondent in which land in S.No.119/2 was included - So called description viz., "pagulla stalam" does not by itself bring about land under preview of Govt., - Action of respondents cannot be countenanced - 4th respondent/ Sub-Registrar is directed to furnish necessary information in relation to documents that may be presented by petitioners without applying Sec.22-A Registration Act - Writ petition, allowed. M.Sunanda Vs. The District Collector, Chittoor District, 2012(1) Law Summary 326 = 2012(3) ALD 381 = 2012(4) ALT 3.

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1948:

—- Secs.11(a),3(a),3(d) - ESTATE LAND ACT, Sec.3(15) & 3(16) - Plaintiff's father filed petition u/Sec.11 (a) for issue of ryotwari patta - Asst. Settlement Officer posted matter for hearing on 6-5-1966 and subsequently matter not getting posted for hearing - Govt not entitled to disposses plaintiff who is ryot, from suit land which is ryoti land - Plaintiff filed suit for declaration of right and title as pattadars since Tahsildar taking steps to assign suit land in favour of certain persons - Defendant contends that as plaintiff did not attend enquiry he was set ex parte and that civil Court has no jurisdiction to try suit and that suit lands are classified as "adavi mitta poramboke" and they are vested in Govt. - Trial Court held that suit lands are not ryoti lands and plaintiff not entitled for relief of declaration or injunction and that civil Court has got jurisdiction to decide real nature and character of land and dismissed suit - District Judge dismissed appeal and further held that civil Court has no jurisdiction to interfere with order passed by revenue authorities - Appellant/plaintiff contends that suit lands are ryoti lands within meaning of Sec.3(16) of Estate Land Act and plaintiff is ryot within meaning of Sec.3(15) and that no communication of order is received from Settlement Authorities rejecting claim of plaintiff's father for issue of ryotwari patta u/Sec.11(a) - Classification of land as "Adavi mitta poramboke" not binding on plaintiff, as suit lands are ryoti lands as seen from pre-abolition records also - Admittedly claim of petitioners father for ryotwari patta not disposed of on merits by Settlement Officer and that patta was granted to some other person in respect of certain other land covered by same R.S.No holding that it was ryoti land - A statutory duty is certainly cast on Settlement Authorities to decide on merits as to whether plaintiff's father was entitled for grant of ryotiwari patta or not in respect of lands claimed by him and it is certainly a matter to be enquired into on merits by settlement authorities concerned - Observation of first appellate Court that appellant did not file any appeal or revision before Asst. Settlement Officer against orders passed u/Sec.11 setting him ex parte by Asst. Settlement Officer and even if any such order is passed same is non est as it was not an order passed on merits and pending such a decision, a ryot is not to be dispossessed by Govt. by virtue of protection - Admittedly suit land is cultivable land situate in an Estate and same is not a private land - Findings of Courts below to contra that it is not a ryoti land because same is classified as "Adavi mitta poroboke" is erroneous - Hence findings of Courts below that suit land is not ryoti land is liable to be set aside - As no material is placed to show that Application filed by plaintiff's father u/Sec.11-A was decided on merits and any order was communicated to plaintiff's father or to plaintiff, it must be deemed that said Application is still pending - Impugned judgment and decree of courts below are set aside - Suit land is ryoti land within meaning of Sec.3(16) Estate Land Act - It is left open to settlement authorities concerned to decide matter on merits as to whether are not plaintiff is entitled for ryotiwari patta inrespect of suit land. M.Bojji Raju Vs. State of A.P. 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 418 = 2009(6) ALD 100 = 2009(3) APLJ 179 = 2009(4) ALT 635.

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1948:

—Sec.11(a) & 5 - Memo No.486/J2/84-6, Date:25-4-1984 issued by Govt., of A.P. - Writ petitioners claim to have been granted ryotwari patta by Settlement Officer, Nellore on 10-1-1983 - Settlement Officer issued notice seeking to conduct de nova enquiry relating to said ryotwari patta - High Court allowed writ petition holding that it is Director of settlement who has power and not Settlement Officer to conduct de nova enquiry - Writ appeal filed by Settlement Officer and MRO was dismissed confirming orders to implement patta - Appellant in present writ Appeal claims that she is landless poor and patta granted in favour of writ petititioners was bogus and fraudulent and requested Director of Settlement to initiate suo moto enquiry - Director of Settlement, Nellore initiated suo moto Revision against order dt:10-1-1993 of then Settlement Officer, Nellore whereunder patta granted in favour of writ petitioner and till disposal there of status quo as to possession ordered - Writ petitioner again filed writ petition seeking direction to implement patta irrespective of pendency of suo moto proceedings - Single Judge allowed writ petition - Hence present writ appeals - Respondents contend that no original patta u/Sec.11-A was granted at any time in favour of petitioner and order produced by petitioner is not genuine and bogus one and that order dated 10-1-1993 signed by A.D.V. Reddy then Settlement Officer was a forged one as he issued numerous bogus pattas before and after his retirement for which Govt., has initiated action against him - In this case, suo motu enquiry initiated after 25 years of granting patta in favour of petitioner and single Judge came to conclusion that though no period of limitation is prescribed for exercise of suo motu power of revision same must be exercised within reasonable time and accordingly came to conclusion that in view of lapse of 25 years from date of order of grant of patta there is abnormal delay in exercise of suo moto power of revision, which cannot be sustained and accordingly order of Director of Settlement quashed and directions issued to implement patta in favour of petitioner - Fraud vitiates every proceeding and merely because of lapse of time since date of grant of patta is no ground to reject claim of Authorities to revise such fraudulent orders - Courts have inherent power to set aside an order obtained by fraud - Memo of Govt., date:28-4-1984, which declares pattas granted by then Settlement Officer as bogus, includes and applies to present settlement patta granted to writ petitioner as well - Contentions of respondent/petitioners that patta granted in their favour in this case is not bogus in view of general nature of said Govt., Memo referred, not acceptable - Single Judge committed error in allowing writ petitions - Hence impugned order, set aside and directed Commissioner and Director of Settlement to take up suo moto revision by giving notice and opportunity of hearing to writ petitioners as well as appellants and after due examination of records dispose of revision by appropriate reasoned order - Writ appeals, allowed. Md.Qhairunnisa Begum Vs. Shaik Kusheed Begum, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 193 = 2013(3) ALD 254 = 2013(2) ALT 540 = AIR 2013 AP 51.

A.P. (ANDHRA AREA) ESTATES (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1948:

——AND A.P.RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS ACT, 1971, Secs.9 & 12 - 4th respondent/Tahsildar issued Patta Land Certificate to petitioner to an extent of Acs.25 to effect that they are dry lands as per Fair Adangal Register - In view of technical opinion given by Executive Engineer, 2nd respondent/Joint Collector issued impugned Endorsement giving various directions rejecting request of petitioners to issue patta land certificate, cancelled NOCs issued by 4th respondent and Pattadar Pass Books issued to petitioner in respect of above lands u/Sec.9 & 12 of Pattadar Pass Books Act, and further directed that all submerged lands as per details furnished by Tahsildar will remain as water bodies and these lands are restored with original classification of "tank" with their respective tanks and also directed to see that possession of lands is taken immediately and are protected - Respondent/Joint Collector failed to realize that rights, if any, vested in person cannot be taken away without following process of law and before taking any action which is likely to adversely affect interest of party, is taken, he shall be put on notice and informed of grounds, on which such action is proposed to be taken - If this fair procedure is not followed, such action falls foul of principles of natural justice and constitutes patent arbitrariness - In this case, in impugned Endorsement, Joint Collector cannot exercise such powers unless he follows procedure prescribed by law and conforms principles of natural justice - No prior notice is given and even in counter affidavit also respondents have not asserted that any such notice and opportunity were given to petitioners - Impugned

A.P. EXCISE ACT, 1968:

Endorsement issued by Joint Collector is unsustainable as it is in flagrant violation of principles of natural justice and hence, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. L.Ramesh Vs. Govt. of A.P. , 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 50 = 2011(3) ALD 181 = 2011(3) ALT 664.

A.P. EXCISE ACT, 1968:

—Sec.31(3) - A.P. EXCISE (INDIAN AND FOREIGN LIQUOR RETAIL SALE CONDITIONS OF LICENCES), RULES: —Rule 33 - A.P. (INDIAN LIQUOR AND FOREIGN LIQUOR) RULES, 1970, Rule 25(9) - Petitioner's shop sealed by Excise Superintendent for breach of conditions of licence and eventually suspended licence - Subsequently on perusal of Report of Excise Inspector and explanation of petitioner, 3rd respondent/Superin-tendent revoked suspension and released stocks - Commissioner rejecting representation of petitioner for remission of licence fees for 45 days during which period his shop was wrongly closed - Respondent contends that it was a case of liquor tragedy but it is only under interim directions given by High Court, suspension order was revoked - If a shop is closed by an order of competent authority and licence granted earlier is withdrawn no demand for rental shall be made for period of closer - In instant case, licence was suspended for breach of conditions enjoined under licence and therefore, action of Commissioner is just and proper - Full bench of A.P High Court considered Rule 25(9) of Rules 1970 was of view that grant of licence was a matter of contract between Govt., and party and no public law was involved and therefore Rule 25(9) not ultra virs and no writ of mandamus could be issued directing authorities to grant remission for period during which no business was carried on - In view of authoritative pronouncement by co-equal Bench of this Court, no writ of mandamus can be issued directing State Govt., to grant remission - Petitioner is not entitled to any remission as claimed by him. S.L.V. Wines Mydukur Vs. The State of A.P. 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 396 = 2009(5) ALD 170 = 2009(5) ALT 24 = AIR 2009 AP 199.

—Sec.34(e) r/w 3(b) and 4(1) (iii) of the GUR (REGULATION OF EXCISE) ORDER, 1968 - Petitions by the Petitioners seeking release of black jaggery, Alum, Navasaram seized by Prohibition and Excise Police were dismissed and they filed these Criminal Petitions - Held, black jaggery had no legitimate purpose except for manufacture of 'intoxicant' and so it comes within the meaning of expression 'material' in Section 13(f) and consequently under Section 34 of Excise Act - It was observed that till the State Government prescribe by an appropriate instrument, the description, character and composition of black jaggery that would have no other use except for the manufacture of an intoxicant and prescribe procedures for prompt and speedy analysis of black jaggery seized, the satisfaction of Regulatory Authority that a specific material is black jaggery within the meaning of the Excise Act would justify the seizure for the purpose of further proceedings and of course subject to the result on analysis - Therefore, the Excise Police on reasonable belief that black jaggery was intended for manufacture of ID Liquor can seize it and same principle can be applied to other two materials also - This Court in successive judgments held in terms of Section 46 of Excise Act that the party has to approach the Deputy Commissioner of Prohibition and Excise for interim custody of property seized - In view of the authoritative procedural jurisprudence upholding the power of Deputy Commissioner of Prohibition and Excise, petitioners cannot by-pass the said authority and file petitions before the concerned Judicial Magistrate of First Class or before the High Court without exhausting remedy before the statutory authority - In the result, this Court find no merits in the above petitions and accordingly these Criminal Petitions are dismissed. Akbar Vs. State of Telangana 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 347.

A.P. EXCISE ACT, 1968:

—Secs.47-A & 38 - Certain quantity of Beer seized belonging to petitioner while transporting same and registered criminal case - 1st respondent released seized stock subject to condition of petitioner paying compounding fee and also payment of value of seized stock - Petitioner accordingly deposited Rs.50,000/- towads compounding fees and also Rs.78953/- representing value of seized stock through Bank challan - Subsequently petitioner approached for return of Bank challan amount on ground that once compounding fee levied and collected he is not liable to pay value of seized stock - Since said amount not refunded petitioner filed present writ petition - Sec.47-A of Excise Act confers special powers on Commissioner to compound offence falling u/Sec.38-A and that once compounding fees collected, owners of goods shall not be called upon to pay full value of stock seized after payment of such compounding fees or compensation - In present case, seized Beer suffered duty and only ground on which Beer was seized is that stock was not handedover at petitioner's shop premises but same was being transported to different place - Sec.47(2) vests discretion in Commissioner to permit composition of offence either by collecting compounding fee or value of stock or both- It is therefore not obligatory on part of Commissioner to impose condition of payment of value of seized stock - Where commissioner is satisfied that offence is not grave in nature, he can either levy compounding fee or collect value of seized stock - In this case, there is no allegation against petitioner that stock was intended to be diverted or sold in unlawful manner - 1st respondent/ Commissioner has not exercised discretion vested in him in sound and rational manner by directing payment of value of seized stock, having already levied compounding fees - Mere existence of discretionary power shall not entitle authority to exercise such power in a mechanical manner without being conscious of gravity of offence - Petitioner having already paid value of seized stock, it would be wholly iniquitous to collect same once again from him and no specific reasons have been assigned by Commissioner to subject petitioner to such harsh penalty - Condition directing payment of value of seized duty paid liquor, wholly irrirational and unreasonable -

A.P. FOREST ACT, 1967:

Impugned order to extent of stipulating condition of payment of value of seized stock, set aside - Respondents are directed to refund sum representing value of seized stock to petitioner - Writ petition allowed accordingly. Siddivinayaka Wines Vs. Commissioner of Prohibition & Excise 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 343 = 2012(1) ALD 350 = 2011(6) ALT 788.

A.P. EXCISE (LEASE OF RIGHT OF SELLING BY SHOP AND CONDITIONS OF LICENCES) RULES, 2005:

—Rules 27(1) & 5 - Petitioner/Association filed writ petition seeking direction to implement Rule 27(1) and also to seek to have action of respondents in granting licences to respondents 7 & 8 for sale of Liquor locating at their shops within 100 mts from Educational Institutions, as illegal and arbitrary - Petitioner contend that members of their Association, whose children were prosecuting studies in these Educational Institutions were undergoing mental agony with regards their children's welfare as consumption of liquor had become a fashion and they were concerned that their children may also get attracted thereto - Respondents 7 & 8 contend that concerned Educational Institutions were not recognized by Govt. and distance between shops and Class rooms of Institutions was more than 100 mts and that 1st respondent, without conducting necessary enquiry, without measuring and without notice had passed impugned order yielding to pressure of petitioner/Association - Undisputedly distance between college and licenced premises of respondents 7 & 8, is less than 100 mts and that location of licence premises of respondents 7 & 8 is contrary to Rule 27 (1) of Excise Rules - PRINCIPLES OF NATURAL JUSTICE - It is not necessary to quash order merely because of violation of principles of natural justice - Quashing impugned proceedings would result in revival of licences granted to respondents 7 & 8 to sell liquor at their shops in present location and on this ground also impugned proceedings should be set aside - Larger public interest would require adhering to mandate of Rule 27(1) of Excise Rules in ensuring that no liquor shops are established within a proximity of 100 mts from Educational Institutions - Writ petitions, dismissed. Heeranagar Welfare Association, Hyd., Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 317 = 2009(3) ALD 321.

A.P. FOREST ACT, 1967:

—Secs.44, 20 & 29 - A.P. SANDAL WOOD AND RED SANDERS PERMIT RULES, 1970, Rules 2 & 3 - Petitioner's Mini Van seized fortransportation of Red Sanders logs and ultimately after considering explanation of petitioner 2nd respondent passed order confiscating vehicle - District Judge dismissed CMA and confirmed confiscation order - Petitioner contends that Enquiry Officer has not given any opportunity to examine witnesses before issuing show cause notice and seizure of Red Sander has not been proved at time of enquiry as Seizing Officials not present and were not examined and that vehicle seized without knowledge of petitioner and alleged seizure itself not established and same is illegal and he has no knowledge of transportation of red Sander - Respondent contends that during course of investigation by Forest Section Officer, it was found that owner himself was driver at time of scene of offence and he has absconded from scene of offence and that owner -cum-driver committed offence and that with knowledge of owner alone vehicle involved in transportation of Red Sanders and owner has got full knowledge and he himself is responsible for transportation and therefore confiscation of vehicle is legal and valid - In this case, petitioner not established by any evidence before Authorized Officer either about his ignorance or about knowledge to his driver - Even knowledge to driver is knowledge to owner, but however petitioner failed to produce driver - Panchanama goes to show that owner-cum-driver was driving vehicle and absconded - Conclusions of 2nd respondent Authorized Officer that owner had knowledge about involvement of vehicle and passing confiscation order - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. R.Muthukrishnan Vs. Forest Range Officer, Srikalahasti 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 164 = 2008(4) ALD 56 = 2008(3) ALT 589.

A.P. FOREST ACT, 1967:

—Sec.44 (2-A) - Authorised Officer of Forest Department passed order directing confiscation of lorry used in smuggling red sander logs - District Judge allowed appeal and directed release of lorry - Petitioner/Forest Ranger contends that lower appellate Court proceeded on totally improper lines of adjudication and directed release of lorry, pointing out certain alleged defects in panchanama and that respondents failed to prove that they did not have knowledge of use of vehicle or that they have taken precautions to ensure that lorry is not utilized in smuggling of red sanders - In this case, no where in proceedings, respondents have denied involvement of lorry in smuggling red sanders and their plea was only that vehicle was utilized without their knowledge - Once lorry is found to be utilized in smuggling red sanders, presumption is that owner had knowledge about it and accorded permission to driver also - If vehicle was utilized without such permission he has to plead and prove relevant facts - Though it is some what difficult to prove a negative fact, at least necessary ingredients have to be placed before Court - Nature of steps taken by owner immediately on coming to know seizure of lorry for such offences would also become relevant - In this case appellate Court found fault with order of authorised Officer mostly on alleged defect in conducting panchanama and it is not even pointed out as to how that would have a bearing upon knowledge or otherwise of owner of lorry - Only area appellate Court was to verify was as to whether respondents have pleaded and proved their innocence or lack of knowledge about occurrence which does not find place in order of appellate Court - Order, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Forest Range Officer Vs. P. Krishnaiah Naidu 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 146 = 2009(3) ALD 139 = 2009(1) APLJ 57(SN).

A.P. GAMING ACT, 1974:

—Sec.59(2) - A.P. FOREST PRODUCE TRANSIT RULES, 1970, Rules 3 & 4 - A.P. SAW MILL (REGULATION) RULES, 1969 - Petitioner, Proprietor of Saw Mill granted licence under A.P. Saw Mills Rules - 1st respondent/Divisional Forest Officer cancelled petitioners' licence for offence of violation of A.P. Forest Rules for illegal storage of timber in petitioner's mill - 2nd respondent, Conservator of Forest dismissed appeal preferred by petitioner - Petitioner contends that he is only owner of Saw Mill and that timber was brought by one local carpenter for conversion and that stock did not belong to him and that alleged offence was already compounded by collecting of certain amount as compounding fee and hence licence cannot be cancelled on basis of same allegation - From reading of Sec.59(2) it emerges that once offence is compounded and compounding amount is paid, no further proceedings can be taken against person or his property and that offence gets obliterated and no further action can eminate thereafter on same allegation and that no action would lie for cancellation of licence after compounding offence - Impugned order, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Ch.Muthaiah Vs. The Divisional Forest Officer,Khammam 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 111 = 2012(5) ALD 414 = 2012(6) ALT 230.

A.P. GAMING ACT, 1974:

—Secs.8 & 9(1) - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.452 - Writ petition filed against the order of the learned Judicial Magistrate of First Class who dismissed application seeking release of a motor cycle seized in a raid by police u/Sec.8 of A.P. Gaming Act which was earlier ordered to be forfeited - Held, so long as no charge is laid that this motor vehicle is used as a security for money, it could not have been ordered to be forfeited by the Magistrate, u/Sec.8 of the Act - Admittedly, the motor cycle and the four cell phone instruments are not attracted to the definition of instruments of gaming - Hence, so long as the articles are not used as securities for money, clause (iii) of Sec.8 does not get attracted - Assuming for the sake of argument that after conclusion of trial, as per Sec.452 Cr. P.C, the court may make such order for the disposal, by destruction or confiscation of any property which is produced before it, but then such property should have been used for commission of any offence - Thus, so long as property produced before court is not alleged to have been used for commission of any offence, as is also required, incidentally by Sec.8 of Act, such property is liable to be delivered to person entitled to possession thereof - Order passed by learned Judicial Magistrate of First Class in ordering forfeiture of motor vehicle and four cell phones went beyond his jurisdiction and hence unsustainable and accordingly is set aside - Second respondent/Police is directed to restore them to their original owners immediately. Pendam narender Vs. The State of Telangana, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 313 = 2015(1) ALD(Crl) 567 = 2015 Cri.LJ(NOC) 135.

A.P. (A.A) INAMS (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1956:

A.P. (A.A) INAMS (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1956:

—Sec.2-A, 11(a), 14-A - ESTATES ACT, 1908, Secs.2(1) & 3(16) - BSO, 15 & 15(4) - Respondent/petitioners claim that their grand father purchased certain extent of land from original inamdar and it is in their possession where they were raising crops and are entitled for grant of patta - Special Deputy Tahsildar (SDT) granted patta to certain extent and denied patta to waste land - RDO dismissed appeal and subsequently said waste land was assigned to persons belonging to weaker section - Commissioner dismissed revision filed by respondents - In writ petition filed by respondent single Judge allowed writ petition setting aside order of Commissioner and declared that petitioners are entitled for grant of ryotwari patta in respect of entire extent of land - Govt., contends that original authority, appellate authority and revisional authority consistently came to conclusion that lands claimed by petitioner being waste lands vest in Govt., and therefore patta cannot be granted to petitioner and this finding of fact based on evidence - Single Judge therefore was in error in interfering with finding of fact ignoring evidence of record and that interpretation of term “waste land” by single Judge is not sound and that single Judge erred in coming to conclusion that title of petitioner leads to presumption that they are in possession and occupation of land - Respondents/petitioners contend that object of Inams Act was never to take land of Inamdars or purchasers who are also entitled for ryotwari patta u/Sec.10-B of Act and term “waste land” should be understood as lands which are forever desolate and unfit for cultivation - If lands could be brought to cultivation by incurring expenditure, same cannot be treated as waste land u/Sec.2-A of Inams Act - “Inam land” - “Ryoti land” - “Waste land” - Meaning of - Stated - Sec.316 of Estate Act, defined ryoti land as to mean cultivable land in an estate other than specified common lands - Sec.2(c) of Inams Abolition Act defined “Inam” lands to mean any land inrespect of which grant of Inam had been made confirmed or recognized by Govt., but does not include “Inam” constituting an estate under Estates Act - Even if lands are cultivable in future, if they are waste lands they stand transferred and vested in Govt., and ryotwari patta cannot be granted - Respondents contend with reference to assignment made by revenue authorities subsequent to order of authorities rejecting ryotwari patta for waste lands, even if waste land, was assigned to landless poor persons, same does not have any effect in so far as proceedings under Inams Act and proceedings u/Sec.7 for grant of ryotwari patta - BSO 15 permits assignment of waste lands for purpose of cultivation unless they fall under BSO 15(4) - If principle canvassed by respondents is accepted, it has very adverse conse-quences on implimentation of objects behind Inams Act - Therefore contentions of respondents unsustainable - Single Judge recorded a finding that respondents were in possession of waste lands for which patta was denied and for coming to this conclusion single Judge applied principle “possession follows title” - SDT, Appellate authority and Revisional authority recorded finding that respondents were not in possession of waste lands for which patta was denied - It is question of fact which cannot be gone into - Contentions of respondents is founded on admitted facts that lands are waste lands for which patta was denied and that even if they are waste lands grant of patta is not prohibited under Inams Act, is not acceptable - Order of single Judge, set aside - Writ appeal, allowed. Commissioner, Survey Vs. Indupuru Raghava Reddy 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 358 = 2012(2) ALD 164 = 2012(1) ALT 451.

A.P. (A.A) INAMS (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1956:

—-Secs.3(7), 14, 1(2) (c) - LAND ACQUISITION ACT, Sec.4(1) - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.44 - Suit filed for declaration of title and for recovery of possession contending that plaintiff's father purchased land from LRs of one TVC on 2-4-1911 under unregistered document Ex.A.1, - Subsequently obtained Ex.A2 ryotwari patta on 30-12-1957 under Inams Act from that date continued in possession and thereby perfected his title to suit land even by prescription - Subsequently D1/TTD occupied plaint A schedule land and D.2/Tirupathi Municipality B- Schedule land without any manner of right - Trial Court dismissed suit - Defendants contend that entire extent acquired by Govt. in 1937 under L.A Act for public purpose and therefore Ex.A2 ryotwari patta his void as Tahsildar has no jurisdiction and consequently it is nullity - Defendants further contend that land was granted to TVC family for singing hyms for diety of TTD temple and not personal grant and consequently transferor has no right or power to transfer under Ex.A.1 and therefore it cannot give any valid title to plaintiff's father - Appellant/ plaintiffs contends that once Tashildar exercised and granted ryotwari patta in favour of plaintiff's father it becomes final u/Sec.3(7) of Act and trial Court or High Court cannot go into its validity and suit ought to be decreed and since revenue records support plaintiff's case in all respects including possession and therefore he must be held to have acquire title by prescription and trial Court erroneously ignored same - Admittedly land is described in Ex.B.1 award as Inam land and it was acquired under Ex.B.1 award of 1937 and plaintiff's father's name not found as occupant - Act came into force in 1956 and award is of 1937 and suit land did not exists as Inam land for Tahsildar to exercise jurisdiction under Act to grant patta - Once award is passed. lands stands vested in Govt. free from all encumbrances and owner or occupant of land can only to claim compensation and they have no other right in it - In this case, it is clear that Tahsildar ignored acquisition of land by Govt., and he has acted total lack of inherent jurisdiction under Act as it has no application to land - Ex.A2 ryotwari patta cannot be treated as valid document and it has to be treated as void document just like civil Court granting decree against dead person in respect of non-existing property - Appellant/plaintiff further contends that grant of Ex.A.2 patta can be treated as irregular and it can be said to be an irregular exercise of jurisdiction which can be corrected only in statutory remedies under Act and cannot be said to be void - Despite Secs.3(7), and 14 of Act, if Tahsildar acting under Act has decided jurisdictional facts wrongly and applied Act to a land to which it has no application, he assumes jurisdiction which he would not otherwise have - If it is shown that there is some material before Tahsildar from which he could reasonably infer or he can be made to believe that a third person is also interested in land and when there is such material, he ought to give individual notice to such third person before taking a decision about nature of inam and grant of patta and it cannot be said to be a case where there is no reasonable material before Tahsildar to ignore issuing notice to Authorities of temple managed by TTD and that Tahsildar failed to give notice to Temple - Circumstance in this case, shows that plaintiff's case regarding obtaining of suit land by his father under Ex.A1 is highly improbable - Plaintiffs claim regarding possession and adverse possession has to be rejected as unconvincing and not proved - View of trial Court which held against plaintiff - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Duggandla Rami Reddy Vs.T.T.D., 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2013(1) ALD 521 = 2012(4) ALT 16.

A.P. (A.A) INAMS (ABOLITION AND CONVERSION INTO RYOTWARI) ACT, 1956:

—Secs 4(4), 43 - INDIAN REGISTRATION ACT, Sec.22-A(1) (c) – A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987, Secs. 43, 46(3), 75, 83 - In the instant case, no earlier alienation of the property in issue is brought on record - Ryotwari patta claimed to have been granted in favour of the petitioner is not filed - Claim of the petitioner rests only on the fact that the property was given to the ancestors of the petitioner for the services rendered to the temple and it vested permanently in the family of the petitioner and thus, petitioner is entitled to deal with the property as his private patta land - Stand of the respondent temple that the property is shown in the statutory register as belonging to the temple and as per Resettlement Register of the village, the property is classified as 'temple Adyapaka Service' is not controverted - Held, as per Resettlement Register of the village, the land is classified as 'temple adyapaka service' and as per the provision of S. 4(4) of the Act, 1956, no ryotwari patta can be granted and even if it is already granted, it is null and void and property continues to be vested in the institution - Thus, as per the material on record, the property continues to vest in the 6th respondent temple - Therefore, petitioner cannot claim, merely on the factum of his possession or the earlier inam granted to his ancestors for the service rendered by them, to contend that he is the owner and entitled to alienate - Thus, in the facts of this case, the petitioner is not entitled to relief prayed by him and writ petition is liable to be dismissed and it is accordingly dismissed - However, it is left open to the petitioner to ascertain his title by due process of law and any observations made in the writ petition do not come in the way in adjudicating the claim of the petitioner on the title to the property in issue. Vinjamuri Rajagopala Chary, Vs. Govt.,of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.)366 = 2015(3) ALD 625 = 2015(3) ALT 96.

A.P. LAND ENCROACHMENT ACT, 1905:

A.P. LAND ENCROACHMENT ACT, 1905:

—Sec.2(1) "Gramakantam" Petitioners are owners and purchaser of properties in town Survey Numbers, presented deed of convenyance for registration – Sub Registrar refused to receive deed on ground that properties are described in Revenue Records as Poramboke and prohibited Registration - Hence present Writ Petition - Petitioner contends that it is illegal to classify land in Town Survey as Poramboke land and refusing registration – High Court allowed several Writ Petitions overruling objections of Respondents but respondents, continue to raise same objection causing untold agony and suffering - Government contends that Revenue Records show that status of land as Poramboke - Sub-Registrar in his Endorsement described land as "Gramakantam" – "GramaKantam" is not Government land and there is no prohibition to undertake transaction on said lands – Infact "Gramakantam" describes area identified for purpose of construction of residential houses and incidental structures in village – It is neither a Government Land nor land vested in Village Panchayat - This particular Village has now grown into a town and is governed by Municipality - In this case no statutory provision is brought to notice of Court which prohibits sale of property standing in name of a particular person, which is classified in Revenue Record as "Gramakantam" – Government admits in G.O.Ms.No.100 dated 22-2-2014 that no Records are available showing that lands classified as "Gramakantam" are the Government Lands - Writ Petitions disposed of directing Sub-Registrar to furnish market value of concerned land and receive dees of conveyance as and when same are presented by parties and complete registration if documents are in order and release same.Voonna Bangaraju Vs. Govt., of A.P. , 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 341 = 2014(3) ALD 443 = 2014(4) ALT 238.

—Sec.6.7,10(2) - G.O.Ms.No.1062, dt.23-10-1992 and G.O.Ms.No.72, dt.7-10-1999 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.34 - Respondents granted land for construction of rice Mill - Tahsildar (MRO) initiated eviction proceedings under land encroachment Act and evicted respondents u/Sec.6 of Act - Respondents/petitioners filed appeal u/Sec.10(2) contending that original allottees raised structures six decades ago and after their death successors have been in continuous occupation of land which was also leased out to third parties and that land is not Govt., land - Sub-Collector dismissed appeal - Revision filed before Joint Collector urging that notice u/Sec.7 not served on respondents/ petitioners and due to long occupation have perfected title to land by adverse possession - Joint Collector dismissed Revision - Revision to Commissioner (CLR) also dismissed and hence Revision filed before Govt. - Govt.., allowed Revision and directed regularisation in favour of petitioners on payment of market value directing petitioners to pay market value as fixed by Collector and issued order in G.O.Ms.No.1062 - Petitioner at that stage filed writ petition seeking declaration that said G.O. is arbitrary and illegal and for consequential direction to quash order as well as orders passed by other authorities - Pending writ petitions petitioner filed revision before Govt., to set aside notice advising petitioners to pay market value - Govt., dismissed same - Hence filed another writ petition - Single Judge heard writ petitions and allowed them setting aside two G.Os - Hence writ appeals filed by Collector and Subordinate officials - In this case declaration given by Govt., in G.O.Ms.No.1062 to effect that there is a force in contention of petitioners that they have perfected title by adverse possession is wholly misplaced and not warranted - Govt., appears to have accepted petitioners, plea of adverse possession and regularised petitioners, occupation on payment of market value, "to meet ends of natural justice" - When Govt., itself has no power to declare title of petitioners, petitioners cannot claim any such right based on order which appears to be ultra vires - Presumably because of this legal position Govt., came forward to regularize possession on payment of market value - Jagir is a grant of tenure for agricultural land or Estate by Sovereign to be enjoyed till life time of grantee, viz., Jagirdar - It is heritable but if Jagiradar leaves no legal heirs Estate would revert to Sovereign - Even where legal heirs survive original Jagirdar, there ought to be grant of succession which is a fresh grant - When a person asks for regularisation, it certainly indicates that such occupant accepts land to be Govt. property - In this case, having sought for regularisation on payment of market value, petitioners are estopped from taking a different stand before High Court to challenge said two G.Os - Record shows that petitioners themselves sought regularisation on payment of market value - As such submission of petitioners cannot be countenanced - Order of Single Judge set aside and writ petitions dismissed - Writ appeals, allowed. District Collector, Mahaboobnagar Vs. R.Venkataswamy Goud 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 277 = 2012(1) ALD 683 = 2012(1) ALT 212.

A.P. LAND ENCROACHMENT ACT, 1905:

—AND A.P. MUNICIPAL CORPORATION ACT, 1965 - Respondent- Municipal Corporation issued notice to petitioner to remove constructions made by him in Sy.No.129 of Village on the ground that structures are unauthorized - Writ petitioner challenged the proceedings of Corporation contending that said notice is contrary to decree of Civil Court - Single Judge dismissed Writ petition considering that Civil Court's decree restraining Municipal Authority from initiating action under provisions of Land Encroachment Act is bad and contrary to law and upheld notice issued by Corporation - Appellant contends when decree has rightly or wrongly allowed respondent to file Civil Suit for removal of structures which amounts to eviction, it is not open for respondent Corporation to initiate action under Municipal Corporation Act - Respondent while supporting judgment and order of Single judge contends that restraint order is applicable in respect of proceeding under provisions of Land Encroachment Act, and more over, after declaration of Civil Court that writ petitioner is a trespasser, he can be evicted in due process of law and proceedings sought to be initiated under provisions Municipal Corporations Act is one of such due process of law and there is no illegality or infirmity in order of Single Judge - In this case Civil Court has rightly or wrongly allowed respondent to approach Civil Court meaning thereby, they cannot initiate any action under any provision of law except by approaching Civil Court - It is true that this order may be right or wrong, but decree is not a nullity on ground of inherent lack of jurisdiction in order to ignore same - Single Judge not correct in ignoring aforesaid direction of Civil Court - If any order is passed without jurisdiction the same can be ignored even in collateral proceedings - Order of single Judge set aside - It is open for Respondent, Authority either to have a clarification from Civil Judge or to appellate Forum in accordance with law under provisions of Municipal Corporation Act – Writ Petition allowed. Dr.M.Krishna Prasad Vs. Amadalavalasa Municipal Corpn.,Amadalavalasa, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 293 = 2014(3) ALD 589 = 2014(5) ALT 594.

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

—Write Petitioner in Lower Court filed I.As for seeking amendment of counter, for granting of leave to file document; and for recalling R.W.1 for marking said document – Lower Court, by aforesaid common order, dismissed all three I.As - Hence, instant writ petitions seeking relief of writ of certiorari or any other appropriate order or direction and quash said order and prohibit Special Court from proceeding with any further enquiry in the aforesaid L.G.C.

Held, when order of Hon'ble Supreme Court expresses that petitioner would be at liberty to agitate all questions of law available to him in law including question of maintainability before the Special Court, with respect Court opine that it would have to oblige same, and, therefore, Court not inclined to express anything on submissions touching order passed in review petition by Special Court, which replaces original order in L.G.C. by supersession and decisions relied on main issue as well as ancillary issue touching stages in review petition - It is no doubt true, Special Court has considered submission of writ petitioner as respondent before it, touching said issue and made an observation referred to herein before, but that would not, in any way, preclude Special Court in deciding the maintainability after the counter is amended by addition of paragraph Nos.15 and 16 and in light of authorities submitted by writ petitioner herein and the learned Advocate General for the respondent State on being agitated before it (Special Court).

Turning to question as to whether orders can be maintained or liable to be set aside, Court of view, that amendment sought to be introduced is on account of changed events subsequent to passing of original order in L.G.C. and more particularly, when Hon'ble Supreme Court has given liberty to agitate questions of law including the maintainability available to petitioner herein, Special Court ought not to have refused to accede to said amendment and dismissed petition - Therefore, Court inclined to set aside order passed by Special Court, and to allow said petitions for introducing the amendment by addition of paragraph Nos.15 and 16 in counter filed in the L.G.C.

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

Adverting to other two petitions, in which relief of receiving document and marking it by recalling R.W.1, are concerned, it is no doubt true, said document was available when L.G.C. was originally pending, but still, in view of liberty granted by Hon'ble Supreme Court, the Court are of view that it would be just and reasonable to allow both applications by setting aside orders passed by Special Court.

Accordingly, all these three writ petitions are allowed granting the reliefs in setting aside common order under challenge passed by Special Court in I.As, and consequently, allowing all the three interlocutory applications. Dundoo Ravi Kumar Vs. The Spl.Court under the A.P.L.G. (Prohibition) Act 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 279 = 2016(3) ALD 390 = 2016(2) ALT 330.

—Secs.2(d) & 2(e) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.26, Rule 9 - Respondent filed Application before Special Court seeking eviction of petitioner/respondent from Application land contending that he purchased it under registered sale deed and respondent grabbed portion of land basing on fraudulently obtained pattadar pass books - Trial Court allowed LGC directing petitioner to vacate and deliver vacant possession, after considering reports filed by Advocate Commissioner - All questions concernungs civil nature of disputes are to be decided by Special Court set up by Act and civil Court has no jurisdiction - Special Court is competent to try and determine issue of title, right to or possession of land alleged to have been grabbed - Jurisdiction of civil Court is attracted when once it is discernible from application that there has been an act of land grabbing committed by respondent therein - When once jurisdiction of Special Court is attracted, question as regards title, right to or possession of land shall have to be decided only by it - Visualizing a situation wherein wake of an allegation of committing an act of land grabbing, which attracts jurisdiction of Special Court and if issue of title over such land shall have to be determined only by civil Court, a party shall have to approach Special Court in respect of a part of cause of action and civil Court in respect of other part - A party cannot be driven to approach Special Court as well as civil Court simultaneously when he complains of grabbing of his land - Special Court also equally competent to determine question when there is plea of title by means of prescription - Writ petition, dismissed. M. Yadagiri Reddy Vs. V.C.Brahmanna 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 137 = 2009(6) ALD 160 = 2009(3) ALT 796.

—Secs.2(d) & (e), 7, and 8(1) - A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) RULES, 1988, Rule 6 - "Land grabbing" - Respondent filed LGC against petitioner alleging that he had illegally occupied Application Schedule property - Special Court passed orders taking cognizance of LGC u/Sec.8(1) of Act - Hence present writ petition to quash said order - Petitioner contends that allegations in LGC being absolutely vague and did not attract ingredients of "land grabbing" as required u/Sec.2(d) and (e) of Act and that Special Court ought not to have taken cognizance of case u/Sec.8(1) of Act and that unless ingredients of land grabbing are made out to satisfaction of Special Court, mere having prima facie title by Applicant does not render case cognizable so as to proceed under Provisions of Act - "Land Grabber" and "Land Grabbing" - Defined - For purpose of taking cognizance of case under Act, existence of allegation of any act of land grabbing is sine qua non and not truth or otherwise of such obligation -To make out a case that a person is "Land Grabber" Applicant must aver and prove both ingredients-factum as well as intention and that unless a person unauthorizedly and without any lawful entitlement thereto enters or intrudes into a land forcibly or otherwise he cannot be held to be land grabber and that emphasis was on taking possession without any lawful entitlement - Taking cognizance of a case is not matter of course and not automatic and it was explained that registering a case and assigning number to it is a ministerial act which cannot be equated to that of taking cognizance by Court of competent jurisdiction which requires intence application of mind to facts - Though for purpose of taking cognizance it is not necessary for Special Court to go into truth or otherwise of allegation of land grabbing made in LGC, on application of mind to allegations in Application and verification report, Special Court is required to satisfy itself that allegations made in Application attracted ingredients of land grabbing - Special Court is bound to record its satisfaction about compliance with ingredients of land grabbing also - Since impugned order does not reveal such satisfaction matter requires consideration by Special Court - Impugned order set aside and matter remanded to Special Court for consideration afresh and pass appropriate orders in accordance with law - Writ petition, allowed. Syed Mohammed Fazalullah Vs. Mrs.Sameena Zahra Katoon 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 111 = 2013(2) ALD 490 = 2013(2) ALT 1.

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

—Secs.2(e),7,7-A & 10 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.41, Rules 23,23-A & 25 - Respondents filed L.G O.P contending that petition schedule property was allotted to them by Govt. on usual market value and possession delivered and that petitioners forcibly occupied same and constructed new house therein - Petitioners contend that patta granted to them by Tahsildar and as such they are not land grabbers - Special Tribunal allowed case holding that petitioners are land grabbers - Petitioners contend that Tribunal failed to consider documents marked as Exs.B.1 & B.3 and that ingredients of land grabbing not satisfied and as petitioners are in authorized possession of property in pursuance of patta granted by Govt. and as such they cannot to be held to be land grabbers. "Land grabbing" - Defined - In this case, no material before Tribunal to show that petitioners had any acceptable right to property - Respondents (applicants) clearly established their prima facie title - Once applicants before LGC established prima facie title, burden of proof u/Sec.10 of Act, shifts on respondents in land grabbing case and in absence of any rebuttal evidence on part of petitioners title of respondents, rightly accepted - Documents, Exs.B.1 & B.2 which were marked in previous civil suit, were sent for in LGOP, but they were not marked before Tribunal - Merely filing documents or merely calling for documents by itself is not sufficient unless such documents are tendered in evidence and proved in accordance with law - As such, it cannot be said non consideration of said documents has vitiated finding of Tribunal as well as Special Court - C.P.C. OR.41, RULE 23 - Remand of case by appellate Court - An appellate Court should be circumspecpt in ordering a remand when case is not covered either by Rule 23 or Rule 23-A or Rule 25 - Power of remand is not automatic and not merely for asking - Writ petition, dismissed. Ketha Sujathamma Vs. B. Ramamurthy 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 186 = 2009(3) ALD 804 = 2009(2) APLJ 14 = 2009(3) ALT 747.

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

—-Sec.7(1) - A.P. INAMS ABOLITION AND CONVERT INTO RYOTTWARI ACT, 1956 - A.P. ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987, Secs.80 and 81 Writ of Mandamus was sought filed to declare the action of respondent not receiving the amounts as directed by the Special Tribunal for Land Grabbing, as illegal, arbitrary and consequently to direct the respondent (Executive Officer of the Temple) to receive the amounts as passed judgment - Writ Petition was filed with a prayer to declare the direction issued by the 1 st respondentTribunal in allowing the respondents in permitting to continue in occupation of the site measuring 1536 Square Yards on payment of compensation as wholly illegal and without jurisdiction and declaring the said direction as void ab initio.

Held, In fact, provision from its reading clearly indicates it is not power of Tribunal when once found by it of person is a land grabber to ask him to retain land by payment of compensation, apart from there is no criterion given in determining compensation as to what is market rate - Further, Andhra Pradesh Endowments Act, 1987, Sections 80 and 81 clearly speak on invalidation of same without prior sanction of Commissioner or Government and person in possession shall get no right or title pursuant therewith and such person shall be deemed to be an encroacher and provisions of Sections 84 and 85 of Act to evict him are applicable - Even for Commissioner or Government to accord prior sanction it must be after publishing in State Gazette particulars relating to proposed transaction by calling for and notifying objections and suggestions including from trustee or other persons having interest in temple or other institution for any gift or sale or exchange or mortgage of its property and that too every such sale etc., even sanctioned by Commissioner, shall be undertaken by tender-cum-public auction in prescribed manner, though Government may for reasons to be recorded and in interest of institution or endowment and that too in writing permit sale of such immovable property otherwise than by public auction.

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

From reading of Sections 2, 7, 7A, 8 and 12-B of the Land Grabbing (Prohibition) Act, no way those empower Land Grabbing Tribunal to alienate property of temple in favour of land grabber either directly or indirectly by awarding compensation to temple - In three Judge bench expression of Apex Court in Y.Satyanarayana Reddy in this regard it is held in categorical terms that Tribunal or Special Court has no power even in moulding of a relief in claim for eviction of land grabber, to allow land grabber to continue on land by awarding compensation to land owner as neither Tribunal nor Special Court can hold that land grabber could remain in possession of land on payment of its market value as compensation even as it would defeat whole purpose and object of Act - Interpretation of words 'compensation' from land grabber for his wrongful possession of land grabbed does not mean compensation is for future continuation of possession of land already grabbed by him.

From above, so far as L.G.C respondents in possession of land concerned what they claimed of they are in possession for nearly 12 years apart from as rightly concluded by Tribunal of nothing could be proved but for shown from residential houses constructed and house tax with electricity charges paid only for past five years or so and thereby they could not make out any case of animus possessendi to acquire title by adverse possession of required period of 12 years.

As per Sec.76(1) of the Act,1926 (Act,2/1927) permission was also mandatorily required to be obtained by Trustees from competent authority by showing necessity and without which there could be no exchange, sale or mortgage and no lease for a term exceeding 5 years of any immovable property belonging to any Mutt, Temple or Specific endowment - Nothing shall be valid or operate unless it is shown necessary and beneficial to Mutt, Temple or Specific endowment and same in recognition of such necessity or benefit is sanctioned by the Board.

Thus, it is not either proof of possession for 12 years with animus possessandi or even 12 years before to date of Act,19/1951 came into force, for proof of adverse possession but for proof of perfecting title by adverse possession even by the year 1874 as per section 44-B of the Act,2/1927(amended by Act,11/1934). Therefore, Respondents to Land Grabbing eviction case cannot claim any adverse possession over subject property of temple - Even from any possession of property governed by Endowments Act by persons unconnected with temple (endowment) with animus possessendi for any claim on ground that such persons acquired an indefeasible title by adverse possession, such possession should have held for 60 years prior to the coming into force of Madras HRE (Amendment) Act 11/1934 by which Sec.44(b) that was introduced by amendment to Madras HRE Act,1926 (Act 2/1927) which mean no adverse possession can be held by persons unconnected with the services of the temple-vide decisions.

Having regard to above, when Land Grabbing Tribunal having no right to ask respondents-land grabbers to land grabbing case to retain possession and pay compensation at market value, said direction by Tribunal to pay at Rs.80/- per Square yard is beyond its jurisdiction for not conferred by Act and thereby, it is unsustainable and illegal and is liable to be set aside.

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

Accordingly and in the result, the writ petition No.5847 of 2002 is allowed by setting aside the direction of tribunal to respondents-land grabbers therein to retain temple land in encroachment subject to payment at Rs.80/- per square yard to the petitioner-temple, owner of land and by dismissing the writ petition No. 22256 of 2001 for no such direction to temple authorities can be given to receive amount and to permit to retain land as per said unsustainable direction of Tribunal. Tutta Chinnayya Vs. E.O., Sri Varaha Lakshmi Narasimha Devasthanam 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 10 = 2016(6) ALD 63.

—Secs.8(1), 8(6), 8(3), and Rule 7 of the Rules - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.6, Rule 17 as amended CPC Amendment Act, 2002, Sec.16(2) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - "Amendment of pleadings" - "Certiorari jurisdiction" - Application filed by Petitioner/Govt. for amendment of pleadings in LGC - Special Court passed order rejecting permission for amendment of pleadings - In this case, respondents, originally Govt., filed suit alleging that it acquired lands from late J who was pattadar of land and therefore petitioner now cannot be allowed to amend pleadings belatedly taking contradictory pleas and if amendment is allowed after period of 25 years matter has to be reopened and respondents have to file their additional counters and documents and lead evidence and this would further delay matter - Proposed amendment is barred by limitation and that amendment sought is not additional plea as alleged and will change cause of action and nature of suit - Petitioner contends that amendment application is bona fide and it is necessary for proper adjudication of all issues and to decide real question in controversy and that amendment does not cause any prejudice to contesting respondents and that prejudice, if any, can be compensated in terms of money and it does not result in change of cause of action and refusal of amendment would lead to multiplicity of proceedings - "CERTIORARI JURISDICTION" - Court of judicial review would not ordinarily interfere with finding of facts however grave they may be - It is only concerned with grave error of law which is apparent on face of record - Error of law may arise when a Tribunal wrongfully rejects admissible evidence or considers inadmissible evidence - AMENDMENT OF PLEADINGS - Law with regard to amendment of pleadings is well settled - It is axiomatic that a party to suit can always seek amendment of pleadings at any time during trial or during pendency before appellate Court - It is also well settled that Court should bestow liberal approach in dealing with amendment applications - Grant of applications for amendment would, however, be subject to three limitation viz., i) when nature of suit is changed by permitting amendment ; (ii) when amendment would result in introducing new cause of action which tends to prejudice other party; iii) when allowing amendment application defeats law of limitation - In such situations, amendments, cannot be allowed - Accepted Rule had been that all amendments may be allowed which satisfies two conditions i) that they do not work injusice to other side, and ii) that they are necessary for purpose of determining real question in controversy - In this case, there is no grave error apparent on face of record in impugned order passed by Special Court and there is no necessity to interfere with such well considered order - Writ petition as well as miscellaneous petitions, stand dismissed. State of A.P.Vs. Spl. Court under A.P.L.G.(Prohibition) Act, Hyd., 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 23 = 2012(5) ALD 484.

A.P. LAND GRABBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982:

—Secs.8 (1), 9, 3, 4 and 5 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.420 & 447- Respondents 1 and 2 purchased two plots from 3rd respondent/Society, registered under A.P. Co-operative Societies Act - Society fraudulently and in collusion with writ petitioner executed registered sale deed in favour of writ petitioner who encroached plots purchased by Respondents 1 & 2 - When respondent 1 & 2 wanted to occupy said plots writ petitioner objected by putting up her claim and grabbed said plots - Hence respondents 1 & 2 filed LGC before Special Court to declare 3rd respondent/Society and writ petitioner as land grabbers; to punish them u/Secs.3 & 4 of Act and put applicants into vacant possession of schedule property - Special Court by impugned order took cognizance of case u/Sec.
8 (1) of Act and directed Office to place papers before Chairman for entrustment of criminal trial against writ petitioner and 3rd respondent - Pursuant to order of Chairman Special Court took cognizance of case u/Sec.3 & 4 of Act and Secs.420 and 447 IPC and issued summons to writ petitioner and 3rd respondent - Hence writ petitions filed questioning same - Petitioner contends that it is a total non application of mind by Special Court while taking cognizance of case u/Sec.8(1) Act as single Application not maintainable and that Special Court lacks territorial jurisdiction to take cognizance of case and that Special Court erred in taking cognizance of case, and to determining criminal liability - Respondents 1 and 2 contends that after taking cognizance, notice of taking cognizance as contemplated under proviso to sub-section (6) of Sec.8 of Act has been issued, for which writ petitioner filed her counter and having submitted to jurisdiction, writ petitioner cannot question orders of Special Court taking cognizance of case and same has to be decided on merits - In this case, in view of specific averments, matter requires to be adjudicated by Special Court on said allegations alone but not on defence put forth by writ petitioner in her counter to LGC - Contention advanced by petitioner that Special Court has not at all applied its mind while taking cognizance of case, unsustainable - U/sec.9 of Act, Special Court shall be deemed to be a civil Court and a Court of Session and shall have all powers of civil Court and Court of Session - Since Sec.5 contemplates penalty for offences in connection with land grabbing as enumerated under sub-secs.(a) to (d) of Sec.5, taking cognizance of offence u/sec.420 and 447 IPC by Special Court is beyond its jurisdiction - Sec.9 of Act will only authorise Special Court to exercise powers of Court of Session while dealing with offence under Act, but it had no jurisdiction to try offences u/Sec.420 and 447 IPC which are exclusively triable by Magistrate - Therefore, taking cognizance of offence u/Sec.420 and 447 IPC by Special Court is beyond its jurisdiction - Hence order passed by Special Court to extent of taking cognizance of offence u/Sec.420, 447 IPC, liable to be set aside - Writ petition, partly allowed quashing impugned order to extent of taking cognizance of offence u/Secs.420 & 447 IPC. K.Sruti Vs. P.R. Rajeswari, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 77 = 2011(1) ALD 244.

A.P. LAND REFORMS (CEILING ON AGRICULTURAL HOLDINGS) ACT, 1973:

—Sec.8(7) - Special Court allowed Appellant's appeal holding that appellant is entitled to continue possession over Govt., land under his unauthorised occupation on payment of Rs.15,15,000/- - High Court held that Tribunal or Special Court constituted under provisions of Act except having competency of determining compensation to be paid to land owner by land 'grabber' for wrongful possession, has no power or authority to determine market value of grabbed land and direct land owner to receive such maket value from land grabber in lieu of grabbed land to be retained by land grabber - Special Court also has no power to go into question as to whether a particula land is required for public purpose or not which domain is exclusively vested with the competent Govt - In view of objects and reasons of Act, to contend that it should be open to Tribunal or Special Court to allow a land grabber to to continue in possession over Govt.,land on payment of market value as compensation would amount to breaking open an escape-hatch to denude Act of its very object and purpose - Judgment and view taken by High Court fully Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Y.Satyanarayan Reddy Vs. The Mandal Revenue Offier, A.P. 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 91 = 2009(6) ALD 102(SC) = 2009(6) Supreme 363.

A.P. LAND REFORMS (CEILING ON AGRICULTURAL HOLDINGS) ACT, 1973:

—Trial court had dismissed suit with costs and also granted exemplary costs/ compensation under Sec. 35-A of CPC to the defendant and had observed that the same is recoverable from PW1 - Court of First Appeal while allowing the appeal of the sole plaintiff had reversed the decree and judgment of the trial court and decreed the suit of the plaintiff as prayed for and granted two months time to the defendant to vacate and deliver the possession of the plaint schedule property to the sole plaintiff - Held, therefore, the evidence on record when harmoniously considered would show that the father of the sole plaintiff by name Mattaiah having purchased the suit land and other lands under exhibit A29 styled as sale deed and having paid earnest money under it and the balance of sale consideration under A31 receipt and having continued in possession for over statutory period and having enjoyed the property as a person in possession in assumed character of owner and having exercised peaceably the ordinary rights of ownership had acquired by prescription a perfectly good title against the whole world - The fact remains that the real owners/the vendors of Mattaiah had accepted and recognized his rightful ownership. - They are not even disputing the ownership of the plaintiff and her sister - Therefore, it can be safely held that he had acquired title by prescription - A careful and analytical examination of evidence would show that the plaintiff had established her title to the suit schedule property as required under facts and in law and is therefore, entitled to the relief of declaration of title - In the result the second appeal is dismissed. Durgampudi Padmamma Vs. Kallutla Kottamma (died) 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 469 = 2015(3) ALD 490.

A.P. LAND REFORMS (CEILING ON AGRICULTURAL HOLDINGS) ACT, 1973:

—Sec.24 r/w Rule 18 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.193, 199 & 200 - Crime registered against petitioner for alleged tampering of village records as result of which he was declared as non-surplus holder - Petitioner contends that Tribunal declared him as non-surplus holder after holding enquiry and said order had obtained finality and it is not open to 1st respondent/District Collector to direct 2nd respondent/RDO to file criminal case for alleged offences under IPC and that Land Reforms Act is self-contained Code and that Sec.24 provides for prosecution of person for wilfully furnishing false declaration - In this case, admittedly petitioner has not been issued a notice to show-cause why sanction should not be accorded for his prosecution nor has he been given opportunity of making representation thereto - Complaint lodged relates to offences under IPC and not those under Act - Bar u/Sec.24(4) for taking cognizance, is only in relation to offences under Act and since offences alleged are not those under Act, bar u/Sec.24(4) has no application - Sanction for prosecuting offender is required to be accorded only before cognizance is taken by Court and not anterior thereto, when complaint is lodged with SHO - Therefore Sec.24 (4) does not bar a complaint filed before SHO - Principle of "finality of litigation" cannot be stretched to extent of an absurdity that it can be utilized as engine of oppression by dishonest and fraudulent litigants - In present case, FIR would reveal that petitioner is alleged to have committed serious offence under provisions of IPC relating to fabrication of false evidence, giving false statements and use of false declaration and hence it cannot be said that said allegations do not attract ingredients of Sec.193, 199 & 200 IPC - While sanction for prosecution is a pre-requisite for Court to take cognizance, it is not a condition precedent for filing complaint before SHO - Allegations levelled against petitioner are fraud and deceipt - Fraud vitiates all acts and renderers orders passed as a result of such fraud a nullity - Writ petition, dismissed. G.Vidyasagar Rao Vs. District Collector, Nalgonda 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 52 = 2008(2) ALD (Crl) 857.

A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) LAND REVENUE ACT:

A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) LAND REVENUE ACT:

—Sec.54 - A.P. BOARD STANDING ORDER, No.90 (32) - A.P. URBAN AREAS (DEVELOPMENT) ACT, Sec.19(2) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.14, 19 (1) (g) & 300-A - LAND ACQUISITION ACT, Sec.48-B - Land acquired for establishment of BHEL - After utilization of major portion of land 1st respondent/Govt., granting permission to Housing Society of BDL and BHEL in respect of unutilized land - Petitioners contend that out of said acquired land some extent of land was acquired from their father and as such, said transfer was in violation of provisions of A.P. Telangana Area Land Revenue Act and Urban Areas Development and also violation of Articles of 14,19,300-A of Constitution of India - Respondent contends that petitioners do not have any manner of right or claim over land which was acquired long back; that once land was acquired from father of petitioners and compensation was paid, title vests with Govt., and that owners of land are not entitled for reconveyance of lands - When once a land is acquired for public purpose, it vests in Govt., and original owner of land loses all his rights over land, and therefore, question of reconveyance of land on ground that a part of land was not utilized for purpose for which it was acquired, does not arise and that allotment of part of unutilized land for housing purpose of employees of a public sector undertaking is a public purpose - Upon acquisition of land title therein vests absolutely in State or agency on whose behalf land is acquired; if land acquired for public purpose is not utilized for purpose of which same was acquired, it can be utilized for any other public purpose; and that original owners, from whom land was acquired, are not entitled for recovneyance on ground that land was not utilized for purpose for which it was acquired - Allotment of land for Housing Co-operative Society, comprising employees of public sector undertaking, is certainly for public purpose - Petitioners not entitled for reconveyance of land - Writ petition, dismissed. M.Jaganath Reddy Vs. State of A.P., 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 395 = 2010(5) ALD 255 = 2010(5) ALT 213.

—Secs.166 (B) - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS ACT, Sec.9 - Suo moto revisional power - Joint Collector passed order exercising suo moto powers u/Sec.9 of 1971 Act, declaring certain lands described in revenue records as belonging to Govt., directing MRO to rectify entries accordingly - Petitioners claim uninterrupted title, ownership and transparant possession of said lands for over 60 years - Contention that Joint Collector not competent to exercise power u/Sec.9 of Act when lands belongs to Govt., since Provisions of Act, 1971 inapplicable to Govt., lands qua Sec.12 of said Act and that impugned order of Joint Collector is invalid - In this case, since initiation of proceedings u/Sec.9 of 1971 Act is on basis of an assumption by 2nd respondent/MRO that lands are Govt., lands, power u/Sec.9 of Act could not have been invoked and 1st respondent/Joint Collector had no power, authority or jurisdiction to have passed order u/Sec.9 of 1971 Act - SUO MOTO REVISIONAL POWER U/SEC.166(B) APLR, ACT -

A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) LAND REVENUE ACT:

If power is conferred on authority to exercise suo moto revisional power, without setting out a time limit within which power is to be exercised, jurisdiction is of necessity required to be invoked within reasonable time, though such reasonable time may vary according to facts of case - Absence of precription of any limitation period for exercise of suo moto powers does not authorise authority vested with power to invoke it after lapse of any length of time, since exercise of an administrative or quasi judicial power is linked to concept of rule of law and exercise of power after long lapse of time prima facie arbitrary - Sktchy and ipse dixit Impugned order illustrates in apporpriateness of exercise of revisional jurisdiction by Joint Collector - Hence, impugned order, quashed - Writ petitions, allowed. M/s.Prathap Jungle Resorts Pvt.,Ltd. Vs.Joint Collector, RangaReddy 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 367 = 2009(1) ALD 401 = 2008(4) ALT 794.

—Sec.166-B - Board Standing Order,15 (BSO-15), Para 3 (2) (ii) - Petitioner's son who was working helper in BHEL was assigned two acres of land and since assignee died, MRO granted succession certificate in favour of petitioner - Subsequently, successor of MRO, submitted Report to 3rd respondent/Joint Collector for cancellation of succession certificate issued in favour of petitioner - Thereupon 3rd respondent initiated proceedings u/Sec.166-B of A.P (T.A) Land Revenue Act, 1317 Fasli and cancelled assignment made to petitioner's son as well as succession certificate issued in favour of petitioner on three reasons viz., (i) that father cannot succeed to his son's property (ii) succession certificate was given three years after death of assignee (iii) that assignee was not a landless poor person - As far as first reason is concerned that u/Sec.8 of Hindu Succession Act, that if deceased left class-I heirs behind him they will succeed to his property and if no such heir was left, heirs in class-II, will succeed to property in order of priority - Therefore, petitioner, being father and enumerated at top of list in class-II heirs mentioned in Schedule is entitled to succeed to estate of deceased - Hence reasonings of 3rd respondent that petitioner being father cannot succeed to his son's estate is contrary to provision of Act and same unsustainable - As regards second reason there is no statutory provision which prescribed time limit for claiming succession in respect of assigned land held by deceased - As regards third reason deceased assignee was not a landless poor person, 3rd respondent has himself given a finding that petitioner was helper in BHEL - Para 3(2) (ii) of BSO - 15 defines "landless poor person" as one who owns not more than two and half acres of wet or Ac.5 dry land and it is not case of respondents that deceased assignee had any land at time of assignment - At any rate, assignment granted to petitioner's son not cancelled at any point of time and therefore, succession cannot be denied to petitioner - Impugned order passed by 3rd respondent, set aside - 4th respondent/ Tahsildar directed to mutate name of petitioner in record of rights in respect of land in question - Writ petition, allowed. Dandu Lakshmi Narayana Vs. The Govt., of A.P, 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 29 = 2013(5) ALD 591.

A.P. LAW OFFICERS (APPOINTMENT CONDITIONS OF SERVICE) INSTRUCTIONS 2000:

—Conditions 7 & 8 - G.O.Ms.No.187, Dt.6-12-2000 - Selection of Law Officers - Guidelines - Stated - Petitioner/applicant for post of Law Officer in High Court, assailing appointments of respondents 2 to 11 as Govt. Pleaders on ground that their term extended until further orders and that they were appointed for third term under impugned G.O., and that private respondents do not fall under category of "exceptional cases" and that as they are politically highly influential, they managed to get appointed for third term by trampling over rights of other eligible and more meritorious Advocates - Govt., contends that it is not correct to state that private respondents were engaged for a third term, because extension of their term beyond initial tenure for three years under G.O. dt.5-7-2007 until further orders does not amount to their appointment for second term and for a tenure of three years within meaning of Cl.8 of Instructions and allegation that private respondents are political highly influential and their appointment trampled over rights of other eligible are denied and that further allegation that engagements are made purely on personal or political considerations is denied as untenable and without substance - While no formal procedure was followed to assess efficiency, performance and merit of private respondents, Law Secretary and Advocate General examined all those aspects and recommended to Govt. on basis of which appointments of private respondents were made - In this case petitioner as not made any allegations of inefficiency or lack of integrity against any of Govt. Pleaders, who are impleaded as respondents 2 to 11 and his contention is that they ought not to have been appointed for purported third term without being satisfied about their exceptional efficiency, success and performance - However in view of over-whelming importance of Officers in question, Chief Secretary, Govt., of A.P., directed to constitute Committee headed by Advocate General and submit Report about methodology to be evoloved for constant monitoring of functioning of Law Officers and to suggest mesures to improve their performance, to suggest criterion for assessing suitability of Law Officers with reference to Cl.8 of instructions and to assess volume of work each Govt., pleader is handling and number of Asst. Govt. Pleaders required to assist and after examining Report Committee Govt. shall consider same and issue appropriate proceedings to give effect to those recommendations. T.Kumar Babu Vs. The Govt., of A.P. 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 95 = 2009(5) ALD 474 = 2009(4) ALT 707.

A.P. MINIOR MINERAL CONCESSION RULES, 1966:

A.P. LOKAYUKTA ACT, 1983:

—Sec.7 - Jurisdiction of Lokayukta - The following questions were referred to the Full Bench vide order dated 14.6.2013.

a) Whether A.P. Lokayukta has jurisdiction to entertain a complaint, which does not involve an allegation, or a complaint regarding non-implementation of an order of a Magistrate in a matrimonial dispute between a wife and husband, or any other dispute inter se private individuals, and pass consequential orders?

b) Whether the A.P. Lokayukta can issue directions or pass an order directly against the persons mentioned in clauses (i) to (iv) of Section 7(i) of the Act ?

c) Whether A.P. Lokayukta can take action suo motu under the Act?

Held, this Court answer question No.1 in negative and hold that Lokayukta has no jurisdiction to entertain a complaint, which neither involves an allegation nor involves any action or inaction connected with such allegation - This Court also held that inter se private disputes between parties including matrimoial disputes does not fall with in perview of jurisdiction of Lokayukta under Act and that only such acts, which are actuated by allegation against public servants and authorities as named u/Sec.7 of Act alone fall with in domain of Lokayukta or Upa-Lokayukta, as case may be and discussion, as above also answers question no.2 in negative - Question no.3 however does not arise on facts and circumstances of case and would amount to adjudication on hypothetical question and hence, said question is left open - Reference is answered accordingly. Dr.R.G.Sunil Reddy Vs. The A.P. Lok Ayuktha Hyd., 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 307.

—Sec. 7- Petitioner contended that Hon'ble Lokayukta has no jurisdiction to grant interim relief except enquiring into matter and recommending - Held, Hon'ble Lokayukta has no power to issue any mandate either interim or final-Impugned Order of Lokayukta set aside - Writ Petition, Allowed. Rajkumar Bharatlal Vs. The Government of A.P. 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 383.

A.P. MINIOR MINERAL CONCESSION RULES, 1966:

—- "Determining lease" - "Non speaking order" of State Govt. - Petitioner filed Revision against order of 2nd respondent, Director of Mines determining mining lease for black galaxy granite to writ petitioner - 1st respondent/Govt., dismissed Revision filed by petitioner without giving opportunity and assigning reasons - Writ petition filed for a Mandamus to set aside order of 1st respondent - 1st respondent/Govt., seems to be oblivious of fact that being Quasi- judicial functionary vested with revisional jurisdiction to decide valuable rights of citizens it has duty and obligation to support order with reasons - Duty to give reasons is a facet of principles of natural justice and no order whether administrative or quasi-judicial in nature, determining rights of parties can be sustained unless same is supported by reasons - As impugned order, is a thoroughly non-speaking order, same is quashed and case is remanded to 1st respondent/Govt., for rehearing and passing detailed speaking order - Writ petition according allowed.

A.P. MUNICIPALITIES ACT:

A.Ramanaiah Vs. The Govt. of A.P., 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 254 = 2014(1) ALD 773 = 2014(3) ALT 619.

A.P. MUNICIPALITIES ACT:

—Secs.6, 228 & 2 (3) - Petition filed seeking direction to respondents to restore compound wall and structures demolished by respondents - 1st respondent/ Commissioner Municipality contends that petitioner constructed unauthorised structures and compound wall without obtaining prior permission, in an area where there is no approved layout - As per Sec.6 of Act, it is Municipal Council that has to sue and be sued - Writ petition filed not against Municipality but against Commissioner Municipality and as Municipality is not made party, no relief can be granted against Municipality - Municipality cannot demolish even unauthorised structures without issuing notice - When respondents want to demolish structures raised by petitioner on any ground they should follow procedure prescribed by Act and give notice - Nothing is placed on record by any of respondents to show that procedure contemplated by Act was followed or show-cause notice was issued to petitioner - Merely because authorities constituted under Act are vested with powers to do some acts, they cannot, without following procedure by enactment to perform that act - As petitioner did not produce any document to show that he has an approved layout or obtained permission for raising constructions, which were demolished, respondents directed to pay damages to petitioner - Writ petition, allowed. M.Ramarao Vs. Commissioner Serilingampally Municipality, R.R. Dt., 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 413 = 2008(3) ALD 344 = 2008(3) 659.

—Secs.16(1) (k) & 59(1) - Petitioner and 4th respondent are elected members of Municipal Council - Municipal Council resolved in its resolution that 4th respondent who did not attend three consecutive meetings of Council, ceased to hold office u/ Sec.16(1) (k) of Act - Govt., of A.P., cancelled resolution of Municipal Council in exercise of powers conferred u/Sec.59(2) of Act - Petitioner contends that as per first proviso of Sec.59(1) of Act, 1st respondent/Govt., is bound to give opportunity to Municipal Council to explain its stand before suspending resolution and that since no such showcause notice was issued, order of 1st respondent is liable to be set aside - Respondents contend that Sec.16(1) (k) did not attract at all as 4th respondent had absented for only one ordinary meeting and that disqualification u/Sec.16(1) (k) is attracted only where member absented himself consecutively for three ordinary meetings and that resolution passed by Municipal Council was contrary to law - In present case, impugned order was not passed u/Sec.59(1) of Act, but it is order of suspension purportedly made in exercise of powers conferred under Sec.59 (2) of Act - Impugned order of suspension passed by Govt., is without jurisdiction and unsustainable - Hence, set aside. Munagala Malleswara Rao.Guntur Vs.The Govt., of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 103 = 2010(6) ALD 137 = 2010(6) ALT 507.

A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994:

—Sec.46(2) - A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994, Sec.245(2) - "Want of confidence" - District Collector addressed notice in Proforma-II to petitioner/Chairperson of Municipal Council that he was communicated a notice of intention to move a motion expressing want of confidence in petitioner - Said Notice of Collector is impeached on sole ground that notice of intention to move motion received by Collector is in transgression of provisions of Act as separate copy of proposed motion is not enclosed to Proforma-II, which was signed by 19 representationists and addressed to Collector and this failure to enclose a copy of proposed motion of 'no confidence' is basis for petitioner's challenge - There is no provision which enjoins expressly or by any compelling implication requirement to furnish a copy of notice addressed to District Collector or a copy of proposed motion for expressing "no confidence", to person against whom motion is proposed - Statutory provision may be directory or mandatory - In case of directory provisions substantial compliance is adequate unless it is established that violation of a directory provision results in loss or prejudice to a party - In this case, from text and context of Sec.46(1) there appears no pejorative impact either to interests of petitioner nor public arising out of failure to enclose a copy of motion expressing "want of confidence" - Writ petition, dismissed. Dr.Nallamothu Ruthrani Vs. State of A.P. 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 65 = 2009(6) ALD 92 = 2009(5) ALT 689.

A.P. MUNICIPALITIES (DECISION OF ELECTION DISPUTES) RULES 1967,

--Rule 4 (1) & (2) & Sub Section 1 of Section 326 of the A.P. Municipalities Act, 1965 - Rules in question being framed for achieving a special objective, ought to have specified mode of that deposit of security for costs, to put matters beyond any pale of doubt - When Rule itself has left some room for speculation, mode of compliance attempted by 1st respondent/election petitioner cannot be construed as lacking in any bonafides - When a substantial and faithful compliance has been attempted and even thereafter by impugned order, once again a sum of Rs.100/- is directed to be deposited, which 1st respondent/election petitioner has complied with and, particularly, when this revision is preferred under Article 227 of Constitution of India, which is essentially intended to ensure that Tribunals do not over step their limits of jurisdiction - Court opinion that matter does not call for any interference at the hands of this Court - Accordingly, this civil revision petition is dismissed. Mohd Mukhtar Ahemed Vs. Syed Habeed 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 157 = 2016(4) ALD 212 = 2016(4) ALT 461.

A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994:

—Secs.2(3),99 & 121 - 1st and 2nd respondents proposed to install a Cell Tower on northern vacant site of petitioner's house - Petitioner contends that respondents 1 & 2 proposed to install a Cell Tower without obtaining permission from Gram Panchayat and that already a Cell Tower of Airtel Company is inexistence within a distane of 20 mts of proposed site and that in view of close proxmity of proposed Cell Tower, he may be exposed to health hazards like headache, sleep disorders, poor memory, mental excitation etc. - Metallic structure, which does not have any characterstic of house, out house, shops, stable etc., does not fall within definition of building - Contention of petitioner rejected - Petitioner has not filed any material which authoritatively established that operation of Cell towers causes such health hazards - Plea of petitioner is merely based on apprehension than on established fact - Writ petition, dismissed. M.Balaram Vs. Bharat Sanchar Nigam Ltd., 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 113 = 2010(6) ALD 34.

A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994:

—Sec.19 – Returning Officer rejecting nomination filed by 1st respondent for ward of Gram Panchayat on ground that he was convicted for offences u/Secs.147, 148 and 324 r/w Sec.149 of IPC and sentenced to pay fine of Rs.600/- - Junior Civil Judge allowing O.P filed by 1st respondent and set aside election of petitioner - A person would incur disqualification from being elected or holding an elected post, if he was convicted for an offence involving "moral delinquency" – Sentence become immaterial in such cases – Disqualification also occur if a person is sentenced to undergo imprisonment for two years - In this case, 1st respondent convicted for offences u/Secs.147, 148 and 324 r/w Sec.149 of IPC and that was in relation to quarrel among neighbours – No question of moral delinquency is involved in it – Further, sentence was not imprisonment for two years and it was only fine of Rs.600/- - Rejection of nomination of 1st respondent - Unsustainable – Order of Junior Civil Judge – Justified – Writ petition, dismissed. Samala Janaki Ramulu Vs. Munigadapa Kanakaiah 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 290 = 2009(1) ALD 584 = 2009(1) ALT 529.

—Sec.19 - Petitioner and respondents 5 & 6 contested for office of Sarpanch and since petitioner secured more votes he was declared as elected - 5th respondent filed O.P contending that petitioner had four children by date of election and thereby incurred disqualification u/Sec. 19 - Petitioner opposed O.P. contending that her husband was married to another woman and begot two children and thereafter he married her and through their wedlock two children were born, but all four children of her husband are being treated as though all of them were born to her - Tribunal allowed O.P and set aside election of petitioner and 5th respondent was declared as elected - Petitioner contends that findings recorded by Tribunal without any basis that though petitioner took specific plea that she had only two children and other two children were born out of wedlock of her husband with his first wife and same not at all taken into account - 5th respondent contends when prima facie material is placed before Tribunal that petitioner had four children, burden rested upon her - In this case, petitioner is not mother of four children - When this plea was taken Tribunal repelled it by placing reliance upon judgment which is not applicable to facts of this case - Petitioner flatly denied and she stuck to plea that she had only two children - Still Tribunal had set aside election - Order passed by Tribunal contrary to principles of evidence - Hence order in O.P, set aside. Chowdary Kamala Bai Vs. The District Election Authority 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 309 = 2010(3) ALD 276 = 210(3) ALT 185 = AIR 2010 (NOC) 623 (AP).

A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994:

—Secs.19(3) & 22 (2) - Petitioner was elected as Sarpanch of village - District Panchayat Officer after conducting enquiry on complaint, passed order holding that petitioner incurred disqualification u/Sec.19(3) as he was having more than two children at time of his election - Pursuant to directions of High Court petitioner approached District Court and filed O.P along with Application seeking direction to respondents 1 & 2 to continue him as Sarpanch - District Court dismissed Application -Hence present revision - Once a dispute is raised before District Court by elected member of Gram Panchayat, he is entitled to continue as such as if he has not incurred any disqualification, till dispute is adjudicated by District Court - Unfortunately, District Court failed to consider order of High Court or provisions of Sec.22 from proper perspective - Instead, it has embarked on merits of petition and declined relief - Order of District Court, unsustainable - Hence, set aside - C.R.P. allowed. G.Janaki Ramudu Vs. State of A.P., 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 456 = 2010(5) ALD 589.

—-Secs.104, 105 and 106 - A.P. (AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE AND LIVESTOCK) MARKETS ACT, 1966 - Question referred to Bench is 'whether provisions contained in Sections 104, 105 and 106 of the A.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1994, have an overriding effect on provisions of A.P. (Agricultural Produce and Livestock) Markets Act, 1966, irrespective of non obstante clause contained in Sec.30 thereof in view of provisions of Article 243-G of the Constitution of India? The question was referred by the Division Bench presided over by the then Chief Justice - Agricultural Marketing Committee, established an Agricultural Market Yard branch at the outskirts of the village 15 years before - However, for want of accommodation and godown facility they could not and did not start trading activity in the market yard - For the first time, in February, 2001, the Assistant Director, Agricultural Marketing Department, Government of Andhra Pradesh, Guntur District, and Agricultural Market Committee, Repalle, decided to shift marketing activity in the village from its present location and also to take over control of the market in purported exercise of the powers under the provisions of the Markets Act - Gram Panchayat was, accordingly, served with a letter dated 17.02.2001 to which they submitted objections reiterating their right of control over public markets - Despite objection, on 16.11.2001, few commission agents/shops dealing with sale of some of agricultural produce were forcibly shifted - It is alleged that they were also constantly interfering with business of vendors and farmers, who were marketing their produce in market of Gram Panchayat - This action of Assistant Director, Agricultural Marketing Department, and Agricultural Marketing Committee was challenged in Writ petition being arbitrary, illegal and contrary to the provisions of the P.R. Act.

Held, from bare perusal of this provision, it is clear that it would override all other laws providing for establishment, maintenance or regulation of a market or levy of fees therein shall apply to any market established under the Markets Act or affect in any way the powers of a market committee, in respect of such market - Provisions of Sec.30 operate notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for time being in force - As a matter of fact, a bear reading of this provision, it is clear that it would prevail over provisions of the P.R. Act - It is well settled that in the event two conflicting provisions are operating in same field, doctrine of 'generalia specialibus non derogant' shall apply.

A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994:

It may be true that Gram Panchayat had provided a public market in Village for sale of vegetables and fruits and various other agricultural produces including livestock to cater needs of Villagers and other surrounding areas - Further, it may be true that the Gram Panchayat had taken various measures to improve the conditions of market from time to time and also to provide space for use as public market and they were levying one or more fees as contemplated by Sec.104 of P.R. Act - It is equally true that once a market area has been declared, provisions of Markets Act will bring within its sweep even such markets, as established by local authority - In the result, Court hold that provisions contained in Secs.104, 105 and 106 of the P.R. Act shall not have an overriding effect on provisions of Market Act in view of language employed in Sec.30 thereof.

In other words, question as framed in first paragraph of judgment is answered in negative - The registry is directed to place this judgment before the Court dealing with appeal and Writ petitions for their disposal in the light of this judgment. Bhattiprolu Gram Panchayat Vs.The District Collector (Panchayat Wing) Guntur 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 342 = 2016(2) ALD 214 = 2016(2) ALT 294.

—Sec.115 , Rules 1,2 & 4, G.O.Ms.No.67, dt.7-2-1986 - Public Parking places – Cart stands – Grampanchayat conducted auction for awarding contract of collecting fees on vehicles – Grampanchayat and Contractor levying fee on vehicles that reach business establishment – District Panchayat Officer granting stay - Grampanchayat is empowered to levy fee only on vehicles that are parked in places specifically earmarked, in accordance with Rules - Sec.115 of Act and Rules do not confer power on Grampanchayat to levy fee on loading and unloading of vehicles - Writ petitions disposed of directing that power of Grampanchayat is limited to levy fee only on those vehicles, which are parked in an area notified and earmarked by Grampanchayat and Grampanchayat shall not be entitled to levy any fee on vehicles that are loaded and unloaded in village, are parked in any other places and If Grampanchayat intends to notify any portion of public road also as parking place, it shall be open to approach competent authority to seek approval in accordance with relevant provisions of law. Ganapavaram Gram Panchayat Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 241 = 2009(1) ALD(NOC) 10 = 2009(1) ALT 211.

—Secs.120 & 214 - "Cell Tower" - District Panchayat Officer not allowing petitioner to complete erection of Cell tower on ground that permission of Gram Panchayat concerned is required - "Building" - "Factory" - Defined - Cell Tower will not fall within definition of 'factory' as in precincts where tower is located it cannot be said that any industrial or trade process is carried on - Writ petition, allowed. GTL Infrastructure Ltd., Vs. Gram Panchayat, Nandakuduru, E.G. District 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 96 = 2011(2) ALD 464 = 2011(1) ALT 661.

A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994:

—Secs.127 & 128 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.52 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.105 - Gram Panchayat - "Auction of leasehold right of parking place" - Pursuant to Notification issued by Gram Panchayat, auction conducted to collect parking fee from vehicles and petitioner declared as highest bidder - As petitioner failed to pay balance bid amount within time stipulated, lease granted in his favour is terminated and amount paid by him is forfeited - Secretary Gram Panchayat issued another Notification proposing to re-auction - Hence writ petition challenging said action of Secretary - Contention that writ petition itself is not maintainable as same is filed without exhausting remedy of appeal provided for u/Sec.128 of Act - Petitioner contends that only orders with regard to licences and permissions are appealable and that petitioner is not questioning order of revocation but questioning very source of order and hence petition is maintainable without exhausting alternative remedy of appeal - In this case, from condition 4 of earlier Notification jointly issued by Sarpanch and Panchayat Secretary, it is clear that Panchayat Secretary shall have absolute authority either to postpone or to reject or to reconduct auction without assigning any reason whatsoever - Hence, Panchayat Secretary is competent to cancel lease granted in favour of petitioner as well as to issue re-auction Notification - "Lease" and "licence" - Defined - By virtue of Notification, only a right to collect parking fee from owners of certain vehicles parked at places mentioned in Notification, was given to petitioner, but not to enjoy places mentioned in Notification - Therefore contention of petitioner that transaction between petitioner and Gram Panchayat is only a lease, but not a licence or permission, unsustainable - As against impugned order passed by Executive Authority, only appeal lies u/Sec.128 of Act - Since transaction between petitioner and Gram Panchayat is licence, Panchayat Secretary is competent to pass impugned order and to issue re-auction Notification - Petitioner has to approach competent authority as provided for u/Sec.128 of Act by way of filing appeal - Writ petition, dismissed. G.Krishna Murthy Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 339 = 2008(4) ALT 287 = 2008(3) APLJ 5.

—Sec.249(7) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.14 & 21 - 4th respondent was elected as Sarpanch of village - On account of some alleged misappropriation of certain amount 2nd respondent/District Collector, passing order removing Sarpanch and directing Upa-Sarpanch to take charge to conduct functions of Sarpanch - Pursuant to interim stay granted by 1st respondent in appeal Collector issued directions to handover charge to Sarpanch - Petitioner, Upa-Sarpanch contends that as even by date of granting stay in as much as he had taken charge of Sarpanch, consequential order cannot be sustained and stay became infructuous - In this case, order of removal passed by Collector was stayed until further orders and 1st respondent/Govt., passed stay order by exercising discretionary power as provided u/Sec.249 (7) of Panchayat Raj Act and that validity of order could be decided in statutory appeal - Though Upa-Sarpanch was directed to take charge of Sarpanch that does not give any vested right to Upa-Sarpanch to continue in post of Sarpanch - When an order of stay had been made, same has to be implemented - In this case, course adopted by Upa-Sarpanch is impermissible and same cannot be sustained - Present Sarpanch who had obtained order of stay from Govt., be given charge till statutory appeal is disposed of on merits. A.Jagan Reddy Vs.Govt. of A.P. 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 53.

A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994:

—Secs.153 and 153-A – Elections of Member (Co-opted) and President/Vice President of Mandal Parishad and Member(Co-opted) and Chairperson and Vice Chairperson of Zilla Praja Parishad, G.O. Ms.No.173, Rule 11(5) - Reasons given by Presiding Officer in her orders are identical with those contained in legal opinion of Government Pleader - Thus, it is clear that Presiding Officer did not independently apply her mind to issue and was clearly influenced by legal opinion obtained by her from Government Pleader - A reading of Rule 11(5) of Act indicates that it is Presiding Officer alone who should consider explanation given by a Member who is alleged to have disobeyed whip and it does not empower him (her) to outsource his (her) decision making responsibility or abdicate the same in favour of a third party or act under the dictation of a third party - Such conduct amounts to acting in defiance of fundamental principles of judicial procedure - In the context of these facts, the existence of alternative remedy u/Sec.153-A of the Act to challenge order of this nature passed by Presiding Officer would not be a bar to entertaining the present writ petition – Presiding Officer/R3 abdicated it's responsibility conferred on Presiding Officer under Act, impugned orders deserve to be set aside and are accordingly set aside – Directions issued to District Collector & District Election Authority , in exercise of power conferred under sub-Rule(1) of Rule 3 of Act, shall authorize any other responsible Gazetted Officer of Government to decide issue of alleged violation of whip by the petitioners. Muni Krishna Vs. The State Election Commission 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 11 = 2015(1) ALD 485 = 2015(2) ALT 500.

—Secs.265(1) & 265 - Petitioner's term as Sarpanch expired in 2000 - 5th respondent elected as Sarpanch and he lodged complaint against various irregularities committed by Grampanchayat during tenure of petitioner - Collector issued show cause notice to petitioner basing on report of Sub-Collector for proceeding against petitioner for alleged misuse of certain amount - Inspite of explanation submitted by petitioner Collector passed impugned order directing recovery duly surcharging petitioner - Court while admitting writ petition stayed impugned order on condition of deposit of certain amount - 1st respondent/Collector filed counter affidavit after lapse of 8 years opposing writ petition relying on Sec.265 of Act which provided for an alternative remedy by filing appeal to Govt., against orders of 1st respondent/Collector - A plain reading of Sec.265 would show that competent authority can exercise power u/Sec.265 and order recovery of amounts only when two conditionalities exist - When there is a loss, waste or misapplication of any money or property of Grampanchayat and such a thing is direct consequence of misconduct or gross neglect on part of Sarpanch, Collector can initiate action u/Sec.265(1) of Act - It is abundantly clear that unless and until decision maker after compliance with rule of audi alteram partem arrives at a conclusion that loss, waste or misapplication of Grampanchayat funds is a direct consequence of misconduct or gross neglect of Sarpanch, there cannot be any order of recovery of amount u/Sec.265(1) of Act - In this case, without giving any reason, in one go District Collector came to conclusion that petitioner misappropriated certain amount - Such method and manner of considering allegations is not contemplated u/sec.265(1) of Act - As very exercise of power is not in accordance with Sec.265 (1) of Act it must be held that order suffers from malic in law- Writ petition, allowed - Petitioner entitled to recover amount deposited by her. Adduri Surya Subhadrayamma Vs. The Collector, E.G.District, 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 300 = 2010(4) ALD 486 = 2010(5) ALT 481.

A.P. PETROLEUM PRODUCTS (LICENSING AND REGULATION OF SUPPLY) ORDER, 1980:

—-"Hawker" - Petitioner/Hawker's Kerosene Licence was cancelled by 2nd respondent - Special Commissioner, Civil Supplies granted interim stay against order of 2nd respondent - Not withstanding said order 1st respondent/Tahsildar not supplying kerosene to petitioner for sale - It is bounden duty of 1st respondent to respect order passed by superior authorities, more so when such orders were passed in exercise of their quasi-judicial powers - If such orders are defied by implementing agencies, Authority, whenp assed order, cannot remain a silent spectator driving citizens to avail remedies like filing writ petition - Conduct of respondent/Tahsildar in ignoring order passed by competent Authority does not augur well in a society governed by rule of law - Special Commissioner will take note of conduct of 1st respondent/Tahsildar in ignoring his order and do needful in redressing grievance of petitioner. Marapu Subba Rao Vs. The Tahsildar, Mandavalli, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 59 = 2011(2) ALD 309 = 2011(3) ALT 21.

—Cl.7 - A.P. PETROLEUM RULES, 2000, Rule 152 (1)(iii) - Rejection of Application for renewal of Form-B license - Petitioner/Firm running petroleum retail outlet - 4th respondent/Joint Collector rejecting petitioner's Application for renewal as it has failed to submit valid lease agreement over land - Disputes arose between legal heirs of original lessor, as result of which fresh lease deed was not executed by them in favour of petitioner-firm - Petitioner however applied for renewal of licence - No statutory provision prescribed production of lease deed by existing licensee before licensing Authority, as a condition precedent for renewal of its licence - In law, a Partnership Firm is compendium of partners, as it has no separate legal existence - 5th respondent who is partner of petitioner/ Firm is admittedly one of sons of original lessor, his right to be in possession of subject property cannot be disputed unless a competent Court of law in properly constituted proceedings declares that he has no rights over said property - Right of 5th respondent and other co-owners is inchoate as of now - In absence of provision stipulating production of lease deed as a condition precedent for renewal of licence, action of 1st respondent in declining to renew licence is unsustainable in law - Impugned proceedings of 4th respondent, set aside - 1st respondent/IOC is directed to consider petitioner's application for renewal without insisting on production of lease deed - Petitioner shall be permitted to run retail outlet till disposal of renewal Application. Sri VenkataNarayana Filling Station, Vs. I.O.C. 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 92 = 2012(6) ALD 56.

—Cl.8 - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, Sec.6-A - Petitioner LPG Distributor while transporting 300 LPG cylinders through his truck, Authorities of Vigilance Department intercepted and seized truck along with cylinders on ground that truck not registered as per Form-F, with Collector, Civil Supplies - District Collector passed orders directing petitioners to furnish security for Rs.5 lakhs for release of seized stock - Petitioners contend that in respect of truck attached to Corporation for transportation of LPG gas, Registration with licensing Authority and obtaining licence in Form-F is not necessary and that Clause 8 of Petroleum Products Order itself exempts trucks attached to Oil Companies for transportation of packed cylinders from Corporation's Plant to Distributors godown - In this case, petitioners' truck is being operated under transport agreement entered by petitioners with Corporation for transport of packed cyliners from Corporation's plant - Collector insisting petitioner to furnish cash security of Rs.5 lakhs, not justified - Order of Collector to extent of directing petitioners to furnish cash security, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Sri Padma Srinivas Gas Agency Vs.The District Collector,Kakinada 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 43 = 2013(4)ALD 243 = 2013(5) ALT 22.

—Cl.28, 1 & 2 AND 12 (i)(ii)(iii) - LPG (REGULATION OF SUPPLY AND DISTRIBUTION), ORDER, 2000 - Cl.3((4), SCHEDULE (1), Condition 5, Cl.4(2), 7(1) (b) and 10 - Petitioner's licence suspended for alleged contravention of provision of LPG order - In this case, petitioner approached High Court at interlocutory stage of proceedings suspending licence by Joint Collector who is licensing authority, pending enquiry and no conclusive findings are recorded against petitioner as yet - Petitioner contends that Joint Collector/licensing authority is under obligation to issue notice and provide opportunity to petitioner to defend his case and since opportunity being mandatory cannot be dispensed with even in case where licence is suspended pending enquiry - It is true that licensing authority under Control Order cannot pass interim orders or suspending licence on ground of mere pendency of enquiry under 6-A of Essential Commodities Act - In instant case. facts are different - Respondent/Joint Collector considered report of inspecting team with reference to Control Order and conditions of licence and passed impugned order and in said impugned order has clearly stated that suspension of licence has been ordered pending enquiry - Considering inspection report and gravity of allegations respondent has suspended licence of petitioner, complying requirements of Cl.28(2) - Impugned order - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. M/s. Sri Sai Baba Agencies Vs. State of A.P., 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 244 = 2011(6) ALD 802.

—AND CONSTITUTION OF INDIA: —Arts.12 & 19 (1) - Petitioner, Firm wholesale dealer in kerosene entered into dealership agreement with HPCL in 1975/1976 and obtained licence under Petroleum Control Order - HPCL allotting kerosene to petitioner's, Firm as per orders of Joint Collector - Since all partners of Firm died stock withheld by impugned Memo issued by 1st respondent, Collector (Civil Supplies) - Admittedly dealership agreement terminated by HPCL on death of partners and dealership agreement expired on 17-11-2006 - Unless and until dealer has a valid dealership agreement, grant/renewal of licence under Petroleum Product Control Order does not arise - As dealership agreement expired on 17-11-2006 and as per Cl.33 thereof, and even if Firm survived death of three partners, in absence of any dealership agreement, District Collector cannot be directed to continue to unllocate kerosene oil to petitioner - Writ petition, dismissed. Kotha Sudheer Vs. The Collector (Civil Supplies) Karimnagar 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 19 = 2010(3) ALD 492 = 2010(4) ALT 213 = AIR 2010 (NOC) 887 (AP).

A.P. PREVENTION OF DANGEROUS ACTIVITIES OF BOOTLEGGERS, DACOITS, DRUG OFFENDERS, GOONDAS, IMMORAL TRAFFIC OFFENDERS AND LAND GRABBERS ACT, 1986:

—Sec 2(a), 3 & 9 – Detaining Authority after considering material formed opinion that Detenu was engaged in preparation sale of illicitly distilled liquor which would have adverse effect in maintenance of public order and also is a source for grave and wide spread danger to public health and consequently passed detention order - State Government accorded approval to said detention order in terms of Sec.3(3) of Act - Subsequently Advisory Board tendered opinion that there is sufficient cause for preventive detention of detenu - Petitioner, wife of Detenu filed present Writ Petition challenging said detention order - In view of principles enunciated by Apex Court in Rekha's case etc., it emerges that so long as the ordinary criminal law is adequate to deal with the offences said to have been indulged in by a detenu, then, using the power of preventive detention without subjecting the detenu, to procedure of free and fair trail does not fit into the constitutional scheme of guaranteed liberty - Periodical involvement of the detenu in various excise offences at regular interval, which have been chronicled in the Detention Order do not lend support for the Detaining Authority to pass a Preventive Detention Order against husband of the petitioner – Writ Petition allowed at admission stage. Sheela Bai Vs. The State of A.P. 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 347 = 2014(1) ALD (Crl) 1005 AP = 2014(4) ALT 22.

—-Sec. 2 (g) - This writ petition is preferred by the wife of the detenu challenging the correctness and legality of the detention order passed by the Commissioner of City Police, which order of detention is confirmed by the State Government through their orders.

Held, however, as this Court have noticed the 9 instances which the Commissioner of Police has based his satisfaction upon are the events that took place in a span of 6 to 7 months - Thereafter, the detenu was apprehended, and he was remanded to judicial custody and by several orders passed by the competent criminal courts, he was granted bail - It is not the case of the Commissioner of Police that the detenue was not complying with the conditions of grant of such bail or that he was misusing such liberty - Detention order was passed nearly 6 ½ months away from the last of the events reported - Therefore, there was a loss of continuity in between the events and the order of detention - Instances relied upon for arriving at the subjective satisfaction must be proximately close to the order of detention and they cannot be far remote and removed (See Union of India Vs. Paul Manickam (2003 (8) SCC 342) - In instant case, the events are all far remote and removed to the order of detention – This Court, therefore, satisfied that this is a case where the order of detention should be set aside for this reason only - Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed setting aside the detention order passed by the Commissioner of Police. G.Neeraja Vs. State of Telangana 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 123 = 2016(1) ALT 362 = 2016(1) ALT (Crl) 313 (AP) = 2016(1) ALD (Crl) 141.

—Secs.2(g) and 3(2) - Writ petition is instituted by wife of detune challenging validity of the orders passed by the Commissioner of Police preventively detaining her husband - Commissioner of Police, Hyderabad City, in exercise of power available to him u/ Sub-Sec.2 of Sec.3 of Act, passed the order on 28.05.2015 for preventively detaining petitioner's husband - In grounds of detention passed on same day, Commissioner of Police has referred to 6 different instances of involvement of accused in one crime or the other, for purpose of recording his subjective satisfaction that detenu answers description of 'goonda' as defined by Sec.2(g) of the Act and that he deserves to be detained to prevent him from indulging in similar acts any further - Held, it is true that detenue has been indulging in one serious crime or other at regular intervals - It could also be true, as is reflected in file, that detenue may have been subjected to externment twice for his brazen law breaking activities - But those are all various infractions of law indulged in routinely by detenue - May be, Stat is not able to secure conviction as witnesses cited by them are turning hostile and consequently the detenue must be escaping from clutches of law - But those factors cannot be bundled and proje-cted as affecting public order - As was already noticed by us, every infraction of law is liable to be perceived as a disturbance to law and order and it may lead to disorder - That might itself is not a sufficient ground for invoking extraordinary power of preventive detention - Constitutional aim and guarantee of liberty of the individual has got to be protected carefully - In our view, four out of six grounds which have been narrated as creating panic and insecurity in minds of even police personnel have vitiated subjective satis-faction arrived at by Commissioner of Police – This Court, therefore, of opinion that order of preventive detention cannot be sustained and accordingly, the detenue be set free immediately - Writ petition stands allowed. Hameeda Begum Vs. State of Telangana 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 356.

A.P. PREVENTION OF DANGEROUS ACTIVITIES OF BOOTLEGGERS, DACOITS, DRUG OFFENDERS, GOONDAS, IMMORAL TRAFFIC OFFENDERS AND LAND GRABBERS ACT, 1986:

—Secs.3(1) & (2), r/w Sec.2(a)&2(b) - A.P. EXCISE ACT - A.P. PROHIBITION ACT - Petitioner's husband detained by order passed by District Collector for repeated contraventions of AP. Excise and A.P. Prohibition Acts, which was approved by Govt. - Subsequently, basing on Report of Advisory Board, Govt., confirmed order directing that detention be continued for period of 12 months - In the grounds of communication three instances of alleged acts constituting offences under A.P. Excise Act and A.P. Prohibition Act are narrated and detenu found to be illicitly distilled liquor, unfit for human consumption and injurious to health and matter is still pending under investigation - In all three cases detenu is said to have been granted bail - Petitioner contends that order of detention passed by Collector is vitiated for non-application of mind - Grant of bail for detenu in all three cases is vital factor to be taken into consideration before his detention could be ordered, but same was ignored and copies of bail applications and bail orders were not served on detenu alongwith grounds of detention - Repeated indulgence in crime offending public health taking advantage of grant of bail is gravamen of charge made against detenu - Therefore it cannot be said that there was non-application of mind on part of 1st respondent, Collector to factum of grant of bail to detenu in three cases - Order of detention passed by District Collector as confirmed by Govt., - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. Sathupathi Amaravathi Vs. District Collector & Kadapa 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 369 = 2010(1) ALD (Crl) 605 (AP) = 2010(2) ALT 625 = 2010 Crl. LJ (NOC) 846 (AP).

—Secs.3(1) & (2), r/w 2(a) & (b) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.22 - Order of detention passed, alleging that petitioner's son detenue indulging in activities of boot legging and manufacture and supply of illicit liquor - Petitioner contends that though six cases referred to in order only three cases constituted basis of grounds and that order of detention is clear case of non-application of mind and also discloses that irrelevant considerations were taken into account - Act empowers Authority, to pass an order of preventive detention with reference to several activities such as boot legging, decoity, goondaism, immoral traffic, land grabbing etc - In this case order of detention is passed by invoking power u/ Sec.3(1) & (2) of Act that detenue is acting in a manner prejudicial to maintenance of public order by resorting to acts of boot legging - Therefore, proper basis must exist with reference to those activities, in order of detention - Second respondent based his opinion or subject to satisfaction only on three cases, which constituted subject matter of grounds and he states that other three cases were mentioned in order of detention, only to state historical background of detenue - If an order of detention is passed on basis of certain number of events and one or some of them are found to be irrelevant or not taken into account, by detaining Authority, whole order becomes vitiated ".....even if one of grounds or reasons which led to subjective satisfaction of detaining Authority is non-existent or misconceived or irrelevant, the order of detention would be invalid and ..." - Impugned order of detention passed by 2nd respondent and approved by 1st respondent, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Pamula Pitchaiah Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 431 = 2008(1) ALD (Crl) 793 AP = 2008(3) ALT 243 = 2008(2) ALT(Crl) 361 AP.

A.P. PREVENTION OF DANGEROUS ACTIVITIES OF BOOTLEGGERS, DACOITS, DRUG OFFENDERS, GOONDAS, IMMORAL TRAFFIC OFFENDERS AND LAND GRABBERS ACT, 1986:

—Sec.3(1) & (2) r/w Sec.2 (a) & (b) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.32 - "Writ of Habeas Corpus" - Petitioner filing petition seeking production of his grand-son who is detained in Central jail pursuant to impugned orders of District Collector as confirmed by Chief Secretary Govt. of A.P for alleged frequent involvement in trafficking of illicit liquor - Petitioner contends that conduct of previous history relating to conduct or involvement of detenu in such offences ought not have been relied on at all and in all three cases, which were actually relied on for passing impugned order of detention, detenu was recently acquitted and that in order of detention, Competent Authority ought not have made remarks about conduct of detenu and that conduct on part of Competent Authority is prejudicial to interest of detenu and that comments passed by competent authority against detenu are absolutely not relevant or essential and hence impugned order of detention, liable to be set aside - Govt., contends that remarks passed by competent authority are only passing remarks and they are not capable of vitiating order of detention and that mentioning of previous history of detenu, even though not relevant, cannot be treated as totally irrelevant - "Power of preventive detention is qualitatively different from punitive detention - An order of preventive detention may be made with or without prosecution and in anticipation or after discharge or even acquittal - Pendency of prosecution is no bar to an order of preventive detention - An order of preventive detention is also not a bar to prosecution" - Some times competent authority, while recording his satisfaction and assigning reasons, may have to make certain passing remarks or cite certain instances - So long as they are not made basis for passing order of detention, have to be treated only as passing remarks and such remarks cannot vitiate proceedings of competent authority nor can be taken advantage of by detenu - These types of hyper technicalities shall not defeat object of prevention of illegal activities under Act - Impugned order of detention -Neither illegal nor irregular - Writ petition, dismissed. E.Ratnam Vs. State of A.P. 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 390 = 2010(1) ALD(Crl) 104(AP) = 2010(1) ALT 160 = 2010(1) ALT(Crl) 319 (AP).

—Sec.3(1) & (2) - A.P. FOREST ACT, Secs.20, 29 & 44 - A.P. SANDLE WOOD AND RED SANDOR WOOD TRANSIT RULES, Rule 3 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.378 & 379 - Cases are pending trial, considering illegal activities of Detenu resulting in willful destriction of red sanders trees which is an endangered spices damage to public property resulting in green cover and loss of national wealth prejudicial to maintenance to public order disturbing peace tranquility and social harmony in Society and as Forest Laws and ordinary law under which detenu is being prosecuted are not sufficient to deal with him firmly, Detainning Authority ordered detention of detenu in prison Govt., confirmed order of detention passed by Collector/Respondent No.1, petitioner filed Petition questioning order of detention - Petitioner contends that 8 cases registered against detenu for offences punishable under Forest Act and IPC which formed basis for order of detention, are false and that out of said 8 cases he was arrested and released on bail in 5 cases, while in 3 cases he has not been arrested and that detaining Authority in order of detention except stating that detenu was arrested and released on bail in 5 cases, has not considered bail application filed by detenu and effect of bail orders passed therein because they are not placed before him by Sponsoring Authority and therefore order of detention suffers from subjective satisfaction and non application of mind by Detaining Authority and that if one of grounds of detention is found to be irrelevant, then order of detention is liable to be set aside - Preventive detention is not punitive but only preventive and therefore before passing order of detention against a person which takes away is liberty Detaining Authority has to satisfy for itself whether there is sufficient material placed before him to prevent person from acting in a manner prejudicial to public order or like, in near future and that if any of grounds of detention is found to be irrelevant which formed basis for passing order of detention, then order of detention is liable to be quashed - Apex Court held bail application and bail order were vital materials for consideration and if those were not considered satisfaction of Detaining Authority itself would have been impaired - In this case, there is no doubt offences inwhich detenu is said to be involved are serious in nature, but it is unfortunate to note that Sponsoring Authority has not placed relevant materials particularly bail applications moved by detenu and bail orders granted and conditions on which bail was granted, before Detaining Authority to enable him to arrive at subjective satisfaction - In as much as bail applications and bail orders which are vital documents were not placed by Sponsoring Authority before detaining authority to arrive at subjective satisfaction - Having regard to settled law if one of grounds of detention which formed basis for passing order of detention is found to be bad, order of detention is liable to set aside - Order passed by 1st respondent/Detaining Authority as confirmed by 2nd respondent/Govt., cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside - Writ petition, allowed. V. Muragesh Vs. The Collector & District Magistrate, Chittoor, 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 282 = 2013(1) ALD (Crl) 408(AP) = 2013(1) ALT 176 = 2013 Crl.LJ 585 (AP).

—Secs.3(1) and (2) read with Sec.2(g) - This Writ of Habeas Corpus is filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, seeking to direct the respondents to produce Bathini Tirumala, presently detained in Central Prison, before this Court and to set him at liberty forthwith by ordering his release by declaring the order of detention dated 20.12.2014, passed by the 2nd respondent-District Collector, Chittoor, in Roc.No.C2/7269/2014, as confirmed in G.O.Rt.No.543, General Administration (Law and Order) Department, dated 23.02.2015, issued by the 1st respondent-State, as illegal and arbitrary - Impugned order of detention passed by the 2nd respondent, as confirmed by the 1st respondent, is mainly questioned on ground that detaining Authority has arrived at subjective satisfaction basing on five crimes registered against detenu on the ground that his activities are prejudicial to the maintenance of public peace and law and order - It is case of petitioner that Sec.3 of the Act empowers the detaining authority to pass an order of detention only in cases where such authority arrives at subjective satisfaction that the activities of detenu are prejudicial to the maintenance of public order only and that law and order cannot be the subject matter of said Act - Thus, it is the case of petitioner that the detaining authority has travelled beyond the scope of the Act and passed order of detention referring to the material that is not relevant for detention under the Act - Held, though the instances of several crimes registered against the detenu are made basis for passing an order of detention, the non-supply of material which is relied on for passing such order, is fatal and this Court of the view that by not supplying such material, the detenu is deprived of his right to make an effective representation, guaranteed under Article 22(5) of the Constitution - Order of detention is passed traversing beyond the powers conferred under Section 3(1) and (2) of the Act, on premise that activities of detenu are prejudicial to the maintenance of law and order, and further, as the petitioner is deprived of his right to make an effective representation by not supplying the translated copies of material relied on for passing the order of detention in Tamil, which is the language known to the detenu, the said order is fit to be declared as illegal - Accordingly, this Court allowed writ petition by quashing the order of detention dated 20.12.2014, and direct the respondents to release the detenu forthwith. V.Muthuvelu Vs. State of A.P. 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 272.

—Sec.3(1) (2), r/w 2(a) (g) AND 7- A.P. FOREST ACT, Secs.20,27,29 & 59 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.34, 107,120-B and 379 - A.P. SANDERS WOOD AND RED SANDERS WOOD TRANSIT RULES, 1970, Rule 3 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.82 to 86 - Collector & District Magistrate passed order of detention against one Anantha Kishore, S/o Srinivasulu, on ground that detenu was habitually involved in commission of forest offences and it was approved by Govt. - Petitioner, wife of detenu filed writ petition directing respondents to release her husband namely Durgam Subrahmanyam, S/o Gangisetty contending that person named in order of detention is not her husband and her husband's name is Durgam Subrahmanyam, S/o Gangisetty and not Anantha Kishore, S/o Srinivasulu as mentioned in order of detention and that her husband has no aliases and that pressure from higher authorities made her husband a scapegoat and by tying aliases to name of her husband and lodging her husband in Central Prison is illegal and arbitrary and that order of detention passed by Collector is without application of mind and that order of detention lacks subjective satisfaction of detaining Authority - Collector & District Magistrate contends that detention order would not be executed for nearly 5 and half years because detenu was absconding or concealing his presence to avoid his detention by changing name and address frequently and that detenu who is taken into custody and detained in prison is very same person against whom order of detention is passed and that there is no mistake in identity of detenu who is husband of petitioner - District Collector further contends that order of detention as approved by Govt., upon satisfying for himself that his activities were causing dangerous alarm and insecurity, and there by causing loss of national wealth to endangered and endemic species of red sandard wood and thereby affecting public order, and therefore it cannot be said that order of detention is not based on his subjective satisfaction - From contents of counter filed by Forest Range Officer, it is clear that alleged detenu who is involved in forest offences was also being called by name "Takku Subrahmanyam" - Collector in his counter admitted that during investigation of above said crime it came to light that detenu was also called by name Takku Subrahmanyam - Contention of petitioner that there is a mistaken identity of detenu and that her husband namely Durgam Subrahmanyam, S/o Gangisetty, who is detained in prison in execution of order of detention passed by Collector as approved by Govt., is not person against whom order of detention has been passed cannot be accepted - Hence that husband of petitioner, Durgam Subrahmanyam, S/o Gangisetty who is detained in prison in execution of order of detention is very same person against whom impugned order of detention is passed by Collector - DELAY IN EXECUTING ORDER OF DETENTION - Order of detention has to be executed forthwith, else it would have effect of vitiating not only order of detention, but also subjective satisfaction of authority which has passed that order - However if delay in execution of order of detention has been caused or occasioned due to recalcitrant or refractory conduct part of detenu in evading arrest, then order of detention would not be vitiated - In this case, it is clear that except constituting such teems and sending remainders, Collector has not taken any steps what soever muchless u/Sec.7 of Act to declare detenu as proclaimed offender or attach his properties so as to secure his arrest - Collector failed to explain delay in executing order of detention adequately much less satisfactorily - In this case delay in executing order of detention as occasioned not on account of refractory or recalcitrant conduct of detenu, because of inaction of Forest Officials in executing order of detention - Considering fact that long delay of 5 and half years in execution of order of detention has occasioned on account of callous attitude of respondents and not because recalcitrant and refractory conduct of detenu in evading arrest and delay having not been explained adequately, order of detention not only vitiated, but also reflected upon subjective satisfaction of detaining authority, giving rise to a legitimate inference that detaining authority was not really and genuinely satisfied about necessity of detaining of detenu, preventing him from acting in a prejudicial manner - Hence order of detention cannot be sustained and in liable to be set aside - Writ petition, allowed. M.Nirmala Vs. Govt., of A.P., 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 79 = 2012(2) ALD(Crl) 9(AP) = 2012(5) ALT 178.

—Secs.3(1), r/w 3(2) & 6 - FOREST ACT - INDIAN PENAL CODE - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.14,21 & 22(5) - District Collector ordering detention of petitioner under Sec.3(1) r/w 3(2) - 3rd respondent/Divisional Forest Officer submitted proposals to District Collector reporting that petitioner identified as one of kin pins who was responsible for financing process of felling trees and also smuggling same to other places and about 11 cases are registered against petitioner for various offences under Forest Act and also under Penal Code - Petitioner is shown as accused in all cases and an earlier order of detention is also passed in year 2006 - Petitioner contends that there is no application of mind by detaining authority as all relevant material not placed before detaining authority at time of passing detention order and that petitioner was granted conditional Anticipatory bail in all offences in month of May 2012, and said orders not placed before detaining authority at time of passing detention order i.e. on 25-6-2012 and that activities of the petitioner does not fall within meaning of "Goonda" as defined under Act and that since order of detention emphatically says that petitioner was involved in serious forest offences such activities do not fall within meaning of "Goonda" and with a view to wreck vengence against petitioner as Hon'ble High Court allowing writ of Habeas Corpus made remarks against officials who are responsible for delay in execution of order of detention - If a person against whom a preventive detention has been passed comes to Court at pre-execution stage and satisfies Court that detention order is clearly illegal there is no reason why Court stood stay its hands and compel petitioner to go to jail event though he is bound to be released subsequently - In this case, sponsoring authority did not place conditional orders granting Anticipatory bail before detaining authority - Which is vital material and which would have weighed with detaining Authority at time of passing detention order and relevant material was suppressed by not placing same before detaining authority - Order of detention, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Durgam Subrahmanyam Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 100 = 2013(2) ALD (Crl) 554 (AP) = 2013(4) ALT 243.

—-Secs.3(1) & 2 - A.P. FOREST ACT, 1967, Secs.20,29 & 44 - A.P. SANDEL WOOD AND RED SANDEL WOOD TRANSIT RULES, 1969, Rule 3 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.378 and 379 - District Collector/1st respondent passed order of detention of detenu in prison for offences punishable under A.P. Forest Act and Indian Penal Code - Advisory Board/2nd respondent confirmed order of detention - Petitioner wife of detenu contends that case registered against detenu for offences punishable under Forest Act and Penal Code which formed basis for 1st respondent/Detaining Authority to pass order of detention are false and that when order of detention passed, detenu was in judicial custody and bail applications moved by him were dismissed and that detenu has not even been arrested - As detenu was arrested and remand to judicial custody in two cases and bail application moved by him having been dismissed possibility of his coming out of jail in near future and indulging in activities that are prejudicial to maintenance of public order, disturbing peace, tranquility and social harmony in society does not arise - Respondent/Detaining Authority/Collector submits that detenu has committed as many as five offences over a period of 3 years and as forest laws and ordinary penal laws under which he is prosecuted are unable to curb his illegal activities, respondent /Detaining Authority to prevent detenu from commission of such offences has passed order of detention - In this case, it is alleged that detenu is involved in 5 forest offences which are alleged to have been committed by him - No doubt forest offences alleged to have been committed by detenu cover, loss of national wealth and his activities are prejudicial to maintenance of public order, disturbing peace tranquility and social harmony in society - Since before passing order of detention 1st respondent/Detaining Authority has not even bothered to verify as to in how many cases, detenu was arrested and in how many cases he moved bail application and in how many cases he was released on bail and in howmany cases bail applications moved by him were dismissed and same suffers from his lack of SUBJECTIVE OF SACTIFACTION - As 1st respondent Detaining Authority without applying his mind to this aspect of matter has passed order of detention while detenu is in judicial custody and hence same cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside - While dealing this matter High Court noticed that Detaining Authority for passing order of detention against detenu, inter alia took into consideration following ground: The penal laws have failed to curb his illegal activities; certainly, "he is able to manage bails and relief from the courts through his ill-gotten money" and will continue indulging in prejudicial activity, which is required to be prevented by a detention order - A plain reading of the italicized portion of sentence conveys negative meaning and it conveys meaning that detenu in securing bails by managing courts with his ill-gotten money - By employing such sentence in order of detention 1st respondent/Detaining Authority inteded to attribute motives to Courts - As said sentence imputed motives to judiciary, sought to undermine and scandalize judicial institution, AGP directed to bring fact to notice of Advocate general and ask to appear in matter and instruct officers concerned to appear before Court along with record - While accepting unconditional apology tendered by Detaining Authority and is directed that he should be very careful while orders of detention and in filing affidavits before Courts of law. V.Rani Vs. The Collector & District Magistrate,Y.S.R.Dt., 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 286 = 2013(2) ALD (Crl) 65 (AP) = 2013 Crl. LJ 1583 (AP) = 2013(3) ALT 665.

—Secs.3 (1) &(2) and 9 - A.P. PROHIBITION ACT, Secs.7-A r/w 8 (e) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.22 & 226 - Preventive detention - District Collector/Competent Authority passing order for alleged involvement of detenu, father of petitioner - Advisory Board passed final order confirming order passed by competent authority, as result of which detenu is directed to be detained for period of 12 months - Petitioner contends that in preamble of impugned order of detention it has been categorically find out by competent authority that alleged detenu is constantly indulging in boot legging activities and he is habitual offender in committing offences under A.P. Prohibition Act and in very same order it is stated that previously he was also arrested in 11 cases and thus he can be called as "boot legger" as defined u/Sec.2(b) and when those 11 cases have been taken into consideration competent authority is under obligation to supply material pertaining to those 11 cases, in which detenu allegedly involved but same not supplied to make effective representation to Advisory Body or Govt. - Advocate General contends that Competent Authority had taken into consideration only 4 cases and other 11 cases cited in impugned order of detention related to past and competent authority had referred it only in a casual manner and since 11 cases were not taken in consideration for purpose of passing impugned order of detention, Competent Authority is not under obligation to supply any material pertaining to those 11 cases - In this case, competent authority relied upon only on four cases that had taken place in year 2007 and other 11 cases that had allegedly taken place from 2002 to 2005 though reference was made, does not have any bearing on impugned order or same are not capable of vitiating impugned order - Competent authority had expressed its satisfaction for passing impugned order of detention basing on 4 cases only - Mere mentioning of certain cases does not necessarily constitute, at all circumstances a reference or reliance - Impugned order of detention and consequential order - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. Pamarthi lakshman Rao Vs.Collector & District Magistrate, Eluru 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 96 = 2008(2) ALD(Crl) 538(AP) = 2008(5) ALT 303.

—Secs.3(1)(2) & Sec.9 and 12 r/w 13 - G.O.RT.NO.1134, Dt.15-3-2011 - Collector passed detention order against detenu for alleged possession of F.J. Wash and possession of I.D liquor basing on three crimes filed against detenu - detenu's father filed writ of "Habeas Corpus" to release his son challenging order of detention - In this case, Govt., referred matter to Advisory Board which opined after investigation and perusing records that there are sufficient grounds for detention of detenu - Govt., considering Report of Advisory Board confirmed order of detention through G.O.R.T.No.1134 and directed detention of detenu for period of 12 months - It is contended that material supplied to detenu does not contain portion of order which imposed conditions and in grounds of detention substance alleged to have been seized is F.J Wash and that there is no material which is unfit for human consumption nor injurious to health and that there was no material to show that detenu was manufacturing I.D liquor - Govt. contends as detenu was caught while he was in possession of F.J Wash which is useful for distillation of I.D liquor and also in possession of I.D liquor, it cannot be said that he is not involved in boot legging activities - Any person who distills, manufacturers stores, transports, imports exports, sells or distributes any liquor intoxicating drug or other intoxicant in contravention of provisions of A.P. Excise Act and Rules made thereunder by himself, or through any other person or who abets in any other manner for doing any such thing, is termed as boot legger and his activities are prejudicial to maintenance of public order - From plain reading of provisions of Act 1 of 1986, object of detention u/Sec.3 is not to punish but to prevent commission of offence - Sub-sec.(1) of Sec.3 allows detention of person only if appropriate detaining authority is satisfied with a view to prevent such person from carrying on of offensive activities enumerated therein, it is necessary to detain such person - Ordinary laws are meant to punish for infraction of law, which has already taken place, Preventive detention is meant not to be by way of punishment, but is intended to prevent person from violating law in future - In this case, all three crimes registered, detenu surrendered before Court on 20-8-2010 and was released on bail and thereafter no incident took place till 7-2-2011, day on which detention order was passed - There is no proximity in detention of detenu and order of detention - In view of delay from date of last crime and date of detention order and in absence of any explanation offered by District Collector for delay occurred in passing detention order and since live connection with last incident; date of detention order; and vital link with offending activity is snapped due to delay in passing impugned detention order - Collector failed to apply his mind in arriving at real and genuine subjective satisfaction necessitating detention of detenu with a view to preventing him acting in manner prejudicial to public order - Detention order liable to be quashed - Writ petition, allowed. Kattuboina Siva Vs. Collector & District Magistrate E.G. District Kakinada 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 234 = 2012(1) ALD(Crl) 79(AP) = 2012(1) ALT(Crl) 70(AP).

—Sec.3(2) - This Writ petition for Habeas Corpus was moved by wife of detenue challenging correctness of orders passed by Collector and District Magistrate, for the preventive detention of Chittikesi Sadashivudu - This order has been passed by the Collector and District Magistrate, exercising power available to her under Sub Section (2) of Section 3 of Act - District Magistrate for arriving at subjective satisfaction has relied upon seven grounds.

Held, there cannot be hard and fast rule or a set standard by which remoteness of events to detention order can be gauged - But, however, statute itself offers some guidance in this respect, when it provided for maximum period of detention to be 12 months under Section 13 of the Act - Therefore, if a person can at best be detained for a maximum period of 12 months, so as to achieve objective of preventing him from taking to dangerous activity, if an event had happened fairly sometime back, say, by a substantive length of this tenure, then such an event cannot be considered as a proximate one at all - As was noticed supra, incidents last of which has been referred to had occasioned 8 months before order of preventive detention passed - Eight months of duration, when compared to tenure of 12 months, one would find that it necessarily amounts to a substantive length of time back - Consequently, we are of opinion that when Court reckon from last of incidents, detention order, lost connectivity because of lack of proximity - It is a settled principle that stale and sterile factors cannot be taken into account and consideration for preventively detaining a person, as was held in Rishikesh Tanaji Vs. State of Maharashtra - In this view of matter, Court find that order of detention passed by Collector is based upon remote events and hence, it is not liable to be justified and as a natural corollary further continuance of detention of detenue is illegal.

For reasons aforementioned, Court in opinion that the further detention of the detenue, pursuant to order passed by Collector and District Magistrate, is unsustainable - Therefore, he shall be set at liberty forthwith, if not required in connection with any other matter. Writ petition accordingly, stands allowed. Chitikesi Shoba Rani Vs. State of Telangana 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 355 = 2016(1) ALD (Crl) 1003 = 2016(3) ALT (Crl) 363 (AP).

—Sec.3(2), r/w Sec.2(a)&(b) - District Collector passed order of detention of petitioners husband recording his satisfaction based upon grounds set out therein - State Govt., confirmed order of detention considering report submitted by advisory Board for period of 12 months - Petitioner contends that order of detention for a period of 12 months passed by State Govt., while confirming order of detention passed by Collector is vitiated, for reason that period which has not been in fact specified by District Collector, has been specified by State Govt., without any application of mind, straightaway proceeded to order for detention for maximum period of detention for 12 months - Proviso to sub-sec.2 of sub-sec.3 of Act must be understood as limiting periods for which State Govt., can consider delegating its power on to District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police as case may be - State Govt., while exercising its power u/Sec.1 of sub-sec (3) of Act, can order for detention, but however in no case it shall exceed 12 months period - Since, same power can also be delegated under sub-(2) of Sec.3, it follows that even delegate can order for detention for period of 12 months - Writ petition not maintainable - Hence, dismissed. Chalamala Rajyalakshmi Vs. The Govt. of A.P., 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 383 = 2010(1) ALD(Crl) 726 (AP) = 2010(2) ALT (Crl) 124 (AP).

A.P. PROHIBITION ACT:

— and CONSTITUTION OF IINIA, Art. 226 - Question referred to this Full Bench is "whether a petition for a writ in nature of Habeas Corpus, under Article 226 of Constitution of India, can be entertained against order of preventive detention passed under provisions of A.P. Prevention of Dangerous Activities of Bootleggers etc., Act or any other enactment authorizing preventive detention?" - Held, object of writ of Habeas Corpus is to secure release of a person who is illegally restrained of his liberty - Where detenu is not in detention, he may pray for a writ in nature of certiorari to quash impugned detention and/or writ in nature of mandamus for restraining authorities from arresting him but once he is arrested a writ of Habeas Corpus is only remedy available against illegal detention - Liberty of a citizen is a precious right, which cannot be transgressed by anyone, including detaining authorities - A person in detention by virtue of order of detention under any enactment authorizing preventive detention or is in illegal detention of any private individual has a right to approach High Court under Art. 226 of Constitution of India in a Habeas Corpus petition and such a petition under Rule 14 (a) of Rules is required to be heard by a Bench of Two Judges. G.Archana Vs. State of A.P., 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 401 = 2015(2) ALD(Crl) 325 = 2015(1) ALT 1 = 2015 Crl. LJ 3946.

A.P. PROHIBITION ACT:

—-Secs.7-A r/w 8(e), 12 & 13 - Present petitioner claiming himself as owner of motorcycle filed petition unnumbered Crl.M.P. u/Sec.451 Cr.P.C. before Additional Judicial First Class Magistrate, seeking interim custody of vehicle, seized by Excise Officials - Said Court returned petition with endorsement that property was not produced before it and hence, petition is not maintainable - Hence present petition.

Held, when scheme of Act with reference to Secs.12 &13 is perused, it is clear that the Deputy Commissioner and Appellate Authority exercise jurisdiction in matter of confiscation of things/ property subject to confiscation u/Sec.12 of Act and to that extent, jurisdiction of Court under Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 is barred - In that view of matter, order passed by learned Additional Judicial First Class Magistrate, in unnumbered Crl.M.P. is impeccable - In result, this petition is dismissed with a direction to petitioner to seek his remedy before Deputy Commissioner of Prohibition and Excise. K.Sasi Kumar Vs. State of A.P. 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 103.

A.P. PROHIBITION ACT:

—Sec.13 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.144 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - EXCISE ACT, Sec.34 to 50-A - Excise Officials seized Goods vehicle financed by petitioner, for its involvement of Commission of offence under Prohibition Act - Pursuant to directions of High Court vehicle released on furnishing Bank guarantee for value of vehicle - 2nd respondent passed order of confiscation - 1st respondent/Commissioner Prohibition & Excise dismissed appeal filed by petitioner - Petitioner was given possession of vehicle since hirer did not pay loan instalment as per agreement - After dismissal of writ petition, petitioner surrendered vehicle to 2nd respondent and submitted Application for release of Bank guarantee - Vehicle not released on ground that petitioner should pay Bank guarantee amount because vehicle produced by petitioner does not fetch such amount and Excise Officials intended to auction vehicle and adjust short fall if any from out of Bank guarantee amount - Hence writ petition seeking direction to respondents for release of Bank guarantee - RESTITUTIONERY JURIS-DICTION OF COURTS - Restitutionery law has many branches - When restitutionery claims are to be found in equity as well as in law in many situations in many areas, an attempt to trace power of restitution only to Sec.144 of CPC is to ignore inherent power of Court to do complete justice between parties - This power can be exercised even in interlocutory matters - CONFISCATION - Defined - When a thing is made confiscable or power is conferred to confiscate goods/things involved in offence, it only means confiscating money value of such goods - Money value of goods is realized by competent authority by selling goods/ things/vehicles confiscated in accordance with power conferred on such authority - Excise Act and Prohibition Act confer power on authorized Officer to confiscate money value of excise contraband or vehicle involved in excise offence, it becomes clear by some provisions in these two enactments - In this case, vehicle involved in excise offence which was financed by petitioner was seized - Subsequently vehicle released on furnishing Bank guarantee for value as estimated by RTO - When order of confiscation was passed such order was to confiscate money value of vehicle as estimated when vehicle was seized - As directed by High Court, money value of vehicle was estimated at Rs.1.75 lakhs and therefore petitioner's vehicle is liable for confiscation of said amount - As vehicle has already been surrendered it has to be auctioned by Excise Department - Any short fall by Rs.1.75 lakhs has to be adjusted and recovered out of Bank guarantee amount - Petitioner not entitled to seek Mandamus for release of Bank guarantee - Writ petition is misconceived and accordingly dismissed. Shri Ram Transport Co., Ltd., Vs. Commissioner Prohibition & Excise, Hyd., 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 148 = 2009(3) ALD 90 = 2009(2) ALT 710.

A.P. (REGULATION OF APPOINTMENTS TO PUBLIC SERVICES AND RATIONALISATION OF STAFF PATTERN AND PAY STRUCTURE) ACT, 1994:

A.P. PROTECTION OF DEPOSITORS OF FINANCIAL ESTABLISHMENTS ACT, 1999:

— Sec.11 - Complaints were received by Commissioner of Police, Hyderabad city against accused Nos. 4 and 5, directors in A-1 Company that they had collected deposits in name of A.1, M/s Garnet Marketing (P) Ltd., Hyderabad and other company and had not refunded their deposits amounting to Rs. 66.71 lakhs and interest theron as agreed and they have committed an offence under said Act and IPC - A Crime number was registered, chargesheet was filed and the government was requested to issue order for attachement of their properties - Likewise, Government issued G.O. Ms. No. 98 under S. 3 of the Act - Commissioner of Police, Hyderabad city, filed application before Metropolitan Sessions Judge, to make ad interim order of attachment as absolute - By an order, the Court below partly allowed that application raising the attachment of the immoveable properties pertaining to M/s. Garnet Marketing Private Ltd., Tarnaka Hyderabad (A-2), but it made absolute attachment pertaining to other properties in Annexure Nos. 1 and 2 - Present appeal is filed against that order - Held, since only material available before the government was opinion of competent authority, i.e., respondent and nothing else, it is clear that the government had acted mechanically on his dictation without independently satisfying itself about accused being unlikely to return the deposits in cash or kind after maturity, or in any other manner agreed upon, and that it was necessary in order to protect the investors that an order of ad interim attachment of the properties of the accused, is warranted - Therefore, it has to be held that there was no independent application of mind by the government as required by Sec. 3 of the Act - View of the court below that the accused did not suffer any prejudice, and therefore, even if sub-section (4) of Section 4 is not complied with, it would only be a procedural irregularity and would not affect the entire case of the prosecution, cannot therefore be accepted - Therefore, this Court of opinion, that non-filing of affidavit of competent authority along with application under sub-section (4) of Section 4 before court below renders the said application a defective application and therefore, in such an application, court below could not have made an order of attachment of properties of the accused absolute - Therefore, for all the above reasons, the Criminal Appeal is allowed and the order of the Court below as well as G.O. Ms. No. 98 Home (General-B) Department dt. 14-05-2007 are set aside. Garnet Finance Limited Vs. The Commissioner of Police, Hyd.,City, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 24 = 2015(2) ALD (Crl) 170 = 2015(2) ALT (Crl) 169 (AP).

A.P. (REGULATION OF APPOINTMENTS TO PUBLIC SERVICES AND RATIONALISATION OF STAFF PATTERN AND PAY STRUCTURE) ACT, 1994:

—G.O.Ms.No.36,dt.5-9-2001 - 'Bread Winner Scheme' - Compassionate appointment - Respondents/dependents of deceased employees of appellants/Corporation filed writ petition seeking direction to Corporation to appoint them as Conductors on compassionate grounds - Appellants contend that by virtue of new scheme, dependents of an employee who dies in harness are entitled to a lump sum amount as ex-gratia - Single Judge directed appellants to appoint respondents as Conductors - Appellant/Corporation contends that because of weak financial condition of Corporation, it is decided to abandon policy with regard to compassionate appointment in pursuance of instructions received from Govt, of A.P., under G.O.Ms.No.36 and request of Corporation also to continue policy with regard to giving appointment to dependents of deceased employees under Bread Winner Scheme turned down by Govt., of A.P. - Hon'ble Supreme Court held that employer cannot be directed to give appointment in contravention to regulation and instructions which govern appointment on compassionate grounds and Court should not be over-sympathetic and should not have other considerations - In instant case, there is no policy with regard to giving appointment on compassionate ground at all and said policy has been dispensed with and now it has been decided to make some ex-gratia payment in lieu of giving compassionate appointment because appellant/Corporation is not financially sound - Order of Single Judge, set aside - Appellant/Corporation directed to make payment of compensation as per its policy - Appeal, allowed. A.P.S.R.T.C. Vs. Valluri Venkata Narayana 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 427.

A.P. REVENUE RECOVERY ACT:

A.P. REVENUE RECOVERY ACT:

—-Secs.2 & 14 - SECURITISATION AND RECONS-TRUCTION OF FINANCIAL ASSETS AND ENFORCEMENT OF SECURITY INTEREST ACT, 2002 - After obtaining Order, in Crl.M.P., respondent No.5 filed WP. - Meanwhile, respondent No.5 approached Chief Judicial Magistrate, by filing Crl.M.P. under Section 14 of the 2002 Act - By order, the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, has allowed the said Crl.M.P. directing that posse-ssion of property shall be delivered by Advocate-Commissioner with help of Police - This order has been challenged in WP- After obtaining Order, in Crl.M.P., respondent No.5 filed WP.

Held, After an elaborate discussion of entire legal position, Supreme Court answered said question in negative and upheld view taken by Kerala High Court to effect that State's first charge over dues has primacy over dues of the Banks, Financial Institutions and Secured Creditors.

In light of afore-noted authoritative pronouncement, this Court have no hesitation to hold that dues claimed by respondent No.1 against respondent No.5 are subject to statutory charge under Section 2 of RR Act and therefore, they have precedence over dues claimed by petitioner from respondent No.5 - It is only after satisfaction of dues of respondent No.1 that petitioner can recover its dues from out of balance sale proceeds - In event respondent No.1 is unable to recover dues to full extent, from out of sale of balance paddy seized by it from respondent No.5- Mill, respondent No.1 is entitled to sell immovable properties such as factory, building etc - It is only after debt of respondent No.1 is satisfied that petitioner is entitled to recover its dues from out of left over properties or balance sale proceeds.

In light of above discussion, Order, in Crl.M.P.No.132 of 2015 on the file of the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Karimnagar, is set aside. Karur Vyshya Bank Ltd., Warangal Vs. Telangana State Civil Supplies2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 293.

A.P. REVENUE RECOVERY ACT:

—Sec.52-A - LIMITATION ACT, Art.137 - STATE FINANCIAL CORPORATION ACT, Sec.29 - "Liability of guarantor" - Company in which petitioner is one of Directors availed loan from respondent, A.P. I.D.Corporation and failed to discharge loans, consequently Corporation issued Demand letters for payment of loan and steps were being taken for recovery of loan amount by way of sale of unit u/Sec.29 of S.F.C Act - For first time letter of demand addressed to petitioner for payment of loan amount with interest - Petitioner denied his liability stating that Corporation not taken action pursuant to notice dated 28-3-1998 and therefore action taken to invoke provisions of Revenue Recovery Act is time barred and unenforceable - MRO initiated proceedings under R.R Act and issued destraint order as per the instructions of District Collector - Petitioner contends that he has resigned from Company and guarantee bonds executed by him are co-terminus with directorship of petitioner and moment he had resigned as Director on 16-10-1989 and guarantee bonds shall be deemed to have been revoked and that no proceedings were initiated against petitioner subsequent to demand notice dt:28-3-1990 which was denied by petitioner and destraint order dt:15-7-1996 is without jurisdiction and claim of Corporation is time barred by limitation and it cannot be permitted to take recourse to Provisions of R.R Act - Petitioner further contends as amount due was not determined 2nd respondent/Tahsildar has no jurisdiction to issue notice under R.R. Act - In this case, liability of guarantor having been crystallized on 28-3-1990 proceedings under R.R Act ought to have been commenced within period of three years - Therefore finding of Single Judge that proceedings for realization of debt having been commenced for realization of dues by sale of mortgaged properties within limitation further proceedings for realization of balance amount by taking recourse to R.R. Act is continuation of process of recovery proceedings initiated earlier, is not correct - Corporation is not prevented from proceeding against petitioner/guarantor simultaneously or independently by initiating proceedings under R.R. Act or by filing civil suit within period of limitation - Having failed to do so Corporation cannot proceed under R.R Act for recovery of time barred debt which is legally unenfor-ceable debt - Contention of Corporation that no period of limitation has been prescribed for recovery of dues of Corporation for instituting proceedings under R.R Act has no merit - Since Sec.52-A of R.R. Act only equates debts of Banks, Govt., Corporations as akin to land revenue and are recoverable on par with land revenue - Thus recovery of land revenue as well as dues falling u/Sec.52-A of RR Act stand on same footing and can be recovered only in accordance with provisions of Limitation Act - Limitation against guarantor/petitioner start to run from 28-3-1990 and would expire by 28-3-1993 and hence proceedings sought to be initiated under R.R Act by letter dt.22-3-1996 of respondent is without jurisdiction - In this case, there is no proper determination of liability of petitioner to Corporation and he was deprived of opportunity to rebut his liability - Contention of petitioner that since guarantee was furnished by him as guarantor same is co-terminus with directorship has also no merit - Guarantee being personal in nature, his liability to pay amount continues notwithstanding with termination of Directorship with Company - Further there is nothing in deed of guarantee that though it was executed in personal capacity of petitioner same would stand terminated on termination or resignation of petitioner as Director of Company - However in this case, there is no proper determination of liability of petitioner to Corporation and he was deprived of opportunity to rebut his liability in full - Though petitioner is not relieved of his liability to Corporation, in view of finding that there is no legally enforceable debt which can be recovered from petitioner as on date of notice issued to petitioner on 22-3-1996 or even on 4-6-1996 when proceedings were initiated by Dist. Collector under RR Act and that there was no proper determination of liability of petitioner to Corporation - Writ petition liable to be allowed and proceedings initiated under RR Act are liable to be set aside as without jurisdiction - Order of Single Judge, set aside - Writ appeal, allowed. K.Raja Rao Vs. A.P. Industrial Deve., Corp., Limited Hyd., 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 55 = 2013(3) ALD 77 = 2013(2) ALT 366.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

A.P. REVISED PENSION RULES, 1980:

—Rules 8 (1) (b), 9(vii), (4) & 52 - Petitioner, UDC in Ministerial Service of Judiciary was charged for tampering of records - Basing on report of enquiry officer after considering written representation, Disciplinary authority imposed punishment of compulsory retirement from service against petitioner and withheld pensionary benefits pending enquiries - Petitioner contends that provisional pension cannot be deferred even on ground of pendency of any enquiry as per Rule 52 and inasmuch as petitioner has accepted punishment of compulsory retirement imposed by impugned proceedings, he is aggrieved only in not settling retirement benefits for which, he is entitled under law - Respondents contend since charges were held proved in enquiry, which are serious in nature, impugned order withholding of pension of petitioner till disposal of those matters is justified - Pension sanctioning authority may, withhold or withdraw a pension or part thereof, whether permanently or for a specified period, if petitioner is convicted of a serious crime or is found guilty of grave misconduct - Pension is not a charity or bounty nor is it a conditional payment solely dependant on sweet will of employer, and that it is earned for rendering a long service and is often described as deferred portion of payment for past services and it is, in fact, in nature of social security plan provided for superannuated Govt. Servant - Once petitioner was allowed to retire compulsorily from service, provisional pension shall be sanctioned in favour of petitioner as provided under Rule 52 of Rules - Respondent/pension sanctioning authority directed to fix and pay provisional pension to petitioner forthwith as per Rule 52 - Writ petition, allowed. M.Tirupathi Rao Vs. The Prl. District Judge, E.G. District, Rajamundry 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 8 = 2010(1) ALD 590 = 2010 (1) ALT 749.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—-Writ of Mandamus is sought in this writ petition to declare the proceeding issued by the 2nd respondent cancelling the pattadar passbooks relating to the property of the petitioner on the application of the 4th respondent as illegal, arbitrary and without jurisdiction and contrary to the provisions of A.P. Rights in Land and Pattadar Passbooks Act, 1971 and direct the respondents 2 and 3 not to take any steps to make entries in Revenue Records including Passbooks of the Petitioner.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

Subject land in the writ petition i.e., Ac. 6.79 cents originally owned by the husband of the 4th respondent -Even according to the counter affidavit filed by the 3rd respondent, the pattadar passbook and title deeds were issued to the 4th respondent during the year 1993 after the death of her husband by the then MRO and RDO - When the 4th respondent proposed to sell the remaining land after gifting a part, the Petitioner objected for the same - 4th respondent filed a complaint before 1st and 2nd respondents and basing on same, 2nd respondent issued notice to petitioner as well as 4th respondent - Petitioner filed photostat copy of unregistered sale deed and promised to submit original record, but never attended enquiry thereafter - The petitioner has not even produced original Will, alleged to have been executed in favour of his father by husband of the 4th respondent - Contents of counter affidavit filed by 3rd respondent were not even contradicted by filing any reply, which goes to show that petitioner's name was entered in revenue records without any basis - No notice was issued to 4th respondent while granting pattadar passbook and title deed to petitioner.

Held, no doubt, basing on application, though not in form of appeal, filed by 4th respondent, impugned order was passed by 2nd respondent - If impugned order is set aside, illegal order, recording name of petitioner and granting of pattadar passbook and title deeds in respect of subject land in writ petition, which is passed without notice to 4th respondent will survive, which will amount to reviving illegal order passed in favour of petitioner, as such, this court is not inclined to interfere with impugned order exercising jurisdiction u/Art. 226 of the Constitution of India - In view of above facts and circumstances, writ petition is liable to be dismissed - Accordingly, this writ petition is dismissed. Vellanki Venkata Subrahmanyam Vs. Government of A.P. 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 408 = 2016(5) ALT 485 = 2016(6) ALD 324.

—Secs.2(2), 3,4, 5 & 9 –"SUOMOTO POWERS OF COLLECTOR" - Petitioner purchased land through registered sale deed and was put in possession of property by vendors and mutation proceedings also have been carried on - While things stood thus petitioner received notice from R3/Deputy Collector, to appear for enquiry basing on proceeding issued by R2/District Collector - Petitioner contends that Collector is not authorised under A.P. Rights in Land and Pattadar Pass Books Act to direct R3 to take up proceedings suo moto and after mutation proceedings earlier carried out and R2/ Collector himself is not authorised under law to issue any such direction - It may be open for him to exercise power under Sec. 9 of Act with respect to any of proceedings, but he is not empowered to issue any such direction conferring sub-ordinate authority suo moto powers de hors Act and since petitioner is a bonafide purchaser for consideration his rights cannot be interfered with - Government contends that Collector being supervisory authority is entitled to direct Sub-ordinate authority to take action - Perusal of Act could leave no manner of doubt, while Collector under Sec. 9 of Act is entitled to suo moto to call for record and take appropriate action in Act, no such suo moto power is conferred on Tahsildar – Allowing such direction to be implemented would amount to conferring of suo moto power by Collector, which otherwise, not available and not given to Collector by statute - Order of R2/Collector, directing 3rd respondent cannot be sustained – Notice issued by 3rd respondent, being in obedience of orders of Collector, same also cannot stand – Writ Petition allowed. M/s.Satya Sai Builders & Developers Vs. The State of Telangan 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 409 = 2015(4) ALD 20 = 2015(2) ALT 581.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Sec.2(7), 4, 5-A & 6 - LAND ACQUISITION ACT,Secs.4(1) &(6) - Petitioner's land admeasuring Ac.4.52 for the benefit of 3rd respondent A.P. Genco - An extent of Ac.15.19 cents of land was notified for acquisition for development of Environmental Belt to Power Station under provisions of Land Acquisition Act - Petitioner's land did not find place in Notification, thus it was out side purview of acquisition proceedings - However, petitioner's land was also taken possession along with notified lands and possession was handedover to respondent A.P. Genco - When petitioner approached R.D.O to pay compensation, Tahsildar was directed to enquire into claim of petitioner and Tahsildar submitted Report confirming that petitioner is rightful owner and pattadar - Despite same, compensation not paid to petitioner - Hence present writ petition seeking direction to initiate proceedings under Land Acquisition Act and pay compensation to him - 1st respondent/District Collector opposed claim of petitioner stating that subject land is Govt., land and petitioner was only occupant and that name of petitioner was entered as pattadar and enjoyer in Revenue Records and also in ROR 1-B Register and Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds were also issued in favour of petitioner - However land was classified as AW - Wet land is register and same is treated as Govt., land since dots (.....) are put against subject land in certain columns of record and therefore petitioner not entitled for compensation under provisions of Act and as such compensation not paid to him - In this case admittedly petitioner was given PPB and TDs identifying as pattadar under ROR Act and his name is mutated in Revenue Records and also ROR 1-B Register - There is statutory presumption in favour of entry is conferred u/Sec.6 of ROR Act until contrary is proved or until it is otherwise amended in accordance with provisions of Act - In the instance case admittedly claim of petitioner was enquired into by Tahsildar and Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds were issued to petitioner duly recording his name as Pattadar - Said documents have not been withdrawn nor entries made there in or altered - Determination of petitioner as pattadar has become final - In this case, only material which respondents seek to relay against petitioner is that in Revenue Register land was classified as AW - wet land and in column against it dots (...) are marked - It is difficult to accept contention of respondents that on basis of such entry land should be treated as Govt., land on more than one occasion it has been held by High Court that mere entries in Revenue Records would not constitute proof of Govts., title - Therefore, claim of respondents 1 & 2 Collector and RDO that land in question is Govt., land shall fail - Petitioner is entitled for compensation for land resumed from him - Directions issued to respondents to initiate process of acquisition and pay compensation to petitioner as per provisions of Land Acquisition Act - Writ petition, allowed. Epuru Seshadri Reddy Vs. The State of A.P. 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 241 = 2013(5) ALD 328 = 2013(5) ALT 450.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.3,4,5,6-A, 8 & 9 - Petitioner got property in question from one G.A who brought up him from age of 10 years and after his demise name of petitioner was entered in records of rights by respondent No.2/RDO - Subsequently in family partition said properties given to him - Respondents 3 & 4 filed revision against correction of entries in revenue records and issuance of PPB and TD in favour of petitioner contending that 2nd respondent corrected revenue records without making enquiry and on basis of wrong entries PPB and TD issued in favour of petitioner - 1st respondent/Joint Collector allowed revision petition inspite of objection taken by petitioners regarding maintainability of revision - Petitioner contend that respondent No.1 Joint Collector has exceeded his jurisdiction in entertaining revision petition filed by respondent No.3 & 4 without availing remedy of appeal and Sec.5 (5) of Act and further contended that neither report of MRO was furnished to petitioner nor opportunity in this regard was given to him to meet findings contained therein - Ordinarily aggrieved person shall not be allowed to bypass appeal remedy and is certainly bound to observe hierarchical discipline in availing remedies as provided in Statutes, this principle is not inviolable - If facts of case, justify an aggrieved party can be allowed to bypass appellate remedy and seek intervention of revisional authority that such power is consecrated in revisional authority is clearly evident from language of Sec.9 which not only confers suo muto revisional power in authority, but also empowers authority to entertain an application from aggrieved party and to call for and examine record of any office subordinate authorities viz., recording authority, MRO or RDO - Provision does not impose any pre-condition that revisional authority shall not exercise his powers until aggrieved party exhausts appellate remedy - Where party has not exhausted its appellate remedy shall be sued sparingly to prevent grave miscarriage of justice and shall not be exercised any regular and routine manner by revisional authority - Petitioner directed to avail remedy of filing a civil suit u/Sec.8(2) of Act - Petitioner can seek amendment of entries in revenue records if he obtains a decree from civil Court - Order of status quo as on today shall be maintained - Writ petition is disposed of accordingly. Kola Satya Rao Vs. The Joint Collector, Vizianagaram 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 165 = 2010(3) ALD 439 = 2010(3) ALT 281.

—Secs.3(3),4(1),5(3) & 5(5) – Writ petitioner challenges order passed by Joint Collector, who remanded matter to R.D.O. - Petitioner made an Application to Tahsildar, seeking certain information for applying P.P.B. – Petitioner filed writ, since Tahsildar not furnished information – High Court directed petitioner, to pursue remedy of Appeal u/Sec.5(5) of Act - R.D.O., dismissed Appeal, observing that subject land in Appeal are patta lands and civil dispute is pending before Civil Courts, prayer of petitioner would be considered after disposal of civil disputes - Joint Collector, remanded revision to R.D.O., to pursue matter/re-enquire and dispose of after outcome of civil suit judgment, if petitioner succeeds in civil suit, may approach R.D.O., or Revenue Authorities for taking up correction of entry in revenue records of rights - Both R.D.O., and Joint Collector, not mentioned in their orders about particulars of civil cases particulars or parties at whose instance cases are pending – According to petitioner no civil cases are pending with regard to property in question – Inspite of repeated request of petitioner, authorities are not furnishing details of pending civil cases – Since no other alternative, petitioner filed present writ petition - High Court observed that once again it cannot solve problem of petitioner – Directed, petitioner to approach Tahsildar, who is primary authority under the Act, seeking information in violation to each survey number vise and to take necessary steps depending upon information that may be furnished – Petitioner also is required to make an application in prescribed format invoking Sec.4(1) of Act, seek mutation of her name in revenue records for issuance of P.P.B. and T.D. – So far as lands, with which petitioner claims right but some one else's name in records, petitioner is required to seek correction of those entries by approaching Tahsildar or Revisional Authority i.e., Collector – Accordingly, writ petition is disposed. T. Rajeswari Vs. The Joint Collector, SPSP Nellore District 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 225 = 2015(5) ALD 601 = 2015(6) ALT 339.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.3, 5(3), 5(5), 8(2) & 9 - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS RULES, 1989, Rules 4 to 9 - Certain Property devolved upon petitioner's husband after death of testator and legatee and since then petitioner has been in possession and enjoyment of property and 3rd respondent/Tahsildar also issued Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds in her favour - 4th respondent filed Application before 3rd respondent/Tahsildar for rectification of entries in records of rights and later filed Revision petition before 1st respondent/Joint Collector u/Sec.9 of ROR Act - Joint Collector entertained Revision and passed orders partly allowing Revision filed by 4th respondent holding that a title dispute arises between parties and therefore he is not competent to settle same and having so held Joint Collector has however, set aside pattadar pass book and title deed issued to petitioner on ground that no recorded evidence was produced by petitioner before 3rd respondent/Tahsildar - Petitioner contends that approach of 1st respondent/Joint Collector is wholly illegal and improper that having held that there is serious dispute and relegated parties to civil suit for adjudication of such dispute, Joint Collector ought not to have set aside pattadar pass book issued to petitioner - Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds having been issued in 2001, 4th respondent has not challenged same by preferring appeal under Sec.5(5) of Act - Joint Collector ought not to have entertained Revision petition more than 8 years after issuance of Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds in favour of petitioner - Provisions of Act laid down procedure for making entries and amendments of such entries in record of rights - After making entries in record of rights following procedure u/Sec.3 of Act, by recording authority, if any person acquires right over any agricultural land through succession survivorship inheritance partition etc. is entitled to approach recording authority intimating acquisition of such right - Thereupon recording authority shall amend/upto date record of rights by following procedure under relevant Provisions of Act - If any person aggrieved by such amendment and updating of record of rights is entitled to question same by filing appeal u/Sec.5(5) of Act and person aggrieved by order passed in appeal has a remedy of Revision u/Sec.9 of Act - In this case, 1st respondent/Joint Collector has committed grave impropriety and serious jurisdictional error in interfering with Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds, stated to have been issued to petitioner as far back as year 2001, having related parties to civil Court - U/Sec.8(2) of Act, a person aggrieved by entries in records of rights is entitled to file a civil suit and under Specific Relief Act - If he succeeds in suit, is entitled to amendment of entries in record of rights in accountancy with decree obtained by him in suit - Impugned order of 1st respondent/Joint Collector cancelling pattadar pass books and title deeds issued in favour of petitioner, set aside - Writ petition, accordingly allowed. Basireddy Rukminamma Vs. The Joint Collector, Kadapa, Kadapa 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 186.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.3(3) 2(6-a), 2(6-b), 2(7) and 3 - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS ACT AND RULES, 1971, Rules 15 to 17 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.300 (a) - MRO issuing Memo to incorporate name of one Y.P in possession column of pahani - Present writ petitioner filed questioning Memo issued by MRO - Petitioner contends that he is owner of said land and same is his ancestral property and that he filed suits and obtained decrees and respondents/defendants produced present Memo of Pahani for year 1999-2000, showing name of YP in possession column and that even certified copies of Pahani petitioner's name appears as possessor and pattadar pass book was also issued in favour of petitioner - Respondents contend that petitioner has got his name incorporated by playing fraud under possessor column and issuance of pattadar pass book denied and that late PY's name has been entered into revenue records after conducting enquiry by RI, MRO has issued impugned Memo incorporating name of YP and writ petition is not maintainable as there is alternative remedy of filing appeal before appellate authority available to petitioner - In this case, it is specific contention of petitioner that for year 1999-2000 petitioner's name was recorded as possessor and pattadar in Pahani and before issuance of impugned Memo, there was no notice issued to him, there was no enquiry conducted by 1st respondent/ MRO - Further issuance of Memo like impugned Memo is alien to provisions of Act - If at all for whatever reason, changes are to be effected in revenue records, provisions governing same are set out in provisions of Act and Rules made there under - Admittedly for year 1999-2000 petitioner's name was appearing as pattadar as well as occupant in revenue records - If any person is affected by an entry in record of right, he is required to apply for rectification to prescribed Officer and such application should be made within a period of one year from date of notification - Further Secs.4 & 5 of Act deals with acquisition of new rights and procedure for intimation and effecting necessary changes in record of rights - Procedure for making application and manner of same are set out in Rules 15 to 17 of Rules which contemplated holding of enquiry, after giving notice to any person referred in application as having right or interest and also to any person whose name has been entered in record as having interest in land and such notice shall be in Form No.5 as prescribed under Rules - After enquiry final orders would be passed which orders would be subject to appeal and revision under Act - If entries in revenue records are altered in manner as set out in Memo, same would create havoc in Society and leaving citizen's property rights to mercy of revenue Authorities depriving them of their valuable propertie's rights guaranteed under Art.300(a) of Constitution of India - This case is a classic example inasmuch as an innocuous memo of nature which has no backing in official records and which cannot be tried to any statutory provision or Rule alleged to have been issued based on a Revenue Inspector's enquiry by Mandal Revenue Officer has caused and created litigation by way of suits and various Interlocutory Applications, Revisions and Civil Miscellaneous Appeals - Petitioner passionately urges basing on judgment of Supreme Court, to initiate appropriate action against Officers responsible for issuance of impugned Memo in utter disregard and flaggerent violation of prescribed procedures putting petitioner to agony and expenditure of fighting litigation to protect his valuable rights - Directed to initiate disciplinary action against MRO and other connected Officers who are responsible for issuance of impugned Memo without following due procedure - Impugned Memo, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Kallem Penta Reddy Vs. Mandal Revenue Officer,Saroornagar Mdl.,R.R.Dist. 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 8 = 2013(5) ALD 471.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Sec.4 - REGISTRATION ACT, Sec.17(2) (vii) and Sec.17(1) (b) & (c) - Present writ petition filed to declare inaction of 3rd respondent/Tahsildar in amending Record of Rights (ROR) by incorporating name of petitioner - Trust as pattadar of certain extent of land - Petitioner is a Joint Venture constituted for purpose of establishment of Medical college - State Govt. issued G.O.Ms.No.1404 thereunder it has agreed for alienation of certain land - Petitioner also remitted amount under challan towards cost of land to Govt., - For starting Medical College one of requirements for grant of permission by Medical Counsel of India(MCI) is filing of document of title of land on which College is proposed to be constructed - In order to establish right of petitioner over land, petitioner has applied to 3rd respondent/Tahsildar for entering its name in ROR in respect of said land - As no action was taken on said application, filed present writ petition - High Court directed respondent/Tahsildar to consider petitioner's request for making necessary entries in ROR and pass order according to law within two weeks - Instead of respondent no.3 passing appropriate order, he, along with other respondents, has filed WVMP seeking vacation of said order - Govt., contends that transfer deeds requires registration and that as petitioner's whole claim of title is based on said transfer same required registration u/Sec.17 of Registration Act and that on facts of this case, Sec.4 of ROR Act which deals with acquisition of rights to be intimated - It is further contended that composition of petitioner/Trust was changed unilaterally by trustees by including family members of Managing Trustree, petitioner is not entitled to mutation of subject land in its favour - Petitioner contends that alienation or allotment of land by Govt. is exempted from registration u/Sec.17(2)(vii) of Act - As petitioner acquired right over property through Govt's., orders, Sec.4 of ROR Act is attracted and that reconstitution of petitioner-Trust is not a relevant factor in considering an application for mutation under ROR Act - By virtue of G.O.Ms.No.116 State Govt., has given a grant of such extent of land in various survey Nos mention there in to petitioner/Trust on strength of this grant, petitioner/Trust is entitled to claim mutation of its name in ROR - Contention of Govt., that petitioner/Trust is not entitled for mutation of land on ground of alteration of its composition cannot be countenanced - So long as Trust deed under which petitioner-Trust was constituted, remains in force and allotment made in its favour subsists, respondent No.3/Tahsildar cannot refuse to incorporate name of petitioner/Trust in ROR - As an authority vested with power to effect change in ROR Tahsildar is no way concerned with change of composition of petitioner/Trust - Contention of Govt., that State Govt., has decided to cancel MOU and that letter was addressed to that effect to EO, TTD and 2nd respondent, are only subsequent events and that subsequent event has no bearing on issue raised in present writ petition - So long as MOU and allotment of land are not cancelled, 3rd respondent/Tahsildar cannot refused mutation in favour of petitioner - Tahsildar is directed to forthwith mutate name of petitioner-Trust in ROR in respect of various extents of lands in different survey Nos. mentioned in prayer of Writ Petition and communicate same to petitioner-Trust within a period of one week - Writ petition, allowed. Sri Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam Chittoor Vs. Stae of A.P. 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 246 = 2013(5) ALD 244 = 2013(5) ALT 436.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs. 4 & 5(3) - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS RULES, 1989, Rules 19(1) r/w Form VIII and Rule 27 (4) - Petitioners purchased land under registered sale deeds and got mutated their names in Revenue Records and also obtained Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds (PPBs & TDs) - 2nd respondent/daughter of petitioners' vendor filed suit against petitioners and obtained decree - Pursuant said judgment 1st respondent, Tahsildar sanctioned partition in favour of 2nd respondent and directed petitioners to surrender their PPBs/TDs for rectification - Petitioners contend that impugned order of Tahsildar is non est and cannot be enforced as Tahsildar did not issue statutory notice to petitioners - Respondent and Govt. contend that when competent revenue Official alters/modifies records of rights under Rule 27 (4) of Rules in pursuance of a Court decree procedure contemplated u/Sec.5(3) of Act r/w Rules 19 & 22 of Rules is not necessary - If Application is made for amendment of existing entries in Records of Rights, person whose name already exists in such record is entitled to contest proposed amendment - Order passed against person whose name already exists in Records of Rights without giving him notice of proposed amendment and effective opportunity of hearing is liable to be declared, nullity on ground of violation of rule of audi alteram partem - Language of Form IV in which notice is required to be published cannot control interpretation of substantive provision contained in Sec.5 (3), which casts a duty on recording authority to issue notice in writing to all persons whose names are entered in Records of Rights and who are interested in or affected by proposed amendment - In this case, having regard to fact that no notice was issued to petitioners, who were issued PPBs in 2004 and who are enjoying land, order is liable to be set aside - Hence order set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Veeramachaneni Ramchander Rao Vs.Tahsildar, Chityal 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 392 = 2009(2) ALD 432 = 2009(3) ALT 92.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.5-A, 5-A(4), 5-B and 9 - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS RULES, 1989, Rule 22-A - Petitioners are purchasers of certain extents of land under registered and unregistered sale deeds - 2nd respondent/MRO, validated all unregistered sale deeds in his proceedings dated 23-9-1994 - One RS claimed to be adopted son of vendor filed appeal u/Sec.5-A of Act before RDO, pleading that petitioners fabricated unregistered sale deeds and got alienations regularized by playing fraud and that he came to know of regulation of proceedings on 20-7-1995 - RDO entertained Appeal and issued notice to petitioners - Petitioners appeared before appellate authority and placed on record their objections for maintaining appeal after delay of 10 years of order passed u/Sec.5-A of Act - Appellate authority considering material brought on record came to conclusion that Tahsildar committed error in regularizing alienations without there being any validation of sale deeds and thereby proceeded to remand matter back to Tahsildar with direction to conduct detailed enquiry after issuing notice to all concerned and dispose of same on merits - Order of RDO and consequential notice issued by Tahsildar are under challenge in these writ petitions - Petitioners contend that no evidence produced before RDO, to prove that R.S is adopted son of vendor and therefore he is not entitled to question validation proceedings issued by MRO and that appeal filed by R.S before R.D.O is barred by limitation and that R.S had not offered any plausible reasons to entertain appeal after 10 years of proceedings under which alienatins have been regularized by MRO and that RDO, despite plea taken by petitioners with regard to maintainability of appeal filed by R.S did not adjudicate issue as to maintainability and thereby erred in entertaining appeal - In this case, indisputably, alienations basing on sale deeds have been regularized in year 1994, and that appeal u/Sec.5-B of Act shall lie to RDO, against order passed by MRO, validating unregistered sale deeds under sub-clause (4) of Sec.5-A of Act by following procedure laid down under Rule 22-A of APPPB Rules - A plain reading of Sec.5(b) and Rule 22-A of Rules indicates that aggrieved person has to file appeal before RDO within stipulated time and that RDO has not dealt with issue as to maintainability of appeal after 10 long years and he has committed a serious error apparent on face of records in not adjudicating issue as to maintainability of appeal which is crucial one in facts and circumstances of present case - Where there is an error apparent on face of records, existence of alternative remedy of revision u/sec.9 of Act, to question order impugned in writ petitions is not a bar to grant relief under Art.226 of Constitution of India - Hence impugned order in writ petitions is liable to be set aside and matter remanded to RDO for adjudication afresh on maintainability of appeal and thereafter on merits - Three Writ Petitions are allowed. Erroju Brahmachary Vs.The R.D.O., Mancherial 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 274 = 2013(1) ALD 535 = 2013(1) ALT 248.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.5-A, 5-A(1), 5-A(2), 5(5) & 9 - REGISTRATION ACT, Secs.50 & 17 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.67 - Petitioner claims that himself and respondent 4 & 5 jointly purchased certain extent of land in particular suvery number from owner and possessor under registered document - Respondents 4 to 6 claim that they purchased entire land in that survey number - 3rd respondent/MRO passed order recording finding that petitioner failed to produce any documentary evidence in support of his claim - Appellate authority also dismissed appeal filed by petitioner recording finding that original owner who appears before MRO, has denied execution of registered sale deed and confirmed simple sale deed in favour of 4 to 6 - 1st respondent/Joint Collector also rejected revision filed by petitioner on ground that records disclosed that original owner has denied selling of land in favour of petitioner and admitted document executed in favour of respondents 4 to 6 - Petitioner contends that he has purchased land along with respondents 4 to 5 by register sale deed and that inspite of documentary evidence i.e., certified copies of registered sale deed and final decrees of civil Courts, appellate and revisional authorities without considering matter in proper perspective, refused to accept documents merely basing on statement made by original owner who has colluded with respondents 4 to 6 - Petitioner claiming title to portion of land by virtue of registered sale deeds and final decrees passed by civil Court, it is not open for authority constituted u/Sec.5-A of Act, to decide such questions, and therefore, findings recorded are beyond scope of enquiry u/Sec.5-A of Act - Govt. Pleader contends that when original owner himself has denied execution of any registered sale deeds, petitioner cannot make any claim based on such documents - In absence of any documentary evidence to show possession of petitioner, there is no any illegality in orders passed by authorities and that every order under Sec.5-A of ROR Act is intended to regularize such alienations and in absence of any evidence in support of claim of petitioner, there is no illegality committed by authorities in ordering regularization of alienation in favour of respondents 4 to 6 and that when execution of sale deeds is denied, it is for petitioner to prove such alienation in terms of Sec.67 of Evidence Act - In this case, as much as petitioner has put up an independent claim by virtue of registered sale deeds, respondent authorities ought not to have considered claim of respondents 4 to 6 for regularisation of alienation - In view of claim of petitioner, as there was dispute with regard to title itself, MRO is not empowered u/Sec.5-A of Act to record any finding on such complicated questions with regard to title, possession of land in question - MRO, in exercise of powers u/Sec.5-A of Act, is not empowered at all to adjudicate such kind of disputes and such questions are to be decided only by civil Courts but not by authorities under Act - Respondent-authorities have ignored valid registered sale deeds and final decree proceedings of competent civil Court while passing impugned orders and as such they are liable to be set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Pureli Chandraiah Vs. The Joint Collector, Karimnagar, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 239 = 2011(3) ALD 197 = 2011(4) ALT 387.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.5-A, 5(5),8 (2) and 9 - MRO validating 'unregistered partition' deed and declaring 1st respondent as rightful owner of concerned land, simply issuing notice to petitioners - RDO, dismissed Appeal and Joint Collector rejecting Revision, preferred by petitioner against orders of MRO - Contention that order passed by MRO, validating unregistered partition deed and declaring 1st respondent as rightful owner of property, is without jurisdiction and contrary to Sec.5-A of Act and Rules made thereunder and that Sec.5-A cannot be invoked to validate a deed of partition, since no transfer as such, takes place under it - A perusal of order passed by MRO, discloses that he did not go through full facts of case and service of notice virtually was treated as a formality and contentions advanced on behalf of petitioner were not taken into account, at all - When very genuinety of document was disputed, MRO, ought not have taken upon himself, functions of adjudication, into merits of matter - MRO did not have power to entertain Application for validation of 'unregistered partition' deed - Apart from validating document, MRO proceeded to declare that 1st respondent as absolute owner of land - Even where MRO had power to validate a document, his functions cease with validation and question of granting any declaratory relief does not arise and it is purely in realm of civil Courts - MRO committed illegality in declaring that 1st respondent is absolute owner of land - Impugned proceedings - Quashed - Writ petition, allowed. A.Sarojamma Vs. A. Parvath Reddy (died) rep. by LRs 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 243 = 2008(4) ALD 658 = 2008(4) ALT 431.

—Secs.5-A, 5-B, 9 & 8(2) - MRO/3rd respondent issuing Certificate regularizing unregistered agreement of sale executed by 5th and 6th respondents in favour of petitioner/Society - Appeal filed before RDO, after seven years of order passed by MRO u/Sec.5-A - Appellate authority quashed order of MRO exercising powers u/Sec.5 (5) - Joint Collector dismissed Revision filed by petitioner u/Sec.9 of Act - Petitioner contends that MRO after conducting enquiry regularized agreement of sale and thereafter mutation was effected in revenue records entering name of petitioner and therefore order of revisional authority is illegal and unsustainable - 4th respondent contends that questioned property is joint family property and he was a minor at time of alleged agreement of sale and no notice issued to him during course of enquiry u/Sec.5-A and that agreement of sale cannot be regularized u/Sec.5-A - Prior to Sec.5-B of Act came in to force providing remedy of appeal before RDO against order passed u/Sec.5-A, only remedy available for an aggrieved party was right of revision u/Sec.9 of Act against order of regularization u/Sec.5-A - Power of revision was always available prior to amendment and even after amendment, to go into question of legality and validity of regularization of alienations, or other transfer of lands, regularized u/Sec.5-A, by revisional authority u/Sec.9 of Act - Agreement of sale is not an 'alienation' or 'transfer' of property, and there was no mechanism provided for u/Sec.5-A to deal with agreement of sales, and that Sec.5-A provides for regularization of unregistered sale deeds of alienations, but not agreement of sales - Only remedy available to petitioner to resolve dispute before appropriate forum, either by way of filing a civil suit for specific performance, or any other recourse u/ Sec.8(2) of Act - Writ petition, dismissed. Sri Bhavana Rushi Co-operative Housing Building Society Ltd.,Vs.J.C. R.R.Dt. 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 259 = 2008(3) ALD 629 = 2008(4) ALT 126.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.5(1),6-A and 9 - ESTATE ABOLITION ACT, 1948, Sec.11(a) - Asst. Settlement Officer granted Ryotwari Patta in favour of petitioner's father - When Panchayat Raj Department sought to grant lease of said land to third party, petitioner filed civil suit and obtained decree - 1st appeal and 2nd appeal filed by District Collector against said judgments were dismissed - When petitioner filed representation before MRO/ Tahsildar for mutation of his name in revenue records and grant pattadar pass books and title deeds in his favour that 2nd respondent has insisted that unless 1st respondent/ District Collector accords permission for implementation of Ryotiwari Patta granted by Asst. Settlement Officer, he cannot carry out mutation of his name in revenue records - Petitioner contends that u/Sec.5(1) of Act, 1971, 2nd respondent MRO/Tahsildar is competent Authority to entertain mutation of names in record of rights u/Sec.6-A of Act, is entitled to grant pattadar pass books and title deeds following decision taken by him u/Sec.5(1) of Act - Under scheme of Act, it is only 2nd respondent who is Authority vested with power to consider request for mutation of names in record of rights and for issuance of pattadar pass books and title deeds - District Collector is a functionary in hierarchy who is vested with revisional power u/Sec.9 of Act - 2nd respondent directed to consider Application of petitioner for mutation and grant of pattadar pass books and title deeds without expecting any instructions or directions from District Collector. A.Ranga Bhashyam Vs.State of A.P, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2011(1) ALD 694 = 2011(1) ALT 491.

—Sec. 5(5) - ADMINISTRATION OF EVACUEE PROPERTY ACT, 1950 - DISPLACED PERSONS (COMPENSATION & REHABILITATION) ACT 1954, Secs. 5 and 12 to 24 of LIMITATION ACT, 1963, - This Writ Petition is filed for a certiorari to call for records relating to order dated 23-6-2014 of respondent No.2 in Case No.D1/1388/ 2014, whereby he has confirmed order of respondent No.3 in Case No.C/1488/2014, dated 23-6-2014 and to quash said orders - It is case of petitioner that 17 years after mutation of said land in favour of his vendors and nine years after mutation of his name in revenue records in respect of said property, Smt. Jangamma and other legal heirs of late Vadde Jangaiah - respondent Nos.5 to 8, filed an appeal u/Sec.5(5) of A.P. Rights in Land and Pattadar Passbooks Act 1971, questioning order of mutation dated 6-9-2005 in his favour, on ground that late Vadde Jangaiah was the owner and possessor of entire extent of Ac.4-00 - Petitioner averred that after death of Vadde Jangaiah, his wife i.e., respondent No.5, got her name mutated in respect of Ac.2-00 vide proceedings No.B/3617/2002, dated 4-9-2002 and also surrendered passbook and title deed (Patta No.386 and Title deed No.352488) of her husband - That respondent Nos.5 to 8 failed to question mutation effected in favour of Vadde Sathaiah as pattadar; and that they have questioned consequential orders of mutation of names of respondent Nos.9 to 11 in File No.D/6205/2004 in place of late Vadde Sathaiah - That subject land was clearly recorded in name of late Vadde Sathaiah in Form-I Register, but subsequently records were tampered and extent of Ac.4-00 was interpolated against the name of late Vadde Jangaiah in revenue records; and that respondent Nos.5 to 8 suppressed the fact that in sale deed executed by them in favour of third parties they have shown subject land as neighbour's land - That respondent No.3/appellate authority, without supplying a copy of remarks of respondent No.4 to petitioner and without giving any opportunity to contradict the same, has placed undue reliance on said remarks, wherein a finding was recorded that mutation in respect of subject land in favour of late Vadde Sathaiah was effected fraudulently - That respondent No.3/appellate authority hurriedly and without giving opportunity to petitioner disposed of said appeal on 30-5-2014 and set-aside mutation both in his and his vendors' favour in spite of there being no explanation offered by respondent Nos.5 to 8 for the delay of 17 years by way of filing an application for condoning said delay; and that though he was transferred on 3-6-2014, respondent No.3 passed the order by antedating the same - That questioning the said order, petitioner filed Revision Petition under Section 9 of Act before respondent No.2 on 7-6-2014 along with an application seeking suspension of order of respondent No.3; that respondent No.2 passed an order of status quo on said application; and that in W.P.No.16199 of 2014 filed by respondent Nos.5 to 8, this Court by order dated 16-6-2014 directed respondent No.2 to dispose of interim application, but by impugned order, respondent No.2 without considering the material on record dismissed Revision Petition itself - Held, main ground on which respondent No.3 has concluded that incorporation of name of Vadde Sathaiah and mutation in favour of petitioner was fraudulent and irregular was that same were in violation of procedure and that this was obviously done in collusion between Village Administrative Officer and Vadde Sathaiah - Respondent No.3 has virtually equated alleged procedural illegality with fraud - In my opinion, every illegality, either procedural or substantive, does not constitute an act of fraud - Even if available record does not support incorporation of name of Vadde Sathaiah, at best, same constitutes an illegality - In order to term same as fraud, respondent Nos.5 to 8 have not only to allege but also to prove mens rea or bad faith on part of Vadde Sathaiah and also revenue functionaries concerned - No evidence has been produced by respondent Nos.5 to 8 to establish such bad faith on part of Vadde Sathaiah - On contrary, as discussed herein before, conduct of respondent Nos.5 to 8 clearly suggested that they were very much in knowledge of fact that Vadde Jangaiah had only Ac.2-00 of land in Poppalaguda village and that was obvious reason why they did not raise issue of incorporation of name of Vadde Sathaiah in the revenue records and subsequent mutation proceedings in favour of petitioner, for a long period of about 17 years - Therefore, finding rendered by respondent No.3 that Vadde Sathaiah played fraud and got his name incorporated in revenue record is not supported by sufficient material, and is wholly without any basis - Under sub-clause (i) of proviso to Section 17 of Limitation Act, a transaction affecting any property cannot be setaside on ground of fraud if property has been purchased for valuable consideration by a party who was not a party to fraud and did not at time of purchase know or has reason to believe that any fraud has been committed - In other words, person who entered into a fraudulent transaction must also be imputed knowledge of as well as commission of fraud - Appeal filed by respondent Nos.5 to 8 before respondent No.3 was hopelessly time barred and that respondent No.3 had no power or jurisdiction to entertain such appeal unless an application for condonation of delay was made by respondent Nos.5 to 8 and such delay was condoned by respondent No.3 for valid reasons - On analysis as above, impugned order is quashed - Writ Petition is allowed. Kosaraju Balaji Vs. The State of Telangana 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 439.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Sec.5(5) - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS RULES, 1989 Rule 21 – Tahsildar issued Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds to Writ Petitioner – Respondents 4 to 6 filed objections before Tahsildar that PPBs were issued to petitioner for more extent than what is actually possessed by petitioner – Tahsildar forwarded the objections of Respondents with report to RDO – RDO treating the report of Tahsildar as Appeal and directed change of extents in PPBs - RDO to entertain a case, there should be a properly presented appeal by aggrieved party – Appellate authority gets jurisdiction to correct an entry made either on amendment or updating in records of rights - No procedure to receive objection petition by Tahsildar after issuing PPBs/TDs and such communication cannot be treated as an appeal by RDO – Appeal should be filed in procedure as per Act, but RDO has entertained the report of Tahsildar as appeal and issued notices to petitioner – Manner of entertaining appeal to decide grievance between parties by RDO amounts to suffer prejudice to petitioner and the order of RDO is patently illegal - Held, setting aside orders is not going to resolve grievance between parties and clarified objection petition filed by Respondents 4 to 6 before Tahsildar shall be treated as an appeal presented for consideration and appropriate orders be passed – Matter is remitted to RDO for disposal, with proper notice to petitioner. Krishtappa Vs. Joint Collector & Addl.District Magistrate, Ananthapur 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 201= 2014(4) ALD 8 = 2014(4) ALT 767.

—Secs.5(5), 6-A & 6 - Issue for consideration in writ petition or in reference order relates to maintainability of an appeal against issuance of PPB/TD under Sec.6-A of the Act - Whether an appeal to Revenue Divisional Officer under Sec.5(5) of Act is maintainable against issuance of PPB/TD u/Sec.6-A of Act? is point for consideration - Held, it is well settled that right of appeal must find its source in legislative authority - Right of appeal accrues to litigant when it is expressly provided for in statute and axiomatic that right of appeal is a substantive right and must be conferred by a statute - As already held, appeal is provided for against the original proceedings or substantive determination u/Secs.4, 5 and 5-A of the Act - Legislature in its wisdom and noticing purpose of issuing PPB/TD did not provide right of appeal against mere issuance of PPB/TD under Section 6-A of the Act - Therefore, on the literal construction of Secs.3 to 6-A of the Act, it can be held that remedy of appeal u/Sec.5(5) of the Act is not provided against the issuance of PPB/TD u/Sec.6-A of the Act - By treating the action u/Secs.5 and 6-A of the Act as single or mutually dependent, in our considered view, the remedy of appeal against mere issuance of PPB/TD u/Sec.6-A of the Act is not available - For above reasons, we are not in agreement with the view expressed in N.BAL REDDY'S case and is overruled - Writ petition is allowed. Ratnamma Vs. R.D.O.Anantapur Dt. 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2015(6) ALD 609 = 2015(5) ALT 228.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

— Secs.5 (5) & 8 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.92 - Petitioner/Choultry was endowed land under Will by a philanthropist in year 1884 - 1st respondent/RDO issued patta to such land in favour of respondents 2 to 7 on basis of purchase made by them and subsequently cancelled patta in view of Report submitted by MRO, stating that petitioner had title over land and same was determined by civil Court - When matter remanded from High Court for fresh consideration, RDO upheld patta granted in favour of respondents 2 to 7 - Petitioner contends that RDO, travelled beyond scope of his powers and he had even unsettled findings recorded by civil Court and that Scheme framed by civil Court cannot be meddled with, by any one, and any aggrieved party has to approach very Court that framed it, and none else - For all practical purposes, RDO was exercising powers under Secs.5(5) of Act, against issuance of pattadar pass books to respondents 2 to 7 - Respondents did not raise any objection as to jurisdiction of RDO, to take up matter, at least after matter was remanded to him by High Court - If ownership over land is claimed on basis of inheritance, verification of records maintained by Revenue Department would serve purpose - On other hand if request for issuance of pattadar pass books and title deeds is made on basis of purchase, it has to be verified as to whether vendor had title to do so - Sec.8 of Act itself mandates that disputed questions of title must be decided by Civil Court - Decree of civil Court has become final half-a-century ago - Ignoring his limits, 1st respondent/RDO went on commenting about accrual of properties to petitioner, choultry and certain other aspects and that various findings recorded by him in impugned order are totally outside his jurisdiction - Impugned order - Unsustainable - Writ petition, allowed. Sri Neelayamma Choultry Vs. The RDO, Vizianagaram 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 118 = 2009(4) ALD 497 = 2009(2) APLJ 387 = 2009(4) ALT 756.

—Secs.5(5) & 9 - A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) LAND REVENUE ACT, 1317 Fasli, Sec.166-B - District Revenue Officer/3rd respondent passed order in revision filed by 5th respondent, directing rectification of entries in revenue records in respect of land stands in name of petitioner - Petitioner contends that revision u/Sec.166-B of Act is not remedy for rectification of entries in revenue records and A.P. ROR Act is a comprehensive enactment for this purpose - R.O.R Act and Rules made thereunder is a self contained Code dealing with making an amendment of entries in revenue records as well as issuance of pattadar pass books and title deeds - MRO is conferred with power to discharge said functions - A remedy of appeal is provided u/Secs.5(5) to RDO and revision lies u/Sec.9 to Joint Collector - Sec.166-B of Act is general provision which confers powers of revision upon District Collector to call for records of his subordinates and to rectify same - Once subject matter is covered by provisions of R.O.R Act, Sec.166-B of Act has no application to such proceedings - Remedies provided under R.O.R Act along would be available to aggrieved individual - Impugned order, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. G.Ranga Reddy Vs. District Collector, Warangal 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 183 =2009(3) ALD 678 = 2009(2)APLJ 45(SN) = 2009(4) ALT 425.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—-Secs.6-A(5) & 6-A(1) - A.P.LAND GRA-BBING (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1982 - Revenue Department issued proceedings for assignment of land in favour of petitioners as "Louni Khas" recognising their possession - District Judge dismissed O.P filed by M.R.O under Land Grabbing Act holding that petitioners cannot be treated as land grabbers in view of proceedings issued for assignment - 2nd respondent/District Collector refusing to issue Pattadar Pass Books and title deeds to petitioners on ground that there is no valid transfer of land in their favour by Govt. - Petitioners contend that issuance of pass books and title deeds u/Sec.6-A of Act is nothing but a formality of recognition of ownership, and once petitioners have fulfilled facets and trappings of owners vis-a-vis, land, there is no justification on part of respondents to, withhold same - Govt., contends that petitioners have not acquired ownership in respect of land, and in absence of same, pass books cannot be issued and that Sec.6-A(5) of Act declares that a pass book and title deed issued under sub-sec(1) is equivalent to any instrument, for which title is acquired and unless a valid transfer takes place, pass books cannot be issued - View taken by 2nd respondent/District Collector that regular transfer of land has not taken place from Govt. cannot be accepted as he did not state as to why "Louni Khas" issued in favour of petitioners cannot be treated as transfer from Govt. - Whatever may be requirement in law for transfer of title between two private individuals, manner in which a Govt. property can accrue to a private individual, and in particular a landless poor, cannot be expected to be in a particular mode - Govt. itself recognised its obligation under Directive Principles of State Policy, enshrined in Consti-tution, to ensure that property at its disposal is distributed to deserving poor - SEC.6-A OF ROR ACT - Under 1st proviso to sub-sec(1), even an occupant of an inam land can be issued pass book, though he is not owner, nor any transfer has taken place in his favour and main purpose of issuance of pass books and title deeds is mentioned in sub-sec(5) of Act and it is, principally, to enable holder thereof, to create mortgage, which happens to be one of important facets of exercise of rights over immovable property - In this case. possession of petitioners over land assumed characteristics of ownership - For effective exercise thereof, it is essential that they are issued pass books and title deeds - Once effort made by Govt., to evict petitioners did not fructify, possession of petitioners metamorpho-sises into that of ownership - Therefore it is not a grace that respondents would be exhibiting by issuing pass books and title deeds - It would only be an instance of performance of their duty - 4th Respondent/MRO directed to issue pattadar pass books and title deeds in favour of petitioners - Writ petition, allowed. G.Sarvaiah Goud Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.)155 = 2009(4) ALD 461 = 2009(2) APLJ 436 = 2009(4) ALT 141.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.6-D, Sub-secs.(1) & (2) - REGISTRATION ACT, Sec.32 and Rule 26 framed there under - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.14,251, 254(2), & 366 - Govt. Memo No.18549/RGN.1/A1/2012-1, dt.8-5-2012 - Petitioner is owner of agricultrual land in particular Survey nos . and is in possession and enjoyment and also obtained Pattadar Pass Books - Petitioner wanted to sell away his agricultural property for the purpose of maintaining his family and also to arrange marriage of his daughter - Because of non-obstinate clause in Sec.6-D of Act, petitioner could not execute sale deed in order to sell to third parties - 3rd respondent/Sub-Registrar insisting on production of Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds for entertaining document for registration of sale of his land - Hence, petitioner filed writ petition challenging Sec.6-D, alleging that registration of deeds and documents falls under Entry-6 of list III of Schedule VII of Constitution of India and in exercise of same Govt. of India as enacted Registration Act u/Sec.32 of Act deals with provisions of Registration Act and Rules framed thereunder and that none of provisions of Registration Act and Rules made thereunder casts any obligation on parties to document to produce any other documents like Pattadar Pass Books, Title Deeds along with document sought to be registered for purpose of registration, thus there is no obligation on part of parties to produce Title Deeds and Pattadar Pass Books at time registration of Agricultural land nor registering Authority can insist on such production at time of registration - It is alleged that Sec.6-D of Act runs counter to law made by Parliament and hence it is hit by Art.254(2) of Constitution of India - There is repugnancy since State law clearly over ride Central Law because of imposition of restriction on implementation of Central Law by requiring production of Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds at time of registration of sale deed as such a thing is not required under Registration Act - Imposibility of compliance with Sec.6-D(2) of Act is manifest on its face as it requires both parties to transaction to produce Title Deeds and Pattadar Pass Books at time of registration - Under no circumstances, can both parties produce said document since vendor only will be in possession of those documents, not vendee - Registration Act is not an existing law within meaning of Art.366 of Constitution of India and in Registration Act there is no Provision for production of title deed as it has been mandated by impugned section - Production of Title Deed by vendee as required by Sec.6-D with a non-obstante clause, is absolutely absurd and irrerational Provision and same cannot stand to scrutiny of Art.254 of Constitution - Registration Act is completely silent about compulsory production of document relating to Title by vendor and vendee, where as impugned section obliges vendor and vendee to produce same - Silence does not necessarily mean implied dispensation - Field occupied by Registration Act is completely different from field occupied by State legislation - Requirement of production of document as mentioned in impugned Section by transferor or vendor is not unconstitutional as it is not repugnant to and inconsistant with any Provisions of Registration Act, in any manner what- soever and same is upheld - However, requirement of production of document relating to title by vendee as mentioned in Sub-section of impugned section, is absolutely absurd and irrerational as vendee or transferee cannot produce any document relating to title of land in question, because after acquisiton of interest only he will get document relating to title but not before that - Art.14 of Constitution cannot at all stand irrationality and absurdity of any piece of legislation, and on that ground this portion is struck down accordingly - Declaring impugned Section except this portion is constitutionally valid - Writ petition, partly allowed. K.Anantha Rao Vs. State of A.P. 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 202 = 2013(6) ALD 556.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Sec.8(2) - 4th respondent/Tahsildar granted Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds in favour of petitioner no.1 in year 2005 - Subsequently application filed by 5th respondent to issue Pattadar Pass Books and Ttitle Deeds after mutation basing on registered gift deed - 4th respondent/Tahsildar rejected Application filed by 6th respondent - 3rd respondent/RDO allowed appeal filed by 5th respondent and set aside Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds issued in favour of 1st petitioner - 2nd respondent/Joint Collector dismissed revision petition filed by petitioner - Hence petitioner filed present writ petition - 3rd respondent/RDO in his proceedings opined that there are claims and counter-claims with regard to property in question and that cases of such nature raising civil disputes cannot be resolved by Revenue functionaries and parties are accordingly directed to approach civil Court of competent jurisdiction for getting their rights declared and having held surprisingly 3rd respondent/RDO set aside Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds issued in favour of 1st petitioner - U/Sec.8(2) of ROR Act, 1971, a person is entitled to seek declaration of his rights if he is aggrieved by any entry made in record of rights in respect of property in his possession - If he succeeds in suit, he is entitled to get his name entered in record of rights through appropriate amendment in pursuance of such decree - As respondent No.5 has questioned entry in records of rights made in favour of petitioner no.1 it is she who has to file a civil suit - Till she succeeds in suit and gets declaration of her right over property in question, entries already made in record of rights, following which Pattadar Pass Books and Title Deeds have been issued to petitioner no.1 cannot be altered - Order of 3rd respondent/RDO as confirmed by 2nd respondent/Joint Collector, set aside, leaving 5th respondent free to avail remedy of civil suit and approach 4th respondent Tahsildar u/Sec.8(2) of ROR Act in event of her success in such civil suit - Writ petition, allowed accordingly. Nadiminti Varalakshmi Vs. The State of AP 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 108 = 2014(1) ALD 677 = 2013(6) ALT 160.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Sec.8(2) - A.P. RYOTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS RULES, 1989, Rules 8(c), 11(2),16(1), 17(1) and 20(1) - A.P. SURVEY AND BOUNDARIES ACT, 1923, Secs.3(ii), 5, 6 & 7 - Petitioner purchased land under registered sale deed and is in absolute possession and enjoyment of said land and has been raising crops and also dug a bore well - Petitioner also filed a suit seeking perpetuactual injunction against adjacent owner and proved his exclusive possession and enjoyment over said land - With a view to resolve disputes with adjacent owners petitioner submitted Application to Tahsildar remitting required fee for conducting survey of said land and obtained directions to conduct survey and fix boundaries stone, but no survey was conducted - Hence present writ petition to declare action of respondents in not conducting survey of his land and not fixing boundaries stones as illegal, arbitrary and in violations of natural justice - Petitioner contends that duty, obligation is cast on respondents to conduct survey and fix boundaries stones on subject lands in accordance with law and petitioner is entitled to question failure of respondents to survey land in writ proceedings under Art.226 of Constitution - No one can seek a mandamus without a legal right and there must be a judicially enforceable right as well as a legally protected right before one, suffering a legal grievance can ask for mandamus - A person can be said to be aggrieved only when he is denied a legal right by some one who has a legal duty to do something or to abstain from doing something - Writ of mandamus can be granted only in a case, where there is a statutory duty imposed upon Officer, concerned, and there is a failure on part of that Officer to discharge statutory obligation - If there is no statutory basis for claim and there is no provision in statute imposing an obligation it would not furnish a ground for issuance of writ of mandam - Remedy of individual seeking survey of lands, except in limited circumstances, is to invoke jurisdiction of competent civil Court and seek declaration of title and in case, there is any disputge regarding boundaries, to file application seeking to have subject lands surveyed and demarcated - In this case, while petitioner filed a suit seeking for perpetual injunction he does not appear to have sought for lands to be surveyed and demarcated and even in present writ petition he has not even choosen to array person against whom he obtained decree in suit, as respondent - Petitioner has no statutory right to claim relief sought for - Writ petition, dismissed. Rachakonda Nagaiah Vs. The Govt. of A.P. 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 73 = 2013(3) ALD 156 = 2013(3) ALT 377.

— Sec. 9 - Writ petition is filed questioning order dated 23.08.2014 passed by the 2nd respondent under Section 9 of A.P. Rights in Land and Pattadar Passbooks Act, 1971 (for short, 'the ROR Act'), setting aside order dated 20.01.2012 passed by appellate authority confirming the orders of the Revenue Divisional Officer passed under Section 5(3) of the ROR Act - Held, While there can be no dispute that law with respect to burden of proof, i.e., legal burden in cases of allegations of fabrication and forgery of document lies on person who alleges so, crucial aspect on this issue is also well settled that there lies an initial onus on party who relies on the document to prove its truth, validity and binding nature - Only after discharge of such onus, onus shifts to other party who alleges fabrication and forgery to prove his stand - In present case that initial burden of existence of a document and its true nature has not been discharged by respondents 5, 6 and 7 and respondents 5, 6 and 7 had also failed to follow procedure prescribed for asserting their right based on the unregistered Exchange Deed. The law is also well settled that he who asserts title must prove - In impugned order, burden is wrongly cast on writ petitioners, whose father's name admittedly finds place in the records as registered holder - In that view of matter, only legal ground on which the order of Tahsildar, passed in exercise of powers conferred under Section 5(3) of the ROR Act, and confirmed by Revenue Divisional Officer is set aside, is unsustainable - Revisional authority's order is contrary to the law declared by this Court in Basireddy Rukminamma v. The Joint Collector, Kadapa [8] wherein this Court had held that the revisional authority having come to the conclusion that there is a serious dispute between the parties, requiring them to settle the same before the Civil Court could not have interfered with pattadar passbooks and title deeds issued in favour of the petitioners therein - In result, writ petition is allowed. Bommaku Narsinga Rao Vs. The State of Telangana 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 241 = 2015(6) ALD 336 = 2015(4) ALT 285.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—-Sec.9 - A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) LAND REVENUE ACT, 1317 F, Sec.166-B - A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFERS) ACT, 1977 - Whether the Government can exercise their powers after long lapse of time? - It was held no - Since substantial rights on account of continuous possession and enjoyment of the subject property has been accrued to the respondents and the exercise of suo-motu revisional power after long lapse of time is arbitrary and summary remedy of enquiry and correction of records cannot be invoked when there is bonafide dispute of title - Further held that the suo-motu revision undertaken after a long lapse of time, even in the absence of any period of limitation was arbitrary and opposed to the concept of rule of law. Joint Collector, Ranga Reddy Vs. D.Narsing Rao 2015(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 13 = 2015(3) ALD 1 (SC) = 2015 AIR SCW 622 = AIR 2015 SC 1021.

—Secs.9, 4 and 8(2) - Private respondents filed Revision basing on a preliminary decree obtained from civil Court invoking Sec.9 of Act for mutation of their names in records of rights in respect of land in particular survey no - Petitioners though not made parties to Revision, filed their objections as to maintainability of revision - Joint Collector passed impugned order holding that private respondents are entitled for mutation of their names in records of rights as pattadars for land in that survey no. and accordingly directed Dy. Collector & Tahsildar to take necessary action on claim of private respondents - Petitioners contend that very revision petition is not tmaintainable as private respondents have not approached primary authority i.e., Tahsildar u/Sec.4 of Act and that even on merits no rights of parties have been finally adjudicated in civil suit as basis for claim of private respondents for mutation of their names in revenue records - Sec.4 of Act enisages that if any person acquires any right as owner by succession, survivorship, inheritance, partition, Govt., patta, decree of Court or otherwise, he shall intimate in writing fact of his acquisition of such right to Tahsildar within 90 days from date of such acquisition and said Officer shall give or send a written acknowledgment of such intimation to person making it - Sec.5 of Act has laiddown procedure for considering such situation - U/Sec.9 of Act Collector is conferred with suo motu revisional power and he is also empowered to exercise his revisional powers at instance of aggrieved party - If any party is aggrieved by decision taken by primary Authority, he is entitled to file an appeal - Revision is final remedy under Act besides right of aggrieved party to file suit u/Sec.8(2) of Act after exhausting all these remedies - In this case, surprisingly Joint Collector has not given any reasons what so ever for extraordinary step he has taken step in straightaway entertaining revision petition filed by private respondents without relegating them to primary authority under Sec.4 of Act - Evidently Joint Collector had no proper comprehension of statutory scheme under which he was functioning as revisional authority - In instant case, only reason for private respondents in approaching Joint Collector was purported acquisition of their right under preliminary decree in partition suit and they claimed for mutation in terms of such decree - Joint collector has no jurisdiction to entertain such application in purported exercise of his revisional jurisdiction in absence of any decision taken or order passed or proceedings made in that record by his subordinate Officers - Impugned order passed by Joint Collector, set aside - Writ petitions, allowed, subject to certain observations and directions. P.Anjaneyulu Gupta Vs. Mohd Abdul Basith Khan 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 311 = 2014(2) ALD 77 = 2014(3) ALT 140.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.9,5-A,5-B & 8(2) - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS RULES, 1989,Rule 23(1) - Petitioner purchased land under unregistered sale deed and applied for regularisation and issuance of Pattadar Pass Book - MRO issued Pattadar Pass Book - Respondent contends that land purchased by their father and petitioner forged unregistered sale deed and MRO without issuing notice to them who are interested parties and real owners effected mutation in revenue records in contravention of provisions of Act and Rules - RDO cancelled order passed by MRO issuing mutation certificate in favour of petitioner - Joint Collector concurred with findings of RDO observing that MRO issued orders relaying upon unregistered sale deed without verification and without following procedure laid down under ROR Act - From Scheme of ROR Act it is obvious that entry in pattadar pass books does not confer any title on person but it is a prima facie evidence that person in whose name entry is made is in possession of land and also has some right or interest in land and that every entry in record of rights shall be presumed to be true until contrary is proved and that only remedy open for any party aggrieved by an entry made in record of rights regarding his rights is only to file a civil suit to declare such right and get entry amended in accordance with decree passed by civil Court in his favour - In present case, obviously there is serious dispute between parties with regard to title of property in question - Only course having regard to facts and circumstances of case open to revision petitioner therefore is only to get his title declared to property by decree of competent civil Court and then approach revenue authorities to register his name in records of rights - ROR Act provides a complete mechanism in respect of making entries in revenue records - When once order in respect of entry made in revenue records became final, after confirmation by Collector, only remedy left open to party aggrieved is to obtain a decree getting his rights declared by competent civil Court, as provided u/Sec.8(2) of Act - Impugned order passed by Joint Collector - Justified - Revision petition, dismissed. Airabelli Prabhakar Rao Vs. Emmadi Koteshwar 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 404 = 2009(5) ALD 97 = 2009(3) APLJ 126 = 2009(6) ALT 35.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Secs.9 & 5(5) - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND PATTADAR PASS BOOK RULES, 1989, Rules 21 & 13(2) - 1st petitioner's husband holding pattadar pass books and title deeds to an extent of Ac.0.88 cents of land - After his death 4th respondent/Tahsildar issued pattadar pass books and title deeds in favour of 1st petitioner - Subsequently when 5th respondent approached 4th respondent/Tahsildar claiming that said property belongs to him and issuance of pattadar pass books and title deeds to 1st petitioner was illegal - Basing on Report submitted by Tahsildar, 3rd respondent/RDO initiated suo motu proceedings by treating said Report of Tahildar as an Appeal and after giving notice to both parties RDO allowed purported Appeal and set aside pattadar pass books and title deeds issued to 1st petitioner and further directed to issue pattadar pass books and title deeds in favour of 5th respondent - 2nd respondent/Joint Collector confirmed order of RDO in Revision petition filed by petitioners u/Sec.9 of Act - Petitioners mainly contend on procedural illegality committed by RDO in treating Report of Tahsildar as an Appeal and setting aside pattadar pass books and title deeds issued to 1st petitioner - Under Rules 21 and Sec.5(5) of Act, evidently RDO is constituted an appellate authority who is confired with power of entertaining Appeals filed by aggrieved parties by follwing procedure prescribed under Rule 21 of Rules - From order passed by RDO, it is clear that 5th respondent not filed any Appeal and instead of filing such an Appeal, 5th respondent has approached respondent no.4/Tahsildar who in turn submitted a Report which was taken as ROR Appeal by RDO and this procedure is patently contrary to procedure prescribed under Act and Rules - Since Rule 13(2) of Rules comes into conflict with statutory provisions of Sec.5(5) and 9, same cannot be construed as conferring suo moto appellate or revisional powers on RDO and substantative source of power is conferred on RDO under Sec.5(5) of Act only - Therefore in negletion of such power, RDO cannot act by taking shelter under Rule 13(2) of Rules - 5th Respondent contends that petitioners failed to raise objection on exercise of suo moto appellate powers by RDO either before him or before 2nd respondent/Joint Collector - Jurisdiction of RDO to pass order does not depend upon on raising or not raising of objection by a party - Issue pertaining to very jurisdiction of an Authority can be raised at any stage - There can be no question of a party acquieseing in raising such objection because by conduct of parties, an Authority cannot exercise jurisdiction which does not vest in it or contrary to prescribed procedure - Order of RDO confirmed in Revision by Joint Collector cannot be sustained and both orders are accordingly set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Peddi Sailaja Vs. The State 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 285 = 2014(2) ALD 246 = 2014(3) ALT 181.

A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASSBOOKS ACT 1971:

—Rules 9(1)(a)(i) and 5 & 19 & Secs.4 & 5(1) - 2nd respondent/Tahsildar rejected petitioner's Application for mutation of her name and names of her minor children basing on Will executed in favour of petitioner in respect of half share of various extents in certain survey nos. and issued Memo stating that petitioner not submitted Legal Heirs Certificate for grant of succession and that Will is not registered one - Petitioner contends that on admitted facts of case where there is no dispute about petitioner's succession, there is no need for her for obtaining Legal Heirs certificate and that under law Will is not required to be registered and that petitioner's husband himself has filed notarized affidavit conveying his no objection for mutation of properties in name of petitioner and her sons and that Tahsildar committed serious illegality in rejecting petitioner's Application - U/Sec.4 of 1971 Act, if any person acquires any right over an immovable property by way of succession, survivorship, inheritance, partition, Govt., patta, decree of a Court or otherwise any right as owner, pattadar mortgagee etc., he/she is entitled to approach Recording authority (Tahsildar) within 90 days from date of such acquisition - A careful analysis of Rule 9 of Rules would reveal that a fair amount of discretion is vested in Recording authority to examine claim for mutation made on strength of succession or survivorship, in case of non-tesmentary disposal of properties - In case of acquisition of rights by way of deeds of transfer by sale, gift, etc; an obligation is caste on Recording authority to hold a summary enquiry as to persons who had succeeded to property of deceased registered holder by applying principles of law of succession governing case - However, if any person has approached civil Court by way of suit and gives an intimation in this regard within 90 days time as prescribed under sub-clause(ii) of Clause (c) of Rule-9(1) of Rules, Recording authority shall wait decision of civil Court - In this case, as regards first reason assigned by Tahsildar that neither in Act nor under Rules it is laiddown that obtaining Legal Heirs certificate is sine qua non for mutation and on contrary, under sub-clause(ii) of clause (c) of Rule 9(1) of Rules Mandal Revenue Officer himself is entitled to examine right of succession to property of deceased registered holder - In instant case, necessity for Tahsildar even to decide right of succession is obviated for simple reason that petitioner is relying upon a Will albit unregistered and in absence of any statutory requirement request of petitioner for mutation on ground of her not obtaining legal heirs certificate cannot be rejected - As regards reason assigned by Tahsildar that Will is not registered, same is equally unsustainable - Sub-clause (ii) of Cl.(1)(a) of Rule 9 of Rules does not refer to a Will while stipulating that registered document must be produced - In this case,

A.P.(SCHEDULED AREAS RYOTWARI SETTLEMENT) REGULATION, 1970:

as very registered owner himself conceded right of petitioner and her minor children for mutation with respect of half share in property, attitude of Tahsildar in rejecting petitioner's application on flmysy and jejune grounds, is wholly reprehensible, which has driven petitioner to this needless litigation - Tahsildar is directed to mutate names of petitioner and her minor children in respect of half of properties which stand in name of petitioner's/husband - Writ petition, allowed. B.Neeraja Vs. Revenue DivisionalOfficer,Ranga Reddy 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 65 = 2013(5) ALD 579.

A.P. SCHEDULED AREAS LAND TRANSFER REGULATIONS, 1959:

—CONSTITUTION OF INDIA: —PARA-5(2)(a) of 5th Schedule - Circular Memo No.889/RH1/99, dated 8-7-1999 issued by Housing(RH) Dept., of Govt. of A.P - Petitioners belong to Koya Dora Tribe contend that Circular Memo No.889 makes serious enroots into substantive and vested rights of Scheduled Tribes - Circular aims at providing an enabling provision for purpose of giving security to loan given by A.P. State Housing Corporation Ltd., to non-triable beneficiaries residing in schedule areas on par with other beneficiaries residing in plains area - Govt. sought to justify Circular stating that safe guard is only in regard to sale of lands in scheduled area but not against any non-triable residing in scheduled area who can mortgage land under his possession to any financial institutions approved by Govt., for said purpose - Said circular is to facilitate non-triable beneficiaries residing in schedule areas to raise loans from said Corporation for construction of houses by mortgaging superstructure to be constructed - It is not back door regularization of land possessing by non-triables in scheduled areas - Move by Govt., through circular is certainly a way out which they could not have done directly - Aforesaid provisions of Constitution and provisions of A.P. Scheduled areas land Transfer Regulations there is no question of any semblance of right title and interest whatsoever in nature in respect of any person other than triable in scheduled area - In such event creation of any such enforceable right in a prohibited area which is amply protected under Constitution, is not only illegal, but also ultra vires Constitution - Impugned circular is totally vitiated and liable to be set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Tellam Venkata Rao Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 157.

A.P.(SCHEDULED AREAS RYOTWARI SETTLEMENT) REGULATION, 1970:

—Secs. 7(1), 16(f) - A.P. Regulation II/1970 - G.O.Ms.No.392/J2/79, Dt.10-7-1981 - Petitioners are permanent tenants of Freehold land which are heritable and transferable - Settlement Officer rejected claim of petitioners for Ryotwari patta on ground that they are not entitled for Ryotwari patta - Director of settlements dismissed Appeal filed by petitioners - Commissioner also dismissed second Appeal holding that petitioners who are tenants are not entitled for grant of Ryotwari patta under provisions of A.P. Regulation II/1970 - On dismissal of review petition by Commissioner present writ petition filed contending that finding of 1st respondent that under A.P. Regulation II/1970, tenant is not entitled to ryotwari patta is an error on fact of record and there is no such provision in A.P. Regulation II/1970 -Admittedly, petitioners have not challenged order passed by Commissioner dismissing appeals by reasoned order, but review has been filed which was dismissed - In review petition filed before Court petitioners have not filed any additional documentary evidence to support their claim - 4th respondent/ MRO contends that as per proviso to Sec.7(1) of Regulation II/1970, petitioners who are claiming Ryotwari patta must prove their continuous lawful possession not less than eight years immediately before commencement of regulation II/1970 - Petitioners are only tenants, not entitled to Ryotwari patta - As per second proviso to Sec.7 which is applicable to Free hold village, a person who is in possession or in occupation of land for continuous period of eight years immediately before commencement of regulation and such possession or occupation shall not be void or illegal under A.P. Scheduled Areas Land Regulation 1959 as amended by A.P. Regulation 1/1970 or any other law for time being in force shall be entitled to ryotwari patta in respect of cultivable land - In this case, permanent lease amounts to transfer u/Sec.2(g) of A.P. Scheduled Areas Land Transfer Regulation, 1959 and such transfer of immovable property is prohibited - In absence of petitioners filing any documents to substantiate that they are entitled for grant of Ryotwari patta and not satisfying conditions imposed in second proviso to Sec.7(1) of Regulation II/1970, dismissal of review by first respondent do not suffer from any illegality - Writ petition, dismissed. Thota Saidaiah Vs. Commissioner of Appeals 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 7 = 2011(3) ALD 501 = 2011(3) ALT 240.

A.P. (SCHEDULED CASTES, SCHEDULED TRIBES AND BACKWARD CLASSES) ISSUE OF COMMUNITY, NATIVITY AND DATE OF BIRTH CERTIFICATES ACT, 1993:

—Secs.9 & 4(3) - "Suo motu powers of revision" 3rd respondent/Settlement Officer granted patta to petitioner u/Sec.9 of Regulation - 2nd respondent issued show cause notice in exercise of his Suo motu powers of revision u/Sec.4(3) and cancelled pattas granted to petitioner - Contention that it is not at all competent for 2nd respondent/ Director of Settlement to exercise Suo motu powers of revision, once proceedings are subject matter of appeal before him u/Sec.9(3) of Regulation - Suo motu powers of revision even where it is otherwise permissible, must be exercised within reasonable time and 3 to 5 years was considered to be reasonable - In this case, patta granted way back in 1979 is reopened, almost after a decade - Sec.9 of Regulation exclusively dealt with grant of pattas - A perusal of order passed by 2nd respondent discloses that reasons that prompted him to exercise Suo motu powers of revision were different from those stated in show cause notice - Very fact that 2nd respondent straightaway suspended pattas granted in favour of petitioner in year 1979 itself discloses not only lack of bonafides in matter, but also, high-handed and arbitrary - Writ petition, allowed. Amaravadi SrinivasaCharyulu Vs. CommissionerofSurvey andSettlements 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 110 = 2008(3) ALD 155 = 2008(4) ALT 169.

A.P. (SCHEDULED CASTES, SCHEDULED TRIBES AND BACKWARD CLASSES) ISSUE OF COMMUNITY, NATIVITY AND DATE OF BIRTH CERTIFICATES ACT, 1993:

—Secs.6 - A.P. (SCHEDULED CASTES, SCHEDULED TRIBES AND BACKWARD CLASSES) ISSUE OF COMMUNITY, NATIVITY AND DATE OF BIRTH CERTIFICATES

A.P. (SCHEDULED CASTES, SCHEDULED TRIBES AND BACKWARD CLASSES) ISSUE OF COMMUNITY, NATIVITY AND DATE OF BIRTH CERTIFICATES ACT, 1993:

RULE, 1997, Rules 6 & 8 - "Caste certificate" - Certificate obtained by father of Petitioner that he belonged to Konda Kapu was cancelled by 2nd respondent/District Collector considering that father of petition not Kondakapu by Community and subsequently petitioner's father was declared by Court to be belonging to Konda Kapu Community - Petitioner joined as LDC and was directed to produce latest certificate - MRO refused to pass orders on Representation of petitioner for issuance of caste certificate -thereafter District Collector also rejected to issue caste certificate - Hence present writ petition - Petitioner contends that when father of petitioner belongs to Konda Kapu Community petitioner automatically belongs to Konda Kapu Community and that he is entitled to caste certificate and that District Collector passed orders without applying his mind, blindly accepting Report of MRO - Govt., contends that it is only District Collector who can issue a declaration that a person belongs to Schedule Caste, Schedule Tribe or Backward Classes by virtue of powers vested through A.P., (S.C,. S.T. & B.C.) Regulation Act and that Court has no authority to pronounce such declaration - Division Bench of A.P High Court held that offspring of Tribal man and non Tribal woman takes social status of Tribal Community as Community of father - Thus child taking Community of father is normal rule - Supreme Court never considered that taking Community of father is not rule and it merely observed that caste of offspring is essentially a question of fact - In present case, there is absolutely no evidence to show that petitioner was brought up as Telaga child nor is there any evidence to show that total status of child is Telaga, which is non Tribal Community - Where admittedly father of petitioner belongs to Schedule Tribe as Kona Kapu Community, Govt., cannot cancel Caste Certificate - Petitioner is entitled to Caste Certificate by virtue of Community of his father per se unless there are other circumstances showing that petitioner did not belong to Community of father - Such evidence has not been produced by any body - Petitioner produced common judgment of High Court where Court held that father of petitioner belongs to Konda Kapu Community - Contrary evidence has not been produced by State - Therefore, claim of petitioner that he belongs to Konda Kapu Community, accepted - Order of MRO as well as District Collector are set aside - Petitioner found to be belonging to Konda Kapu Community - Writ petition, allowed. Bonda Seetharama Rao Vs. Govt., of A.P. , 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2014(2) ALD 370 = 2014(1) ALT 373.

—and relevant Rules of 1997 - MRO issuing Migration-cum-Caste Certificates to petitioners, employees and students, certifying them as S.Ts -District Collector cancelled certificates and directed initiation of criminal action against petitioners - Petitioners contend that they belong to 'Lingadhari koya' community a Schedule Tribe and in their educational records they are described as belonging to Koya community S.Ts and they are advised to obtain Migration Certificates to consolidate their social status and MRO issued Migration Certificates after due enquiry - 1st respondent/District Collector contends that petitioners are residents of Hyderabad and they manipulated and contrived representations and obtained fraudulent Migration-cum-Caste Certificates to buttress incompetent Caste Certificates issued by MROs of other District - Issuance of Community certificates certifying individuals as S.Ts without a legitimate entitlement to such certification constitutes a constitutional fraud, detrimental to interest of genuine S.T.

candidates - Genuine members of S.C, S.T. and B.C. Communities would be deprived pro-tanto of public employment and educational opportunities if fraudulent certificates issued to undeserving individuals - Grant of Community Certificates is therefore a critical administrative process and cannot be depend upon whims and caprice of MRO - Migration-cum-Caste Certificates issued by MRO to petitioners are without any basis - Impugned order of 1st respondent/District Collector cancelling Migration Certificates issued in favour of petitioners certifying them as belonging to S.Ts is impeccable and warrants no interference - Writ petition, dismissed. Kallem Chendraiah Vs. The District Collector, Khammam 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 423 = 2009(3) ALD 817 = 2009(3) ALT 414.

—AND RULES MADE THEREUNDER - Respondent got selected under S.T quota by A.P.P.S.C for post of Deputy Registrar - Govt. of A.P refusing to issue appointment order on ground that social status certificate produced by respondent is fraudulent and incorrect - Tribunal allowed O.A filed by respondent directing State to issue appointment order to respondent - District Collector passed final order cancelling Social Status Certificate granted by respondent by MRO - As against said order of District Collector respondent filed writ petition - State contends that there is no evidence of social acceptance of respondent or her father in Kondakapu community in as much as father of respondent having married a lady belonging Yadava community - No evidence is forthcoming regarding linkage of respondents family - Action of District Collector in cancelling caste certificate is justified - Respondent contends that it is not in controversy that respondent's grandfather and great grandfather belong to Araku village of Visakhapatnam District and as such their nativity from tribal area by itself establishes their tribal status - Social Status Certificate claimed by respondent being inter linked with status of her grand father siblings of father and brother of respondent; while acceptance and continuance of social status of all above relatives having been accepted and continued, denial of same as far as respondent is concerned, is highly unjustified and arbitrary - Order of Tribunal confirmed - Writ petition filed by State, dismissed and writ petition filed by respondent, allowed. Govt. of A.P. Vs. Pagadala Khail Kanthi, 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 179 = 2010(2) 333 = 2010(3) ALT 663.

—Sec.5 - A.P.(S.C, S.T. & B.Cs) ISSUE OF COMMUNITY, NATIVITY AND DATE OF BIRTH CERTIFICATES, Rules 1997, (as amended in G.O.Ms.No.79), Social Welfare, Rule 10 - Petitioner, belonging to Bagata Community of S.T. appeared for Engineering and Medical Entrance Test and got allotted seat in Kurnool Medical College - Pursuant to Memo of 2nd respondent, 1st respondent kept seat allotted to petitioner in abeyance and refused admission - In this case, 2nd respondent doubts claim of petitioner to S.T. status on ground that her surname is uncommon amongst "Bagata" tribe - it is not case of either of respondents that community certificate tendered by petitioner in support of her claim to belong "Bagata" community, is fraudulent per se - No power what-so-ever inheres in 2nd respondent to suspend trajectory of certificate - It is tragic that 1st respondent never enquired as to authority of 2nd respondent to issue such a directive and instead considered it to appropriate to subscribe to and follow an unlawful order by an incompetent authority - Memo issued by 2nd respondent quashed pro tanto - As respondents have interdicted pursuit of academic course by petitioner without any lawful authority or even a scintilla of jurisdiction, writ petitions allowed with costs. Madi Sri Vaishnavi, Chittoor Vs. Dr.N.T.R. University of Health Sciences 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2008(3) ALD 8 = 2008(3) ALT 463.

A.P. SCHEDULED COMMODITIES DEALERS (LICENSING AND DISTRIBUTION) ORDER, 1982:

A.P. SCHEDULED COMMODITIES DEALERS (LICENSING AND DISTRIBUTION) ORDER, 1982:

——Conditions 8 & 10 of Licence issued under the Order - AP EXHIBITION OF PRICE LISTS OF GOODS ORDER, 1966, Clause 3 - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, Secs.6-A & 6-B - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - Vigilence authorities inspected petitioner's shop in her absence seized the stock and initiated proceedings u/Sec.6-A of E.C Act for alleged contraventions of conditions of licence - 1st respondent/ Joint Collector considering explanation submitted by petitioner confiscated 20% of seized stock - District & Sessions Judge dismissed Appeal filed by petitioner u/Sec.6-C of E.C Act - Hence, present writ petitioner - Petitioner contends that confiscation of 20% is excessive as charges are trivial in nature - Respondents contend that writ petition not maintainable against orders passed by inferior criminal Court viz. District & Sessions Judge - Weighty Judicial authority leads to irresistible conclusion that even where special Statue r/w provisions of Cr.P.C provide for remedy of a revision against inferior criminal Court acting either as judicial authority or persona designata, a petition for writ of certiorari is not absolutely barred - Assumption of jurisdiction cannot be doubted u/Sec.226 of Constitution of India even though remedy of revision u/Sec.397 & 401 is an effective remedy - Against an order passed by District & Sessions Judge u/Sec.6-C of E.C Act, a writ petition under Art.226 of Constitution is not barred - In this case, order of Joint Collector does not contain any reasons as to how charges are proved - There is more subjectivity in order than objective consideration - 2nd petitioner licensee was submitting C-Returns regularly and it is never case of respondent that she was a chronic defaulter - Non-maintenance of price lists and alleged contraventions of A.P. Exhibition of Price Lists Order are trivial contraventions - But other contravention however trivial must be meted as deterrent action permissible under law - Order of confiscation 5% of seized stock would meet ends of justice - Writ petition, partly allowed. V.Venugopal Vs. The Joint Collector,Chittoor,Chittoor Dt. 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 93 = 2010(2) ALD (Crl) 102(AP) = 2010(3) ALT 803.

- AND A.P. SCHEDULED COMMODITIES (REGULATION OF DISTRIBUTION BY CARD SYSTEM) ORDER, 1973 - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT - MRO received information that two DCM Vans diverting rice sanctioned under FFW Scheme and after verification seized vans along with rice including sugar and K. oil belon-ging to first respondent, F.P. shop dealer for alleged violation of provisions of control Orders of 1982 and 1973 - Subsequently Joint Collector passed orders confiscating entire seized stock and also directed payment of Rs.20,000 per lorry towards cost of lorries - In appeal sessions judge found respondent not guilty and set aside order of Joint Collector - Hence present revision by State - State contends that there was no variation in respect of PDS rice and other rice and kerosene and that there was a variation of 79% in respect of sugar - However Joint Collector considered that sugar not covered by Control Orders and consequently held there was not violation of Control Orders by 1st respondent in respect of sugar and also kerosene and that difference and confusion were only inrespect of varieties of rice items - Admittedly rice found to have been assessed belong to FFW Scheme and it was not PDS rice that was supplied to 1st respondent - 1st respondent also contends that she did not have space in her premises and consequently she had to store rice received under FFW programme in house of one KK and that while stock received by her was being shifted to house of one IS, lorries were intercepted by seized by Revenue authorities - In this case, there is no dispute that lorries were carrying goods relating to FFW Scheme - Control orders were of year 1973 and 1982 - FFW programme commenced in late 1990s or in beginning of this century - Rice covered by FFW Programme is not part of either of Control Orders and that prosecution is not able to show if any of Control Orders is applicable to rice is applicable to FFW programme - In this case, goods were not received by her qua FP shop dealer, but dealer was received same under FFW Programme, Controls Orders have no applications - There is no Rule that 1st respondent, dealer should store same in her licence premises and she cannot be found fault with if she had kept stock at place other than licence premises and could be found fault with for transporting same through lorries of R2 & R3 - There was no violation of Control Orders by 1st respondent - Order of Sessions Judge, justified - Revision, dismissed. Collector (CS), Medakat Sangareddy Vs. Smt. Y.Chandrakala 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 141 = 2012(1) ALD (Crl) 175(AP) = 2012(1) ALT (Crl) 43(AP).

A.P. SCHEDULE COMMODITIES (DEALERS, LICENSING, STORAGE AND REGULATION) ORDER, 2008:

A.P. SCHEDULE COMMODITIES (DEALERS, LICENSING, STORAGE AND REGULATION) ORDER, 2008:

—- Clauses 2D and 2K and 7(1) - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, Secs.3 & 5 - “Suspension of licence” - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - Tahsildar and Revenue Inspector inspected petitioner’s rice Mill and having found some quantity of rice was being unloaded is meant for public distribution, seized the entire available rice in Mill worth some lakhs - Basing on Report from Tahsildar, District Supply Officer passed impugned order suspending Form-B licence issued in favour of petitioner, with immediate effect - From perusal of Cl.7(1), it becomes eminently clear that if a holder of licence issued under said Order contravenes any terms or conditions of licence, his licence may be cancelled or suspended by an order passed, in writing, by licensing Authority - However, most importantly, exercise of power of cancellation or suspension is hedged by condition that no such order shall be passed unless licensee has been given reasonable opportunity of stating his case and being heard in person against cancellation or suspension - It is thus manifestly clear that regulation-making Authority has ensure that principles of natural justice are adequately complied with by Licensing Authority before he undertakes action of either suspension or cancellation of licence accorded under said Order - In this case, it is pity that impugned order has been passed by District Supply Officer has not chosen to put petitioner on notice nor did he consider it appropriate to hear petitioner before impugned order passed - But DSO would not be knowing this basic and elementary requirement before he considered it to appropriate to exercise power - Impugned order has been purposefully passed in gross violation of requirement of Cl.7 of Order are bound to be challenged by offender and Courts are bound to declare any such proceedings as illegal - Every public servant who has been entrusted with job of performing duties, which are quasi-judicial in nature, had to be accountable for what all he has done or he has not done and strict adherence to legal principles is only way that desired result of statute or rule or regulation can be attained - District Collector and Commissioner of Civil Supplies must take appropriate action against District Supply Officer - Impugned order, set aside for sheer violation of principles of natural justice as enshrined in first proviso to sub-clause (1) of Cl.7 of Order - Writ petition, allowed. M/s.Sangameswhwara Binny Modern Rice Mill Vs. DSO,Sangareddy at Medak, 2012(1) Law Summary 185 = 2012(3) ALD 314 = 2012(3) ALT 284.

A.P. SCHEDULED COMMODITIES (REGULATION OF DISTRIBUTION BY CARD SYSTEM) ORDER, 1973:

—Cl.17 - Petitioners while transporting rice, broken rice etc. through lorry, 2nd respondent Head Constable of Police Station intercepted lorry and seized stocks along with lorry on mere suspicion that rice appears to be PDS rice - Petitioners contend that seizure itself is without jurisdiction and is illegal as 2nd respondent, Head Constable has no power to seize stocks and under Cl.17(1) of Control Order 2008, certain Officers of different Departments are empowered inter alia to seize stocks and as regards Police Department, it is Officer not below rank of Sub-Inspector within their respective jurisdiction, who are authorized to exercise this power - Therefore, ex facie, seizure is without jurisdiction and petitioners are entitled to release of seized stocks and lorry - In absence of any incriminating aspects, on mere suspicion that it may be meant for Public Distribution System, cannot be sustained on any account - In guise of such suspicion, genuine traders and owners of vehicles cannot be put to undue hardship apart from causing huge financial losses - Such irresponsible conduct on part of public servants is reprehensible - Respondents 1 & 2 Circle Inspector of Police and Head Constable are directed to forthwith release seized stock along with lorry to petitioners - 1st respondent C.I is also saddled with costs of Rs.10,000/- payable to petitioners from his personal pocket only - Writ petition, allowed. Sri Vigneswara Traders Vs. The Circle Inspector of Police, Porumamilla 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 367 = 2013(4) ALD 241 = 2013(5) ALT 9.

A.P. SCHEDULED COMMODITIES (REGULATION OF DISTRIBUTION BY CARD SYSTEM) ORDER, 1973:

- G.O.Ms.No.35, dt.17-9-2007, paragraphs 5 & 6(iv) - "Bifurcation of F.P. Shop" - Pursuant to orders of District Collector directing bifurcation of F.P shop, RDO issued

A.P. SOCIETY REGISTRATION ACT, 2001:-

Notification inviting applications for appointment of dealers - Petitioner filing writ petitions challenging that their shops were bifurcated without notice to them and in violation of norms prescribed by Govt. in G.O.Ms.No.35 - R.D.O. contends that Govt. issued G.O.Ms.No.35, for creation of new F.P.S by bifurcation of existing shops keeping norm of 400 BPL cards and 50 AL cards and in case there are more number of cards in excess of norms in village, there can be two F.P shops provided total number of BPL cards in that village is not less than 600 and F.P shops should be attached equal number of cards - It is always permissible for District Collector to bifurcate F.P.S so that in village of 600 cards into two shops attaching BPL, APL cards equally - G.O.Ms.No.35, dt.17-9-2007 was issued by Govt., for rationalization of existing F.P.Ss in State by attaching required number of cards to each shop for convenience of cardholders in locality and keeping in view economic viability of F.P.S - NON-RENEWAL OF AUTHO-RISATION - Plea of Govt., that petitioner was appointed as temporary dealer is supported by documentary evidence -Mere renewal of licence of temporary authorisation from time to time does not confer any right on petitioner - W.P.No.1715, dismissed. N.Nagamani Vs. State of A.P., 2010(1() Law Summary 429 = 2010(3) ALD 733 = 2010(3) ALT 532.

A.P. SOCIETY REGISTRATION ACT, 2001:

— AND Bye law 24 - Respondent No.3/Bar Association, Nellore registered under provisions of Society Registration Act - 2nd respondent is appointed by 3rd respondent as Election Officer - Basing on complaint sent by certain Members of Bar Association, against 2nd respondent/Election Officer alleging irregularities in process of elections, Executive Committee of 1st respondent/Bar Council has resolved to inform Secretary of Bar Association to stop further directions to Bar Association and to appoint ad hoc committee to conduct elections to Bar Association - Accordingly Secretary of Bar Association was asked to stop all further proceedings, while informing that Bar Council will constitute adhec committee for holding elections and particulars thereof will be intimated in short time - Aggrieved by said communiation petitioners/Members of Bar Association filed present writ petition - 1st respondent/Bar Council fairly conceded that except Bye law No.24 there is no other Bye law under which Bar Council an exercise its jurisdition or control over affairs of Bar Association - As per Bye law, only situation in which Bar Council can interfere is where elections are not held within in stipulated time for any reason what so ever, either on intimation given by General Secretary or any complaint or suo motu Executive Committee of Bar Council shall appoint an ad hoc Committee from senior Members of Asscoation to manage affairs of Association and to conduct elections as per schedule fixed by Bar Council and in such event, out going Board will duly handover charge to ad hoc Committee - In this case, 1st respondent/Bar Council intervened in election process was alleged illegalities committed by 2nd respondent/Election Officer in process of holding election and such a ground completely falls out side scope of Bye law No.22 - Interference of election process of 3rd respondent/Bar Association by Bar Council is wholly without jurisdiction - Impugned proceedigns are set aside - 2nd respondent/Election Officer is directed to resume election process from stage where it was stopped - Writ petition, accordingly allowed. G.Bala Subrahmanyam Vs. Bar Council of A.P., 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 274 = 2014(2) ALD 101 = 2014(1) ALT 264 = AIR 2014 (NOC) 223 (AP).

A.P.STATE ELECTRCITY BOARD EMPLOYEES DISCIPLINE AND APPEAL REGULATIONS, REGULATION:

A.P. SPORTS AUTHORITIES ACT, 1988:

—-Sec.23 - A.P. SPORTS AUTHORITIES RULES, Rule 25 - G.O.Ms.No.171, amending Rule 25 of Rules - 1st respondent/M.D of Sports Authority informed petitioner/Asst. Director that he would attain age of superannuation 58 years in April 2003, and he would retire from service on 30-4-2003, stating that he is entitled to remain in service till he attains age of 60 years in terms of Rule 25 - Petitioner continuing in service on basis of interim orders passed in writ petition filed by him - During pendency of writ petition 2nd respondent/ Govt. issued G.O.Ms.No.171 amending Rule 25 prescribing uniform age of 58 years for all employees of Authority - Writ petition filed by petitioner allowed by setting aside order of 1st respondent - On same day 1st respondent issued order directing retirement of petitioner forthwith on attaining age of 58 years - Petitioner challenges G.O.Ms.No.171 and consequential order contending that Rule 25 of Rules, as it stood before amendment protected rights of employees who were absorbed from Council and therefore there is absolutely no justification for 2nd respondent/Govt. in amending Rule taking away protection - Petitioner also contends that Rule 25 of Rules, before it was amended maintained clear distinction between persons that were employed before amendment comprising of those, who were in service of Sports Council and those that are appointed subsequent amendment - Protection given to employees who were made over to Authority Council and such right could not have been taken away by amending Rule - 1st respondent contends that Sec.23 of Act empower 2nd respondent/Govt. to frame Rules, but also to amend them - Once Rule is amended, there is no other option, except to retire petitioner, who admittedly crossed 58 years - In this case, no doubt petitioner attained age of superannuation during pendency of writ petition - However, High Court, while vacating interim order passed in his favour, specifically observed that if he is successful in writ petition, he would be entitled to consequential benefits - Hence, impugned order, set aside - Writ petition, allowed - 1st respondent directed to extend pay and other allowances applicable to post of Deputy Director held by petitioner till he attained age of 60 years from date of his retirement. K.Venkata Rao Vs. The Sports Authority of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 304 = 2010(6) ALD 675.

A.P.STATE ELECTRCITY BOARD EMPLOYEES DISCIPLINE AND APPEAL REGULATIONS, REGULATION:

—REGULATION 10(2)(a) - Enquiry Officer CGM of Company framed charges for alleged irregularities against petitioner and others - Thereafter respondent issued proceedings

A.P.STATE ELECTRCITY BOARD EMPLOYEES DISCIPLINE AND APPEAL REGULATIONS, REGULATION:

appointing retired District Judge in place of CGM and subsequently anothr order passed appointing other retired District Judge in the place of previous District Judge - Petitioner submitted explanation to show cause notice not only denying charges but also raising objection as to competence of respondent to appoint non-employee of Company as Enquiry Officer - Respondent passing order imposing punishment of cut in pension to extent of 100% and directing recovery of certain amount against petitioner - Petitioner contends that though specific objection was raised regarding replacement of Enquiry Officer or failure of subsequent Officers to frame charges, same was not taken into account - Once petitioner retired from service Enquiry ought not to have been continued particularly when charge sheet issued by first Enquiry Officer was cancelled by respondent - Respondent contends that though Regulation stipulates that an Officer who is superior in rank to delinquent employee shall be appointed as an Enquiry Officer, there is no prohibition against appointing an outsider as Enquiry Officer - Regulation 10 of Regulations clearly shows that it is only an Officer of respondent Company who is superior in rank to delinquent that can be appointed as Enquiry Officer - In this case, respondent appointed retired District Judge, who in turn, was replaced by another District Judge - This action of respondent is contrary to specific requirement and Regulation 10(2) (a) of Regulation - Hence, evidently, material irregularity has taken place in matter of appointment of Eqnuiry Officer - In fact disciplinary proceedings commence only with service of charge sheet - Admittedly, subsequent Enquiry Officer did not frame any charge and he proceeded on basis of charges framed by first one and same is untenable - Despite detailed explanation submitted by petitioner, respondent inflicted punishment on petitioner based on report submitted by Enquiry Officer - Writ petition, allowed. A.Lakshmaiah Chetty Vs. Central Power Distribution Co., of A.P. Ltd. 2008(3)Law Summary (A.P.) 67 = 2009(3) ALD (NOC) 33.

—10(2)(a) - Case registered against petitioner/LDC in E.R.O of 1st respondent, S.P.D.C, u/Secs.143,406,468, 420 & 120-B IPC for alleged misappropriation of Company's revenue - Basing on report of Enquiry Officer in Departmental enquiry 2nd respondent issued proceedings dismissing petitioner from service - 1st respondent/S.P.D.C confirmed order of dismissal - Hence, present writ petition - Petitioner contends that initiation of disciplinary proceedings simultaneously with criminal proceedings was impermissible under law and that procedure adopted by 2nd respondent in appointing Enquiry Officer even before giving opportunity to petitioners to explain alleged irregularities is contrary to procedure prescribed and Regulation 10(2) (a) of A.P.S.E.B Regulations and that impugned orders are liable to be set aside - Respondents contend that since no prejudice is caused to petitioner on account of alleged non-compliance with Regulation 10(2)(a) petitioner cannot be granted any relief - SCOPE AND OBJECT OF REGULATION 10(2)(a) - Stated - It mandates that appointing authority shall appoint an Enquiry Officer when he proposes to impose a major penalty and such a proposal can emerge only after ascertaining reviews or obtaining explanation from employee concerned - Procedure prescribed in regulation 10(2)(a) is of fundamental character and its violation by itself invalidates entire proceedings since need to appoint Enquiry Officer would arise only where disciplinary authority is not satisfied with explanation offered by delinquent and proposes to inflict a major penalty - Such a decision can be arrived at only when show cause notice or charge-sheet is given by disciplinary authority himself - In this case, except narrating events and extracting contents of explanation offered by petitioner, 2nd respondent did not assign any reasons in support of his decision to confirm punishment proposed - Impugned orders being ex facie arbitrary and illegal are liable to be set aside - Writ petitions, allowed. K.Sambasiva Rao Vs. S.P.D.C. of A.P. Ltd., Tirupathi 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 69 = 2010(1) ALD 776 = 2010(1) ALT 820.

A.P. STATE FINANCIAL CORPORATION ACT,1951:

A.P. STATE FINANCIAL CORPORATION ACT,1951:

—Sec.29 - Right of Corporation to sell property of borrower - Interpretation and application of Sec.29 of Act - Stated - Right of Corporation in case of default on part of borrower is a statutory power - For purpose of invoking Sec.29 of Act borrower must have a liability to Corporation under agreement and it must make a default in repayment of any loan or advance - Corporation has right to take over management or possession or both of industrial concerns - This power is in addition to power of right to transfer by way of lease or sale and realize property pledged, mortigaged, hypothecated or assigned to Corporation - Only in case of default such right can be exercised - But when power is conferred to sell property unilaterally, sale must have a nexus with mortgaged property - Right to sell property by Corporation must be exercised only in respect of mortgaged property and not one which is not subject matter thereof. M/s. Ormi Textiles Vs. State of U.P. 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 52.

—Sec.29 - Petitioner availed financial assistance from 1st respondent/Corporation for rice Mill - 1st respondent seized mill exercising power u/Sec.29 of Act on ground of default in payment of instalments and issued advertisement to sell Mill and ultimately sale deed executed in favour of 3rd respondent since he is lone bidder - Petitioner contends that very exercise of power u/Sec.29 is mala fide in asmuch as Mill was seized without making any formal demand for payment of arrears - Extraordinary powers are conferred upon State Financial Corporation to straightaway proceed to sell units bypassing regular procedure of approaching Courts - Time and again Hon'ble Supreme Court held that such an extraordinary power is coupled with duty to ensure that sale of unit u/ Sec.29 fetches maximum price - In this case, acts and omissions on part of respondents 1 and 4 that lead to sale of Mill at a price less than assessed value of property, particularly when others were prepared to purchase it for higher price is nothing but mala fide and result of a capricious and unreasonable exercise of power - Exercise of power u/Sec.29 can be said to be reasonable only when its dominant consideration is to secure best price - Efforts of respondents 1 and 4 were exactly in opposite direction - There action is not only unfair and unreasonable but also mala fide - Sale of Mill of petitioner in favour of 3rd respondent, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Sri Venkateswara Rice Mill Vs. APSFC 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 109 = 2009(2) ALD 530 = 2009(3) ALT 552.

—Sec.29 – 2nd petitioner, partner of 1st petitioner's Firm availed loan from Corporation to construct Commercial Complex by mortgaging land and proposed constructions through deposit of title deeds – Since petitioner committed default in payment of loan, mortgaged property brought to sale and sale confirmed in favour of 4th respondent, since petitioner did not pay amount - Petitioner contends that extraordinary power u/Sec.29 must be utilized by Corporation to ensure that mortgaged property fetches maximum price and in this case, efforts were made only in reverse direction - Corporation is vested with extraordinary power u/Sec.29 of Act and it is relieved of necessity to approach civil Court either for decree for amount due or execution of decree, if passed – It is not only assigned rolls of trial Court and executing Court but is also relieved of ordeal of trial and enquiry and with a stroke of pen, it can bring about sale of property offered as security - In this case, value of property assessed at 27.37 lakhs and reserve bid ought to have been for that amount - Only two tenders were received before last date and tender received after last date was fairly higher price and that itself is a clear indication that if adequate publicity was given, many more offers would have been received for higher amounts – Corporation and 4th respondent dragged matter for one year and by that time there was further escalation of prices - District register certified that property would have fetched Rs.37.47 lakhs – No justification for Corporation in not going for fresh tender - Sale effected by Corporation in favour of 4th respondent is contrary to law laid down by Supreme Court – Sale in favour of 4th respondent, set aside – Writ petition, allowed. Padmavathi Commercial Complex Vs. A.P.S.F.C. 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2009(1) ALD 653.

A.P. STATE FINANCIAL CORPORATION ACT,1951:

—Sec.29 - LIMITATION ACT - Petitioner, Fertilizer Company availed loan in 1967 from respondent/Corporation and failed to clear loan amount under OTS Scheme - Hence, respondent/Corporation took steps to invoke provisions of Sec.29 of Act for sale of petitioner's factory - Contention that admittedly petitioners not made any payment from 1967 to 1992, for period of 25 years and that having slept over for nearly 33 years, Corporation not entitled to invoke provisions of A.P. Revenue Recovery Act or 1951 Act - Statute of Limitation only bars remedy but does not extinguish debt - " The general rule, at least with respect to debts or money demands, is that a statute of limitation bars, or runs against, the remedy and does not discharge a debt or extinguish or impair the right, obligation, or cause of action" - A time barred debt can be recovered by creditor by enforcing lien for obtaining satisfaction of debt even though an action thereon would be time barred - Provisions of Limitation Act do not bar respondents from invoking provisions of Sec.29 of 1951 Act to recover a time barred loan - Writ petition, dismissed. Kumar Chemicals & Fertilizers (P) Ltd.,Hyd., Vs. A.P.I.D. Corpn.,Ltd., Hyderabd 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 127 = 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 76 = 2008(3) ALD 168 = 2008(2) ALT 484 = AIR 2008 AP 101.

—Secs.29 & 31 - Appellant/Corporation granted loan to respondent's Company to an extent of Rs.100 lakhs - Property of guarantors/appellants was mortgaged as collateral security - Corporation in exercise of its powers u/Sec.29 took possession of property of guarantors - Respondent contend that appellant Corporation could not have proceeded against guarantors u/Sec.29 of Act - High Court quashed orders passed by Corporation and directed not to proceed against property of surety mortgaged u/Sec.29 of Act - Appellant contends that High Court committed serious error in passing judgment and failed to take into consideration that it is within jurisdiction of Corporation to take possession of said property also, irrespective of fact as to same belonged to industrial concern or not - Sec.29 of Act nowhere stated that Corporation can proceed against surety even if some properties are mortgaged or hypothecated by it - Right of Corporation must be exercised on defaulting party - There cannot be any default as is envisaged in Sec.29 by a surety or a guarantor - Sec.29 (4) lays down appropriation of sale proceeds only refers to industrial concern and not a surety or a guarantor - Rights and liabilities of a surety and principal borrower are different and distinct - INTERPRETATION OF SEC.29 AND 31 - Interpretation of statute would not depend upon a contingency - It has to be interpreted on its own - It is a trite law that Court would ordinarily take recourse to golden rule of literal interpretation - Object of Act would be a relevant factor for interpretation only when language is not clear and when two meanings are possible and not in a case where plain language leads to only one conclusion - Intention of Parliament in enacting Secs.29 & 31 not similar - Sec.31 takes within its sweep both property of industrial concern and as that of surety - None of provisions control each other - Parliament intended to provide additional remedy for recovery of amount in favour of Corporation by proceedings against surety only in terms of Sec.31 of Act and not u/Sec.29 - When more than one remedy is provided for an option is given to a suiter to opt for one or other remedy - Such provision is not ultra vires - Appeals, dismissed. Karnataka State Financial Corpn., Vs. N. Narasimhaiah2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 228.

A.P. STATE FINANCIAL CORPORATION ACT,1951:

—Secs.32G, 29,31,32, r/w A.P. REVENUE RECOVERY ACT, 1864 - Petitioners offered their agricultural lands as collateral securities for loan borrowed by one AKR, proprietor of Textile Industry - Since principal borrower failed to repay loan amount, demand notice issued prior to attachments of immovable properties of petitioners - 2nd petitioner approached 2nd respondent/Branch Manager with an undertaking letter to discharge entire amounts by a particular date and not to proceed further in pursuance of demand notice - Thereafter properties of petitioner were attached - Hence present writ petition filed apprehending that respondents will proceed with sale of attached properties - Respondent-Corporation contends that in response to demand notice prior to attachment petitioners approached respondent with an offer to make payment on a particular date and having not honoured commitment petitioners once again approached respondents with fresh offer of payment of certain amount and therefore no prejudice caused to petitioner due to non issue of notice prior to issuance of recovery certificate - Sec.32G is envisaged as one more remedy other than provisions of Secs.29,31,32 of Act for recovery of outstanding dues and that Sec.32G contemplates that where an amount is due an Officer will make an application to State Govt., and that State Govt., after following procedure shall proceed to recover that amount as arrears of land revenue and that till recovery of outstanding amounts, attachment order shall continue to be in operation - Writ petition, dismissed. Naripeddi Nagavalli Devi Vs. A.P.S.F.C.,Ltd.Hyderabad 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 324 = 2012(1) ALD 439 = 2012(2) ALT 354.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM CONTROL ORDER, 2001:

A.P. STATE HIGHER JUDICIAL SERVICES SPECIAL RULES FOR AD HOC APPOINTMENTS 2001:

— Appointment of District and Sessions Judge - Petitioners and each of them were successful in test conducted for ad hoc appointment of District & Sessions Judge (Entry Level) to preside over Fast Track Courts on 14-10-2003, in terms of Rules of Andhra Pradesh State Higher Judicial Service Special Rules for Ad hoc Appointments, 2001 - According to them they are entitled to be absorbed permanently as District & Sessions Judge (Entry Level) in view of the length of service - All four petitioners, in response to notification dated 13-08-2012, along with other candidates applied for taking the test in order to be absorbed - All Writ Petitioners duly secured minimum qualifying marks in the written test, as such they were invited to take viva voce test - According to them, in spite of securing qualifying marks in written test, and taking viva voce test they were not selected for appointment - No reason has been disclosed as to why they were not selected - It was contended by the respondents 3 and 4 that Selection Committee found the Petitioners and each of them could not secure 40% qualifying marks in viva voce and also the consolidated qualifying marks both in written and viva voce tests - Hon'ble Committee laid down 40% of qualifying marks in viva voce also - Therefore, there is nothing wrong in decision of excluding petitioners as they did not qualify in viva voce test nor they did secure aggregate qualifying marks of 40% - Held, therefore, it emerges after reading of authoritative pronouncements of the Supreme Court that if rules do not permit to adopt any different criteria, Selection Committee cannot fix of its own - Minimum qualifying marks in viva voce test cannot be laid down after written test is over - However, it is possible before commencement of selection committee process, provided it conforms to rule - In view of aforesaid discussion, this Court hold that decision of Selection Committee declaring that petitioners and each of them are not eligible to be absorbed for not securing minimum qualifying marks in viva voce or aggregate qualifying marks in written and viva voce is illegal and arbitrary - Therefore, Court direct respondents to appoint petitioners and each of them as they have qualified in the written test and have also taken viva voce test - This appointment shall be made within a period of one month from date of communication of this order, subject to compliance with other formalities as required under law - Both the writ petitions are accordingly allowed. P.Murali Mohana Reddy Vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 123 = 2015(4) ALD 156 = 2015(3) ALT 628.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM CONTROL ORDER, 2001:

—Authorisation issued under Order, Conditions 1 & 9 - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, Sec.6-A - 3rd respondent/RDO and Vigilance Officials seized FFW rice for alleged contravention of Conditions of Authorisation and temporarily cancelled Authorisation of petitioner on ground that he stored huge quantity of FFW rice in unauthorised premises with intention to divert said stock into block market - Petitioner contends that he is running FP shop in a small tin shed and since he found it to be unsafe to store huge quantity of

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM CONTROL ORDER, 2001:

FFW rice in said shop which may be damaged due to rain or vagaries of nature, he shifted shop to his house - Since concerned Contractors and Engineers did not issue Muster Rolls and Coupons, FFW rice could not be distributed to labourers and that action of respondents for seizure of essential commodities u/Sec.6-A of Act cannot be a ground to suspend or cancel his Authorisation and that respondents had not initiated separate proceedings for cancellation or suspension of Authorisation - Nature of proceedings u/Sec.6-A of E.C Act and proceedings for cancellation or suspension of Authorisation under provisions of Control Orders are different and distinct - Authorities under E.C Act and Control Orders for initiating proceedings are also different and distinct - Appointing Authority under Control Order cannot pass interim orders of suspension of Authorisation on ground of mere pendency of enquiry u/Sec.6-A of E.C Act - Impugned order of cancellation of petitioner's Authorisation, unsustainable - Writ petition, allowed. Azmeera Boopathi Nayak Vs. District Collector (Civil Supplies) Karimnagar 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 5 = 2008(4) ALD 513.

—Cl.5 - G.O.Ms.No.53, dt.6-10-2003 - Appointment of F.P. shop dealer - Petitioner appeared for interview alongwith 6 other candidates - While conducting interview 4th respondent/RDO gave question paper and asked for written examination and subsequently selected 5th respondent as F.P. shop dealer - Petitioner contends that when rules governing field do not contemplate conducting written examination, very selection process is vitiated and impugned selection of 5th respondent is unsustainable and liable to be quashed - Respondents contend that petitioner participated and also taken up written examination and after completion of selection process, being unsuccessful, he is now questioning the procedure adopted by Appointing Authority is bad in law and violative of Articles 14, 16 & 21 of Constitution of India - It is no doubt true that G.O.Ms.No.53, does not contemplate conducting written examination as such, however 4th respondent/RDO appears to have adopted a simple procedure of giving certain questions inviting certain answers - Though writ petitioner says that he had lodged protest at time of written examination, it is not in controversy that petitioner also participated in selection process till logical end and having been unsuccessful, thought of approaching Court by filing present writ petition - Though procedure adopted by appointing Authority, in conducting examination may not be in consonance with G.O.Ms.No.53, in light of factual situation in this case, Court is not inclined to disturb appointment - Writ petition, dismissed. Ch.Shankar Rao Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 343 = 2008(4) ALD (NOC) 56.

—Cl.5(4) and 17 - Conditions 11 and 13 of Authorisation issued under said Control Order, 2001 - Memo No.26776/91 - Basing on report submitted by Special Deputy Tahsildar complaining that petitioner/dealer diverted certain quantity of rice meant for distribution under Food For Work (FFW) Programme - 1st respondent/Sub-Collecot or issued show cause notice to which petitioner submitted explanation - 1st respondent/ original authority passed order cancelling Authorisation of petitioner without considering explanation and same confirmed by 2nd respondent/Joint Collector/appellate authority and 3rd respondent/District Collector revisional authority - Hence present writ petition

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM CONTROL ORDER, 2001:

- 1st respondent is competent original authority to initiate disciplinary proceedings regarding alleged irregularities committed by FP shop dealers and he has to discharge his duties as a quasi-judicial authority and should act in conformity with principles of natural justice - Under provisions of Control Order concerned, reasons for passing orders of suspension or cancellation to be recorded in writing - When Statute contemplates that reasons should be recorded in writing, competent authority is expected to consider explanation of delinquent and when such explanation is not acceptable, it should record reasons as to why such explanation is not acceptable - Giving reasons is sine qua non for exercise of quasi judicial power - If reasons are not assigned, order, however laudable in its result,cannot be commended - In this case, perusal of orders passed by respondents-original, appellate and revisional authorities as well, would show that said orders do not comply with principles of natural justice - In this case, 1st respondent/ original authority in his order did not deal with explanation offered by petitioner, except stating that explanation is not convincing and he has not assigned any reasons as to why explanation of petitioner is not convincing - 2nd respondent, who is appellate authority while dismissing appeal through his order merely repeated ultimate result stating that there is no reason to interfere with orders of cancellation - Even 3rd respondent who is revisional authority though sought to justify order passed by original authority as well as appellate authority - At primary stage, a duty is cast on competent authority to pass a speaking order in accordance with law and defects if any committed at primary stage is not liable to be cured at appellate stage or at revisional stage to detriment and interest of party - Order impugned cannot stand scrutiny of law and hence liable to quashed - Writ petition, allowed - Matter remanded to 1st respondent/ Sub-Collector with direction to consider matter afresh and pass orders in accordance with law. Kamala Kumari Vs. The Sub-Collector, Vijayawada, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 228 = 2011(3) ALD 73 = 2011(3) ALT 606.

Cl.21 - LIMITATION ACT, Secs.5 & 29(2) - Condonation of delay in filing revision - It is clear from sub-section(i) of Sec.21 of Control Order that revision Application has to be made within 30days from date of communication to person aggrieved - In this case, revision Appli-cation was made indisputably beyond 30 days from communication of order - It is clear from aforesaid Cl.21 that thre is no express power of condonation of delay nor there is provision at same time to exclude applicability of Secs.4 to 24 of Limitation Ac, by virture of sub-sec(2) of Sec.29 of Act - Upon reading of sub-section (2) of Sec.2 of Sec.29 of Limitation Act it is manifest that Sec.5 of Limitation Act will be applicable consequetly enforceable of thre is no express exclusion of applicability of same, as indisputably the said control order is local law if not special one - This Court hold that reading of both provisions, Sec.5 will have application and consequently the revising authority is empowered to condone delay - By virtue of Sec.29 of Limitation Act revising authority has power to condone delay u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act in filing Revision - Appeals dismissed. Santhammatalli Mahilasakthi Sangam (DWCRA),E.G.Dist. Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 523 = 2015(1) ALD 508 = 2014(6) ALT 785.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM CONTROL ORDER, 2001:

—Cl.21(i) - F.P. Shop Authorisation of 5th respondent cancelled in 2007 on ground of her not residing in village - Eventually she succeeded before 3rd respondent/Joint Collector who allowed appeal filed by her - Petitioner filed revision before 2nd respondent/ District Collector along with Application for condonation of delay - 2nd respondent/ District dismissed Application for condonation of delay holding that it is not civil Court and Sec.5 of Limitation has no application - Petitioner contends that while it is not in dispute that 2nd respondent/Collector is not a civil Court, still he is entitled to condone delay in filing revision petition in same way as respondent No.3/Joint Collector has entertained appeal filed by 5th respondent beyond prescribed period of limitation - Admittedly 2nd respondent is not civil Court and therefore provisions of Sec.5 of Limitation Act have no application and that provisions of Control order do not empower District Collector to entertain revision petition beyond prescribed period of limitation - Impugned order whereby petitioner's application of condonation of delay has been rejected does not suffer from any illegality or infirmity - Order of District Collector - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. Akula Veeraiah Vs. The Commissioner of Civil Supplies, Hyd., 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 245 = 2011(4) ALD 294= 2011(4) ALT 51 = AIR 2011 AP 87.

—Cl.22 - Conditions 7,17,22 of Authorisation - Petitioner-FP shop dealer preferred Appeal before 1st respondent/JC against orders of 2nd respondent/RDO suspending her authorisation for alleged violation of provisions of Control Order, 2001 - Pursuance of orders of Joint Collector, RDO, taken up case and cancelled petitioner's Authorisation - Petitioner contends that order passed by RDO, does not contain any reasons and same is a nullity and that RDO simply came to conclusion that charges framed against FP shop dealer are grave in nature and it is not just and proper to allow dealer to deal with essential commodities - From leading of order of RDO it is clear that order is absolutely a non-speaking one bereft of any reasons whatsoever and that RDO, having framed charges against petitioner, primary burden is on RDO to prove petitioner is guilty of those charge and if she fails to discharge onus shifted on her, it will then be permissible for RDO to hold that charges are proved against her - In this case, RDO thrown the burden completely on petitioner, to prove in negative that she has not committed any irregularities - Every judicial and quasi-judicial authority has duty to give reasons - Duty to give reasons constitutes an integral part of natural justice and absence of reasons violates principles of natural justice - Impugned order passed by 2nd respondent/RDO, suffers from serious infraction of principles ofnatural justice and hence, quashed - Writ petition, allowed. Katamreddi Vasundhara Vs. Joint Collector, Anantapur 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 204 = 2008(4) ALD 539 = 2008(4) ALT 475.

— and CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.21 - Appointment of F.P. Shop dealer - Pursuant to notification issued by 3rd respondent-RDO, petitioner, graduate, belonging to S.C submitted his application and attended for interview alongwith 4th respondent - RDO, appointed 4th respondent belonging to Reddy community under General category and an unemployee - 2nd respondent-Joint Collector dismissed Appeal with finding that appellant is no doubt, graduate and S.C candidate, he has got chances of employment while 4th respondent is having knowledge in Civil Supplies and his financial position is satisfactory - 1st respondent-District Collector dismissed Revision, holding that appointing authority followed procedure and there is no rule that highest qualified person to be considered for appointment of F.P. Shop dealer - In this case, petitioner takes specific stand that though he is graduate, he comes from a poor family and that too belonging to S.C and that original Authority, Appellate Authority and Revisional Authority made orders in a mechanical way without considering merits and demerits of candidates in proper perspective - On careful scrutiny of orders, it is clear that order of primary appointing Authority in a way had been mechanically confirmed by appellate authority and also by revisional authority and no convincing reasons as such had been recorded - In a case of appointment to be made even as F.P. Shop dealers, procedure as specified by Rules and Regulations, Guidelines and relevant Control Orders may have to be followed - While considering merits and demerits of matter, reasons may have to be recorded and in this case orders made by authorities cannot be said to be just and proper - When original order made by appointing authority itself is bad, order of appellate authority and also revisional authority need not be seriously considered - Since orders are passed without application of mind and without any acceptable or convincing reasons all these orders are quashed - Writ petition, allowed. B.Hanmanthu Vs. The Collector, Mahabubnagar Dt. 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 260 = 2008(6) ALD (NOC) 95.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM CONTROL ORDER, 2001:

—G.O.Ms.No.8 of 2006 - 3rd respondent/RDO cancelled F.P. Shop dealership of petitioner basing on Report submitted by 4th respondent for alleged irregularities, without giving oppor-tunity - Pursuant to directions of High Court 2nd respondent/Joint Collector on erroneous view of law and fact dismissed appeal and confirmed order of RDO - 1st respondent/District Collector in routine and mechanical manner dismissed Revision by confirming orders passed by RDO and Joint Collector - Petitioner contends that impugned orders suffer from basic infirmities and that order passed by RDO, is not substantiated with any corroborative material evidence except political pressures exerted on him and that appellate authority as well as revisional authority merely confirmed same without application of mind - When show cause notice was issued for purpose of calling for explanation relating to suspension pending enquiry, cancellation made by RDO, is bad in law - In instant case, prima facie, evidently, show cause notice issued to petitioner was one proposing suspension of authorisation, whereas Joint Collector cancelled authorisation on strength of such notice and such a course of action is imper-missible - Proceedings quashed. S.Subhashini Vs. District Collector (Civil Supplies) Anantapur 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 48.

—Rules issued under G.O.Ms.No.53, Rule 9 (1) - Appointment of F.P. Shop dealership - Pursuant to notification, petitioner, one MRB and 4 others applied - 3rd respondent/ RDO appointed MRB as F.P. Shop dealer on ground that he is post graduate, ignoring Rule 9 (1) of G.O. Ms.No.53 - 2nd respondent/Joint Collector allowed appeal, setting aside appointment of MRB who obtained interim suspension of order of 2nd respondent/ Joint Collector, by filing writ petition - Since MRB resigned on some allegations, writ petition dismissed and 3rd respondent made alternative arrangements for distribution of commodities - Inspite of several represen-tations by petitioner to implement orders of 2nd respondent and appoint him as FP shop dealer of village in view of dismissal of writ petition, 3rd respondent issued fresh Notification calling for applications to fill up vacancy caused due to resignation of MRB - In this case, 2nd respondent/Joint Collector in his order specifically observed that petitioner fulfils all conditions required for appointment as F.P. Shop dealer and his plea for appointment can be considered by appointing authority as per merit - 3rd respondent is bound to follow order of Joint Collector, but without considering case of petitioner, Notification issued for fresh appointment - When order had been made by Appellate Authority, Joint Collector said order to be implemented by 3rd respondent/RDO - Action of respondents in issuing fresh Notification for appointment of dealer in respect of concerned village totally ignoring order of Joint Collector is illegal and arbitrary - Hence, Notification quashed - Writ petition, allowed. P.Pullaiah Vs. District Collector (CS), Krishna 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 280 = 2008(6)ALD (NOC) 96 = 2008(1) APLJ 128.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—RDO cancelled FP shop authorization of petitioner for alleged irregularities of not supplying commodities to card holders properly and committing irregularities in maintaining the FP shop - Without considering the explanation 3rd Respondent Joint Collector dismissed Appeal filed by the petitioner while confirming orders of RDO - District Collector dismissed Revision filed by the petitioner while confirming orders of RDO and Joint collector.

Petitioner contends that District collector posted case for hearing on a particular date on particular time at his Chamber at Chittor – When petitioner went there along with her Counsel but on the same day District Collector went to Tirupathi for official work directing petitioner to attend Office of RDO at Tirupathi – Counsel appearing before revisional authority collector refused to proceed to Tirupathi as he had to attend other cases at Chittoor - Having no other alternative petitioner rushed to Tirupathi attended hearing and made request for adjournment of the hearing of case on ground that her counsel is not present – However her request not acceded to and ultimately she submitted that she was not involved in any irregularities – Thereafter the collector reserved case and passed impugned order dismissing revision without giving an opportunity of hearing.

Contention of petitioner in the present case is that no meaningful opportunity of hearing was given to her, thus violating principles of natural justice and that principle ground urged by the petitioner is with regard to violation of principles of natural justice, as petitioner was informed at the last minute as to the change of venue and thereby she was deprived of opportunity of hearing - In these circumstances impugned order is liable to be set aside - Writ petition, allowed. N.Bhaskaramma Vs. State of A.P. 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 67 = 2016(3) ALT 474 = 2016(3) ALD 566.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—3rd respondent/RDO passed order suspending FP shop Authorisation of petitioner and same confirmed by 2nd respondent/JC and 1st respondent/District Collector in Appeal and Revision - In this case, though explanation of petitioner and report from Tahsildar also received, impugned order passed without indicating as to whether said impugned order substantive in nature or pending further enquiry - If suspension is by way of substantive penalty same should be for a limited period, but no such limitation period indicated - 3rd respondent/RDO filed counter affidavit stating that having regard to bad history of petitioner, he has suspended authorisation after giving show cause notice and opportunity to petitioner to submit his objections - It is axiomatic that an order of suspension can be either interim or final in nature - In constrast to an order of cancellation, an order of suspension can be for limited period irrespective of whether such order is interim or final in nature - Impugned order passed by RDO can be construed as final in nature - Curiously 3rd respondent/RDO failed to indicate period for which petitioner's authorisation is suspended, even if same was intended to be a measure of penalty - Impugned order thus suffers from a serious flaw rendering itself illegal and unenforceable - Impugned order, quashed - Writ petition, allowed. Palle Peeraiah Vs. The District Collector at Warangal, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 87 = 2011(2) ALD 483 = 2011(2) ALT 30.

—As against order of suspension of authorisation on certain allegations, passed by 1st respondent/RDO, petitioner filed writ petition and obtained certain directions to RDO to pass final orders after considering petitioner's explanation - RDO passing final orders cancelling petitioner's authorisation, observing that petitioner has not attended hearing on date fixed for that purpose, he did not attend at schedule time - In impugned order of cancellation of petitioner's authorisation 1st respondent/RDO neither referred to charges nor contents of explanation submitted by petitioner and by a cryptic observation, RDO stated that petitioner's explanation is not convincing and that charges framed against him are proved - In this case, RDO has indulged in serious violation of principles of natural justice and therefore impugned order cannot be sustained in law and liable to be quashed - Writ petition, allowed. Kondamudi Benerjee Vs. R.D.O, Ongole, Prakasam 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 6 = 2011(2) ALD 477 = 2011(4) ALT 119.

—Petitioner's F.P. shop Authorisation cancelled by Tahsildar basing on report of MRI after considering explanation filed by petitioner to all charges for alleged irregularities, observing that petitioner being temporary dealer committed irregularities and said order confirmed by RDO and Joint Collector in appeal and revision - Order passed by 3rd respondent suffers from total non-application of mind and reasons assigned by him are not germane - Whether dealer is permanent or temporary will not make any difference in deciding these questions - Even if dealer is a temporary dealer, he is entitled to continue till he is removed - In this case, no part of petitioner's explanation offered in respect of charges has been examined by respondent no.3 except mechanically extracting parts of explanation offered by petitioner in respect of each charge and in conclusion, 3rd respondent made a cryptic observation that explanation of petitioner is not convincing Respondents have not cited any regulation, which prevents a dealer from studying Distance Education Course of MBA - Similarly minor variation of stock of rice to extent of 22kgs as against stock of 6.22 Qts, petitioner gave satisfactory explanation - Other charges against petitioners are too trivial - Impugned orders passed by respondents 1 to 3 suffer from serious and patent illegality - Authorisation of petitioner shall stand restored forthwith and he shall be continued as temporary dealer till vacancy is filled up on permanent basis. K.Bharath Vs. The Collector (Civil Supplies), Chittoor , 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 47 = 2011(2) ALD 520 = 2011(1) ALT 655.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

— "Registration of criminal case against dealer" - "Disqualification" - Criminal case registered against petitioner/dealer for forgery of pahani - Respondent seized shop and handedover stock to some other F.P shop dealer for distribution - Petitioner, after being unsuccessful to convince respondents to restore distribution of essential commodities, he filed present writ petition contending that alleged forgery of pahani on basis of which criminal case has been registered against him has nothing to do with discharge of duties as F.P shop dealer and that there is no provision under Control order empowers respondents to take Departmental action on mere registration of criminal case, unless F.P shop dealer is convicted for offence - In this case, except registration of a case, no allegations are pending against petitioner in connection with running of F.P. Shop and that unless petitioner is convicted for any offence, he does not incur any disqualification for continuing as F.P. shop dealer - In absence of any provision bringing about automatic termination of authorisation on account of pendency of criminal case, petitioner cannot be deprived of his right to run F.P shop on mere allegation of registration of criminal case, that too unconnected with running of F.P shop - So long as petitioner's authorisation subsists, he is entitled to function as F.P shop dealer - Respondents are directed to permit petitioner to function as FP shop dealer as long as his authorisation continues to remain in force - W.P, allowed. Banoth Ramesh Vs. State of A.P. , 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 4 = 2011(2) ALD 474 =2011(1) ALT 485.

——"Suspension of FP shop authorisation" - Basing on inspection of 2nd respondent/ Tahsildar, supply of essential commodities stopped to petitioner's shop and entrusted shop to neighbouring dealer - High Court passed order in W.P. directing respondent to permit petitioner to function as FP shop dealer so long as his Authorisation has not been suspended by passing specific order - In mean time, 1st respondent RDO, issued show cause notice and passed impugned order suspending authorisation after considering petitioner's explanation - In this case, perusal of impugned order does not indicate as to whether said suspension was substantive in nature or made pending further enquiry if any - If suspension is by way of a substantive penalty, same should be for limited period - No such period is indicated - Therefore, impugned order, which is styled as suspension, cannot be sustained and same is quashed - Writ petition, allowed. R.Venkat Goud Vs. RDO, Kamareddy 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 200 = 2011(3) ALD 52 = 2011(3) ALT 605.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—- 2nd redspondent/RDO passed order suspending the FP shop Authorization of petitioner on ground that petitioner has allowed a benami to run FP shop - In impugned order it is clearly mentioned that in Report of Deputy Tahsildar Civil Supplies he has mentioned that there was no variation in stocks in FP shop - While exercising power of suspension appointing Authority needs to use a proper sense of proportion and power of suspension cannot be exercised as a matter of course - Main purpose of keeping dealership under suspension pending enquiry is to prevent dealer from tampering of record - Only when serious allegations of commissions and omissions in distribution of essential commodities is made out and prima facie case is established against dealer, power of suspension of authorization has to exercised - In this case, considering fact that petitioner's FP shop is run without any variations between stock register and ground stock and without their being any complaint from any card holders, of improper distribution of commodities and in absence of any allegation that petitioner or person who is allegedly running FP shop as benami is indulging in acts such as diversion of essemtial commodities into block market, hasty action of 2nd respondent/ RDO suspending petitioner authorization, unsustainable - Impugned order passed by RDO, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Thyrumala Setty Phanindra Vs. District Collector (CS), Guntur, 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 46 = 2013(4) ALD 540 = 2013(5) ALT 237.

—— RDO passed orders suspending FP shop authorization of petitioner for alleged imputations of non display of price and stock list, details of license and timings of FP shop, non-maintenance of register and improper distribution of essential commodities to card holders - Admittedly there are no variations between stock register and ground balance - High Court has been time and again cautioning licensing and disciplinary authorities not to indulge in extreme action of suspending F.P. Shop authorization on trivial, frivolous and jejune grounds - However, said order of RDO, does not deserve to exist, even momentarily, pending disposal of appeal before 2nd respondent/Joint Collector - Order passed by RDO is suspended till disposal of appeal - Writ petition, allowed accordingly. D.V.Ramanamma Vs. The Govt. of A.P., 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 295 = 2015(1) ALD 683.

—R2/RDO issued impugned show cause notices cum suspension orders to petitioners based on report of Tahsildar for alleged imputations against petitioners that they have not distributing commodities on all 30 days, not treating card holders respectfully, not maintaining registers properly , distributing commodities under weighing and over pricing, not displaying stock board-cum-price lists and allowing some persons as benami - Respondents specifically pleaded that RDO suspended their authorizations at the instance of local MLA – In this case, there is no specific allegations of misfeasance and malfeasance in running Shops such as diversion of commodities into block market/ nor R2 found any variations in stock and all these allegations are absolutely Generic in nature without reference to any particular instance with regard to commodities distributed by the petitioners - Family member of FP Shop of dealer is entitled to assist him/her in running shop - Despite pronouncement of High Court's view in no uncertain terms in judgments, there is a spate of suspension of authorizations of FP Shop dealers in State of AP in recent times – High Court has been noticing that such suspension orders are being passed at will - In absence of specific instances pertaining to allegations mentioned in impugned orders, action of RDO in resorting to suspension of authorizations wholly uncalled for – Allegations made by RDO remained unsubstantiated in orders and they do not warrant a drastic action of suspension of authorization pending enquiry - Impugned orders to extent of suspending FP shop authorizations of all petitioners are set aside, leaving petitioners free to submit their explanations to show cause notices – Writ petitions allowed accordingly. S.Babjan Vs. Government of A.P. 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 297 = 2015(3) ALD 659 = AIR 2015 (NOC) 783 (Hyd).

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Ordinarily no fair price shop dealer would like to quit his assignment - If such extraordinary desire is expressed by any dealer, it is incumbent upon the appointing authority to put the dealer on notice before accepting the resignation as, foul play by vested interests cannot be ruled out - Therefore, this Court cannot appreciate the action of respondent No. 3 (Revenue Divisional Officer) in purporting to ratify the hasty and unauthorised action of respondent No. 4 (Tahsildar) without even trying to get the confirmation from the petitioner as to whether he has sent his resignation out of his free will or the same is secured by any vested interests by force - Failure of respondent No. 3 to make an enquiry in this regard by issuing notice to petitioner vitiates the entire action of respondent Nos. 3 and 4 in easing out the petitioner from the fair price shop dealership - As respondent No.3 has not properly exercised his jurisdiction in acting on the purported resignation of the petitioner, his action culminating in acceptance/ratification of resignation of the petitioner is declared as illegal and the impugned order is, accordingly, set aside - Writ petition is accordingly allowed. Chinnareddigari Sambasiva Reddy Vs. The State of AP 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 77= 2015(1) ALD 645 = 2015(1) ALT 472 = AIR 2015 (NOC) 290.

—-R2/RDO suspending authorisation of petitioner while issuing show cause notice for alleged charges of not distributing Kherson even after lapse of one month by keeping Kerosene in community building instead of his Shop premises and issuing EC's 3 or 4 days only in a month with less weighments and also for alleged variations in Rice and Sugar - Petitioner submitted expla-nation categorically stating that he was awaiting release orders for distribution of Kerosene which was deliberately not issued by Revenue Inspector in order to put him in problem and further clearly explained that he has been distributing Kerosene form Community building for long time and that alleged variation are false and Inspecting Officer has deliberately mentioned that variation exist - Order of suspension of FP shop Authorisation being punitive in nature cannot be resorted to on trivial and flimsy grounds - In this case nature of allegation on which R2/R.D.O has suspended the petitioner's FP shop Authorisation does not warrant such suspension – Each one of allegation made against petitioner needs detailed verification in enquiry and without holding such enquiry R.D.O., was unjustified in suspending petitioner's authorisation – Impugned order, set-side - W.P. allowed. K.Bhaskar Naik Vs. The State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 103 = 2015(3) ALD 104 = 2015(1) ALT 168.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—"Purported resignation letter of petitioner, F.P. Shop dealer" - Petitioner contends that R5/Revenue Inspector has forced him to send his resignation letter on the purported ground of his ill health and therefore, superior officials ought not to have acted upon such resignation letter - Basing on that letter Tahsildar, has issued proceedings appointing neighbouring F.P. Shop dealer as in charge of petitioner's F.P. Shop - In this case very resignation letter itself contains statement of petitioner that he has been sending same on pressure exerted by respondent No.5/Revenue Inspector and therefore, this Court has no hesitation to hold that purported resignation letter is involuntary and same was evidently orchestrated by respondent No.5 - Writ petition allowed, with a direction to respondent No.4/R.D.O. to treat the petitioner as having never resigned from post of F.P. Shop dealer - Respondent No.2/Joint Collector, is directed to examine conduct of Respondent No.5 and consider initiation of disciplinary proceedings against him for forcibly obtaining resignation letter from petitioner. Machepalli Hanumantha Rao Vs. State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 272 = 2015(3) ALD 413 = 2015(4) ALT 684 = AIR 2015 AP 20.

—NON PASSING OF ORDER ON STAY APPLICATIONS BY APPELLATE AND REVISIONAL AUTHORITIES - R4/SUB-COLLECTOR/R.D.O. Cancelled the petitioners F.P. Shop Authorisation on two allegations viz., that a person by name PS was found running petitioner's F.P. Shop and that there was variation of Q 4-80 of rice - Petitioner has clearly explained that said PS is no other than his father's own brother and without proper verification of Sales and Stock Registers it was alleged that there was variation of Q 4-80 of rice - Aggrieved by the said order petitioner filed appeal before R3/Joint Collector, along with Stay petition - During pendency of appeal petitioner filed writ petition with grievance that R3/Joint Collector, has not passed any order on Stay Application - High Court, disposed of Writ Petition filed by petitioner with a direction to R3/ Joint Collector to dispose of appeal and that till such disposal petitioner shall be continued as F.P. Shop Dealer – Subsequently R3/ Joint Collector dismissed Appeal – Petitioner filed Revision before R2/ Collector along with Stay Application - Since R2/Collector, has not passed any order on Stay Application, Petitioner filed present

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

Writ Petition - In present case when High Court itself has passed an order directing continuance of petitioner as F.P. Shop dealer till disposal of Appeal, R2/ Collector, ought to have taken a cue from same and granted interim order in favour of petitioner and more so, when R4/R.D.O. has not held even a semblance of enquiry before cancelling the petitioner's F.P. Shop authorisation - In the light of these allegations, an obligation was caste on R4/R.D.O. to make a detailed enquiry with reference to entries in Sales and Stock Register and by giving Petitioner an opportunity of personal hearing - In this case a reading of order passed by R4/R.D.O. does not suggest that he has undertaken any such exercise - However, High Court finds a strong case in favour of petitioner for grant of interim orders to enable her to continue as F.P. Shop dealer till disposal of Revision Petition by R2/ Collector and R2/ Collector is also further directed to carefully examine and pass a Speaking Order - Accordingly Writ petition disposed of. Pidikiti Sailaja Vs. Sate of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 344.

—Joint Collector not completing enquiry despite lapse of nearly one year from date of Suspension of petitioner's FP Shop authorisation - Petitioner contend that if enquiry is not concluded by licensing authority within 90 days, suspension has to be revoked or set aside - In this case there are no reasons what so ever to prolong enquiry nearly for one year, when allegation on which impugned order of suspension was passed do not consume substantial time for completion of enquiry and passing final order - There is absolutely no justification for R-3/Joint Collector, to keep petitioner's authorisation under suspension for more than one year – Impugned order set aside – Authorisation restored, Writ petition allowed. Sandraboyina Guravaiah Vs. The State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 184 = 2015(3) ALD 102 = 2015(2) ALT 465.

—Respondents 2 to 4 Collector/Sub Collector/Tahsildar not permitting petitioner as FP Shop dealer allowing his purported resignation to be withdrawn - In this case petitioner is acting as FP Shop dealer without any complainant and he is specifically pleaded that R5/Enforcement DT has forcibly made him to address letter to R3/Sub Collector expressing his unwillingness to continue as FP Shop dealer purportedly on ground of his ill health and that in realty he did not have any intention to discontinue as FP Shop dealer – As petitioner is Permanent FP Shop dealer R3/Sub Collector, who is competent authority is bound to consider request of dealer and issue a proceeding accepting such request – Unless order in express terms accepting such request is passed, FP Shop authorisation of petitioner will not get terminated and vacancy arises - Surprisingly without issuing any such proceedings that FP Shop has fallen vacant as informed by R4/Tahsildar, R3/Sub Collector has recommended one RS for appointment as FP Shop temporary dealer - Very premise on which Sub Collector has proceeded namely, that FP Shop of Village has fallen vacant is factually incorrect and same is misconceived – Appointment of temporary dealer on such fundamentally erroneous assumption itself, is not sustainable - In this case petitioner also addressed a latter to District Collector/Joint Collector informing that because of strong political reasons he was forced to be discontinued as FP Shop dealer and that unfortunately no action has been taken either by District Collector or Joint Collector - Petitioner is entitled to be continued as permanent FP Shop dealer of Village – Writ Petition allowed. Cherukuri Srinivas Rao, Vs. The State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 192 = 2015(1) ALD 621 = 2015(2) ALT 448.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Paragraph No.12(5) of Annexure II, G.O.Ms.No.4, Consumer affairs, Food and Civil Supplies (CS1) Dept., Dt:19-2-2011 - G.O.Ms.No.38, Dt:17-9-2012 - Tahsildar suspending authorizations of petitioners unaware of amendment to Control Order by deleting second proviso to sub-clause (7) of Cl.5 thereof - Power of suspension or cancellation of authorization or forfeiture of security deposit cannot be exercised by any Officer other than appointing authority - Ex-Officio Secretary to Govt., Civil Supplies Dept., directed to issue Circular informing Tahsildars in State of amendment made to Control order vide G.O.Ms.No.38, Dt:17-9-2012 with direction to them not to exercise power of suspension of FP shop authorizations, to avoid passing of such orders by Tahsildar in future - Writ petitions, allowed. Y.Gopal Vs. The Joint Collector, Anantapur 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 158 = 2013(5) ALD 128 = 2013(4) ALT 664.

—G.O.Ms.No.4, Consumer Affairs, Food and Civil Supplies (CS.1) Department, Dt:19-2011 - Appointment of F.P. Shop Dealer - Guidelines - "Written test" - "Interview" - It is now made obligatory for appointing authority to conduct a written examination for 50 marks and qualifying marks are specified that all candidates should secure 20 marks out of 50 marks for being declared to have qualified in written test - In effect, 40% of marks now prescribed as qualifying in written test - For purpose of conducting viva voce test/interview and to secure finalization of dealership in quick time, a ratio of 1:5 is prescribed - Such of those candidates, who have secured 20 or more numbers of makes in order of merit position will be called for interview - Selections are required to be finalized on basis of merit ranking and that merit will be assessed based upon marks secured at interview also - For interview test, as many as 50 marks are set apart - All writ petitioners are making a grievance for setting apart 50 marks for interview test - Petitioners contend since 20 marks must be secured by respective candidates at written examination, while allocating 50 marks to viva voce test, good performance of candidates at written test can be very easily and effectively neutralized by awarding very liberal marks in favour of certain candidates while awarding relatively far lesser marks to some other candidates and this will impact final merit position of candidate - Therefore the suggest that reasonable number of marks alone should have been allocated for interview component - Selection of F.P. Shop Dealer does not require allocation of huge percentage of marks for interview component - While one cannot discount completely acceptability of oral interview test, but at same time principle that it must bare a reasonable proportion to assessment made at written test should not be lost out - Therefore allocating 50 marks to oral interview test appears to be on a very higher side - It is therefore, appropriate that State Govt., should consider fixing marks for interview as 20 or at best 25 when written test is conducted for 50 marks - It is therefore appropriate to direct State Govt., to review policy guide lines formulated by it in particular paragraph 2 of Annexure to G.O.Ms.No.4, Dt: 19-2-2011 by appropriately fixing maximum marks for oral interview test and communicate said decision to all appointing authorities within period of 4 weeks. Jinka Chinna Tirupelaiah Vs. Government of A.P. 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 121 = 2012(5) ALD 48 = 2012(4) ALT 189.

——G.O.Ms.No.35, Consumer Affairs Food and Civil Supplies (CS-I) Dept., Dt:17-9-2007 - "Bifurcation of shop" - Petitioner, F.P. Shop Dealers challenge Notification issued by respondents seeking to bifurcate their shops - State Govt., considered it appropriate to direct authorities to scrupulously follow rationalisation norm for F.P. Shops and dealing with F.P Shops at rural areas, it has been specified that number of iris based ration cards to be attached to each F.P shop is 400 to 450 BPL and 50 pink cards - Shopkeepers get remunerated only by way of margin money/commission, which they earn depending upon quantum of essential commodities distributed by them during month - Therefore, F.P shops should also become a viable proposition so that there will be adequate insentive for shopkeeper to be honest in distributing essential commodities - Further, insentive should be such that, shopkeepers shall not get tempted in any manner to indulge in unscrupulous and unethical practices of under-weightment while supplying essential commodities - Therefore, State has struck a reasonable balance between interest of card holders as well as F.P Shop dealers in rationalising norms as announced through G.O.Ms.No.35, dated:17-9-2007 - In any event, so long as petitioners continue to be authorized F.P shop dealers in concerned villages, a minimum of 400 BPL cards and preferably 50 pink cards if available, should be ensured to be attached to their respective shops. K.Anand Kumar Vs. State of A.P. 2012(1) Law Summary 296 = 2012(3) ALD 10 = 2012(3) ALT 626.

—G.O.Ms.No.52, date 18-12-2008 - G.O.Ms.No.53 - Consumer Affairs, Food and Civil Supplies (CS-I) Dept. Date:6-10-2003, - Guide lines, Cl.12(3) - G.O.Ms.No.4 - Consumer Affairs, Food and Civil Supplies (CS-I) Dept. Date:19-2-2011 - Petitioner belonging to S.T, wife of Govt. teacher appointed as F.P. Shop dealer at regular selections - Basing on representation of villagers R.D.O conducted enquiry passed order declaring petitioner as ineligible since her husband is working as Govt. teacher - Joint Collector rejected appeal filed by petitioner and District Collector affirmed orders passed by Joint Collector and R.D.O - In paragraph 12(3) it is noted close relatives of "Govt. employees specially those working in civil supplies Department or Revenue Department or Civil Supplies Corporation or Village Administrative Officers of village shall not be appointed as F.P. Shop Dealers" - It is discernable clearly that Govt. wanted to ensure that close relatives are those who are working in Civil Supplies Department or Revenue Department etc., shall not be appointed as F.P. Shop dealers - Perhaps, close relatives of Govt. employees other than above referred categories are not intended to be prevented from being appointed - Relatives of not all Govt. servants are prevented from being appointed as F.P. Shop dealer - It is quite possible that one close relative or other of certain individuals may have been appointed in various other Departments of State Governments like firebrigade, Forest Department etc. - In this case, petitioner's husband is employed as a Teacher with Z.P. High School cannot be treated as an absolute bar for her selection or bar for her appointment as F.P. Shop Dealer - By using expression "Specifically" in Cl.12(3) of Guide lines,bar contemplated is not an absolute one but is only preferable one - As petitioner was selected at regular selections it is obvious that she has been picked up as most meritrious and deserving and above all petitioner claimed to be a member belong to S.T.and that State Govt., on top priority is endeavoring its very best to improve upon lot of Schedule Tribes - Appointment of petitioner as F.P Shop dealer should not be interdicted - Orders of R.D.O,Joint Collector and District Collector, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. J.Prameela Vs. The District Collector, Adilabad District, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 262 = 2012(3) ALD 528 = 2012(5) ALT 669.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—G.O.Ms.No.52, dt.18-12-2008, G.O.Ms.No. 53, dt.6-10-2003 - Batch of writ petitions filed questioning selection process followed by appointing authorities - Petitioners contend that procedure prescribed for selection and appointment of F.P. shops dealers does not envisages written test and that appointing authorities failed to follow proper method in fixing reservation, leading to arbitrariness in picking and choosing shops for reservation - Selection and appointments of contesting respondents are set aside with following directions:

1) The appointing authorities shall issue a common notification for all the vacancies pertaining to the shops, which are subject matter of these Writ Petitions;

2) The method of selection laid down in the Annexure to G.O.Ms.No.52, dated 18-12-2008, shall be scrupulously followed;

3) The State Government is directed to issue appropriate directions to all the Collectors (Civil Supplies) in the State to get a hundred point roster in each District prepared fixing reservations similar to Rule 22 (2) (E) (e) of the A.P. State and Subordinate Service Rules, 1996;

4) The appointing authorities, in consultation with the Collector, (Civil Supplies), of the District concerned, shall, after preparation of the roster, identify the shops for the reserved categories on the basis of such a roster;

5) The above exercise shall be completed within a period of three months from the date of receipt of this judgment; and

6) Till completion of process of fresh selections and appointments, status quo as on today shall be maintained in respect of running of the fair price shops in question. Writ petitions, allowed. Vikram Simha Reddy Vs. Government of A.P. 2012(1) Law Summary 340.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—G.O.Ms.No.4 - CONSUMER AFFAIRS FOOD AND CIVIL SUPPLIES (CS-1) DEPARTMENT, Dt:19-2-2011, Cl.12(iii) - Close Relatives of "Government employees" of low cadre are eligible to be appointed as F.P. Shop dealers. Davuluru Prasad Vs. R.D.O. Kavali, SPSR Nellore District 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 339 = 2015(6) ALD 68 = 2015(6) ALT 509.

—G.O.Ms.No.4, dt:28-2-2014 - Legal heirs of deceased F.P. Shop dealers are eligible to be appointed on compassionate grounds provided if death of dealer was not earlier than year 2009. K.Sunitha, Nellore Vs. Prl.Secy.Cons.Affairs,Food & Civil Supplies 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 422.

— G.O.MS.NO.52, CLAUSES (4) & (5) - CONSUMER AFFAIRS, FOOD AND CIVIL SUPPLIES (CS.1) DEPARTMENT DT. 18-12-2008 - "Appointment of F.P. Shop dealer, Eligibility Criteria and Minimum General Educational Qualifications" - Petitioner after going through selection process was appointed as permanent F.P. Shop. Dealer – R4/R.D.O. disqualified petitioner from continuing as F.P. Shop dealer for alleged sin of pursuing higher studies after appointment - R.D.O. issued show cause notice to petitioner for cancellation of her F.P. Shop Authorisation with a solitary charge that petitioner F.P. Shop dealer has deceived administration and worked as F.P. Shop dealer while studying as regular student of Degree at college and on same day R4/R.D.O. suspended petitioner's authorisation by passing a separate order - Petitioner contends that she belongs to S.C. and is very poor and discontinued her degree and her parents maintaining family by attending to cooli work and that by making hard efforts she could secure F.P. Shop dealership which is only source of income for entire family and at instance of certain politicians R5/Tahsildar, sent adverse report against her to R4/R.D.O , in order to see that she is replaced by a person of their choice - It is evident from clause (4) & (5) that unemployment is made main criteria for eligibility - There is no allegation that petitioner is employed somewhere else – Sate cannot place embargo on further studies of person who is appointed as F.P. Shop dealer by merely branding him/her as a student and such a treatment would kill aptitude of persons, who pursue higher studies. It is not case of R4/R.D.O. that pursuing higher studies is coming in way of petitioner, in proper and effective running of F.P. Shop and if that be so, there would have been justification for R4/R.D.O. to initiate proceedings against petitioner and there is no whisper against petitioner that she has not been maintaining timings of F.P. Shop or has been neglecting distribution of commodities to card holders due to her studies - Indeed petitioner has gone to extent of stating that she has discontinued her studies - In this case charge is not to the effect that at time of her appointment petitioner was pursuing her studies – On contrary, specific allegation is that petitioner joined Degree, much after her appointment as F.P. Shop dealer – There is nothing in the above mentioned G.O., which says that if a person who was treated as unemployed, is found studying after, his/her appointment as such, he/she incurs disqualification to continue as F.P. Shop dealer – Even assuming that petitioner had joined Degree course after her appointment as F.P. shop dealer, that by no means could disqualify her to continue as such - Entire proceedings initiated against petitioner are misconceived besides same being wholly irrational and unreasonable – Therefore, both impugned show cause notice and consequential order of suspension are quashed - Writ Petition allowed. G.Dorasanamma Vs. State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 341 = 2015(3) ALD 79 = 2015(2) ALT 678.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Clauses 2(d)(e)(g)(h)(i) and 2 (x), 5, 6, 17 & 17(b) - G.O.Ms.No.47 dt.6-10-2007 - Allegation of contraventions of conditions of Authorization and Cl.17 (b) & (c) of Order - Tahsildar temporarily suspending petitioner's F.P. Shop Authorization basing on report of Deputy Tahsildar for alleged irregularities in maintaining F.P Shop - Hence writ petition filed assailing same - Tahsildar can exercise power of suspending erring F.P Shop dealer for a period of 90 days -Impugned order does not suffer from lack of jurisdiction - Writ petition, dismissed. Chintagunta Appa Rao Vs. Joint Collector, Srikakulam 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 358 = 2010(5) ALD 120 = 2010(5) ALT 526.

—Cls.2(x) and 5(5)(6)(10) - "Disciplinary authority" - "Appointing authority" - Asst. Supply Officer/Tahsildar have limited power of suspension of F.P shop dealers for period of 90 days and with no power vested in them to cancel their authorisation as it is only appointing-cum-disciplinary authority, RDO/Sub-Collector/DSO who are vested with power of suspension and also cancelling authorisation - Following directions issued to Asst. Supply Officer/Tahsildar while dealing with F.P shop dealers under Control Order:

1)They may exercise the power of suspension where the nature of illegalities detected warrants an immediate action and such action will not broke the delay that may take place in the appointing-cum-disciplinary authority passing an order of suspension.

2)It is desirable that they shall refrain from framing charges and calling for explanation in every case, unless the appointing-cum-disciplinary authority directs him to do so. Whenever an order of suspension is passed, the period for which such order is passed not exceeding 90 days shall be indicated therein besides specifying that the suspension is made pending further action by the appointing-cum-disciplinary authority.

3)The disciplinary authority shall place all the material before the appointing-cum-disciplinary authority as soon as possible without waiting for the outer limit of 90 days to enable the appointing-cum-disciplinary authority to initiate immediate action for holding enquiry and passing a final order as early as possible.

In this case impugned order shows that time limit is not stipulated in order - Moreover suspension order was passed pending "disposal of case" without reference to enquiry to be conducted and final order to be passed by appointing-cum-disciplinary authority who is RDO - Impugned order unsustainable and same accordingly quashed-Writ petition, allowed. A.Sankar Narayana Vs. Tahsildar, Atmakur Mandal, Ananthapur 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 33 = 2011(3) ALD 761 = 2011(3) ALT 236.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Cl.4(i) & 5(5) and 20(2) - Petitioner's FP shop Authorisation has been suspended by RDO basing on adverse report filed by Tahsildar, complaining certain irregularities in matter of distribution of essential commodities - As against order of suspension petitioner preferred Appeal before 1st respondent/Joint Collector along with stay petition - Since no orders are passed thereon petitioner instituted writ petition which was disposed of with direction to Joint Collector to dispose of Appeal expeditiously after giving opportunity to petitioner - Pursuant to directions of High Court, Joint Collector directed RDO, to conduct enquiry into matter - RDO after issuing show cause notice on framing three charges and called for explanation - RDO passed final orders cancelling petitioner's authorisation - Again petitioner preferred appeal before Joint Collector together with stay petition - Since no orders are passed by Joint Collector, present writ petition filed - Clause 5(5) of 2008 Order requires appointing/disciplinary authority to conduct enquiry before passing any orders of suspension/cancellation of authorisation as a measure of punishment - In this case, RDO has drawn a charge sheet comprising of three charges for alleged failure of petitioner to maintain accounts, found absent from village and distributing commodities through some other person and failure to distribute essential commodities as per entitlement to card-holders - All charges are as vague as vaguness and not specific - Orders passed by RDO, discloses a mechanical attitude exhibited by him and it is for him to, first of all produce such material which can adequately and reasonably bring home charges against FP shop dealer - Attempt of RDO, as is discernible from record appears to be that he alleges charges and it is for FP dealer to disprove same - It is elimentary that initial burden of establishing charges would lie on appointing/disciplinary authority and by producing such evidence either in form of records or registers or by examining witnesses who are relevant and concerned with charges initial burden gets discharged and thereafter it shifts on to FP shop dealer to disprove allegation convincingly - Approach of RDO as is visible from impugned order, is therefore, contrary to established of principles of law - Every public functionary when entrusted with task of determining rights of parties, will be discharging quasi-judicial functions and a quasi-judicial authority is required to assign reasons and those reasons must be germane to material on record - In this case, inspite of clear direction contained in Clause 5(5) of 2008 Order, RDO has failed to conduct enquiry in matter - - In is opinion, it appears conducting of enquiry means calling for explanation and recording a mere statrement that explanation is found not satisfactory - It is all the more regrettable as to why explanation was found not satisfactory, has not been set out - Appellate authority is directed to fix responsibility and accountability for lapses committed by RDO, in passing impugned order and deal with him in appropriate manner - Writ petition disposed of with direction to dispose of appeal on merits as expeditiously as possible within period of six months and in meantime operation of proceedings passed by RDO, cancelling Authorisation shall stand suspended, so as to enable writ petitioner to continue to lift and personally distribute commodities to card holders attached to her FP shop. D.Varalakshmi Vs. Joint Collector, Civil Supplies, Kurnool 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 36 = 2012(4) ALD 444 = 2012(4) ALT 161.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Clause 5 G.O.M.S.No.35 Consumer Affairs, Food and Civil Supplies (CS-1) Dt. 17.09.2007- F.P.Shop-Bifurcation - District Collector issued proceedings Bifurcating petitioner's F.P.Shop on ground that card holders of two villages have to travel 3 to 5 km to bring their commodities - As per G.O. in Rural Areas each Gram Panchayat(v) should have at least one F.P.Shop with a minimum of 400 B.P.L. and 50 A.P.L. cards- In case there are more number of cards in excess of minimum in village there can be two shops - In this case, after Bifurcation petitioner is left with only 199 cards in all and falls nearly four times below minimum number of cards leaving it completely unviable - If F.P. shops are not viable, it would inevitably lead to dealers indulging in malpractices to sustain themselves - R2/RDO is at liberty to arrange distribution of commodities through petitioner's shop in two villages on one day each in a month subject to payment of transportation expenses to petitioner -Impugned order of collector, set aside – W.P., allowed. D.Vijaya Lakshmi Vs. District Collector, Kadapa District, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 576 =2015(5) ALD 486.

—Cl.5(1)(B) - CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971 - The complaint of the petitioner in this Contempt Case is that having resumed the supplies to his shop in the month of November 2014 in pursuance of the order of this Court dt.10-10-2014, the respondents have abruptly stopped the supplies from March 2015 - Petitioner pleaded that on 6-4-2015, he has made a representation to respondent No.1/RDO informing him that though he has been obtaining Demand Drafts (D.Ds.) and Challans in time and distributing the commodities to the cardholders properly, respondent No.2/Tahsildar has not given him Challan for the month of March 2015 - Petitioner has accordingly requested respondent No.1 to allow him to obtain challan for the month of April 2015 as his authorization is valid till March 2016 - As the supplies were not resumed to the petitioner even for the month of April 2015, he has filed the present Contempt Case - Held, with a view to ensure that their stand passes muster of this Court and to escape their liability under the provisions of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 (for short "the Act"), respondent No.2 has gone to the extent of bringing into existence the two notices dated 7-3-2015 and 11-3-2015, which were never served on petitioner - The aforementioned uncontroverted facts would clearly reveal without any cavil of doubt that the respondents have consciously and out of ill-motive discontinued the supply of Essential Commodities to the petitioner's Fair Price Shop with a view to over-reach the order of this Court - These acts of the respondents not only constitute willful violation of the order of this Court, but also attract the offence of perjury u/ Sec.191 of the Indian Penal Code, punishable u/Sec.193 thereof, as they tried to hoodwink this Court by coming out with a blatantly false version - Creation of false documents by public servants is a heinous crime which warrants stringent action, so that it would not only be punitive, but also preventive - Therefore, respondent No.2 is liable for prosecution u/Sec.167 of IPC - Though respondent No.1 has not created these documents, he has not only sworn by these documents, but also extended his all-out support to respondent No.2 clearly suggesting his complicity in the commission of the offences by respondent No.2 - Therefore the Court of opinion that the respondents are guilty of contempt of court u/Sec.2(b) of the Act for their willful and deliberate violation of orders of this Court dt.10-10-2014, and are also liable to be prosecuted u/Secs.167, 191 and 193 of IPC r/w. Sec.120-B. G.Koteswara Rao Vs. E. Murali, Revenue Divisional Officer,Gurajala, Guntur 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 82 = 2015(6) ALD 730 = 2015(6) ALT 397.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Clauses 5(4)(5),20 & 21 - Cancellation of F.P shop authorization – Enquiry - Petitioner is permanent F.P. shop dealer - Basing on report submitted by Tahsildar/R4 Revenue Divisional Officer/R3 cancelled petitioner's F.P. Shop authorization for alleged irregularities - Petitioner contends that RDO committed serious irregularity in cancelling his authorization without their being any evidence what so ever proving irregularities alleged against him and that procedure followed by RDO is in flagrant violation of principles of natural justice as relied upon purported statements of certain card holders made against him without supplying such statements and giving him opportunity of confronting them with statements and that Joint Collector/R2 and 1st respondent/District Collector have mechanically confirmed order of RDO without independent application of mind - In this case, RDO in his order has not rendered any specific finding with regard to charges and not referred certain purported statement allegedly made by some card holders and arrived at conclusion that petitioner not properly distributed essential commodities and neither any semblance of enquiry is held by RDO nor any iota of evidence was discussed by him to hold that charge no.3 with regard to statements of card holders that petitioner has not distributed certain quantity of PDS rice - In case of false entries, burden lies on RDO to prove based on proper evidence that petitioner is guilty of making such entries - Mere ipsi dixit of some of card holders whose thumb impressions appeared to have been obtained do not constitue proper evidence to prove charge - LEGAL REQUIREMENTS FOR VALID ENQUIRY - STATED - As per Oxford dictionary meaning of word "enquiry" includes probe, examine, explore, delve into - Word "enquiry" fell for judicial interpretation by Apex Court in context of service law jurisprudence - In state of Uttranchal Vs. Khrak Singh 2008 (8) SCC 236, Supreme Court inter alia, held that enquiries must be conducted bona fide and care must be taken to see that they do not become empty formalities - In this case, RDO has failed to take into consideration detailed explanation submitted by petitioner - Petitioner's request for furnishing statements of card holders fell on deaf ears - Principles of natural justice reqauire that before relying upon statements made adverse to charged person, copies thereof must be supplied to him and he must be given an opportunity of explaining statements and also confronting authors of statements if so desired of charged person and this requirement of principles of natural justice is thrown to winds by RDO - Therefore this Court has no hesitation to hold that findings rendered by RDO based on his fertile imaginations unsupported by any evidence what so ever and procedure followed by RDO is in utter violations of principles of natural justice, besides same mocking at fair play - As regards orders passed by Joint

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

Collector/R2 and District Collector/R1 in Appeal and Revision respectively would show that they have mechanically confirmed order of RDO without independent application of mind and without assigning reasons - Impugned orders are not sustainable in law and are accordingly set aside - RDO/R3 is directed to forthwith restore authorization of petitioner and permit him to function as dealer - Writ petition allowed with costs of Rs.10,000/-. Darnasi Peraiah Vs. District Collector, Prakasam District, Ongole 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 66 = 2015(6) ALD 409.

—Clause 5 (5) - "Cancellation of F.P. Shop Authorization" - Petitioner's Authorization was suspended by R.D.O on allegation that petitioner has been circulating 13 nos. of white bogus cards and misappropriating rice quota under said cards - Appeal filed by petitioner allowed by 2nd respondent/Joint Collector and set aside orders of suspension - In the Revision filed by respondents 5 & 6 District Collector, while declining to interfere with order of appellate authority, however directed R.D.O to make thorough enquiry into all allegations made by respondents 5 & 6 and pass appropriate orders within three months - 3rd respondent/Sub-Collector, passed impugned order of cancellation of Autorisation of petitioner - In this case, a perusal of impugned order would show that it is bereft of any reasons and that under Cl.5(5) of Control Order, 2008 it is incumbent upon respondent No.3 to hold an enquiry before order of cancellation is passed - But he has merely stated that notice was issued to all concerned with request to attend enquiry on particular date and observed that allegations levelled against petitioner have been proved - In this case, approach of Sub-Collector/ R.3 is thoroughly unsatisfactory and he failed to discuss merits of allegations and evidence, if any, in support thereof against petitioner - Cryptic and laconic order passed by Sub-Collector/3rd respondent cannot pass judicial muster, if because by cancelling authorization petitioner, Sub-Collector/3rd respondent is visiting petitioner with penalty of cancellation of her F.P Shop authorization - Therefore any order which results in adverse civil consequences to a person is passed he shall be given proper opportunity of footing forth his case and a speaking order shall be passed by authority concerned - As 3rd respondent has miserably failed to follow this procedure, which is bedrock of principles of natural justice, impugned order cannot be sustained and same is set aside - Petitioner shall be permitted to continue as F.P Shop dealer till, full-fledged enquiry is held by Sub-Collector/3rd respondent and detailed speaking order is passed in event he finds allegations against petitioner proved in enquiry - Writ petition, allowed. Shaheen Parveen Vs. State of A.P. 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 1.

—-Cl.5(5) - "Temporary F.P. Shop dealer" - "Cancellation of authorisation" - 1st Respondent/Sub-Collector issued proceedings cancelling petitioner's temporary Authorization - Writ petition filed by petitioner allowed on ground that order of cancellation not preceded by any notice, observing that it is incumbent upon appointing authority to issue notice and hold enquiry before cancelling Authorization - After disposal of writ petition 1st respondent/Sub-Collector issued proceedings , styled as

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

"Notice" - However 1st respondent straightaway cancelled petitioner's Authorisation once again calling for explanation from petitioner and this action of R1/Sub-Collector betrays complete lack of knowledge on his part regarding distinction between, "notice" and " order" and he failed to see that while a notice is issued with a view to give opportunity to party likely to be affected by adverse order proposed to be passed after considering objections, if any, received from such person to notice so given - In this case, only distinction between two orders passed by R1/Sub-Collector that earlier proceeding was termed as "order" and present impugned "order" termed as "notice" and barring same contents of both proceedings are almost same - Such approach of respondent/Sub-Collector is not expected from him and especially when High Court has corrected his action once in earlier writ petition - 1st Respondent/ Sub-Collector committed a blatant error in once again terminating dealership of petitioner without opportunity of being heard - Impugned order unsustainable and same set aside - Writ petition, allowed. R.Sandhya Reddy Vs. Sub-Collector, Mulugu, Warangal District 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 236 = 2013(2) ALD 77 = 2013(2) ALT 787.

—Cl.5(5) - Suspension of F.P shop Authorization - 1st respondent/RDO framed charges and called for petitioner's explanation - Purporting to consider petitioner's explanation, R1/RDO passed order suspending petitioner Authorization and directing 2nd respondent/Tahsildar to make alternative arrangements for distribution of commodities to card-holders - Whenever serious allegations of omissions or commissions are brought to notice of appointing authority, is entitled to exercise power of suspending Authorization pro tempore pending finalization of disciplinary proceedings and passing final order - Ordinarily power of interim suspension of Authorization pending enquiry is invoked before calling for explanation holding an enquiry - In such cases, appointing Authority should specify that such power is exercised pending enquiry - After receiving explanation and holding enquiry, appointing Authority shall pass final order either exonerating dealer or imposing on him appropriate penalty of substantative nature either cancelling or suspending Authorization depending upon gravity of allegations - Present case does not fall in either of above mentioned categories - Having invited explanation from petitioner, R1/RDO, has rendered conclusive findings without holding enquiry - Instead of passing final order after enquiry RDO has suspended petitioner's Authorization even without indicating as to said order was passed pending further enquiry - In case, RDO intended to pass order of suspension as a substantative penalty, he should have done so only after holding enquiry and specifying in order time limit for which suspension is made - As R1/RDO failed to follow this procedure impugned order is unsustainable and accordingly set aside - Petitioner shall be permitted to continue as dealer till such time as enquiry into charges framed against him is held and final order is passed - Writ petition, allowed. Boya Chennappa Vs. R.D.O. Adoni, Kurnool District 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 310 = 2013(2) ALD 79 = 2013(1) ALT 265.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Clause 5(5) - "Cancellation of FP shop authorization" - Revenue Divisional Officer passed orders cancelling petitioner F.P Shop Authorization basing on Report of Mandal Revenue Inspector for alleged charges of "(1) distributing commodities only two days from month (2) not observing timings as prescribed by Govt., and (3) not distributing PDS rice as for entitlement of card holders" - Petitioner contends that he is not expected to defend himself against charge which is non-specific and vauge and that he is not aware of purported enquiry of MRI and he is not supplied with Report which has constituted sole basis for finding rendered by RDO and show cause notice issued by RDO does not contain any reference to said part of MRI - Law is well settled that Authorities cannot relay upon any material behind back of person who is likely to be affected, if order is based on such material - In this case, from nature of charges framed against petitioner, none of charges are substantial enough calling for imposition of extreme penalty of "cancellation" of FP shop Authorization - Charge nos.1 & 2 are too flimsy and charge no.3 is too vauge and not substantiated in any manner on basis of acceptable evidence - Therefore, impugned order of RDO, based on such charges, cannot be sustained - Impugned order, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. M.Anand Vs. Revenue Divisional Officer, Adoni, Kurnool 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 66 = 2013(4) ALD 80 = 2013(4) ALT 456.

—Cl.5(5) - "POWER OF IMPOSING PENALTIES" - R3/R.D.O. cancelled petitioner's authorisation while not accepting explanation of petitioner – Respondents 1 & 2/ Collector and Joint Collector, confirmed order of R3/R.D.O - Petitioner F.P. Shop dealer filed explanation to sow cause notice for alleged charges of variation in Rice etc. - Appointing authority to follow two mandatory conditions before imposing any penalty as envisaged u/Cl.5(5) of Control Order - First, it shall make "enquiry" as deemed necessary and second it shall "record reasons in writing" - "Enquiry", pre supposes an opportunity of personal hearing to dealer to explain his/her case based on records such as sales and stock registers – If need be, such "enquiry" must also include recording sworn statement of dealer and witnesses, if any from his/her side – In case where either card holders, other persons sent any complaint, they must also be examined in presence of dealer or his/her lawyer and dealer shall be given an opportunity of cross-examining such persons – Licensing/disciplinary authority shall also supply to dealer all reports on which he is likely to place reliance on detriment of dealer – Unless dealer has no explanation at all to offer licensing, disciplinary authority is bound to hold a detailed enquiry - Experience of High Court reveals that appointing authorities of F.P. Shop dealers are dispensing with the requirement of making personal enquiry by summoning dealers, they are merely relying upon reports sent by heir sub-ordinates i.e., Deputy Tahsildars, and Tahsildars, behind back of dealers and resting their decisions solely upon those reports and this procedure is anathema to the concept of "enquiry" which otherwise means affording the dealer an opportunity of a fair hearing - As regards second mandatory requirement under sub Cl.5(5), namely "reasons to be recorded in writing", reasons constitute heart and soul of a decision - Unfortunately, in this case a perusal of impugned order shows that respondent No.3/RDO has not even attempted to hold an enquiry and he has allowed himself to be swayed away by report of Tahsildar without trying to test veracity of explanation offered by petitioner/ dealer - Unless petitioner is given an opportunity of substantiating her explanation, it would be a grave travesty of justice to reject her explanation without holding enquiry – As respondent No.3 has not followed this procedure impugned order cannot be sustained and same is accordingly set aside - F.P. Shop of the petitioner stands restored and she shall be permitted to function as F.P. Shop dealer - W.P. allowed. B.Manjula Vs. District Collector, Civil Supplies, Kurnool 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 209 = 2015(3) ALD 617 = 2015(4) ALT 572.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—-Cl.5(5) and 3(4) Annexure - G.O.Ms.No.53, Cl.12(iii) - A.P.S.C Order, 1973 - A.P. ROAD TRANSPORT CORPORATION ACT, 1950, Secs.2 to 5 and 34 - Sub-Collector suspending petitioner's F.P Shop authorization on ground that her husband is working as driver in APSRTC which is State Govt. undertaking by invoking Cl.12 (iii) of G.O.Ms.No.53 - As per said Cl.12(iii) it is indisputable that prohibition of appointment of F.P shop authorisation applies to close relatives of Govt. employees, more emphatically to those working in Civil Supplies Department or Revenue Department or Civil Supplies Corporation or Village Administrative Officer of village - A plain reading of said Cl.12(iii) unequivocally shows that it applies to categories named therein alone and not to other employees of other organisations - In this case, petitioner's husband is neither Govt. employee nor employee in Civil Supplies Department or Revenue Department - Although a Road Transport Corporation is established by State Govt. powers to manage affairs of Corporation vests in Board of Directors, but not in State Govt. - Evidently that APSRTC can neither be considered as Govt., nor as a Department of Govt., and by no stretch of imagination an employee working in APSRTC can be treated as Govt. Employee - Admittedly, petitioner was appointed in year 1995 as F.P shop dealer under 1973 Control Order and there is no provision under 1973 Control Order prohibiting relatives of Govt. employee or other employees for granting F.P. shop authorisation - Guide- lines in G.O.Ms.No.53 do not provide for any retrospective application - Impugned order is wholly without jurisdiction and liable to be set aside - W.P. allowed. R.Varalakshmi Vs. Sub Collector, Vijayawada, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 8 = 2011(1) ALD 804 = 2011(2) ALT 164.

—Clauses 5(5), 20, and 21 - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, Sec.3 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.148, 307, 324, r/w sec.34 and 143,341 & 506 - Writ petitioner appointed as F.P shop dealer of village and his authorization was renewed from time to time and has been distributing commodities strictly in accordance with provisions of Control Order - Criminal cases booked against petitioner at instance of Sarpanch - Respondent initially suspended petitioner's authorization - Subse-quently RDO, passed order cancelling authorization of petitioner - Joint Collector dismissed Appeal and ultimately District Collector also dismissed revision - Hence this present writ petition - In this case, authorities are concerned with gravity of charges laid against petitioner in criminal Courts - They have failed to apply their mind as to whether writ petitioner has been acquitted of such charges on merits or not - If allegations behind criminal cases were still to play a part in entire exercise, fact that petitioner has been acquitted of such charges ultimately before criminal Court loses its importance - Failure to bring home charges laid against individual by State not only secures acquittal but one is entitled to feel free that no further penal action to follow there from - Impugned orders unsustainable and they are accordingly set aside, - Writ petition, allowed. Boya Ayyanna Vs. District Collector, Kurnool, 2012(1) Law Summary 257 = 2012(4) ALD 262 = 2012(4) ALT 670.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Clause 5(7) - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, Clause 2(d) - Appointing authority - "Disciplinary authority" - Meaning of - Whenever disciplinary authority passes an order suspending authorization of F.P shop dealer, it has to be construed as one valid for period of 90 days as it is passed in terms of Clause 5(7) 2008 Order - But at same time suspension of authorization of F.P shop dealer ordered by disciplinary authority cannot be continued beyond 90 days - Appointing authorities are occupying superior status than disciplinary authorities - Therefore, as against judgment of superior authority i.e., appointing authority, no period of suspension need not be prolonged beyond 90 days, judgment of disciplinary authority to prolong it would be incongruous and does not fit in to principles of good governance - Expression "as well as the disciplinary authority" found a mention in later half of 2nd proviso of Cl.5(7) of 208 Order - It is an expression without any meaning - In absence of any order passed by appointing authority extending period of suspension of writ petitioner's authorization beyond 90 days, a case is made out to allow him to lift and distribute essential commodities. M.Abraham Vs. Tahsildar, Kanaganapalli Mandal, 2012(1) Law Summary 261 = 2012(4) ALD 369 = 2012(4) ALT 690.

—Cl.5(7)&(5) - A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM, CONTROL ORDER, 2001, (5)(4)Cl.17 and conditions of Authorizations, conditions 4,6 to 8, 11 and 13 - ESSENTIAL OF COMMODITIES ACT, 1955 - Resumption of F.P. Shop authorization - Authorisation of 4th respondent, F.P. Shop dealer was cancelled by 2nd respondent/ RDO, for alleged irregularities and contravention of Cl.17 of A.P.S.P.D.S. (Control) Order, 2001 and conditions of Authorizations and said order became final as 4th respondent as not appealed to Appellate Authority - 4th respondent also was prosecuted under Provisions of E.C Act in C.C on file of 1st class Magistrate - On his acquittal in Criminal case 2nd respondent/RDO, passed impugned order resuming FP shop authorization held by 4th respondent on ground that there is acquittal recorded by criminal Court - In mean while, after cancellation of F.P. Shop Authorisation held by 4th respondent Notification was issued and petitioner was selected as F.P. Shop dealer in place of 4th respondent and therefore petitioner filed present writ petition questioning that restoration of Authorisation in favour of 4th respondent is illegal and contrary to Cl.5(4) of A.P.S.P.D.S. Control Order, 2001 - 4th respondent contends that petitioner has no locus standi to question impugned order as his appointment is stayed by appellate authority and further such appeal is an alternative remedy as provided under Cl.20 of Control Order, 2008 - Under sub-clause(5) of Cl.5 of said order appointing authority is empowered to add to, amend, vary, suspend or cancel Authorization by recording reasons either on suo moto after making enquiry, if necessary, or on Application - Correspondingly under sub-clause (7) of Clause (5) of Control Order 2008, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-clause 4 to 6, power is conferred on appointing Authority to cancel Authorization in event of conviction under Provisions of E.C Act and as per proviso to sub-clause (7) of Cl.(5), appointing Authority is empowered to restore Authorization in cases where conviction is set aside on Appeal or Revision by aggrieved person - In this case, impugned order is not passed in exercise of power under sub-clause(7) of clause (5) of Control Order, 2008, as such question of re-issue of Authorization does not arise as much as order of cancellation against 4th respondent is in exercise of power under sub-clause (4) of clause (5) of Control Order, 2001 - Re-issue/restoration/resumption of Authorization as contemplated under proviso (2) sub-cause (7) of clause (5) is limited only for cases where cancellation orders are passed in exercise of power under sub-clause (7) of clause (5) of Control Order 2008 - When order of cancellation is passed under sub-clause(4) of clause (5) of Control Order, 2001, independently by recording finding that 4th respondent had indulged in clandestine business by diverting commodities, merely on ground that acquittal is recorded in respect of 4th respondent in Criminal Proceedings is not entitled to seek for restoration of such Authorization - Admittedly as petitioner is appointed in vanancy, which arose in view of cancellation of F.P. Shop Authorization of 4th respondent, it cannot be said that petitioner is not having locus standi to question impugned order - Resumption order, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Moka Subramanyam Vs. District Collector, WestGodavari, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 166 = 2013(2) ALD 427 = 2013(3) ALT 139.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Clause 8 & 7 – "Scheme of Aadaar seeding to ration cards" - RDO suspended authorization of petitioners basing on report of 4th respondent/Tahsildar on ground that petitioners indulged in malpractice of seeding bogus/inactive ration cards with Aadhaar Cards, while implementing scheme of Aadhaar seeding of Ration Cards - Petitioners contend that they never indulged in such malpractice as they are not associated with the Scheme of Aaadhaar seeding of ration cards and that the entire scheme was implemented by Revenue Officials themselves and F.P. shop dealers have no role to play in said Scheme, they only distribute essential commodities to card holders as per ration cards issued by Revenue Authorities – As per Scheme that Aadhaar Card has to be linked up to the name of person and job is that of Revenue Officials and not that of F.P. Shop Dealers - Respondents contend that petitioners who are F.P. Shop dealers gained access to secret digital code with connivance of Deputy Tahsildar (Civil Supplies), F.I. and Computer Operators, working in Tahsildars

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

Office and got bogus ration cards Aadhaar seeded in private net centers and that suspension of petitioners pending enquiry is perfectly legal and shall not be interfered with present Writ Petitions - This Court thoroughly convinced that no prima facie case is made out against petitioners warranting suspension of their Authorizations as they have no role to play with Scheme of Aadhaar seeding to ration cards – Suspension orders passed by RDO against petitioners are exfacie illegal and they are liable to be set aside – Suspension orders passed against petitioners are revoked – Writ petitions, allowed. K.Balqees Banu Vs. The State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 518 = 2015(5) ALD 81 = 2015(3) ALT 809.

—-Clause 17 of Form of Authorization - RIGHT TO INFORMATION ACT, 2005 - - As seen from facts, it does not obviously appear that petitioner - F.P. Shop Dealer tendered any resignation - Further, resignation has to be submitted to Revenue Divisional Officer, who is competent authority - In instant case, it is stated that petitioner submitted resignation to Tahsildar - Statement of petitioner as well as resignation letter submitted by him are in handwriting of Revenue Inspector - For the foregoing reasons, this court is thoroughly convinced that petitioner did not, in fact, submit any resignation voluntarily and therefore, he is entitled to continue as dealer of fair price shop during subsistence of his authorization - Suspension of authorization of petitioner in aforesaid circumstances is arbitrary and illegal and the same is set aside and respondents are directed to allot essential commodities to petitioner's fair price shop as long as his authorization is in force - Writ petition is accordingly allowed. Nakka Krishna Rao Vs. State of A.P. 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 320 = 2015(5) ALD 75 = 2015(6) ALT 149.

—Cl 17 - "Bogus ration cards" - The petitioner is Fair Price Shop Dealer - On a complaint given by a person alleging that petitioner was in possession of 20 bogus ration cards; drawn essential commodities on those 20 bogus ration Cards; and diverted same into black Market to illegal gain, Revenue Divisional Officer, third respondent, issued suspension proceedings - Aggrieved by orders of third respondent, petitioner preferred an appeal before the Collector (Civil Supplies) - Thereby, Collector (Civil Supplies) holding that survey conducted by special team formed for detecting bogus cards reveal that out of 22 cards, which are in possession of petitioner, 20 cards were found bogus and essential commodities were also drawn for said cards; that all records and reports clearly show that third respondent has rightly suspended authorisation of petitioner; and instructed third respondent to take further necessary action against petitioner as per provisions laid down in AP State PDS (Control) Order, 2008 - Thereby, third respondent issued a show cause notice to petitioner calling his explanation, for which petitioner has submitted his explanation - On perusal of explanation submitted by petitioner and as per Rule 17 of the Order, third respondent holding that the reports and records clearly show that the petitioner has drawn Essential Commodities on 20 bogus ration cards, which were shown in statement, and diverted same to black market for illegal gain and that violated Rule 17(a) & (c) of the AP State PDS (Control) Order, 2008 and Condition (f) of condition 2 of Annexure-I of Order, cancelled authorization of petitioner.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

Aggrieved by order of third respondent, petitioner has filed an appeal before the Joint Collector - Joint Collector after perusal of the records dismissed the appeal with a direction to Revenue Divisional Officer, to take appropriate steps for collecting amount from appellant under Rule 17(c) of Order - It was further held that irregularities committed by Dealer is very serious and grave in nature and that petitioner has cheated the Government and diverted essential commodities to black market for illegal gain - It was further directed that Tahsildar shall file criminal case against petitioner - The Assistant Supply Officer is directed to assist the Tahsildar in filing criminal case against petitioner.

Held, A perusal of entire record reveals that only allegation against petitioner is in relation to 20 cards, which are termed as bogus cards - This Court in judgments referred to by learned counsel for petitioner, more particularly judgment reported in K.BALQUEES BANU'S case, after analyizing method and manner in which cards are issued to beneficiaries had categorically held a dealer has no role to place in issuance of cards - The role of a fair price shop dealer is limited to delivering schedule commodities to cardholders and so far as dealer is concerned he has nothing to do with the genuinety or otherwise of cards or card holders - Merely because a dealer supplies schedule commodities to card holders, it cannot be said that a dealer has to verify whether a particular person is genuine or not and whether he is not entitled to issue a particular card to avail the benefits under Public Distribution System - As a matter of fact cardholders are entitled for issuance of schedule commodities as long as respective cards stand in their names - The only ground on which a dealer can refuse delivering schedule commodities to a particular card holder would be that while in process of issuance of schedule commodities when thumb impression taken on the biometric system does not tally with one recorded in system - Then alone dealer can refuse issuance of schedule commodities - In the case on hand, there is no such finding - As a matter of fact, second respondent has drawn a presumption that cards are retained by dealer merely on account of fact that petitioner did not produce cardholders' for enquiry - It may be born in mind that it is the authority who have alleged that with respect to 20 cards there were no persons existing - If that is case, it is for authorities to explain how such 20 cards came to be issued in first place - In given case at best if authorities find that 20 cards seeking bogus cards were issued, it may be a case of cancellation of such cards and intimation to dealer so that to that extent commodities could not issued - The authorities having not done so, responsibility with respect to bogus cards cannot be thrust upon dealer.

In these circumstances, orders of third respondent as confirmed by second respondent in cancelling authorization of petitioner on the ground of bogus cards being not sustainable, same is liable to be set aside. - The Writ Petition is accordingly allowed. Boggarapu Subramanyam Vs. The State 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 280.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Clause 17(c) and Conditions of Authorization - Petitioner's F.P. Shop Authorization suspended by 1st respondent/RDO on purported ground that he has contravened provisions of Controller Order 2008 and to avoid inconvenience to cardholders - In this case, nature of contraventions has not been indicated in impugned Order - As Order of suspension visits dealer with serious adverse consequences it is incumbent upon 1st respondent RDO to indicate at least in brief nature of contraventions on which he found it necessary to suspend Authorization and that failure on part of 1st respondent to refer alleged contraventions in impugned order vitiates said Order - Impugned order set aside - 1st respondent/RDO directed to allow petitioner to function as F.P. Shop dealer pending enquiry - Writ petition, allowed. Puli Sailu Vs. RDO, Kamareddy 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 354.

—Cl.21 (v)&(vi) (as amended by G.O.Ms.No.11, Dt:25-1-2012 - ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT - Petitioner was issued FP shop authorization under provisions of A.P. Public Distribution System (Control Order) 2001 in year 2003 and her authorization was suspended by issuing suspension-cum-show-cause notice in year 2010 - Subsequently 4th respondent/RDO cancelled Authorization without considering explanation, in year 2011 - 3rd respondent/Joint Collector allowed Appeal filed by petitioner in year 2012 - Thereafter petitioner has been distributing commodities as usual - Meanwhile, 6th respondent Card-holder filed Revision before District Collector and obtained stay of operation of order passed by 3rd respondent/Joint Collector and ultimately Revision filed by 6th respondent dismissed in year 2013 - Thereafter 6th respondent filed revision before 1st respondent Govt. under Cl.21 (ii) of Control order 2001 where in 1st respondent/Govt., granted stay of operation of order passed by 2nd respondent/ District Collector - Hence present writ petition assailing Govt., Memo - Petitioner contends that Cl.25 of Control Order 2001 was repealed by Cl.25 of Control Order 2008 as such revision under Cl.21 of Control Order 2001 is incompetent and not maintainable and that before passing impugned order no notice was issued to petitioner as contemplated under clauses 21 of Control Order and that 6th respondent is not a Card holder and has no locus stndi to challenge order passed by 2nd respondent and that no second Revision is maintainable inasmuch as 2nd respondent has already entertained Revision and dismissed same - Govt., contends that Cl.21 of 2008 is amended vide G.O.Ms.No.11, dt.25-1-2012, according to which sub-clauses (v)& (vi) are added after sub-clause (iv) of Cl.21 of Control Order 2008 and as per such sub-clause (v) of Cl.21, second revision is maintainable before Govt. - In this case, revision filed under Clause 21(ii) of Control Order 2001, which is repealed by Cl.25 of Or.2008, but, sub-clause(v) of Cl.20(i) of Control Order 2008 as amended by G.O.Ms.No. 11, provides for a Revision petition against order passed by 2nd respondent, District Collector and Cl.21 also provides issuance of notice only in case of final orders to be passed in Revision - No doubt Revision petition was filed under repealed Control Order 2001, but Control order 2008 provides second revision before Govt., as such it cannot be said that revision is ineffective because of quoting wrong provision of law - Therefore revision is maintainable before 1st respondent/Govt., against orders passed by 2nd respondent/District Collector - Even if order passed by 2nd respondent is stayed by 1st respondent through impugned Memo, it does not prohibit supply of stock to petitioner so long as Authorization of petitioner is subsisting and it does not disentitle petitioner for receiving essential commodities and supplying same to card holders as she succeeded in Revision before District Colletor - Respondent 4 & 5 are directed to supply stock to petitioner, having due regad to fact that Appeal filed by petitioner is allowed restoring her Authorization and also fact that revision filed by 6th respondent is dismissed by 2nd respondent - Writ petition disposed of accordingly. M.Yasodamma Vs. Govt. of A.P. Consumer Affairs (Civil Supplies) 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 17 = 2014(2) ALD 390 = 2014(1) ALT 307.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Cl.24 - "VARIATIONS IN STOCK" - MRI inspected petitioner's FP Shop on 5-5-2014, and submitted report u/Sec.6-A of E.C. Act on 11-8-2014 - R2/R.D.O. issued show cause notice, to petitioner and on same day, he has also suspended petitioner's authorisation on ground that an excess of 44 Kgs. of PDS was found at the time of inspection - High Court set aside order of suspension on 16-09-2004, rendering a finding that petitioner's authorisation was suspended on vague grounds - Petitioner not allowed to distribute commodities till 5-12-2014 - Subsequently, petitioner was permitted to resume his functions as F.P. Shop dealer following order dated 16-9-2014 passed by High Court - Within 7 days thereafter, administration has again felt necessity of making another inspection and this time by vigilance and Revenue Officials together - They have prepared a Panchanama, a reading of which would show that sock of 51.98 Quintals of rice and sugar of 86 Kgs., along with records were seized only on ground that a quantity of 93 Kgs., of PDS Rice was found in excess and no other allegations have been made in panchanama – Evidently based on this action respondent Nos.2 & 3, R.D.O & M.R.O, have stopped supplies to petitioner - Under Cl.24 of A.P. Control Order, variation up to 1.5% of total stock is permissible and as per this clause there could be variation up to 78 Kgs of PDS Rice - Even if allegations contained in panchanama are taken in their face value, variation is excess of permissible limits is only 15 Kgs and for this reason, official machinery has thought it worth to seize entire Rice and Sugar - In this case this court has no hesitation to hold that executive apparatus has abused its powers evidently for extraneous reasons, as specifically alleged by petitioner that all this is done due to political vengeance and respondents have acted with oblique motive and mala fide intention - On careful consideration of facts this court has no hesitation to hold that very act of seizure of Essential Commodities only on allegation that there was excess stock of 93 KGS of PDS Rice out of Q 51.98 PDS rice, in absence of any other allegation of omissions and commissions by petitioner, constitutes patent arbitrariness and abuse of power on part of respondents - Panchanama dated 12-12-2014 Quashed – Respondents are directed to forthwith return seized stocks to petitioner to enable him to continue as F.P. Shop Dealer - Writ Petition allowed, accordingly. Tanneeru Rama Kotaiah Vs. State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 275 = 2015(5) ALD 105 = 2015(3) ALT 76.

A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008:

—Cl.24 – ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, Sec.6-A - Inspector of Police and Mandal Revenue Inspector inspected shop of petitioner and seized stock by preparing panchanama and sent report u/Sec.6-A of E.C. Act – Report did not refer to nature of violations except containing a vague statement that petitioner has violated provisions of Act - Panchanama shows that a shortage of Q 1.09 of PDS Rice out of Q 30-48 – Under Cl.24 of Control Order variation of 1.5% of total stock is permissible and if said percentage is taken into consideration shortfall of Rice is about 70 Kgs. - Petitioner specifically alleged that all is done due to political vengence – Entire official machinery is misused and power of officials is abused, evidently for extraneous reasons - Respondents have acted with oblique motive and mala fide intention - Energies and resources of official machinery cannot be allowed to be misused for targeting individuals in name of prevention of malpractices - In this case very act of seizure of Essential Commodities only on allegation that there was shortage of 70 Kgs of PDS rice beyond permissible limits and in absence of any other allegation of omissions and commissions by petitioner, constitutes patent arbitrariness and abuse of power on part of respondents - Therefore impugned order is liable to be set aside - Collectors should apply their mind before initiating proceedings u/Sec.6-A of Act, instead of mechanically following the report under Sec. 6-A of Act sent by their subordinates - Initiation of proceedings in a mechanical manner without any proper application of mind would not only waste precious time of Collectors, but it also results in serious harassment of Fair Price Shop dealers - Impugned proceedings are set aside, Writ petition allowed. Dubba Ramakrishna Reddy Vs.The State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 230 = 2015(3) ALD 558.

and —— CONDITIONS OF AUTHORISATION 4(1) & 4(11) - "Cancellation of FP shop authorisation" - Tahsildar suspended authorisation of writ petitioner basing on adverse report of alleged variations in stock of rice and sugar - RDO confirmed order of suspension passed by Tahsildar and framed two charges against petitioner through show cause notice directing petitioner to attend hearing on particular date - Accordingly petitioner attended and filed detailed explanation to two charges of alleged variations in rice and sugar and non-maintenance of records - RDO, recorded his findings holding petitioner guilty of both allegations based on report submitted by Vigilance and Enforcement Officers - Petitioner challenged correctness of proceedings of RDO on two reasons - One, RDO, not conducted any enquiry and no witnesses have been examined in his presence and merely based on report of Vigilance and Enforcement Officials and secondly no reasons are assigned as to why petitioner can be said to be guilty of charges - In this case, petitioner's FP shop was suspended on 4-9-2011 basing on adverse report against petitioner by Enforcement Officials - RDO issued a show cause notice on 29-11-2011 calling for explanation of petitioner - RDO finalized proceedings and passed impugned order dt.8-1-2012 holding petitioner guilty of both charges - In this case, RDO has noticed clearly that on 4-9-2011 itself authorisation of petitioner's FP shop has been suspended by Tahsildar - RDO rejected appeal on 10-10-2011 - As such writ petitioner could not have distributed any essential commodities from 4-9-2011 onwards, whereas show cause notice alleges that writ petitioner has been supplied with essential commodities for months of September and October - If authorisation of petitioner is suspended on 3-9-2011 why would MLs point would supply stock of essential commodities in month of September and more particularly in month of October, to a FP shop whose authorisation is suspended? unless there is gross negligence on part of Tahsildar in discharge of his functions by allowing authorisation orders in favour of writ petitioner during months of September and October - Evidently RDO has not even applied his mind while issuing his show cause notice on 29-11-2011 when he made an allegation against petitioner that there was variation noticed between stock lifted by petitioner during months of September and October 2011 and upon physical verification carried on 3-9-2011 - Show cause notice is therefore clearly result of non application of mind on part of RDO - Without going through any of his motions, authorisation of FP shop dealer could not have been cancelled - PRINCIPLES OF NATURAL JUSTICE - Principles of natural justice require no person to be condemned without providing a fair and reasonable opportunity to such a person to defend himself adequately and properly - As a part of this concept one is required to apply once mind to defense set up - Non-application of mind is also worst visiable form of abuse or misuse of power - Reasons are required to be assigned why explanation is not found satisfactory - Statement "explanation offered by dealer is not satisfactory", is a conclusion by itself - As to why said explanation was not found satisfactory is to be essential end result of process of reasoning - Presence of reasons on record discloses lines on which mind has been applied by adjudicating authority - In instant case, Order passed by RDO is clearly and demonstrably without any application of mind on his part - Order of RDO cancelling authorisation of writ petitioner, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. P.Nagaraju Vs. R.D.O. Dharmavaram 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 40 = 2012 (3) ALD 503 = 2012(4) 399.

A.P. SUGAR CANE (REGULATION OF SUPPLY AND PURCHASE) ACT, 1961:

A.P. SUGAR CANE (REGULATION OF SUPPLY AND PURCHASE) ACT, 1961:

—Secs.15 & 17 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - "Alternative remedy" - Petitioners running sugar factory within allotted Zone comprising number of villages and made Application to 1st respondent for declaring Factory Zone to their new Unit - 1st respondent declared Factory zone on same day to 3rd respondent rejecting Application of the petitioner - Hence present writ petition assailing proceedings of first respondent - 1st respondent/Commissioner contends that petitioners are already having by Sugar Factory and that 3rd respondent being a new entrepreneur and with a view to encourage new promoter, request of 3rd respondent considered and further raising objection to maintainability of writ petition in view of availability of alternative remedy u/Sec.17 of Act - In this case, it is not in dispute that Application of petitioners is earlier in point of time than Application of 3rd respondent - In absence of specific guide lines or criterion prescribed by competent Authority, 1st respondent shall adopt a reasonable approach in disposing of applications - Admittedly when factory zone declared in favour of 3rd respondent petitioners' Application was pending and surprisingly there is no reference to Application of petitioners in proceedings by which Application of 3rd respondent was accepted and factory zone was declared - Respondent committed serious procedural error in not considering Applications of petitioners and respondent No.3 together when both of them have applied for same areas for declaration as factory zone - "ALTERNATIVE REMEDY" - Doctrine of alternative remedy is only a rule of procedure devised by superior Courts as a measure of self imposed restrictions - Where manifest injustice is done to a party, High Court would always entertain a writ petition ignoring availability of alternative remedy - As impugned action of 1st respondent is patently arbitrary which resulted in gross injustice to petitioners, writ petition cannot be thrown out on ground of 'alternative remedy' - Impugned proceedings of 1st respondent, set aside - 1st respondent directed to consider Applications of petitioners and respondent No.3 together and take fresh decision in accordance with law - W.P. allowed. Ganpati Sugar Industries Ltd. Vs. Commissioner & Director of Sugar, Hyd 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 312 = 2011(2) ALD 242 = 2011(1) ALT 173.

A.P. SURVEY AND BOUDARIES ACT, 1923:

A.P. SURVEY AND BOUDARIES ACT, 1923:

–Suit for declaration of title and recovery of possession - The appellants having failed to obtain a decree declaring their ownership over the suit schedule land and recovery of possession filed the appeal against the judgment holding that the said land was government land and thereby refused the relief of declaration and also recovery of possession - Held, the government without properly conducting survey after due notice cannot arbitrarily say that the land which is lying vacant and which is part of the registrered sale deed in favour of the plaintiffs is no man's land and hence it is Government land. It is not denied that the government has fenced the land in Sy.No. 44/2 only after the suit was filed. In view of the above, the plaintiffs are entitled to the relief as prayed for. The judgment and decree under appeal partly granting the relief to the plaintiffs in respect of Ac. 44/1 and denying the same in respect of 44/2 cannot be sustained. Even at the cost of repetition, it may be stated that as per the decree, the trial court has recognized the right of plaintiffs only to an extent of 5696 Sq.Mtrs., in Sy.No. 44/1 and denied the right of plaintiffs over an extent of about 3264 Sq. Mtrs. In Sy No. 44/2. This is clearly contrary to the original title of the plaintiffs emanating from Ex.A.1 - In the result, the appeal is allowed and the suit of the plaintiffs is decreed as prayed for. K.Mangamma Vs. Government of A.P. 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.)164.

—Secs. 3 (i), 3 (ii), A.P. Land Encroachment Act, 1905, Sec.2 -Case of petitioner is that subject property was and is private property of individuals and same is covered by sale agreement dated 08.03.2015 - Petitioner intends to purchase property - Sub-Registrar/2 nd respondent has refused to entertain document for registration on ground that Survey No.162/2(part) is recorded as Gramakantam - Further objection of 2 nd respondent in this behalf is Gramakantam is Government property and property is included in the prohibitory list maintained under Section 22-A of the Act - Inclusion of Gramakantam lands in prohibitory list is in terms of G.O.Ms.No.100 Revenue (Assn.I) Department dated 22.02.2014 - Through G.O.Ms.No.56 Revenue (Assn.I) Department dated 16.02.2015, the orders issued in G.O.Ms.No.100 Revenue (Assn.I) dated 22.02.2014 are cancelled - Effect of cancellation is that either the Tahsildar or Sub-Registrar, on ground that a particular survey number is classified as Gramakantam, shall not refuse to receive a document for registration - Held, therefore, occupied Gramakantam by its nature or classification does not belong to the Government to include Gramakantam in prohibitory list - Either under the Madras Estates Land Act or in Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act exceptions have been carved out and Gramakantam is one of categories of land which is not included in the Government lands - This Court is of opinion that refusing to entertain document for registration on ground that subject property is classified as Gramakantam amounts to illegal refusal and consequently writ petition is ordered by directing Sub-registrar/ 2nd respondent to receive document presented by petitioner for registration of subject property without reference to classification of petition land as Gramakantam, consider same and pass orders for registration, if document is otherwise compliant. Sagadapu Vijaya Vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 226.

A.P. (A.A.) TENANCY ACT, 1956:

—Sec.11 - In this Writ Petition, petitioner is aggrieved by action of respondents for not conducting survey in demarcating petitioner's land and in not considering petitioner's representations.

Held, as held in Khaja Naseeruddin Vs. Commissioner, Survey, Settlement and Land Records, if survey is sought by a person, after issuing notice on parties interested and in particular the registered holders of land, concerned official should conduct survey and demarcation in their presence - Above principles are to be kept in mind and above circulars are to be followed by respondents while conducting survey of private lands under Act - In this view of matter, Writ Petition is allowed and 5th respondent is directed to cause a survey for demarcating lands of petitioners by considering representations. Muramalla Padmavathi Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 47 = 2016(3) ALD 650 = 2016(3) ALT 653.

A.P. (A.A.) TENANCY ACT, 1956:

—Sec.2-C - Tenant filed ATC for declaration that he is statutory tenant over schedule property, contending that since 30 years he has been cultivating land by raising green gross and selling same and paying rent towards lease amount - Respondents contend that they were personally cultivating land by raising green gross through drainage water and were selling same for particular amount from time to time by giving right to cut and carry gross from land and therefore petitioner does not come within definition of cultivating tenant and not entitled for declaration as prayed for - Special Court dismissed Application holding that petitioner not cultivating tenant - Appellate Tribunal allowed appeal holding that tenant is entitled for declaration as prayed for - "CULTIVATING TENANT" - Defined - Person claiming tenancy will be recognised only when he cultivates land by his own labour or by any other member of his family or by hiring labour under his supervision and control in respect of land belonging to another person under tenancy agreement express or implied - Trees and shrubs cut and remove as wood for sale from land shall be treated as movable property - But if transfer includes right to fell trees for a term of years, transferee derives a benefit from further growth and such transfer is treated as one of immovable property - Order of appellate Tribunal, set aside - Order of Special Officer, confirmed - Revision petition, allowed. Muthakamalli Sitaravamma Vs. Soma Venkateswarlu 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 19 = 2008(3) ALD 164.

A.P. (A.A.) TENANCY ACT, 1956:

—Secs.8 & 16 and Rules framed thereunder - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.22, Rule 9 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 & 29 (2) - Petitioners filed ATC seeking remission of makta relating to petition schedule land - Since original petitioner died during pendency of ATC, Application filed together with Application u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act and Or.22, Rule 9(ii) of CPC requesting Munsif/Special Officer to condone delay of 171 days in filing Application to bring on record LRs and to set aside abatment - Petitioners contend that Special Officer has chosen to follow decision of single Judge of A.P High Court which holds that provisions of Act and particularly Sec.5 thereof is not applicable with respect to Special Officer under Act - Since view of single Judge is not sustainable in view of decision of Supreme Court the judgment of Single Judge followed by Special Officer is not sustainable - It is clear from reading of provisions of Act that there is no express exclusion anywhere in Act taking out the applicability of Sec.5 of Limitation Act to appeals filed before appellate Authority u/Sec.16 of Act - Consequently all requirements for applicability of Sec.5 of Limitation Act can be stated to have been satisfied - A regular District Munsif and District Judge are constituted as original and appellate authorities under Act and they are so constituted as a class and it cannot be said that they are persona designate - Consequently when once they function as District Munsif and District Judge respectively while administering present Act in view of Rule 18, all proceedings before Special Officer or District Judge under Act are governed by CPC - Provisions of CPC are therefore, applicable to extent there is no contrary provision either under Act or Rules - Scheme of Act also shows that there is no express or implied exclusion of applicability of Limitation Act - U/Sec.29 (2) of Limitation Act therefore, Sec.4 to 24 of Limitation Act per force apply to proceedings under Act - Impugned order dismissing ATC filed by original petitioner as abated and consequential rejection of I.A and accompanied applications, set aside. Penumatsa Narsimha Raju Vs. Andhra Jatiya Vidya Parishad, 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 245 = 2010(2) ALD 462 = AIR 2010 AP 90.

—Secs.10, 15 & 16 & Rule 19 of Rules - Respondent/tenant contends that he is cultivating tenant of petition schedule property and therefore prayed for relief of declaration and also perpetual injunction - Petitioner flatly denied that existence of tenancy between himself and respondent stating that one VSR was tenant - Trial Court dismissed ATC holding that respondent failed to prove that he was tenant of petitioner - District Judge allowed appeal - Hence present revision - Petitioner contends that lower appellate Court proceeded to decide matter on surmises and assumptions without there being any legal or factual support for same - Finding recorded by lower appellate Court is totally without any basis and it is contrary to basic tenets of evidence - In this case, respondents did not even make an effort to provide any link in process of proof - Strangely enough, lower appellate Court made an attempt to supply all possible links, little releasing that such links do not form a chain at all - Petitioner states that land is in possession and enjoyment of X in capacity of a lessee and thereafter, holder of agreement of sale - He was immediately affected person - Respondent did not take step to implead that individual - ATC is bad for non- joinder of parties - CRP, allowed. Kopparapu Seetharamanjaneyulu (died) per LRs Vs.Male Krishna Reddy (died) per LRs 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 69 = 2011(6) ALD 1 = 2011(6) ALT 781.

A.P. (A.A.) TENANCY ACT, 1956:

—Secs.10(1), 15 & 16(1) - A.P. CIVIL COURTS ACT, Secs.10 & 11 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.2(4) & 2(8) -GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, Sec.2(17) - Petitioner filed a petition for declaration that he is a statutory protected tenant and for permanent injunction restraining respondents from interfering with possession, contending that he is tenant since 2003 and he became owner and also claimed premptive right u/sec.15 of Tenancy Act - In Application filed by petitioner for ad interim injunction defendants remained ex parte and 2nd respondent alone filed counter stating that he purchased property from 3rd respondent under registered sale deed and also denied that 1st respondent is owner of schedule property and petitioner in collusion with 1st respondent filed ATC setting up false lease - Special Officer-cum-Principal Junior Civil Judge dismissed Application observing that petitioner failed to produce any evidence that he took property on lease and therefore is not entitled for injunction - Petitioner preferred appeal u/Sec.16(2) of Act and same was dismissed by 3rd Additional District Judge - Hence, present Revision - Tenancy Act does not define “District Judge” u/Sec.2 (4) of CPC - It is clear that for purpose of Sec.16(2) of Tenancy Act “District Judge” means only “principal District Judge” and an additional District Judge, therefore cannot exercise appellate jurisdiction under Act - A plain reading of Secs.10 & 11 of Civil Courts Act would show that where ever statute uses terms “District Judge” means, it is a Principal District Court - All Addl. District Judges are appointed to District Court only when there is such requirement due to pendency of cases in District Court - u/Sec.11(2) of Civil Courts Act all Addl. District Judges shall perform all or any of functions of District Judge under Act - When Sec.16(2) of Tenancy Act confers appellate jurisdiction on District Judge having jurisdiction over matter, power cannot be delegated by District Judge to Addl. District Judge - Impugned order on file of 3rd Addl. District Judge, set aside and is directed to return papers to petitioner for presentation to proper Court i.e. Court of Pincipal District Judge - CRP, accordingly, allowed. Kunche Sathiraju Vs. Vasamsetti Raja Gopal, 2012(1) Law Summary 138 = 2012(2) ALD 61 = 2012(3) ALT 618.

A.P. (A.A.) TENANCY ACT, 1956:

—Sec.13 - District Munsif-Special Officer dismissed Application filed by petitioner/landlord for eviction of respondent-tenant - District Judge (Appellate Tribunal) confirmed order of Special Officer - Petitioner contends that respondent obtained interim injunction by playing fraud and misrepresentation basing on forged agreement and squatting over disputed land under guise of injunction and also committed wilful default of payment of rent - Respondent contends that he is continuing as cultivating tenant on basis of agreement and not committed any default in payment of rent, and rents were being deposited into Court when petitioner failed to receive same and that petition is liable to be dismissed - It is specific case of petitioners that no rent was paid upto filing of ATC and that respondent is claiming that he is regularly paying rent without default - Tribunals below by taking into consideration, evidence placed by both parties rightly came to conclusion that petitioners failed to establish that lease deed is a forged one and there was wilful default in payment of rent - Conclusion of Tribunals that there are no grounds to grant relief of eviction in favour of petitioners - Justified - CRP, dismissed. C.K.Pounamma Vs. K. Chinnaswami 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 210 = 2008(2) ALD 300 = 2008(2) ALT 31.

—Sec. 13 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec. 53-A - Held, It is relevant to note conduct of appellant in this context - He has set up an alleged oral agreement of sale said to have taken place as far back as October 1979 - He has not taken any steps by calling upon plaintiff during his life time or respondents herein who are his legal heirs thereafter calling upon them to execute the sale deed or filed a specific performance suit for nearly six years after so-called oral agreement of sale - At least after present suit was filed against him, appellant has failed to file specific performance suit - Agreement set up by appellant being oral, he cannot even claim benefit of doctrine of part performance under Section 53-A of Transfer of Property Act 1882 as held by Supreme Court in Mool Chand Bakhru and another Vs. Rohan and others and by this Court in Narasayya - Appellant has not even set up plea of adverse possession - On one hand he is denying tenancy and on other hand he has failed to prove plea of oral agreement of sale (The finding rendered on this aspect by the trial court has not even been contested in his appeal as no submissions in this regard are made by the learned Counsel for appellant) - On these indisputable facts, continued possession of appellant is indenfensible irrespective of which ever forum decides case - In fact, the appellant is only seeking to prolong litigation by nonsuiting respondents on plea of lack of jurisdiction in the civil court - If his plea is accepted and respondents are relegated to Tenancy Court, consistent with his stand taken in the suit, appellant will plead absence of tenancy and that consequently Tenancy Court has no jurisdiction to order his eviction in absence of landlord-tenant relationship - In other words, appellant is seeking to use respondents who are admittedly the owners of property and who are denied possession as well as rents for 35 years, as a foot ball - Even if respondents have approached Tenancy court, its finding not being conclusive on plea of agreement of sale set up by the appellant, either party would have approached civil court by way of a civil suit - Therefore, on pleadings of parties, no prejudice was caused to appellant on account of the lower court entertaining the suit - Indeed, lower court has conducted a full-fledged trial and made a threadbare discussion on the merits of case, including plea of oral agreement of sale propounded by appellant - Therefore, on facts of the present case, it would be a grave travesty of justice to non-suit the respondents on ground of lack of jurisdiction in civil court - On analysis as above, this Court hold that lower court has jurisdiction to entertain suit and it has rightly done so - For above mentioned reasons, appeal fails and same is accordingly dismissed. Badde Ganiraju Vs. Polisetti Andala Tayaru, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 262 = 2015(5) ALD 168 = 2015(4) ALT 186.

—-Sec.15 - Plaintiff instituted suit for specific performance of an agreement to sell, said to have been executed by the defendants 1 and 2 in respect of schedule property of an extent of Ac.08.94 cents - 3rd and 4th defendants got themselves impleaded in suit claiming to be tenants of schedule property - But, version of the defendants 3 and 4 is that 3rd defendant is the cultivating tenant of an extent of Ac.7.00 cents and the remaining extent of Ac.1.94 cents belongs to 4th defendant - They contended that since tenancy was subsisting, defendants 1 and 2 have no right to sell away property to third parties in contravention of their rights under Section 15 of the A.P. Tenancy (Andhra Area) Act.

Sole question which requires to be determined in present appeal is whether trial Court is justified in granting relief of specific performance in respect of Ac.3.54 cents of scheduled mentioned property having regard to aforementioned facts and circumstances of case on ground that third defendant did not exercise his option to purchase land as provided for under Section 15 of the A.P. Tenancy Act.

Held, in considered opinion of this Court, there is no substance finding recorded by trial Court that third defendant did not exercise his right to purchase land which was leased out to him - Finding recorded by learned trial Court on this aspect is totally misconceived since Section 15 of the A.P. Tenancy Act mandates that landlord intending to sell land leased out to a cultivating tenant shall first give notice to such cultivating tenant of his intention to sell such land.

In instant case, trial Court noticed that prior to filing of suit relating to present appeal, plaintiff and the defendants 1 and 2 are very much aware of fact that petitioner is cultivating tenant of schedule mentioned land of Ac.7.54 cents and he was declared so by the Special Officer in ATC No.15 of 1988 in which plaintiff and the defendants 1 and 2 were respondents - Trial Court also recorded a finding that on date of alleged agreement to sell, third defendant was in possession of land leased out to him and thereafter, he is continuing in possession - Noticing said fact trial Court observed that recital in agreement of sale that plaintiff was put in possession of schedule mentioned property is absolutely false - Moreover, pending suit, plaintiff obtained sale deed from first defendant for an extent of Ac.5.44 cents of plaint schedule property - Having noticed all these facts, trial Court ought not to have granted relief of specific performance to plaintiff - Finding recorded by trial Court are totally misconceived and contrary to provisions of A.P. Tenancy Act and they are liable to be set aside in appeal - Consequently, judgment and decree passed by the Principal Senior Civil Judge, is set aside - Appeal suit is allowed. Yellina Venkateswra Rao Vs. Bollina Venata Ramana 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 256 = 2016(5) ALD 321.

A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) TENANCY AND AGRICULTURAL LANDS ACT, 1950:

A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) TENANCY AND AGRICULTURAL LANDS ACT, 1950:

—Sec.38-E - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS ACT, 1971, Secs.8 & 3-A - Ancestors of respondents 1 to 12 declared as protected tenants in respect of certain Survey No. and were also issued Certificate u/Sec.38-E of Act - One BB claiming ownership over said land executed sale deed in favour of petitioners - R-13/MRO effected mutation in revenue records and issued Pattadar Pass Books and subsequently issued Memo stating that dispute is in civil nature - Joint Collector allowing Revision filed by respondents 1 to 12 - Petitioner contends that entries in revenue records were made after due verification, and in case respondents have any claim they have to establish it before civil Court as provided u/Sec.8 of Act 1971 and that petitioners are bona fide purchasers from pattadar of land - Sec.3-A of Act confers precedent on provisions of Tenancy Act and directs that no steps under 1971 Act shall be inconsistent with provisions of Tenancy Act - It is a matter of record that ancestors of respondents were declared as protected tenants in respect of said lands and that certificate u/Sec.38-E of Tenancy Act was also issued in their favour - Any entry in revenue records, that is made contrary to certificate issued u/Sec.38-E, per se, is illegal and untenable, even if one goes by Sec.3-A of 1971 Act - MRO committed a blatant illegality in making entries contrary to certificate issued in favour of ancestors of respondents and when objection raised he required respondents to approach civil Court - There cannot be any greater instance of misuse of power, than this - Petitioners are only purchasers from BB and they have to stand or fall on strength of rights possessed by their transferor - Writ petition, dismissed. Boddupalli Sathaiah Vs. Koppula Pedda Linga Reddy 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 7 = 2008(5) ALD 311.

—Secs.38-E & 50-B - In instant case, vendor of petitioners was granted Section 50-B certificate on 21-03-1972 - When father of third respondent applied for certificate under Section 38-E, he was conscious that his father was protected tenant for Ac. 19.13 cents - When competent authority restricted issuance of certificate under Section 38-E to Ac. 10.00 guntas, he did not protest and even after issuance of Section 38-E certificate, he kept quiet - Held, Section 90 read with Section 93 of Act prescribes time of 60 days to file appeal - Third respondent has not filed appeal against order under Section 50-B certificate, dated 24-07-1973 - Assuming that third respondent had no knowledge of issuance of Section 50-B certificate, he should have been alarmed when in Section 38-E certificate extent of land mentioned was only Ac. 10.00 guntas and more so, only Ac. 4.12 guntas was covering survey No. 202 leaving other Ac. 8.00 guntas - He never protested when third parties were cultivating the land even assuming that he was not aware of the sale made by one MS to the petitioners in the year 1984 - For first time, he filed an application on 24-07-1993 for restoration of possession - Thus third respondent is acquiesced of transactions made earlier, acquiesced of purchase made by petitioners and their possession and enjoyment of the said land - Therefore he is stopped from filing an application for restoration of possession under Section 32 of the Act, more particularly, after long lapse of time - In facts of the case, it cannot be said that application for restoration of possession under Section 32 of Act was filed within a reasonable time - Thus, order of Joint Collector restoring possession is not sustainable - Order is also not sustainable for reason that the Joint Collector has not assigned reasons for entertaining such application after long lapse of time - Having regard to the above discussion and findings, the order impugned in the writ petition is set aside - Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. Ithagani Lachaiah Vs. Joint Collector & Additional District Magistrate, Nalgonda 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 150 = 2015(4) ALD 490 = AIR 2015 (NOC) 914 (Hyd).

A.P. URBAN AREAS (DEVELOPMENT) ACT, 1975:

—Secs.38-E, 90 & 91 - Jurisdiction of Commissioner of Land Administration - Against orders passed by Joint Collector any Appeal or Revision lies only to High Court and no such revision or appeal lies to Chief Commissioner of Land administration - 1st Respondent/Chief Commissioner cannot entertain any revision - Writ petition, allowed. Ch.Shivudu Vs. Chief Commissioner of Land Administration 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 12 = 2010(3) ALD 720 = 2010(3) ALT 279.

A.P. URBAN AREAS (DEVELOPMENT) ACT, 1975:

—Secs. 3(1), 5(1), 11,12,15 - PUBLIC INTEREST LITIGATION - Land in question earmarked for parks - 1st respondent/Development Authority accorded permission to respondent no.3 for construction of Temple on land earmarked for parks - High Court dismissed PIL challenging said permission - Hence, present Appeal - Protection of environment, open spaces, for recreation and fresh air, play grounds for children, promenade for residents and other conveniences or amenities are matters of great public concern and of vital interest to be taken care of in development scheme - "....Public interest in reservation and preservation of open spaces for parks and play grounds cannot be sacrificed by leasing or selling such site to private persons for conversion to some other use - Any such act would be contrary to legislative intent and inconsistent with statutory requirements - Further more it would be in direct conflict with constitutional mandate to ensure that any State action is inspired by basis values of individual freedom and dignity and addressed to attainment of quality of life which makes the guaranteed rights a reality for all the citizens" - In this case, surprisingly that even though respondent no.3 not owner of site, it made an application for grant of permission to construct Temple and functionaries of respondent No.1 accepted same without making any enquiry about title of respondent no.3 - Thus illegality committed by 1st respondent in issuing order granting permission to respondent no.3 to construct Temple - Order issued by 1st respondent, quashed. Machavarapu Srinivasa Rao Vs. Vijayawada, Urban Development Authority 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 93 = 2012(1) ALD 41 (SC) = 2011 AIR SCW 5424.

A.P. WATER, LAND AND TREES ACT, 2002:

A.P. URBAN LAND CEILING AND REGULATION (REPEAL) ACT, 1999:

—Sec.20(1) (a) and 20(2) - Memo No.9609/UC/III/1/2009-11 - "Change of land use" - Exemption granted earlier with conditions - Govt., passing order declaring that change of land use amounts to violations of conditions granted earlier - Govt., rejecting claim of petitioner seeking permission to construct Multiplex Theatre-cum-Shopping Complex in place existing cinema theatre - Petitioner contends, by virtue of Urban Land Repeal Act in absence of any provision saving sub-sec.2 of Sec.20 of Principal Act, it cannot be said that petitioners have been used land only for purpose of cinema theatre and in absence of saving provision with regard to Sec. 20(2) Principal Act conditions are unenforceable and they are non-est in law - Govt., contends that in view of saving clause under Repeal Act of 1999, saving provision u/Sec.20(1) (a) of Principal Act conditions imposed in order granting exemption in favour of petitioner shall continue to operate as such petitioners are not entitled to construct a Multiplex Theatre-cum-Shoping Complex - In absence of initiation of proceedings or withdrawal of exemption granted u/Sec.20(1) of Principal Act before enforcement of Urban Land Repeal Act, land, which is exempted will become a free-hold land and hence stand of respondents that even after coming into force of Repealing Act, conditions imposed in order granting exemption u/Sec.20(1) of Principal Act shall continue to operate cannot be accepted - Memo No.9609 issued by Govt., quashed, by directing respondents to permit petitioners to use their property covered by exemption proceedings, for purpose of constructing a Multiplex Cinema Theatre-cum-Shopping Complex in place of existing cinema theatre - Writ petition, allowed. Surender Raj Jaiswal Vs. Principal Secretary to Govt., 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 55 = 2011(6) ALD 198 = 2011(6) ALT 327.

A.P. WATER, LAND AND TREES ACT, 2002:

—Secs.10,14,27 and 35(2), Rules 27 of Rules 2004 - Complaint of petitioners was that goods vehicles in which they were transporting sand were seized and they were directed to pay penalty - In some cases, such penalty was levied as a measure of compounding an offence while in others, it was imposed as a penalty per se - Imposition of penalties in all cases was under provisions of A.P. Water, Land and Trees Act, 2002 - No mention was made in impugned notices in these cases as to under which provision of the Act of 2002 the penalty was imposed - Petitioners in all aforestated cases allege that no prior notice was issued and no opportunity was given to them before imposition of the penalty - Held, in cases on hand, question before this Court is not whether transportation of sand by petitioners in their goods vehicles was legal - Petitioners assert so while respondent authorities allege otherwise - However, if respondent authorities found such transportation to be illegal, they necessarily had to follow due procedure laid down by law for taking action against petitioners - Therefore, only issue that falls for consideration before this Court is whether authorities exercised such power in these cases as per due procedure - Rules of 2004 were framed in exercise of powers conferred by Section 45(1) of Act of 2002 - Rule

A.P. WATER, LAND AND TREES ACT, 2002:

27 deals with compounding of offence and Sub-Rule (1) thereof provides that Authority or designated officer or any officer authorized by Government in this regard, as case may be, may accept from any person who committed or who is reasonably suspected of having committed an offence in relation to contravention of Sec.10, 14 and Sec.27, being other than an offence punishable under sub-section (2) of Section 35 of Act of 2002, a sum not less than Rs.One Lakh, by way of compounding - Rule 27 deals with compounding of offence and Sub-Rule (1) thereof provides that Authority or designated officer or any officer authorized by Government in this regard, as case may be, may accept from any person who committed or who is reasonably suspected of having committed an offence in relation to contravention of Secs.10, 14 and Sec.27, being other than an offence punishable under sub-section (2) of Sec.35 of the Act of 2002, a sum not less than Rs.One Lakh, by way of compounding - Further, very concept of compounding requires that person who is alleged to have committed offence, or who is reasonably suspected of having done so, must voluntarily come forward to pay a sum of money so as to compound offence - In all cases on hand, except one, there is no whisper of petitioners having come forward to compound offences alleged against them - On other hand, all of them unanimously contend that they had never offered to pay any penalty as they had not committed any offence - Further, what is more distressing to note is that the State authorities are only interested in making money out of alleged illegal transportation of sand, which is counter-productive to the very objective sought to be achieved by promulgating laws to arrest unauthorized mining of sand - State authorities would therefore have to introspect on their motives and objectives while implementing laws of this nature - On aforestated analysis, this Court finds that the impugned proceedings/notices in these cases were not legally well founded as the provisions of Sec.37 of the Act of 2002 and Rule 27 of the Rules of 2004 had no application whatsoever - Seizure of vehicles and consequent imposition of fine/penalty, be it by way of compounding or otherwise, are therefore found to be without legal basis - Impugned proceedings/notices are accordingly set aside - Writ petitions are allowed. R.Biksham Vs. The District Collector, Mahabubnagar, 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 386.

—Sec.28(5) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.21 - ANDHRA PRADESH MUNICIPALITIES ACT, 1965, Secs.56,133,134(2)& 382 -Respondents 5 and 6 removed 120 babul trees more than 30 years old located near a tank and petitioner alleged that cutting of trees destroyed healthy atmosphere in village and there was no necessity to cut them since they were not causing any hindrance to anybody - Respondent No. 5 contended that he sought permission from Respondent No. 3 to cut trees but there was no necessity to obtain anybody's permission and he can cut trees under Secs.133,134 read with Sec.56 of A.P. Municipalities Act, 1965 - Held, Sec.28(5) of A.P. Water, Land and Trees Act, 2002 mandates obtaining of permission from a designated Officer before cutting trees and if really provisions of said Act have no application as contended by Respondents 5 and 6, there is no reason why they would seek permission from Respondent No. 3 to clear bushes and allegedly unwanted vegetation in tank and hence cannot be accepted - Respondents 5 and 6 have acted in an illegal and arbitrary manner by cutting fully grown babul trees by misleading the Collector (respondent 3) that they are only clearing bushes and vegetation - Prosecution against writ petitioner by Respondents 5 or 6, u/Sec.382 of A.P. Municipalities Act, 1965 does not arise - Writ Petition, allowed. Chimme John Barnabas Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 47 = 2015(1) ALD 95 = 2014(6) ALT 778.

A.P. WAKF ACT, 1995:

A.P. WAKF ACT, 1995:

—Sec.89 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.80 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.34 - Respondent initially approached High Court by way of writ petition to declare Notification issued u/Sec.4(3) of Wakf Act, 1954, as null and void - Pursuant to direction of High Court respondent filed suit challenging said Notification - Tribunal dismissed suit, hence present revision under Art.227 of Constitution of India - Petitioner contends that very institution of suit before Tribunal by respondents is untenable and judgment of Tribunal suffers from several infirmities viz., a)suit untenable, since it was not preceded by notice contemplated u/Sec.89 of Wakf Act, 1995; b) barred by limitation; c) Court fee paid inadequate; d) description of property is defective and e) relief claimed in suit does not accord with Sec.34 of Specific Relief Act - Respondent contends that requirement to issue notice u/Sec.89 is obviated,on account of institution of writ petition and permission accorded, in order passed therein to respondent to file sui within time stipulated therein - Question of limitation becomes irrelevant, once Court permitted respondents to file a suit and that proviso to Sec.34 of Specific Relief Act does not apply - Two principle contentions urged on behalf of petitioner are that suit is defective in as much as it was not preceded by notice, contemplated u/Sec.89 of new Act, and that it is barred by limitation besides three subsidiary contentions regarding Court fee and Sec.34 of Specific Relief Act - Plea that there was failure to issue notice would not render suit not maintainable and at most plaintiff would be required to comply with provisions and come back to Court, thereafter - Once suit has been adjudicated on merits, without defendant in it, raising any objection, as to failure to issue notice, acceptance of plea at a later stage would render entire exercise futile - Even if a plea was not raised, petitioner could have insisted on framing of an issue touching it and no such effort was made - Limitation for filing suit u/Sec.6 of new Act is stipulated under proviso thereto - It mandates that no suit raising any dispute regarding Wakfs shall be entertained by Tribunal after one year from date of application of list of Wakfs - If that provision is to be applied to facts of this case, suit is obviously by limitation - However, limitation prescribed under proviso to Sec.6 was held to be applicable only when suit is filed by Wakf or anybody claiming rights in Wakf - Limitation prescribed under that provision would apply to suits filed by Wakf Board or Muthavalli of Wakf or any person interested in Wakf - Petitioner did not raise any plea as to limitation in suit much less any issue was framed on it - Hence it cannot be accepted - Sec.34 of Specific Relief Act has no application to suits which are filed under provisions of Wakf Act without claiming relief of recovery of possession - When notification as such is challenged, any ambiguity on such aspects, cannot adversely affect suit - Court fee is a matter between Court and plaintiff in a suit and defendant does not have much to say in this matter - However no issues are framed and petitioner did not raise any objection when Tribunal framed only one issue regarding Notification - Judgment of Tribunal justified - CRP, dismissed. A.P. State Wakf Board Vs. Smt. Sabita Jashi 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.)237 = 2010(6) ALD 651.

ADVOCATES ACT, 1961:

ADVOCATES ACT, 1961:

—Secs.2(a), 3(a), 17, 29 to 34 and 45 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.2(15) & Or.3, Rules 2 & 4 - CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE, Rules 30 & 33 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.32 & 226 - Appellant filed suit for specific performance - District Judge dismissed suit - Division Bench of High Court confirmed judgment of District Judge and thereafter dismissed review petition - Appellant represented by a duly instructed Counsel, an Advocate enrolled on rolls of State Bar Council - Although appeal to High Court and Supreme Court were dismissed he filed writ petition before Supreme Court and same was lodged under Or.18 Rule 5 of Supreme Court Rules and IAs filed by way of appeals against Registrar's Order were dismissed - In Supreme Court T.D. Dayal represented appellant as his GPA holder - Thereafter appellant through GPA filed writ petition with his affidavit criticising judgment of trial Court, District Court, and cast unfounded and unsubstantiated aspersions as well as on Supreme Court on High Court - In affidavit of GPA though he was never in picture till disposal of SLPs, petitioner narrates factual background (makes allegations) as if he is personally aware even without mentioning that he is deposing to affidavit based on record - GPA'S RIGHT OF COURT AUDIENCE - Stated - Any person approaching Court seeking some legal redressal scrupulously, and without exception follow procedure Rules and regulations framed by High Court - A party to proceedings may authorize another by giving power of attorney (PoA) to appear in case, file affidavits instruct lawyers and act on his behalf - Therefore T.D. Dayal cannot derive any authority under GPA allegedly executed by appellant - GAP holder cannot plead and /or argue for his principal - If a person other than Advocate enrolled on rolls of Bar Council, appears in Court it is offence punishable under law - Vakalath and verification of pleadings can be signed either by a party or a PoA - As per Rule 33 of Civil Rules of Practice when pleadings are verified and signed by person under written authority (PoA) such document shall be filed with an affidavit by (PoA) holder to effect that such person is recognized agent as defined in Or.3, Rule 2 CPC - PoA cannot given evidence on behalf of party to proceedings who has given PoA - Therefore PoA in favour of person to act for another person in Court proceedings cannot be construed as authorizing holder of PoA to argue case in Court - ADVOCATE - Defined - A conspects of Rules 1 & 2 of Or.3 of CPC, Sec.2(a) and Secs.29, 30,33,34 of Advocates Act would show that all pleadings in proceedings shall be by party in person or by his recognized agent - Secs.29 & 30 of Advocates Act make it clear that Advocates only recognized class of persons entitled to practise law - It is an offence for non-Advocate to practise under provisions of Advocates Act, Sec.45 prescribes sentence of six month imprisonment - VEXATIOUS AND FRIVOLOUS LITIGATION - - A concocted, fabricated, false and spurious case by one party against other using Court as a forum would cause immense damage to judicial institution besides damaging reputation of person dragged to Court - Court has to be on constant vigal to reject such cases - Common Law loathes frivolous and vexation cases and persons who file such cases - Nature of cases filed by T.D. Dayal. either as a party in person or as holder of GPA for third parties would show that all cases are frivolous - He attained notoriety in corridors of High Court of A.P., and was punished for contempt of Court - It is very much necessary, therefore, to prevent him from filing cases in Court as GPA - Therefore by using bad and intemperate language attributing prejudice to Hon'ble Judges of High Court by addressing a letter to Registry attributing bias, T.D Dayal has committed contempt scandalizing Court besides interfering with course of justice - Writ appeal, dismissed with directions to Registry; a) Not to accept any case filed by Dayal b) Security staff incharge of High Court not to allow Dayal to enter High Court premises c) To communicate copy of order to Secretary Bar Council d) Registry to suo moto register contempt case against Dayal and appellant and GPA directed to pay Rs.25,000 as costs. Madupu Harinarayana @Maribabu Vs. Learned 1st Addl. District Judge, Kadapa, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 252 = 2011(4) ALD 61 = 2011(2) ALT 405 = AIR 2011 (NOC) 223 (AP).

ADVOCATES ACT, 1961:

—Secs.35 & 38 - "Professional misconduct" - Appellant/Jaipur Development Authority engaged 1st respondent in Land Acquisition Reference matter - R1 neither appeared in Court nor filed written statement on behalf of appellant and consequently Court closed opportunity for filing written statement on behalf of appellant - Respondent did not inform about said order and also even result of final order - Hence appellant sought indulgence of State Bar Council and filed complaint - Since Disciplinary Committee of State Bar Council could not conclude proceedings within stipulated time same was transferred to Bar Council of India and ultimately complaint was dismissed by Bar Council of India - Hence present appeal u/Sec.38 of Advocates Act - In this case, in view of alleged lapses and willful default on part of 1st respondent complaint was filed by appellant u/Sec.35 of Advocates Act alleging misconduct, against 1st respondent - Factual narration which has been given and conduct of 1st respondent in conducting case clearly proves and establishes his misdemanor and misconduct and therefore respondent no.1 found guilty of professional misconduct - 1st respondent suspended as an Advocate from practice for period of six months. Jaipur Vikas Pradhikaran Vs. Ashok Kumar Chowdary, 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 47.

—Sec.38 - "Professional misconduct" - Respondent/Advocate filed forged and fabricated Vakalathnamas as well as compromises in divorce proceedings by forging and fabricating documents without knowledge of parties and obtained orders - Complaint filed before

ALLOPATHIC PRIVATE MEDICAL CARE ESTABLISHMENTS (REGISTRATION AND REGULATION) ACT, 2002:

Bar Council against respondent/advocate alleging his involvement in number of false cases by forging and fabricating documents - Disciplinary Committee of Bar Council of U.P. passed orders debarring respondent/advocate from practising for period of 7 years - On appeal Disciplinary Committee BCI modified order of punishment and reprimanded respondent/Advocate and imposed cost of Rs.1,000/- - Hence present appeal filed against order of BCI - Consideration of matter by Disciplinary Committee, BCI is clearly flawed - It overlooked most vital aspect that witnesses have clearly and unequivocally stated that respondent/advocate had filed forged and fabricated valakathnamas on their behalf and they have not filed any compromise in Court and that respondent/advocate not at all cross-examined these witnesses on above aspect - Disciplinary Committee accepted oral submission of respondent/advocate and as matter of fact he did not tender any evidence what so ever in rebuttal - Findings recorded by Disciplinary Committee of Bar Counsel of U.P that respondent/Advocate was involved in very serious professional misconduct by filing vakalathama without any authority and later on filing fictitious compromises which adversely affected interest of parties concerned - Hence findings of Disciplinary Committee Bar Counsel of U.P., restored - In this case, respondent/Advocate involved in very serious professional misconduct by filing vakalathnamas without any authority and later on filing fictitious compromises - Professional misconduct committed by respondent/Advocate is extremely grave and serious and he has indulged in mischeif making - Fraudulent conduct of lawyer cannot be viewed leniently lest interest of administration of justice and highest tradition of Bar may became causality - By showing undue sympathy and leniency in matter such as this while advocate has been found guilty of grave and serious professional misconduct, purity and dignity of legal profession will be compromised - Any compromise with purity dignity and nobility of legal profession is surely bound to affect faith and respect of people in rule of law - Respondent/advocate also previously found to be involved on professional misconduct and he was repremanded - Respondent/advocate is suspended from practice for period of 3 years. Narain Pandey Vs. Pannalal Pandey, 2013(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 32 = 2014(3) ALD 94 (SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 590 = AIR 2014 SC 944.

ALLOPATHIC PRIVATE MEDICAL CARE ESTABLISHMENTS (REGISTRATION AND REGULATION) ACT, 2002:

—and Rules 2007 - "Medical negligence" - Suit filed by respondents against appellants, Medical practitioners of Maternity and General Hospital claiming damages for alleged acts of medical negligence in conducting operation to wife of 1st respondent and as result she died - Trial Court decreed suit awarding sum of Rs.2.5 lakhs towards compensation as against claim of Rs.5 lakhs - Appellants filed appeal A.S.No.38 of 2007 in District Judges Court against decree - Respondents filed A.S.No.40/2007 not satisfied with amount awarded by trial Court - Lower appellate Court, dismissed A.S.No.38 and allowed A.S.No.40 enhancing compensation to Rs.4 lakhs - Hence, present two second appeals - In this case, expert's opinion revealed that there was no negligence on part of Doctors but cause of death could be side effects of drug administered for anesthesia - Appellants filed written statement admitting fact of treatment of deceased and that every possible care was taken, while conducting operation, but suddenly patient suffered heart attack, few hours after she was shifted to ward and they denied their liability to pay compensation - Trial Court has simply referred to factum of death of deceased, steps that caused in form of registration of case and conducting of postmortem and held that though appellants are negligent personally they are vicariously liable - Since they availed services of one doctor, DS, anesthetist even while taking view that there was fault on part of anesthetist, neither any experts opinion was take into account, nor said doctor DS was made a party to suit, much less he was examined as witness - Further it was not case of respondents that death occurred on account of negligence on part of anesthetist - Trial Court did nothing more than applying parameters that are referable to M.V Act in determination on motor accidents claims and awarded amount - When suit is filed for damages amount to be awarded must be commensurate with negligence, if any, found on behalf of defendants, but not to with reference to income of patient and as such, whole approach was untenable - Lower appellate Court has imported its personal knowledge and made several observations and has gone to extent of observing that 1st appellant not authorized person to conduct Sonography and that appellants ought to have arranged for ventilator and resuscitation equipment - In this case, since trial Court and lower appellate Court held that appellants are not negligent by themselves by holding that negligence was that of anesthetist, who is not made a party or was examined as witness but simply adopted principles underlying in MV Act in determining compensation - Second appeals deserved to be allowed - Since deceased wife of 1st respondent died soon after operation leaving as many as six children of relatively tender age, a sum of Rs.2 lakshs can be awarded as compensation, though not on account of negligence on part of appellant, but on humanitarian grounds - Since there exists a valid insurance coverage for them, 8th respondent/Insurance Company shall be liable to pay said amount - Second Appeals, allowed. Dr.Madan Mohan Vs. Md.Abdul Khadir, 2012(1) Law Summary 199 = 2012(2) ALD 706 = 2012(3) ALT 763.

ARBITRATION ACT, 1940:

ARBITRATION ACT, 1940:

- "Partition" – "Adverse possession" – "Limitation" - Defendants 1, 9, 10 & 12 filed this Appeal against Decree and Judgment passed by the Subordinate Judge, whereby suit was decreed for partition of schedule property into five equal shares declaring that plaintiffs are entitled to 1/5TH share each in schedule property - Defendants denied the contention of plaintiffs that the property of Sangappa devolved upon plaintiffs and D1 and D2 and late Chandramma and asserted that they were never in joint possession and enjoyment of the property - Aggrieved by Decree and Judgment passed by the trial Court, defendant Nos. 1, 9, 10 and 12 preferred present appeal on various grounds, mainly on ground that the trial Court did not appreciate pleadings

ARBITRATION ACT, 1940:

and evidence on record and totally ignored Will in favour of Sukhabhasini daughter of D1 and D12, the trial Court also did not consider evidentiary value of Ex-B1 award and disbelieved the partition of the property - Held, apart from inherent defect of non registration of Ex.B.1 award, still award is not made as a rule of Court under the provisions of Arbitration Act, 1940 and unless and until it is made as a rule of Court, award is not enforceable under law and it would not create any right in immovable property - On this ground also, claim of defendant basing on the award marked as Ex.B.1 cannot be sustained - Hence, this Court hold that the award marked as Ex.B.1 would not confer or create any right in immovable property and it is inadmissible in evidence, and thereby the partition pleaded by defendants cannot be accepted - In view of law declared by Apex Court and Privy Council, Court find no sufficient pleading and evidence to establish requirements to claim perfection of title by adverse possession and therefore, trial court rightly rejected claim of defendants on ground of perfection of title by adverse possession - Similarly, bar of limitation will arise only when plaintiffs were excluded from enjoying property under Article 110 of Limitation Act - In absence of any pleading and evidence about exclusion of plaintiffs from enjoying property, plea of limitation would not arise - Hence, this Court find no substance in contention of Counsel for the defendants - In result, appeal is dismissed, confirming the decree and judgment passed by Subordinate Judge Court. Sham Rao Vs. Mahadevi, 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 394

—Secs.20,17 & 39 - ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996, Secs.36 & 85 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.21, Rule 46 - Respondent filed suit u/Sec.20 in year 1994 against A.P.S.R.T.C to file agreement in to Court and make an order of reference to arbitrator appointed by Court for decision of his claim against Corporation - Arbitrator appointed and arbitral award passed on 8-12-2008 directing to pay certain amount to respondent - Executing Court ordered attachment of amount lying in account of Corporation - Petitioner/Corporation contends that as award passed under Arbitration Act, 1940 unless same is made rule of Court as provided u/Sec.17, no execution proceedings can be maintained and that executing committed grave error in entertaining E.P and passing impugned order of attachment - Respondent contends that since arbitral proceedings had actually commenced on 1-8-2006 provisions of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, are applicable and as per Sec.36 of said Act award dt.8-12-2008 is enforceable in same manner as if it were decree of Court - Award of arbitrator is executable only after decree is passed in terms of Sec.17 of repealed Act 1940 - In other words, award is incapable of execution unless it is made a rule of Court u/Sec.17 of repealed Act - However under new Act of 1996 there is no provision which requires reference to arbitrator by intervention of Court - That apart as per Sec.36 arbitral award is enforceable under CPC in same manner as if it were a decree of Court - From Sec.85(2) (a) of 1996 Act that not withstanding repeal of old Act 1940, provisions of said Act shall apply in relation to arbitral proceedings which commenced before new Act of 1996 came into force unless otherwise agreed by parties - In this case, arbitral procee-dings had commenced at least in year 1994 on date of presentation of Application u/Sec.20 of repealed Act 1940 - Consequently as per Sec.85(2) (a) of Act 1996 provisions of repealed Act alone shall apply - In this case, there is nothing to show on record that Corporation as ever agreed to abide by provisions of new Act, 1996 - It also relevant to note that Corporation did not appear before arbitrator and did not file its statement of defence - Hence merely because award dated 8-12-2008 was passed purportedly under provisions of new Act it cannot be inferred that Corporation had agreed to be governed by new Act - Provisions of repealed Arbitration Act, 1940 shall apply and consequently award dt.8-12-2008 cannot be enforced unless it is made rule of Court - Impugned order of attachment, set aside - CRP, allowed. Managing Director, APSRTC, Hyd., Vs. S.Annaiah, Contractor, Hindupur 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 196 = 2010(1)ALD 351 =2010(1) ALT 37 = 2009(4) APLJ 82.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—Secs.2 (1) (e), 36 & 89 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.89 & Or.21 - A.P. CIVIL COURTS ACT, 1972 - 1st respondent filed suit against petitioner and other JDRs for recovery of certain amount - Arbitrator appointed by Court passed award in favour of petitioner/DHR - E.P filed for recovery of award amount u/Sec.36 of Act, r/w Or.21, Rule 11 CPC - Petitioner contends that award cannot be enforced by Senior Civil Judge as it is not properly stamped and not signed by JDRs and DHR and therefore not binding on them - Senior Civil Judge rejected pleas of JDRs holding that petition to set aside award not filed and therefore it has become final u/Sec.35 and that award passed in presence of both parties and same was not challenged even after lapse of three months before competent Court and therefore same can be enforced u/Sec.36 - Respondent contends, that enforcement of arbitral award u/Sec.36 of Act in accordance with provisions of CPC has nothing to do with Sec.2(1) (e) of Arbitration Act and that any arbitral award has to be executed in accordance with provisions of CPC. - ENFORCEMENT OF ARBITRAL AWARD - Principles - Stated - (i) If an arbitral award is passed, an application for enforcement by way of execution petition need not always be filed under Section 36 of Arbitration Act before District Court;(ii) Depending on the amount awarded in the arbitral award, subject to territorial jurisdiction, an application for enforcement under Section 36 of Arbitration Act can be filed if the value of the award is less than Rs.1,00,000/- before the Court of Junior Civil Judge; if the value of the award is more than Rs.1,00,000/- but does not exceed Rs.10,00,000/- before the Court of Senior Civil Judge; and if the value of the award is more than Rs.10,00,000/- before the Court of District Judge or Additional District Judge if it is assigned to such Additional District Judge;(iii) Every arbitral award can be enforced "as if it is a decree of Civil Court" following relevant provisions in Part II and Order XXI of CPC; and (iv) An application for enforcement of foreign award either under Section 49 or 58 of Arbitration Act shall have to be made only before the District Court and can also be decided by Additional District Court if the case is assigned to such Court - CRP, dismissed. Bhoomatha Para Boiled Rice and Oil Mill Vs. Maheswari Trading Co., 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 14 = 2010(1) ALD 522 = 2010(1) ALT 808 = AIR 2010 AP 137.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—Secs.7& 8 - Petitioner, defendant in original suit, being unsuccessful before trial court, preferred this revision under Art. 227 of Constitution of India, raising several contentions, mainly contending that the trial court did not interpret arbitration clause in proper perspective and courts are supposed to interpret the terms of contract basing on intention of parties and inadvertent drafting of clause itself is not sufficient to decline the relief and prayed to allow revision and refer the matter to arbitrator for settlement of dispute in the suit - Held, recourse open to Court is to advert to language used in document to determine whether clause embraces any question which may arise between the parties or not - In present case, clause (viii) of para 3 of plaint covered reference of agreement to arbitrator P.Subba Rao only for limited purpose of 'interpretation' of agreement, not dispute regarding recovery of possession and mesne profits - Therefore, dispute in suit is outside purview of arbitration clause contained in agreement as referred in para-3 of plaint - In such a case, civil Courts cannot refer dispute by exercising power under Sec.8 of Act to Arbitrator, named therein - Therefore, on strict construction of condition relating to reference to arbitration, trial Court rightly declined to grant relief to petitioner - In view of the foregoing discussion, this Court find no ground or legal infirmity which calls for interference of this Court, devoid of merits and deserves to be dismissed - Accordingly, Civil Revision Petition is dismissed confirming order of Senior Civil Judge Court. P.Madhusudhan Rao Vs. Lt.Col.Ravi, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 137 = 2015(4) ALD 409 = 2015(4) 108.

—Sec.8 - Leave and Licence agreement had ended and had not been renewed subsequently, and therefore the petitioner cannot rely on the terms and conditions of said agreement which had worked itself out, and was no longer in force - Challenging the same, present Revision is filed - Held, The decision in Penumalli Sulochana covers present case on all fours and that a suit for eviction of the petitioner who had entered into possession of the property under a leave and license deed, after the expiry of the period of leave and license cannot be subject matter of arbitration under the arbitration clause contained in the leave and license deed and the plea of the petitioner that its application under Section 8 of the Act should be allowed and the suit filed by the respondent cannot be proceeded with the plaint should be rejected raised in I.A.No.850 of 2013, is not tenable and is liable to be rejected - In this view of the matter, this Court do not find any error of jurisdiction in the order passed by the Court below, dismissing I.A.No.850 of 2013 - Hence Civil Revision Petition is without any merit and is accordingly dismissed.Viom Networks Ltd., Vs. M.Veeramani 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 75 = 2015(6) ALD 218 = 2015(6) ALT 433.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—Sec.8 AND CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.38, Rules 1 & 2 - Govt. of A.P. initiated development of Kakinada Port and constructed godowns and granted long lease about 30 years to traders - Govt., issuing notices requiring lessees to vacate property on ground that Clause providing for revision of rent for every 3 years as contemplated under various G.Os was missing due to inadvertence, a cluase providing for rent only 30 years was included - Lessees filed suits in batch for declaration to effect that respective notices issued to them are illegal and untenable and contrary to terms of agreement - Lesees also filed Applications under Or.39, Rule 1 & 2 if CPC for temporary injunction to restrain defendants/Govt., officials from interfering with their possession over property - Trial Court passed orders of ad interim injunction - Defenaant/Govt., filed Applications with a prayer to stay further proceedings in suit and to refer dispute to arbitration in terms of clauses in lease deed - Trial Court allowed Applications filed by defendants u/Sec.8 of Arbitration Act and dismissed Applications filed by petitioners plaintiffs under Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Hence present Revisions assailing orders passed in Applications filed u/Sec.8 of Act - Petitioners/plaintiffs contend that suits were filed for relief of declaration that notice of termination issued by defendants/ respondents are not tenable and such notices were totally out side scope of agreement themselves and that occasion to seek reference of dispute to arbitration would have arisen, if only respondents have taken any steps under terms of agreement and that there was no justification for trial Court in referring matter to arbitration and thereby indirectly terminating suits - Govt contends that lease deeds contain a Clause for arbitration and Sec.8 of Act mandates that whereever relationship between parties is born out by any contract containing a clause providing for arbitration, filing of suit is barred and that petitioners,plaintiffs cannot maintain any distinction between action that are referable to any specific clause on lease deeds or any other external factor as long as matter pertains to lease and that trial Court has taken correct view of matter - Evidently in this case, lease amount is liable to be revised on expiry of 30 years - However defendants felt that clause providing for revision of rent on expiry of term of every three years ought to have been incorporated basing on some G.O.s. - Law is fairly well settled to effect that if agreement governing relationship of parties contains a clause providing for arbitration, a suit for seeking redressal in relation to any dispute covered by agreement cannot be maintained and stands barred by Sec.8 of Act - However a keen observation of clause in agreement reveals that it is only when dispute or question of difference arises out of, or in respect of those presents or as to construction, meaning or subject matter of lease presents or as to any act done or committed to be done under lease or rights duties and liabilities of respective parties referable to agreement, that matter shall be referred to arbitration - In this case, plaintiffs did not seek adjudication of any dispute, which is preferable to clause in lease deeds - On other hand they very much wanted to abide by it - It is defendants who felt that agreements are some what defective, inasmuch as they did not provide for escalation of rents once in every three years - Once defendants have exhibited their disrespect to clauses of lease deeds including one, which provides for arbitration they cannot fall back upon same clause and oppose suits filed for enforcing lease deed - No application was filed by defendants under Or.7, Rule 11, CPC for rejection of plaints and they did not make any counter claim in suit nor did they filed any suit for reference of matter to arbitration - Therefore order passed by trial Court, referring matter to arbitration cannot be sustained in law - Orders under revisions are set aside - CRPs, allowed - CMAs are also allowed and orders passed by trial Court dismissing Applications filed under Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 CPC are set aside. Ashok International Vs. State of A.P. 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 373 = 2013(4) ALD368 = 2013(5) ALT 88 = AIR 2013 (NOC) 264 (AP).

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—-Secs.8, 37 AND INDIAN PARTNERSHIP ACT, 1932, Secs.63, 69(1) AND CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.7, Rl.11 - Plaintiff in suit, a registered partnership firm-established hospital to serve needy at reasonable charges ran into some financial difficulties - Defendant came forward to invest monies and he was made a partner in firm with 30% share - After retirement cum reconstitution deed, defendant did not live up to his promise - Even Deed was not registered - Defendant started visiting hospital with anti-social elements, threatening hospital staff - Plaintiff lodged a complaint with police station and later filed suit for perpetual injunction against defendant - Defendant asserted that due to arbitration clause included in Deed, Civil Court has no jurisdiction - But Trial Court brushed aside arguments of Defendant and dismissed his I.A.s - Defendant has filed this appeal against those orders.

Held, neither a specific form nor registration is mandated to give effect to an arbitration clause as long as it falls within ambit of afore-stated statutory provision - That is reason why arbitration clauses even in compulsorily registrable documents have been given effect to and acted upon.

Suit prayer was thus in direct contrast to rights created in favour of defendant under reconstitution deed - Dispute therefore fell squarely within four corners of said reconstitution deed - Justification for suit prayer against defendant was plaintiff firm's assertion that he had failed to pay promised amount of Rs.1,50,00,000/- - However, that was not core dispute in suit but only plaintiff firm's justification - Unfortunately, trial Court understood this in wrong perspective and opined that suit dispute was about alleged fraud in non-payment of this amount and presentation of reconstitution deed before Registrar of Firms.

Factum of defendant not having been entered as a partner of plaintiff firm in Register of Firms maintained by Registrar of Firms only had effect of attracting Sec.69(1) of Act of 1932 and did not have any impact upon maintainability of petition filed by him u/Sec.8 of Act of 1996.

Trial Court therefore ought to have accepted petition filed u/Sec.8 of Act of 1996 and referred parties to arbitration - The order in suit is holding to contrary is accordingly set aside and trial Court is directed to take steps accordingly.

Once right of defendant to take recourse to Sec.8 of Act of 1996 is upheld, law mandates that judicial authority, before which a proceeding has been brought by one of parties to arbitration agreement, must necessarily non-suit such party and refer case to arbitration - Therefore, order passed by trial Court in I.A. is also set aside - Trial Court shall take steps accordingly. Syed Irfan Sulaiman Vs. New Amma Hospitals 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 388.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—Sec.8, r/w Sec.151 of CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.106 - Petitioner/plaintiff owner of premises filed suit against respondent/ defendant to vacate premises after issuing notice u/Sec.106 of T.P Act - On receipt of suit summons respondent/defendant filed I.A u/Sec.8 of Arbitration Act, with prayer to dismiss suit contending that lease deed contains a clause providing for arbitration of dispute, if any, between parties and in that view of matter, suit not maintainable - Petitioner contends that when relief claimed in suit is covered by provisions of Act, matter cannot be subject matter of arbitration - Respondent contends that clause contains in lease deed is comprehensive in nature and even disputes that arise subsequent to expiry of lease, or required to be resolved through arbitration - In this case, petitioner got issued notice u/Sec.106 of T.P Act, requiring respondent/ defendant to deliver vacant possession of property and since that was not done, suit was filed for eviction and recovery of arrears of rent and damages for use and occupation of premises - Subsistence of lease under lease deed can be upto specific period mentioned in it - Once lease deed became redundant, any clause contained in it also ceases to be any relevance to parties - In this case, trial Court made an attempt to distinguish facts of case, which, is incorrect - There is no subsequent contract between petitioner and respondent - Contract covered by lease deed came to an end with effect from a particular date and suit was preceded by a notice u/ Sec.106 of T.P Act - Arbitrator cannot deal with matters of in this nature - Order passed by trial Court cannot be sustained and therefore set aside - CRP, allowed. Penumalli Sulochana Vs. Harish Rawtani 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 121 = 2013(5) ALD 573 = 2013(5) ALT 515.

—Secs.8 & 8(2) - Appellant, partner of Firm after giving notice to respondents, partners calling upon them to settle amount and make arrangements for his retirement alleging that respondents have colluded themselves in order to siphon of money of Firm for their personal gain, and subsequently filed suit - Trial Court rejected Application filed by appellant u/Sec.8 of Arbitration Act - High Court affirmed order of trial Court and dismissed Revision petition - Hence, present SLP - In this case, appellant had raised various issues relating to misappropriation of funds and malpractices on part of respondents and allegations to that effect have been made in notice sent to respondents and subsequently in written statement filed before civil Court - Respondents contend that when a case involves substantial questions relating to facts where detailed material evidence needed to be produced by either parties, and serious allegations pertaining to fraud and malpractices were raised, then matter must be tried in Court and arbitrator would not be competent to deal with such matters which involved an elaborate production of evidence to establish claims relating to fraud and criminal misappropriation - In present, dispute, appellant had made serious allegations against respondents alleging him to commit malpracticies in account books and manipulate finances of partnership firm, which, cannot be properly dealt with by Arbitrator - Order of High Court in dismissing petition of appellant to refer matter to Artbitrator - Justified - Appeal dismissed. N.Radhakrishnan Vs. Maestro Engineers & Co., 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 9.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—Sec.11 (5) r/w 15(2), 12, 13, 14 & 15 - Arbitral proceedings - Appointment of substitute arbitrator - Respondent-Company was awarded work of widening of existing 2 lane road to a 4/6 lane by NHA of India - Applicant/Company was engaged as sub-contractor of respondent-Company for execution of 50% of said road work - Disputes arose between applicant and respondent - Ultimately, civil Court directed both parties to settle their disputes before arbitrator as per Cl.21 of arbitration agreement - 1st arbitrator appointed by MD of respondent's-Company resigned on account of ill health - 2nd respondent appointed by MD in accordance with Cl.21 of agreement also resigned though rejecting objections of applicant - However, respondent Company appointed 3rd arbitrator duly informing applicant - Applicant filing present Application seeking appointment of judge of A.P High Court or technically qualified impartial and independent person as substitute arbitrator, contending that respondent was deliberately appointing arbitrators who would act according to its whims and fancies and that such arbitrators may not be independent and impartial as is required of them under Act and that, even arbitrator appointed now would favour respondent and would not act impartially and independently which would defeat very purpose of arbitration putting applicant to grave and irreparable loss - A party who has, with his eye open, entered into arbitration agreement with another should not, ordinarily, be permitted to resile therefrom Courts must stick to policy of minimum intervention in arbitral proceedings - Mere suspicion cannot be made a ground for concluding that arbitrator would not act fairly and impartially - Only a well founded and justifiable doubt about arbitrator covered by Secs.12 to 14 of Act can be made a ground for terminating mandate of an arbitrator - In present case, 3rd arbitrator has already been appointed and that he has neither recused himself nor has his mandate be terminated either by agreement of parties or by an order of civil Court - Neither Sec.13 nor 14 confirm any power on Chief Justice, or his designate, to terminate mandate of an arbitrator - Once arbitrator has assumed charge, continues to function and arbitration has commenced in Arbitral Tribunal, Chief Justice or his designate would not interfere - In this case, arbitration agreement specifically provides that MD of respondent-Company shall appoint arbitrator - Even if mandate of arbitrator were to be terminated, appointment of an arbitrator has necessarily to be made in accordance with arbitration clause of agreement - Unless MD of respondent Company has failed to exercise jurisdiction to appoint a substitute arbitrator, designate of Chief Justice cannot assume jurisdiction under Sec.11(6) of Act - On harmonious construction of Secs.11(6) and 15(2) it must be held that, on mandate of arbitrator being terminated and only if MD of respondent Company, in accordance with arbitration agreement, fails to appoint a substitute arbitrator, can jurisdiction of Chief Justice or his designate, be invoked u/Sec.11(6) of Act - Present Application, whereby a request is made for appointment of Judge of High Court or technically qualified person to be arbitrator, u/Sec.11(6) of Act, not maintainable - Arbitration Application - Dismissed. Yashwitha Constructions (P) Ltd. Vs. Simplex Concrete Piles India Ltd. Kolkata 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 167.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—Sec.31(7) - Award passed by the Arbitrator – Powers of Arbitrator to award interest u/ Sec.37(1) of New Act by using words "unless otherwise agreed by parties" categorically clarifies that Arbitrator is bound by terms of contract in so far as award of interest from date of cause of action to date of award - Therefore, where parties had agreed that no interest shall be payable, Arbitral Tribunal cannot award interest between date when cause of action arose to date of award - In this case respondents shall not be entitled to any interest on amount which was recovered by appellant – Appeals are allowed. Union of India Vs. Concrete Products & Const. Co. Etc. 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 134 = 2014(3) ALD 174(SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 1690 = AIR 2014 SC 1914.

—Secs.11(4), 20,34,37, 42 & 2(e) - "Territorial jurisdiction" - Salarjung Museum (SJM) entered into agreement with DTCPL to construct extension buildings for its museum and signed agreement at Delhi - Since disputes arose in regard to payment of consultation fee, DTCPL moved application before Delhi High Court as per Cl.12 of agreement - Sole arbitrator appointed by High Court passed award holding that petitioners have to pay certain amounts to DTCPL, under different heads within three months - Chief Judge City Civil Court Hyderabad returned petition filed by SJM seeking to set aside arbitral award for presenting before appropriate Court having territorial jurisdiction - Petitioners contend that mere signing of agreement at New Delhi, does not confer jurisdiction of Delhi Courts and application filed u/Sec.11(5) of Act before Delhi High Court for appointment of arbitrator was itself not maintainable as contract related to Hyderabad and Sec.34 r/w Sec.2(e) of Act confers jurisdiction on Chief Judge Civil Court, Hyderabad alone and therefore impugned order is erroneous - When parties in exercise of their right u/Sec.20 of Act, agree on particular city as place of arbitration, it is a key to decide "the Court" for purpose of Sec.9 & 34 of Act - In this case, SJM and DTCPL by Cl.14 accepted that arbitrator will have its seat at Delhi or at such place in India as decided by arbitrator and therefore, arbitral award can only be challenged in principal Civil Court at Delhi - Order of Chief Judge City Civil Court Hyderabad in directing return of O.P u/Sec.34 for want of jurisdiction - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Salarjung Museum Vs. Design Team Consultants Pvt. Ltd., 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 365 = 2010(1) ALD 409 = 2010(1) ALT 435.

—Sec.34 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.2(2),47 & 36 - A.P. CIVIL COURTS ACT, Secs.10 & 11(2) - "Territorial jurisdiction of Addl. District Judge" - Petitioner availed loan from respondent's Company for purchase of bus committed default in payment of instalments - Respondent invoked arbitration clause and obtained "arbitral award" - Petitioner filed E.A in E.P filed by respondent for enforcing award and to drop proceedings on ground that E.P is barred by limitation and same not maintainable in view of pendency of petition u/Sec.34 of Arbitration Act and that "Principal Civil Court" for purpose of enforcing award is "Principal District Court" and therefore Addl. District Judge has no jurisdiction to entertain E.P - Addl. District Judge rejected contention of petitioner and dismissed E.A. - DECREE - Defined - U/Sec.2(2) though arbitral award as defined u/Sec.2(c) of Arbitration Act is not a "decree" within meaning of Sec.2(2) of CPC r/w Sec.36 of CPC, but for enforcement, award shall be treated as a decree of Court - Impugned order passed by Addl.District Judge is neither vulnerable nor susceptible and hence same is approved - As rightly held by lower Court, Addl. District Judge exercises jurisdiction over entire District, and therefore, even if property is attached is situated in Kakinada, same is not a bar to exercise jurisdiction of Addl. District Judge, Rajahmundry - CRP, dismissed. Lakhamraju Sujatha Vs. M/s. Yuvaraj Finance Pvt. Ltd., 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 311 = 2010(1) ALD 153 = 2010(1) ALT 173 = AIR 2010(NOC) 276 (AP).

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

—Secs.34 & 21 AND LIMITATION ACT, Sec.3 - Limitation for filing counter claims - Appellant and respondent entered into civil construction contract for construction of two buildings - On account of certain disputes, respondent terminated contract - High Court appointed sole Arbitrator - Appellants/Respondents filed their claims and counter claims - Arbitrator rejecting counter claim of respondent - Application filed by respondent u/Sec.34 of Act for setting aside decision of Arbitrator in rejecting counter claim on ground of limitation - Single Judge held that opinion expressed by Arbitrator not perverse as they are based on correct appreciation of documents - Division Bench allowed Appeal holding that counter claim is within limitation - Secs.21 & 43 of Act and Sec.3 of Limitation Act as opined, regard being had to language employed in Sec.21, that an exception has to be carved out, it saves limitation for filing counter claim if respondent against whom a claim has been made satisfies twin test, viz., he had made claim against claimant and sought arbitration by serving a notice to claimant - Said exception squarely applies to to present case as appellant had raised counter claim and sought arbitration by expressing its intention on number of occasion and that apart it is also perceptible that appellant had assured for appointment of Arbitrator - Thus counter claim instituted within limitation - In present case, when it is absolutely clear that counter claim in respect of enhanced sum is totally barred by limitation and is not saved by exception carved out by principles stated submissions made on behalf of Appellant that award passed by Arbitrator did not call for any interference and unhesitatingly repelled - Both appeals are allowed in part - Judgment of Division Bench modified accordingly - Arbitrator is directed to proceed to deal with counter claims. Voltas Limited Vs. Rolta India Limited 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 83 = 2014(3) ALD 14 (SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 1503 = AIR 2014 SC 1772.

—-Sec.36 – A.P. CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE AND CIRCULAR ORDERS, 1980, Rule 32 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.122 and 126 - Two judgment-debtors are the petitioners in this Revision, which was directed against order passed Family Court-cum-Additional District Judge, in E.A's has been instituted for executing the Award passed in Arbitration Case - Award, it is not disputed before Court, has attained finality - Therefore, no objection could have been maintained for the Execution Petition taken out for execution of said Award - In fact, no such objection was raised either - But however, during course of inquiry, on behalf of petitioner in the Execution Petition, Branch Manager of petitioner Society has filed an affidavit in lieu of his chief examination - An objection was raised as to how a Branch Manager can maintain Petition without necessary authorization granted in his favour by the Managing Director of Society - Then, affidavit in lieu of chief-examination filed by Branch Manager has been withdrawn and an Application, has been taken out in the E.P. under Rule 32 of Civil Rules of Practice seeking permission of Court to represent petitioner in Execution Petition - Permission sought for was accorded by allowing E.A. by Court - It is this order, which is challenged in this Revision.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996:

Held, Rule 32 thereof has provided for an agent to appear on behalf of a party and before so appearing, he is required to seek permission of Court for so appearing as an agent - Sub-rule (2) thereof empowered judge to record, in writing, that agent is permitted to appear and act on behalf of party - In instant case, that is what exactly has been done by civil Court - Therefore, no exception can be taken thereto and exercise of jurisdiction carried out by civil Court in ordering E.A. is in accord with legal principles on subject - Hence, Civil Revision Petition stands dismissed. S.Sudharshan Rao Vs. Citizen Co-operative Society Ltd. 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 61 = 2016(4) ALD 206 = 2016(3) ALT 455.

—Sec.37(1)(a) - This appeal is preferred by ICICI Bank Limited u/Sec.37(1)(a) of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, aggrieved by the order passed by the Chief Judge, City Civil Court, Hyderabad - The appellant herein is the 2nd respondent - The said O.P. was filed by the 1st respondent herein u/Sec.9 of the Act requesting the Court below to grant an injunction restraining the Nepal Electricity authority (2nd respondent herein) from invoking the bank guarantees issued by the appellant through Laxmi Bank Limited, Nepal and Nepal Investment Bank Limited, Nepal (respondents 3 and 4 herein); and to restrain the appellant and respondents 3 and 4 from honouring or encashing the bank guarantees - Held, It is evident, from the contractual clauses referred to hereinabove, that the laws of Nepal govern the contract (clause 1.4 of the general conditions read with clause 1.1.6.2 of Part-II of the contract document) - The contractual disputes are to be settled under the UNCITRAL Rules (clause 20.6.A of the agreement), and the juridical seat of arbitration (ie the place where the arbitration is to be held) is Kathmandu, Nepal - These provisions, when examined in the light of the fact that the contract between respondents 1 and 2 was entered into in Nepal for works to be executed in Nepal, clearly show that the parties to the contract (respondents 1 and 2) had ruled out, applicability of Part-I of the Act, by a conscious decision; and the provisions of Part-I of the Act, being wholly inconsistent with the arbitration agreement, is excluded by necessary implication in the arbitration agreement – Sec.9, which is in Part I of the Act, could therefore not be invoked by the first respondent; and, consequently, the Court below lacked jurisdiction to entertain the application filed by the first respondent u/Sec.9 of the Act - Fraud, which vitiates the contract must have a nexus to the acts of the parties prior to entering into the contract - No such allegation is made by the first respondent in the petition filed by them u/Sec.9 of the Act - The first respondent has not even stated that the bank-guarantees were obtained by fraud - Fraud alleged against the second respondent is under the contract between respondents 1 and 2 - The irretrievable injury test, necessary to injunct invocation of the bank guarantee, is also not satisfied - The irretrievable injury caused to the first respondent must be of a kind which would make it impossible for them to reimburse themselves later - It is not even the case of the first respondent, in the petition filed by them u/Sec.9 of the Act, that they are likely to suffer any such injury or that it is impossible for them to reimburse themselves, if they were succeed later, either from the appellant or from the respondents - It is evident that, in granting the ex-parte order of ad-interim injunction and in restraining invocation/encashment of the bank guarantees issued by respondents 3 and 4 or the counter-guarantee issued by the appellant, the Court below exceeded its jurisdiction - It is evident that the first respondent has suppressed material facts, and has indulged in forum shopping by filing the petition before the Court below u/Sec.9 of the Act - The Court below has also failed to assign any reasons for granting an ex parte order of ad-interim injunction restraining invocation of the bank-guarantees/counter-guarantee - A cryptic order, that it had perused the records, the documents filed by the first respondent showed that they had a prima-facie case, the balance of convenience was in their favour and, if the bank-guarantees were encashed, they would suffer irreparable loss, would not suffice - The Court below has exceeded its jurisdiction in granting an ex parte order of ad interim injunction without adhering to the requirements of Order 39 Rule 3 CPC - For the reasons aforementioned the order of the Court below, in Arbitration OP No.1031 of 2015 dated 22.06.2015, is set aside and the C.M.A. is allowed with exemplary costs of Rs.25000/-. ICICI Bank Limited Vs. M/s. IVRCL Ltd 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 138.

——and TRUST ACT, 1882 - Disputes relating to Trust, trustees and beneficiaries arising out of the Trust Deed and the Trust Act are not capable of being decided by the arbitrator despite existence of arbitration agreement to that effect between the parties. Vimal Kishor Shah Vs. Jayesh Dinesh Shah 2016(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 49 = AIR 2016 SC 3889 = 2016(5) ALD 152 (SC).

ARMS ACT, 1959:

—-Secs.13 to 18 - Petitioner herein filed application before the Commissioner of Police, for grant of Arms License - Called for a report from Station House Officer, and after receipt of report, issued a Memo, rejecting request of petitioner - As against said rejection, petitioner preferred appeal before State Government - State Government rejected appeal and consequently request made therein - In above backdrop, while

ASSIGNMENT LAWS:

pleading that rejection of request of petitioner is arbitrary, unwarranted and violative of Articles 14 and 21 of Constitution of India, present writ petition came to be filed - The learned Government Pleader sought to justify impugned action by contending emphatically that there is no illegality nor there exists any infirmity in impugned action and that in absence of same, present writ petition is not maintainable and petitioner is not entitled for any relief from this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India - The learned Government Pleader further vehemently contends that impugned rejection order is in accordance with provisions of Arms Act, 1959 and only after calling for necessary reports from police authorities and only after meticulously and thoroughly considering same, respondents rejected request of petitioner, as such, impugned order does not warrant any interference of this Court and petitioner is not entitled for any indulgence of this Court by way of judicial review under Article 226 of Constitution of India - It is further submission of Government Pleader that there is no threat perception to petitioner and that there is a threat of misusing license.

Held, a perusal of impugned Governmental order makes it manifest that State Government did neither advert nor consider documents filed by petitioner including above judgment of this Court - It is significant to note that even according to respondent authorities, there is no involvement of petitioner in any criminal cases and there is no denial by respondents of cases filed by petitioner before this Court.

In the instant case, first respondent State Government did not consider properly relevant provisions of the legislation and the material available on record and principles laid down in above referred judgment of this Court.

For aforesaid reasons, this writ petition is allowed, setting aside order of State Government issued G.O. and consequently appeal filed by petitioner stands restored to file and State Government is directed to reconsider appeal of petitioner in light of findings recorded supra and pass appropriate orders afresh, within a period of two months from date of receipt of a copy of this order, after giving notice and opportunity of hearing to petitioner herein. Kolan Narasimha Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 427 = 2016(2) ALD (Crl) 1004 = 2016(5) ALT 555.

ASSIGNMENT LAWS:

—- G.O.Ms.No.1142, dt.18-6-1954 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.35, 35-A & 95 - Petitioners filed writ petition seeking direction that action of respondents, District Collector and Tahsildar in finalising list of beneficiaries for assignment of agricultural lands as illegal and arbitrary and obtained stay - PROCEDURE TO BE ADOPTED FOR IDENTIFYING BENEFICIARIES - STATED-In this case, Tahsildar consti-tuted three Committees who announced notice by tom-tom, enquired in villages and prepared list of eligible persons and published same in village inviting objections and none of villagers raised objections and list of beneficiaries was also submitted to MLA - At that stage petitioners filed present writ petition alleging that though they are landless persons their names are not included in list of beneficiaries but names of those persons who own lands exceeding ceiling limit have been included - Allegations of petitioners found to be totally incorrect - Procedure adopted by 3rd respondent/Tahsilder is fair and transparent - Writ petition, dismissed - His lordship made following observations: When a party obtains interim orders having effect of staying entire welfare measures taken by Govt, and while passing order Court was guided only by affidavit accompanying writ petition, such a party has to be mulcted with exemplary costs if ultimately found that affidavit on oath was filed making all incorrect allegations. If frivolous cases are filed making all false allegations, it would ruin the system. Why party approaching this Court get away by making all such false allegations? - CPC,Secs.35, 35-A & 95 - Statements made by petitioners in their affidavit are false even to knowledge of petitioners - If only petitioners had not made allegations that they are landless poor persons in all probability High Court would not have granted orders of stay - By reason of stay, Distribution of agricultural land to eligible persons was stalled and petitioners must bare responsibility for this - Petitioners are directed to pay Rs.5,000/- each as exemplary costs. M. Venkataramudu Vs. District Collector, Ananthapur 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 167 = 2009(3) ALD 13 = 2009(2) ALT 768.

BANK LAWS

BANK LAWS

——AND CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.65 - Respondents availed loan of Rs.15,000 from appellant/Bank by creating equitable mortgage by depositing title deeds in respect of property - Since respondents committed default in payment of instalments loan became irregular - Suit filed by Bank for recovery of amount of Rs.19,500/-, decreed - Property put to auction in execution petition filed by Bank - As none came forward, Bank bid for property in auction and obtained Sale Certificate - Subsequently bank sold said property for Rs.10,00,000/-.

Bank did not respond to the petition filed by respondents for return of excess amount secured by Bank by way of sale and also for payment of rent earned by Bank by letting out property - Hence respondent filed Writ Petition which was dismissed and Writ Appeal finally allowed directing Bank refund of Rs.6.5 lakhs - Hence present Appeal filed by Bank assailing legality and validity of judgment.

Bank relied upon Sec.65 CPC to plead that it had perfected its right title interest and possession over property covered by Sale Certificate.

Bank contends that High Court erred in allowing Writ Appeal after recording a finding that Bank did not indulge in any illegality - In any event respondent cannot assert any legal right to claim share in proceeds of sale of property by Bank.

From facts of case, it is clear that Bank has not indulged in any illegality either in purchasing property in auction conducted by Court in 1992 or in sale of property in year 2007.

Respondent have no right in claiming any share in sale proceeds of property after Bank became owner of property in 1992.

Division Bench should not have made scathing remarks about conduct of Bank and that adverse comments made by Division Bench against Bank are unwarranted and deserve to be expunged. State Bank of Travancore Vs. R.Sobhana 2016(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 41.

BENAMI TRANSACTIONS (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1988

BANKING REGULATION ACT:

—- Secs.24 & 22 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.12 - Petitioners are having accounts in 2nd respondent/Indusind Bank - One GVJR, Managing Director and Managing Partner of petitioners is authorized signatory of accounts and he met with a major accident and has gone into coma on account of multiple injuries - After recovery GVJR visited 2nd respondent Bank and found huge amounts have been withdrawn from his accounts, though he did not issue any cheques or letters of authorizations - Inspite of repeated letters respondent/Bank did not take any action - Hence, present writ petition - In this case, respondents do not dispute that such withdrawals were made - It is, however, sought to be justified by stating that withdrawals are made on basis of instruction issued on behalf of account holder, but these withdrawals are not supported by cheques or withdrawal slips - Let alone a Banking Company, even an ordinary trader cannot deal with money entrusted to them by another in this fashion - Sub-standard practice, which is known to every one who has acquaintance with banking operations, is that a Bank can permit withdrawals of money from account of a customer, only through a negotiable instrument and here again, there are restrictions imposed by Reserve Bank from time to time - In case, amount exceeds a particular figure it cannot be paid to bearer - If payee under a cheque is a Company or other registered organisation, requirement is that it must be “crossed” - Further while clearing cheque, concerned authority has to be satisfied about genuinity of signature of accunt-holder - When such is stringency of procedure in matter of withdrawl of money from an account, it is just un understandable has to how respondents Bank have withdrawn such huge amounts from accounts of petitioners, without there being any cheque or specific order for this purpose - In this case, an attempt is made to justify payment of amount to various authorities stating that petitioners have knowledge of such payment - This is too specious plea to be accepted - When complaint is about very withdrawal from accounts, manner in which money came to be dealt with, after withdrawl hardly becomes of any relevance - Matter needs to be examined strictly from point of view of operations in Bank, than manner in which amount, which is other wise illegally withdrawn, has been spent - Respondents-Banks are directed to make good, which have been withdrawn from accounts of petitioners otherwise than through cheques or withdrawl slips or letters of authorization of authorized signatory - However, it is left open to respondents Bank to recover amounts from agencies to which they are said to have been paid - Writ petitions, allowed. M/s.Gopal Chemical Industries Pvtl.Ltd.,Vs. The Indusind Bank Ltd. 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 220 = 2013(5) ALD 12 = 2013(6) ALT 479.

BENAMI TRANSACTIONS (PROHIBITION) ACT, 1988

—Sec.3 - Explanation - Property though purchased from the funds of husband really for the benefit of his widow- she was the real owner of the property - Burden of proving that a particular sale is benami and the ostensible purchaser is not the real owner, always rests on the person asserting it to be so. Om Prakash Sharma @ O.P.Joshi vs Rajendra Prasad Shewda 2015(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 68.

—Sec.4 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.114 - 1st appellant purchased property and obtained registered sale deed in favour of her son and brother herself paid money by two bank drafts - Son and brother stealthily removed sale deed from her possession and sold half share of property to 1st respondent without her knowledge, despite letter to 1st respondent informing him that she is real owner of property - Hene 1st respondent filed suit for declaration that she was real owner in possession of suit property and for permanent injunction restraining defendants from alienating any part of suit property - 1st defendant admitted claim of appellant and 2nd defendant denied that it was benami transaction - Trial Court dismissed suit holding that delivery of notice not proved and therefore 3rd defendant was a bona fide purchaser for valuable consideration without notice and that provisions of Benami Transaction Act, 1988 were retroactive and that prohibition under Sec.4 of Act to recover benami property applicable to suits, claims or action pending on date of commencement of Act - 1st appellate Court decreed suit holding that notice will have to be presumed to have been served and on 1st respondent got sale deed executed and therefore he could not be held to be a bona fide purchaser without any notice of rights of appellant in suit property - Single Judge of High Court allowed 2nd appeal and set aside judgment and decree of District Judge - Once High Court held that appellant had purchased suit house out of her funds, it ought to have held that it follows that 2nd defendant had no right to deal within or to sell his halfshare merely because his name was shown as purchaser alongwith appellant No.2 - Consequently purchase of share of 2nd defendant by 1st respondent without consent of 1st appellant gave him no rights what so ever - Therefore High Court ought to have held that suit of appellant No.1 for declaration of her ownership to be valid and maintainable - In this case, appellant had produced to copy of notice along with postal certificate in evidence and there was no allegation that postal certificate was procured and it could certainly be presumed that notice was duly served on 1st respondent - High Court, therefore erred in interfering in finding rendered by District Judge that 1st respondent did receive notice and therefore not a bona fide purchaser for value without notice - Judgment of High Court, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Samittri Devi Vs.Sampuran Singh 2011(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 103 = 2011(4) ALD 6 (SC) = 2011 AIR SCW 680 = AIR 2011 SC 773.

BOARD STANDING ORDERS

—15, Para 18 & 3 and Paragraph 11 Para (ii) (a) - Petitioner's father granted patta in year 1982 – 1st respondent/Joint Collector set aside assignment granted in favour of petitioner's father – High Court quashed order of Joint Collector as confirmed by Commissioner - After nine years, pursuant to directions of Commissioner, Joint Collector passing order on 15-11-2005 by cancelling Pattadar Pass Books and title deeds issued in favour of petitioner, holding that petitioner's father not eligible for grant of assignment as he sold away his own lands to third parties and obtained assignment by misrepresenting authorities basing on alleged report of MRO which is a self conflicting Report - Neither in report of MRO, contents of which have been referred to by 1st respondent/Joint Collector in his order, nor respondent No.1 in his order mentioned date on which petitioner's father sold property and persons to whom property was sold - Joint Collector blindly followed report of MRO, which ex facie is not only self conflicting but also failed to consider ground realities – In this case, respondents have chased and persecuted petitioner and his father for decades and at every stage they were subjected to litigation at instance of one or other person – BSO 15, Para 18 is abused to hilt - SUO MOTU REVISIONAL POWERS - Purpose behind initiation of suo motu revisional powers under provisions of BSO, is not meant to harass hapless citizens who were assigned some marginal extents by dragging them into litigation and continuing it for years, while leaving real culprits who go on land grabbing spree and facilitating to legalize their encroachments by coming out with regularization schemes - Impugned order passed by 1st respondent/Joint Collector quashed – WP, allowed. Chepuri Venkateswarlu Vs. The Joint Collector, Ongole 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 178 = 2008(6) ALD 343 = 2008(6) ALT 555.

—15 (2), 15 (10), 15(18) – Assignment of land – Suo motu revisional powers – "Landless poor" - 'Wife of Attender in Govt., office' whether landless poor person - Petitioner's mother wife of Attender in Govt. office drawing salary of Rs.407 p.m was assigned land admeasuring Ac. 1.24 - After eight years of assignment respondent 4 & 5 filed revision accusing assignee that she obtained assignment by misrepre-sentation though her husband was working as Attender – 2nd respondent/Collector passing order that assignment was made due to mistake of fact or by concealment of information to authorities who granted patta - While term "landless poor" is defined as one who does not own more than 2 ½ of acres of wet land or 5 acres of dry land, word "poor" is not defined and BSO 15(2) left discretion to assigning authorities to decide question whether persons is poor or not – By no stretch of imagination, can one conclude that a person with a family of 5 persons drawing total salary of Rs.407 p.m was not poor – Therefore it would be unreasonable to treat family of petitioners as ineligible for grant of assignment, merely on ground that husband of assignee was working as Attender - SUO MOTU REVISIONAL POWERS – If at any time Collector or Commissioner is satisfied that there has been material irregularity in procedure or decision was grossly inequitable or it exceeded powers of Officer who passed it was passed under mistake of fact or owing to fraud or misrepresentation, he may in case of an order passed by an Officer subordinate to him, set aside, cancel or in any way modify decision - In this case, 2nd respondent/ Collector not exercised his suo motu powers contained in BSO, 15 (18) – Therefore he ought not to have entertained revision filed by respondents 4 & 5 after period of eight years – Assuming that exercise of power by 2nd respondent could be traced to his suo motu jurisdiction under BSO 15(18), no foundation is laid for finding that assignment made in favour of mother of petitioners was either due to mistake of fact or by concealment of information – 1st respondent/Commissioner had merely reiterated what 2nd respondent had held in his order – Impugned orders of respondents 1 & 2, quashed – Writ petition, allowed. G.Shyamala Raju Vs. The Commissioner, Appeals, Hyd., 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 236 = 2008(6) ALD 577.

—No.21 and in Form Appendix -18 and BSO 21, Cl.14-A and paragraphs 15 to 20 - Petitioners were issued house site pattas in respect of plots in a particular Survey

BURMAH SHELL (ACQUISITION OF UNDERTAKINGS IN INDIA)ACT, 1976:

No. imposing condition that houses must be constructed within period of 12 months from date of allotment - When 4th respondent/Tahsildar sought to cancel pattas on ground that houses were not constructed within stipulated time petitioners filed writ petition and obtained interim orders - However during pendency of interim order Tahsildar issued notices proposing cancellation of allotment on same ground - After considering explanation filed by petitioners, pursuant to directions of High Court in another writ petition, Tahsildar passed orders cancelling pattas issued to petitioners - RDO allowed appeals filed by petitioners and orders of cancellation were set aside directing Tahsildar to fix market value of plots within one month since house sites were assigned on payment of market value - Tahsildar/4th respondent filed Revision before Joint Collector/2nd respondent against orders passed by 3rd respondent/RDO after lapse of seven years - Petitioners again filed writ petition challenging very filing of Revision by Tahsildar and passing interim orders of Joint Collector - High Court set aside orders passed by 2nd respondent/Joint Collector directing him to take into account all contentions advanced by petitioners and decide matter - Thereafter Joint Collector passed impugned order dismissing Revision filed by Tahsildar and confirming order passed by RDO and however directed that market value prevailing on date of his order shall be ascertained with reference to lands within vicinity and same must be submitted to Govt. for confirmation - Petitioners contend that 4th respondent/ Tahsildar has no basis or competent to file a Revision against an order passed by superior and that 2nd respondent/Joint Collector ought not to have entertained said Revision and that even while confirming order passed by RDO, Joint Collector has placed heavy burden on petitioners and that due to unprecedented growth in market value they cannot afford to pay huge amounts - Petitioners further contend that impugned order passed by Joint Collector in so far as it directs payment of current market value for land, cannot be sustained in law and that Revision filed by Tahsildar not maintainable at all, and he ought not to have played role of adversary in litigation - Once assignment is made under BSO No.21, only Authority competent to cancel it, if at all, is RDO - Tahsildar exercised power of resumption and orders passed by him were patently without jurisdiction - Occasion to direct payment of market value at current rates would have arisen, if there was any default, or refusal on part of petitioners to pay costs of plots - Strictly speaking, consideration is to be paid according to rates that were prevailed in 1979, when plots were assigned - As matter of fact RDO/3rd respondent did not indicate any date with reference to which market value must be fixed - In this case petitioners were ready to comply with direction and default was on part of Tahsildar/4th respondent - Order passed by 2nd respondent/Joint Collector in so far as it directed payment of market value at prevailing rates, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. P.V.Satyanarayana Murthy Vs. The State of A.P. 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 169 = 2013(1) ALD 245 = 2013(2) ALT 141.

BURMAH SHELL (ACQUISITION OF UNDERTAKINGS IN INDIA)ACT, 1976:

—Secs.5(2) & 7 - Respondents/Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd., (Burmah-Shell) took land for lease in 1964 for period of 30 years from “R” who gifted said land to his grand daughter "N" - Since "N" expressed unwillingness to renew lease respondent filed suit against "N" seeking direction to renew lease for further period of 30 years in same terms and conditions as contained in lease deed - Pending disposal of suit "N" sold said property to "S" who in turn gifted said property to petitioner - Hence writ petition seeking declaration that respondent has no power to exercise option of renewal of lease and consequently direct respondent to handover vacant possession of premises - Respondents contends that option as provided for u/Sec.5(2) of Act was exercised and by operation of that provision, lease stands automatically renewed and that they are entitled to remain in possession on strength of such renewal - Petitioner contends that actual desire in terms of Sec.5(2) of Act, for renewal of lease not expressed by respondent and only a request was made for discussion in that regard and that respondent ceased to have any right to insist on renewal, much less to continue in possession of property - In this case, except reply of respondent to transferee no other correspondence ensued, much less any desire to extend lease was expressed and suit filed by respondent for relief of direction to "N" to renew lease dismissed and no appeal preferred against it - Once suit, for specific relief of direction to renew lease was dismissed, respondent cannot fall back option u/Sec.5(2) of Act, and claim that they have a right to insist on renewal - State under Art.12 of Constitution of India is required to be reasonable, fair, bona fide, and not arbitrary even while acting as a tenant or landlord - Even a property is compulsorily acquired, owner thereof is given opportunity at various level be it, as regards his willingness, to part with it, or adequacy of compensation - Law also provides for solatium for compulsory acquisition - In this case, respondent felt that lessor or his transferee is a non-entity; and at their will they can squat on property, even by earning profits of hundreds and thousands of crores of rupees in their business - Hardly any act of sovereignty is involved in activities of respondent and their activities is pure and simple, commercial in nature - Still respondents have arrogated to themselves, power which even a sovereign State could not have claimed - Respondent directed to vacate premises within three months - Writ petition, allowed. O.Hima Bindu Vs. Bharat Petroleum Corpn., Ltd., 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 11 = 2009(4) ALD 161 = 2009(3) ALT 655 = 2009(2) APLJ 60 (SN).

BURMAH SHELL (ACQUISITION OF UNDERTAKINGS IN INDIA)ACT, 1976:

—Sec.5(2) & 7(3) - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT - Appellant/plaintiff owner of suit schedule premises leased out to Burma Shell Company for period of 20 years with an understanding to renew for further period of 10 years, in year 1962 - Since respondent/defendant did not vacate premises, suit filed for eviction on ground that after expiry of period of lease, lease is terminable since tenancy is only a month to month tenancy - Respondent/defendant contends that under provisions of Burma Shell Act after expiry of said lease they are entitled for renewal of lease for further period of 20 years from 1982 - Trial Court dismissed suit refusing to evict defendant holding that appellant/plaintiff is only challenging finding of trial Court relating to refusal to evict respondent from schedule premises on ground that there is no cause of action to file suit and that suit filed by appellant is premature - Appellant contends that since suit was pending before trial Court and even if it is accepted that respondent is entitled for renewal of lease for further period of 20 years from initial lease granted by appellant, it is erroneous on part of trial Court to hold that suit is premature and no cause of action had accrued to appellant to file suit against respondent - Respondent contends that lease in question is not governed by provisions of T.P Act but only Sec.5 of Acquisition Act and as such respondent is entitled to renew lease as per provisions of Acquisition Act and trial Court rightly dismissed suit as premature - CERTAIN INSTANCES WHERE COURT SHALL NOT EXERCISE ITS DISCRETION IN FAVOUR OF DECREEING A PREMATURE SUIT - STATED; (i) when there is a mandatory bar created by a statute which disables the plaintiff from filing the suit on or before a particular date or the occurrence of a particular event; (ii) when the institution of the suit before the lapse of a particular time or occurrence of a particular event would have the effect of defeating a public policy or public purpose;(iii) if such premature institution renders the presentation itself patently void and the invalidity is incurable such as when it goes to the root of the Court's jurisdiction; and (iv) where the lis is not confined to parties alone and affects and involves persons other than those arrayed as parties, such as in an election petition which affects and involves the entire constituency. One more category of suits which may be added to where leave of the Court or some authority is mandatorily required to be obtained before the institution and was not so obtained - Whenever a Court is vested with discretion, it has to be exercised properly and judiciously - If finding of trial Court is based on improper exercise of discretion, appellate Court certainly interfere with said finding and can set aside same in appeal - In this case, trial Court has fallen into error in refusing relief of eviction sought by appellant against respondent on account of improper exercise of discretion vested in it - View taken by trial Court that appellant had no cause of action against respondent to file suit, unsustainable - Decree and judgment passed by trial Court in so far as it relates to relief of evicting respondent is concerned, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Md.Ali Khan Vs. M/s.Bharat Petroleum Corpn., Ltd., 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 305 = 2010(1) ALD 301 = 2009(6) ALT 528.

CAST CERTIFICATE

—On basis of Scheduled caste (Mala) certificate issued by Tahsildar, petitioner applied for admission to undergraduate medical course, after appearing in EAMCET-2016 - She was invited for certificate verification - But, during certificate verification, 2ND respondent-University, as per advice given by officials of Social Welfare Department present therein, came to conclusion that petitioner should be treated as belonging to forward community, in view of fact that her father belonged to Reddy community - Therefore, petitioner has come up with above writ petition - Stand taken by 2nd respondent -University is that since father of petitioner belonged to a forward community, she was not entitled to be treated as belonging to Scheduled Caste.

CANCELATION OF CASTE CERTIFICATE:

Held, once the authority competent to conduct a detailed enquiry , has come to conclusion that petitioner belongs to Scheduled Castes and, consequently, issued a certificate to her, it is not open to any other authority, to question validity of same, except in accordance with law - Neither 2nd respondent-University nor officials of Social Welfare Department are entitled to disregard community certificate a dead letter - So long as community certificate issued by competent authority is not cancelled and so long as community certificate has not been referred for re-verification to any Scrutiny Committee constituted, in accordance with judgment of the Supreme Court in Kumari Madhuri Patel Vs. Additional Commissioner, Tribal Development, AIR 1995 SC 94, 2nd respondent-University cannot ignore community certificate.

Therefore, writ petition is allowed, directing 2nd respondent-University to treat petitioner as belonging to Scheduled Castes (Mala community), on basis of certificate that she holds, so long as certificate is valid and in force. Sabbella Siri Manjoosha Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 60 = 2016(6) ALD 427 = 2016(5) ALT 290.

CANCELATION OF CASTE CERTIFICATE:

- Petitioner says she belong to Valmiki caste which has been classified as Scheduled Tribe Community and the Tahsildar, issued Caste Certificate dated 03.06.1974, on the basis of which, she joined in the respondent Bank as clerk on 23.04.1977 and rendered service without any blemish - On a reference made by the Respondent Bank to the District Collector, Collector vide proceedings Rc.C6/2026/M/2000, dated 06.07.2001 has confirmed that the Caste Certificate issued to the petitioner on the date of appointment as genuine, but it has also been mentioned in the above proceedings that the said Valmiki caste has been subsequently deleted from the reserved category - While so, the respondent Bank addressed letter dated 20.06.2000 to the District Collector, to verify the social status of the petitioner - A show-cause notice dated 10.10.2000 was served on the petitioner by the District Collector, directing her to appear before the Joint Collector and Chairman of the Scrutiny Committee, on 22.10.2000 for personal hearing and for production of documentary evidence in support of her caste - Accordingly, she appeared before the authorities on 22.10.2000 and produced Caste Certificate dated 03.06.1974 issued by the Tahsildar and first page of her father's service register - But thereafter, the District Collector, came to the conclusion that the petitioner belong to Boya Caste under BC 'A' Group and cancelled the Caste Certificate issued to the petitioner vide proceedings D.Dis.(C8)2036/M/2000, dated 26.11.2001 - Basing on the said proceedings, the respondent Bank resorted to terminate the appointment of the petitioner vide proceedings 81/ZOH PS (AS)/IF 230445, dated 09.01.2002 - Aggrieved by the same, the present writ petition is filed - Held, in a judgment, the Hon'ble Supreme Court negatived the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant wherein the appellant therein obtained appointment for the post meant for Schedule Caste thus depriving the genuine Scheduled Caste person, by playing fraud and that he does not deserve any sympathy or indulgence of this Court - But in the instant case on hand, the facts are otherwise - The District Collector, in his proceedings Rc.C6/2026/M/2000, dated 06.07.2001 clearly held that as on the date of the appointment, the Caste Certificate produced by the petitioner is genuine, however, subsequently, it was deleted from the list of reserved category - In view of the same, the petitioner is entitled for relief as held in Kavita Solunke v. State of Maharashtra and others - In view of above facts and circumstances, impugned proceeding No.81/ZOH PS (AS)/IF 230445, dated 09.01.2002 is set aside and the petitioner is entitled for the pensionary benefits arising out of employment, since she has already retired from service - Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed to the extent indicated above. M.Saroja Devi Vs. Syndicate Bank rep.by its Chairman Manipal 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 112

CENTRAL RESERVE POLICE FORCE ACT:

CENTRAL MOTOR VEHICLES RULES, 1989

—Rule 128(9) AND CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.19(1) (g) "Tourist vehicle" - "Carrying luggage on roof of vehicle" - High Court held that transporters could only provide luggage space at rear or sides of tourist vehicle and no luggage could be carried on roof of vehicle - When Rules specifically make a provision in regard to place where luggage holds shall be provided by necessary implication, it goes to exclude all other places of tourist vehicle for being used as luggage holds - Since luggage of Rule is clear and unambiguous, no other construction need be resorted to under stand plain language of sub-Rule (a) of Rule 128 of Rules - Rule 128 is a special prevision for tourist vehicles which excluded General Rule 93 to extent of conflict between farmer and later - Contention of appellants that Rule 128 (9) does not place a prohibition on carrying of luggage on roof of tourist vehicle – Unsustainable - Restriction imposed by Rule is a reasonable restriction keeping in view safety of passengers in tourist vehicle and therefore not violative of Art.19(1) (g) of Constitution - Appeals and writ petitions are dismissed. Sharma Transports Vs. The State of Maharashtra 2012(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 30

CENTRAL RESERVE POLICE FORCE ACT:

— Sec.11(1) - CRPF RULES,1959, Rule 14-B - Suppression of involvement in criminal case - Respondent/Constable in CRPF involved in criminal case u/Secs.323 & 504 and subsequently acquitted of criminal charges two years prior to his enlisting in CRPF and his involvement in criminal case came to light when CRPF undertook a verification of his character and antecedents - Dy.G.P. CRPF passing order confirming punishment of removal from service imposed upon respondent - Respondent contends that suppression of involvement in criminal case was a mistake borne out of ignorance and he did not know that said information was relevant in view of fact that he had been acquitted in criminal case - Single Judge allowed writ petition holding that as respondent was acquitted must be deemed that there was no case pending against him in eye of law and accordingly there was no necessity for him to furnish such information and directed reinstatement in service of respondent with all consequential benefits - Once punishment imposed upon respondent was supported by due and proper Departmental enquiry, single Judge ought not to have substituted his view in matter of punishment and ought not to have interfered by way of judicial review and that it was erroneous on part of single Judge to have ventured into realm of disciplinary proceedings - Respondent having aspired to recruitment in a disciplined uniformed service such as CRPF ought to have exercised more care and caution in disclosing particulars solicited in verification roll - His lack of forthrightness, be it for whatever reason, inevitably reflects on his character and antecedents - It is not for High Court to sit in Appeal over disciplinary proceedings or substitute its own version of a fitting punishment in place of that imposed by disciplinary authorities - Single Judge erred in interfering matter and modifying punishment - Writ appeal, allowed. Addl. Dy.Inspector General of Police Vs. No.015140942 Constable 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 110 = 2009(4) ALD 600 = 2009(2) APLJ 408 = 2009(4) ALT 234.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Amendment of the Pleadings cannot be allowed after the defence counsel has completed his arguments - No separate prejudice need be demonstrated when an attempt is made to get the pleadings amended after the opposite party has concluded his arguments also - Revision Allowed. Chappidi Satyanarayanamma Vs. Chappidi Dhanalakshmi, 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 424 = 2014(5) ALD 761 = 2014(5) ALT 774.

—-Appellants in both appeals are defendants in one suit and plaintiffs in other suit - They were unsuccessful before trial Court in both suits and accordingly filed these two appeals - As plaintiff allegedly sold away properties to respondents 2 and 3, they were brought on record as party-respondents in A.S.No.2312 of 1996 - Since contentions urged by both parties are one and same in both cases, trial Court disposed of suits by a common judgment.

Madapati Chittemma, plaintiff, is sister of Velagala Venkata Reddy, who is no other than father of defendants - Plaintiff purchased schedule land which is an extent of Ac.1-00 cts. out of Ac.4-16 cts. from defendants and their father under a sale deed dated 25-6-1976 - Plaintiff has been residing, whereas suit schedule property is situate in village of defendants - After purchase of property by plaintiff, her brother assured her that he would look after cultivation and give produce to plaintiff - Accordingly, he cultivated suit land till his death on behalf of plaintiff and was paying her net produce after deducting expenses and land revenue - After his death, defendants assumed possession of property on behalf of plaintiff and started cultivating same - But they stopped paying produce to plaintiff - When plaintiff demanded for delivery of produce, defendants made a proposal to plaintiff to sell away land to them at prevailing market value - Plaintiff did not agree for said proposal - On that, relations between parties became strained - Defendants did not pay produce from 1982-83 to 1984-85 in spite of repeated demands from plaintiff - Moreover, they filed

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE

O.S.No.496 of 1984 for a permanent injunction - On that, plaintiff filed O.S.No.19 of 1985 for ejection of defendants from schedule property and to direct them to deliver plaint schedule property and for profits with aforementioned averments - Whereas, defendants filed O.S.No.118 of 1991 for a declaration that the plaint schedule land of an extent of Ac.1-90 cts. their joint family property and for consequential injunction restraining the plaintiff from interfering with their possession and enjoyment - Both parties filed suits and they came to be disposed of on merits by learned trial Court - Trial Court decreed the suit filed by the plaintiff i.e. O.S.No.19 of 1985 and dismissed the suit filed by the defendants i.e. O.S.No.118 of 1991.

Held, any right in relation to immoveable property must be relinquished by executing a registered document - The learned trial Court, in fact, ought not to have admitted Ex.B-3 in evidence as it relates to a relinquishment of right in immoveable property - In any event, plaintiff denied to have executed said document and defendants failed to establish that same was really executed by plaintiff - When defendants executed Ex.B-1 sale deed in favour of plaintiff under genuine belief that she would, in turn, execute a reconveyance deed and when she refused to execute a reconveyance deed in 1976 itself, natural course of conduct of defendants would be to immediately take some legal action against plaintiff by issuing a lawyer's notice and filing a suit against her - But they have not taken any such action till 1984 - All these circumstances would create any doubt regarding genuineness of Ex.B-3 letter - Moreover, as Ex.B-3 letter is with regard to relinquishment of immoveable property of Ac.1-00 cts. of land, learned trial Court ought not to have admitted said document in evidence and therefore, in considered view of this Court, Ex.B-3 cannot be taken into consideration at all - The learned trial Court rightly examined all these aspects and repelled contentions urged by defendants and answered this point in favour of plaintiff, which do not require any interference in appeals.

Defendants, who executed sale deed, filed present suit to declare that suit property is their joint family property - Such a declaration, in considered view of this Court, cannot be granted to defendants without there being a relief asked for setting aside Ex.B-1 sale deed - Having regard to facts and circumstances stated hereinabove, defendants are deemed to be in permissive possession of schedule property as they continued in possession of property with consent of plaintiff and refused to vacate land at a later point of time in spite of demands made by plaintiff to deliver possession to her, therefore, they are not entitled for any injunction against plaintiff - For foregoing reasons, learned trial Court on a proper appraisal of evidence with reference to facts and circumstances of case, rightly answered issues in favour of plaintiff and against defendants - Findings recorded by trial Court do not call for any interference in present appeals - Appeals, therefore, fail and are dismissed. Velagala Satyanarayana Reddy Vs. Madapati Chittemma 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 279 = 2016(5) ALD 65.

—-Plaintiff filed suit against defendant for a perpetual injunction to restrain defendant and it's men, servants, employees etcetera from ever interfering with plaintiff's peaceful possession and enjoyment of properties, i.e., dry lands, more fully described in Plots 1 to 6 of schedule annexed to plaint - Plaintiff had also sought a mandatory injunction directing defendant to restore Plot No.1 to its original shape and height and other consequential reliefs on failure of defendant to comply with the mandatory directions. Defendant company had filed a written statement and is resisting the suit - Plaintiff had also filed I.A. for temporary injunction to restrain defendant company and its men from interfering with plaintiff's peaceful possession and enjoyment of plaint schedule properties - Trial Court had dismissed application of plaintiff - However, District Judge had partly allowed the Civil Miscellaneous Appeal and had directed both parties to maintain status quo pending disposal of suit - Aggrieved of said orders, defendant had preferred instant Civil Revision Petition.

Held, when plaintiff came to Court and sought temporary injunction in this application and had failed to prove his lawful possession in respect of plaint schedule property and when trial Court had dismissed application for temporary injunction filed by plaintiff, appellate Court ought not to have granted status quo having found that defendant is in possession of Ac.1.83 cents having purchased same under exhibit B2 and that defendant had also obtained permission for conversion of land - Therefore, this Court finds that order of Court below brooks interference and is liable to be set aside - The impugned order is accordingly set aside and order of trial Court is restored - In the result, Civil Revision Petition is allowed without costs. My Home Industries Ltd., Vs. Gonnabattula Ramana 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 538 = 2016(4) ALD 291.

—-Sec.2(2) - Decree - Rejection of a plaint - Deemed to be a decree - An order dismissing suit on ground of res judicata cannot be appealable because it conclusively determines controversy regarding res judicata - Order dismissing suit on ground of res judicata does not cease to be a decree on account of a procedural irregularity of non framing of an issue - What is to be seen is effect and not the process - It is appealable u/Sec.96 and revision does not lie u/Sec.115 - A composite order passed on a rejection of a plaint for lack of cause of action and dismissal of a suit as not maintainable on ground of res judicata constitute on the ground of res judicata constitute a decree u/Sec.2(2) - Remedy is only appeal u/Sec.96 read with Or.XLI and not revision u/Sec.115. Rishabh Chand Jain Vs. Ginesh Chandra Jain 2016(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 17 = AIR 2016 SC 2143 = 2016(6) SCC 675 = 2016(4) ALD 71 (SC).

—Secs.2(2) & 47 - Petitioner secured decree in suit - Following decree petitioner filed E.P and attached property was brought to sale - Delivery of property effected - E.A closed - Thereafter, respondent filed E.A in E.P u/Sec.47 CPC for setting aside sale - Trial Court dismissed Application - Senior Civil Judge entertained CMA and allowed same - Petitioner contends that appellate Court had no jurisdiction to entertain CMA in view of amendment to Sec.2(2) which omitted words "Sec.47" and that therefore no CMA against order passed in an exeution proceedings would lie under Or.43 and that lower Court committed serious jurisdictional error in entertaining and allowing CMA - Amended definition of decree which deleted words "Sec.47" from definition and held that intention of legislature in passing Amendment Act is to render decisions u/Sec.47 as non- decrees so that there may not be any second round of litigation by way of appeals and that whole object behind this amendment is to shorten litigation and protract course of action of execution proceedings to enable decree holders to enjoy fruits of decree and that parties should not have a second round of litigation - Lower appellate Court has committed a serious jurisdictional error in entertaining CMA eventhough no such appeal was maintainable before it - Order and decree of Senior Civil Judge, set aside - CRP, allowed. Dubba Jaya Rami Reddy Vs. K.Jaithun Bee 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 273 = 2013(5) ALD 539.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.2(2), 51 & 47 and Or.23, Rule 3 - INDIAN CONTRACT ACT, Sec.74 - "Consent decree" - Suit filed for declaration and injunction - Parties settled their disputes and differences and compromise decree passed - Since payment not made in terms of consent decree, appellants filed Application for execution - Executing Court rejected objection filed by respondents u/Sec.47 CPC - Respondents contends that they are not liable to pay interest @ 18% per annum - High Court rejected objections that consent decree was beyond subject matter of suit and partly allowed Revision and case remitted back to executing Court to decide whether stipulation about interest @ 18% per annum is in nature of penalty and further whether it is unreasonable within meaning of Sec.74 of India Contract Act - High Court while exercising revisional jurisdiction also had no jurisdiction to invoke provisions of Sec.74 of Contract Act which for all intent and purport amounts to modification of a valid decree passed by competent Court of law - Decision of High Court is wholly without jurisdiction - Impugned judgment, set aside - Executing Court directed to proceed to execute decree as it is - Appeals, allowed. Deepa Bhargava Vs. Mahesh Bhargava 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 64 = 2009(2) ALD 61(SC) = 2009(1) Supreme 472.

—Sec.2(2), Or.9 - "Preliminary decree" - Suit for partition and separate possession - Trial Court dismissed suit - High Court allowed appeal and passed preliminary decree directing R1/plaintiff is entitled for half share in suit schedule property - When enquiry in final decree is in progress plaintiff filed IA for mesne profits - Petitioner/defendant raised objections contending that neither preliminary decree nor final decree provided for grant of mesne profits and that once final decree was passed, it is not competent for Court to determine or award mesne profits - Trial Court allowed IA - Hence present revision - 1st respondent/plaintiff contends that in absence of specific direction in preliminary decree, there is no basis for R1/plaintiff to file an Application for mesne profits - 1st respondent/plaintiff contends that it is not necessary in a suit for partition that a prayer for mesne profits must be made nor is it essential that relief on those lines must find place in decree - Unlike in most of other suits a preliminary decree is passed as to availability of property for partition and determination of shares and that in turn is followed by final decree proceedings - A decree in ordinary suits and a final decree whereever required to be passed, would normally terminate respective suits - However in a case of partition suits there can be more preliminary decrees than one - Claim for mesne profits is treated almost as an inseparable part of plea of partition - Courts went to extent of holding that even in absence of prayer for ascertainment of future mesne profits and though preliminary decree does not contain any direction to ascertainment of profits such an exercise can be undertaken at the stage of final decree proceedings - Hence plea that application for mesne profits not maintainable since preliminary decree was silent on this aspect, cannot be accepted - In present case, final decree no doubt was passed, but it cannot be deemed to have covered relief claimed in application that was pending before it was passed - To that extent final decree must be deed to be partial not covering relief of mesne profits, which is very much pending adjudication before Court - CRP, dismissed. Bandlamoori Venkata Lakshmamma Vs. Nayineni Janakamma, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 306 = 2011(3) ALD 78 = 2011(3) ALT 514.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Secs.2(9), 3, 4, 5 & 10 - Order 8, Rules 9 & 10 - Appeal suit is directed against the judgment rendered by the Senior Civil Judge in O.S - It appears that none of the defendants in the suit entered appearance and as a result, thereof, the Court below, after placing the defendants ex parte, passed the judgment - Held, in present case, this Court has no hesitation in observing that the learned judge while pronouncing the judgment did not follow the procedure contemplated by the aforementioned Rules of Order 8, and he has blindly pronounced the judgment merely because written statement had not been filed by the defendants traversing the facts set out in the plaint - That apart, as observed earlier, by no stretch of imagination, the impugned judgment in present case could be treated as a 'judgment', as defined by Section 2(9) of the CPC - In the circumstances, this Court dismised A.S.MP. No. 2957 of 2013 and allowed appeal - Impugned judgment is set aside - The suit is restored to file. S.Guruvaiah Vs. S.Ramesh 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 446 = 2015(4) ALD 434 = 2015(3) ALT 362 = AIR 2015 (NOC) 958 (Hyd).

—Sec.2 (11) & Or.22, Rule 5 - Impleadment of legal representatives - Plaintiff filed suit for eviction and recovery of arrears of rent - During pendency of suit plaintiff expires - 1st respondent widow of deceased filed Application for substitution as an heir and legal representative of deceased in pending suit - Appellant, brother of deceased also filed Application for impleadment as heir and L.R of deceased/plaintiff claiming suit premises basing on Will executed in his favour by his deceased brother - Trial Court allowed Application of widow and rejected Application of appellant on ground that Will of deceased plaintiff did not seem to have been executed by him and therefore appellant not entitled to be impleaded in suit for eviction as he is not LR of deceased/ plaintiff - In eviction proceeding, when legatee under a Will intends to represent interest of estate of deceased testator, he will be a legal representative within meaning of Sec.2(11) of CPC, for which it is not necessary in eviction suit to decide whether Will on basis of which substitution is sought for is a suspicious one or that parties must send case back to probate Court for decision whether Will was genuine or not - High Court as well as trial Court had acted illegally and with material irregularity in exercise of their jurisdiction in not impleading not only natural heirs and LRs of deceased plaintiff but also appellant who is claiming his impleadment on basis of an alleged Will of deceased plaintiff - Impugned order of High Court, set aside - Application for impleadment filed by appellant, allowed. Suresh Kumar Bansal Vs. Krishna Bansal 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 78 = 2010(1) ALD 146(SC) = 2009(8) Supreme 305 = AIR 2010 SC 344.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.10 - Both suits are now on file of the same court and both suits are for perpetual injunction - One party i.e., the plaintiff in previously instituted suit, who is also first defendant in subsequent suit, is contending that the schedule of property in three items in subsequent suit is a part and parcel of the schedule of property in previously instituted suit, which was filed by him - On the other hand, the plaintiffs in the subsequent suit contend that the properties are different - Both the suits are sufficiently old as on today - Therefore, it is considered just and proper to direct disposal of both the suits together/simultaneously by conducting parallel trials so that all the issues can be finally thrashed out and further protaction of the litigation can be avoided and a quietus can be given to the lis once and for all at least at the stage of the trial court - Civil Revision Petition is allowed and the impugned order is set aside with a direction to the trial court to take up the subsequent suit also for trial simultaneously and together with the previously instituted suit and conduct parallel trials and dispose of both suits together by following the procedure established by law. Palli Rajulamma Vs. Pirla Seetharam 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 126 = 2015(1) ALD 591 = 2015(2) ALT 41.

—Sec.10 - "Stay of suit" - Petitioner contends that subject matter of both suits is not identical and since requirement of Sec.10 is not fulfilled, Court below ought not to have exercised power u/Sec.10 CPC to stay proceedings in O.S.No.7 of 2002 pending disposal of O.S.2287/99 on file of District Judge, Delhi - It is further contended that for invoking jurisdiction u/Sec.10 for stay of subsequent suit, it is not enough if certain issues are found and that it is necessary that subject matter must be same and identical - Respondent contends that test for applicability of Sec.10 CPC is whether on a final decision being reached in the previously instituted suit, would such decision operate as res judicate in subsequent suit - Object of Sec,10 is to avoid recording of conflict of findings on issues which are directly and substantially in issue in previously instituted suit and fundamental test to attract Sec.10 is whether on final decision being reach in the previous suit such decision would operate as res judicata in subsequent suit and Sec.10 applies only in cases where whole of subject matter in both suits is identical - In this case, only some matters are common to both suits and whole of subject matter in both suits is not identical - Thus a final decision in O.S.No.2287/99 would not operate as res judicata in O.S.No.7/2002 - Court below erred in holding that cause of action in both suits is same and in staying proceedings in O.S.No.7/2002 invoking Sec.10 - Order of District Nizamabad, set aside - CRP, allowed. Amrutlal & Co., Nizamabad Vs. Rankids Impex Private Limited, New Delhi 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 229 = 2014(4) ALD 129.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.10 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit seeking decree for recovery of possession of suit property and for damages basing on a Will executed by his father - Defendant who has been in permissive possession of suit property had earlier filed suit claiming that plaintiffs had executed agreements of sale to sell suit property and received full sale consideration and said suit decreed and plaintiff petitioner preferred appeal and same allowed by setting aside decree for specific performance granted by trial Court on ground that suit barred by limitation - Hence 1st respondent filed I.A u/Sec.10 of CPC seeking stay of proceedings in suit till disposal of second appeal - Said application allowed by trial Court and granted stay of proceedings till disposal of second appeal - Revision petitioner contends that merely because suit property is same in both suits it cannot be said that there is any possibility of contradictory decisions in respect of same cause of action and therefore Sec.10 of CPC is not at all attracted - Subsequent suit is filed for recovery of possession of suit property where as earlier suit filed by defendant was for specific performance of agreement of sale - However suit property of both suits is common and parties to both suits are also common - One of tests for determining applicability of Sec.10 is whether final decision in previously instituted suit operates as res judicata in subsequent suit - Both trial Court and lower appellate Court recorded finding in earlier suit filed for specific performance that agreement on basis of which specific performance was sought was true and valid - However decree for specific performance granted by lower Court was set aside on ground that suit barred by limitation and correctness of said finding is subject matter of second appeal pending before High Court - Thus final decision in second appeal would undoubtedly operate as res judicata in subsequent suit for recovery of possession - Therefore as rightly held by Court below Sec.10 CPC is attracted and proceedings in later suit shall be stayed - Order under revision - Justified - Revision petition dismissed. Khandrika Jagadeeshwara Sharma Vs. Khandrika Chayanatha Sharma, 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 327 = 2012(1) ALD 355 = 2012(1) ALT 710.

—Sec.10 and A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS (ROR) ACT, Sec.5-A - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA. Art.227 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for injunction against defendant Revision petitioner - While evidence is in progress defendant filed Application u/Sec.10 of CPC seeking stay of trial on ground that writ petition relating to same subject matter is pending on file of High Court - Trial Court dismissed Application - In this case, defendant/revision petitioner filed written statement claiming title over suit property on basis of order passed by MRO under ROR Act - Challenging order of Joint Collector defendant filed writ petition in which High Court directed status quo with regard to possession of land in question and therefore defendant contends that trial Court ought to have allowed petition filed by defendant u/Sec.10 CPC for stay of proceedings in suit till disposal of writ - In this case, suit is filed for mere injunction restraining defendant/revision petition from interfering with suit property - Cause of action for suit arose when defendant attempted to interferer with suit property, where as validity and legality, of order of validation made u/Sec.5-A of ROR, Act is subject matter of writ petition - Thus it is apparent that matter in issue in suit is entirely different from matter in issue in writ - May be that, Schedule property of suit and writ petition is common, however, proceedings are founded on different cause of action and questions for decision in suit and writ petition are entirely different - Hence suit and writ petition under no circumstances can be regarded as parallel litigation and there is no possibility of contradictory decision in respect of same cause of action therefore proceedings in suit cannot be held to be barred u/Sec.10 of CPC - Finding of trial Court that Sec.10 of CPC has no Application - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Kolan Balwanth Reddy Vs. Reddy Janga Reddy 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 171 = 2011(6) ALD 105 = 2011(6) ALT 594.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.10, r/w Sec.151 - Stay of suit - Petitioner, one of defendant in O.S.No.49/2005 filed by respondents 1 to 3 while suit is pending filed O.S.29/2008 in same Court for permanent injunction against respondents - Respondents filed I.A., u/Sec.10, r/w Sec.151 of C.P.C for stay of O.S.29/2008 on ground that issues raised therein are directly and substantially in issue in suit filed by them - Trial Court allowed application and stayed suit along with I.As filed therein - Hence petitioner filed present Revision - Petitioner contends that while order of trial Court to extent of staying suit may be inconsonance with provisions of Sec.10 CPC, stay of I.As filed in O.S.No.29 is contrary to provisions of Sec.10 of CPC - Trial Court committed serious legal error in staying I.As in O.S.No.29 instead of limiting stay only to trial of suit - Order set aside to extent of staying I.As and rest of order stands confirmed - CRP, allowed to extent indicated above. G.K.Reddy Vs. G.Aswatha Reddy, 2012(1) Law Summary 331 = 2012(3) ALD 361 = 2012(3) ALT 755.

—Sec.10 & Or.23 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit contending that he is absolute owner of property seeking reliefs of declaration, possession and for arrears of rent and damages etc - 2nd respondent/2nd defendant filed I.A u/sec.10 of CPC to stay all further proceedings pending disposal of CCCA on file of High Court - Thereafter petitioner filed Memo categorically stating that he abandons/withdraws 1st relief sought by him relating to 'declaration' of his title in respect of suit property - 2nd respondent filed counter stating that plaintiff is barred from seeking such relief as sought by him in Memo except under Order 23 - Trial Court held that merely filing a Memo, plaintiff cannot withdraw or abandon part of relief claimed for by him in suit, that under Civil Rules of Practice for every relief under provisions mentioned in CPC a party has to file interlocutory Application and that plaintiff not filed such Application but only filed Memo and therefore Memo is not maintainable - Petitioner/plaintiff contends that as per law plaintiff can abandon suit or part of claim in suit as a matter of right without permission of Court and Court cannot refuse such permission - There is no form necessary to be followed by plaintiff if he intends to withdraw/abandon suit or part of suit claim either against defendant or some other defendant - Trial Court is not correct in stating that unless an interlocutory Application is filed by plaintiff he cannot be permitted abandon relief of declaration of title as to suit property - Therefore trial Court ought to have accepted Memo filed by plaintiff and treated said relief to have been abandoned/withdrawn - Basic purpose and underlying object of Sec.10 of Code is to prevent courts of concurrent jurisdiction from simultaneously entertaining and adjudicating upon two parallel litigations in respect of same cause of action/matter in issue so as to avoid possibility of contradictory verdicts by two courts in respect of same relief - CRP No.3033 is allowed and order in I.A in O.S.No.972, set aside. Dr.M.Srinivas Rao, Vs. Madhura Centre/Tiffin, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 7 = 2014(2) ALD 160 = 2014(2) ALT 487.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.11 - Principles of res judicata - 1st respondent filed suit for permanent injunction basing on oral agreement of sale - Trial Court decreed suit holding that 1st respondent was in possession of land on date of institution of suit - Appellant thereafter filed suit for declaration of title and for recovery of possession and first respondent also filed suit for specific performance of contract against appellant and 2nd respondent, vendor of land - Trial Court in consolidated judgment, decreed suit filed by appellant and dismissed suit filed by respondent for specific performance - District Judge dismissed appeals preferred by 1st respondent on ground of res judicata - RES JUDICATA AND ITS LIMITATIONS AND APPLICABILITY - Stated - "Where title to property is the basis of right of possession, a decision on question of possession is res judicata on question of title to the extent that adjudication of title was essential to the judgment; but where the question of the right to possession was the only issue actually or necessarily involved, the judgment is not conclusive on the question of ownership or title" - Hence principles of res judicata not attracted to facts of present case - Appeal, allowed. Williams Vs. Lourdusamy 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 39.

—Sec.11 - Res judicata - Revision petitioner/DHR filed Application for appointment of Advocate-Commissioner to partition suit schedule properties - Petitioener originally filed suit and obtained preliminary decree - Appeal dismissed for default and finally disposed of on merits - Respondent contends that while appeal was pending no stay was obtained and I.A was filed and it was dismissed as barred by limitation and that has become final and therefore present application not maintainable - Senior Civil Judge accepted contention of revision petitioner that there is no period of limitation prescribed for filing application for execution of decree for partition, but however, dismissed application on ground that dismissal of earlier application I.A operates as "res judicata" - When once decree passed by appellate Court which is a decree of dismissal of appeal is set aside, no decre exists and therefore any order passed by a Court taking into consideration such a decree is not valid and consequently principles of res judicata have no application - Merely because stay is not there, it does not mean that right of decree holder to proceed from date of decree of appellate court is prohibited - Order of lower Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Rapally Siddhamma Vs. Kokkula Gangubai (Died), Kokkula Bhaskar 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 133 = 2011(4) ALD 552 = 2011(4) ALT 24.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

"Res Judicata" – Where decision is on pure question of law then a court cannot be precluded from deciding such question of law differently - Such bar cannot be invoked either on principle of equity and estoppel

Previous proceedings would operate as ''res judicata'' only in respect of issues of fact and on issues of pure questions of law - When subsequent suit or proceeding is based on a different cause of action and in respect of different property though between same parties - Views of High court are justified - It is sufficient to indicate that once a judgment in a former suit or proceeding acquires penalty, it binds the parties totally and completely on all issues relating to subject matter of suit or proceedings - Principles of ''res judicata'' are not applicable to the facts of this case - Therefore appeals are dismissed. Satyendra Kumar Vs. Raj Nath Dubey 2016(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 21 = AIR 2016 SC 2231 = 2016(4) ALD 52 (SC).

—Sec.11 - Explanation VIII - Res judicata - Plaintiff/appellant filed suit for declaration of ownership in plaint schedule property and delivery of possession - Trial Court decreed suit - Lower appellate Court allowed Appeal filed by defendant - Hence plaintiff filed Second Appeal - Originally plaintiff filed suit on ground that he is owner of plaint schedule property and when he wanted to construct room in appurtenant open site defendant raised objection and threatened plaintiff to stop construction and therefore plaintiff filed suit - After suit was dismissed plaintiff filed present suit in comprehensive maner - Defendant contends that previous suit was dismissed as plaintiff failed to prove his title to and possession of suit property and that plaintiff and previous decision in original suit operates as res judicata - Previous suit was a simple suit for permanent injunction restraining defendant from obstructing his construction in appurtenant site and previous suit is also relating to self same property which is subject matter of present suit - Lower appellate Court held that judgment in previous suit operates as res judicata - Appellant contends that in judgment of previous suit there was neither an issue framed on title nor any finding given by that Court on title for suit property and that therefore previous judgment does not operate as res judi cata - Entire discussion in previous judgment was on possession of suit house and ultimate finding therein was also on possession only and said finding resulted in negativing permanent injunction to plaintiff therein - Thus, there is no definite finding as to plaintiff's title to suit property in previous suit and there was neither an issue on title in previous suit nor finding on title of plaintiff in previous suit and therefore it cannot be said that judgment in previous suit operates as res judicata in present suit filed by plaintiff for reliefs of declaration of his title to suit property and possession of same - Previous judgment in permanent injunction suit will not be a bar for declaration of title and recovery of possession and that lower appellate Court is not justified in reversing judgment and decree of trial Court on ground that judgment in earlier suit operates as res judicata - Judgment of lower appellate Court cannot stand - Second Appeal, allowed. C.Ramulu Vs. C.Anjaneyulu 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 83 = 2013(5) ALD 273 = 2013(4) ALT 459.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.11 – Res judicata – Jurisdictions -Suit for declaration and eviction – Dismissed for default - High Court set aside order passed by Executing Court in connection with E.A. holding, that decree passed by Civil Court was without any jurisdiction and thereby it is nullity and accordingly dismissed said execution proceedings - High Court held that issues tried by Trail Court cannot be said to be within Jurisdiction of Authorities under Mundkar Act – High Court correctly held that Trail Court had Jurisdiction to entertain suit - Executing Court is totally wrong in holding that Civil Court lacked inherent jurisdiction - When suit dismissed for default, it cannot operate as Res judicata – Reasons given by High Court – Justified - Appeal dismissed. Jacinta De Silva Vs. Rosarinho Costa 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 155.

—- Sec.11 - COMPANIES ACT, Sec.446(1) - "Res judicata" - Grant of leave of Court is not a condition precedent for initiation of civil action or legal proceedings against Company - Court may grant leave if it felt that Company should not enter into unnecessary litigation and incur avoidable expenditure - CPC, Sec.11 - "Doctrine of Res judicata" - To attract doctrine of res judicata it must be manifest that there has been conscious adjudication of an issue - A plea of resjudicata cannot be taken aid of unless there is an expression of opinion on merits - Principle of res judicata is applicable between two stages of same litigation but question or issue involved must have been decided at earlir stage of same litigation - In this case, single Judge had not dealt with Application for grant of lease on merits and that application was disposed of on basis of submissions made by 3rd respondent that if application for amendment is filed in pending suit he would not oppose same - High Court had pronounced judgment and as matter of practice as stated "liberty to mention" and in that context, Supreme Court stated that did not confer jurisdiction on High Court to dwell upon a definite issue in disposed of case - When Supreme Court said "liberty was granted to get the matter adjudicated", it ment that it was open to petitioner in SLP to raise all contentions before High Court as High Court itself had granted liberty in order which was subject-matter of challenge and matter was sub-judice - On seemly reading of order, no shadow of doubt that same could have been treated to have operated as res judicata as has been held by Division Bench - Therefore, irresistible conclusion is that Division Bench has fallen into serious error in dislodging order granting leave by Company Judge to file fresh suit - Order passed by Division Bench, set aside and order of Company judge restored - Appeal, allowed. Erach Boman Khavar Vs. Tukaram Shridhar Bhat 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 18.

—Sec.11 - HINDU SUCCESSION ACT, Sec. 14 (1) - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1963, Secs. 4, 5 & 34 - To apply principle of res judicata, questions involved in latter suit and in earlier suit must be identical and parties must be same and issues in latter suit must be directly and substantially in issue in earlier suit - If any finding is recorded on issues involved in earlier suit which are directly and substantially in issue in latter suit, such findings would operate as res judicata u/Sec.11 of C.P.C - If above test is applied to present facts of the case, based on law declared by Apex Court and this Court, findings recorded by appellate Court which attained finality on point Nos.1 and 2 therein would operate as res judicata - Hence, finding recorded by trial Court about right of PW.2 and her competency to execute Exs.A-1 and A-2 and its genuineness has become final and defendants are precluded to raise same plea questioning the rights of PW.2, and genuineness of Exs.A- 1 and A-2 by applying the principles of res judicata u/Sec.11 of C.P.C. - Hence, point is held in favour of the plaintiff-respondent and against the defendants-appellants - Thus, intention of the legislature in incorporating Section 14 of Hindu Succession Act is to protect women from destitution and for their alleviation to higher pedestal on par with men on principle of equality removing disqualification on basis of sex to hold the property - Admittedly, husband of PW.2, died prior to commencement of Hindu Succession Act and she continued in possession and enjoyment of the property by the date of commencement of the Hindu Succession Act - Therefore, the property vested on her continuous possession by the date of commencement of Hindu Succession Act, she became absolute owner of the property - In absence of any agreement, restricting right of adopted mother as contemplated u/Sec.13 of the Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act, widow of deceased, P.W.2, is competent to deal with property as an absolute owner and thereby she executed Exs.A-1 and A-2 in favour of plaintiff and, consequently, the plaintiff became absolute owner of property - Therefore, the widow of deceased, PW.2, is competent to execute registered sale deeds and bar under Section 13 of the Hindu Succession Act, has no application to the present facts of case - General principle is that in a suit for declaration of title, the plaintiff has to establish his or her case, independently, and cannot be allowed to take advantage of weakness in case of adversary - If person who is claiming right or interest in property established title or right to property, Court may exercise discretion to grant the relief of declaration of title and such discretion must be exercised judiciously - In result, Appeal Suit is dismissed confirming the decree and judgment dated 30.07.1993, passed in Original Suit No.4 of 1989 by the Subordinate Judge. K.Satyamma (died) Vs. Smt. Bhoodevi 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 384.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.11 & 12 & Or.11, Rule 2 - Specific Relief Act, Sec.5 - Principles of res judicata - Suit filed relating to disputes regarding succession and management of Gaddi of Trust - Trial Court dismissed suit - Judgment and order of 1st appellate Court restored by Supreme Court and findings arrived at by it attained finality and hence issue determined therein binding on parties - Judgment of Court should not be interpreted as statute - Court while passing judgment cannot take away right of successful party indirectly which it cannot do directly - Observations made by superior Court is not binding - What would be binding is ratio of decision - Such a decision must be arrived at upon entering into merit of issues in case - Provisions of Or.2, Rule 2 bars jurisdiction of Court in entertaining a second suit where plaintiff could have but failed to claim entire relief in first one - Issue in earlier suit indisputably was claim of entitlement to Gaddi by first respondent and a plea contra thereto raised by appellant - Once issue of entitlement stood determined, same would operate as res judicata - Distinction between "issue estoppel" and "res judicata" - "....Res judicata debars a Court from exercising its jurisdiction to determine lis if it has attained finality between parties whereas the doctrine issue estoppel is invoked against party. If such an issue is decided against him, he would be estopped from raising the same in the later proceeding. The doctrine of res judicata creates a different kind of estoppel viz., estoppel by accord" - Suit for possession must be filed having regard to provisions of CPC - If statute provides for applicability of CPC, there cannot be any doubt whatsoever that all relevant provisions thereof shall apply. Dadu Dayalu Mahasabha,Jaipur (Trust) Vs.Mahant Ram Niwas 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 165.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.11, 96,100 & 2 & Or.14 - "Res judicata" - "Framing of issues and pronouncing judgments on issues" - "Findings" - Three suits O.S.Nos.274/83, O.S.276/83 and O.S.141/83 filed relating to land in Sy.No.9/13 seeking relief of declaration of title and injunction - State of A.P. represented by District Collector and other Officials arrayed as defendants - Three suits are tried together and common judgment has been delivered; however three separate decrees and judgments have been passed - Main question in all three suits is whether disputed land forms part of Sy.No.9/13 as claimed by plaintiffs in O.S.No.274 & 276 or forms part of Sy.No.49 & 50 as claimed by plaintiffs in O.S.No.141 or in Sy.No.43 as claimed by State of A.P - Issue No.1 in O.S.No.274 relates to whether suit property is part of Sy.No.9/13 on this issue trial Court gave finding that plaintiffs failed to establish suit property form part of 9/13 and Govt. also failed to establish that suit land forms part of Sy.No.43, but held defendants 1 to 4 clearly established that suit land forms part of Sy.No.49 & 50 - Similar finding was given in O.S.No.141/84 - As far as findings in O.S.No.274 & 276 are concerned Govt.,/ defendants have not preferred any appeal and therefore respondents contend that findings on issue no.1 became final and therefore those findings operate as res judicata between co-defendants - Plaintiffs in O.S.No.274 & 276 preferred appeal and Govt., defendants in O.S.141 preferred appeal - Main contentions of respondent is as far as Govt., is concerned findings against Govt., in O.S.Nos.274 and 276 became final and operate as Res judicata - Thus appeals filed by Govt., are not maintainable since findings have become final and hit by principles of res judicata - Govt., contends that plea of Res judicata may not deserve any consideration stating that no decree is passed against Govt., in O.S.No.274 and 276 and when Govt., have not suffered any decree question of filing appeal against such decree does not arise and there is no possibility to prefer an appeal and further that no appeal lie against mere finding and therefore even if there is some finding against Govt., there is no need to file appeal and that Govt., have disputed boundaries and location of suit property and suits filed by plaintiffs in those two suits have been dismissed - RES JUDICATA - To attract principle of res judicata it is necessary that issue in present suit and in former suit must be directly and substantially same issue and Court must be competent Court - It is settled principle that Res judicata debaras Court from exercising jurisdiction to determine lis if it has attained finality - DECREE - Defined - An appeal shall lie from a decree - A plain reading of definition of "decree" reveals that decree means formal expression of adjudication whereby Court conclusively determines right of parties with regard to all or any of matters in contraversy in suit - Thus it is clear that decree does not mean only operative portion and common understanding of decree "it is only an operative portion of judgment appears to be not correct" - A combinding reading of definition of decree, Or.14, Rule 1 of CPC makes it clear that decision on issues on any matter in controversy shall be deemed to be a "decree" - "Now it is settled by a large number of decisions that for a judgment to operate as res judicata between or among co-defendants, it is necessary to establish that (1) there was a conflict of interest between co-defendants; (2) that it was necessary to decide the conflict in order to give the relief which the plaintiff claimed in the suit and (3) that the Court actually decided the question" - In this case, findings on issue no.1 which went against Govt., appears to be a finding was on main controversy and it cannot be said that such finding do not make any material difference or unnecessary operate as res judicata - Filing of appeal destroys finality of judgment under appeal - In this instant case,Govt., have not filed any appeal or counter claim challenging findings of lower Court with regard to claim of Govt. - FINDINGS - Findings are of two kinds - Finding may be decision on an issue framed in a suit and will only cover material questions which arise in a particular case for decision - Court may give final decision on issue, that is, upon a controversy between parties - There may be a findings which may not necessary or called for while deciding main controversy between parties - Where a finding, if on materia issue, which declares rights of parties comes within definition of decree, has been given, such finding has to be challenged, though there may not be any executable decree against party - But where it appears that a finding which effects right of parties or declares right or title of party and if not challenged would become final and may operate as res judicata and such findings is to be treated as a decree though not an executable decree and has to be challenged in appeal - In this case, since claim of Govt., has been negatived and Govt., did not prefer any appeal, findings of trial Court on said issue became final and since judgment passed by lower Court in above referred two suits operate as Res judicata, present appeal filed by Govt., is not maintainable and therefore objections raised by respondent are sustainable - Findings of trial Court in O.S.No.274 & 276 that suit land is not part of Sy.No.43 operates as Res judicata against Govt. since they have not preferred any appeal against said findings - Therefore appeal filed by Govt., is not maintainable. State of A.P. Vs. B. Ranga Reddy 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 198 = 2013(2) ALD 544 = 2013(1) ALT 556.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.11 & 100 - HYDERBAD MUNICIPAL CORPORATION ACT, 1955, Sec.685 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit seeking relief of mandatory injunction for removal of

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

certain constructions made by appellant/1st defendant, adjacent land owner while constructing her house deviated from plan approved by Municipal Corporation - 1st defendant also filed cross-suit against respondent/plaintiff contending that her construction is by and large as per prescribed plan approved by Municipal Corporation and she did not infringe any right of plaintiff and some minor deviations from approved plan were made as per advice given by technical and Vasthu experts - Trial Court dismissed suit filed by appellant/1st defendant and decreed suit filed by respondent/plaintiiff granting temporary injunction directing removal of illegal and unauthorized construction made by appellant/1st defendant - 1st appellate Court by its common judgment in A.S.No.388/99 and A.S.No.389/99 confirmed decree and judgment passed by trial Court in all respects - Feeling aggrieved, LRs of 1st defendant filed present second appeal against decree and judgment passed by 1st appellate Court in A.S.No.388/99 and no second appeal is filed in so far as decree and judgment passed in A.S.No.389/99 by 1st appellate Court - In this case, during pendency of litigation Municipal Corporation regularized constructions made by 1st defendant - Both Courts below categorically held that there were deviation and said deviations not minor as contended by 1st defendant and they are major deviations which affect ownership and enjoyment right of respondent/plaintiff - Appellants, LRs of 1st defendant contend that notice required u/Sec.685 of Municipal Corporation Act not issued by respondent/plaintiff to Municipal Corporation before instituting suit and Municipal Corporation being 2nd defenant in suit, said suit not maintainable and that 1st appellate Court erroneously recorded findings that for want of notice u/Sec.685 of Corporation Act cross suit filed by 1st defendant not maintainable where as suit filed by respondent/plaintiff is maintainable and said finding is illgal and liable to be set aside in present second appeal - Respondent/plaintiff contends that only when relief is claimed against Municipal Corporation or action of Corporation is challenged requirement of issuing notice u/Sec.685 becomes mandatory - Otherwise it is not necessary to issue notice before instituting suit merely because Corporation is one of defendants and suit filed by respondent/plaintiff corporation is only proper party but not a necessary party, as no relief is claimed against Corporation and no positive action of Corporation taken against plaintiff therein is challenged in suit - Held, that in suit filed by respondent/plaintiff notice u/Sec.685 of Act is not mandatory where as suit filed by 1st defendant notice u/Sec.685 Act is mandatory and there is no illegality in order passed by 1st appellate Court - Municipal Corporation apart from regularizing illegal constructions or deviations is under duty to protect the rights of neighbours and while doing so it has to exercise powers of regularization without offending rights of neighbouring house owners - Under guise of regularization of illegal construction if Corporation allowes 1st defendant to invade into rights of respondent/plaintiff it can be certainly said that it is in excess of powers of regularizations conferred on it by statute - In this case, both suits were disposed of by trial Court by common judgment against which two appeals A.S.No.388 and A.S.No.389 were filed by 1st defendant/appellant and in both appeals a common judgment was rendered but legal representatives of 1st defenant preferred 2nd appeal only against A.S.NO,388

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

and for not filing second appeal against A.No.389 in which decree and judgment passed by trial Court is confirmed by 1st appellate Court and became final - Present 2nd appeal is therefore barred by res judiacata - Second Appeal filed by LRs of 1st defendant is barred by res judicate u/Sec.11 of CPC, since no appeal has been preferred against decree and judgment passed by 1st appellate Court in A.S.No.389 cofirming judgment and decree passed by trial Court which became final - Therefore present second appeal itself is not maintainable - Hence, dismissed. Sunanda Devi (died) Per LRs 2 to 4 Vs. Parvathi Bai, 2012(1) Law Summary 170 = 2012(3) ALD 449 = 2013(3) ALT 104.

—Sec.11 and Or.II, Rule 2 - Appellants/defendants availed loan from respondent/ plaintiff bank for poultry business by executing registered mortgage deed - As defendants failed to pay amount plaintiff filed suit and obtained preliminary decree - Trial Court dismissed petition filed by plaintiff with delay condonation petition for passing final decree holding that petition not maintainable - Since there is no final decree, relationship between mortgagor and mortgagee subsists and therefore plaintiff is entitled to institute suit - Appellant/defendants contend that when earlier application was dismissed it amounts to a finality of rights of parties, suit is barred by time under Or.2, Rule 2 and in view of order on I.A which was dismissed on merits, plaintiff/bank is debarred from instituting suit and that as there is no cause of action earlier dismissal of final decree petition operates res judicata, suit debt is abated - Rights of mortgagor and mortgagee are co-extensive with regard to redemption or for foreclosure and principles does not differ - SCOPE OF SEC.11 AND OR.II, RULE 2 CPC - Stated - Where liability under mortgage deed has not been discharged, fact that an earlier decree was obtained would not preclude mortgagee/mortgagor from instituting a second suit for relief - If right of redemption is not extinguished, successive suits for enforcing that right can be filed - Contention raised by appellant cannot be accepted and suit is not barred either on principles of res judicata or under Or.II, Rule 2 since rights under mortgage are not extinguished and suit is within time - Appeal, dismissed. Gummuluru Sansyasinaidu Vs. State Bank of India, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 220.

–Sec.11, Order 7, Rule 11(d) – Rejection of plaint on the plea of res judicata – Suit was filed for cancellation of decree in earlier suit on the ground of fraud and collusion by third party to the earlier suit - Plaintiff filed objections to EP in earlier suit unsuccessfully – High Court applied principle of res judicata considering the allegations of written statement – Plea of res judicata requires full pledge trial - Not correct to reject the plaint without trial - Apex court allowed the appeal. Vaish Aggarwal Panchayat Vs. Inder Kumar 2015(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 15 = 2015(6) ALD 1 (SC) = 2015 AIR SCW 5079 = AIR 2015 SC 3357.

—Sec.11 & Or.9, Rule 9 - “Dismissal of suit for default” - “Res judicata” - Trial Court dismissed suit for default on technical ground in which State was not a party - Another suit where State was a party and amendments were made, was dismissed for non-prosecution, but same was not dismissed under Or.8, Rule 9 - Dismissal of suit for non prosecution is not a decision on merit and consequently said order cannot operate as Res judicata. State of U.P. Vs. Jagdish Saran Agrawal 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 29 = 2009(4) ALD 123(SC) = 2009(1) Supreme 28.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.16 to 21- "Pecuniary and territorial jurisdiction of Court" - Appellant/plaintiff entered into contract with D1 at Mumbai for errection of Mill at Murbad, State of Maharashtra - Plaintiff gave Bank Guarantee, through D2, Bank towards mobilisation advance paid by D1 - Since work allegedly abandoned before completion contract stood terminated - Plaintiff filed suit before Civil Court, Hyderabad for declaration and injunction restraining D1 from invoking B.G contending that delay caused by D1 in not giving site and drawings in time and not supplying power as per terms of contract - D1 opposed suit contending that contract executed at Bombay and Court at Hyderabad has no jurisdiction and that cause of action or part of cause of action did not arise at Hyderabad and that as per Cl.66 of contract, only Courts at Bombay have jurisdiction - Trial Court ordered to return plaint to be presented to proper territorial Court - Indisputably that contract was signed at Bombay and work is to be executed at Murabad - Sec.20(a) & (b) of CPC would oust jurisdiction of Courts at Hyderabad - Any agreement between parties to contract cannot validly take away jurisdiction possessed by Court, though ouster clause can operate as estoppel against parties to contract - But if more than one Court has jurisdiction under statute it is always open to parties to agree to jurisdiction of one Court to exclusion of other - Where two courts are more have under CPC jurisdiction to try a suit or proceeding an agreement between parties that dispute between them shall be tried in one of such Courts is not contrary to public policy - Such an agreement does not contravene Sec.28 of Contract - In view of Cl.66 of contract r/w relevant Appendix to Tender, parties agreed to oust jurisdiction of Hyderabad Courts and submit only to Bombay Courts - Even if BG is distinct and independent contract among plaintiff and D1 & D2, it is only Bombay Courts which have jurisdiction as agreed by parties - CMA, dismissed. I.V.R.Constructions Ltd. Vs. Technocraft Industries India Ltd., 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 61 = 2010(1) ALD 630 = 2010(2) ALT 239.

—-Sec.20 - According to petitioner, as acceptance of contract made by respondents was received by him at Malkajgiri, Court at Malkajgiri has territorial jurisdiction - Lower Court while returning plaint has observed that ingredients of Section 20 of Civil Procedure Code are not satisfied as place of work or business of respondents does not fall within its jurisdiction or that property in respect of which contract has been executed is also not situated within its jurisdiction.

Held, Suit is filed for recovery of money under a contract entered into by the petitioner with respondent - Thus, cause of action pertains to making of a contract - As noted above, though, an after thought, it is pleaded case of petitioner that contract accepted by respondent was received by him at Malkajgiri - Settled legal position is that if filing of suit is based on making of a contract, cause of action arises at place where offer is accepted and if suit is based on termination of a contract, cause of action arises at place where such termination order is received - Admittedly, suit is based on making of a contract and not on termination of the contract - Offer of petitioner was accepted at Pargi and contract was made at Pargi - It is also not in dispute that contract work is executed within jurisdiction of Court at Pargi - Consequently, it is only Court at Pargi which has jurisdiction.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

As no part of cause of action had arisen within jurisdiction of Court at Malkajgiri, the said Court has no jurisdiction to entertain the suit filed by petitioner - For above mentioned reasons, this Court do not find any merit in this Civil Revision Petition and same is, accordingly, dismissed. K.Jitender Das Vs. Executive Engineer, RWS & S Division, Pargi 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 129.

—Sec.20 and Or.7, Rule 10 - "Cause of action" - "Territorial jurisdiction" - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit for maintenance and for recovery of arrears of maintenance against respondent/defendant at place where cause of action arose, since marriage had been celebrated at said place - Trial Judge returning plaint for presentation to appropriate Court - Court within jurisdiction of which part of cause of action arises can entertain a suit and convenience of defendants is not a matter to decide Court's jurisdiction - In this case, since part of cause of action arose at a place where marriage was celebrated, it can be said that said suit can be instituted at that place - Impugned order unsustainable - CMA, allowed. Dr.Kollipara Bhargavi Vs. Dr.Lt. Col. Kollipara Ravi Kanth 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 71 = 2009(4) ALD 212.

—Sec.20 and Or.14, Rule (ii) (a) - "Territorial jurisdiction" - Respondent filed suit against petitioner/T.T.D to recover certain amount towards supply of Art Paper Material - Petitioner/T.T.D filed written-statement, apart denying its liability to pay amount and also filed application raising objection as to territorial jurisdiction - Trial Court dismissed said application - Petitioner/T.T.D contends that tender notice was issued from office of Tirumala Tirupati Devastanms and its administrative office exists at that place and that there was absolutely no basis for respondent to file suit in a Court at Hyderabad and that contract was also concluded at Tirupati and material was supplied to that place - Respondent/plaintiffs contend that, in order of acceptance, petitioner/Devastanams themselves have mentioned that dispute shall be subject to Hyderabad jurisdiction, and it is not at all open to them to raise objection as to territorial jurisdiction when suit filed at Hyderabad - According to petitioner, no part of cause of action has arisen within limits of trial Court at Hyderabad - Admittedly tender notice was issued from Tirupati and material was supplied to that place and payments for supply of material were made by office at Tirupati - It is only when contract itself provides that material must be supplied from particular place that cause of action can be said to have arisen there - In absence of such stipulation place of origination of material does not become relevant, to decide forum, for institution of proceedings - Jurisdiction of Courts is to be decided by relevant provisions of law and not by agreement between parties - Parties cannot by their mutual consent, confer jurisdiction on a Court, which otherwise does not have it - Similarly, they cannot take away jurisdiction of a Court by their mutual consent - Their freedom to contract is only to agree upon one of Courts, where more Courts, than one, have jurisdiction - Clause contained in correspondence between parties providing for adjudication of disputes in Courts at Hyderabad, would have become valid, if only Court at that place also had jurisdiction u/Sec.20 CPC - Unless one mentioned in contract was one of courts, in which suit could otherwise have been instituted, ouster clause, by itself, does not confer jurisdiction on such Court - Impugned order, set aside - Trial Court directed to return plaint for presenting before Court, having territorial jurisdiction - C.R.P., allowed. T.T.D. Tirupati rep. by its E.O.,Vs. M/s.Shree Distributors 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 201.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Sec.20(c) - Suit filed by plaintiff against defendants is to pass a decree in favour of plaintiff for Rs.3,50,00,000/-towards damages, together with interest thereon @ 18% per annum from date of suit till realization with costs and to grant such other just reliefs - Defendants having been served in suit after plaint was numbered and summons ordered by trial Court-cum-Principal District Judge, - The 2nd defendant filed two applications, amongst one is under Order VII Rule 11-A CPC to reject plaint in so far as against the 2nd defendant with exemplary costs alleging there is no cause of action from reading of plaint, besides suit claim is with ulterior motive and malafide intention to have wrongful gain and with false allegations in approaching Court also with unclean hands to the prejudice of 2nd defendant, in particular, to cause monitory loss if any and to tarnish reputation - Other application is filed under Order I Rule 9 CPC to strike out or delete name of 2nd defendant from array of plaint supra in saying it is outcome of mis-joinder of 2nd defendant with no privity of contract between petitioner and 2nd defendant and suit claim is of speculative effort to cause monitory loss and ill-reputation to 2nd defendant - It is pursuant to the said contest, both petitions by impugned common order were dismissed by trial Court.

Held, revision petitioners in their applications for rejection of plaint are alleged misjoinder and seeking to delete 2nd defendant from array did not explain what made them to have email correspondence with plaintiff and other team members by 2nd defendant on behalf of 1st defendant.

No doubt they can set out their defence by filing written statement and so far as rejection of plaint concerned, as law is very clear where there is no existence of cause of action, plaint is liable to be rejected from reading of plaint averments - When above averments show link between defendant Nos.1 to 3 and averments made in plaint show cause of action at least in part so far as 2nd defendant, it cannot be said plaint is liable to be rejected at threshold in particular against the 2nd defendant or even not entitled to say 2nd defendant is without any basis, wrongly impleaded or there is mis-joinder and requires deletion of 2nd defendant from array of defendants in suit - Thus, it all depends upon facts of case and it is for defendant Nos.1 & 2 to explain their inter se relation and without which what made to have been correspondence with plaintiff and other team members.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

It clearly indicates from plaint averments prima facie of 1st defendant is practically a branch of 2nd defendant and both are not independent companies and once such is the case, there is cause of action against 2nd defendant also from plaint averments - It is in fact if at all defendants dispute and demonstrate their status is not like a branch office or head office and both are independent and one is not responsible for acts and business of other, they have to demonstrate same as part of their contest by filing written statement for considering disputed claims by adjudication and it is premature to go into that when plaint averments show inter-link between defendant Nos.1 & 2.

Thus, it all depends upon facts that it requires to be demonstrated as part of defence of defendants to decide and it is not a case for rejection of plaint or to delete array of 2nd defendant thereby - Accordingly, though lower Court orders is not with such details, for this Court while sitting in revision against order, there is nothing to interfere for same otherwise sustain on its result conclusion.

Accordingly and in result, both revision petitions are dismissed - However, it is made clear that dismissal of revision petitions no way influence mind of trial Court in deciding lis before it nor takes away any defence of defendants by filing written statement to plaintiff's suit claim to hear and formulate issues pursuant to same to decide lis and if necessary to seek for deciding any issue as a preliminary issue. Convergys Corporation Vs. Sreenivasulu Ruttala 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 148 = 2016(5) ALD 628.

—-Sec.21 - A.P. COURT FEE AND SUIT VALUATION ACT, Secs.4 and 5 - Plaintiff filed this Petition, under Article 227 of Constitution of India, against order of Senior Civil Judge passed in I.A. filed by defendants/respondents herein under Section 21 of Code of Civil Procedure requesting to decide pecuniary limits of suit claim and jurisdiction of Court to entertain suit after considering market value certificates issued by the Sub-Registrar in respect of suit schedule property.

As per plaintiff, plaint schedule property was classified as dry land and defendants had obtained valuation certificates, showing property as residential property - Further, they have sought for value of property on Square Yard basis - Plaintiff had obtained valuation certificate in respect of property on basis of acreage as property was classified as a dry land and defendants are not having any tenable defence.

Defendants' alleged that suppressing real value of properties, plaintiff had played fraud on Court - In view of real value of property as mentioned in certificates issued by competent authority, Court is not having jurisdiction to entertain and try suit.

On merits, trial Court had allowed petition of defendants and had observed in operative portion of its order that plaintiff has to file suit before proper Court on payment of required Court fee - Aggrieved of said orders, plaintiff is before this Court.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, therefore, issues in regard to correctness of valuation of properties and reliefs claimed and correctness of Court fee paid on reliefs claimed, which are complex issues of fact and law, cannot be prejudged unless core questions which are adverted to supra are decided on merits after full-fledged trial - Therefore, question of ignoring certificates produced by plaintiff and accepting contents of certificates produced by defendants at this interlocutory stage does not arise for consideration, in light of findings supra - Further, provisions of Sections 4 and 5 of the A.P. Court Fee and Suit Valuation Act, which are complementary and which are not in conflict with Order VII Rule 11 of Code of Civil Procedure, empower Court to examine at any time correctness of valuation of reliefs claimed and sufficiency or otherwise of court fee paid and further empower Court to demand deficiency in Court fee at any stage - Therefore, said questions raised by defendants in this interlocutory application have to be necessarily adjudged only after full-fledged trial and not in the instant interlocutory application filed by the defendants.

Hence, this Court is of considered view that it would be appropriate to direct trial Court to frame an issue in regard to correctness of valuation of reliefs claimed and Court fee paid thereon and decide it at appropriate stage in case defendants raise such a defence in their written statement to be filed by them - Viewed thus, this Court finds that order passed at a preliminary stage without giving opportunity to parties to enter trial is unsustainable and warrants interference.

In result, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and order impugned in revision is set aside giving liberty to defendants to raise issue in regard to correctness of valuation of reliefs claimed in suit and sufficiency or otherwise of Court fee in written statement to be filed before trial Court, Vemula Chinnamma @ Chinnammai Vs. Battula China Kannaiah 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 319 = 2016(5) ALD 221 = 2016(4) ALT 592.

—Sec.24 - Title of the property in a suit for injunction should be decided for a limited purpose of consideration of granting decree, whereas the title in a suit for declaration should be decided finally based on evidence - Reliefs in both the suits cannot be held to be identical - Lower Court erred in ordering to transfer one suit and to be tried along with other suit - Accordingly, the order of lower court is set aside and both the suits shall be tried independently and can be disposed of by respective courts where they are pending. Muthe Rajesham Vs. Bakam Lingaiah 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 6 = 2015(1) ALD 448 = 2015(3) ALT 322.

—Secs.24,24(3) (a) & 2(4) - A.P. CIVIL COURTS ACT, 1972, Secs.3,2,4,4(1),5,10 and 11(2) - “Power of transfer and withdrawal of suit” - Principal District Judge passed order transferring suit from VIIth Addl. District Judge to II Addl. District Judge - Petitioner contends that general power of transfer and withdrawal u/Sec.24 of CPC vested in District Court can be exercised in respect of any suit, appeal, or other proceedings pending in any Court subordinate to it and not in respect of a matter pending in

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Court of Addl. District Judge which is not a subordinate Court to District Court - On combined reading of Secs.10 & 11, it follows that there is only one District Judge for each District and there may be one or more Addl. District Judges functioning in same District and that both District Judge as well as the Addl. District Judges perform same functions and that Addl. District Judges exercise same powers of District Judge in respect of matters that may be assigned to Addl District Judge, by District Judge - In context of occurrence of phrase "Addl. District Judges" in Sec.24(3)(a) CPC, said phrase cannot be interpreted as "Addl. District Judges" - Sec.24(3)(a) of CPC speaks about Assistant Judges also alongwith Addl. District Judges - It can be no body's case that there are any judges termed as Asst. District Judges - Additional Judges and Assistant Judges referred in Sec.24(3)(a) are those Judges who worked with said nomenclature in City Civil Court Unit - When neither Addl. Judge nor Assistant Judge is having status of District Judge and when Addl. Judge and Assistant Judge are in fact inferior to District Judge who is named as Chief Judge in City Civil Court Unit prior to Act 29 of 1997, question of further deeming as Addl. Judge and Asst. Judge subordinate to District Court may not arise - Phrase "Addl. District Judge" contained in Sec.24(3)(a) CPC cannot be construed as "Addl. District Judge" - In all propriety, application u/Sec.24 CPC should have been filed before High Court and not before District Court for transfer of a suit pending in Addl. District Court to another Addl. District Court, as Principal District Judge working in a District has no jurisdiction to entertain such transfer petition u/Sec.24 CPC - Order passed by Prl. District Judge, set aside - Revision petition, allowed. Manchukonda Venkata Jagannadham Vs. Chettipalli Bullamma, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 317 = 2011(3) ALD 354 = AIR 2011 AP 104.

—Sec.24, and 24(3)(a) - A.P. CIVIL COURT ACT, 1972, Sec.11 and Sec.2(4), (3) - "Power" of transfer and withdrawal of cases - Petitioner filed Application before High Court for transfer of suit on file of 2nd Addl.Chief Judge, City Civil Court, Hyderabad to Court of Chief Judge, City Civil Court as connected two suits are pending on file of Chief Judge - When High Court questioned as to why application is filed before High Court, when remedy u/sec.24 of CPC, can be availed before Chief Judge, petitioner contends that in view of decision of High Court in Manchukonda VENKATA JAGANNADHAM'S case, said transfer Application is not being entertained and consequently it has become a bar - Purpose of procedural law is for convenience of parties and Court and it is always aimed at speedy and less expensive remedy to parties and that any effort to interpret procedural law should be necessarily with object of interest of parties unless there is any mandatory prohibition for exercise of any power and that more importance has to be given to provisions of CPC rather than provisions of Act, if they are not in conflict or in exclusion - Sec.3 of CPC unambiguously shows that every civil Court which is inferior in grade is subordinate to District Court, thereby Sr.Civil Judges, Jr.Civil Judges, who are inferior in grade to Court of District Judge or subordinate and it is mentioned u/Sec.24(3)(a) of CPC that additional and Asst.Judges are subordinate to District Judge - U/Sec.24(1)(a) CPC, District Court at any stage can transfer any suit, appeal or other proceedings pending before it for trial or disposal to any Court subordinate to it and competent to try or dispose of same or (b) with draw any suit, appeal or other proceeding in any Court subordinate to it - Therefore power that can be exercised by District Judge, includes power of transfer from his Court and power of withdrawal to his Court - Evidently, suits or appeals which are triable by District Judge cannot be transferred to inferior Court like Sr.Civil Judge or Jr.Civil Judge - Legislature has purposefully stated u/sec.24(3)(a) of CPC that Additional and Asst. Judges are subordinate to District Judge, and it is evidently for purpose of including Addl.District Judges or Addl.Judges of any cadre and if such a power is not from District Judge, then purpose of Sec.24(1)(a) and 24(c) will be lost - Under A.P. Civil Courts Act, it is power of District Judge, to allot work and thereafter only Addl. District Judge can dispose of case, with all powers as District Judge, and in fact, appointment of Addl., District Judges or any Addl. Judges is only in cases where requirement of parties pending in District Court is taken into consideration u/sec.11 of A.P. Civil Courts Act - If District Judge has no power to entertain transfer Application, difficulties of litigants will be many - Therefore purpose of power u/Sec.24 CPC. conferred on District Judge, is for benefit of litigants and this power is consistent with power to distribute work by District Judge and even if Application is not filed, District Judge, can suo motu exercises this power and it is evidently meant for cause of justice and not for delays or difficulties to litigants - Sec.24 clearly shows that by fact, power of transfer inherent with power of assignment of work - Therefore power of transfer vested in District Judge cannot be curtailed by restricted meaning when intention and purpose of same is for convenience of all - Application for transfer has to be moved before District Judge, who is competent to entertain and petitioner is at liberty to file Application before Chief Judge, City Civil Court and Chief Judge shall dispose of same according to law. T.Niranjan Vs. Ch.Ramesh Chander Reddy, 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 267 = 2013(2) ALD 350 = 2013(3) ALT 150.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

——Sec.24(1) - Regarding Transfer petitions, there was a conflict of opinion between two benches of co-ordinate jurisdiction and hence learned single Judge before whom the present transfer petitions came up for hearing has referred the matter to the Division Bench.

Held, an order of transfer being not a judgment, it must also be noted that in a petition for transfer of a case from one court to another, no order or decision of the subordinate court is called in question - It is only when decision or order of a court is called in question before another court, former should be subordinate to latter, in terms of judicial hierarchy - This is why Sec.3 of code carefully uses the expression "of a grade inferior" - Therefore, in the light of the foregoing discussion, this Court of the considered view that the Principal District Judge would have power to withdraw a suit, appeal or other proceeding pending on file of one Additional District

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Judge and transfer same to file of another District Judge – This Court may also clarify that general power of withdrawal and transfer is available to High Court as well as District Court concurrently as indicated by the Supreme Court in Kuluvinder Kaur V. Kandi Friends Education Trust - Therefore, availability of power for Principal District Court to another, does not operate as a bar for the High Court to exercise jurisdiction - Only ground on which petitioners seek transfer is that Additional Fast Track Court Judge had dismissed 45 appeals in a span of three days - This cannot be a ground for an apprehension, much less a reasonable apprehension, that petitioners may not get justice - When Courts, which move at a snail's pace are ridiculed, this Court do not know how Courts that proceed on fast track could also be condemned - These petitions are completely devoid of merits - Therefore, they are dismissed. Tadikonda Surya Venkata Satyanarayana Murthy Vs. T.Seethamahalakshmi 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 417 = 2016(5) ALD 482.

—Sec.31 r/w Sec.151 - "Summons to witness" - Respondent filed suit for recovery of certain amount - Trial of suit commenced and plaintiffs evidence recorded - Petitioner/ defendant deposed as D.W.1 and filed affidavit in lieu of chief examination of D.W.2 was filed - Trial Court dismissed I.A filed by petitioner u/Sec.31 to issue summons to D.W.2. - Petitioner contends that though D.W.2 agree to depose as witness, he refused to cooperative after filing affidavit in lieu of chief examination and that trial Court has ample power to summon such witness - Where a party, whether plaintiff or defendant, has secured presence of a witness by himself but is not able to ensure his presence subsequently, Sec.31 of C.P.C has no application - Taking out summons to such witnesses would amount almost to a hybrid exercise, since presence of witness is partly procured by party himself and for remaining part he seeks assistance of Court - Same is impermissible in law - View taken by trial Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Chukka Ramaiah Vs. Chejuru Bujjaiah 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 53 = 2010(5) ALD 72 = 2010(5) ALT 95.

—Secs.33 & 47 - Respondents/employees of, Electricity Board filed suit for recovery of their higher scale and obtained decree which attained finality - Hence filed execution petition - Appellants, Board filed objections contending that mere declaratory relief having been passed in favour of decree-holder they were not entitled to arrears of pay - Said objection was dismissed - A decree as is well known, should ordinarily be confined to prayer made in plaint - Respondents herein not only prayed for declaration in regard to their entitlement to receive a higher scale of pay but also for decree of mandatory injunction in their favour directing them to release/pay said higher scales of pay - It is incumbent upon JDR to show that decree was ex facie nullity - For that purpose Court is precluded from making an indepth scrutiny as regards entitlement of plaintiff with reference to not only his claim made in plaint but also defence set up by JDR - It is also well-known that Executing Court cannot go behind decree - It has no jurisdiction to modify decree - Executing Court shall execute decree as it is - Appeal, dismissed. Haryana Vidyut, Parsaran Nigam Ltd., Vs. Gulshan Lal 2009(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 185 = 2009(5) ALD 52(SC) = 2009(5) Supreme 401 = 2009 AIR SCW 5739.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.34 - Appellant/Bank instituted suit for recovery of certain amount together with interest at 14% per annum with quarterly rests - While suit pending trial respondent/ defendant paid major portion of loan amount - Trial Court passed preliminary decree for balance amount with proportionate costs granting interest at 6% per annum simple from date of suit till date of realization - Hence present appeal filed by Bank questioning granting of interest at 6% per annum simple onbalance amount from date of suit till date of realization - Appellant Bank filed present appeal questioning only granting of interest at 6%per annum and according to appellant/Bank trial Court ought to have granted subsequent interest at 14% per annum which is contractual rate - A bare reading of proviso to Sec.34 does not indicate that it is mandatory for Court to award interest at contract rate in each and every liability arising out of commercial transaction - Therefore grant of further interest even in relation to commercial transactions is left to discretion of Court but discretion has to be properly exercised - In this case, respondents are petty business men and sustained loss in business and inspite of same they repaid major part of loan amount during pendency of suit and subsequently remaining amount also as per preliminary decree passed by trial Court - Hence granting of further interest on balance amount at 6% per annum by trial Court is perfectly justified - Decree and judgment of trial Court confirmed - Appeal, dismissed.State Bank of India, Bazarghat Branch Vs. S.H. Associates 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 146 = 2011(4) ALD 299 = 2011(4) ALT 230.

—Sec.34 - INTEREST ON DELAYED PAYMENTS TO SMALL SCALE AND ANCILLARY INDUSTRIAL UNDER-TAKINGS ACT, Secs.1,3,4,5 & 10 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for recovery of certain amount with interest @ 24% - Suit decreed with interest @ 18% per annum - 1st appellate Court dismissed appeal filed by appellant/ defendant and allowed Cross-objections filed by respondent/plaintiff, modifying decree, enhancing interest @ 23%with monthly rest - In second appeal, single Judge of High Court modified decree of trial Court to extent that respondent/plaintiff would be entitled to recover interest @ 18% per annum with monthly rest - In this case, in plaint interest claimed @ 18% per annum but later on trial Court allowed amendment sought, in view of Act came into force w.e.f 23-9-1992 - Trial Court should not have been allowed amendment. as said provisions of Act are not applicable to facts and circumstances of present case and appellant is entitled to interest in accordance with provisions of Sec.34 of CPC and not in accordance with provisions of Act and interest is to be awarded at reasonable rate on principal amount - Interest can be awarded in terms of an agreement on statutory provisions and it can also be awarded by reason of usage or trade having force of law on equitable considerations but same cannot be awarded by way of damages except in cases where money due is wrongfully withheld and there are equitable grounds therefor for which a written demand is mandatory - High Court not justified in granting interest @

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

18%per annum with monthly interest - In present case, pendente lite and future interest @9% shall be paid. Rampur Fertiliser Ltd. Vs. M/s. Vigyan Chemicals Industries 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 113 = 2009(3) ALD 99 (SC) = 2009(2) Supreme 295.

—Sec.34 - NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, Sec.79 - Suit filed for recovery of money - Trial Court decreed suit along with specified interest @ 24% per annum - Appellate Court having concurred with judgment of trial Court only modified to extent of reducing rate of interest from 24% to 12% per annum - Appellant contends that as per Sec.79 of N.I Act rate of interest shall be as originally prescribed in suit promissory note and Courts cannot interfere with terms of contract - Wide powers have been conferred on Courts to vary rate of interest from time to time from date of institution of suit - Court has no jurisdiction to vary rate of interest originally prescribed for period before institution of suit but has discretion after institution of suit - In fact Sec.79 of N.I Act does not run in conflict with Sec.34 of C.P.C, in as much as, even u/Sec.79 of N.I Act, power has been conferred on Court to vary rate of interest as pointed out from date of institution of suit - When legal position is clear, only on ground that reasons are not accorded, judgment and decree passed by lower appellate Court with modification of judgment and decree of trial Court need not be set aside - Second appeal, dismissed. Cheedey Vamsi Priya Vs. Paritala Babu2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 39 = 2010(5) ALD 569 = 2010(6) ALT 89.

—Sec.35-B and Or.17, Rule 1 - "Costs for causing delay" - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit for damages against his employer - Trial Court dismissed suit for failure to pay costs inspite of several opportunities - High Court dismissed Appeal and upheld decision of trial Court, holding that provisions of Sec.35B were mandatory and if costs levied are not paid "the only course open to Court is to disallow the prosecution of the suit" and, that meant dismissal of suit - Appellant contends that having regard to provisions of Sec.35B CPC, if costs levied on plaintiff are not paid Court can only stop further prosecution of suit by plaintiff and that Sec.35B does not confer power to dismiss suit for non- payment of costs - Judgments of High Court and trial Court, set aside, restore suit to its file - Appeals, allowed. Manohar Singh Vs. D.S. Sharma 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 200 = 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 72 = 2009(6) ALD 152 (SC) = 2009(7) Supreme 357 = 2009 AIR SCW 7065.

—Sec.39 (1) (2) & (4) & Or.21, R.48 - 'Transfer of decree' - Attachment of salary of Govt., servant - DHR filing EP in same Court which passed decree for realization of decretal amount by way of attachment of salary of J.Dr - Court ordered attachment of salary - Petitioner/J.Dr contends that EP is not maintainable as he is working in some other District and that execution proceedings ought to have been taken only after transfer of decree - Respondent/D.Hr contends that there is no need for transfer of decree to District in which J.Dr is working for purpose of attachment of salary - Or.21, Rule 48 (1) is very clear that so far as attachment of salary is concerned, Court which passed decree may also order attachment of salary of J.Dr who is working outside jurisdiction of that Court also and Court can order attachment where J.Dr or Disbursing Officer is or is not within local limits of jurisdiction - ".....Sec.39 does not authorise Court to execute decree outside its jurisdiction but it does not dilute the other provisions giving such power on compliance of conditions stipulated in those provisions. Thus, the provisions, such as Or.21, R.3 or Or.21, R.48 which provide differently, would not be effected by Sec.34 of the Code" - No need to transfer decree to local jurisdiction of Court in which J.Dr is working for purpose of attachment of salary - CRP, dismissed. Janapati Jaipal Reddy Vs. Sannihita Chit Funds Pvt. Ltd., 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 315 = 2008(4) ALD 735 = 2008(5) ALT 17.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.47 - 1st respondent filed suit for recovery of certain amount against respondents 1 to 4 and petitioner - 2nd respondent is prized subscriber of chit transaction - Respondents 3 to 5 are sureties - Suit decreed - 1st respondent filed E.P for grant of attachment against immovable properties of petitioner/4th JDR - Petitioner filed E.A u/Sec.47 CPC with a prayer to decide as to whether it is competent for 1st respondent to claim relief against petitioner alone, without claiming any relief against principal debtor and other JDRs - Executing Court dismissed EA - Hence present revision - Petitioner contends that decree holder is required to proceed against all JDRs and that occasion for 1st respondent to proceed against sureties would arise, if only, steps taken by it against 2nd respondent did not fructify - View taken by trial Court, unsustainable - 1st respondent contends that he is entitled in law to maintain EP and that once decree is joint and several, in nature, 1st respondent has every right to proceed against any of judgment debtors - In this case, basic obligation to pay decretal amount is with prized subscriber - In case, 1st respondent finds any difficulty in recovering amount from 2nd respondent, it can certainly take steps against other judgment debtors - An effort such as such must be made against principal debtor - Proceedings against one of guarantors, keeping aside principal debtor and other sureties, would certainly gives scope for collusion between DHR on one hand and some of JDRs on other - Only legal consequences of liability being joint and several that discharge by one of them, would enure to benefit of others - Determination in this behalf, however, must take place in presence of all - If other JDRs are omitted from array of parties in EP one who is singled out and proceeded against would face handicap in context of pleading satisfaction of decree by others or collusion among other parties - Steps taken by 1st respondent/plaintiff/DHR to proceed against petitioner alone cannot be sustained - If it is otherwise permissible in law, he has to either file a fresh EP, against all JDRs or to take steps to ensure that EP is directed against all JDRs - CRP, allowed. Jaichand T.Gangwal Vs. Sriram Chits Pvt. Ltd. 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 260 = 2013(5) ALD 425.

—Secs.47 and Explanations 5 & 7 of Sec.11 and Or.2, Rule 2 - Petitioner/JDR filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale and subsequently got plaint amended by including prayer for recovery of possession as well - Trial Court passed decree in favour of respondedent for specific perfrmance of agreement of sale without reference to prayer for recovery of possession - Executing Court allowed execution petition and executed sale deed as petitioner failed to come forward to execute same - Petitioner contends that in absence of passing of decree for delivery of possession though such a prayer was specifically sought for, claim of respondent for delivery of possession is hit by provisions of Explanations V & VII to Sec.11 and also Or.2, Rule 2 - Respondent contends that petitioner failed to raise pleas in his E.A which is substantative in nature - Petitioner having suffered decree which received affirmation by High Court and Supreme Court is not entitled to raise pleas in civil revision petition filed against order, having not raised such plea his in substantative petition filed to dismiss execution petition - Any relief claimed under Explanation V to Sec.11 in plaint, which is not expressly granted by decree, for purpose of Sec.11 shall be deemed to have been refused - Explanation VII extended provisions of Sec.11 to a proceeding for execution of decre as well - Admittedly, respondent's prayer for granting decree for recovery of possession has not been specifically granted - Ordinarily therefore provisions of Expanation V r/w Explanation VII would have been attracted to case on hand - Equitable jurisdiction cannot be extended to petitioner, more so, when he has failed to raise above grounds in a substantative petition filed for dismissing execution petition - Further, where law is one side, and equity and justice on other, Court which exercises discretionary jurisdiction always leans in favour of latter, lest injustice will be perpetrated on those in whose favour equity and justice lie - Revisions petitions, dismissed. Kalivarapu Lakshmi Kumari Vs. Burada Appalanaidu, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 136 = 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 310 = 2011(3) ALD 577 = 2011(3) ALT 517.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.47 & 152 - It is unexceptionable that a Court executing a decree cannot go behind a decree; it must take decree according to its tenor; has no jurisdiction to widen its scope and is required to execute decree as made - However when specific issue regarding identity of JDR has been raised and entertained by High Court in Revision and remitted matter to executing Court directing enquiry, executing Court had no option but to determiner question of identity of JDR because of direction of High Court - No objection to jurisdiction of Executing Court to determine issue could or was raised - Sec.152 CPC - Power of Court under said provision is limited to rectification of clerical and arithmetical errors arising from any accidental slip or omission - There cannot be re consideration of merits of matter - Judicial propriety and decorum requires that if a single Judge hearing a matter, feels that earlier decision of a single Judge needs reconsideration, he should not embark upon enquiry, sitting as Single Judge, but should refer matter to a larger Bench - Regrettably, in present case, Single Judge departed from said healthy principle and chose to re-examine same question himself - Impugned judgment of High Court, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Century Textiles Industries Ltd., Vs. Deepak Jain 2009(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 23 = 2009(3) ALD 43(SC) = 2009(3) Supreme 93.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.47 & Or.21, Rules 22 & 32(5) - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.28 - Powers of executing Court - Stated - 1st respondent filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Suit decreed directing petitioners to execute sale deed in favour of 1st respondent in respect of plaint schedule property within three months and if failed to do so, 1st respondent was given liberty to get sale deed executed through due process of law - Admittedly 1st respondent paid part of sale consideration by date institution of suit and balance sale consideration amount remained outstanding - Since 1st respondent died after filing E.P seeking execution of decree his Lrs, 2 to 6 brought on record - Trial Court dismissed Application filed in suit u/Sec.28 of Act seeking rescission of agreement of sale on ground that decree holder failed to deposit balance sale consideration and obtain sale deed within three months period stipulated in decree and that trial Court dismissed said Application and that High Court dismissed CRP, confirming order of trial Court - Petitioner contends that DHR should have deposited balance sale consideration alongwith interest, which was no done and deposited only certain amount which fell far short of actual balance consideration along with interest payable by that date - Executing Court allowed EP itself while passing order in E.A, holding that present DHrs are entitled to get regular sale deed after depositing sale consideration with interest and on such deposit if petitioners failed to execute sale deeds DHrs are given liberty to obtain sale deeds as per law - Hence present revision - In this case, admittedly sale consideration not paid fully by date of institution of suit and that it was only upon direction of Court certain amount deposited in execution proceedings and admittedly balance amount was yet to be paid - U/sec.28 of Act, it is open to DHR to seek enlargement of time for paying purchase money - However no such steps were taken and it was only in 2000, six years after decree, DHR straightaway initiated execution proceedings - Though Sec.28(3) of Act provides for application being made in same suit by purchaser for obtaining specific performance pursuant to decree, Or.21, Rule 32(5) continues to remain on statute book - Therefore E.P for obtaining specific performance pursuant to decree cannot said to be not maintainable - Facts of present case, demonstrate that DHR being bound by a time frame of three months stipulated in decree, failed to pay balance sale consideration and obtain execution of sale deed - When law stipulates a three year limitation for seeking specific performance of agreement of sale it can hardly be accepted that a party who obtained decree for such specific performance can enlarge time for such performance without performing his side of bargain, by merely filing an E.P any time within 12 years from date of such decree - Permitting same would be nothing short of abusing this equitable remedy - POWERS OF EXECUTING COURT - No doubt true that Application filed by petitioners seeking rescission of agreement of sale stood dismissed and was confirmed by High Court in revision - However, same does not bar executing Court from examining all questions relating to execution of decree u/Sec.47 of CPC. - Even if no application is filed seeking rescission of agreement owing failure of DHR, DHR still has to apply by way of an E.P or an Application u/Sec.28(3) of Act for execution of sale deed and it is for executing

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Court to consider whether any relief would be granted in such petition notwithstanding filing of and result in Application, if any, seeking rescission of agreement - In this case, decree in O.S was rendered incapable of execution in light of facts obtaining and application filed by petitioners u/Sec.47 CPC rightly beseeched acceptance - Order passed by executing Court in E.A holding to contrary is liable to be set aside - E.P seeking execution of decree not maintainable - Hence, dismissed - CRP, allowed. Suggula Venkata Subrahmanyam Vs. Desu Venkata Rama Rao 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 65 = 2010(5) ALD 807 = 2010(5) ALT 791.

—Sec.47, Or.21, Rules 58,97 & 101 - First respondent filed suit for relief of declaration of title and recovery of possession of suit property - Suit decreed - After decree became final R1 filed EP - Petitioner, daughter of third respondent claiming rights under Will executed by original owner filed suit against respondents with prayer to declare decree obtained by respondent as null and void and not binding on her - Said suit filed by petitioner, dismissed and CMA filed against order in EA also dismissed by District Judge - E.A filed by petitioner in E.P filed by first respondent under Rule 97 of Or.22, with prayer to declare rights vis-a-vis property and to record her objection rejected by executing Court without numbering it - Petitioner contends that a third party to decree has every right to raise objection by filing application under Rule 58, 97 or 99 of Or.21 and executing Court was not justified in numbering application - CPC provides for adjudication of rights of third parties also in same execution proceedings - Necessity to file separate suits for this purpose is obviated - In fact Sec.47 and Rules 58 and 101 of Or.21, CPC prohibit filing of separate suit for this purpose - Under these circumstances entertaining application under Rule 97 of Or.21, would amount scuttling further progress in decree which relief two superior Courts in hierarchy have specifically refused - Having filed a separate suit in a superior Forum petitioner cannot file an application in E.P - A person cannot be permitted to do indirectly what is prohibited from doing directly - Order of executing Court in rejecting application - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Amkumalla Subhashini Vs. S.Kota Bramaramba, 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 300 = 2012(1) ALD 353 = 2012(1) ALT 117.

—Sec.47, Or.21, Rule 90 r/w Sec.151, Rule 92 - Executing Court conducting auction of attached property and sale confirmed in favour of auction purchaser by issuing sale certificate - JDR filing EAs seeking to set aside sale on ground of fraud and cancel sale certificate issued in favour of auction purchaser - Executing Court by common order allowed EAs with exemplary costs payable by decree holder to JDR directing for fresh sale - DHR contends since entire sale has been confirmed by issuance of sale certificate which has become final, same cannot be reopened - Auction purchaser contends that once sale certificate was issued by time of filig Application by JDR no proceedings are pending before executing Court and sale has become absolute - Once sale has become absolute, remedy of JDR if any, is only to file an Appeal or Revision - CPC, Sec.47 - Executing Court can go into all questions between parties relating to execution, discharge or satisfaction of decree and such a question is a question falling u/Sec.47 - Insertion of this provision is to avoid multiplicity of proceedings by way of separate suit questioning irregularity in sale, issuance of sale certificate and delivery of possession pursuant to sale certificate can be decided by executing Court - All question relating to execution, discharge or satisfaction of decree should be determined by executing Court alone - It is duty of Court to set aside sale on failure to comply mandatory provisions - Since there is an irregularity in conducting sale Or.21, Rule 90 CPC would come into play - Irregularity committed by executing Court extending period for conducting sale, will definitely cause substantial injury to JDR - Order of lower Court in allowing EA setting aside auction and cancelling sale certificate - Justified - Appeals and Revision, dismissed. J.Malla Reddy Vs. Smt.I.Shantamma 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 349 = 2009(5) ALD 379 = 2009(5) ALT 493.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.50 (2) - Execution proceedings against legal representatives of deceased JDR - DHR obtained decree against JDR during his life time - EP filed for attachment of salary of legal representative of deceased JDR - Trial Court ordered attachment of salary of 4th JDR, legal representative of 3rd JDR holding that since 4th JDR inherited job of his father on compassionate grounds, it was treated as property of his father and therefore property is liable to be attachment - In view of Sec.50(2) of CPC, 4th respondent is liable to pay amount to extent of property of deceased/3rd JDR - When attachment of salary of legal representatives is sought for, initial burden is on DHR to prove that he inherited to any property of his father - In absence of that, attachment cannot be ordered - Order of attachment, set aside - CRP, allowed - However, DHR is at liberty to file another EP, if there is sufficient material to show that 4th JDR inherited property of his father. Bandaru Srinivasa Rao Vs. Sreyobhilashi Chit Funts, Wyra, Khammam 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 189 = 2008(1) ALD 392 = AIR 2008 AP 97.

—Secs.51 & 60(1) & Or.21, Rules 37 & 38 - DHR filed EP for arrest and detention of JDR in civil prison for realization of decretal amount - Executing Court allowing petition directing petitioner/JDR to pay EP amount within one month failing which warrant of arrest shall be issued - In this case Court gave finding that JDR has sufficient means to pay decretal amount solely basing on Ex.P1, house tax demand extract produced by DHR in support of his plea that JDR owned house - To exercise jurisdiction under Or.21, Rule 37 CPC satisfaction of Court that JDR having means to pay decretal amount, refused or neglected to pay is mandatory - Simple default to discharge decree is not enough, but there must be some element of bad faith beyond mere indifference to pay - It is necessary for Courts to enquire whether property possessed by JDR is income yielding so as to hold that he has sufficient means to pay decretal amount at relevant point of time - In case immovable property possessed by JDR is not yielding income to pay decretal amount, it is for DHR to take recourse to other modes of recovery in execution of decree instead of insisting on arrest of JDR - In absence of such enquiry, it cannot be concluded that JDR has sufficient means to pay decretal amount - Courts are expected to be cautious while making order of arrest in execution of decree since it involves personal liberty and it is necessary for Courts whether other modes of recovery are available to DHR and whether it is absolutely necessary to order arrest for recovery of decretal amount - In this case, Court presume that JDR has sufficient means only on basis of house tax demand extract without conducting any enquiry - As such, impugned order of arrest not in conformity with requirements contemplated u/Sec.51, r/w Or.21, R.37 of CPC and hence, set aside - CRP, allowed. Pandugayala Subbarayadu Vs. Kattamuri Sri Krishna 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 212 = 2008(4) ALD 454 = 2008(4) ALT 417 = 2008(2) APLJ 129.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.57 and Or. XXI, Rules. 32 & 37 - Suit file by respondent was dismissed and the respondent preferred appeal and the same was allowed by Additional District Judge - Respondent filed E.P. before trial court seeking arrest of the petitioner herein under Order XXI Rule 37 of the Civil Procedure Code - Petitioner herein remained ex parte - After examining the respondent herein as P.W.1, docket order was passed by the trial court on 10-07-2013, inter alia, to send the J.Dr., to prison for six months for violating the decree granted by 1st Additional District Judge, in A.S. - Present Civil Revision Petition is filed against this order - Held, Rules 30 to 36 of Order XXI come under the heading 'mode of execution' and a reading of them make it clear that civil prison is one of modes of execution of decree for injunction - Hence, contention raised by counsel for the petitioner has no substance - Detention of a party to the civil litigation has a serious consequence and has to be resorted very rarely since it violates human rights - This cannot be done in the absence of any finding as to the violation made by that person - Though provisions exist for detention of a person for violating the decree of injunction, that power has to be exercised cautiously and in rarest of rare cases and only after recording a finding - Trial court had not taken into consideration the provisions of the Code, more particularly Rule 11A of Order XXI and the binding decisions of this court, while passing the impugned order - Trial court had not even recorded a finding justifying the order of arrest - In circumstances, impugned order passed by the learned junior civil judge, is set aside and Civil Revision Petition is allowed. Kunkuntla Narsimha Vs. Syed Zainulabuddin, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 18 = 2015(3) ALD 700 = 2015(3) ALT 659.

—Sec.60 - Petitioner is decree holder of money suit O.S.No.111 of 2013 on file of Junior Civil Judge, filed against respondent-judgment debtor, who is a retired railway Gangman, and petitioner filed EP No.1 of 2014 to recover decretal debt and for attachment under Order 21 Rule 52 of C.P.C. and also to recover amount lying with Andhra Bank, Branch in account of judgment debtor - Learned Junior Civil Judge by order dated 09.07.2015 dismissed application of decree holder saying amount lying in bank account sought for attachment comprising of retirement benefits of judgment debtor including provident fund, gratuity and commutation which are exempted u/Sec.60 (g) and (k) of C.P.C. and thereby cannot be attached much less to withhold and sent for - Now said order is impugned by decree holder by present revision petition with contentions on ground that judgment debtor reached super annuation

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

two years back and still he cannot proclaim to get any protection u/Sec.60 (g) and (k) of C.P.C., as funds are merged in common pool in bank account and lost identity and cannot be said therefrom any amount as gratuity or pension or alike and explanation 1 to Section 60 made clear of money payable in relation to matters mentioned in Clauses g, h, i, i(A), j and o are exempt from attachment or sale, either before or after they are actually payable, while they were in the custody of the employer and once funds paid and deposited in bank, they merge in common pool and lost their immunity and thereby the dismissal order of the Execution Petition of the amount not attachable is unsustainable and is liable to be set aside - Held, here it is important to note that, as per order XXI rule 52, under which attachment sought and made covered by impugned order of lower Court and dismissed application ultimately of not entitled, speaks of attachment of any property in custody of Court or before other officer - Bank where amount of judgment debtor is lying is neither in Court nor before officer - It is to say order XXI rule 52 has no application at all but for at best order XXI rule 51 speaks of attachment of negotiable instrument etc., in its wording whether property is negotiable instrument is not disputed in Court nor in the custody of the public officer, attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and instrument shall be brought into Court and held subject to further order of Court - Prayer to be sought is for seizure of FDR - At best invoking order XXI Rule 51 otherwise attachment of order XXI Rule 46 of attachment of debt, share and other property not in possession of judgment debtor it can be said the FDR only lying with judgment debtor and money is invested in bank so far as savings bank account is concerned, S.B.Account with cheque power to withdraw lies with judgment debtor, apart from right of withdrawal by using debit card from an ATM and the amount lying with bank is thereby otherwise to resort under order XXI rule 46 that is applicable if not Rule 51 and not at all Rule 52 - Having regard to above, though impugned order of lower Court of amount is not liable for attachment is unsustainable as not covered by exemptions u/Sec.60 of CPC for what is discussed above, application filed under order XXI Rule 52 is however unsustainable - Subject to above observations revision is disposed of giving liberty to petitioner/decree holder to file fresh application for attachment and recovery of said amount as case may be. Balavenkatagari Rama Muni Reddy, Vs. K.Fakruddin 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 488.

—Sec.60 (1)(g)(k)(k-a)& Or.21, Rules 46 & 52 - GRATUITY ACT, 1972, Secs.4 & 13 - Petitioner filed suit for recovery of certain amount and obtained decree - As decretal amount could not be realized, E.P filed for attachment of GPS, LIC and other deposits of late “V” laying in credit of some other suit - Executing Court dismissed E.P holding that said amount is exempted from attachment and unless it reaches hands of JDRs, LRs of late “V” for enjoyment, it cannot be attached - Petitioner contends that as said amount is deposited to credit of a suit, it will not represent retiral benefits of deceased “V” and hence liable for attachment - Gratuities and Provident Fund cannot be attached and they are exempted from attachment - From perusal of explanation 2-A of Sec.60 of CPC it is clear that where any sum payable to a Govt. servant is exempt from attachment under provisions of Clauses (kk) & (kkk), such sum shall remain exempt from attachment notwithstanding fact that owing to death of Govt. servant, it is payable to some other person - PAYMENT OF GRATUITY ACT, SECS.4(1) & 13 - A combined reading of Sections, makes it clear that Gratuity which will be paid to an employee on his retirement or resignation; and in case of his death or disablement, due to accident or decease to his nominees, is totally exempted from attachment in execution of any decree of order of any civil, revenue or criminal Courts - Amounts representing Provident Fund and other compulsory deposits, which a Govt. servant is entitled to, are exempted from attachment until they are actually paid to Govt. servant who is entitled to on retirement or otherwise and natures of dues, is not altered - Hence said amount representing gratuity, Provident Fund, Insurance and other deposits of deceased "V" cannot be attached unless same is actually received by judgment debtors - Revision petition, dismissed. Gudapati Hanumaiah Vs. Y.Lakshminarasamma 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 338 = 2009(3) ALD 330 = 2009(1) APLJ 81 (SN) = 2009(3) ALT 281 = AIR 2009 AP 129.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.60 & Or.21, Rule 48(3), r/w Sec.151 CPC - Petitioner/DHR obtained decree against 1st respondent employee of BSNL - Petitioner filed EA for recovery entire EP amount - Executing Court dismissed E.A holding that salary is not debt and executing Court has no power to direct to attach salary of 1st respondent/JDR and recover same through 2nd respondent/garnishee and also held in view of explanation 1 & 2 to Or.21, Rule 48(3), DHR is at liberty to proceed against appropriate Govt., and not against 2nd respondent for recovery of EP amount - Executing Court has completely ignored provisions of Sec.60 CPC and Sub-clause (a) of Cl.(1) of Rule 48 while holding that salary is not a debt and therefore Court has no power to direct its attachment - Cl.1 of Rule 48 of Or.21 is squarely attracted and respondent no.2 being disbursing Officer falls under sub-claue(a) of Cl.1 of Rule 48 - Executing Court completely failed to notice distinction between Govt., company and appropriate Govt., and rejected relief claimed by petitioner obviously on ground that such relief can be claimed only against appropriate Govt., and not against respondent no.2 and this approach is wholly unsustainable and betryas complete non-application of mind - Executing Court is directed to reconsider E.A in light of provisions of Or.21, Rule 48, r/w Sec.60 of CPC and pass appropriate order - CRP, allowed. Nanduri Satyanarayana Raju Vs. Golla Subba Rao 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 383 = 2012(1) ALD 436 = 2012(2) ALT 260.

—Sec.73 - "Rateable distribution" - Scope and ambit - Stated - Suit for recovery of certain amount - Senior Civil Judge decreed suit - An item of immovable property got attached before judgment under Or.38, Rule 5 was brought to sale - 1st respondent filed petition at that stage u/Sec.73 stating that he obtained decree against second respondent in Court of Junior Civil Judge and said decrees transmitted from Junior Civil Judge to Senior Civil Judge of that place and thereafter filed E.P and wanted rateable distribution of sale proceeds - Petitioner contends that Application is not maintainable on ground that decrees are of different Courts and EP was not filed by time property was sold by executing Court by virtue of attachment - Normally, one comes across instances of decrees being transferred from one place to another place, for effective enforcement of decree - Even where such transfer is made, it would be to Court of same equivalent jurisdiction - Transferring of a decree from Court to another, at same place is some what unknown - In instance case decree passed by Junior Civil Judge at Vizianagaram is said to have been transferred to Court of Senior Civil Judge of same place - Request of "rateable distribution" can be acceded to only when applications are made to same Court for execution of decree for payment of money and that decrees were not satisfied by time assets held by Court are put to sale - It is only after encumbrance is discharged, that remainder of sale proceeds can be distributed among others - There would have been justification for ordering distribution of any amount out of sale proceeds, after decree in favour petitioner is satisfied - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. P.Bangaruthalli Vs. Piratla Suryanarayana & Sons 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 49 = 2009(6) ALD 49 = 2009(5) ALT 639.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Sec.73 - "Rateable distribution" - The original suits were filed by the petitioners against respondent No. 2 for recovery of certain amounts - They were decreed in 2001 and in 2002 - E.Ps were filed for execution of decrees by sale of property of respondent No.2-judgement debtor - Respondent No.1 in these revisions filed O.S. against respondent No.2 - These suits were also decreed - The decree holders filed EPs - They filed these applications under Sec.73 of the CPC for rateable distribution of amounts available with the execution Court in all the above mentioned suits - The petitioners have opposed these applications on ground that respondent No.1 in both cases have not complied with fundamental requirement of provisions of S. 73 of CPC., viz., filing of execution petitions for execution of decrees obtained in their favour and that, therefore, they are not entitled for rateable distribution - Execution court, however, rejected this objection and allowed four EAs. - The sole basis for allowing the EAs by execution Court was ratio in judgment of a learned single judge of this Court in Jagadish Vaishnav V. Farpos Leading Cateror and others - Assailing these orders, petitioners filed all these revision petitions.

Held, obvious purpose behind stipulation of filing execution petitions, as a sine qua non for maintaining an application for rateable distribution under Sec.73 of CPC., is to enable only such of those decree holders who are vigilant and diligent in enforcing their decrees by filing execution petitions rather than allowing decree holders who sleep over their right of benefit of ratebale distribution in the executive petitions filed by others - Any other interpretation of S. 73 of CPC would do violence to its plain language and render the words "made application to the Court for the execution of decrees for the payment of money passed against the same judgment debtor and have not obtained satisfaction thereof" wholly redundant and suplusage.

Having regard to obvious purpose with which above requirement is incorporated in Sec.73 of CPC., as explained above, condition that decree holder must have filed execution petition and have not obtained satisfaction thereof cannot be construed as an empty formality - Thus, in Court view, a decree-holder, who seeks rateable distribution, has to necessarily comply with the said provision in its form but also in its content.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

In light of above discussion, Court of the view that the judgment in Jadadish Vaishnav supra, has not laid down correct law - Court opinion, in order to be entitled for rateable distribution, a decree holder must not only show that he has filed an execution petition before the assets held by a Court were received but also he must satisfy the Court that he has not obtained satisfaction of decree - As respondent No.1-decree holders in all these cases did not file execution petitions, they are not entitled to ratebale distribution under Sec.73 of CPC. and lower court has erroneously allowed their applications - For above mentioned reasons, orders under revision are set aside and civil revision petitions are allowed. Achuri Narayana (Died) Vs. Mamidi Eshwaraiah 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 297.

——Sec.75, Or.26, Rules 1 and 9 - Feeling aggrieved by the order under challenge, respondent Nos. 1 to 3 filed the present revision petition raising several contentions mainly contending that unless the petitioner established his right and title to the property during trial, he is not entitled to claim the relief of appointment of advocate commissioner to fix boundaries of the land of the respondents, it amounts to granting pre-trial decree and, if such relief is granted, nothing remains to be tried by the trial Court - Therefore, the relief granted by the trial Court is against the settled principles of law and prayed to allow the revision petition, exercising power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, setting aside the impugned order passed by the trial Court.

Held, the trial Court appointed advocate commissioner for fixing boundaries to the property of the respondents only though the petitioner sought for appointment of advocate commissioner to demarcate schedule property and fix boundary stones to his property and the property of the respondents - Apart from that, the relief under clause (b) in the plaint is only to confirm the boundaries since the property was already demarcated twice - As such, appointment of advocate commissioner for the same purpose does not arise - If the suit is filed for fixing boundaries by the Court, then appointment of advocate commissioner would serve purpose to decide the real controversy between the parties but it is not even the case of the petitioner that schedule property is not demarcated - In such case, appointment of advocate commissioner is wholly unnecessary and it is beyond the scope of the suit - Trial Court did not look into the reliefs claimed in the suit; plea of the petitioner regarding survey of land and fixation of boundary stones; and the purpose for which commissioner is sought to be appointed - In those circumstances, the order passed by the trial Court cannot be sustained as it amounts to granting pre-trial decree and it is, therefore, liable to be set aside - Accordingly, the point is answered in favour of the respondents and against the petitioner.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

In the result, the civil revision petition is allowed setting aside the order dated 23-11-2015 passed in I.A.No. 1390 of 2012 in O.S.No. 322 of 2012 on the file of the Court of Principal Junior Civil Judge. Sarala Jain Vs. Sangu Gangadhar 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 546 = 2016(3) ALD 197.

—Sec.80 & Or.47, Rule 27 - A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987, Secs.87 & 151 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.65 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.65 - A.P. RIGHTS IN LAND AND PATTADAR PASS BOOKS ACT, 1971, Sec.6 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.34 - Respondent filed suit for declaration of title and ownership and suit land and for consequential perpetual injunction basing on registered sale deeds executed by their vendors, claiming that they have been granted ROR also - Appellants/defendants contend that civil court has no jurisdiction to entertain suit in view of Sec.151 of A.P. Endowments Act, 1987 and that suit not maintainable for non-compliance of Sec.80 of CPC - Trial Court came to conclusion that entries in records of rights are statutorily required to be presumed as true and that title deeds and pattadar pass books show possession of respondent/plaintiff and their predecessors and they have perfected title by adverse possession also - Consequently suit decreed as prayed for - Respondents/plaintiffs originally instituted suits without issuing any notice u/Sec.80 against Joint Collector and others and later E.O of appellants/temple was impleaded subsequently as defendants - Though suit being one against Govt., and authority and Endowments Act compliance with Sec.80 CPC is necessary - Though notice u/Sec.80 is mandatory, same could be waived which amounts to abandonment of right and it may be express or implied through conduct - In this case, contention as to non-compliance was waived by appellants - Objection as to admissibility of certified copies of documents not raised as secondary evidence - Appellants have by their own conduct allowed reception of such additional evidence without raising any objection at any time and as such said contention cannot be permitted before appellate Court - Since it is suit for declaration, same would not fall within purview of authorities u/Secs.87 of Endowment Act - As suit for declaration of title is not falling within parameters of Sec.151 of Endowment Act, contention of appellants is liable to be rejected - In this case, entries in revenue records clinchingly establishes that suit lands are endowed in favour of plaintiff diety Mallikarjunaswami temple - It cannot therefore be said that plaintiff vendors had title to said property and consequently title claimed by plaintiff is liable to be rejected - Main contention of plaintiffs, respondents that their title is established by adverse possession on ground that their vendors were in possession of suit lands for over 30 years - But revenue records including pahanis do not support continuous possession for over 30 years and as such finding of trial Court that plaintiffs have perfected title by adverse possession is clearly unsustainable and liable to be set aside - Plaintiffs also contend that there is presumption in their favour in view of registered documents - Said presumption clearly unsustainable and liable to be rejected as mere holding of registered documents would not entitle plaintiffs to relief of declaration of title u/Sec.34 of Specific Relief

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Act - Mere holding of registered documents would give raise to a rebuttable presumption that appellants are registered owners of lands, however that by itself is not sufficient to decree a suit for declaration of title - Respondents/plaintiffs also contend that there is a presumption of title u/Sec.6 of A.P. ROR Act, 1971, in view of fact that plaintiffs have been issued pattadar pass books and title deeds - But said pass books and title deeds are issued by revenue authorities based on documents produced by plaintiffs - Even if a presumption raises in favour of plaintiffs based on documents, said presumption is always rebuttable in a suit for declaration of title - Title of plaintiffs as well as that of their vendors vis-a-vis rival title claim by defendants have to be examined by civil court - Hence said contention also is without any substance - In this case, merely because Renovation Committee has recorded in minutes that there are no other lands attached to temple does not mean that suit lands do not belong to appellant temple, when there is evidence to contrary - In this case, since writ petition is primarily linked with and based on findings in appeal, impugned order of Joint Collector directing correction of entries by showing name of appellant Mallikarjunaswamy as pattadar suit lands has to be sustained - Appeals allowed and writ petition, dismissed. E.O., Sri Bramarambha Mallikarjuna Swamy Temple Vs. Sai Krupa Homes, Karimnagar 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 325 = 2010(6) ALD 207 = 2010(6) ALT 699.

—Secs.80(1) & (2) and Sec.151 - Suit filed against State Authorities claiming huge amount of damages without giving statutory notice u/Sec.80 of C.P. C in accordance with law - 1st respondent being conscious of defects in suit filed by him, had filed two Interlocutory Application along with plaint seeking leave of Court to file suit without serving a notice u/Sec.80(1) of CPC - Trial Court rejected Applications filed under Or.7, Rule 11 of CPC praying for rejection of plaint - Admittedly in this case, that no order had been passed on Application filed uSec.80(2) of CPC whereby leave of Court had been sought for filing suit without complying with Provisions of Sec.80(1) of CPC - Suit filed without compliance of Sec.,80(1) cannot be regularized simply by filing Application u/Sec.80(2) of CPC - Till Application u/Sec.80(2) of CPC is finally heard and decided it cannot be known whether suit filed without issuance of notice u/Sec.80(1) of CPC was justifiable - According to Provisions of Sec.80(2) CPC Court has to be satisfied after hearing parties that there was some grave urgency which required some urgent relief and therefore plaintiff was constrained to file a suit without issuance of notice u/Sec.80(1) of CPC - Till arguments were advanced on behalf of plaintiff with regard to urgency in matter and till trial Court is satisfied with regard to urgency or requirement of immediate relief in suit Court normally would not grant Application u/Sec.80(2) of CPC - Therefore mere filing of Application u//Sec.80(2) of CPC would not mean that said Application was granted by Court - Impugned judgment of High Court confirming order of trial Court, is quashed and set aside - Order of trial Court rejecting Application filed under Or.7, Rule 11 is also quashed and set aside - It is directed that trial Court shall first of all decide Application filed by respondent no.1/plaintiff u/Sec.80(2) of CPC and only after disposal of said Application, Application filed by appellants under Or.7, Rule 11 shall be decided - Appeal, allowed. Government of Kerala Vs. Sudhir Kumar Sharma, 2013(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 167.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.94(e) & 151 & Or.39, Rule 2A and Or.21, Rule 32 - Suit for permanent injunction - Decreed - DHR filed E.A in execution proceedings u/Sec.151 C.P.C praying Court to direct Station House Officer to ensure due obedience of decree passed by Court against respondent and his family members - Since JDR remained ex parte Court dismissed E.A - Hence, DHR filed present Revision - When allegations are made by party obtaining an order of injunction, that said order has been violated, application seeking Police Protection would not lie - Aggrieved party has to necessarily file execution petition under Or.21, Rule 32 or Application under Or.39, Rule 2A seeking attachment and/or arrest of violator - Inherent power of Civil Court recognized by Sec.151 C.P.C would not available when Code has specifically provided necessary procedure and modalities to do a particular thing - Part II of CPC contains Sec.36 to 74 dealing with execution of decrees and Or.21 contains elaborate procedure for execution of decree passed by civil Court - It will be altogether different matter to direct Police to take JDR into custody for violation of decree of perpetual injunction and direct authorities of civil prison to detain JDR in prison - Power of arrest and detention may not include power to direct Police to ensure due obedience of decree of perpetual injunction - When execution petition filed under Or.21, Rule 32 of CPC for execution of decree for perpetual injunction by arrest and detention of JDR to civil prison or by attachment of property or both, pending consideration of such petition, in exercise of powers u/Sec.151 C.P.C executing Court cannot direct Police to ensure obedience to decree - After decree has become final or long thereafter, if there is violation of injunction, by JDR, Court which passed decree can order detention and attachment of property - Execution petition under Or.21, Rule 32 of CPC for executing a decree for perpetual injunction cannot be disposed of by directing Police to ensure obedience to decree. D.Tulja Devi Vs. Margam Shankar 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 263 = 2010(2) ALD 732 = 2010(3) ALT 20 = AIR 2010 (NOC) 574 (AP).

—Sec.94(e), Or.21, Rules 89 & 90 and Or.21, Rule 66 & Or.21, Rule 54 - 1st respondent/DHR filed suit for recovery of certain amount and obtained decree and brought properties of JDR for sale - Initially Amin fixed value of petition schedule property at Rs.20 lakhs and subsequently on E.A. filed by DHR, amount reduced to Rs.2 lakhs - Auction conducted and knocked down in favour of appellant - I.A filed by JDR to cancel auction on ground that he had no notice before reducing value of petition schedule property and thereby great injustice and irreparable loss caused to him - Executing Court allowed I.A and set aside, sale holding that R1/DHR did not choose to examine any other persons to prove that value fixed by them is true and correct and that Amin assessed value of E.P schedule mentioned property as per rates prevailing in that area - Appellant contends that under Or.21, Rule 90 three conditions need to be satisfied viz., 1) there shall be material irregularity or fraud in procedure for conducting auction, 2) said material irregularity or fraud should result in substantial injury to JDR and 2) any such objection has to be taken at earliest point of time - All these requirements are absent in this case - Attachment of schedule property made during pendency of suit and therefore no notice is required under Or.21, Rule 54 - In this case, while reducing value to Rs.2 lakhs no notice of any kind was issued to JDR - Straightaway auction was conducted showing upset price at Rs.2 lakhs and auction purchaser is setup by DHR to knock away property at a cheaper rate - Very reduction from Rs.20 lakhs to Rs.2 lakhs is prejudicial to interest of JDR - In this case, initially when Amin tested and fixed value of property at Rs.20 lakhs DHR was present - Thereafter, he filed E.A seeking re-test and re-fixation of value of fixed by Amin which was allowed and time of re-test and re-fixation of value JDR was not present and no notice was given to him - It cannot be said that reducing value of property from Rs.20 lakhs to Rs.2 lakhs is justified - Executing Court not committed any error or illegality in setting aside sale - Appeal, dismissed. Vemula Venkateswarlu Vs. Vakati Prabhakara Reddy 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 245 = 2010(6) ALD 689.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Sec. 96 - Held, thus recitals found in these documents clearly bring out that vendors have declared themselves as absolute owners and they could not have done so, but for partition that took place amongst the brothers in Feb 1980 - Plaintiffs could not render any effective answer to this objection raised by appellants - For these reasons, Ex.A-31 and Ex.B-6 not speaking about partition amongst the 3 brothers in February, 1980 is liable to be treated as self serving convenient position, from which no firm conclusion that there was no partition has taken place in February, 1980 cannot be drawn - Hence, Ex.A-31 and Ex.B-6 are not conclusive proof of 'no partition' theory set up by the plaintiffs.

Therefore, Court opinion that trial court committed an error in its finding that parties are still members of an undivided Joint Family and consequently, it had arrived at an unsustainable conclusion that suit is liable to be decreed - In view of our findings that there was partition amongst three brothers namely M.M.R, J.R, and B.R. (Junior) and Ex.B12 is only a document evidencing family arrangement but not a deed of partition and in view of legal principle enunciated by Supreme Court in Kale's case, Nani Bai's case and Zile Singh's case, Court opinion that suit must be dismissed - Accordingly, suit is dismissed allowing this Appeal Suit. M.Vidyasagar Reddy Vs. M.Padmamma 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 169 = 2016(4) ALD 775 = 2016(4) ALT 95.

--Sec.96 - First appeal dismissed by High Court in limine - In this case, trial Court dismissing suit on two grounds holding that suit is barred by limitation and that plaintiff/ appellant failed to prove their title over suit land for want of adequate evidence whereas defendants/respondents were able to prove their title over suit land.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

High Court should not have dismissed appeal in limine but in first instance should have admitted Appeal and then decided finally after serving notice of appeal on respondents - In this case, record shows that trial Court observed that the appeal has "absolutely no arguable point"and on other hand to support these observations, trial Judge devoted 50 pages and this itself indicated that appeal involved arguable points.

It is settled principle of law that a right to file first appeal against decree u/Sec.96 of CPC is a valuable legal right of litigant - Jurisdiction of first appellate Court while hearing first appeal is very wide like that of Trial Court and it is open to appellant to attack all findings of fact or/and of law in first appeal - It is duty of first appellate Court to appreciate entire evidence and may come to conclusion different from that of trial Court.

Impugned Judgment and also decree passed by trial Court i.e., District & Sessions Judge are set aside - Appeal, allowed - Civil suit is now restored to its file - Trial Court i.e., District & Sessions Judge is directed to retry civil suit on merits. Union of India Vs. K.V.Lakshman 2016(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 23 = AIR 2016 SC 3139 = 2016(5) ALD 38 (SC).

—Sec.96 – LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Suit by Respondent against Applicant for recovery of money based on a promissory note - Applicant denied her liability- Issues framed and evidence let-in by respondent recorded - Counsel for applicant did not cross-examine the witnesses due to absence of instructions from Applicant - Evidence closed and ex parte decree was passed on 09-12-2008 - Applicant filed I.A. for condonation of delay of 488 days in filing an application to set aside ex parte decree - Application dismissed by the trial court - Aggrieved, the Applicant filed C.R.P. before the High Court of Andhra Pradesh, it too was dismissed – SLP (civil) filed by the Applicant before the Supreme Court was also dismissed - Thereafter, Applicant filed an appeal before this court questioning ex parte decree - Along with the said appeal, Applicant filed the present application for condonation of delay - Held, No doubt, an appeal under S. 96 CPC is a statutory right - However, that right is also subject to law of limitation - In considering an application for condonation of delay, same considerations which weigh in an application filed for setting aside ex parte decree would equally weigh in consideration of an application filed for condonation of delay in filing an appeal under S. 96 CPC, for reasonable cause is common in both the situations - If present application of applicant is allowed, that would amount to ignoring the findings of this court in CRP (filed by applicant earlier which was dismissed) - By seeking condonation of huge delay of 1315 days, applicant is seeking to revive the stale claim - Undisputably, decree was executed and petitioner's property was sold - Condonation of delay and restoration of suit would unsettle things which have already been settled - Purporting to take a lenient approach, this court cannot allow such a result to ensue - Facts and circumstances of the case do not call for condonation of huge delay - Application fails and same is accordingly dismissed.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Challagulla Ratna Manikyam Vs. Boppana Seetharama Raju, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 230 = 2015(3) ALD 142.

—Sec.96 & Or.9, Rule 13 – Respondent's father filed suit before Junior Civil Judge against petitioner's father – As suit not contested ex parte decree passed – Subsequently petitioners filed suit before Senior Civil Judge when there was threat of dispossession by respondents - On coming to know of ex parte decree passed against their father petitioners filed appeal u/Sec.96 CPC - District Judge refusing to entertain appeal taking objection as to how appellants are 3rd parties when they are legal representatives of defendant's father in suit before Junior Civil Judge and petitioners/appellants have to state as to why steps are not taken to set aside ex parte decree and as to how appeal is maintainable when suit is pending before Senior Civil Judge in respect of same schedule property - Respondents contend that Court is perfectly justified in rejecting appeal as same filed beyond period of limitation and not supported by application for condonation of delay - Sec.96 CPC prescribes that an appeal shall lie from every decree and said provision does not prescribe as to at whose instance such appeal shall lie - However, it is fundamental in view of very nature of things that an appeal should lie only at instance of person who may be aggrieved by judgment sought to be appealed against - In this case, District Judge did not even number appeal and simply rejected same stating that it cannot be entertained for reason that it is not supported by application to condone delay as provided for under Rule 3A of Or.41 CPC – As appeal preferred by petitioners was simply rejected, and that appeal can as well be represented by petitioners with an application under Or.41, Rule 3A – CRP, allowed. Saddula Narasimha Vs. Sadula Tulasi Das 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 35 = 2009(1) ALD 616 = 2009(2) ALT 119.

—Sec.96 & Or.39 – Plaintiff filed suit for injunction to restrain defendants from interfering with peaceful possession and enjoyment of suit property – Appellant/defendant contends that first defendant is in possession of property – Trial Court dismissed suit, High Court allowed appeal holding that plaintiff No.1 proved her case in respect of suit property - High Court allowed appeal holding that respondent/plaintiff proved her case in respect of suit property – Appellant/defendant contends though many point were urged, primary stand was that in a suit for permanent injunction foundational fact which had to be established was possession and that plaintiff failed to prove his possession – No finding recorded by High Court regarding possession - High Court did not consider vital aspect of possession and did not record any finding regarding possession – Impugned judgment of High Court, set aside and matter remitted to High Court to formulate definite point relating to possession – Appeal, allowed. Sri Thimmaiah Vs. Shabira 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 182.

—Sec.100 -Second appeal - Appellant's-Taluq level stockist for Palmolein oil, premises was inspected and entire quantity of 186 barrels of Palmolein oil seized suspecting that he sold some quantity of oil to a trader and entrusted seized oil to 3rd party for safe custody - Sub-Collector decided to sell seized stock through PDS and having found shortage of 5,163 kgs, referred matter to District Collector who in turn passed orders directing recovery of Rs.55,458/- from appellant towards shortage - MRO issued order of attachment under Ex.A8. - Appellant filed suit challenging proceedings of MRO, contending that samples were drawn from seized stock and nothing incriminating found against him and that he cannot be held responsible for discrepancy - Trial Court decreed suit holding that shortage of stock if any had taken place when goods were in custody of respondents - Lower appellate Court reversed judgment and decree of trial Court - In this case, suit filed within few months from date of receipt of Ex.A8 and therefore plea of limitation raised by respondents is without any basis - It is not in dispute that no shortage of Palmolein oil noticed when 186 barrels seized from appellant - If any shortage is noticed, while stock is in hands of Department or any third party, dealer cannot be held responsible - Judgment and decree passed by lower appellate Court, set aside - Decree passed by trial Court shall hold good - Second appeal, allowed. S.Subramanyam Vs. A.P. State E.C. Corpn., Ltd. 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 138 = 2008(2) ALD 770.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.100 - Second appeal - Deceased/1st plaintiff filed suit against defendant seeking decree of permanent injunction restraining him from interfering with suit property - Defendant resisted on ground, description of property mentioned by plaintiffs in schedule attached to plaint is not correct, they do not have any right or interest in said property and hence they are not entitled for permanent injunction - Trial Court on careful analysis of evidence rejected contention urged by defendant that plaintiffs are unable to establish identity of schedule site, compared boundaries recited in documents relied upon by both parties such as Exs. A1, A2 and B1, B2 and held that for not mentioning survey number well established claim made by plaintiffs cannot be rejected and accordingly decreed suit granting permanent injunction against defendants following settled principle that boundaries would prevail over extent or survey numbers - Appellate Court being led by certain misconceived notions ignoring well settled principles relating to proof of certain facts in civil cases, unjustly reversed judgment rendered by trial Court - Though essential requirement for entertaining second appeal is involvement of substantial question of law, High Court while exercising its jurisdiction under Sec.100 CPC can interfere with findings of fact, if such findings recorded by trial Court are either not based on evidence on record or based on no evidence or perverse - Reasons assigned by 1st appellate Court for reversing judgment of trial Court must be adequate and they should be in accordance with settled principles of law - if such findings are totally misconceived and not in accordance with law they can be said to be perverse and required interference of High Court in second appeal - Trial Court rightly held that although town Survey registers are relevant they are not records of right and no title can be inferred on entries in said registers - 1st appellate Court took a contrary view on ground that very fact that name of D.K was not mentioned as owner of property and despite assertion made by plaintiff that mutation had been effected names of plaintiffs are not found in relevant registers, it cannot be said that DK purchased land under Ex.A.2 - Approach of 1st appellate Court brushing aside entire evidence adduced by plaintiffs in proof of their title and possession on ground that document does not indicate mutation of property in names of plaintiffs or their vendor is totally misconceived and it shows failure on part of 1st appellate Court to consider evidence as a whole for purpose of recording finding as to factum of possession and title - In instant case, there is highly reliable and convincing evidence adduced by plaintiffs in proof of their title in respect of schedule mention site - Law is well settled that if there is any inconsistency between boundaries on one side and survey numbers or extent on other, boundaries will prevail - 1st appellate Court reversed well considered judgment of trial Court in utter disregard of above said principle and took an erroneous view that plaintiff could not be able to establish identity of subject matter of suit - 1st appellate Court failed to assign any convincing reasons for reversing judgment of trial Court and when such reversal of findings is based on misconceived notions and contrary to well established principles, said findings arrived at by 1st appellate Court, can be considered as perverse and High Court can interfere with said findings in second appeal even though some of findings relating to fact - Decree and judgment passed by 1st appellate Court, set aside and decree and judgment of trial Court are confirmed - Second appeal, allowed. Rukmini Bai Alias Laxmi Bai Vs. K.Mohanlal 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 261 = 2011(4) ALD 537 = 2011(4) ALT 219.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec. 100 - According to averments in original plaint, plaintiff is pattedar, owner and possessor of land bearing Sy.Nos.334/A/1 and 334/A/2 totally admeasuring Ac.3.26 guntas situated at Munipally village - Plaintiff's name is recorded as pattedar and possessor of said land in all revenue records and he is presently cultivating said land from year 1998 and is enjoying the said plaint schedule land - Originally, one PKR was the pattedar of said plaint schedule land - Said land fell to his share during family settlement prior to 1998 and property was mutated in his name in all revenue records - In year 1998, said PKR had offered to sell said suit land to plaintiff on account of his family and personal necessities - On 6.02.1998, plaintiff had purchased Ac.1.33 guntas for a consideration of Rs.37,500/- under a registered sale deed - Again, plaintiff had purchased remaining extent of Ac.1.33 guntas for a consideration of Rs.42,000/- under a registered sale deed dated 12.03.1999 - From dates of said purchases, plaintiff is in peaceful possession and enjoyment of said respective extents of plaint schedule property - Plaintiff is having pattadar passbook, title deed book and also title deed of original pattedar with him - Same are filed into Court - Copies of pahanies for years 1998-99, 2000-01, 2001-02 and 2002-03, copy of chowfasla for years 2000-01 to 2002-03 and encumbrance certificate also support the case of plaintiff in regard to title and possession over plaint schedule lands - 1st defendant is brother of the said PKR, original pattedar - 1 st defendant came to suit land with support of 2 nd defendant on 12.10.2003 and had tried to damage standing chilli and red gram crops in the plaint schedule land and had further tried to interfere with peaceful possession and enjoyment of plaintiff over said lands - Plaintiff had managed to resist acts of defendants and managed to send them away with help of his well wishers - Defendants while going away had openly declared that they will come again in future with full force - Therefore, plaintiff apprehends danger to his possession over suit land - Defendants are strangers and they have no right or interest whatsoever in plaint schedule lands - 1 st defendant, in fact, had executed a declaration that he is in no way concerned with suit land as it fell to share of his brother PKR - Hence, suit is filed for perpetual injunction - On merits, trial Court had dismissed suit of plaintiff - As already noted, Court below, while reversing the decree and judgment of trial Court and allowing the first appeal of plaintiff had decreed suit of plaintiff - Therefore, aggrieved 2nd defendant had preferred this appeal - Held, when there is no whisper in pleadings that 1 st defendant had relinquished his rights in his half share in favour of his brother PKR and when said PKR (PW4) does not speak about any such relinquishment in his favour, the plaintiff is liable to be non-suited as evidence brought on record would lay bare that PKR had no right to execute any sale deed in respect of the half share of his brother in plaint schedule property - Law is well settled that when the findings of the court below are manifestly unreasonable or unjust in the context of the facts and evidence on record, this court is obliged under law to set aside such erroneous findings to remedy the injustice - Law is also well settled that he who comes to equity must do equity and that he who comes to Court with unclean hands and suppresses material facts and takes inconsistent stands and prevaricates and fails to establish pleaded case and lawful possession, which is a sine qua non, is not entitled to equitable relief of perpetual injunction - Having regard to reasons, this Court finds that there is merit in second appeal - Accordingly, substantial questions of law are answered holding that Court below had committed a grave error in reversing well considered decree and judgment of trial court and in decreeing suit of plaintiff - Viewed thus, this Court finds decree and judgment of court below brook interference and that therefore, this second appeal deserves to be allowed - In result, Second Appeal is allowed and decree and judgment of court below are set aside and decree and judgment of trial Court dismissing suit of plaintiff are restored. Akula Sangappa Vs. Bandam Siddappa 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 427.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.100 - Based on oral and documentary evidence, both the Courts below have recorded concurrent findings of fact that plaintiffs have established their rights in 'A' schedule property – In light of concurrent findings of facts, no substantial question of law arose in High Court, and there was no substantial ground for re-appreciation of evidence – High Court proceeded to observe that 1st plaintiff has earmarked 'A' schedule property for road and that she could not have full fledged right and on that premises proceeded to hold that declaration to plaintiff's rights cannot be granted - In exercise of jurisdiction u/Sec.100 of C.P.C. concurrent finding of fact cannot be upset by High Court unless the findings so recorded are shown to be perverse – This court considered that High Court did not keep in view that concurrent findings recorded by Courts below, are based on oral and documentary evidence and the Judgment of High Court cannot be sustained - Hence, appeal is allowed, impugned Judgment of High Court is set aside, and Judgments and Decree passed by Courts below restored. Laxmidevamma Vs. Ranganath 2015(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 26 = 2015(3) ALD 122 (SC) = 2015 AIR SCW 1030.

—Sec.100 and CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.12 - "Second appeal" - Respondent and her minor son /Plaintiffs filed suit stating that first plaintiff's husband and father of second plaintiff purchased Indira Vikaspatras (IVPs) for certain amount with a maturity value of certain amount – After 5 years from date of purchase and first plaintiff came to know from the dairy left by deceased husband, details of IVPs purchased by him – When IVPs found missing she sent reports appellants/ defendants and filed suit against appellants for obtaining necessary declaration about ownership of subject IVPs as directed by second defendant - Appellants/Defendants filed written statement stating that there is ambiguity with regard to purchase of IVPs by first plaintiffs husband and that IVPs will not contain names and particulars of purchaser except stamp of issued post office and the Department has no right to issue duplicate IVPS in any case and as per IVP rules amount will be paid only to presentee of original IVPS and that mere furnishing of serial numbers of IVPs at their value will not entitle plaintiffs to encash IVPs without presentation of same – Trial court decreed suit – Lower Appellate court confirmed the judgment and the decree of Trial court observing that instead of refusing to pay proceeds to plaintiffs, Defendants could have paid same by obtaining indemnity bond from them as a precautionary measure – Hence present appeal filed by the defendants - In this matter, only defence put forth by appellants in suit was that unless the original IVPs produced, scheme does not permit payment of money to plaintiff - A genuine Subscriber to scheme cannot be made to suffer on account of ambiguity in scheme – Scheme must provide for alternative in regard to payment in event subscriber or persons claiming through him are unable to produce the original IVPs – Generally in such exigencies indemnity bonds are executed by the claimants if there is – Genuine apprehension that finder of document under which claim is made, may make a claim for payment at a later date and nothing prevents Department from issuing public notice inviting objections or claims made by persons such as Plaintiffs - If Scheme does not envisage such procedure such a scheme has to be necessarily termed as wholly 'Arbitary' or 'Irrational' – Central Government cannot be allowed to make wrongful gain of money subscribed by private persons by floating equivocal and ambiguous such as present one – Stand taken by appellants militates against doctrine of fairness in action by state - There is no illegality in judgment and decree passed by trial Court and as confirmed by lower appellate Court – Second Appeal dismissed. Post Master, Chirala Head Post Office Vs.V.Satya Phani Vardhini 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 133 = 2014(4) ALD 488 = 2014(4) ALT 309.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.100 and EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.112 - HINDU MARRIAGE ACT, Secs.5 & 16 - Second appeal - Presumption of legitimacy - Trial Court as well as first appellate Court recorded categorical finding of fact that 1st defendant married to AR who was alive on date of institution of suit, and therefore, question of marriage by presumption between 1st defendant and another MR would not arise - High Court can interfere with finding of fact while deciding appeal provided findings are recorded by Courts below are perverse - PRESUMPTION OF LEGITIMACY - Sec.16 of Hindu Marriage Act is not ultra vires of constitution of India - Illegitimate children, for all practical purposes, including succession to properties of their parents, have to be treated as legitimate - They cannot however, succeed to properties of any other relation on basis of this role, which in its operation, is limited to properties of parents - Children of void marriage are legitimate - Children of deceased Hindu employee born out of void marriage are entitled to share in family pension, death-cum-retrial benefits and gratuity - In this case, evidently deceased MR did not partition his joint family properties and died issueless and intestate - Therefore, question of inheritance of coparcenary property by illegitimate children, who were born out of live-in-relationship, could not arise - Judgment of High Court liable to be set aside only on this sole ground - Appeal, allowed. Bharatha Matha Vs. R.Vijay Renganathan 2010(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 15 = 2010(4) ALD 152 (SC) = 2010 AIR SCW 3503 = AIR 2010 SC 2685.

—Sec.100 - LAND ACQUISITION ACT, Sec.18 - Determination of compensation - It is not an absolute rule that when acqired land is a large tract of land, sale instances relating to smaller pieces of land cannot be considered - There are certain circumstances when sale deeds of small pieces of land can be used to determine value of acquired land which are comparetely large in area. Special Land Acquisition Officer Vs. M.K. Rafiq Saheb, 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 15 —- Sec.100 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.65 - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit for declaration and for recovery of possession basing on registered sale deed, purchased from hereditary trustee of temple - Defendant resisted suit on ground that one "X" occupied property, in 1960 and sold him under agreement of sale and that his predecessor-in-interest was in open, continuous and uninterrupted possession since 1960 and that after his purchase he also continued in possession till filing of suit and has perfected his title by adverse possession - On all issues Trial Court held in favour of defendant and against plaintiff - Judgment of trial Court affirmed in appeal by lower appellate Court - Appellant contends that both Court below have committed serious error of law in holding that defendant has perfected title by adverse possession - Since plea of adverse possession lacks morality, defendant not entitled to any indulgence - ADVERSE POSSESSION - Aspect of adverse possession is a mixed question of fact and law because when owner establishes his title, his claim is defeated on plea of adverse possession set up by defendant under Art.65 of Limitation Act - Law is well settled that a party claiming adverse possession must prove that his possession is "necvi, nec clam, nec pracario" i.e., peaceful, open and continuous - Apex Court observed that a person pleading adverse possession has no equities in his favour since he is trying to defeat rights of true owner - In this case, defendant on basis of evidence failed to discharge burden placed on him by law that he had perfected his title by adverse possession - Both Courts below have committed a serious error of law in dismissing suit - Suit decreed as prayed for with costs - Judgments under appeal, set aside - Second appeal, allowed. Gundu Parvathamma Vs. Penubarthi Sreenivasulu, 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 451.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.100 & 96, Or.1, Rule 1 and 13 - "Mis-joinder" and "non-joinder of necessary party" - Suit for partition filed by plaintiff who is son of defendants 1 & 7 and brother of defendants 2 to 6 claiming that they constituted joint Hindu family of which 1st defendant was Kartha and that plaint schedule properties have been purchased in name of D1 and entire family was enjoying properties - Defendants contend that plaintiff was never in joint possession of any property and that plaintiff not entitled to any share - Trial Court dismissed suit holding suit is bad for non-joinder of necessary parties, daughters of D1 - 1st appellate Court, set aside judgment and decree of trial Court and passed preliminary decree and for partition of suit properties into 8 equal shares and allot one share to plaintiff - Second appeals were admitted by High Court on substantial question of law "whether LRs of of 7th defendant can be impleaded at appellate stage who died pending suit and whether it will cure defect or not and whether order impleading them as LRs without there being any finding as to delay condonation at appellate stage is proper or not" - Substantial question of law framed by High Court, while admitting second appeals, is concerning impact of impleading daughters of defendants 1 and 7 at appellate stage on curing any defect in institution of suit - Following decisions of Privy Council and Supreme Court apart from decision of Full Bench of High Court defect of non-joinder of necessary parties cannot be cured by impleading them in appeal and is fatal to suit for partition - Therefore substantial question of law formulated at time of admission of second appeals is answered that impleading daughters of defendants 1 & 7 as legal representatives as 7th defendant, mother, in first appeal will not cure fatal defect in suit - Second appeal No. 888 of 2004 has to be allowed. Jahangiji Vs. K.Kumar, 2012(1) Law Summary 125 = 2012(2) ALD 406 = 2012(4) ALT 253.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Sec.100 and Sec.96 r/w Or.41, Rules 30,31 & 33 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.41(h) - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.53-A – "Adverse possession" - Plaintiff filed the suit initially for perpetual injunction restraining the defendants and their men from ever interfering with his possession and enjoyment of the schedule property and later he converted the suit into a declaratory suit claiming declaration of title over suit schedule property - Plaintiff contended that he purchased land admeasuring Ac.3.09 cents S.B. for consideration of Rs.4,000/- and since then plaintiff is in continuous possession and enjoyment of suit schedule property - Plaintiff mortgaged property in favour of Cooperative Agricultural Development Bank and obtained agricultural loan and he has been paying land revenue to department since date of purchase - Unregistered Sale Deed is not traced despite exercising due diligence and efforts of plaintiff became invain to trace document and therefore, plaintiff relied on secondary evidence to substantiate his contention - It is contended that plaintiff also perfected his title by adverse possession.

Defendant No.1 remained ex- parte. Defendant No.2 filed Written Statement contending that the alleged purchase by the plaintiff under unregistered Sale Deed is neither true nor valid and it was never executed by late S.B. during his life time and that the plaintiff was never in possession and enjoyment of the suit schedule property and that the claim of the plaintiff is barred by limitation.

When Defendant No.2 approached the bank for loan, the Agricultural Development Bank advised him to obtain a registered Sale Deed, accordingly, he obtained Sale deed No.1083/93, dt. 29.07.1993 from D.1, the pattadar of the land - Thus, D.2 perfected his title by adverse possession as he is in continuous possession and enjoyment of the schedule property without any interruption to the knowledge of the plaintiff and therefore, the plaintiff is not entitled to claim any right in the schedule property and finally prayed for dismissal of the suit.

Upon hearing argument of both counsels, the trial Court dismissed the suit holding that the plaintiff is not entitled to claim declaratory relief as well as permanent injunction restraining the defendants from ever interfering with the peaceful possession and enjoyment of the schedule property - The plaintiff being aggrieved by the decree and judgment of the trial Court, preferred first appeal before Senior Civil Judge and the same was allowed by the Appellate Court, reversing the findings of the trial Court by its decree and judgment dt. 31.10.2003 and thereby declared that the plaintiff is the owner of the schedule property of an extent of Ac.3.09 guntas.

Aggrieved by the decree and judgment of the appellate Court, the present Second Appeal is filed raising several contentions by the defendants being unsuccessful before the appellate Court - The appellants/defendants formulated several substantial question of law and this Court by decree and judgment allowed the appeal setting aside the decree and judgment of the appellate Court restoring the decree passed by the trial Court in - Later, the matter was carried to Supreme Court by the unsuccessful plaintiff before this Court, but the Apex Court set aside the decree and judgment of this Court in the second appeal.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, In the present case, there is absolutely no pleading and evidence as to when the adverse possession commenced and the possession is ripened into adverse possession - Therefore, the trial Court after appraising entire evidence concluded that the plaintiff is not entitled to claim hostile title by adverse possession - But, the appellate Court reversed the finding of the trial Court without assigning specific reasons to disagree with the findings recorded by the trial Court and even without looking into the requirements to constitute adverse possession, referred to supra, while exercising power under Section 96 of CPC by the Appellate Court - The Appellate Court has to re-appraise entire evidence with reference to law since the first appellate Court is a final Court of fact and record an independent conclusion assigning specific reasons as to why the appellate Court is disagreeing with the findings recorded by the trial Court, but the judgment of first Appellate Court is bereft of any reasoning and thereby, the findings of the appellate Court stands to any legal scrutiny as it is in contravention of Section 96 r/w Order 41 Rules 30, 31 and 33 CPC - Therefore, the findings of first appellate Court are perverse on the face of the record since its findings are not based on pleadings and evidence in support of it and it is contrary to the law laid down by the Apex Court in various judgments referred supra - Hence, trial Court that the judgment of the Appellate Court is perverse and the same is liable to be set aside - Accordingly, the substantial question of law is answered against the plaintiff and in favour of the defendants.

The plaintiff also claimed permanent injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with his peaceful possession and enjoyment of the property - Undisputedly, father of the 1st defendant is the owner of the property, after his death the 1st defendant became the owner, from whom the other defendants purchased the property - Plaintiff did not seek relief of Specific performance, though he allegedly purchased the same under unregistered sale deed, but he filed the suit for declaration based on alleged unregistered sale deed and permanent injunction.

According to Section 41 (h) of the Specific Relief Act, when equally efficacious remedy is available to the plaintiff, the plaintiff is disentitled to claim permanent injunction - In the present facts of the case, equally efficacious remedy available to the plaintiff is to seek specific performance, in such case he is not entitled to claim permanent injunction, apart from Section 41 (h), when the plaintiff has no personal interest in the property in view of the bar under Section 41 (j) of Specific Relief Act the plaintiff is not entitled to equitable relief of injunction.

Yet the other contention of the plaintiff is that he is in continuous possession and enjoyment of the property and thereby entitled to protection under Section 53-A of Transfer of Property Act - No doubt, if the plaintiff is in possession and enjoyment of the property being the purchaser under a written agreement of sale subject to satisfying the other conditions to claim benefit under Section 53-A of Transfer of Property Act, he is entitled to protect his possession by invoking Section 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act, but it cannot be used to claim permanent injunction. Moreover, the unregistered sale deed (in writing) was not produced by the plaintiff to invoke protection under Section 53-A of Transfer of Property Act.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Therefore, the plaintiff is not entitled to claim permanent injunction against the defendants in view of the bar under Section 41 (h) and (j) of the Specific Relief Act, so also in view of the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the judgment referred supra. Accordingly, the substantial question of law is answered. Meenugu Mallaiah Vs. Ananthula Mallaiah 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 438.

—Secs.100,114 & Or.47 - Second Appeal - "Non-formulation of substantial question of law" - Review - Suit for permanent injunction - Trial Court decreed suit - 1st appellate Court by overlooking established principles governing burden of proof in civil cases and also construction of documents, reversed well considered judgment passed by trial Court without any basis - High Court held in second appeal that judgment rendered by 1st appellate Court is contrary to evidence on record and also contrary to settled legal principles and also emphatically held by going through entire evidence on record that approach adopted by 1st appellate Court is misconceived and its findings are contrary to evidence on record and its judgment is totally perverse - Hence petitioner defendant filed present review - Review petitioner/defendant contends that no substantial question of law has been formulated by High Court and without formulating substantial question of law, arguments were heard in second appeal and this amounts to error apparent on face of record attracting provisions of Sec.114 and Or.47 of CPC - Respondents/plaintiffs contend in their counter affidavit that review petition filed by defendant u/Sec.114 and Or.47 of CPC is not maintainable, since High Court had already given a specific finding in its judgment in second appeal on issues raised in grounds of review and they cannot be re-agitated - Sec.100 of CPC laysdown that 2nd appeal is maintainable only when substantial question of law is involved for consideration in second appeal - Therefore existence of substantial question of law for consideration is sine qua non for maintaining second appeal - Review petitioner further contends that even grounds raised in second appeal consists substantial question of law unless substantial question of law as required u/Sec.100 is formulated by High Court before hearing parties it is an error apparent on face of record and judgment rendered by High Court without specifically formulating substantial question of law is liable to be set aside under review jurisdiction - Respondent/plaintiff contends that grounds raised in second appeal which are part of memorandum of grounds of appeal clearly demonstrate existence of substantial question of law which are to effect judgment rendered by 1st appellate Court is in utter ignorance of evidence on record, settled legal principles of governing appreciation of evidence and burden of proof and they are in substance nothing but holding judgment rendered by 1st appellate Court is perverse which requires interference in second appeal - Unless non-framing of substantial question of law specifically amounts to error apparent on face of record and unless judgment of High Court results in prejudice to review petitioner, or if judgment of High Court, if allowed to stand will lead to failure of justice, review of judgment need not be under taken by High Court - Power of review is different from that of appellate power - Under appellate power appellate Court can correct all errors of subordinate

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Court - But under review jurisdiction, only if error or mistake is apparent on face of record and only it causes prejudice to opposite party then only Court would undertake review of judgment - Even if judgment is rendered by Court is erroneous or incorrect, matter cannot be re-heard under guise of review jurisdiction - Therefore party is not permitted to contend in a review petition that order or judgment requires review since it is erroneous - Object of review is not to make Court to write a second judgment, but only to correct a mistake or error which is apparent on face of record - If review petitioner thinks that judgment of High Court is incorrect, he can only file an appeal against judgment of High Court, but cannot seek review of judgment and ask Court to re-write judgment - FORMULATION OF SUBSTANTIAL QUESTION OF LAW - Idea underlying requirement of formulating substantial question of law before hearing second appeal is aimed to curtail protraction of litigation on unnecessary, flimsy and vexatious grounds - It is also object of law that litigant shall not be allowed to agitate on same issue again and again in different forums - It is therefore obvious that on mere technical ground that a substantial question of law had not been specifically formulated by High Court before hearing second appeal, judgment rendered by High Court shall not be necessarily set aside on that count alone - Party can urge to set aside said judgment only if he is able to show that non-formulating substantial question of law occasioned in prejudice to him - Non-formulating substantial question of law does not invariably result injustice to party - In this case, absolutely no prejudice has been caused to review petitioner - Review petition, dismissed. K.Mohan Lal Vs. Rukmini Bai Alias Laxmi Bai, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 175 = 2012(4) ALD 587 = 2012(4) ALT 539.

—Sec.100 & Or.17, Rule 1 - "Second appeal" - Adjournments - 1st respondent/plaintiff filed suit for declaration, mandatory injunction and other reliefs - Trial Court dismissed suit - District Judge dismissed appeal - Being not satisfied with concurrent judgments of two Court below, plaintiff preferred second appeal before High Court which has been allowed by single Judge and suit has been remanded to trial Court for fresh decision in accordance with law - Unfortunately High Court failed to keep in view constrainsts of 2nd appeal and over looked requirement of 2nd appellate jurisdiction as provided in Sec.100 and that vitiates its decision - High Court upset concurrent judgment and decree of two Court on misplaced sympathy and non-existent justification - High Court was clearly in error in giving plaintiff an opportunity to produce evidence when no justification for that course existend - ADJOURNMENTS - No litigant has right to abuse procedure provided in CPC - Adjournments have grown like cancer corroding entire body of justice delivery system - It is true that cap on adjournments to a party during hearing of suit provided in proviso to Or.17, Rule 1 CPC is not mandatory and in a suitable case on justifiable cause, Court may grant more than three adjournments to a party for its evidence but ordinarily cap provided in proviso to Or.17, Rule 1 should be maintained - "Sufficient cause" as contemplated in sub-Rule 1 of Or.17, CPC, but a cause which makes the request for adjournment by a party during hearing of suit beyond three adjournments unavoidable and sort of a compelling necessity like sudden illness of litigant or witness or lawyer; death in family of any one of them; natural calamity like floods, earthquakes etc. - However absence of lawyer or his non-availability because of professional work in other Court or elsewhere or on ground of strike call or change of lawyer or continuous illness of lawyer or similar grounds will not justify more than three adjournments to a party during hearing of suit - If despite three opportunities no evidence was let in by plaintiff, it deserved no sympathy in second appeal in exercise of power u/Sec.100 CPC - High Court was clearly in error in giving plaintiff an opportunity to produce evidence when no justification for that Course existed - Judgment and order of High Court, set aside - Appeal, allowed. M/s. Shiv Coltex Vs. Tirgun Auto Plast P. Ltd., 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 192 = 2012(1) ALD8 (SC) = 2011 AIR SCW 5789.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.100 and Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Plaintiff filed suit for injunction contending that suit properties are his self acquired properties and he alone is in possession and enjoyment of same - 1st defendant contends that suit properties are joint family properties of plaintiff, himself and other family members - Trial Court decreed suit - Lower appellate Court reversed judgment and decree of trial Court and dismissed suit, holding that suit properties were acquired by plaintiff from out of ancestral nucleus and thus they became ancestral properties as well as joint family properties and that plaintiff and 1st defendant constitute, coparceners - Appellants/plaintiffs contend that burden is on 1st defendant to prove that there is sufficient nucleus from out of which suit properties were purchased and only after discharge of said burden it shifts on plaintiffs to prove that properties are self acquired properties and that lower appellate Court erroneously placed burden on plaintiff and as 1st defendant failed to discharge his burden in showing that there was sufficient nucleus, it has to be held that property is self acquired property - In present case, no evidence is forthcoming to show that plaintiff had any independent and separate income and evidence clinchingly establishes that there was sufficient joint family nucleus and it can safely be presumed that properties acquired by plaintiff in his name, were with income from joint family properties - Since trial Court not considered overwhelming evidence available on record and recorded a perverse finding, lower appellate Court rightly set aside same and recorded finding of fact in this regard - Hence, finding of lower appellate Court – Justified - Plaintiff failed to produce any evidence to show that he is in possession of suit properties - Hence lower appellate Court reversed judgment of trial Court, and rightly dismissed suit for injunction - Since these being findings of fact based on evidence, cannot be interfered with in second appeal - Second appeal, dismissed. Ravada Yerranna Vs. Ravada Thammunaidu(Died) per L.Rs 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 117 = 2008(4) ALD 59 = 2008(3) ALT 468.

—Sec.100 and Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit for permanent injunction restraining defendants from interfering with her peaceful possession and enjoyment of suit land, contending that late P.S bequeathed suit property to plaintiff under Ex.A.1 unregistered Will, dt:20-2-1991 - Defendants resisted contending that late P.S. executed

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Ex.X11 Will dated: 27-7-1987 bequeathing suit property in favour of D1 and deposited said Will in sealed cover with registration Authorities to be opened after her death - Trial Court decreed suit granting permanent injunction in favour of plaintiff - On Appeal by defendants lower Appellate Court came to conclusion that plaintiff should have filed a suit for declaration of title and disposed of appeal by giving three months time to plaintiff to file comprehensive suit for declaration of title and permanent injunction and while disposing of appeal, lower appellate Court limited injunction in favour of plaintiff for period of three months - Questioning same, some legal representatives of deceased plaintiff filed present second Appeal - Appellants contend that finding as to genuineness of Wills is not disturbed by lower appellate Court is not correct because lower appellate Court did not consider evidence relating to genuineness of respective Wills and as to title to suit property and lower Appellate Court left that question to be open for being determined in comprehensive suit to be filed by plaintiff for declaration of his title for suit property and for consequential permanent injunction in his favour - Therefore even without determining as to who out of two parties is true owner of suit land, appeal was disposed of by lower appellate Court - Therefore this is not a decree by lower appellate Court of granting permanent injunction for only limited period - Even protection of possession of plaintiff of suit land for period of three months by lower appellate Court is by way of grace and not as a matter of right of plaintiff and it will not clothe plaintiff with right to continue to have permanent injunction in her favour for ever, without determination of respective titles of both parties for suit land - Respondents contend that there cannot be any dispute as to genuineness of Ex.X-11 in favour of 1st defendant - Since it was a Will deposited by deceased herself with registering authorities during her life time and since said Will Ex.X-11 was referred to in Ex.A.1 unregistrered Will being relied upon by plaintiff - When there is no definite finding as to title on basis of respective Will relied upon by both parties, it cannot be said that plaintiff is entitled for permanent injunction as against defendants - Where a plaintiff is in lawful or peaceful possession of property and such possession is interfered or threatened by defendant, a suit for an injunction simpliciter will lie - A person has right to protect his possession against any person who does not prove a better title by seeking a prohibitory injunction - But a person in wrongful possession is not entitled to an injunction against rightful owner - Where title of plaintiff is under cloud or in dispute and he is not in possession or not able to establish possession, necessarily plaintiff will have to file a suit for declaration, possession and injunction - In light of pronouncement of Supreme Court and in light of facts of this case, which caste cloud on plaintiff's title to suit property, it is all more necessary for plaintiff to have filed suit for declaration of title - Apart from casting of cloud on plaintiff's title, in this case, there are respective claims for title for suit property by both parties resulting in scramble for title as possession of suit land - Lower Appellate Court is justified in law in directing plaintiff to file suit for declaration of title before claiming relief of permanent injunction, inspite of plaintiff being in possession of suit property by date of filing suit in trial Court - Second Appeal, dismissed. Vegendla Vijayalakshmi Vs. Gaddipati Naga Himabindu 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 128.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.100 & Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - A.P. CHARITABLE AND HINDU RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS AND ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1987, Sec.151 & 84(2) - Plaintiffs/appellants instituted suit for injunction simplicitor against defendants claiming that they are owners of suit schedule land - Defendants contend that suit schedule property belongs to Devasthanam and 1st defendant Trustee and Archaka of temple is in possession of property and cultivating it by engaging hired labour and derived income being used for Deity - Trial Court considering entire evidence allowed suit and granted a decree for simple injunction - 1st appellate Court reversed fining of trial Court and dismissed suit filed by plaintiffs - Hence present second appeal - In this case, main contention of respondents/defendants from beginning is that 1st appellant/plaintiff was village munsiff and subsequently he became EAO and manipulated entire record and documents filed by plaintiffs are fabricated documents and no reliance can be placed on them - From evidence adduced by both parties it is clear that suit lands in fact belong to Deity of village - Though both Courts below after appreciating evidence on record found that plaintiffs are in possession of suit lands, 1st appellate Court reversed decree and judgment of trial Court on ground that plaintiffs suppressed material fact that suit lands belong to temple and that plaintiffs set up title in themselves but failed to prove same and that 1st appellate Court also expressed view that without seeking relief of declaration of title appellants/plaintiffs cannot maintain suit for simple injunction - Appellant/plaintiff contends where allegation of plaintiff is that he is in lawful possession of properties and his possession is threatened to be interfered with by defendants he is entitled to file suit for mere injunction without adding prayer for declaration of his rights and that it is not necessary for person claiming injunction to prove his title to suit land and it would suffice if he proves that he was in lawful possession of same and his possession was invaded or threatened to be invaded by person who had no title whatever.In this case, plaintiffs case is not specific as to cause of intervention of defendants over their possession in suit land and plaintiffs conveniently pleaded that property is their ancestral property and respondents are interfering with their possession and enjoyment - Plaintiffs purposefully suppressed material fact namely that suit land belongs to Deity and therefore plaintiffs are not entitled for equitable relief of injunction on account of suppression of material facts and they cannot file suit for bare injunction without relief of declaration of title - In strict sense, no substantial question of law is involved in second appeal which is sine qua non for maintaining second appeal u/Sec.100 CPC - Decree and judgment of first appellate Court - Justified - Second appeal, dismissed. Attada Gangu Naidu Vs. Deepala Chandra Mouli 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 33 = 2011(5) ALD 770 = 2011(6) ALT 585.

—Sec.100(5), proviso - SECOND APPEAL - SUBSTANTIAL QUESTION OF LAW - In this case, it appears from the judgment that no substantial question of law was formulated at time of admission of appeal and as such question was understood to be regarding correctness of judgments of lower courts – If any such lapse is adhering to procedure existed at second appellate stage, counsel for parties should have pointed out same at that stage only but they never did so and moreover it is clear that High Court basically framed substantial question of law and answered it – Appellants are given opportunity to answer same - As such no prejudices caused to appellants – Substantial question of law can be formulated even at time of argument stage - Appeals dismissed. Arsad Sk. Vs.Bani Prosanna Kundu, 2014(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 23 = 2014(5) ALD 80 (SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 2631.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.114 - Review - Contention of counsel for respondents in Review petitions that Review petitioner had prayed for the dismissal of the suit O.S. No. 4 of 1999 filed by plaintiff therein and therefore she stopped by conduct from now filing the Review petition is equally untenable - It is a matter of record that Review petitioner, who is 2nd defendant in O.S.No.4 of 1999, remained ex parte and had not filed any written statement praying for dismissal of suit filed by plaintiff - Therefore, there is no question of estoppels of the Review petitioner for filing these Review petitions.

Non-consideration of conse-quences of the death of plaintiff by this court at time when it delivered judgment in appeals, even though said point was admittedly raised at time of hearing of arguments in appeals by counsel for the Review petitioner, was on account of oversight by this court; and since it is a failure to deal with an important issue as to devolution of the share of plaintiff on parties to the appeals under a misconception that he was still alive, it is clearly an error apparent on the face of record warranting Review of common judgment rendered in the appeals - Therefore, Review applications both deserve to be allowed. Agina Varamma Vs. Agina Chandramouli (died) 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 40 = 2015(5) ALD 108 = 2015(3) ALT 610.

—Secs.114 & 151 & Or.7, Rule 7 and Or.41, Rules 1 & 33 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.16(c) - "Jurisdiction Court to review its own order" - Suit filed for specific performance - District Court passed decree - High Court allowed appeals, and set aside judgment of trial Court - On remand, Single Judge while allowing review petitions recalled its earlier judgment and order and directed appeal to be listed for re-hearing - Review Court does not sit in appeal over its own order - A re-hearing of matter is impermissible in law - It constitutes an exception to general rule that once a judgment is signed or pronounced it should not be altered - It is also trite that exercise of inherent jurisdiction is not invoked for reviewing any order - Power of review can be exercised for correction of mistake and not to substitute a view - Such powers can be exercised within limits of statute dealing with exercise of power - Review cannot be treated an appeal in disguise - Discretionary relief of specific performance of contract can be granted only in event of plaintiff not only makes necessary pleadings but also establishes that he had all along been ready and willing to perform his part of contract - Such readiness and willingness on part of plaintiff is not confined only to stage of filing of plaint but also at subsequent stage, viz., at hearing - An appeal is continuation of suit and any decision taken by appellate Court would relate back unless a contrary intention is shown to date of institution of suit - Appellate Court while exercising its appellate jurisdiction would be entitled to taken into consideration subsequent events for purpose of moulding relief as envisaged under Or.7, Rule 7 r/w Or.41, Rule 33 of CPC - Or.47, Rule 1 of CPC does not preclude High Court or a Court to take into consideration any subsequent event - If importing of justice in a given situation is goal of judiciary, Court may take into consideration subsequent events - Impugned judgments - Unsustainable - Appeal, allowed. Inder Chand Jain (D)through L.Rs Vs.Motila(D)through L.Rs. 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 16.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.114, Or.47, Rule 1 - "Review" - Govt. filed writ petition against order of Administrative Tribunal in O.A filed by petitioner - Petitioner filed review of order in writ petition - Normal principle of law is that once judgment is pronounced or order is made, Court ceases to have control over matter - But in certain circumstances Court may reopen its judgment if a manifest wrong is done and it is necessary to pass an order to do full and effective justice - REVIEW; Following principles culled out for review:

1. On the discovery of new and important matter or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence is not within the knowledge or could not be produced by the petitioner at the time when the order was made. (2). It can be exercised on account of some mistake or error apparent on the face of record. (3). To correct the patent error of law or fact which stares in the face. (4). The expression "any other sufficient reason" appearing in order XLVII Rule 1 CPC has to be interpreted in the light of other specified grounds. (5). An erroneous order/judgment can not be corrected in the guise of exercise of power of review. (6). There is a clear distinction between an erroneous decision and an error apparent on the face of record. While the former can be corrected by the higher forum, the latter only can be corrected under Order XLVII Rule 1 CPC. (7). While exercising the power of review, the court cannot sit in appeal over its judgment. (8). The term "mistake or error apparent" by its very connotation signifies an error which is evident per se from the record of the case and does not require detailed examination, scrutiny and elucidation either of the facts of the legal position - While exercising powers under Or.42, Rule 1 CPC Court has to see whether there is any error apparent on face of record or not - There is no need to give any further direction - In this case there is no error on face of record so as to review judgment - Review WPMP, dismissed.Tadipathi Laxma Reddy Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 191.

—Sec.114 - Or.47, Rule 1 and Or.7, Rule 7 and Or.41, Rules 1 & 33 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.16(c) - Agreement entered into by between parties - Suit for specific performance filed by respondent,decreed - High Court allowed appeal and set aside order of trial Court - Petitions filed by both parties seeking review of judgment, allowed by High Court - CPC, SEC.114 & OR.47, RULE 1 - JURISDICTION AND POWER OF CIVIL COURT TO REVIEW ITS JUDGMENT/DECISION - Application for review would lie inter alia

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

when order suffers from an error apparent on face of record and permitting same to continue would lead to failure of justice - Power of review can be exercised for correction of a mistake and not substitute a view - Such powers can be exercised within limits of statute dealing with exercise of power - Review cannot be treated an appeal in disguise - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.16(c) - Provision mandates that discretionary relief of specific performance of contract can be granted only in event plaintiff not only makes necessary pleadings but also establishes that he had all along been ready and willing to perform his part of contract - Such readiness and willingness on part of plaintiff is not confined only to stage of filing of plaint but also at subsequent stage viz., at hearing - SUBSEQUENT EVENTS - There cannot be any doubt that appellate Court while exercising its appellate jurisdiction would be entitled to take into consideration subsequent events for purpose of moulding relief was envisaged under Or.7, Rule 7 r/w Or.41, Rule 33 CPC - Or.41, Rule 1 CPC stipulates that filing of appeal would not amount to automatic stay of execution of decree - Law acknowledges that during pendency of appeal it is possible for decree holder to get decree executed - Execution of decree during pendency of appeal would, thus, be subject to restitution of property in event appeal is allowed and decree is set aside - Procedure does not preclude High Court or a Court to take into consideration any subsequent event - If imparting of justice in a given situation is goal of judiciary, Court may take into consideration (of course on rare occasions) subsequent events - Impugned judgment, set aside - Appeal, allowed.Inderchand Jain (D) through L.Rs. Vs. Motilal (D) through L.Rs. 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 24.

—Sec.115 - Respondent herein instituted O.S.No.15 of 2008, on file of Court of District Judge, against petitioner herein for specific performance of agreement of sale, dated 05-03-2007 in respect of lands, admeasuring Ac.2-16 gts., in Sy.No.115/A and Ac.4-00 gts., in Sy.No.161/B - Learned Judge decreed said suit on 31-03-2010 - Thereafter, decree holder filed E.P.No.2 of 2011 for enforcement of decree on 09-11-2010. A.S.No.2 of 2011 filed by defendants/ petitioners herein against decree in O.S.No.15 of 2008 before this Court was dismissed on 15-04- 2013 - Decree holder/ respondent herein filed E.A.No.62 of 2013 under Order 26 Rule 9 of Code of Civil Procedure for appointment of an Advocate Commissioner to identify land under E.P. with survey numbers and village map in consonance with boundary map of E.P. Schedule with assistance of Mandal Surveyor - By way of an order, dated 31-12-2013 Commissioner was appointed and same is the subject matter of challenge in C.R.P.(SR) No.23826 of 2014 - Commissioner so appointed filed a report on 10-06-2014 and by way of an order, dated 13-08-2014 learned Prl. District Judge accepted said report and said order is under challenge in C.R.P.No.2982 of 2014 - Held, contentions sought to be pressed into service by learned counsel for petitioner are liable to be rejected as being devoid of any merit - Fact remains that decree holder is seeking specific performance of contract in respect of property within boundaries as mentioned in suit agreement of sale and decree only and in name of misdescription of one of survey numbers, legitimate right of decree holder cannot be permitted to be frustrated - Therefore, this Court is of considered opinion that Court below correctly exercised its jurisdiction to enable the decree holder to get the fruits of the decree. In the instant case the entire effort of the judgment debtor is obviously to get suit claim frustrated, which cannot be permitted - For aforesaid reasons and having regard to principles laid down in above-referred judgments and taking into consideration totality of circumstances these revisions are dismissed. Gurram Anantha Reddy Vs. Katla Sayanna, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 195 = 2015(4) ALD 716 = 2015(4) ALT 302.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec. 115 and ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996, Sec. 2(1) (e) - ANDHRA PRADESH CIVIL COURTS ACT, 1972 - ANDHRA PRADESH ARBITRATION RULES 2000 - Aggrieved of orders passed by learned Senior Civil Judge of Mangalagiri, Peddapuram, Gajuwaka and Chittoor, respectively, these Civil Revision Petitions are filed by respective judgmentdebtor(s) in C.F.R. No.2546 of 2014 in E.P. No.50 of 2014, C.F.R. No.2548 of 2014 in E.P. No.42 of 2014, E.P. No.31 of 2013, E.P. No.115 of 2013 and E.P. No.61 of 2012, under Section 115 of Code of Civil Procedure, 1908,, mainly, on ground of lack of inherent jurisdiction in view of definition of 'Court' as envisaged under Section 2(1)(e) of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 - Held, in the decisions relied on by learned counsel for respondent No.1, attention of Courts as to existence of Rule 10 of Andhra Pradesh Arbitration Rules 2000, was not drawn, which, perhaps, lead to rendering judgments with the meaning of word "Court" occurring in Sections 34 and 36 of Act, something different from word "Court" as defined under Section 2(1)(e) of the Act by interpreting pecuniary and territorial jurisdiction of the "Courts" as classified in the Andhra Pradesh Civil Courts Act, 1972 - For aforesaid reasons, it is obvious that learned Senior Civil Judges Courts of Mangalagiri, Peddapuram, Gajuwaka and Chittoor have no inherent jurisdiction to deal with applications filed under Section 36 of Act and consequently entertaining EPs by those Courts is without authority and, therefore, orders impugned are hereby set aside by giving liberty to respondent No.1 to invoke the jurisdiction of proper Court - With above direction, these Civil Revision Petitions are allowed. Potlabathuni Srikanth Vs. Shriram City UnionFinance Limited 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 467.

—-Sec.115 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - This petition under Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, by the petitioner/defendant is directed against the orders of lower Court passed in I.A. filed under Section 5 of the Limitation Act requesting to condone the delay of 239 days in presenting the application filed under Order IX Rule 13 to set aside the ex parte decree passed in the suit.

Held, when defendant had raised a plea that suit summons were not served in suit, before ex parte decree was passed, trial Court ought to have examined said aspect and ought to have recorded a finding as to whether suit summons were served on defendant or not; but, trial Court had failed to examine said aspect and dismissed petition purely on ground that delay from 25.07.2013 to 16.04.2014 is not properly explained and that defendant had failed to show sufficient cause for condonation of delay - In well considered view of this Court, trial Court, which had failed to examine core issue, was in error in dismissing petition on extraneous considerations and for non explanation of delay - It is to be noted that in all fairness trial Court ought to have examined vital aspect as to whether summons were served or not, as law is well settled that any decree passed without service of summons on defendant would be a nullity and non est in eye of law - Had said question been examined and answered by trial Court, this Court would have been in a position to go into merits of matter and further aspect as to whether delay deserves to be condoned or not - For trial Court not adverting to core issue involved in matter, this Court is of well considered view that order impugned is unsustainable - In result, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and order impugned is set aside. Yarlagadda Venkata Krishna Rao Vs. Manne Vishnu 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 287.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Secs.115, 2(2), 96 and 105 and Or.7, 14, Rule 11 & 2 - Application filed to decide issue of limitation as preliminary issue and dismissing suit as barred by limitation - Trial Court allowed application deciding preliminary issue against plaintiff/petitioner and dismissed suit as barred by limitation - Hence present revision u/Sec.115 CPC - Dismissing suit as barred by limitation is final as adjudication on ground of limitation will have effect of finally disposing of suit, against which as appeal lies u/Sec.96 of CPC - Whether I.A can be tried as a preliminary issue as result of which, it was tried as a preliminary issue and dismiss suit also can be agitated in appeal u/Sec.105(1) CPC - Hence present revision not maintainable u/Sec.115 CPC - Revision rejected - Registry directed to return originals for enabling petitioner to file appeal. Meka Venkateswara Rao Vs. Tutaram Venkata Jaya Rama Krishna Vara Prasad, 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 15 = 2011(6) ALD 446 = 2011(6) ALT 354.

—Secs.115, 12 & 102 - "Powers of revisional Court" - Stated - Plaintiff filed a suit against D1 for recovery of Rs.11,500 towards cost of paddy entrusted to D1 - Trial Court granted decree for Rs.8,500 - 1st appellate Court allowed appeal and dismissed suit - As valuation of property is less than Rs.25000, present Revision filed - In this case, plaintiff entrusted crop to D1 with request to thrash same and handover realized paddy to rice mill - Defendant contends that Sec.115 CPC has no application as second appeal is prohibited u/Sec.102 CPC plaintiff was not to be entitled to lay either an appeal or revision from judgment of decree in appeal - Evidently in this case plaintiff entrusted crop to 1st defendant for thrashing and making over same to rice mill - Appellate Judge is totally erroneous in concluding that plaintiff failed to establish his title and entrustment - Errors of appellate Court are not mere actual patent to errors on face of record, they are errors which fall within ambit of perverse findings and deserve to be rectified - Revisional Court is entitled to interfere with finding of subordinate Court, if findings of subordinate court is perverse on a question of fact - It is accordingly found in this case, that findings of appellate Court that plaintiff failed to establish his title to property and plaintiff failed to establish entrustment of paddy crop to 1st defendant are perverse and deserve to be rectified - In view of maximum ubi jus ib remedium, plaintiff who laid suit and established his title and entrustment cannot be shut off from questioning findings of appellate Court - Present revision is found to be meritorious

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- Judgment of appellate Court, set aside - Judgment of trial Court restored - Plaintiff is granted a decree against 1st defendant - Revision, allowed. Masina Sriramulu Vs. Pasagadagula Pydaiah, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 20 = 2011(3) ALD 342 = 2011(3) ALT 244 = AIR 2011 (NOC) 347 (AP).

—Secs.115, 151 &144 and Or.21, Rule 22 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - Appellate Court dismissed appeal for default, thereby confirmed decree of trial Court - Revision filed u/Sec.115 CPC - Petitioner is defendant/JDR and respondents are DHRs/plaintiffs and are wife and husband - Respondents filed suit for eviction, recovery of rent and mesne profits - Junior Civil Judge decreed suit granting three months time to vacate premises - Appeal filed by JDR was dismissed for default and consequently DHRs filed E.P and execution Court order notice under Or.21, Rule 22 - JDR did not receive notice and however possession was delivered to DHR - JDR claims that he has come to know of execution proceedings and consequently filed E.A u/Sec.144 and 151 CPC for restitution - Execution Court dismissed E.A - Hence present revision - DHR raised preliminary objections contending that only appeal would apply from an order u/Sec.144 CPC and not a revision or in alternative after amendment of CPC in 2002 a revision u/Sec.115 CPC would not be maintainable and revision at best would be under Art.227 of Constitution and that Sec.144 CPC could be invoked on original side and not before execution Court - Distinction between Sec.115 CPC and Art.227 of Indian Constitution - Discussed - Inter alia contend that order u/Sec.144 CPC can be invoked in original side and not on execution side and that an order u/Sec.144 is a decree and consequently is appealable and therefore a revision would not lie from an appealable order in view of Sec.115(2) - Revision petitioner/JDR contends that impugned order is an order indeed and consequently provisions u/Sec.144 would apply to present case and that in view of language deployed by Sec.144 CPC principles of restitution would apply not only to decrees pass in suit but to order including orders passed in execution proceedings - Very beginning of Sec.144 CPC is that principles of restitution would be applicable in respect of decrees and orders and obviously proceedings in execution is an order - Needless to point out that an Order u/Sec.144 CPC is decree in view of definition of decree u/Sec.2(2) CPC - Sec.96 CPC envisages that an appeal would lie from every decree with certain exceptions and Sec.144 CPC does not fall within exception u/Sec.96 and consequently an order in petition u/Sec.144 CPC is appealable order - Evidently in this case, petitioner seeks for restitution under this petition and therefore that E.A is a petition u/Sec.144 CPC or is a primarily is petition u/Sec.144 CPC - Once E.A is a petition u/Sec.144 CPC appeal would lie there- from - Sec.115 CPC provides for a revision where an appeal does not lie - Impugned orders in E.A are appealable orders and consequently revision u/sec.115 CPC does not lie and it is also not appropriate to entertain present petition under Art.227 of constitution, where petitioner has a chance of making exhaustive submission before appellate Court - Hence present revision is misconceived and is liable to be dismissed - Revision petitioner is directed to approach concerned appellate Court and period of prosecution of revision shall be condoned for computing limitation for appeal from impugned order before appellate Court. Mohammed Abdul Sattar Vs.Mrs.Shahzad Tahera, 2012(1) Law Summary 64 = 2012(2) ALD 393 = 2012(2) ALT 230.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.115 & Or.9,R.9 - Suit by plaintiff/revision petitioner for recovery of money against respondent - On day of cross examination, plaintiff was absent and suit was dismissed for default - I.A. filed by plaintiff to restore suit along with affidavit by his counsel - After a certain period it too was dismissed on ground that there was no representation on behalf of the Plaintiff - One more I.A. was filed by Plaintiff to condone delay of 465 days on ground that he was suffering from severe ill-health and was unable to move and there was no wilful default on his part - Court below held that petitioner had attended before court in some other case filed by him against some other parties and he had not filed any medical evidence to show that he suffered from ill-health preventing him from filing application for duration of 465 days - It also found that petitioner was hale and healthy when he appeared before court at the time of arguments by his counsel and that he did not explain day to day delay - Challenging the same this Revision Petition was filed with a delay of 792 days - Held, petitioner has evinced a very casual approach to the conduct of his suit and has been extremely negligent in prosecuting it and his explanation for condonation of delay that he was suffering from severe ill-health has not been substantiated - Trial Court did not commit any error in refusing to condone inordinately long delay of 465 days in filing application to restore the I.A. filed in 2007 - Thus trial court did not accept his plea of being ill-healthy bona fide - There is no error in the said view as the Apex Court has clearly held that while considering whether to condone delay guiding principle is whether a party has acted with reasonable diligence and had not been negligent and callous in the prosecution of the matter - Therefore, Revision Petition fails and it is dismissed. M.Rajamannar Vs. B.Fakruddin, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 225 = 2015(1) ALD 669 = 2014(6) ALT 802.

—Sec.115 & Or.21 - Execution proceedings - Right of third party - 1st respondent filed suit and obtained decree against 2nd respondent - Petitioner, 3rd party to suit and E.P filed E.As for summoning Manager of Bank and for calling three documents viz., authorization letter issued to petitioner by JDR, payment slip of loan account of JDR and mortgage documents, claiming that he is purchaser of E.P schedule property after passing decree and that he is bonafide purchaser - Senior Civil Judge dismissed both E.As. - Petitioner contends that he is bona fides purchaser of E.P. schedule property for valuable consideration and summoning of Bank Manager and documents is necessary to establish petitioner's plea - In this case, sale deed executed in favour of petitioner did not contain any recital pertaining to discharge of loan by petitioner to Bank on behalf of JDR - This is a case, where petitioner who is third party to suit and E.P proceedings, seeks to defeat rights of DHR - A party cannot be allowed by Courts to indulge in speculative litigation by summoning persons unconnected with litigation or documents in custody of such person on his mere request without his laying a strong foundation and assigning convincing reasons therefor - Allowing such applications, especially by Executing Courts, would not only delay proceedings, thereby legitimate rights of opposite parties but also giving room of parties to indulge in vaxatious litigation, frustrating efforts of decree holder to execute decrees - It is therefore, imperative for Executing Courts to make an endeavour to use their skills to separate chaff from grain by weeding out vaxatious petitions aimed at stalling execution proceedings - Order of Executing Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. P.Ganganna Vs. K. Surendranath 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 36 = 2010(6) ALT 139 = 2010(5) ALD 581.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.115, Or.21, Rules 37 and 38 - The admissions are the best form of proof on which the Decree Holder can rely to show that the Judgment Debtor is a person having substantial properties and that he is having means and capacity to pay at least a substantial portion of the decree debt - The fact that the Judgment Debtor, after having stated in his counter that he is not liable for arrest, had made the above admissions about the ownership of valuable immovable properties is by itself sufficient to hold that he is wilfully not paying the decree debt with the object of delaying and defeating just debt of the Decree Holder - Further, it is necessary to mention that learned District Judge did not appreciate facts and evidence on record in right perspective and had held against Decree Holder - In the result, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and the impugned order dismissing the E.P. in O.S. is hereby set aside holding that it is fit case to order arrest and detention of the Judgment Debtor in a civil prison - However, considering facts and circumstances of case, the Judgment debtor is granted eight weeks' time from today to deposit and entire balance amount due under decree along with costs of execution to credit of the EP before the court below - And, on failure of the Judgment Debtor to comply with the said direction, court of execution shall issue a warrant of arrest against the Judgment Debtor in accordance with procedure established by law and further proceed with execution proceedings - Execution petition stands allowed accordingly. V.Balachandra Naidu Vs. Dr.V.Gurubhashana Naidu 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 266 = 2015(2) ALD 742.

—Sec.115 and Or.34, Rule 5 - Transfer of Property Act, Secs.60 and 100 - AGRICULTURAL DEBT RELIEF SCHEME - Petitioner herein is Judgment Debtor No.1. - Counter affidavit was filed by petitioner contending that preliminary decree in the above suit, which was a suit on basis of a mortgage, is not executable and that it is only the final decree which is executable - Petitioner pointed out that 1st respondent had suppressed the fact that I.A.No.157 of 1999 filed by it for passing of final decree had been dismissed on 14-08-2003 and that the said order operates as res judicata and bars the E.P. - Contended that as per clause 7 of the preliminary decree dt.16-12-1994, the 1st respondent had to obtain final decree for sale of the mortgaged properties and since no final decree was passed in the case, preliminary decree cannot be executed and mortgaged property cannot be brought to sale - Contended that 1st respondent is not entitled to seek attachment of movable properties or arrest and detention of petitioner in civil prison, in absence of a personal decree against petitioner - It was also lastly contended that as per a recent Agricultural

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Debt Relief Scheme announced by the Government of India, entire decree debt must be deemed to have been waived and petitioner is not liable to pay any amount to the 1st respondent bank - Held, observation that decree which would be executable would be final decree was not taken note of by Division Bench and it only took note of later observation that finality of decree does not necessarily depend upon its being executable - Therefore view expressed by the Division Bench, in my considered opinion, goes against consistent view of Supreme Court that right of mortgagor to redeem mortgage property subsists till appeals against orders refusing to set aside sale are passed finally - It therefore does not represent correct position of law - LAW DECLARED IN DEVAVATHINA PARADESAIAH (DIED) that a preliminary decree in a mortgage suit can be executed even if an application for final decree had been dismissed, does not represent the correct legal position - Since application for final decree I.A.No.157 of 1999 filed by the 1st respondent-Bank had been admittedly rejected on 14-08- 2003 - This order had attained finality - There is therefore no question of the 1st respondent-Bank obtaining a final decree as mandated by clause (7) of the Preliminary decree or by Order 34 Rule 5 C.P.C - In absence of a final decree, there is no question of 1st respondent Bank executing preliminary decree - Therefore, the order of Senior Civil Judge, holding that E.P. is maintainable, and preliminary decree can be executed, is unsustainable - Civil Revision Petition is accordingly allowed and order of Senior Civil Judge, is set aside and the said E.P. is dismissed. Lanka Babu Surendra Mohana Benarji Vs.Canara Bank,Unguturu 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 250 = 2015(6) ALD 562 = 2015(6) ALT 473.

—Sec.115, Or.XXXIX, Rules 1 & 2 and Scope of Art. 226 & 227 of Constitution of India -This revision petition is sought to be filed under Article 227 of Constitution of India by Plaintiff/respondent questioning reversing order passed by the lower appellate Court dated 27.11.2013 in C.M.A. No.3 of 2013 setting aside temporary injunction granted in I.A. No.438 of 2011 in O.S. No.93 of 2011 (suit for bare injunction) dated 31.01.2013 on the file of Principal Junior Civil Judge's Court, in favour of the revision petitioner herein pending disposal of the suit in the application under Order XXXIX Rules 1 and 2 C.P.C. - Held, from the above expression more particularly from the reading of the conclusion (in Saran V. Civil Judge AIR 1991 All. 114(FB)) at para 38, (4) to (9) it is indicating that mere error in exercise of jurisdiction by the lower appellate Court is not sufficient to interfere in the absence of showing of failure of justice resulted therefrom; without which the jurisdiction under Article 227 to invoke is out of availability - Thus, Section 115 C.P.C amendment by 1999 amended Act does not and cannot cut down the ambit of the High Court's power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India and at the same time, by the amendment, it is not even expand the Courts jurisdiction of superintendence - It has to be exercised on equitable principle and only in appropriate cases to ensure that the real justice does not come to a halt and this reserve and exceptional power of judicial intervention should be directed in the larger public interest and subject to high degree of judicial discipline

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- This Court thus could not venture to interfere with the impugned order of the lower appellate Court, but for giving the following directions viz., there is an ex parte injunction in favour of the plaintiff at the time of filing of the suit obtained that continued by making it absolute and even after the lower appellate Court's reversal order setting aside the injunction order by filing the petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India before this Court there is suspension of the order of the Additional District Judge in C.M.A. No.3 of 2013 - Accordingly and in the result, the revision is disposed. Dasari Laxmi Vs. Bejjenki Sathi Reddy, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 371 = 2015(3) ALD 372 = 2015(1) ALT 209.

—Secs.144 &151- Principles laid down in the referred judgments are patently to the effect that restoration can be ordered by the Courts in exercise of inherent powers conferred under Sec.151 of CPC also - In the instant case, the learned Judge instead of adjudicating the issue basing on the material available before the Court under Sec.151 of CPC, directed the petitioner herein to approach the Court once again by way of civil suit for redressal of his grievance - There is absolutely no justification on the part of the Court below in dismissing the application filed by the petitioner and this Court has absolutely no scintilla of hesitation nor any traces of doubt to hold that the impugned order is unsustainable and untenable - For the above said reasons and having regard to the principles, this Civil Revision Petition is allowed, setting aside the order passed by the learned Junior Civil Judge. N.Panduranga Rao Vs. V. Venkateshwar Rao 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 136.

—Sec.148, r/w 151 - Executing Court dismissing Application filed by JDR for grant of one month time for payment of second instalment, holding that sufficient material not placed before Court to establish convincing reasons warranting extension of time - It is not case of either of parties that decree itself was an instalment decree or at appropriate stage any order permitting payment of decretal amount in instalments had been made by Court in original suit - It may be by volition of parties they came to an understanding and in a way at a particular point of time Court had put its seal of approval, but however, the same was not carried to its logical end, since the revision petitioner committed default - Executing Court has no power to grant instalments merely because of volition of parties certain amounts had been paid and received and this may not seriously alter situation - Order of dismissal of Application praying for extension of time - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Khadar Baba Fancy Stores Vs. GPG, Chit Funds 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 77 = 2008(5) ALD 711.

—-Sec.148 and Or.6, Rule 18 - This Civil Revision Petition is filed challenging order in I.A. in Court of Senior Civil Judge - Petitioner herein is 2nd respondent in above suit - Said suit was filed for declaration of title and recovery of possession - In year 2008, 1st respondent/plaintiff filed I.A. to implead two parties as defendant Nos.6 and 7 - That Application was allowed - But after Application was allowed, consequential amendments in plaint were not carried within time of 14 days fixed under Order

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

VI Rule 18 C.P.C - 1st respondent then filed I.A. - 3 years and 7 months after I.A. was allowed stating that on account of oversight, he could not file fair copy of plaint in time and the said mistake being unintentional, time be granted for amendment of plaint and for filing fair copy of plaint.

This Application was opposed by other side pointing out that case is at stage of arguments, that 1st respondent had already been put on notice of fact of non-filing of fair copy of plaint after the amendment itself when he was cross-examined, but he had done nothing to rectify it - By order Court below allowed said Application on payment of costs of Rs.200/- on ground that it is just and necessary as per law to allow the 1st respondent to amend plaint by filing fair copy of the plaint - Challenging the same, this Revision is filed.

Held, time limits fixed in Code of Civil Procedure as amended by Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 2002 (22 of 2002) cannot be totally ignored altogether even if they are construed as not mandatory - This is a classic case where, having been obtained an order from the Court below for amendment of plaint, fair copy of plaint is not filed for a period of 3 years and 7 months - By no stretch of imagination, can this sort of delay be condoned by invoking Sect.148 C.P.C. - In Court considered opinion, it is not open to 1st respondent to blame his counsel for his own negligence and he has to suffer the consequences of same - Therefore, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and order in I.A. of Senior Civil Judge is set aside. Yella Reddy Vs. Bheemreddy Narasimha Reddy 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 77.

—Sec.148-A - Lodging of "caveat" - Trial Court passing interim orders without effecting notice to Caveator - Senior Civil Judge dismissing CMA filed by Caveator - Respondents contend that inasmuch as it is only an interim order to safeguard interest of both parties present revision petitioner as well could have moved Court praying for vacation of said interim order instead of preferring CMA or a further CRP - When once a Caveat is filed it is a condition precedent for passing interim order to serve notice of application on caveator who is going to be affected by interim order and unless that condition precedent is satisfied it is impossible for Court to pass an interim order affecting Caveator - In this case, impugned order cannot be sustained since Court of first instance having specifically recorded about pendency of caveat, had failed to see that provisions of Sec.148-A of Code were complied with - Interim order set aside - Matter remitted to Court of first instance to give opportunity to both parties to advance submissions and pass appropriate orders in accordance with law. Addanki Hanumantha Rao Vs. Addanki Srinivasa Rao 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 260 = 2009(2) ALD 743 = 2009(2) ALT 415 = 2009(1) APLJ 315.

—Sec.148-A - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.136 - Appellant/plaintiff, helpless widow who has become prey of greed of her own elder brother-in-law and deprived her properties in fraudulent manner, filed suit for declaration that she is owner in possession of suit properties and so called decree, shown to have been suffered by her in favour of respondents/defendants is illegal - Respondents/defendants claim that decree in question was legal and there was no question of fraud and that in fact that decree was as per family settlement and the suit is barred by limitation - Trial Court accepted evidence of appellant/plaintiff and disbelieved witnesses examined on behalf of respondent/defendants and returned a finding that decree was result of fraud - Appellate Court came to conclusion that there was no fraud played and consent decree was good and valid decree and that suit filed by appellant was barred by time - Appellant contends that plaint dated 26-3-1985 filed on 26-3-1985 - Written statement filed by appellant is also dt.26-3-1985 - Appellant was examined on 26-3-1985 and decree was also passed on 26-3-1985 - How all this could have happened on one and same day - Further, an Application was filed u/Sec.148-A CPC, on 13-9-1985 with signature of advocate who had appeared on behalf of appellant in earlier proceedings and filed written statement of consent - A notice was issued by Court to appellant and was served through a bailiff and in pursuance of notice, she came and gave statement before Court on 23-11-1985 - That she did not intend to file suit challenging consent decree - There was no question of any proceedings being instituted on basis of a so called caveat u/Sec.148-A of C.P.C nor was there any question of Court issuing any Notice on basis of a Caveat - In pursuance of so-called summons served on her through bailiff in proceedings u/Sec.148-A of CPC and her statement was also got recorded - It is not known as to how a Caveat Application was got registered and a summons were sent on basis of a Caveat Application, treating it to be an independent proceedings - Such is not scope of a Caveat u/Sec.148 of C.P.C - This was nothing, but a towering fraud played upon an illiterate and helpless widow, whose whole inheretent property was tried to be grabbed by respondents herein - Whole suit and Caveat proceedings and subsequent Caveat proceedings were nothing but a systematic fraud - Fraud puts an end to every thing that such decree is nothing but a nullity - Judgment of High Court as well as Appellate Court, set aside - Judgment of trial Court, restored - Appeal, allowed. Santosh Vs. Jagatram 2010(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 46 = 2011(2) ALD 42(SC) = 2010 AIR SCW 6540.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.151 - "Consolidation of suits" - Two suits filed by husband and wife basing on different promissory notes - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by defendant for clubbing and consolidation of both suits in view of commonality of defence and evidence - Petitioner/defendant contends that trial Judge dismissed petition without appreciating facts and circumstances in proper perspective and that even if consolidation of both suits to be permitted, no prejudice would be caused to plaintiffs in these suits - Inherent power u/Sec.151 of CPC can be exercised for purpose of consolidation of suits - However in light of facts and circumstances, if clubbing or consolidation of suits be permitted no serious prejudice would be caused to either of parties in light of nature of defence which had been taken and also in view of fact that plaintiffs in both suits being wife and husband - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. Badineni Munenna Vs. Veeramareddy Narayana Reddy 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 69 = 2009(6) ALD 122 = 2009(5) ALT 731.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.151 - "Condonation of delay in representation of plaint" - Respondent filed suit for recovery of amount basing on promissory note - Plaint returned on ground that adequate Court fee not paid - Respondent represented plaint after 4½ years with I.A to condone delay - Trial Court ordered notice to petitioner/defendant and allowed I.A. - Petitioner contends that though Court would adopt a liberal approach in condonation of delay in representation of proceedings, it cannot be to extent of defeating very concept of limitation - Plea of respondent that he lost communication with his counsel is unbelievable and that once he has entrusted matter to his counsel he was under obligation to be in touch with him from time to time, at least once in six months or one year and it is highly improbable that respondent did not have communication with his counsel for a period of 1687 days - Facility created by law for rectification of procedural defects, cannot be stretched to such an extent as to defeat very concept of limitation - If a plaint is presented by paying a paltry sum as Court fee and no steps are taken for rectification of same within a reasonable time, it would be difficult to stop limitation from running - If respondent has chosen not contact his advocate for 4½ years or if his counsel has just forgotten about matter, once plaint was returned, Court cannot condone delay of such magnitude just for asking of it - Condonation of delay in representation cannot be converted in to a device to defeat very vigour of law of limitation - CRP, allowed. G.Hanumantha Rao Vs. L.V.Subbaiah 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 68 = 2011(4) ALD 246 = 2011(4) ALT 327.

—Sec.151 - "Re-opening of matter" - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit against petitioner/defendant for recovery of certain amount basing on Ex.A.1, promissory note executed by petitioner - Petitioner contends that she neither borrowed any amount from respondent/laintiff nor executed Ex.A1, alleged promissory note - Earlier, she filed Application to send disputed signature and thumb impressions on promissory note along with admitted signatures for comparison to Hand Writing Expert and same was allowed - Thereafter, petitioner did not turn up for one year and matter had undergone several adjournments and therefore closed - Subsequently Application filed to reopen matter and issue summons to Branch Manager of Bank to produce original opening Application form and specimen signatures of S.B. Account to send document to Expert for opinion - Trial Court after enquiry dismissed Applications holding that there are no bona fides to allow same - Petitioner contends that present Application dismissed though there are no counter affidavit filed by respondent/plaintiff and trial Court ought to have allowed applications to re-open and summon Officials of Bank to produce above referred documents - In this case, in view of contention of revision petitioner that she neither borrowed any amount from respondent/plaintiff nor she executed promissory note that ends of justice would be met if matter reopens and to issue summons to above referred Officials to produce above referred documents - Trial Court directed to send disputed signatures and thumb impressions on Ex.A.1, promissory note along with above referred documents which contain signatures of petitioner related to period of Ex.A.1 for comparison to Hand Writing Expert - CRPs, allowed. Katta Anitha Kumar Vs. Sri Gorli Srinivasa Rao, 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 307 = 2013(1) ALD 291 = 2013(3) ALT 296.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.151 - Plaintiff/respondent instituted the suits, seeking specific performance of contracts of sale said to have executed by the defendants/petitioners - The defendants/ petitioners filed written statements, denying the plaint averments - In the said suits, defendants/petitioners filed the instant IA's, respectively, u/Sec.151 of the Code of Civil Procedure to club all the four suits and to record evidence in any one of the suit - Resisting the said interlocutory applications, the plaintiff/respondent herein in all the revisions filed counters - The learned First Additional District Judge, dismissed the said IA's, respectively - Calling in question, the validity and the legal sustainability of the said orders passed by the learned First Additional District Judge, the present revisions have been filed - Held, in the instant case, since the causes of action for filing these present suits are distinct and separate and as the agreements of sale are also different and distinct and the properties covered by the same are also different with distinct boundaries and as the defendants are also different, the learned First Additional District Judge is perfectly justified in dismissing the applications filed by the petitioners herein - The Hon'ble Apex Court held that unless the orders impugned are patently perverse and vitiated by fundamental infirmities, the invocation of the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is impermissible - In the instant revisions, the said contingency is conspicuously absent - In these circumstances, this Court has absolutely no scintilla of hesitation nor any traces of doubt to hold that there are no merits in the present revisions and the revisions are liable to be dismissed - For the aforesaid reasons and having regard to the principles laid down in the judgments referred to supra, the Civil Revision Petitions are dismissed. Arka Lakshmi Manohari Vs. Pillamogolla Ranga Rao 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 92.

—Sec.151 - Application for clarification - Suit filed by respondent was decreed for certain amount - High Court in appeal stayed decree of Lower Court subject to payment of 50% of decretal amount and subsequently dismissed appeal for default for non compliance of order - High court allowed applicaton fled by applicant to set aside order subject to applicant paying costs of Rs.500/- and since applicant failed to pay said amount of Rs.500/- order stood vacated and order dismissing appeal stood restored, therefore applicant filed applications for restoration of appeal with application for condonation of delay of 997 days – Divisional Bench of High Court allowed both applications and Appeal restored to file - Applicant contends that inspite of restoration of appeal, lower Court is seeking to proceed with execution proceedings on ground that no specific order was passed by High Court restoring interlocutory applications and interim orders passed therein – Applicant also further contends that even in absence of a specific order of restoration of interlocutory applications and interim orders passed therein, with restoration of Appeal they stand automatically restored - High Court of opinion that in light of legal position as reflected in judgment of Apex Court in VAREED JACOB V. SOSAMMA GEEVARGHES (2004) 6 SCC 378 that even in absence of specific order of restoration of interlocutory applications they stand revived with restoration of main case unless an express order was passed declining to restore such applications – With restoration of interlocutory applications interim orders which were at force at time of dismissal of appeal automatically got restored – With this clarification, Application disposed of accordingly. Sri Sanjeevi Mechanical Works Pvt.Ltd., Vs. Amberlite Resins Pvt.Ltd. 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 304 = 2015(4) ALD 429 = 2015(4) ALT 57.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.151 - INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES ACT - Domestic enquiries especially in cases pertaining to non-issuance of tickets by conductor cannot be subjected to strict and sophisticated Rules of evidence - Sufficiency of evidence in proof of finding by a domestic Tribunal is beyond scrutiny by Court, while absence of any evidence in support of finding is an error of law apparent on face of the record - An enquiry does not get vitiated on account of failure to examine the passengers from whom tickets were recovered or have travelled without tickets even after fare was paid by them (per Apex Court) - Held, Single Judge while examining writ petition was mostly impressed by the fact that passengers from whom incriminating tickets were recovered, were not examined - Hence, Writ Appeal was allowed and judgment of Single Judge was set aside. A.P.S.R.T.C. Vs. K.Rama Rao, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.)92 = 2014(6) ALD 612 = 2014(5) ALT 762.

—Sec.151 - INDIAN STAMP ACT, Sec.36, Explanation-1 to Art.47-A of Schedule 1-A - 1st respondent/plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - During trial plaintiff filed certain documents along with affidavit including agreement of sale which was marked as Ex.A.1 on behalf of plaintiff - Petitioners/defendants filed application u/Sec.151 CPC with prayer to reject agreement of sale on ground that said agreement was inadmissible in evidence since it was insufficiently stamped and that since said agreement was marked in evidence in absence of counsel for defendants/revision petitioners, objection as to admissibility could not be taken earlier - Trial Court dismissed application relying upon Sec.36 of Indian Stamp Act - Hence present revision - Admittedly document in question was already marked in evidence as Ex.A.1 - As per Sec.36 of Stamp Act, once document has been admitted in evidence same cannot be called in question - In this case, document in question was marked without any objection regarding sufficiency of stamp duty payable - Having a failing to raise an objection at time of marking document, it is not open to petitioners/ defendants to raise objection with regard to admissibility of document at a later stage - Order of trial Court, justified - CRP, dismissed. C.Prithvi Raj Reddy Vs. M/s.GPH Housing Pvt., Ltd. 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 17 = 2011(6) ALD 128 = 2011(6) ALT 671.

—Sec.151 & Or.1 - "Impleadment of parties" - Civil Revision Petition is directed against the order dated 09.07.2014 in I.A.No.11 of 2014 in O.S.No.36 of 2008 passed by learned V Additional District Judge (for short, trial Court). 3. I.A.No.11 of 2014 was filed by Petitioners herein seeking to implead them as defendant Nos.10 to 13 in the said suit - Suit was filed by first respondent herein for specific performance of agreement of sale dated 28.10.2006 against defendant Nos.1 to 9 in respect of land admeasuring Acs.20-20 guntas in Survey No.314/A - Petitioners claim that they have purchased an extent of Acs.11-15 guntas from out of said suit schedule property from defendant Nos.5 to 9 under an agreement of sale dated 03.02.2006, which was later on registered on 25.07.2008 - They also claim that they are in possession of the property - They state that they thus got substantial interest in suit schedule property and suit was filed wrongly without impleading them as parties to the suit - All defendants, except defendant No.9, remained ex parte in the suit in January, 2012 - Held, It is well settled in law that in case of impleadment of parties, it is not jurisdiction of the Court, but judicial discretion which has to be exercised keeping in mind all the facts and circumstances of a particular case - In present case, application is filed by persons, who claimed to have purchased a part of property under a registered sale deed pending the suit - Though they ought to have been aware of paper publication taken by Plaintiff prior to institution of suit and pendency of suit, as the vendors were made parties to proceedings, their legal rights in property would be affected by proposed decree, if it is passed in favour of the plaintiff - Petitioners did not explain reason for filing application belatedly after five years - Almost all defendants in suit have not contested - Though defendant No.9 filed a written statement, he did not participate in subsequent proceedings - In circumstances, justice would demand application of petitioners be permitted subject to payment of costs of Rs.5,000/- to plaintiff with a condition that they cannot be permitted to take defences which are not available to their vendors as held by the Supreme Court - Subject to above observations, Civil Revision Petition is allowed. Pelimelly Ramesh Vs. E.Sravan Kumar, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 232 = 2015(4) ALD 284.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.151 & Or.6, R.17 - Amendment of Plaint - In a suit for partition of property, petitioner sought amendment of paragraph 8 in the plaint by substituting words 'prevail over' with words 'are in continuation of' which was resisted by contesting respondents by stating that proposed amendment will change entire proceedings and the same is inconsistent with original plea - By accepting plea of contesting respondents trial court rejected application by observing that in support of his plea that the later document was entered into in continuation of previous document, petitioner has not placed any piece of evidence or any single reason as to why and for what purpose the said amendment has to be carried out and that petitioner cannot be permitted to raise inconsistent pleas -Present revision petition arose against that order - Held, it is trite that plaintiff who raises his pleadings needs to prove the same - By merely permitting an amendment, Court will not be readily accepting what he says as correct - Even if proposed amendment has effect of raising a conflicting plea, that by itself would not constitute ground to reject amendment, for it is for plaintiff to ultimately justify his pleadings and prove same with reference to evidence - After all, procedure is handmaid of justice and a party cannot be deprived of his right to raise pleadings by way of amendment, unless the proposed amendment results in failure of justice - No doubt, as pointed out by learned counsel for respondents 1 to 8, petitioner failed to plead that despite due diligence, he could not seek amendment before the commencement of trial - However, that is not ground on which lower court has rejected application for amendment - It is stated, at hearing, that trial has not been effectively commenced except that an affidavit in lieu of chief-examination is filed - In above facts and circumstances, this Court is of the opinion that in interests of justice, petitioner can be permitted to amend the plaint-Accordingly, the order of the lower court is set aside and the petitioner is permitted to amend the plaint - Civil Revision Petition is Allowed. A.Krishna Rao Vs. Sri A.Narahari Rao, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 221 = 2014(6) ALD 258.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

---Sec.151 & Or.18, Rule 17 - "Recall" and "Reopen" - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit against respondent/defendant for specifc performance of agreement of sale - Defendant filed written statement - Evidence closed and matter posted for arguments - At that stage I.A filed by petitioner/plaintiff to reopen suit - Trial Court after considering respective submissions, dismissed I.A.

Petitioner contends that at any stage, even at stage of arguments, it is always open for Court to exercise jurisdiction u/Sec.151 or under Or.18, Rule 17 CPC to do justice.

In this case, petitioner/plaintiff was aware or ought to have been aware with regard to nature of evidence, which is required to be brought on record to succeed in suit - It is only after closure of evidence on behalf of defendant, plaintiff had realized that certain evidence further have improve his case - That hardly can be a reason for petitioner seeking to reopen suit, especially at stage of arguments.

In present case, trial Court had come to conclusion that petitioner has not assigned any reasons for his failure to produce documents before Court while he was adducig evidece on his behalf and petitioner has not come to Court with clean hands with request to reopen suit at this belated stage to allow him to adduce further evidence and there are no such circumsrtances warranting to allow reopening petition - Order passed by trial Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Sanagala Srinivasulu Vs. Ponnapoola Seetharamaiah 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 189 = 2016(5) ALD 656.

—Sec.151 & Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Suit for partition among co-owners - Admittedly parties entered into development agreement - Properties which were in possession of owners were shown in "A" schedule, where as properties which were subject matter of development were described in "B" schedule in plaint filed by appellants - Contention that parties being co-owners and a final decree in suit having not yet been passed, it is impermissible in law to pass an order of mandatory injunction and that too without arriving at a definite conclusion that respondent was in exclusive possession of a particular flat - There cannot be any doubt or dispute as a general proposition of law that possession of one co-owner would be treated to be possession of all - However in a case of this nature would not mean that where three flats have been allotted jointly to parties, each one of them cannot be in occupation of one co-owner separately - Or.39, Rule 1 is not sole repository of power of Court to grant injunction - Sec.151 of Code confers power upon Court to grant injunction if matter is not covered by Rules 1 & 2 of Or.39 - If parties by mutual agreement entered into possession of separate flats, no co-sharer should be a permitted act in breach thereof - It is not law that a party to a suit during pendency thereof shall take law into his hands and dispossess other co-sharer - If a party takes recourse to any contrivance to dispossess another, during pendency of suit either in violation of order of injunction or otherwise, Court indisputably will have jurisdiction to restore parties back to same position - A co-owner being in exclusive possession of a joint property would be entitled to injunction - If a person is entitled to a prohibitory injunction, a' fortiori he shall also be entitled to mandatory injunction - Appeal, dismissed. Tanusree Basu Vs. Ishani Prasad Basu 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 226.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.151 and Or.47, Rule 1 - "Recall" and "Review" - Petition filed seeking recall of order passed by High Court, refusing to grant leave to prefer revision against order that documents obtained by respondent by tampering revenue records and by playing fraud upon Authority in obtaining orders - Remedy of review of orders passed by Courts is provided to a party under Or.47, Rule 1 CPC - Party who does not resort to that remedy, cannot invoke inherent powers of Court to recall and review its own order - Question of exercising power to recall would arise only when opposite party had obtained order by playing fraud upon Court, but an Application u/Sec.151 CPC, seeking to recall order based on fraud alleged to have been committed by other party on him, certainly cannot be a ground to recall order - In case of fraud on a party to suit or proceedings, Court may direct affected party to file a separate suit or proceedings for setting aside decree obtained by fraud - Courts have been held to have inherent power to set aside order obtained by fraud practiced upon that Court - There is a clear distinction between fraud practiced upon Court and fraud committed by party to suit or proceedings - It is specific case of petitioner that respondents had played fraud upon him before Authority and as such question of exercising power u/Sec.151 CPC to recall order does not arise - Application not maintainable. P. Vijaya Laxmi Vs. The Joint Collector, Rangareddy 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 215 = 2009(4) ALD 629 = 2009(4) ALT 767.

—Sec.152 - Scope and object - Stated - Sec.152 CPC is ment for correcting clerical or arthmetical mistakes in judgments, decree or order or errors arising therein from any accidental slip or omission - Corrections contemplated u/Sec.152 are of correcting only accidental omissions or mistakes and not all omissions and mistakes - Section can be invoked for limited purpose of correcting clerical errors or arthmetical mistakes in judgments or accidental omissions. Srihari (Dead) through L.R. Ch.Niveditha Reddy Vs. Syed Maqdoom Shah 2014(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 47 = 2015(1) ALD 70 (SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 6068.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

——Sec.152 - Revision petitioners contended that decree holder himself could not identify schedule property as per decree, as such, Court below should not have allowed decree holder to amend plaint schedule property in execution proceedings - Decree holder has changed boundaries of schedule property from time to time and boundaries mentioned in decree, advocate commissioner's report and EP proceedings are totally different - It was further contended that unless judgment of Court below is suitably corrected, decree holder cannot alter decree and that decree holder has to approach Court which passed decree with a petition to make appropriate corrections in judgment as also in decree to enable him to realize fruits of decree passed in his favour - Respondent-decree holder contended that Court below has rightly directed delivery of possession of property as boundaries mentioned in warrant in E.A. are tallying with boundaries mentioned in Commissioner's report, he would further contend that decree holder has not changed boundaries of schedule property.

Held, In view of law laid down by this Court as well as Apex Court in the above decisions, executing Court cannot travel beyond decree passed in original suit - Even according to respondents also, boundaries are not tallying and for any mistake crept in decree in original suit, it is for decree-holder to file a petition under Section 152 of CPC for amendment of decree and judgment and also plaint, which passed decree - But without filing same, executing court cannot order delivery of possession of property with boundaries other than mentioned in decree in original suit - No doubt, decree holder cannot be denied fruits of decree in his favour, but at same time, executing Court cannot go beyond decree in original suit and grant relief to decree holder by delivering property with different boundaries other than boundaries mentioned in decree as well as in execution petition - Executing Court instead of allowing application, should have directed decree-holder to approach original court for amendment of boundaries in decree - For the reasons aforementioned, impugned order of executing Court cannot be sustained and same is set aside accordingly.

However, it is open for respondent/decree-holder to file necessary application before Court, which passed decree and judgment, for amending boundaries in schedule of property in plaint as well as in decree - Since suit is of year 1992, as and when application is filed by respondent/decree holder, same shall be disposed of in accordance with law, as expeditiously as possible preferably within a period of three months from the date of application - Accordingly, this Civil Revision Petition is allowed. Fathima Bi Vs. Julekha Bi (Died) by her L.Rs. 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 365 = 2016(5) ALD 468 = 2016(5) ALT 595.

—Secs.152 and 153-A - Land Acquisition Officer passed an Award on 25-10-1991 granting an amount of Rs.11,000/- per acre and not satisfied with award of Land Acquisition Officer, petitioner made a request to refer matter to Civil Court and accordingly, it was referred to Senior Civil Judge, u/Sec.18 of Land Acquisition Act - Senior Civil Judge, after due enquiry, enhanced market value of land from Rs.11,000/- per acre to Rs.40,000/- per acre and also awarded Rs.51,330/- as solatium and a sum of Rs.1,51,416/- towards additional market value and held that claimant is not entitled for any interest on the solatium and on the additional market value - Claimant having not satisfied with the market value fixed by reference court, preferred appeal to this Court for enhancement and this Court dismissed the appeal by confirming the award of the reference Court - According to petitioner, this Court, while adjudicating appeal, has not considered the interest aspect on solatium and additional market value, it is a statutory benefit and he is entitled for same as per provisions of Land Acquisition Act - According to claimant, this Court has not taken into consideration his statutory entitlement while dismissing appeal and that decree has to be amended by adding payment of interest on solatium and additional market value - Held, Section 152 CPC has to be applied only when the intention of Court is not translated into a decree or order, due to accidental slip or omission, but not to reconsider matter and grant a relief which Court has not granted originally - Relief claimed by applicant in this petition would amount to adding certain clauses to judgment in A.S.No. 1884/2001 - Therefore, considering facts of case with reference to legal position indicated above, we are of considered view that there is no accidental slip or omission in judgment to be corrected u/Sec.152 CPC - In result, petition is dismissed. Girreddy Suryanarayana Reddy Vs.The L.A.O Peddapuram, E.G. 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 25.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Sec.152 & 153-A & Or.23, Rule 3-A - REGISTRATION ACT, Sec.17 & 17(1) (f) - "Amendment of compromise decree" - Suit for partition - Application filed for passing final decree with comprise memo along with plan signed by all parties - Final decree passed - IDPL House Building Society and respondents filed applications seeking amendment of corrections in A-schedule and B-schedule lands - Meanwhile third party Durga Matha Society filed Application to implead them as party stating that wrong measurements have been shown in plan attached to compromise - IDPL Society contends that all parties have signed compromise memo and also plan annexed to it after due verification and mistakenly another plan was attached and since it is only a mistake, same has to be corrected to bring final decree in conformity with plan and memorandum of compromise - Respondents contend that Application seeking corrections in final decree and map annexed thereto cannot be accepted and that terms of compromise cannot be altered without consent of all parties - COMPROMISE DECREE - A compromise can be enforced only against parties to compromise - Rule 3-A of Or.23 prohibits a party to compromise to file a suit to set aside a decree on ground that compromise on which decree is passed is not lawful - In this case compromise decree has been passed basing on compromise memo and there is no allegation that compromise memo is out come of fraud or misrepresentation - Durga Matha Society is not party to compromise and plan annex there to and they are not bound by decree passed on basis of such compromise memo - When they are not bound by consent decree, they can resist execution proceedings, if any filed in pursuance of decree obtained on basis of compromise memo - Where a compromise decree

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

has been passed, same is binding upon parties - A clerical mistake can be corrected even after passing of final decree at stage of execution proceedings, where amendment does not cause injustice to other side - Compromise decree may be voided only on grounds like fraud, undue influence, coherent or opposed to public policy or when it is violative of any statutory Rule - When parties entered into a compromise and filed written compromise signed by all parties and confirm same before Court, Court is bound to pass judgment in terms of compromise - Even if some mistake occurred in mentioning survey numbers or boundaries or extents, same cannot be treated as clerical mistake - Consent decree made by consent can only be varied by consent of parties - Court is not empowered to make any variation alteration or amendment to terms of compromise - Petition filed by respondents has to be rejected since Court is not empowered to amend a compromise decree without consent of other parties to compromise - In this case, case of IDPL Society is that while enclosing a plan to Application for passing final decree they had mistakenly enclosed another plan with incorrect measurements and now they want to replace said plan with correct plan - Since it appears to be a clerical mistake and to bring compromise decree and plan annex there to totally in conformity with compromise memo and plan annexed thereto, it becomes necessary to allow application filed by IDPL Society - Court has no power u/Secs.152 to 153-A of CPC to amend compromise decree even it appears that there is clerical mistake in compromise decree without consent of parties to compromise - Application filed by IDPL Society, allowed and Application filed by respondents and Durga Matha Housing Society, dismissed. IDPL Employees Cooperative Ltd. Vs. Cyrus Investments Ltd., Mumbai 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2009(6) ALD 216 = 2009(6) ALT 43.

—Or.1, Rule 8 - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit against respondents for declaration that suit schedule property is public rastha and for mandatory injunction for removal of existing structures and for consequential injunction to restrain respondents from interfering with use of same, contending that suit lane is an access for residents of locality to bus stand and that though she alone figured as plaintiff, suit filed for and on behalf of residents of locality - Respondents filed written statement raising objection, as to maintainability of suit on ground that though it is filed in representative capacity, permission of Court not obtained and that suit schedule property exclusively belongs to them and it is not at all public lane - Appellant contends that though relief is claimed in interest of all persons of locality, being one of users of lane, appellant is entitled to file suit in her individual capacity and that respondents failed to establish that suit schedule property exclusively belongs to them and that was sufficient ground for suit being decreed - Respondents contend that appellant clearly and categorically stated that she filed suit for herself and on behalf of residents of locality and that in view of matter it was obligatory on her part to obtain permission under Rule 8 of Or.1 CPC and admittedly no such permission was obtained - Relief claimed by appellant was not personal in nature and it was for benefit of herself and others - It is not a case where relief in respect of usage of public lane was claimed by appellant alone - In plaint itself, she stated that she filed suit for herself and on behalf of residents of locality and therefore it became necessary for appellant to comply with Rule 8 - Once plaintiff stated that suit is filed for benefit of entire community, she alone cannot champion cause and make respondents to defend themselves - Lower appellate Court has taken correct view of matter - A serious error was committed by trial Court - Keeping aside procedural defect in suit, it may be noted that relief claimed in it was to effect that suit lane is public rasta - Observation of trial Court totally untenable and clearly outside scope of suit - Claim based on easementary right stands on a different footing and altogether different connotations arise - Whole approach was untenable - Lower appellate Court has rectified serious mistakes committed by trial Court - 2nd appeal, dismissed. Shaik Shamiunnisa Vs. Narravula Obulamma 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 264 = 2010(6) ALD 663.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.1, Rules 8 & 10 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.136 - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit for declaration and possession of suit property with prayer for restraining respondents/ defendants 3 to 5 from interfering with his right to enjoy suit property by entering upon it or using it as pathway as if it is public pathway - As respondents did not appear, suit decreed ex-parte - Executing Court allowing Application filed by respondents 1 and 2 impleading them as defendants 5 and 7 in suit - Single Judge of High Court dismissing Revision filed by appellant - Contention that, a suit where notice under Or.1, Rule 8 has been issued, could not have been reopened at instance of respondents 1 and 2 without allowing their Application for condonation of delay and for setting aside ex-parte decree - If a village pathway is subject matter of suit on premise that it is personal property of plaintiff, those who use said pathway or at least have lands adjacent thereto should ordinarily be impleaded as parties - A decree which has been obtained by suppression of fact or collusively would not be executable against those who are not parties to suit - In any event, whether service of notice was proper would also be subject matter of enquiry by trial Court - It has also to be seen as to whether notice in terms of Or.1, R.10 was published in news paper having a wide circulation in locality - Executing Court has allowed Application for impleadment of respondents 1 & 3 as defendants 4 & 5, so as to enable them to press their application for setting aside ex-parte decree upon condonation of delay - Impugned Orders, justified - Application, dismissed. V.J. Thomas Vs. Shri Pathrose Abraham 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 142

—Or.1, Rule 10 - Impleadment of necessary parties - General rule in regard to impleadment of parties is that plaintiff in a suit, being dominus litis, may choose persons against whom he wishes to litigate and cannot be compelled to see a person against whom he does not seek any relief - Consequently a person who is not a party has no right to be impleaded against wishes of plaintiff - But this general rule is subject to provisions of Or.1, Rule 10(2) CPC - Court has discrtion to either to allow or reject an application of a person claiming to be a proper party, depending upon facts and circumstances and no person has right to insist that he should be impleaded as a party merely because he is a proper party - In this case, on careful examination of facts, appellant is neither a necessary party nor a proper party - As noticed, appellant is neither a purchaser nor a lessee of suit property and he has no right, title or interest therein - 1st respondent/plaintiff in suit has not sought any relief against appellant - Presence of appellant is not necessary for passing an effective decree in suit for specific performance - Nor its presence is necessary for complete and effective adjudication of matter in issue in suit for specific performance filed by 1st respondent/ plaintiff - A person who expects to get a lease from defendant in suit for specific performance in event of suit being dismissed, cannot be said to be a person, having some semblance of title, in property in dispute - When appellant is neither claiming any right or remedy against 1st responent and when 1st responent is not claiming any right or remedy against appellant, in a suit for specific performance by 1st respondent, appellant cannot be a party - Appeal, dismissed. Mumbai International Airport Pvt., Vs. Regency Convention Centre & Hostels Pvt.,Ltd. 2010(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 62 = 2010(5) ALD 24(SC) = 2010 AIR SCW 4222 = AIR 2010 SC 3109.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.1, Rule 10 - 1st respondent filed suit against respondents 2 & 3 for relief of specific performance of agreement of sale, in respect of suit property, rice Mill - Petitioners' children and wife of 2nd respondent filed application to implead them as defendants, contending that 2nd respondent colluded with 1st respondent who is none other than his brother-in-law and got filed suit to knock away joint family property and that decree also passed by Senior Civil Judge for partition between themselves and respondents 2 & 3 in respect of various items including suit schedule property - 1st respondent contends that petitioners are neither proper nor necessary parties and that application is filed only with an object of protracting proceedings - Trial Court dismissed application - Basically, it is plaintiff in a suit, to identify parties against whom he has any grievance and to implead them as defendants in suit filed for necessary relief - He cannot be compelled to face litigation with persons against whom he has no grievance - Where, however, any third party is likely to suffer griegvance on account of out come of suit, he shall be entitled to get himself impleaded - In this case, petitioners contended that mill is property of joint family headed by 2nd respondent i.e. 1st defendant in suit and that preliminary decree was obtained by them in respect of properties held by joint family - 2nd defendant did not file any counter disputing claim made by petitioners - In this case, it is matter of record that there exists a preliminary decree to which petitioners, on one hand and respondents 2 & 3 on other hand are parties and subject matter of present suit is one of items therein - Therefore petitioners are proper and necessary parties to I.A - CRP, allowed. Pallapu Mohanarao (died) per LRs Vs. Thammisetty Subba Rao 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 42 = 2011(6) ALD 324.

—Or.1, Rule 10 - "Impleadment of defendants" - Respondents filed suit for partition - Preliminary decree passed - Petitioners filing Application for their impleadment in final decree proceedings contending that they have purchased part of suit schedule

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

property from 4th respondent - Trial Court allowed Application - Petitioners also filed similar Application for their impleadment as defendant in suit contending that property purchased from 4th respondent in year 1979 itself and suit was filed in year 1980 and they have not impleaded as defendants and that preliminary decree was obtained by fraud and collusion among respondents Nos.1 to 4 - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioners - Petitioners contend that having already allowed petitioners to come on record as respondents in final decree proceedings, lower Court ought to have allowed them to come on record as defendant in suit, as they have substantial interest in subject matter of suit - Power of Court to implead a person as party is discretionary - However, Court will have to exercise its discretion having regard to nature of claim and facts and circumstances of case and where presence of a person is necessary for effective education of disputes arising in suit, Court has to necessarily to implead person to come on record - In this case, it is not in dispute that petitioners have been claiming their substantial rights over properties which are subject matter of preliminary decree and in recognition there of, they were already allowed to come on record as respondents in final decree proceedings - In this case, petitioners have pleaded before trial Court that preliminary decree was obtained by collusion - Whether said decree was collusive or not needs to be examined in final decree proceedings and it was premature for lower Court to embark upon that question at stage of considering implead applications of petitioners in final decree proceedings as that it would triable issue in final decree proceedings - Where a person shows that he has deep and substantive interest in subject matter of suit and that final decree that may be passed would seriously affect his interest, Court should not throw away application for impleadment - Refusal to allow petitioners to come on record as defendants in suit will result in serious miscarriage of justice - Orders of lower Court are set aside - CRPs allowed. Tai Nagaratnam Vs. M. Sulochanadevi, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 141 = 2012(5) ALD 264 = 2012(5) ALT 228.

—Or.1, Rule 10 - 1st petitioner acquired property and got property registered in name of 2nd respondent one of sons of 1st petitioner and subseqeuntly house constructed therein said to be by joint family - When there was some resistance by two sons of petitioner he filed a suit in which a compromise decree was obtained thereunder it was agreed that second son of petitioner shall be owner of property, but 1st petitioner shall have right to enjoy property during his life time and 2nd respondent is to be paid Rs.23 lakhs - 1st respondent filed suit for sale of property pleading that 2nd respondent mortgaged property and obtained an ex parte preliminary decree for an amount of Rs.1.22 crores - On coming to know, petitioners filed I.A under Or.1, Rule 10 to implead them as defendants in suit and another I.A under Or.9, Rule 13 to set aside ex parte preliminary decree contending that 2nd respondent created a fictitious so-called mortgage ad that 2nd respondent did not make mention of it when compromise decree was passed - Trial Court dismissed I.As. - Petitioners contend that 2nd respondent has been troubling petitioners and and rest of family for past several decades and even after receiving substantial amount op Rs. 23 lakhs and he created a fictitious mortage in collusion with 1st respondent and very fact that 2nd respondent remained ex parte in suit even after receiving summons discloses that he determined to cause trouble to petitioners who are in possession and enjoyment of property - 1st respondent contends that trial Court satisfied to existence of mortgage and genuinity thereof and preliminary decree was passed in suit and that sole basis for right cliamed by petitioners is compromise decree and since said decree not registered u/Sec.17(f) of Registration Act cannot be acted upon - Application filed under Or.1, Rule 10 need not depend upon existence of absolute rights - It would be sufficient if parties have some interest in property, which is subject matter of suit and that petitioners can certainly fall back not only upon decree in suit but also on relationship in family and that contention of respondents that third parties cannot be impleaded in a suit, after a preliminary decree is pass, cannot be countenanced, since in any suit in which final decree is contemplated is deemed to be pending till final decree is passed - Therefore petitioners deserve to be impleaded in suit as defendants and as respondents in final decree proceedings - Orders passed by lower Court in IAs, set aside - CRP, allowed. I.Aga Reddy Vs. S.Dharneet Singh, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 350 = 2013(4) ALD 138 = 2013(3) ALT 637.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or. I Rule 10 - Impleading of Parties - Learned court below has thought that unless the 1st respondent/proposed parties are added as parties to final decree proceedings, there cannot be any complete and effective adjudication of the disputes between parties and rights of proposed parties would be jeopardized and hence allowed impleadment petitions - Revision Petitions filed against the impleadment - Held, Court may at any stage of the proceedings, on its own or on application made by a party, direct a third party to be impleaded in suit or proceeding for complete and effective adjudication of issue involved in the suit - Therefore, no interference with discretion exercised by the learned court below - Three Revision Petitions fail and are accordingly dismissed. T.Chandrasekhar Vs. Sunchu Rajamallu, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 120 = 2014(6) ALD 58.

—Or.1, Rule 10 - Suit filed by the Petitioners for declaration of their title in respect of a property, for ejection of respondent no.1 from suit schedule property, for putting petitioners in possession of suit schedule property and for grant of perpetual injunction restraining respondent no.1 from interfering with their possession of suit schedule property - Lower Court granted ad interim injunction restraining respondent no.1 from alienating suit schedule property - Petitioners filed I.A. under Or.1 Rule 10 of CPC with allegation that despite subsistence of the said order of injunction, respondent no.1 has executed a registered sale deed in favour of respondent no.2 represented by respondent no.3, conveying certain extent of land which includes suit schedule property - Therefore, petitioners have sought for impleadment of respondent nos.2 and 3 in the suit - Respondent no.1 filed a counter-affidavit stating that said property was in no way concerned with suit schedule property and therefore, question of impleading respondent nos.2 and 3 in the suit would not arise - Respondent nos.2 and 3 did not enter their appearance nor filed their counter-affidavits - I.A. filed by Petitioners for impleadment of respondent nos.2 and 3 in suit remained uncontested by latter - Lower court has dismissed said application, on following grounds, among others:

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

1) That as per the recent amendment, no court can permit impleadment of a party under Or.1 Rule 10 CPC after commencement of the trial.

2) That there is variation in the names of the respondent nos. 2 and 3 given by the petitioners in the affidavit filed in support of the I.A.

Petitioners filed the present revision against that order - Held, the aforesaid provision does not anywhere bar impleadment of any party after the commencement of the trial - On the contrary, sub-Rule (2) of Or.X, Rule 10 CPC empowers the Court to strike out or add any party at any stage of the proceedings, if it feels it just and that the presence of such party is necessary to enable itself to effectually and completely adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the suit - Thus, reasoning of lower court that addition of party after commencement of the trial is barred reflects a complete non-application of mind on its part - With regard to reason pertaining to variation in names, the fact, however, remains that there is no dispute relating to their identity - In prayer in the said application, petitioner has correctly described names of respondent nos. 2 and 3 and same match with names mentioned in sale deed executed by respondent no.1 in favour of respondent nos.2 and 3 - This being position, reliance on purported variation in the description of names of respondent nos.2 and 3 in different paragraphs of affidavit filed in support of implead application is wholly misplaced and court is not expected to rely upon such inconsequential mistakes - A perusal of plaint schedule vis a vis the schedule contained in sale deed would show that while former has described boundaries in terms of plot numbers, latter has described boundaries in terms of survey numbers - It will be a matter for evidence to be adduced by parties as to whether respondent no.1 has sold suit schedule property to respondent nos.2 and 3 or not - The fact, however, remains that the survey number remains common both in the plaint schedule and also in the schedule shown in the sale deed - Respondent nos.2 and 3 are proper and necessary parties to suit, for, if they are not impleaded as defendants, the petitioners may be forced to institute another substantive proceedings for invalidation of sale deed executed by respondent no. 1 and recovery of possession from respondent nos. 2 and 3 - Such a course would only result in multiplicity of proceedings - The lower court, by dismissing present application on jejune grounds, has given rook for multiplicity of proceedings - For the above reasons, this court is of opinion that lower court has committed a serious jurisdictional error in dismissing application filed by petitioners for impleadment of respondent nos. 2 and 3 in the suit - Accordingly order under revision is set aside - Lower court is directed to reopen entire case, allow all the parties to amend their pleadings and adduce additional evidence, if necessary, and dispose of suit thereafter. K.Yogender Reddy Vs. K.Usha Rani, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 308 = 2015(1) ALD 173 = 2015(3) ALT 31.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.1 Rule 10 - Suit for Specific Performance- To implead the petitioner in the suit as bona fide purchaser of portion of suit schedule property and therefore he is necessary party to suit and he may be impleaded so that he can protect his right, title and interest in suit property - Court below allowed said application - Challenging same present revision is filed - Held, although learned counsel for 1st respondent also sought to contend that Kallaiah is owner of property, this Court afraid that said question cannot be gone into in suit O.S.No.181 of 2014 filed by respondent Nos.2 to 5 for specific performance against petitioner and 6th respondent by allowing the 1st respondent to get impleaded - If said issue is allowed to be raised, it would result in converting the suit for specific performance filed by respondent Nos.2 to 5 against petitioner and 6th respondent into a suit for declaration of title of suit schedule property and alter very nature of suit - In this view of matter, trial Court of opinion that Court below was not correct in allowing I.A.No.188 of 2013 - Therefore, its order dt.16-07-2013 in I.A.No.188 of 2013 in O.S.No.140 of 2009 (O.S.No.181 of 2014) is set aside - Civil Revision Petition is allowed, and I.A.No.188 of 2013 is dismissed. Patturu Vishnu Kumar Vs. Rudraraju Satyanarayana Raju 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 12.

—Or.1, Rule 10 - Respondent Nos. 1 to 24 filed suit for declaration of title alleging that they have purchased suit schedule property from respondents Nos. 27 to 29 - Respondent No. 25, 1st defendant in suit has set up its own title through respondent No. 26, who is no more – Petitioners who are related to respondent No.26 filed I.A. for their impleadment under Order 1 Rule 10 on ground that property sold by respondent No. 26 to respondent No. 25 is “mathruka” property and that they have also share in said property – Lower Court has dismissed I.A. Hence, petitioners filed present Revision Petition - Lower Court has assigned a very strange reason for rejecting petitioners’ Application – It has not rendered any finding that petitioners, have no interest in subject matter of suit – It has predicted outcome of suit and consequently held that as suit in any event is going to be dismissed, no purpose will be served in impleading petitioners - This court of opinion such reasoning falls foul of rationality and objectivity – Under Order 1 Rule 10, Court is empowered to strike out or add parties and such power has to be exercised in a Judicious manner – Irrespective of merits of claim of petitioners, their impleadment would avoid multiplicity of proceedings in that, necessity for them to file a separate suit can be obviated, if present suit is decided in their presence - Lower Court has failed to consider Application of petitioners from proper perspective and adopted a lopsided reasoning in dismissing application of petitioner – Order of Lower Court, set aside - CRP, allowed accordingly. Khadirunnisa Begum Vs.D.S.N.Raju 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 75 = 2015(4) ALD 518 = 2015(3) ALT 608.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.1, Rule 10 and A.P. ASSIGNED LANDS (PROHIBITION OF TRANSFERS) ACT, 1977, Secs.8 & 9 -Petitioners/plaintiffs filed suit against 3rd respondent for injunction - While LRs of 3rd respondent contesting suit, Govt., of A.P. represented by District Collector & Tahsildar filed Application under Or.1, Rule 10 to add them as defendnts in suit on ground that they are necessary and proper parties and without their presence no complete and effective decision cannot be taken - Petitioner opposed petition on ground that suit is bare injunction and Govt., is not necessary party for disposal of suit - In this case, question whether assignment of land made in favour of revision petitioners by State Govt. is valid is pending adjudication in writ petition - When said question is pending adjudication before High Court, Junior civil Judge before whom civil suit is pending, cannot proceed to decide very same question in suit before him when suit is for bare injunction by assignees against 3rd parties - A civil suit is barred in respect of question as to validity of assignment made under Act - Since Junior Civil Judge before whom suit is pending is not competent to examine validity of assignment made in favour of revision petitioners, it is absolutely necessary to add respondent 1 & 2 District Collector and Tahsildar as defendants in suit - Order passed by Junior civil Judge, is erroneous - Revision, allowed. Mendi Mahalakshmi Vs. State of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 339 = 2011(3) ALD 660 = 2011(4) ALT 295.

—Or.1, Rule 10 – CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE, Rule 32 & 33 - STAMP ACT, 1899, Sec.35 – REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, Sec.17 – TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, Sec.54 - In lower Court, the petitioner filed petition under Rule 32 of Civil Rules of Practice, requesting the Court to permit him to appear on behalf of petitioner and same was dismissed on ground that irrevocable General Power of Attorney not only requires registration but it is also insufficient by stamped as per provisions of Stamp Act.

In present revision, petitioner contends that Rule 32 of Civil Rules of Practice only requires that if a party is represented by an agent, such agent should seek leave of the Court to represent party and it is sufficient if Court is satisfied that agent was authorized to sign pleadings and question of non registration and insufficiency of stamp duty of instrument containing authorization cannot be gone into by Court below while deciding whether or not to permit party to be represented by an agent under Rule 32 of Civil Rules of Practice and that those issues should be decided only if document is sought to be adduced in evidence.

Respondent contends that insufficiently stamped document is inadmissible in evidence for any purpose and cannot be admitted even for a collateral purpose.

Held, since irrevocable General Power of Attorney admittedly authorized agent to sell properties comprised therein including plaint schedule properties and contains recitals which transfer the rights of executants in favour of power of attorney holder, it is clearly insufficiently stamped since it is typed on Rs.100/- stamp paper – Court below was correct in refusing to act upon such General Power of Attorney for purpose of permitting petitioner to be represented by their agent and to implead them on basis of said irrevocable General Power of Attorney.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Hence, Revision Petition dismissed – However, Court observed that it is made clear that this will not preclude petitioners from paying adequate stamp duty and penalty on General Power of Attorney or filing another authorization authorizing agent to represent them and at on their behalf in suits and filing such Applications again under Rule 32 of Civil Rules of Practice and Or.1, Rule 10 of CPC and if either of steps or taken by petitioner, Court below shall consider Applications under Rule 32 of Civil Rules of Practice and under Or.1, Rule 10 of CPC in accordance with law. Aruna Sagar Vs. Shrushti Infrastructure Corporation 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 302 = 2016(2) ALD 403.

—Or.1, Rule 10 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.52 - "Impleadment of party" - "Doctrine of lis pendens" - Suit for partition - Petitioner, proposed party filed Application under Or.1, Rule 10, seeking impleadment in suit as one of defendants - Trial Court rejected Application on ground that transaction in his favour is hit by lis pendens and his interest is already covered by stand taken by vendor, hence he is not necessary party to suit - Petitioner contends that, firstly assessment of trial Court that vendor of petitioner is on record is factually incorrect and secondly, reasoning of Court that merely because petitioner's transfer is hit by lis pendens, he is not entitled to be impleaded is also erroneous - Respondents contend that very claim of petitioner in any part of Sy.No.itself is doubtful in view of lack of title of A.A through whom petitioner traces title and that impleadment of unconcerned parties, at this stage, would unnecessarily protact and delay disposal of suit and that petitioner's Application in final decree proceedings may be considered at later stage - DOCTRINE OF LIS PENDENS AND ITS STATUTORY INTERPRETATION U/SEC.52 OF T.P ACT - STATED - In light of settled principles of law on doctrine of lis pendens Or.1, Rule 10 which empowers Court to add any person as party at any stage of proceedings if person whose presence before Court is necessary or proper for effective adjudication of issue involved in suit - Sub-Rule (2) of Rule 10 gives wider discretion to Court to meet every case defect of a party and to proceed with a person who is a either necessary party or a proper party whose presence in Court is essential for effective determination of issues involved in suit - Impugned order of trial Court, set aside - Petitioner shall stand appro-priately impleaded in suit and thereafter shall be given opportunity to file written statement and thereafter trial Court shall proceed with suit in accordance with law - CRP, allowed. Lebaka Vijaya Bhaskar Reddy Vs. Ambavaram Narayanamma 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 42 = 2013(6) ALD 184 = 2013(6) ALT 516.

—Or.1, Rule 10 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.52 - DOCTRINE OF LIS PENDENS - Petitioner/appellant/plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale in respect of certain extent of land - 1st respondent/defendant admitted execution of agreement, but opposed grant of relief of specific performance - Trial Court dismissed suit - Hence present appeal - Since 1st respondent sold schedule property pending disposal of appeal appellant filed petition to implead purchasers as respondents in appeal for effective adjudication of questions/issues in appeal - Inspite of service of notice, on proposed respondents nos.2 to 6, no representation on their behalf - 1st respondent only filed counter affidavit contending inter alia that petition is not maintainable and the petitioner appellant has no locus stndi to file it and that any sales made by respondents would be subject to doctrine of lis pendens enunciated in Sec.52 of Transfer of property Act and that transferee pendete lit is not entitled to come on record as a matter of right and that if respondents nos.2 to 6 are impleaded it would complicate issues in appeal and might lead to prolong of litigation - Admittedly, proposed parties have acquired interest in entire property which is subject matter of appeal and in such a situation it is possible that first respondent may not properly defend appeal or he may collide with appellant - Although appellant was under no obligation to make respondent nos.2 to 6 as parties to appeal, Court has discretion to do by invoking Or.22, Rule 10 of CPC. - Contention of 1st respondent that appellant has no locus standi to implead respondent nos.2 to 6 in view of Sec.52 of T.P Act, rejected - Respondents 2 to 6 herein are impleaded as respondents in appeal - Application, allowed. K.Srinivasalu Vs. Jaldu Subramanyam Chetty, 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 81 = 2013(6) ALD 784.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.1, Rule 10. Or.6, Rule 17 & Or.22, Rule 10 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.52 - "pendente lite transferee" - Respondents 1 and 2 filed suit for granting permanent injunction restraining defendants from entering into any contract in respect of plaint schedule property and restraining defendants from interfering with plaintiffs management control of be schedule propertyPetitioner purchased plaint schedule property from respondents 3 to 6/defendants 1 to 4, pendenti lite - Respondents 1 & 2 filed Application under Or.1, Rule 10 and Or.6, Rule 17 of CPC, seeking impleadment of petitioner as one of defendants to suit - Trial Court allowed Application - Hence present CRP - Admittedly petitioner is pendenti lite trassferee of plaint B schedule property - If respondents 1 & 2/plaintiffs succeeding in suit whole transfer in favour of petitioner stands invalidated in view of Sec.52 of T.P Act - Therefore it cannot be said, that petitioner is not necessary or proper party for proper and effective adjudication of suit - It cannot be disputed a pendente lite transferee is a proper, though not a necessary party - Impleadment of petitioner would enable it to putforth its defence against any of reliefs claimed by plaintiffs, if it wishes to do so - Order of lower Court, justified - CRP, dismissed. Chandana Brothers Shopping Mall Vs. M/s. Urvasi Enterprises, 2012(1) Law Summary 308 = 2012(3) ALD 12 = 2012(3) ALT 455.

—Or.1, Rule 10(2) - "Principles governing disposal of Application for impleadment of parties" - Stated"

1.The Court can, at any stage of the proceedings, either on an Application made by the parties or otherwise, direct impleadment of any person as party, who ought to have been joined as plaintiff or defendant or whose presence before the Court is necessary for effective and complete adjudication of the issues involved in the suit.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

2.A necessary party is the person who ought to be joined as party to the suit and in whose absence an effective decree cannot be passed by the Court.

3.A proper party is a person whose presence would enable the Court to completely, effectively and properly adjudicate upon all matters and issues, though he may not be a person in favour of or against whom a decree is to be made.

4.If a person is not found to be a proper or necessary party, the Court does not have the jurisdiction to order his impleadment against the wishes of the plaintiff.

5. In a suit for specific performance, the Court can order impleadment of a purchaser whose conduct is above board, and who files application for being joined as party within reasonable time of his acquiring knowledge about the pending litigation.

6.However, if the applicant is guilty of contumacious conduct or is beneficiary of a clandestine transaction or a transaction made by the owner of the suit property in violation of the restraint order passed by the Court or the application is unduly delayed then the Court will be fully justified in declining the prayer for impleadment.

For their contumacious conduct of suppressing facts from High Court and thereby prolonging litigation, appellants and Developers are saddled with costs of Rs.5 lakhs each - Appeals, dismissed. Vidhur Impex And Traders Pvt.Ltd., Vs. Tash ApartmentsPvt.l Ltd., 2012(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 64.

—Or.1, Rule 10(2) - 1st respondent/plaintiff filed suit for permanent injunction restraining respondents 2 to 5 from interfering with her peaceful possession and enjoyment - Petitioners/3rd Parties filed Application in said suit with plea that their vendors have purchased suit schedule property under registered sale deeds and that they have in turn sold properties to petitioners and filed application for their impediment in suit - Trial Court dismissed application filed by 3rd parties - On ground that 3rd parties/ petitioners failed to specifically point out as to whether their plots fall in particular survey nos. and that no relief has been claimed against petitioners by 1st respondent/ plaintiff and they are neither necessary nor proper parties for adjudication of suit - NECESSARY AND PROPER PARTY - DISTINCTION - Supreme Court in its judgment has drawn a subtle distinction as under - " … A necessary party is one without whom no order can be made effectively; a proper party is one in whose absence an effective order can be made but whose presence is necessary for a complete and final decision on the question involved in the proceeding." - In ultimate analysis, Court is required to see whether persons who claim to be impleaded have direct interest in subject matter of dispute and whether their presence would help Court to finally and completely adjudicate dispute - In this case, as to what extent petitioners have interested and whether respondent/plaintiff no.1 is entitled to grant of injunctions or, are not need to be examined in suit - Even if petitioners are necessary parties, surely, they are proper parties - On careful analysis of facts and circumstance of case, petitioners deserved to be impleaded as defendants in suit - Order of trial Court, set aside - Application filed by Third parties, allowed - CRP, allowed. Racharla Thirupathi Vs. Gundala Shobha Rani 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 105 = 2013(5) ALD 566 = 2013(5) ALT 209.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or.1, Rule 10(2) - Petitioners, third parties in suit filed IA seeking permission to add themselves as defendants 4 and 5 which resulted in dismissal - Present Revision is filed questioning the validity and legal validity of impugned order - Held, petitioner No.1 is claiming a right adverse to plaintiff in suit and as such petitioners cannot be said to be proper and necessary parties in present suit in accordance to principles and parameters laid down by Apex Court and other past judgments given by this High Court - Revision Dismissed - Civil Procedure Code, Or.1, Rule 10(2) - A third party or a stranger to contract cannot be added so as to convert a suit of one character into a suit of different character - Proposed parties would be at liberty either to obstruct execution in order to protect their possession by taking recourse to relevant provisions of Code, if they are available to them, or to file an independent suit (per Apex Court). Matta @ Palina Bhavani Vs. Matta Tulasi Rao 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 356 = 2014(5) ALD 733 = 2014(5) ALT 360.

—-Or.1, Rule 10(2) - Petitioners/proposed defendants 6 to 8/third parties to the suit filed this petition against the orders of trial Court passed in I.A. filed under Order I, Rule 10(2) of the Code of Civil Procedure, for their impleadment as defendants 6 to 8 in the suit.

The case of proposed defendants is that they had purchased item no.1 of suit schedule property from the 3rd defendant for a valuable consideration under a regular registered sale deed and that 3rd defendant had delivered possession of same to them and that they are in possession of property - The 3rd proposed party has in fact purchased a part of property in item no.3, that is, an extent of Ac.0.02 cents and 431 Square links - The 1st proposed party and 2nd proposed party had purchased Ac.0.02 cents and 397 Square links - All the three proposed parties are in joint possession and enjoyment of entire item no.3 of suit schedule property - Prior to said purchases, they and other person had entered into an agreement of sale for a consideration of Rs.11,60,000/- per cent with 3rd defendant - The 3rd defendant had executed an agreement of sale in favour of a person on 10-2-2012 - On 3-3-2012, the proposed defendants had verified all the documents of the 3rd defendant and also of 2nd defendant and had entered into an agreement of sale; and on 31-7-2012 and 30-7-2012 the 3rd defendant had directly executed registered sale deeds in favour of the proposed defendants 6 to 8 - The 3rd defendant and the said person had not given them any information about the filing of the suit by the plaintiff - A week prior to the filing of present petition, 8th proposed defendant had come to know of suit proceedings, when he wanted to sell away property -

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Since proposed defendants have purchased 3rd item of suit schedule property for valuable consideration and are in possession and enjoyment of said item of plaint schedule property they are entitled to agitate their claims and plead before Court in suit - Hence petition is filed for their impleadment.

Case of plaintiff in counter is that alienation made during pendency of suit is hit by the Rule enshrined in doctrine of lis pendens in view of provision of Section 52 of Transfer of Property Act - Alienees are bound by outcome of suit - Therefore, there is no need to permit them to come on record - Petitioners are not entitled to be impleaded as defendants 6 to 8 in suit. Suit can be effectively and conclusively adjudicated even without presence of said proposed defendants and petition may be dismissed - Trial Court, by order impugned, had dismissed petition of plaintiff.

Held, from facts and ratios in it appears that pendente lite alienations/transfers that are made in violation of restraint orders or injunction orders do not confer any rights on pendente lite purchasers and that such alienations are to be treated as non est and that such pendente lite purchasers are not entitled to seek their impleadment in a pending suit and that Courts would be fully justified in declining prayer for impleadment made by such applicants who are guilty of contumacious conduct or are beneficiaries of clandestine transactions made in violation of restraint orders.

Having regard to the legal position and in view of the precedential guidance and the ratio in latest decision in Thomson Press (India) Ltd., V. Nanak Builders & Investors P. Ltd., 2013(3) ALD 111 (SC), this Court is of considered view that proposed defendants' request for their impleadment has to be considered in facts and circumstances of case and also for ends of justice - Viewed thus, this Court finds that order impugned brooks interference - In result, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and order impugned is set aside. Yeddula Satheesh Kumar Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 331 = 2016(5) ALD 228.

—Or,1, Rule 10(2) - CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE, Rule 28 - Impleadment of 3rd parties to suit - Senior Civil Judge dismissing Application filed by petitioner/Association to add them as 2nd respondent in appeal - Petitioner contends that where 3rd party rights are affected and also to avoid multiplicity of proceedings Court is under obligation to implead such parties - Or.1, Rule 10 (2) - Scope and object - Stated - Object of provision is to bring before Court all persons interested in dispute so that all such controversies involved in suit may be determined once for all in presence of all parties without delay and inconvenience - In this case, ground on which revision petitioner-proposed party intends to come on record is that Association intends to protect interests of members of said Association or Society and inasmuch as proposed party is in a way expousing cause of public to safeguard interest of public to see that litigation is effectually adjudicated and that presence of such party before Court would be essential - It is not case of proposed party that proposed party is having any direct interest in subject matter of litigation - Order of lower Court in dismissing Application - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Rajendranagar Residents Welfare Assn.,Vs.Visakhapatnam Municipal Corpn., 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 239 = 2009(2) ALD 655 = 2009(1) APLJ 267 = 2009(2) ALT 669.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.1, Rule 10(2) & Or.22, Rule 10 - Impleadment of party - Suit for injunction - 1st respondent originally filed suit for perpetual injunction against defendant/2nd respondent - Petitioner purchased suit property from 1st respondent under registered sale deeds and became owner of suit property - Since 1st respondent not interested in prosecuting suit against defendant, petitioner filed Application seeking permission to implead him as 2nd plaintiff in suit, else he will be put to irreperable loss - Trial Court dismissed Application holding that petitioner who is a subsequent purchaser cannot be treated as necessary or proper party in a suit for injunction - CPC, OR.1, RULE 10 (2) - OBJECT AND SCOPE - Stated - Provision confers wide discretion upon Court - Provision is expressly provided in CPC so as to meet situation and ensure that rendering of justice to parties is not hampered - If Court is satisfied that party sought to be impleaded is proper and necessary party for adjudication of issues and such party has a direct interest in subject matter of litigation, invariably it is required to implead such a person as a party to proceedings - Normally, plaintiff would proceed against a person against whom he wishes to proceed, but, however, by virtue of Or.1, Rule 10 (2) of CPC at any stage of proceedings, Court may order addition of parties, even though plaintiff is not interested to implead such person as a party to proceedings - In this case, petitioner is said to have purchased suit property from plaintiff/1st respondent during pendency of suit and since plaintiff/respondent having sold suit property to petitioner, is said to have indicated of non-pursuing suit and petitioner being subsequent purchaser and having acquired interest in suit property, he should be permitted to get himself impleaded as plaintiff No.2 in present suit for injunction filed by plaintiff/1st respondent against defendant/2nd respondent to defend his interest therein, which would not only be in interest of justice but would also avoid multiplicity of proceedings between parties - Trial Court directed to implead petitioner as plaintiff No.2 in suit - Impugned order of trial Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. V. Narayana Reddy Vs. Smt. Rani Narayan 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 444 = 2009(4) ALD 13 = 2009(4) ALT 9 = AIR 2009 AP 124.

—Or.2, Rule2 and Or.8, Rule 6(A) - Counter claim dismissed - Wether a bar under Order 2 Rule 2 - Court held that a counter claim preferred by the defendant in a suit is in the nature of a cross suit and by a statutory command - Even if the suit is dismissed, counter claim shall remain alive for adjudication - Plaintiff is obliged to file a written statement and in case there is default the court can pronounce the Judgment against the plaintiff in relation to the counter claim put forth by the defendant as it has an independent status - Purpose of the scheme relating to counter claim is to avoid multiplicity of the proceedings - When a counter claim is dismissed on being adjudicated on merits it forecloses the rights of defendant. Rajni Rani Vs. Khairati Lal 2014(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 64 = 2015(1) ALD 13(SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 6187.

—Or.2, Rules 2(2) & (3) - Respondents initially filed two suits in High Court as plaintiffs, seeking decree of permanent injunction restraining appellants/defendants from alienating, encumbering or dealing with plaint schedule properties to any other third party other than plaintiffs and also sought leave of Court to omit to claim relief of specific performance with liberty to suit for said relief at later point of time if necessary - Thereafter two suits filed by plaintiffs in District Judge's Court seeking decree against defendants/appellants for execution and registration of sale deeds in respect of same property for delivery of possession - In this case, according to High Court it is only after filing of suits and on failure of defendants to execute sale deeds and that cause of action to seek aforasaid relief of specific performance had accrued - Accordingly High Court took view that provisions of Or.2, Rule 2(3) of CPC were not attracted to render subsequent suits filed by plaintiffs in District Court not maintainable - High Court also took view that provisions of Or.2, Rule 2(3) of CPC would render subsequent suit not maintainable only if earlier suit has been decreed and said provisions of CPC will not apply if first suit remains pending - Or.2, Rule (1) requires every suit to include whole of claim to which plaintiff is entitled in respect of any particular cause of action - However plaintiff has an option to relinquish any part of his claim if he chooses to do so - Or.2, Rule 2 contemplates a situation where plaintiff omits to sue or intentionally relinquishes any portion of claim which he entitle to make - If plaintiffs so acts, Or.2, Rule 2 makes it clear that he shall not afterwords, sue for part or portion of claim that has been omitted or relinquished - In such situation, plaintiff is precluded from bringing a subsequent suit to claim relief earlier omitted except in situation where leave of Court had been obtained - APPLICABILITY OF OR.2, RULE 2 CPC - Stated - Cordial requirement for application of provisions contained in Or.2,Rule 2(2) &(3), is that cause of action in later suit must be same as in first suit - In instant case, though leave for relief of specific performance at a later stage was claimed by plaintiff in suits filed in High Court, admittedly no such leave was granted by High Court - As in present case, second set of suits were filed during pendency of earlier suits, it was held that provisions of Or.2, Rule 2(3) will not be attracted - In view of object behind enactment of provisions of Or.2, Rule 2 of CPC which seeks to avoid multiplicity of litigations on same cause of action - If that is true object of law, same would not stand fully subserved by holding that provisions of Or.2, Rule 2 CPC will apply only if first suit is disposed of and not in a situation where second suit has been filed during pendency of first suit - Rather order 2, Rule 2 CPC will apply to both aforesaid situations - Judgments and order of High Court, set aside - Appeals, allowed. Virgo Industries (Eng.) P.Ltd. Vs. Venturetech Solutions P.Ltd. 2012(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 120.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.2, Rule 2(3) - LIMITATION ACT, Art.113 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.108(q) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.299 - Appellant/Telecom took suit property for lease from respondent for running Telephone Exchange on monthly rent of Rs.4000/- under registered lease agreement - On expiry of period of lease respondent demanded appellant to enhance rent to Rs.8000/- per month and issued notice u/Sec.80 of CPC and subsequently filed suit to vacate property - Suit decreed - Respondent initiated proceedings for obtaining delivery of possession - Appeal filed before District Court

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- Petition and revision against dismissal in C.R.P dismissed by High Court granting time for appellants to vacate premises - Since appellants did not pay enhanced rent and did not vacate premises, respondent issued another notice u/Sec.80 of CPC demanding to pay rent at Rs.8000/- per month and also damages due to damage to building and mental agony caused to respondent and thereafter filed suit for recovery of difference rent and for damages and also for mental agony - Trial Court restricted relief, granted difference of rent at Rs.2000 per month and dismissed rest of suit claim, observing that damages to building not proved and respondent did not state in her evidence in chief-examination about mental agony suffered by her - Appellant contends that suit is barred by time in respect of cause of action and also in light of Or.2, Rule 2(3) - Respondent contends that defendant could not be vexed twice for same cause of action - That rule was stated to be directed against split of claims and split of remedies and to be applicable only when both suits arise out of same cause of action between parties and that cause of action for recovery of possession is not necessarily identical with cause of action for recovery of mesne profits - Earlier suits for recovery of possession cannot be construed as barring present suit for recovery of difference in rent and for damages for building and mental agony and present suit may not be capable of being negative on ground of bar of limitation, when right of respondent to recovery of possession was specific issue in earlier suit which ended in favour of respondent only - CLAIM FOR ENHANCED RENT AND DAMAGES - If a tenant continues in possession of demised premises after determination of lease without consent of landlord either expressly or by necessary implication, he is called a tenant by sufferene - A tenant at sufference is bound to pay reasonable rate of damages for use and occupation which cannot exceed enhanced rate of claim by landlord and Court has power and discretion to fix fair and equitable rent in such cases on strength of evidence placed before it - In this case, officials of Telecom Department themselves were conscious of need to enhance rent if lease is to be renewed, is evidenced from correspondence and trial Court in considering enhancement of Rs.2000/- per month to be reasonable - Art.229 of Constitution is sought to be pressed in to service against suit claim as there was no contract in writing between parties for suit period concerning subject property - But effect of non-compliance with mandate requirement of Art.299 cannot deprive a party from obtaining relief against Govt. on basis of benefit or service received by Govt, which relief can be founded on equitable principles of restitution or compensation - Since appellants continued in possession after expiry of lease inspite of being put on notice about claim for enhanced rent, cannot non-suit respondent on any technical considerations from claiming a fair and reasonable sum in suit and sum awarded by trial Court is just and reasonable - Appeal and Cross-Objections, dismissed. Union of India Vs. Nallapaneni Lakshmi Kumari 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 369 = 2011(1) ALD 329.

—Or.2, Rules 3 & 4 and Or.6, R.17 - Amendment of plaint - Suit filed for foreclosure - Trial Court dismissing Application filed by plaintiff seeking relief to amend plaint by adding relief of possession on premise that Application filed at belated stage and proposed amendment would change entire nature of suit - Obviously relief of foreclosure and relief of possession arise on two different causes of action - Nonetheless such different causes of action can be joined together in a multifarious suit - In a suit for foreclosure relief of possession can be sought for and no leave of Court need be obtained and Rules 3 & 4 of Or.2 makes legal position clear - Trial Court is totally oblivious of provisions of Or.2, of Code, having been of view that proposed amendment changes nature of suit, refused to grant relief - Merely because plaintiff is permitted to amend plaint by adding relief he will not be automatically granted relief and it all depends upon type of evidence adduced in support of plea by either of parties - In this case, amendment will prevent multiplicity of proceedings as otherwise once suit is disposed of for foreclosure in favour of plaintiff, he will be driven to file fresh suit seeking relief of possession - Impugned order is quite unsustainable and liable to be set aside - I.A for amendment stands allowed - Revision petition, allowed. Namala Govindu Vs. B.Lakshmana 2008(1) Law Summary 269 = 2008(2) ALD 472 = 2008(2) ALT 570 = 2008(1) APLJ 179.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Order 3, Rule 1 & 2 and Order 26, Rule 4(1)(a)(c) - ADVOCATES ACT, Sec.32 - Suit filed for Recovery of amount - Trail Court accorded permission to petitioner/defendant to cross-examine hand-writing Expert by another hand writing Expert - If special circumstances exist in a particular case Court has power to permit any person not enrolled as an Advocate to appear before in that case - In this case that defendants have not made out valid and sufficient grounds and that they are no special circumstances to accord permission to defendants to have Expert witness cross examined by another Expert witness - Advocate for Defendant is at liberty to take assistance and instructions from Expert and can examine Expert witness with such aid and assistance if necessary at time of cross examining Expert - Impugned order of Trail Court allowing petition, set aside. Kovvuri Kanaka Reddy Vs. N.Yedukondalu , 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 261 = 2014(3) ALD 305 = 2014(3) ALT 578.

—Or.3, Rule 4 - "Termination of vakalat of Advocate" - "Recovery of remuneration due from his client" - Plaintiff filed petition under Or.3, Rule 4 for discharging 4th respondent as plaintiff's advocate - Trial Court while allowing petition imposed a rider that plaintiff should pay 4th respondent's remuneration at rate of Rs.80, 000 per month from a particular date till date of his discharge - 4th respondent in person contends that lower Court is within its legal jurisdiction to direct plaintiff to pay remuneration payable to him while discharging him as plaintiff's Advocate - In view of decisions of Supreme Court and other High Courts that remedy of an Advocate who is discharged or whose vakalat is terminated under Or.3, Rule 4 CPC is that he may approach any Court by way of legal proceedings or suit for recovery of remuneration due from his or her client and Court while terminating Vakalat of Advocate under Or.3, Rule 4 should not entertain claim of Advocate for remuneration or fees or professional charges and should not sanction or award same as a condition precedent for termination of Vakalat in suit itself - Therefore that part of orders passed by lower Court sanctioning remuneration or fees to 4th respondent is outside scope of jurisdiction of Court - Revisions Petitions are allowed, setting aside conditions imposed by lower Court sanctioning remuneration to 4th respondent - This order will not however prevent 4th respondent from taking up appropriate legal proceedings before appropriate Court for recovery of his remuneration, if any payable by his client, Revision petitioner/ plaintiff. Gayatri Projects Ltd. Vs. State of A.P. 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 252 = 2013 (6) ALD 10 = 2013(5) ALT 434.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—- Or.3, Rule 4 & Or.23, Rule 3 - "Rights of an Advocate to represent his client" - Once counsel gets power of attorney/authorization by his client to appear in matter, he gets a right to represent his client in Court and conduct case - Though Or.23, Rule 3 CPC requires compromise to be in writing and signed by parties, signature of Advocate/Counsel is valid for that purpose - In this case, Govt., pleader is legally entitled to enter into a compromise with appellant and his written endorsement Memo filed by appellant can be deemed as a valid consent of respondent itself - Hence counsel appearing for party is fully competent to put his signature to terms of any compromise upon which a decree can be passed in proper compliance with provisions of Or.23, Rule 3 and such decree is perfectly valid. Y.Sleebachen Vs. Superintending Engineer WRO/PWD 2014(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 31 = 2014(6) ALD 157(SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 4898.

—Or.6, Rule 2(1) & Or.7, Rule 14(3) - "Re-open evidence" - "Re-call witness" - Suit for partition and separate possession - Trial Court dismissed petition filed by plaintiff to recall and receive two documents by condoning delay in filing said documents, observing that plaintiff had these documents in their possession for last eleven months prior to filing of petition and suit underwent 23 adjournments and that plaintiffs cross-examined D.Ws on different dates and yet plaintiff did not assign reasons for not filing documents at earliest opportunity - Hence present revision petitions -Defendants contend that there is no reference to present documents in pleadings of plaintiffs and hence documents cannot be received at these belated stage and that there are no valid and sufficient reasons assigned by plaintiffs in support of their request - In this case, since plaintiff denied are required to prove pleaded relationship which was denied by defendants, present document is crucial and relevant document and opportunity to file such document cannot be denied to plaintiff merely on ground of delay - Law is well settled that when substantial justice and technical considerations are pitted against each other, cause of substantial justice deserves to be preferred - There are no circumstances to hold that delay was deliberate and was on account of culpable negligence and malafides on part of plaintiffs - Action of counsel in filing documents furnished to him by plaintiffs after completion of evidence of defendants cannot be termed malafide and for said act of counsel, plaintiffs cannot be penalized - Provisions of law under Or.7, Rule 14(3) CPC confers discretionary powers on Court to grant leave and receive documents at hearing of suit - "SUFFICIENT CAUSE" - In case sufficient cause is shown at hearing of suit and/or at end of trial, such cause shown should receive a liberal construction so as to advance cause of substantial justice, more particularly when documents sought to be filed in opinion of Court, are relevant and may have bearing on aspects to be taken into consideration for determination of real controversy and principal issues involved in suit

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- What constitutes a sufficient cause always depends and facts and circumstances of particular case - Hence Applications need not be rejected merely on ground of delay/ long delay, but test shall be whether sufficient cause is made out for delay - Impugned orders of trial Court are liable to be set aside - Plaintiffs made out valid and sufficient grounds to accord leave to file documents/to recall P.W.1 for reopening evidence - Impugned common order of trial Court, set aside - Revision petitions, allowed. John Santiyago & Vs. Clement Dass, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 53 = 2014(2) ALD 184 = 2014(3) ALT 83.

—Or.6, Rule 16 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.226 & 227 - Respondents 1 & 2 filed suit as declaring them as lawful tenants of suit premises - Appellant filed additional written statemet - 1st and 2nd respondent did not object to taking of additional written statement - 1st and 2nd respondent did not object to taking of additional written statement or framing of issues - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by 1st and 2nd respondent for striking of additional written statement holding that 1st and 2nd respondent have not been able to make out a case for striking of written statement - Single Judge allowed writ petition filed by 1st and 2nd respondents holding that legal representative of deceased/defendant not entitled to take a plea derogaroty to plea already taken - Trial Court was not justified in dismissing Application on ground of delay, which could have been compensated by imposing costs - Court can strike off pleadings only if it is satisfied that same are unnecessary, scandalous, frivolous or vexatious or tend to prejudice, embarrass or delay fair trial of suit or Court is satisfied that suit is an abuse of process of Court - Since striking off pleadings has serious adverse impact on rights of concerned party, power to do so has to be exercised with great care and circumspection - In any case, once additional written statement filed by appellants was taken on record without any objection by respondents 1 & 2, who also led their evidence keeping in view pleading of additional written statement, High Court not justified in allowing Application filed for striking off additional written statement and that too without even adverting to Or.6, Rule 16 C.P.C - Appeal, allowed. Abdul Razak(D)Through LRs. Vs. Mangesh Rajaram Wagle 2010(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 34 = 2010(2) ALD 136 (SC) = 2010 AIR SCW 1414.

—Or.6, Rules 16 & 17 and Or.8, Rule 9 - "Amendment of written statement" - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit against defendants/appellants for declaration of title and for perpetual injunction - After filing written statement admitting claim of plaintiff, filed petition under Or.6, Rule 16 seeking leave of Court to strike out pleadings in written statement and also another petition under Or.8, Rule 9, seeking leave of Court to permit them to file detailed written statement - Trial Court after hearing parties dismissed both petitions - High Court also dismissed CRPs filed by defendant - In appeal supreme Court also dismissed. civil appeals - Thereafter defendant filed fresh petition under Or.6, Rule 17 seeking leave of Court to amend written statement - Trial Court allowed petition permitting defendants to amend written statement - High Court allowed revision filed by plaintiff and set aside order of trial Court allowing amendment of written statement - Hence present appeal by defendant/appellant - Appellant contends order passed on petition under Or.6, Rule 16 and Or.8, Rule 9 will not operate as res judicata on subsequent application filed under Or.6, Rule 17 of CPC and that High Court has not correctly appreciated settled principle of law and passed impugned order - Respondents contends that application for amendment is liable to be rejected on sole ground that it is filed 13 years after institution of suit and that too when trial of suit had begun and plaintiffs, witness was cross examined and that disruptive plea cannot be allowed to be taken by way of amendment in written statement and that grounds taken by defendant for amending written statement has already been discussed in earlier petitions filed under Or.6, Rule 16 and Or.8, Rule 9 and trial Court rejected said applications and said order was affirmed by Supreme Court - In this case, in revision filed by the defendants/appellants, High Court considered all decisions referred by defendants on issue whether defendants can withdraw admission made in written statement and finally came to conclusion that defendant-appellants cannot be allowed to resile from admission made in written statement while taking recourse to Or.8, Rule 9, or Or.6, Rule 16 by seeking to file a fresh written statement - High Court in impugned order has rightly held that filing of subsequent Application for same relief is an abuse of process of Court and that relief sought by defendant in a subsequent petition under Or.6, Rule 17 was elaborately dealt with on two earlier petitions filed by defendant appellants under Or.6, Rule 17 and Or.8, Rule 9 and therefore subsequent petition filed by defendants labelling petition under Or.6, Rule 17 is wholly misconceived and not entertainable - Appeals, dismissed. S.Malla Reddy Vs. Future Builders Co-operative Housing Socy. 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 147 = 2013(4) ALD 40 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 2405.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Order VI, Rule 17 - It is the case of the plaintiff that the 2 sale deeds in question have been executed on 12.12.2003 with a view to defeat the rights and interests of the plaintiff-petitioner - In those set of circumstances, the plaintiff instituted suit seeking partition of joint family properties and for allotment of one share to plaintiff and for delivery of such a share by metes and bounds to her - She also sought for cancellation of 2 sale deeds executed on 12.12.2003 - Defendant Nos.4 and 6, in whose favour they stand, have been impleaded for that very reason to suit - But however, she has realized that cancellation of sale deeds is not appropriate relief that can be sought for by plaintiff as she is not one of the parties to the aforementioned 2 sale deeds and on the other hand, she ought to have claimed the relief of declaration that such sale deeds are null and void and not binding on plaintiff - Hence, I.A. has been filed, seeking declaration, by way of amendment - This application was resisted mainly on the ground that trial of present suit has already commenced and P.W.1 and P.W.2 were examined and suit is posted for further evidence of plaintiff - At that stage, present application is moved - Hence, it is moved at a belated stage - It was also urged that on merits that plaintiff has no case whatsoever and present application is only an attempt to somehow drag proceedings instead of bringing them to a quick end.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

This revision is preferred by defendant Nos.1, 3 and 4 in suit, who are respondents as such in I.A.- 1st respondent herein is plaintiff, while remaining 3 respondents are defendant Nos.2, 5 and 6.

Held, consistent policy of Courts in this Country was not to adopt a hypertechnical approach while dealing with applications for amendment of pleadings which would result in defeating ends of justice - Thus, paramount consideration that should be shown to an application for amendment is whether ends of justice would be served better or not by allowing such an amendment instead of denying the same.

It is apt to note that a plea relating to limitation is a mixed question of law and fact - A specific issue has got to be framed in respect thereof - So that both t parties can lead evidence considered appropriate and suitable in support of their rival contentions - That is precisely what has now been done by Court below by allowing petitioners herein to file additional written statement - At any rate to cut down pendency time of case, in this revision direct to Court below to frame following issue:

"As to whether suit for declaration that sale deeds bearing document Nos. 3103 of 2003 and 3104 of 2003 dated 12.12.2003 are null and void and not binding on the plaintiff, is barred by limitation or not?"

Accordingly, such an additional issue be framed - If such a question is now framed as an additional issue, both parties will be at liberty to lead appropriate evidence and that can be examined by Court below while deciding suit itself finally - This apart, inconvenience caused to defendants can be compensated by way of awarding costs - Accordingly, Civil Revision Petion disposed of. J.Yadagiri Reddy Vs. J.Hemalatha 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 531 = 2016(3) ALD 52.

---Order VI Rule 17 - This Civil Revision Petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India by the legal representatives of deceased/sole plaintiff is directed against orders of lower Court.

In a suit that was brought by sole plaintiff, on his death, his legal heirs/ representatives had filed an application for their impleadment as plaintiffs 2 to 6 - On merits, trial Court had allowed said application by its orders and, the suit is coming for carrying out amendment in the cause title of the plaint in regard to addition of the plaintiffs 2 to 6, who are permitted to come on record as legal representatives of the deceased sole plaintiff - While so, on the failure of the plaintiffs to carry out the necessary amendments in the cause titles of the plaint, the order impugned in this revision has come to be passed by the trial Court.

Held, the application of the revision petitioners for permission to come on record as plaintiffs 2 to 6, they being the legal representatives of deceased sole plaintiff, is allowed by Court below - Since said application had already been allowed, revision petitioners cannot be declined to amend cause titles and prosecute suit merely on ground of delay; and, merely for infraction of a rule of procedure, their substantive rights cannot be allowed to be defeated - In the result, the Civil Revision Petition is allowed and the order impugned is set aside. Muddada Appa Rao (Died) Vs. M.Nagendra Prasada Rao 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 306 = 2016(5) ALD 14 = 2016(5) ALT 213.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or.6, Rule 17 - CPC (AMENDMENT ACT, 1999), Amendment of pleadings - Before enforcement of Amendment Act, original Rule was substituted and restored with an additional proviso which limits power to allow amendment after commencement of trial but grants discretion to Court to allow amendment if it feels that party would not have raised matter before commencement of trial inspite of diligence - Liberal principles which guide exercise of discretion in allowing amendment are that multiplicity of proceedings should be avoided, that amendments which do not totally alter character of an action should be granted, while care should be taken to see that justice and prejudice of irremediable character are not inflicted upon opposite party under pretence of amendment - After commencement of trial, no Application for amendment shall be allowed - However, if it is established that inspite of "due deligence" party could not have raised matter before commencement of trial depending on circumstances, Court is free to order such application - Inspite of long delay if acceptable material placed before Court show that delay was beyond their control or deligence, it would be possible for Court to consider same by compensating other side by awarding costs - In this case defendant failed to substantiate inordinate delay in filing application that too after closing of evidence and arguments - Order of High Court - Justified - Appeal,dismissed. Chander Kanta Bansal Vs. Rajinder Singh Anand 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 63.

—Or.6, R.17 – Amendment of pleadings – Suit filed for dissolution of partnership Firm - Appellant/defendant filed written statement disputing existence of partnership and taking plea that by way of family arrangement appellant allowed to carry on business – Trial Court and High Court rejecting Application for amendment of written statement on ground that Application filed after long lapse of time is clearly ex-facie barred by law of limitation - Court must be extremely liberal in granting prayer for amendment, if Court is of view that if such amendment is not allowed, a party, who has prayed for such amendment, shall suffer irreparable loss and injury - Courts generally, as a rule, decline to allow amendments, if a fresh suit on amendment claim would be barred by limitation on date of filing of Application - In this case, it is clear that by way of amendment, appellants are now completely making out a new case by alleging that appellants are incurring damages on continuous basis, which is contrary to pleadings made in written statement and counter claim - In Application for amendment, appellants had not given by explanation whatsoever for such delay - Hence Courts below are perfectly justified in rejecting prayer for amendment of written statement and counter claim - Appeal, disissed. South Konkan Distilleries Vs. Prabhakar Gajanan Naik 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 106 = 2009(1) ALD 1 (SC) = 2008(6) Supreme 714 = AIR 2009 SC 1177.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - amendment of pleadings - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit seeking permanent injunction restraining respondents/defendants from inter-fering with her rights for suit property - Trial Court rejecting petition filed by appellant for amendment of suit property as described in Schedule to plaint - High Court dismissed writ petition and affirmed orders of trial Court - Appellant contends that proviso to Rule 17 would come to play only after commencement of trial and that trial Court is in error in rejecting appellant's prayer invoking due diligence clause in proviso and that prayer for amendment is made at pre-trial stage and hence, prayer would have been allowed without difficulty as was position under amended Rule 17 - Respondents submit that plaintiff-appellant had obtained interim injunction against defendants in regard to property as described in plaint and now proposed amendment made it manifest that defendants were made to suffer injunction for a long time with regard to their own property - It is true that plaintiff-appellant ought to have been diligent in promptly seeking amendment in plaint at an early stage of suit, more so when error on part of plaintiff was pointed out by defendant in written statement itself - Still, proposed amendment is necessary for purpose of brining to fore real question in controversy between parties and refusal to permit amendment would create needless complications at stage of execution in event of plaintiff/appellant succeeding in suit - Proposed amendment allowed with costs - Appeal, allowed. Usha Devi Vs. Rijwan Ahamd 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 87 = 2008(3) ALD 1 (SC) = AIR 2008 SC 1147 = 2008 AIR SCW 1061 = 2008(1) Supreme 391.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 - Amendment of written statement - Landlord/respondent filed ejectment proceeding before Rent Controller - During pendency of proceeding appellant filed Application under Or.6, Rule 17 praying for amendment of written statement stating that proposed amendment is necessary for adjudication of real matter in controversy - Rent Controller rejected Application holding that if such amendment was allowed, appellant would be permitted to withdraw his admissions made in original written statement which is not permissible in law - High Court affirmed order of Rent Controller - An amendment of a plaint and amendment of written statement are not necessarily governed by exactly same principle - Adding new ground of defence or substituting or altering a defence does not arise same problem as adding, altering, substituting a new cause of action - In case of amendment of written statement, Courts would be more liberal in allowing than that of a plaint as question of prejudice would be far less in former than in latter and addition of new ground of defence or substituting or altering a defence or taking inconsistent pleas in written statement can also be allowed - High Court as well as Rent Controller acted illegally and with material irregularity in exercise of its jurisdiction in not allowing Application for amendment of written statement of appellant - In this case, trial not yet commenced and admittedly that not even issues have yet been framed and proviso to Or.6, R.17 of CPC has no manner of application as trial not yet commenced - Impugned order of High Court as well as Rent Controller, set aside - Application for amendment, allowed - Appeal, allowed. Sushil Kumar Jain Vs. Manoj Kumar 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 99.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - Amendment of plaint - Petitioner/daughter filed suit against respondent/father for recovery of Rs.2 lakhs towards expenses for her marriage - Marriage performed - During pendency of suit trial Court dismissed application filed by petitioner to amend to extent of quantum of amount by substituting Rs.2 lakhs originally claimed with Rs.2.5 lakhs - In this case, reasons on which petitioner's application has been rejected are not sound in law - In view of subsequent events of marriage of petitioner, he has filed application for amendment - Law does not prohibit such amendment based on a fresh cause of action - Observation of trial Court that no material was placed in support of petitioner's averment, absence of material at stage of application for amendment is wholly irrelevant as petitioner fails or succeeds on basis of evidence that may be adduced by her during trial after amendment is ordered - With regard to reason that amendment will change nature of suit, same is equally unsound because by raising plea pertaining to subsequent events and enhancing claim, nature of suit will not undergo any change as relief of recovery of money being nature of suit, same remains notwithstanding amendment - Impugned order under revision, set aside - CRP, allowed. Arasavalli Tejaswari Vs. Arasavalli Gopala Rao, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 337 = 2011(3) ALD 580 = 2011(3) ALT 598.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 - 1st respondent filed suit for recovery of certain amount and same was decreed - After decree, 1st respondent filed E.P. for sale of an item of property in Sy.No.529 of particular village - 2nd respondent became successful bidder and sale certificate and delivery warrant and delivery receipt issued in his favour - Respondent filed E.A u/Sec.153, r/w Or.6, Rule 17 CPC to amend schedule in sale certificate, delivery warrant and receipt contending that due to inadvertence name of village was wrongly mentioned - 3rd respondent filed verified petition opposing E.A. - Petitioners contend that closure of E.P execution Court becomes functus officio and it has no jurisdiction to entertain E.A for correction of important particulars of property and it is totally impermissible for him to change particulars to enable 2nd respondent to lay claim for an item of property in different village - There may be cases where typographical or clerical error has crept into judgment or order necessity to seek correction thereof by filing application u/Sec.153 CPC arises, mostly after proceedings terminated - In name of seeking correction of clerical or typographical errors a party cannot seek substitution of new facts and figures therefore though relief u/Sec.153 CPC was available to respondents, even after closure of E.P nature of relief claimed by them does not fit in to that provision - Once 2nd respondent purchased a particular item of property, that too in a Court auction, it is not open to him to claim rights vis-a-vis land in different item of property in different village - Order passed by trial Court, unsustainable - CRP, allowed. Nagaraju Vs. K. Rami Reddy 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 64 = 2011(3) ALD 825 = 2011(4) ALT 75.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - "Amendment of plaint" - Suit filed for permanent injunction - Subsequently petitioner/plaintiff filed Application seeking amendment of plaint by adding alternative relief of recovery of possession - Trial Court dismissed said Application on ground that as petitioner has been allowing through pleading that he was in possession of property, Application for amendment if allowed will change nature of suit - Hence this revision petition - Petitioner contends that trial Court committed serious jurisdictional error in dismissing Application and totally misconceived premise that Application for amendment in a suit for permanent injunction claiming alternative possession is not maintainable - Unless prayer sought to be made by way of amendment is barred by law, Courts shall make a liberal approach in allowing application for amendment in order to avoid multiplicity of proceedings - In this case, it is not pleaded case of respondents/defendants that amendment is barred by law of limitation, or that any right vested in respondents will be taken away by allowing such amendment - Trial Court committed serious jurisdictional error in rejecting petitioner's application for amendment - Order of trial Court, set aside - Revision petition allowed. Chinnapareddy Subba Reddy Vs. Chinnapareddy Srinu 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 302 = 2013(1) ALD 388 = 2013(4) ALT 319.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 - "Amendment of plaint" - Petitioner filed suit for declaration and also sought for delivery of vacant possession of schedule land and after completion of trial at stage of arguments petitioner/plaintiff filed IA under Or.6, Rule 7 for amendment of plaint for incorporating relief of future profits - Trial Court dismissed said Application - Hence present CRP - Under Or.6, Rule 17 CPC Court is vested with discretion to allow either party to alter or amend pleadings for purpose of determining real questions in controversy between parties - However under proviso thereto, application for amendment shall not be allowed after trial has commenced, unless Court comes to conclusion that inspite of diligence party could not have raised matter before commencement of trial - Proviso is added with a view to cut-down on delays and not to encourage litigants who are either not diligent or who want to indulge in vexatious litigation for prolonging suit proceedings - Concept of due diligence in cases of this nature cannot be made applicable against a party if lawyer has not properly advised to claim appropriate relief - In such a case, length of delay is hardly relevant - In this case, in event petitioner succeeds in suit in getting his title to suit property declared, relief of mesne profits is purely consequential - A party cannot be denied such a relief unless same is barred by limitation - At any rate ordinarily mesne profits are ascertained at stage of execution proceedings during which both parties will be permitted to adduce evidence - Order of trial Court, set aside - However, for delay in filing application of amendment of plaint, petitioner shall deposit costs of Rs.5000/- payable to respondents - On such deposit , petitioner shall be permitted to amend plaint. Kovvuri Ramakrishna Reddy Vs.Padala Satyanarayana Reddy, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 20 = 2012(5) ALD 56 = 2012(4) ALT 1.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - "Amendment of cause of action" - Suit filed by petitioner/plaintiff basing on promissory note - Written statement filed, issues frame and trial commenced plaintiff's evidence completed by examining P.W.1 to 3 - At that point plaintiff filed petition under Or.6, Rule 17, for amendment of cause of action - Trial Court allowed petition - In this case in view of cross examination of P.Ws. wherein said witness gave evidence as if borrowing was at a different village, though request for borrowing was at a particular village and this is what was sought to be prohibited under proviso to Or.6, Rule 17 - General Rules of civil procedure is that evidence has to be let in by parties in accordance with their respective pleadings - In this case, petitioner/ plaintiff wants to adopt a reverse method to effect that he wants to amend plaint in accordance with evidence/cross-examination of P.Ws. - This would be nothing but putting court before horse and that situation in this case, is contrary to rigor of prohibition contained in first part of proviso to Or.6, Rule 17 and that second part of proviso which attempted to ease out rigor contained in first part of proviso, has no application herein - Order passed by trial Court is contrary to law and liable to be set aside - CRP, allowed. Rodda Narasaiah Vs. Adla Raju @ Rajaiah 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 271 = 2013(5) ALD 37 = 2013(6) ALT 279.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17, Proviso - "Amendment of plaint" - Originally suit filed by petitioner/ plaintiff for permanent injunction - Trial commenced evidence of P.W. over - At that stage petitioner/plaintiff filed petition for amendment of plaint for cancellation of document executed by defendants 1 & 2 - Trial Court refusing amendment of plaint - Petitioner contends that she is old lady of 87 years not well versed in law and therefore could not file petition expeditiously - Respondents contend that present petition for amendment hit by Proviso to Or.6, Rule 17 - On plain reading of Proviso reveals that initial prohibition for a party to approach Court for amendment of pleadings after commencement of trial is not a rigid prohibition - In a matter relating to seeking additional prayer in plaint, usually party has no much role - It is for Advocate of party to decide as to claim of suit and as to amendment to be sought by way of inclusion additional prayer in suit - Party instructs Advocate only on factual aspects of case and not on legal aspects which are within exclusive domain of legal Counsel - In this case, proposed amendment if allowed will only enlarge procedure of suit by way of giving permission to defendants to file additional written statement and framing additional issues before proceeding with further trial - Trial Court did not exercise its description properly and it resulted in dismissal of petition refusing to give permission for amendment of plaint - Impugned order of trial Court, set aside - Petitioner/plaintiff permitted to amend plaint as prayed for - CRP, allowed. Vallala Yasodha Vs. Vallala Naga Venkata Laxmi 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 41 = 2013(5) ALD 166 = 2013(5) ALT 743.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - Suit was filed by the petitioner for specific performance of agreement of sale - Petitioner filed I.A. under Or VI, Rule 17 of CPC for amendment of plaint by adding paragraphs 2(a) and 2(b) to the plaint - Court rejected application on ground that if the proposed amendment is permitted, valuable defence already vested in respondent will be lost - Feeling aggrieved by order, petitioner filed present Civil Revision Petition - Held, permission to amend pleadings does not mean that court has accepted correctness of contents of pleadings - Ultimately, it is for party which sought amendment of pleadings to prove same with reference to evidence - If what petitioner proposed to plead is not correct, he will not be able to prove proposed pleadings - Therefore, that the question of any prejudice being caused to respondent if proposed amendment is allowed in present case would not arise - For above reasons, order of lower court which suffers from serious jurisdictional error is set aside and IA is allowed - However, respondent is permitted to file additional written statement to extent of amended pleadings before witnesses are examined - Civil Revision Petition is accordingly allowed. G.S.Prakash Vs. Posala Hanumanlu, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 410 = 2015(1) ALD 270 = 2015(2) ALT 594.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 - Petitioners/plaintiffs filed for injunction in respect of certain lands – Before commencement of trail, petitioners filed I.A. seeking amendment of Northern and Southern boundaries in plaint as well as petition schedules, Trail Court dismissed petition holding that if proposed amendment is allowed it would introduce a new cause of action and cause prejudice to defendants - Admittedly in this case plaintiffs gives boundaries which are mentioned in sale deed under which they became entitled to suit property – Version of petitioners is that of Northern and Southern boundaries mentioned in sale deed it self are incorrect, noticing said fact they obtained registered rectification deed from their vendors correcting Northern and Sothern boundaries and there after filed application seeking amendment of boundaries in plaint schedule - In instant case, amendment is sought for by petitioners/plaintiffs before commencement of trail – After noticing mis-description of Northern and Southern boundaries petitioners/ plaintiffs got registered rectification deed executed through their vendors and then made application seeking amendment of boundaries - At stage of dealing with applications seeking amendment, Court is not expected to deeply indulge in evaluating respective cases of parties and Court is not supposed to reject amendment of petition with a foregone conclusion as to merits of case – Such a course is not permissible with in frame of Order 6 Rule 17 - Impugned order of Trail Court set aide - C.R.P. Allowed. Allam Nagaraju Vs. Katta Jagan Mohan Reddy, 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 128 = 2014(3) 438 = 2014(4) ALT 206.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - When the delay itself is not a ground to reject the amendment, trial Court ought to have allowed amendment, when it no way causes withdrawal of any inconsistent admission in pleadings or grave prejudice to other side or changes cause of action or nature of suit, but for said delay to compensate - Lower Court's order dismissing amendment application now sought to be intervened in revision within its limited scope for saying is improper exercise of jurisdiction vested and when it causes prejudice to revision petitioners/plaintiffs, this Court has to interfere to set aside the order impugned, in the order - Accordingly, and in result, revision is allowed by setting aside dismissal order of amendment by trial Court by allowing amendment subject to payment of costs by petitioners/plaintiffs to defendant in that suit within 15 days from the date of receipt of this order. P.Durga Reddy Vs. B.Yadi Reddy 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 201 = 2015 (4) ALD 420.

—Or.6 RULE 17 – "AMENDMENT OF WRITTEN STATEMENT" - Respondent filed suit for perpetual injunction - Petitioner filed written statement and subsequently filed I.A. for amendment of Written Statement with averments that written statement was drafted by their Counsel in absence of deponent on telephonic instructions given by him from USA ad also based on information furnished by his GPA holder and that certain mistakes have crept in written statement which are noticed by him at the time of signing written statement on his return from USA - Respondent/plaintiff opposed application - Lower court dismissed application on grounds Viz., 1) that application filed for incorporating omissions cannot be permitted under Or.6 Rule 17 C.P.C. and 2) that petitioners are seeking to raise inconsistent pleas which is also not permissible - Or.6 Rule 17 C.P.C. empowers Court to permit amendment of pleadings at any stage of proceedings, where it finds such amendment is just and necessary for purpose of determining real questions and controversies between parties - Order 6 Rule 17 - Scope and object - Stated – Instances where amendments have to be refused are as follows:

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

(i) Where by the proposed amendment the party seeks to alter the nature, character and constitution of the suit (mere inconsistent pleadings may not, in all cases, change the nature and character of the suit) or substitute cause of action or introduce a distinct cause of action;

(ii) where the valuable defence by way of admissions by a party has accrued to the opposite party and by the proposed amendment the party intends to resile from such admissions;

(iii) where the position of the other party will be altered by the proposed amendment and the injury caused to him by such alteration could not be compensated in costs.

(iv) where the proposed amendment lacks bonafides and is far too belated and the party seeking the amendment was not diligent in approaching the Court;

(v) where a fresh suit, if instituted on the proposed amendments, will be barred by law.

In this case suit is pre-trial stage and hence, Court has very wide discretion to allow amendment - Lower court has completely failed to understand scope and purport of order 6 Rule 17 C.P.C. in dismissing application by assigning unsound reasons - CRP allowed accordingly. G.Ravinder Rao Vs. Wonderla Holidays (Pvt) Ltd. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.)512 = 2015(3) ALD 638 = 2015(3) ALT 806.

—Or.6, Rulre 17 - “Amendment of plaint” - Petitioners/plaintiffs filed suit for declaration of title and perpetual injunction in respect of suit schedule property - When suit comming up for evidence of respondents/defendants, plaintiffs filed I.A under Or.6, Rule 17 seeking for amendment of plaint - Respondents/defendants contend that allegations made in impugned I.A are false and at any rate trial of suit had commenced and evidence on behalf of plaintiffs was closed and suit posted for evidence of defendants and defendants had also filed chief affidavit of 4th defendant - Trial Court dismissed impugned I.A., as belated - Supreme Court categorically stated that amendment of plaint shall not normally be allowed once trial of case commences except in exceptional circumstances - In this case, denial of possession of petitioners/plaintiffs was as far as back as in year 2007 and there was no due deligence on part of petitioners/plaintiffs in seeking amendment of plaint and thus Application made by petitioers/plaintiffs after completion of process and adducing evidence on their part and at the stage of defendants'evidence is not bonafide and belated one - CRP, dismissed. Polishetty Lurdamma (died).Vs. Kunday Mallaiah (died) 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 423 = 2015(6) ALD 452.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6 Rule 17 –Amendment of pleading at the stage of second appeal – It is well settled that rules of procedure are intended to be a handmaid to the administration of justice - Amendment is permissible to do complete justice to the parties. Mahila Ramkali Devi Vs. Nandram Thr. Lrs. & Ors. 2015(2) Law Summary (SC) 29 = 2015(4) ALD 108 (SC) = 2015 AIR SCW 3187 = AIR 2015 SC 2270.

—Or.6, Rule, 17 - HINDU SUCCESSION ACT, 1956, Sec.6 'as amended through Act 39 of 2005' - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - The original Suit was filed claiming that plaint schedule properties are self-acquired properties of Late K.G., the defendants had set up a plea that they were not self-acquired properties of Late K.G., - In the application for amendment filed by petitioners, they sought to raise an alternative plea which was disallowed by the Court below - Point for consideration is whether a plaintiff is permitted to take such alternative and inconsistent pleas - Held, even though the plaintiffs had originally taken a plea in the plaint that the plaint schedule properties are the selfacquired properties of Late K.G., since they wish to take an alternative plea (that even if the properties are treated as joint family properties of Late K.G they would be entitled to a relief in the suit) they can be allowed to do so for the reason that such an alternative and inconsistent plea would not cause any prejudice to respondents who themselves have pleaded that the plaint 'A' and 'B' schedule properties are not self-acquired properties of Late K.G - Therefore, the Court below, in my considered opinion, had erred in refusing to allow petitioners to take the alternative plea that the plaint 'A' and 'B' schedule properties are joint family properties of themselves and Late K.G., and seek relief by invoking the Hindu Succession Act, 1956 as alternative basis for suit claim - Moreover, while deciding whether or not to allow the Application for amendment, it was not open to the Court below to go into the correctness of the pleas set up by plaintiff in the application for amendment and express an opinion thereon. This is clearly impermissible in law. Therefore the observations made by Court below as to the actual nature of the 'A' and 'B' schedule properties are not warranted - In this view of the matter, the Civil Revision Petition is allowed. Vasa Soma Sundara Andal Sampoorja Saraswathi Vs. K.L.V.N.Ranga Venu Bhaskararao 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 229 = 2015(6) ALD 536.

—-Or.6 Rule 17 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.26 – "Amendment of schedule" – Respondent / Plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale, alleged to have been executed by petitioner defendant – Plaintiff filed Application under Or.6, Rule 17 CPC seeking amendment of description of plaint scheduled property by way of insertion of Survey number and Patta number – Trial court allowed the amendment

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

– Hence the present Revision – Petitioner defendant contends that impugned order is erroneous contrary to law and opposed to very spirit and the object of provisions of Order 6 Rule 17 and that in view of prohibition contained under proviso of Or.6 rule 17 and present application is not maintainable after commencement of trial.

In the present case, amendment was sought only with regard to description of schedule of property with plaint but not description of property in suit agreement of sale - In light of provisions of section 26 of Specific Relief Act - Trial court grossly erred in applying principles laid down by Hon'ble Apex court in Judgment referred above – Therefore the order of trial court cannot be sustained in the eye of law – Hence impugned order set aside – CRP, allowed. Molli Eswara Rao Vs. Kurcha Chandra Rao 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 70 = 2016(3) ALD 510 = 2016(3) ALT 655.

—Or. 6 Rule 17 – LIMITATION ACT –Suit for injunction –Amendment as to declaration of title - Once the said amendments were allowed and were not challenged by the defendants, the issue with regard to limitation has to be decided in favour of the plaintiffs. Vasant Balu Patil Vs. Mohan Harachand Shah 2015(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 48.

—Or.6, Rule 17 Proviso – LIMITATION ACT, Article 58 - Suit filed for bare injunction in respect of plaint scheduled property restraining defendant from interfering with his peaceful possession and enjoyment of said property, stating that his mother purchased property under registered sale deed when he was minor - Defendant contends that his father purchased property in court auction in year 1976 and ever since, property has been in his continuous and uninterrupted possession and made categorical denial of title of the plaintiff and his mother - Trial Court dismissed suit of plaintiff – Plaintiff filed Application under Order 6 rule 17 seeking amendment of plaint, permitting to pray for relief of declaration of right and title to plaint property – Appellate Court allowed Application - In this case plaintiff has to seek declaration of his title and cancellation of sale deed obtained by father of defendant within three years as provided in Art.58 of Limitation Act, and it cannot be said that inspite of due diligence, plaintiff could not have sought for amendment before commencement of trial - In view of proviso to Rule 17 of Order 6, Appellate Court ought not to have allowed amendment Application – Unless order passed allowing amendment is set aside, it would cause any amount of prejudice to defendant and also it would take away right of defendant accrued to him under law of Limitation - Order passed by lower appellate court, set aside – C.R.P. allowed. Desai Krishnamurthy Vs. Pinjari Moula Ali Sab 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 35 = 2014(3) ALD 639 = 2014(5) ALT 147.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - LIMITATION ACT, Art.65 - Plaintiff filed suit for permanent injunction - Trial Court dismissing Application filed by plaintiff seeking amendment of plaint for relief of declaration vested remainder rights etc - 1st defendant disputing status of petitione/ plaintiff as vested remained - Trial Court dismissed Application observing that petitioner having kept quite for long period, filed impugned Application seeking amendment of pleading for insertion of relief of declaration for declaring himself to be vested remainder holder of suit schedule property - It is not disputed that Art.65 of Limitation Act prescribes 12 years period of limitation for instituting suit by vested remainder for declaration - As such suit for relief claimed by plaintiff is not barred by limitation since Art.65 of Limitation Act governs such suits filed by vested remainder - Even petitioner can now institute a fresh suit against defendants for relief claimed - But to avoid multiplicity of proceedings lower Court ought to have exercised discretion in favour of petitioner by allowing amendment sought for on certain terms - Impugned of lower Court, set aside - Application for amendment allowed on payment of costs - Revision, allowed. T.Veera Venkata Rao Vs. Tikkana Venkata Ramana 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 193 = 2010(2) ALD 423 = 2010(2) ALT 631 = AIR 2010 AP 88.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 Proviso - LIMITATION ACT, Art.113 - LAND ACQUISITION ACT, Secs. 9 & 12 - Petitioners filed suit for partition and separate possession - Applications filed for amendment of plaint Schedule and also door nos and boundaries, are allowed by trial Court - Part of petitioners land was acquired under provisions of Land Acquisition Act and award passed by competent Authority - Another amendment petition filed to amend the plaint by inserting certain paragraphs in body of plaint claiming share in the above compensation and also share in mesne profits contending that award was passed subsequent to filing of suit in respect of property covered by plaint schedule in suit and that they are entitled to amend relief portion of plaint by claiming share in compensation - Respondents contend petitions have nothing to do with the plaint property and suit is a luxury litigation filed only to usurp some of compensation awarded to respondents on account of acquisition proceedings and that Application for amendment is barred by limitation as limitation for filing of suit for partition is three years from date of accrual of cause of action - Trial Court dismissed IA. - Petitioners contend that respondents had not able to establish that petitioners are given any notice u/Sec.9 & 12 of Land Acquisition Act and that amendment is not barred by limitation and it is only one of the factors to be taken by Court to be allowed or refused and did not power of Court to allow amendment if amendment is required in interest of justice and it is always open to Court to allow amendment to serve ultimate cause of justice and to avoid further litigation - Purpose of Proviso to Or.6, Rule 17 CPC - Supreme Court held that no Application for amendment shall be allowed after trial has been commenced unless Court has come to conclusion that inspite of deligence the party could not raise matter before commencement of trial - It also held that due deligence is a critical factor to be considered in determining whether or not an amendment sought after commencement of trial is to be allowed - In this case, it is not case of respondents that in notification issued u/Sec.4 of L.A Act names of petitioners mentioned and it is also not their case that notice u/Sec.9 & 12 has been issued to petitioners - Respondents also categorically stated in their counter that initially possession was taken without any proceedings under L.A. Act - Considering facts in this case, it is fully satisfied that petitioners had established that inspite of due deligence they could not have raised these matters before commencement of trial and therefore the bar of Proviso to Or.6, Rule 17 is not applicable - Held that Application for amendment of plaint claiming further relief as to share in rents and mesne profits can be allowed. Waheeda Begum Vs. Md.Yakub, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 169 = 2014(3) ALD 361 = 2014(2) ALT 640.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, R.17 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Secs.15 (a) & 19 - Suit for specific performance of agreement - High Court allowed 1st respondent/plaintiff to amend plaint - Contention that allowing plaintiff for amendment of plaint to completely change nature and character of his suit from one for specific performance of agreement to one for declaration of title against third party to agreement for which specific performance had been claimed, erroneous since that suit as amended not maintainable u/Sec.19 of Act - Sec.15(a) entitles any party to contract to seek specific performance of such contract - Admittedly appellant is 3rd party to agreement and does not therefore, fall within category of "parties to agreement" and also does not come within ambit of Sec.19 of Act, which provides for relief against parties and persons claiming under them by subsequent title - Scope of suit for specific performance could not be enlarged to convert same into a suit for title and possession - A third party or a stranger to contract could not be added so as to convert a suit of one character into a suit of different character - Impugned order of Division Bench of High Court, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Bharat Karsondas Thakkar Vs. M/s.Kiran Constructions Co., 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 1.

—Or.6, Rule 17 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.16(c) - "Amendment of plaint" - Suit filed for specific performance of agreement of sale - Trial concluded and matter posted for judgment - At that stage, plaintiff filed Application seeking amendment of plaint under Or.6, Rule 17 CPC, stating that as result of typographical error, plea, "that they have been and are ready and willing to perform their part of agreement of sale, dt.27-9-1985 and that they are ready with balance amount as per the agreement" - Defendant contends that proposed amendment will take suit back to stage of filing of written statement and it would also cause prejudice and harassment - Trial Court dismissed Application holding that present amendment sought is not typographical error and by proposed amendment, plaintiffs are seeking to add a separate paragraph and if said amendment is allowed it amounts to permitting a new plea and further, plaintiffs have filed present petition for amendment, when defendant have taken a specific ground that plaint is not in compliance of provisions of Sec.16(c) of Specific Relief Act - When amendment sought u/Sec.16(c) of Act, will not change cause of action then, such amendment can be allowed - As per proviso to Rule 17 of Or.6, whether party has acted with due diligence or not would depend upon facts and circumstances of each case and though proviso would limit scope of amendments to pleadings after commencement of trial, still enough power is vested with Court to deal with unforeseen situation whenever they arise - Further that no straightjacket formula can be laid and mere delay cannot be a ground for refusing a prayer for amendment and that Court has to satisfy when amendment sought would change nature of suit, introduce a new cause of action and prejudices other party and if amendment allowed, would defeat law of limitation - Since there is change in cause of action or introduction of any new case and as there is no prejudice to respondents since they are aware of case of plaintiffs and there was evidence to that effect and there was also cross-examination of P.W.1 on this aspect - Hence proposed amendment needs to be allowed - Impugned order, set aside - Application, allowed. Jagath Swapna & Co., Jagital Vs. Church of South of India Trust Ass. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 187 = 2011(3) ALD 159 = 2011(2) ALT 605 = AIR 2011 AP 81.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.16(c) - "Amendment of plaint" - Respondent filed suit for specific performance of contract of sale and perpetual injunction - During pendency of suit written statement filed pointing out inherent defects viz., absent of mandatory requirement of Sec.16(c) of Specific Relief Act and Form 47 Appendix-"A" of CPC - District Judge dismissed Application filed under Or.6, Rule 17seeking amendment of plaint - High Court allowed Application filed under Or.6, Rule 17 for amendment after conclusion of trial and reserving matter for orders - In this case, there is a clear lack of "due "diligence" and mistake committed certainly does not come within preview of typographical error - Term typographical is defined a mistake made in printed/typed material during printing/ typing process - Term includes errors due to mechanical failure or slips of hand or finger but usually exclude errors of ignorance - Therefore act of neglecting to perform an action which one has obligation to do cannot be called as typographical error - Consequently plea of typographical error cannot be entertained in this regard since situation is lack of due diligence wherein such amendment is impliedly bar under Code - OR.6, RULE 17 - OBJECT AND SCOPE - Stated - Filing of application for amendment of pleading subsequent to commencement of trial, to avoid surprises and that parties had sufficient knowledge of others case and it also helps checking delays in filing applications - Claim of typographical error/mistake is baseless and cannot be accepted - In fact had person who prepared plaint signed and verified plaint showed some attention, this omission could have been noticed and rectified there itself - In such circumstances it cannot be construed that "due diligence" was adhered to and in any event, omission of mandatory requirement running into 3 to 4 sentences cannot be a typographical error as claimed by plaintiffs - High Court committed error in accepting explanation that it was typographical error to mention and it was an accidental slip - Reasoning of High Court cannot be accepted - Conclusion arrived at by trial Court - Justified - Civil Appeal, allowed. J.Samuel Vs. Gattu Mahesh 2012(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 128.

—Or.6, R.17 Proviso r/w Sec.151 - Amendment of pleadings - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioner-defendant seeking amendment of written statement - Petitioner-defendant contends that view expressed by trial Judge, that effect of allowing proposed amendment would amount to withdrawal of admission, cannot be sustained - Respondent-plaintiff contends that as can be seen from paras which are sought to be introduced by way of amendment in written statement, two important admissions are being withdrawn - If proposed pleas sought to be raised by way of amendment to be allowed it will have effect of certain complications, like even question of non-pleading of some parties - On a careful analysis of respective stands taken by parties, it is clear that at least two admissions which had been made in written statement are being withdrawn by virtue of proposed amendments - Hence, effect of allowing proposed amendment would be permitting withdrawal of admissions already made in original written statement and also in as much as, no acceptable grounds as such had been placed to get over rigour of proviso - Dismissal of Application by trial Judge - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Ram Agarwal Vs. B.Jagannath Rao 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 129 = 2008(5) ALD 294 = 2008(6) ALT 96.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 & Sec.151 - Amendment of plaint - 1st respondent filed suit for partition - During pendency of suit appellants purchased right, title and interest of defendants under registered sale deeds - Suit decreed ex parte - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by appellants for impleading them as parties in suit - High Court allowed appellants to participate in final decree proceedings stating that when preliminary decree is passed, purchaser of shares of defendants are entitled to participate in final decree proceedings to work out equities - Subsequently, trial Court allowed Application filed by plaintiff for amendment of mistake in decree relating to Town Survey Number - High Court dismissed revision filed by 4th defendant holding that mistake is a clerical one - Application filed by appellants u/Sec.151 CPC to set aside said order also dismissed by High Court - Appellants being purchasers of undevided share in a joint family property, are not entitled to possession of land what they have purchased and they have in law merely acquired a right to sue for partition - In this case, identity of suit land has not been changed and that Town Survey Number is a joint family property is not in dispute - Appellants have not been able to show as to how and in what manner they have been prejudiced - Appeal, dismissed. Peethani Suryanarayana Vs. Repaka Venkata Ramana Kishore 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 180.

—-Order VI Rule 17 and Section 151 - This civil revision petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India by the unsuccessful petitioner/plaintiff is directed against the orders of the Junior Civil Judge in I.A. filed under Order VI Rule 17 and Section 151 of the Code of Civil Procedure, for permission to amend plaint by substituting word 'promissory note' wherever it occurred with word 'agreement.'

Plaintiff brought suit for recovery of Rs.30,000/- on foot of a document referred to in plaint as a 'promissory note' - Defendant having filed written statement is resisting suit - When suit is at fag end of trial, plaintiff had filed aforementioned application for amendment of plaint - It was resisted by defendant on ground that once trial had commenced, plaintiff was debarred from seeking amendment of plaint - Lower Court dismissed plaintiff's application for amendment of plaint.

Held, merely because document is described in plaint as a promissory note, that does not preclude either plaintiff or parties to suit from contending in a given case that document is not a promissory note but a document of a different character or nature and nomenclature - Therefore, in well considered view of this Court, trial Court need not be faulted for dismissing petition filed by plaintiff for amendment of plaint, as there is no necessity for plaintiff to seek amendment or for Court below to allow it - Nonetheless, for reasons aforementioned, it is apposite to observe that dismissal of application of plaintiff for amendment of plaint shall not preclude plaintiff from raising appropriate contentions in regard to real nature of document based on recitals and true nature of transaction contained therein - Viewed thus, this court finds that revision petition is devoid of merit and that order impugned needs no interference - Accordingly, Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. M.Pentamma Vs. B.Seshagiri Rao 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 290 = 2016(5) ALD 348 = 2016(5) ALT 580.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 and Sec.152 - In a suit filed by the petitioner for mandatory injunction it was decreed as prayed for - Lower court has stipulated one month time from date of decree to respondents to vacate plaint B schedule property - Petitioner filed E.P for execution of decree qua plaint B schedule property - Lower court has issued warrant for delivery of possession of plaint B schedule property to petitioner/plaintiff - However, the bailiff has returned warrant on ground that boundaries mentioned in the schedule annexed to decree do not tally with those found on physical inspection - Thereafter, petitioner has filed I.A. u/Or. VI, Rule 17 and Sec.152 of CPC for amendment of the western boundary in the plaint B schedule and also for consequential amendment of decree - Lower court has dismissed application - Held, this court is thoroughly convinced that a typographical mistake has crept-in in describing western boundary of schedule B property as road instead of plot No.42 - Unfortunately lower court has failed to apply its mind to these facts and made a perfunctory approach in dismissing application - Lower court has not assigned any plausible reasons except observing that the petitioner has not explained reasons for filing the petition after lapse of a decade from date of decree - Lower court has failed to notice that occasion for petitioner to file application for amendment had arisen consequent to return of the warrant by the bailiff towards the end of 2011 on the ground that the boundaries mentioned in the decree do not tally with those found on physical inspection of the suit schedule property - It is settled legal position that an application for amendment of plaint, even after passing of a decree, is maintainable u/Sec.152 of CPC - Hence it is satisfied that petitioner's case squarely falls under provisions of Sec.152 CPC - As a bona fide error has crept in description of schedule in plaint, same can be corrected by the court in exercise of its power under Sec.152 CPC - For above mentioned reasons, the order under revision is set aside and I.A. on the file of the Court of the learned Principal Junior Civil Judge,is allowed. K.Rani Vs. Hanumaiah Goud, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 323 = 2014(6) ALD 387.

—Or.6, Rule 17 and Or.6, Rule 7 - "Amendment of written statement" - Petitioner/ plaintiff filed suit for recovery of certain amount basing on agreement - 1st respondent/

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

1st defendant filed written statement denying execution of suit agreement contending that she did not receive any consideration from plaintiff - Subsequently respondents/ defendants filed application seeking amendment of written statement by deletion of certain paragraphs therein and substitution of same with other paragraphs - Plaintiff resisting amendment of written statement - Trial Judge on considering material brought on record allowed petition holding that defendants cannot be penalized for mistake committed by their counsel - General principle is that Court at any stage of proceedings may allow either party to alter or amend pleadings in such manner on such terms as may be just and all those amendments must be allowed which are imperative for determining real question in controversy between parties - Basic principles of grant or refusal of amendment articulated almost 125 years ago are still considered to be a correct statement of law and our Courts have been following basic principles laid down in those cases - Courts have very wide discretion in matter of amendment of pleadings - But Court's power must be exercised judiciously and with great care - Courts must not refuse bona fide, legitimate, honest and necessary amendments and should never permit mala fide, worthless and or dishonest amendments - First condition which must be satisfied before amendment can be allowed by Court is whether such amendment is necessary to determination of real question in controversy - If that condition is not satisfied, amendment cannot be allowed - This is basic test, which governs Court's discretion in grant or refusal of amendment - In this case, trial Court considered material brought on record in right perspective and exercised discretionary power properly - Order of trial Court, justified - Revision, dismissed. Chapidi Venkata Subba Reddy Vs. Konduru Indravathamma 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 20 = 2011(5) ALD 415 = 2011(5) ALT 659.

—Or.6, R.17 & Or.8, R.9 and 5 - Amendment of written statement - Petitioner/plaintiff/ Society filed suit for declaration of title and for perpetual injunction - Defendants filing Applications seeking leave of Court to strike out pleadings in written statement filed by their Advocate earlier in collusion with plaintiff contrary to instructions given by them and also to permit to file detailed written statement - Trial Court dismissed Applications and High Court dismissed Revisions and confirmed orders of trial Court and Apex Court also dismissed appeals - Later, trial Court allowed Applications filed by defendants under Or.6, R.17 permitting them to amend written statement filed by them as prayed for - Petitioner/plaintiff contends that having rightly held that in view of specific finding given against them earlier on plea relating to fraud as a ground for seeking relief of amendment, was in error in permitting defendants to amend common statement seeking leave to take almost same pleas which were not permitted to be taken by them by dismissing Applications seeking leave to file additional written statement by overlooking proviso to R. 17 of Or.6, without keeping in view fact that earlier order operates as resjudicata and no amendment to a written statement withdrawing earlier admissions made can be permitted - Respondents/defendants contend that principles that are to be applied to petitions for amendment of plaint and written statement would be different and that addition of a new ground of defence, or substituting or altering a defence, or taking of inconsistent pleas in written statement can be allowed as long as they do not cause prejudice to plaintiff and that proviso to Or.6, R.17 introduced by way of 2002 Amendment to CPC, that petitions for amendment should not be allowed in suits in which trial has already began, does not apply to this case because that amendment came into force long subsequent to filing of suit - As substantial relief sought in these petitions is to re-introduce very same pleas that were sought to be taken and rejected by trial Court, High Court and Apex Court on an earlier occasion, trial Court erred in allowing petitions seeking to amend written statement - How a common written statement filed by defendants is amenable to three different types of amendments is beyond one's comprehension - Three petitions for amendment of written statement are filed by defendants, probably is an attempt to show that they have no common interest and that their contentions are different - Axiomatic principle of law is that what cannot be done directly cannot be permitted to be achieved in an indirect fashion - Procedure, a hand maiden to justice, should never be made a tool to carry justice or perpetuate injustice by any oppressive or punitive use - Trial Court without keeping in view fact, defendants cannot repeatedly file petitions for same relief which was negatived earlier, in a different form by quoting different provisions of law, thought it fit to allow petitions and thereby virtually set at naught order of dismissal of Applications passed by it earlier which order was confirmed by High Court and Apex Court also - Petitions filed by defendants, dismissed - Revisions, allowed. Future Builders Co-operative Housing Society Vs. S.Malla Reddy 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 351 = 2008(3) ALD 231 = 2008(2) ALT 520.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 and Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - "Amendment of plaint" - Plaintiff filed suit for injunction simpliciter basing on a gift deed, contending that they are in absolute possession and enjoyment of suit land - Defendants filed written statement denying allegations in plaint - Trial Court allowed Application filed by plaintiffs along with suit for interim injunction against defendants - On appeal in CMA, Sr.Civil Judge set aside injunction order - After full-fledged trial Court dismissed suit as not maintainable on ground that it was filed without seeking relief of declaration of title - During pendency of appeal 1st plaintiff filed I.A under Or.6, Rule 17 to amend plaint and to make consequential amendments in plaint - Appellate Court after hearing dismissed Application on ground that plaintiffs got knowledge about relevant facts long prior to filing of suit and they cannot seek amendment now - Plaintiffs contends that as event of occupation of property by defendant took place during proceedings of suit and necessity arose to seek for possession of property following which declaration of title of property also should be sought accordingly application filed under Or.6, Rule 17 before appellate Court but appellate Court dismissed plea observing that it was filed at belated stage which therefore is not tenable and that no evidence will be recorded for plaintiffs consequently - Defendants contend that plaintiff got knowledge about possession of defendant over property long prior from filing of suit and that once trial is commence question of amending plaint would not arise at all - In this case, mainly trial Court dismissed suit on ground that in circumstances of case suit not maintainable without seeking relief of declaration of title of property - Trial Court did not make any discretion with regard to genuineness of gift deed and another important fact is that as appeal has been pending, judgment and decree passed by trial Court have not become final - Or.6, Rule 17 CPC enjoins - Court may at any stage of proceedings allow either party to alter or amend his pleadings in such manner and on such terms as may be just and also such amendment shall be made as may be necessary for determining real question in controversy between parties, provided that no application for amendment shall be allowed after trial has commenced, unless, Court comes to conclusion that inspite of diligence party could not have raised matter before commencement of trial - By virtue of taking place of subsequent events can be carried out inspite of terminology used in proviso to Or.6, Rule 17 - Question as to whether plaintiffs got knowledge about possession of defendants over property is a question to be decided on basis of evidence to be recorded - Under these circumstances, it is advisable to carryout amendment as prayed for in the interest of justice - Order of trial Court, unsustainable and accordingtly order set aside - CRP, allowed. Boya Pikkili Pedda Venkataswamy Vs. Boya Ramakrishnudu, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 36 = 2013(2) ALD 96 = 2013(2) ALT 214.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17, r/w Rule 28 of Civil Rules of Practice - "Amendment of written statement" - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit against petitioner/accused for eviction, for recovery of possession and for arrears of rent - Petitioner/defendant resisting claim of respondent/plaintiff - Plaintiff commenced trial and closed his evidence - While case coming up for adducing evidence on behalf of petitioner/defendant he filed application under Or.6, Rule 17 CPC r/w Rule 28 of Civil Rules of Practice for amendment of written statement - Trial Court dismissed application filed by defendant - In this case, once proposed amendment is allowed it amounts to permitting petitioner defendant to withdraw admission made by him in para 7 & 11 of written statement - If amendment sought for is allowed, great prejudice would be caused to respondent/plaintiff in advancing his case - Amendment of written statement sought for by petitioner/defendant cannot be permitted - CRP, dismissed. Jai Bharat Plywood & Hardware Vs. Vinod 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 33 = 2010(2) ALD 702 = 2010(3) ALT 634 = AIR 2010 (NOC) 572 (AP).

—Or.6, Rule 17 & Or.41 - Suit originally filed for perpetual injunction against appellant - During pendency of suit Application filed for amendment of plaint to incorporate relief of recovery of possession - Trial Court dismissed suit - During pendency of Appeal, since appellant died legal representatives were brought on record - Lower appellate Court dismissed Application filed under Or.6, Rule 17 holding that said relief is barred by limitation - Appellate Court finally remanded matter to trial Court with specific direction to permit respondent to file Application to amend plaint to incorporate for declaration of title - Appellant contends that once prayer for amendment of plaint to incorporate plea of declaration to title was found to be barred by limitation by lower appellate Court, there was absolutely no basis to remand matter to trial Court, that too, by according permission to file an Application of that very nature - After remand trial Court dismissed suit taking view that in absence of prayer for declaration of title, recovery of possession cannot be granted to respondents - In this case, there is total inconsistency between order passed in Application and judgment in appeal - On one hand it dismissed Application for amendment and on other hand, suggested that identical Application to be entertained by trial Court - Reasons mentioned by lower appellate Court for remanding matter do not fit into any of those circumstances mentioned in different Rules of Or.41 CPC - Judgment of lower appellate Court in so far as remanding matter to trial Court, set aside - CMA, allowed. Karumanchi Janakamma Vs. Bodapati Punnaiah 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 140 = 2010(1) ALD 251 = 2009(6) ALT 72.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.6, Rule 17 & Or.41, Rules 2 & 3 - ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, Secs.34 & 37 - "Amendment of pleadings" - "Amendment of arbitration petition" - Pleadings and particulars are required to enable Court to decide true rights of parties in trial - Amendment in pleadings is a matter of procedure - Grant or refusal thereof is in discretion of Court - But like any other discretion, such discretion has to be exercised consistent with settled legal principles - Or.41, Rule 3 provides that where memorandum of appeal is not drawn up as prescribed, it may be rejected, or be returned to appellant for purpose of being amended - These provisions leave no manner of doubt that appellate Court has power to grant leave to amend memorandum of appeal - Every amendment in Application for setting aside an arbitral award cannot be taken as fresh application - In this case, grounds sought to be added in memorandum of arbitration apppeal by way of amendment are absolutely new grounds for which there is no foundation in application for setting aside award - Grounds of appeal which are now sought to be advanced were not originally raised in arbitration petition and that amendment that is sought to be effected is not even to grounds contained in application u/Sec.34 but two memo of appeal - Discretion exercised by sigle Judge in refusing to grant leave to appellant to amend memorandum of arbitration appeal - Not illegal - Appeal dismissed. State of Maharashtra Vs. Hindustan Construction Co., Ltd. 2010(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 1.

—Or.6, Rule 18 & Or.7, Rule 11 and Or.8, Rules 3,4 5 - HINDU MINORITY AND GUARDIANSHIP ACT, Sec.8 - "Pleadings of Mufossil Court" - Appellants and respondents filed suits for injunction relating to same property and both of them obtained temporary injunctions against each other - First appellate Court reversed judgment - Appellants contend that in respondents, suit for possession there was no consequential averments in plaint in support of even basic claim of respondents that they have lost possession on particular day pending suit nor there is any cause of action set out in plaint except substitution of relief sought for, rest of body of plaint continued to show as it is a suit for injunction therefore dismissal of suit by trial Court on ground that plaintiffs failed to disclose cause of action seeking relief for possession was fully justified - PLEADINGS IN MUFFOSSIL COURTS - PRINCIPLES - STATED - In this case, appellants expressly aware of respondents' averment that they lost possession during pendency of suit and were seeking relief of possession - This aspect coupled with finding referred to above, that title claimed by appellants is on face of it not valid leads to only conclusion that possession of appellants over suit schedule property is wholly unauthorised in law - Respondents who are original title holders, admittedly, by survivorship cannot be denied relief of possession merely on ground of technical pleas raised by appellants - In this case, effect of respondents not carrying out amendments in body of plaint, consequent upon amendment relief sought, in circumstances is not such a fatal defect, as appellants' suit for injunction claiming possession was jointly tried and disposed of along with respondents' suit as mentioned above, appellants had express notice of claim for possession made by respondents - Both appeals are liable to be dismissed - Second appeals are dismissed - Appellants granted time to vacate and handover possession of suit premises to respondents. Battio Yadavarao Vs. Kandi Paparao 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 110 = 2011(6) ALD 658.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

——Order VII, Rule 1(b) & (c) and Order VI, Rule 14-A - The 4th defendant as petitioner in one I.A.No.364 and other defendants supra as petitioners in another I.A. maintained two applications against the two plaintiffs by name K.Janardhan Reddy and Kolanu Rama Swamy Reddy Memorial Trust and by showing other defendants out of 102 defendants in a suit as co-respondents, to set aside exparte decree passed against them respectively and permit them to contest suit by filing written statement - Plaintiffs filed suit against 102 defendants for the reliefs of declaration of 1st plaintiff is absolute owner of plaint schedule property with consequential permanent injunction restraining defendants from interfering with so called possession of plaintiff over plaint schedule property - In array of plaint as also can be seen from copy of plaint and trial Court's decree dated 20.09.2012 in question, there is nothing to show any of 102 defendants are represented by any of power of attorney holders or agents - There is no separate address given to any of 102 defendants in plaint long cause title as contemplated by Order VII Rule 1(b) & (c) of CPC, but for showing as if all are C/o.S.Sudhakar Reddy (6th defendant)

Held, Once necessary facts brought to notice of trial Court, which clearly proves fraud played by plaintiffs, for no Court to perpetrate same, trial Court should have been set aside decree passed without service of summons against defendants, that too when they sought for by invoking inherent power which inheres in every Court from its very constitution with all its elasticity to necessity to sub serve ends of justice and to prevent abuse of process - Trial Court instead of doing so, committed further wrong in saying as if filing a criminal complaint or mentioning about filing a suit constitutes knowledge about suit proceedings and as if there from duty caste on alleged accused of criminal complaint to appear before any civil Court by making an enquiry from suit number even furnished and to appear and participate - Same is not contemplated by law as an obligation or a duty by any stretch of imagination for trial court to went to such a conclusion from such a baseless contention raised in counter of plaintiffs in opposing applications to set aside the ex parte decree.

As held by this Court in Maganti Kanaka Durga Vs. Maganti Anil Kumar, decree passed by trial Court is nothing but an ex parte decree for all defendants other than 6th defendant who colluded with plaintiffs by colourable contest conceding suit claim including in his evidence participated to show as if it is a contested decree and it is not contemplation of law to consider decree as a contested decree and thereby it is nothing but practically an exparte decree and trial Court totally ignored this aspect also in dismissing applications - Further, when Order IX Rule 13 of CPC says within 30 days from date of knowledge decree can be sought to set aside exparte, it is unknown how trial Court could come to conclusion of applications are filed beyond 30 days of knowledge from nothing proved from record to attribute knowledge before - Thereby finding of applications are barred by limitation is also unsustainable for absence of any material and in absence of such showing even by respondents/plaintiffs.

Having regard to above, exparte decree passed by trial Court in suit not only against respective defendants applicants but also against all other defendants is liable to be set aside in toto for no service of summons other than against 6th defendant.

Accordingly and in the result, the C.M.A. are allowed by setting aside the dismissal orders of the trial court in I.A.Nos.364 & 538 of 2014 and by allowing the petitions I.A.Nos.364 & 538 of 2014 - Trial Court is directed consequently to restore suit and treat evidence recorded behind back of defendants with no value to use in future - The trial Court has to proceed further according to law after recording appearance of respective petitioners/defendants herein and by ordering summons to all other defendants to their correct addresses to be furnished by plaintiffs. Bhargavi Real Estates Pvt., Ltd., Vs. K.Janardhan Reddy 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 118 = 2016(6) ALD 10 = 2016(5) ALT 585.

—Or.7, Rule 10 - A.P. COURT FEES AND SUITS VALUATION ACT, Secs.7,11,30,31 & 37 (1) - Appellant/Housing Welfare Association filed suit for cancellation of registered sale deed and for permanent injunction - Trial Court allowed petition filed by defendants, under Or.7, Rule 10 of CPC to return plaint for presentation before jurisdictional Court and also directed plaintiff/appellant to pay proper Court fee as per market value of schedule property - In this case, if market value of suit schedule property in both suits is basis, Court of Senior Civil Judge has no jurisdiction to entertain suits and they have to be filed before Court of District Judge - Sec.37 deals with three categories of suits which are; Category A, Suits for cancellation of decree for money; Category – B, Suits for cancellation of decree for (in relation to) movable or immovable property, and Category – C, Suits for cancellation of documents, which create, declare, assign, limit or extinguish the right or title or interest in presentee or in future - PRECEDENT

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- High Court of judicature, A.P is a Court established by merger of Andhra High Court and Hyderabad High Court - Andhra High Court being one carved out of Madras High Court which is a Court of Record, all its decisions prior to establishment of Andhra High Court, are binding on High Court of A.P., subject of course to other rules of doctrine of precedent - As per principle of stare decisis, Full Bench decision of High Court is binding on Division Bench as well as single Bench and that law deciding or declared by Full Bench is law of State and any subsequent decision by co-ordinate Bench or a Division Bench or Single Bench in ignorance of Full Bench Decision is a decision rendered per incuriam and cannot be considered - Therefore, if Madras High Court in KUTAMBA SASTRI has taken a view with regard to computation of Court fee in a suit for cancellation of document, Court fee shall have to be computed on market value of immovable property as on date of filing of suit, and same law will apply in State of A.P., till Madras view is overruled - In this case, Full Bench view of Madras High Court in KUTAMBA SASTRI is a binding precedent, which governs position - Order of Senior Civil Judge in returning plaint to appellant/plaintiff with direction to pay Court fee as per market value of suit schedule property as on date of presentation of plaint and present it before proper Court - Justified - CMA, dismissed. Lakshminagar Housing Welfare Assn. Vs. Syed Sami 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 289 = 2010(4) ALD 389 = 2010(5) ALT 96 = AIR 2010 AP 178.

—Or.7, Rule 10 - ARBITRATION ACT, Sec.8 - Suit for dissolution of partnership Firm and for renditon of accounts and a final decree after settlement of accounts determining profits - Respondent filed written statement taking plea that Cl.7 in partnership deed provides resolution of disputes through arbitration and in that view of matter suit not maintainable - Trial Court returned plaint holding that it has no jurisdiction to decide matter and left it open to appellants to approach concerned forum for arbitration - Purport of Cl.7 is very limited in sense that arbitration is provided only as regards interpretation of contents of partnership deed and by no stretch of imagination, it covers disputes in relation to functioning of partnership firm and that trial Court ought to have decided matter on merits since there is voluminous oral and documentary evidence on record - Clause 6 in partnership deed makes its clear that partnership is at will primarily - Cl.7 provides for arbitration in manner stipulated in it - There is no ambiguity as regards purport of this clause - This Clause does not at all take in its fold disputes that arise during course of functioning of Firm or business activity - When in clear and unam-biguous terms clause provides for arbitration only as regards disputes in relation to contents of Ex.A.4, it cannot be said that matter in relation to dissolution of Firm would constitute subject matter of such arbitration - Trial Court did not evince required amount of interest on this aspect - Trial Court directed to proceed and decide matter on merits on basis of evidence on record - Appeals, allowed. Ramakrishna Ahuja Vs. Sri Tjprakash Maheswari 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 136 = 2009(6) ALD 254.

--Order VII, Rule 10 and 10-A r/w Sec.151 - order passed by District Judge, rejecting prayer of petitioner-1st defendant, filed under Order VII Rule 10 and 10A of CPC r/w Sec.151 C.P.C. seeking returning of plaint, is challenged before High Court.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, in present case, application has not been made under Order VII Rule 11 of CPC - Same is made under Order VII Rule 10 and 10A of C.P.C. which provides only in one contingency return of plaint i.e., only on the Court coming to conclusion that suit is not initiated in proper Court or Court does not have either pecuniary or territorial jurisdiction - Same is clear on a conjoint reading of Order VII Rule 10 and Rule 10A (iii) of C.P.C - District Judge, had taken all these aspects into consideration and rightly refused to return plaint - In facts of present case, impugned order does not warrant any interference of this Court and as such this Civil Revision Petition is liable to be dismissed - Accordingly, Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. Anireddy Amrutha Devi @ Amruthamma Vs. Anireddy Vasudha 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 57 = 2016(3) ALD 494 = 2016(4) ALT 61.

—Or.7, Rule 10-A(I) - Respondent/petitioner initially filed suit in Junior Civil Judge's Court for permanent injunction against petitioner/defendant - Trial Court granted ad interim injunction - After defendants filed written statements respondent/plaintiff filed Application for amendment of plaint by incorporating relief of declaration of title - Consequently, suit exceeded pecuniary jurisdiction of Court of Junior Civil Judge and therefore respondent/plaintiff filed Application under Or.7, Rule 10-A(I) of CPC for return of plaint - Trial Court returned plaint for being presented in Court of Senior Civil Judge who accepted valuation and numbered suit and called for remaining record from Court of Junior Civil Judge - Senior Civil Judge passed docket order directing renumbering of IA and posting of case for enquiry - Petitioner/defendant filed present CRP aggrieved by order of Senior Civil Judge to extent of his calling for remaining record from Court of Junior Civil Judge and continuing Injunction Application from stage at which it was returned by Junior Civil Judge - Petitioner contends that when once plaint is returned for presentation in proper Court, proceedings in Court, which returned plaint, end and order if any passed by Court returning plaint will not enure to benefit of plaintiff and that as representation of plaint in proper Court constitutes filing of fresh suit, Senior Judge, committed serious jurisdictional error in treating injunction Application as continuation of proceedings from Court of Junior Civil Judge and calling for remaining record from said Court - Injunction granted by Junior Civil Judge in favour of respondent plaintiff ceased to be in force from time said Court has returned plaint - Proceedings before Senior Civil Judge, should, therefore, commence de novo as if it is fresh suit - Senior Civil Judge directed to proceed with IA and suit treating same as fresh proceedings - CRP, allowed. Gudur Seetharam(died) Per LR Gudur Venu Vs. Pathipaka Sudharshan 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 127 = 2012(6) ALD 809.

—Or,7, Rule 11 - "Rejection of plaint" - Respondent filed suit for declaration that he is absolute owner of suit building and sale deed in favour of petitioner/defendant, wife is sham, nominal and invalid and for consequential injunction - Petitioner/defendant filed Application even before filing written statement seeking rejection of plaint contending that since plaintiff did not seek for cancellation of sale deed not entitled for relief prayed for - Trial Judge dismissed Application observing that truth or otherwise of said plea and allegation of fraud cannot be ascertained at stage as it is necessarily a matter to be considered only after evidence is adduced on both sides during course of trial - It is for plaintiff to choose relief he wants - If relief sought does not serve intended purpose it is for plaintiff to suffer consequences and that defendant cannot seek rejection of plaint on ground that in addition to relief sought, plaintiff ought to have prayed for some other relief also when plaint in fact discloses cause of action inrespect of relief that is actually prayed for - LIMITATION - Limitation being a mixed question of law and fact, same cannot be considered at this threshold - If ultimately suit is found to be barred by limitation, it would entitle dismissal of suit - "Scope of enquiry in Appli-cation filed under Or.7, Rule 11 of Code seeking rejecting of plaint is indeed limited - Court cannot go beyond the four corners of plaint and the documents, if any, annexed therewith" - Suit for declaration and injunction alleging that sale deed executed in favour of defendant is sham and bogus is maintainable even without seeking relief of cancellation of sale deed - Impugned order of trial Court dismissing Application for rejection of plaint, justified - CRP, dismissed. Sala Shiny Kiran Vs. Sala Uday Kiran 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 215 = 2009(6) ALD 764.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, Rule 11 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - When suit presented, objection regarding court fee was initially raised and plaint returned - After compliance of said objection plaint represented - Trial Court rejecting plaint on ground that there is material discrepancy regarding survey numbers between agreement of sale and plaint - At stage of presentation of suit, Court can only insist on strict compliance of provisions of Code and reject plaint only if it is satisfied that one or more of grounds mentioned in Or.7, Rule 11 of Code are present - It is not function of Court to involve itself in examination of purported discrepancy in a minute manner and reject plaint on such a ground at threshold - Such a procedure not sanctioned by law - Trial Court made a perverse approach in rejecting plaint - Trial Court directed to register suit without raising further objections and issue process to defendants - Impugned order of trial Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Dantala Praveen Vs. Bairaboina Veeramma 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 301 = 2011(4) ALD 775 = 2011(5) ALT 626.

—Or.7, Rule 11 - "Rejection of plaint" - Plaintiff/appellants filed suit for relief of perpetual injunction to restrain respondents from interfering with suit schedule property as well as to restrain them from alienating same - Respondents being defendants filed Application under Or.7, Rule 11 with a prayer to reject plaint stating that they are pattadars and enjoyers of land in question and that they have also been issued pattadar pass books and title deeds and that suit is barred under law and same cannot be entertained - Trial Court allowed Application and rejected plaint - In this case, grounds pleaded by respondents/defendants for rejection of plaint is not referable to any provision of law and their endeavour is to convencing Court that there was no merits in claim of plaintiff - Even if facts pleaded by respondents/defendants can be taken as true, they cannot constitute basis to reject plaint, it is only when filing of suit is barred under any provision of law or when contents of plaint, even if taken as true do not disclose cause of action, that a plaint can be rejected under Rule 11 of Or.7, and other grounds mentioned therein are about payment of Court fee - Respondents/ defendants did not cite any reasons, that can be traced to Rule 11 of Or.7 - However, in this case, there are several defects in case, and if same are brought notice of trial Court, it can be a case, for return of plaint, than for rejection thereof - Judgment and decree passed by trial Court. rejecting plaint, set aside - Appeal, allowed - However, trial Court directed to return plaint and require plaintiffs to comply with requirements. Shankar Hills Plot Purchasers Vs. Ch. Anantha Reddy 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 71 = 2013(6) ALD 355 = 2013(5) ALT 688.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, R.11 - First Respondent herein instituted O.S. No. 740 of 2004 on the file of the Court of Principal Junior Civil Judge for perpetual injunction - In said suit, second defendant filed I.A. No. 1827 of 2012 u/O. VII, R. 11 of the Code, seeking rejection of the plaint on the ground of absence of cause of action - Plaintiff/respondent herein filed a counter, resisting the said application - Learned Principal Junior Civil Judge, by virtue of an order, dated. 24-04-2014, dismissed the said application - This revision challenges the said order - Suit was instituted in the year 2004, the petitioner filed I.A. for amendment in the year 2007 and the same was dismissed in 2008 and C.R.P. No. 3913 of 2008 was dismissed on 20-10-2008 and the present application was filed on 23-11-2012 and there is absolutely no plausible explanation forthcoming from the petitioner for such a delay - The said delay is certainly one of the grounds which disentitles the petitioner from claiming this extraordinary relief under O. VII Rule 11 of the Code - Another significant aspect, which needs mention at this juncture, is that unless the order impugned suffers from fundamental infirmity and jurisdictional error, the invocation of the jurisdiction of this Court u/Art. 227 of the Constitution of India is impermissible - In the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court has absolutely no scintilla of hesitation nor any traces of doubt to hold that the order under challenge does not suffer from any such jurisdictional error which warrants interference of this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution of India - In the result, the Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. Emundla Lingaiah. Vs. Kokkula @ Burra Narsavva 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 457 = 2015(3) ALD 520 = 2015(4) ALT 123.

——Or.7, Rule 11 - Rejection of plaint - Once application is filed under Or.7, Rule 11, of CPC, Court has to dispose of same before proceeding with trial - There is no point or sense in proceeding with trial of case, in case, plaint (Election petition in present case) is only to be rejected at threshold - Therefore defendant is entitled to file Application for rejection before filing his written statement - In case, application is rejected defendant is entitled to file his written statement thereafter. R.K.Roja Vs. U.S.Rayudu 2016(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 14 = AIR 2016 SC 3282 = 2016(5) ALD 18 (SC).

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, Rule 11, r/w Sec.151 and Or.7, Rule 1 and Sec.26 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit seeking reliefs, directing defendants to execute register sale deed basing on agreement of sale and in alternative if defendant failed to register sale deed, Court may be pleased to execute register sale deed and direction to deliver physical possession of suit property - Defendant/petitioner filed Application under provisions of Or.7, Rule 11 seeking rejection of plaint contending that agreement of sale does not contain proper schedule with specific boundaries and is not having specific location or jurisdiction for its identification and that respondents/plaintiffs utterly failed to comply with Or.7, Rule 1 and Sec.26 of CPC and that property mentioned in alleged agreement of sale is not property mentioned in suit schedule and that property covered by alleged agreement of sale and suit schedule property is not one and same - Plaintiffs/respondents filed counter affidavit contending that parawise denial of averments in plaint is not ground for rejection of plaint and case is coming up for trial and only after full pledged trial Court will decide issue and present Application is only an attempt to drag on case and Court has pecuniary and territorial jurisdiction and suit is within time - District Judge dismissed I.A, - Hence present CRP filed on ground that order of Court below is complete illegal against law and much against to precedents of High Court and Supreme Court - Defendant/petitioners contend that order of Court below is opposed to very spirit and object of provisions of Or.7, Rule 11 CPC and District Judge did not construe language of Or.7, Rule 11 proper perspective and that issues raised by petitioner/defendant are required to be considered after full fledged trial by Court below - While dealing with provisions of Or.7, Rule 11 of Code Court has to take pleadings in plaint on their face value and plaint cannot be rejected on basis of allegations made by defendant in his written statement or in Application for rejection of plaint - Court has to read entire plaint as a whole to find out whether it discloses cause of action and if it does, then plaint cannot be rejected by invoking provisions of Or.7, Rule 11 of Code and that disclosed cause of action is a question of fact which needs to be gathered on basis of averments made in plaint in its entirety.

" ..... it is apparent that the plaint cannot be rejected on the basis of the allegations made by the defendant in his written statement or in an application for rejection of the plaint. The Court has to read the entire plaint as a whole to find out whether it discloses a cause of action and if it does, then the plaint cannot be rejected by the Court exercising the powers under Order VII Rule 11 of the Code".

In this case, District Judge meticulously and thoroughly considered all contentions raised by defendant/petitioner and rightly observed that schedule of property annexed to plaint manifestly indicates extent and location of property and also dealt with aspect of cause of action raised by petitioner herein - There is no any infirmity nor any perversity in impugned order - CRP, dismissed. Kasani Narasimhulu Vs. Sathagowni Srinivas Goud, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.)97 = 2014(2) ALD 149 = 2014(3) ALT 93.

—Or.7, Rule 11 & Or.4, Rule 1 and Or.6, Rule 17 and Or.1, Rule 10 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.3 - "Rejection of plaint" - Plaintiffs filed suits for specific performance of agreements of sale in respect of various items of immovable property - Plaints initially presented on day, on which Courts reopened after summer vacation and were returned with certain objections - By time plaints were re-presented transactions in respect of suit properties have taken place and therefore subsequent purchasers were included in array of parties, while re-presenting of plaints by mentioning subsequent developments in detail - Appellant/Defendant filed petitions under Or.7, Rule 11, seeking rejection of plaints, contending that suits are not maintainable in law or on facts and all of them are barred by limitation - Trial Court dismissed all Applications - Hence present revision petitions - Petitioner/defendant contends that once plaints were not numbered and returned on last date of limitation, subsequent steps do not have effect of bringing suits within limitation and that it is totally impermissible for plaintiffs to add defendants, except by filing Applications under Or.1, Rule 10, much less to add paragraphs to returned plaints, otherwise than by filing Applications under Rule 17 of Or.6 CPC - Respondents/plaintiff submit that it is always permissible for a plaintiff in a suit, to add parties and to incorporate further details, before suit is numbered, without filing applications under relevant provisions of law and that steps taken by plaintiffs subsequent to relturn of plaints were only to avoid multiplicity of proceedings and for a total and effective adjudication of disputes between parties - In this case, defendants are not able to point out as to which plea in plaint presented by plaintiffs is inconsistent with other - Rejection of plaint is an extraordinary step that entails in denial of access to Court, for plaintiff and that is reason why Rule 11 of Or.7 CPC enlists limited grounds, on which a plaint can be rejected - Party that seeks rejection of a plaint must bring application strictly within such grounds and they cannot be expanded through interpretative process - Trial Court has taken correct view of matter in instant cases - Revisions, dismissed. V.V.Balasubramanyam Vs. B.Markaneyulu, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 40.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, Rule 11, Or.6 & 7 & Or.4, Rule 1 and Or.1, Rule 10 and Or.6, Rule 17 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.3 - "Rejection of plaint" - Suits filed by different plaintiffs against common defendants for specific performance of agreements of sale - Plaints presented on 2-6-2007 returned with certain objections - Since transactions have taken place in respect of suit schedule properties by time plaints represented, subsequent purchasers were included in array of parties by mentioning subsequent developments in detail while re-presenting plaints - Suits ultimately numbered in September 2007 - Defendants filed Applications under Rule 11 of Or.7 CPC to reject plaints contending that suits are not maintainable in law or on facts and all of them barred by limitation and that plaints presented on 2-6-2007 on one hand, and those which ultimately came to be numbered on other hand, are totally different in purport and content - Defendants contend that plaints filed on 2-6-2007 do not comply with requirement of pleadings under Or.6, Rule 7 and in that view of matter there was no effective presentation of suits in on that date as contemplated under Rule 1 of Or.4 and that it is totally impermissible for plaintiffs to add defendants in each suit except by filing Applications under Or.1, Rule 10, much less to add paragraphs to returned plaints, otherwise than by filing Applications under Rule 17, Or.6 - Sec.3 of Limitation Act placed an embargo on filing of suits and other proceedings, after expiry of period of limitation prescribed therefor - Word "presentation" mentioned in Sec.3 assumes significance particularly when it is read in conjunction with Rule 1 of Or.4, CPC - A suit can be said to have been instituted, if only plaint accords with Orders VI & VII CPC - Except stating that plaints were not properly presented or that suits are not properly instituted, defendants are not able to point out specific non-compliance, if any, with Orders VI & VII CPC - A plaintiff has full liberty to include or exclude parties and alter contents of plaint after presentation, till it is numbered - He does not have to file an Application, either for inclusion or exclusion of parties or for alteration of contents of plaint - Rejection of plaint is an extraordinary step, that entails in denial of access to Court for plaintiff - That is reason why Rule 11 of Or.7, CPC enlists limited grounds, on which a plaint can be rejected - Party that seeks rejection of plaint must bring application strictly with in such grounds and they cannot be expanded through interpretative process - View taken by trial Court - Justified - Revisions, dismissed. K.V.V. Balasubramanyam Vs. B.Markandeyulu 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 274 = 2011(1) ALD 481.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or.7 Rl. 11 and Rl.11 (a) and Or.39, Rl.4 - Plaintiffs in the unnumbered suit, aggrieved by order of trial Court running in 13 pages rejecting plaint under Order VII Rule 11(a) and (f) CPC on grounds of no cause of action and no compliance with filing of process with plaint copies to defendants, impugning same maintained present revision under Article 227 of Constitution of India.

Held, expression in Dantala Praveen Case speaks that when plaintiffs explained variance in survey number of suit agreements in plaint, it is not duty of Court at numbering stage to involve itself in examination of purported discrepancy in a minute manner and reject plaint on such a ground at threshold and such a procedure is not sanctioned by law and Court below has made a perverse approach in rejecting plaint presented by plaintiff.

Having regard to above and in result, revision petition is disposed of by setting aside impugned order of trial Court rejecting plaint. Kavitha Balaji Vs. State of Telangana 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 235 = 2016(6) ALD 493.

—Or.7, Rules 11, 14(1)(2)(3) AND ORDER 12 RULE 1 - A.P.CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE RULE 22 AND CIRCULAR ORDER 1980 - Plaintiff filed suit for recovery of certain huge amounts basing on alleged agreement of sale and cheque allegedly issued by 2nd defendant, by filing photocopies of agreement, and cheque - District Judge, passed order in S.R. in unregistered O.S., directing plaintiff to file original cheque along with authenticated copy of agreement for further scrutiny, failing which plaint stood rejected – Hence, Plaintiff filed present Revision - It is clear from order of trial court that it did not treat case on hand as one relating to rejection of plaint under order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C. – Trial Court was however of opinion that failure to comply with office objection would still entail rejection of plaint placing reliance on Rule 22 of A.P. Civil Rules of Practice and Circular Orders 1980 - However, Civil Rules of

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Practice would always be subject to Code of Civil Procedure – Order 7 Rule 14 (3) C.P.C. makes it clear that when plaintiff fails to produce a document which ought to have been produced by him along with plaint or he fails to enter such document in list annexed to plaint it shall not be permitted to adduce such document in evidence without leave of court – O.13 Rule 1 manifests that production of documents in original, when photocopies thereof have been filed along with plaint, would be necessary only at or before settlement of issues – Significantly in present case, plaintiff had filed photocopies of both document in question - There is no requirement prescribed in Rule 22 of Civil Rules of Practice that all original documents relied upon must invariably be produced along with plaint and in fact no such requirement could have been prescribed in said Rule as it would run contra to provisions of Civil Procedure Code, Order 7 Rule 14 and Order 13 Rule 1 and in view of legal position, approach of trial court in examining merits of suit claim on strength of photocopies placed before it and requiring plaintiff to produce original thereof as a condition precedent for registration of suit was erroneous in law - Order of trial court unsustainable in law and accordingly set aside. – Trial Court directed to entertain suit and register same – CRP, allowed. Pujari Narsaiah Vs. Modem Sudhaker, Hasanparthy Mandal, Warangal, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 77 = 2015(3) ALD 641 = 2015(3) ALT 649.

—Or.7, Rule 11(a) and Sec.151 - "Rejection of plaint" - "Cause of action" - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for declaration of title and permanent injunction - Petitioners/defendants filed application seeking rejection of plaint on ground that same does not disclose cause of action - Trial Court rejected application - Petitioner contends, that in plaint respondents have not disclosed which are ancestral properties and which are self-acquired properties and in absence of such details, plaint has not satisfied requirement of Or.7, Rule 1 (e) and also sub-rule 11(a) of Act - In order to attract Or.7, Rule 11(a) of Code for rejection of plaint, defendants shall satisfy Court that plaint does not disclose cause of action at all - In this case, respondent/plaintiff sought for both declaration of title and perpetual injunction - Even though paragraph-8 of plaint relating to cause of action has not included averment relating to title, said paragraph contains sufficient pleadings in respect of permanent injunction - Respondent/plaintiff contends that to know whether plaint discloses cause of action or not same needs to be read as a whole - Respondent referred to tile in more than one paragraph - Mere absence of detailed particulars relating to nature of properties cannot be treated as plaint not disclosing cause of action - If plaintiff lays foundation relating to title he can always substantiate same by adducing oral and documentary evidence and such exercise will be undertaken only during trial - Except in cases where it fails to disclose any cause of action plaint cannot be rejected - Therefore plaint cannot be rejected without suit being tried - CRP, dismissed. R.Raghunatha Reddy Vs. R.Ramakrishna Reddy, 2012(1) Law Summary 310 = 2012(3) ALD 1 = 2012(3) ALT 656.

—Or.7, Rules 11 (a) & 13 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.31 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.3 - Suit filed for declaration that sale deeds in favour of defendants are null and void - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by defendants for rejection of plaint, holding that there are no grounds to reject plaint - Petitioner/ contends that on face of it, plaint did not disclose any cause of action and suit also barred by limitation - Respondent contends that since rejection of plaint is a matter between Court and plaintiff, defendants in suit cannot interject in it - CAUSE OF ACTION - Cause of action is a bundle of facts, which are required to be pleaded and proved for purpose of obtaining relief claimed in suit - Expression cause of action means every fact, which it would be necessary for plaintiff to prove if traversed in order to support his right to judgment of Court - However so far as Or.7, R.11(a) is concerned, test is whether plaint discloses such cause of action on meaningful reading of averments therein - In this case, plaintiffs are not parties to sale deeds, which are sought to be declared as void and suit is not for declaration of title, but it is only for declaration of sale deeds, to which they were not parties, as void - Admittedly plaintiffs are not parties to documents in question - U/ Sec.31 of Specific Relief Act a suit for declaration of written instrument as void can be filed only by person against whom instrument is void or voidable - Since plaint does not disclose as to how sale deeds in question are void or voidable against plaintiffs who have no subsisting right or interest in suit property and who are not parties to document, even if plaint averments are taken to be true in their entirety, it cannot be said that plaintiffs have made out any right to sue - There is no cause of action for plaintiffs to file and maintain suit for declaration that sale deeds in favour of defendants are null and void - Since clear case is made out to show that Or.7, R.11 (a) is attracted, plaint is liable to be rejected - Suit also barred by limitation since sale deeds registered in year 2000 and suit filed in 2004 - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. K.L.V. Prasada Rao Vs. K. Venkateswara Goud 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 323 = 2008(2) ALD 669 = 2008(2) ALT 455 = 2008(1) APLJ 135.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, Rule 11 (a) and (d) & Sec.115 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - "Rejection of plaint" - "Non disclosure of cause of action" - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit seeking reliefs of specific performance and for injunction and for direction to petitioner/1st defendant to renew lease for further period - Application filed by 1st defendant seeking rejection of plaint as there is no concluded contract and suit is without any cause of action - Trial Court dismissed Application holding that plaint not liable for rejection at threshold and various contentions raised by parties have to be decided in trial of suit - In order to ascertain whether plaint discloses a cause of action or not, averments in plaint have to be read as a whole and also in meaningful manner - Court has to maintain distinction between plea that there was no cause of action for suit and plea that plaint does not disclose cause of action - Hence present case, cannot be considered to be manifestly vxatious or frivolous one in sense that it does not disclose a clear right to sue, warranting exercise of power of rejection of plaint under Or.7, Rule 11 - Onus is on petitioner/1st defendant to establish that plaint does not disclose a cause of action and therefore it is liable for rejection - Petitioner failed to establish that plaint does not disclose a cause of action and as such he is not entitled to seek rejection of plaint under Or.7, Rule 11(a) - Bar contemplated in Cl.(d) of Rule 11 of Or.7 is a statutory Bar which prevents entry and very institution of suit and not a legal objection which may subsequently be upheld rendering suit not maintainable - In this case, question as to whether plaintiff is entitled for renewal of lease as claimed by him and whether defendant is justified in refusing renewal do arise for consideration as triable issues and they cannot be disposed of at threshold stage under Or.7, Rule 11, especially when from averments in plaint, it does not appear that suit is barred by any law - It is only defendant's contention that suit for specific performance is bad because, there is no concluded contract of renewal and said contention has to be considered only at a subsequent stage, but not at threshold under Or.7, Rule 11 - Ingredients of either Clause (a) or Clause (d) of Or.7, Rule 11 are not attracted to present case so as to render plaint liable for rejection - CRP, dismissed. M.A.E. Kumar Krishna Varma Vs. Sri Ramoji Rao 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 114.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, Rule 11 (a) & (d), r/w Secs.3, 29(1) and 30 of A.P. Agricultural Produce and (Live Stock) Market Act - INDIAN CONTRACT ACT, Sec.23 - Municipality filed suit for recovery of amount under agreement - Trial Court allowed Application filed by respondent/ defendant for rejection of suit holding that jurisdiction of civil Court is barred to try suit - Petitioner/plaintiff contends that trial Court should have appreciated whether ingredients of Or.7, R.11 (a) or (d) were satisfied or not at this stage but however trial Court entered upon merits and demerits of matter since such facts are to be decided and findings are to be recorded after parties adduced evidence and not at stage of considering Application praying for rejection of plaint - Specific stand taken in Application is that plaintiff/Municipality has no right to collect market rentals from defendant in suit as per provisions of Act - It is needless to say that question whether in fact plaintiff is entitled to reliefs prayed for or not, these aspects may have to be decided at appropriate stage on appreciation of evidence which may be let in by parties - For rejecting plaint, ingredients of Or.7, Rule 11 (a) or (d) to be satisfied and unless said ingredients are satisfied, order of rejection cannot be made - Several of factual controversies which may have to be gone into at appropriate stage cannot be taken as operating as a bar for maintainability of suit - Impugned order, set aside - Revision petition, allowed. Bobbili Municipality Vs. K.Sugunamma 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 33 = 2008(5) ALD 409.

—Or.7, Rule 11(a) & (b), r/w Sec.151 & Or.7, R.10 - A.P. COURT FEES ACT, Secs.37 & 37-A and 11 - A.P. COURT FEE AND SUITS VALUATION RULES, 1987 - Rule 3 - "Return of plaint" and "rejection of plaint" - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for declaration that decree in a suit is null and void and consequential relief of cancellation of same - Respondent/defendant filed Application to reject plaint on ground that sale deeds relied upon by plaintiff amounting to Rs.4,53,000/- out of which 1/4th amount is beyond pecuniary jurisdiction of Court concerned - Trial Court passing order directing plaintiff to file Application for amendment of plaint showing present market value of suit lands as Rs.4,53,000 and pay deficit Court fee thereon and after amendment of plaint and payment of deficit Court fee, plaint will be returned to plaintiff for its presentation before proper Court having pecuniary terrotorial jurisdiction - Petitioner contends that when Application filed under Or.7, Rule 11 only question that should have been decided by trial Judge is whether on any one of grounds plaint is liable to be rejected or not and not beyond thereto and that method and procedure adopted by trial Judge in recording certain findings that valuation given by plaintiff cannot be accepted and further recording a finding that in light of sale deeds since quantum would exceed peculiary limits of Court concerned and issuing further directions for presentation of plaint before proper Court, cannot be sustained - Respondent contends that order in substance is perfectly well justified order in pecular fact and circumstances and further in as much as such power can be exercised even suo moto and such orders not to be interfered with in revision under Art.227 of Constitution - OR.7, RULE 7 AND OR.7, RULE 10 - Object, scope and ambit - Analysed - Court can reject plaint only when conditions specified under any of clauses of Or.7, R.11 of Code are satisfied and not otherwise - It is needless to say that averments made in plaint alone would be germane in deciding Application made under Or.7, R.11 - Impugned order made by trial Judge is one made exceeding jurisdiction - Hence, order, set aside. Suryalaxmi Cotton Mills Ltd., Vs. Sabhavath Badyas 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 393 = 2008(5) ALD 82 = 2008(5) ALT 520.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, Rule 11 (c) and (d) - Suit filed basing on promissory note - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioner/defendant praying for rejection of plaint - Petitioner/defendant contends that promissory note is barred by limitation and that trial Court could have rejected plaint instead of dismissing Application and that criminal proceedings pending against petitioner may not seriously alter situation as far as Application for rejection of plaint is concerned - Petitioner/defendant had taken specific stand that suit was instituted against her for recovery of suit amount based on promissory note after lapse of period of limitation and respondent/plaintiff and his counsel, by misleading and misrepresenting Court had got suit numbered and there is no cause of action to file suit on basis of promissory note since same barred by limitation - In this case, specific stand taken in counter that suit is not based on strength of cheque, which had been dishonoured for recovery of amount covered by cheque transaction - It may be true that originally promissory note might have been executed and subsequent thereto cheque might have been issued - Plea of bar of limitation always cannot be said to be a pure question of law it may be a mixed question of fact and law as well - "Where suit appears from statement in plaint to be barred by any law" - It is need less to say that these questions also may have to be decided on appreciation of evidence which may be adduced by parties - Impugned order, justified - CRP, dismissed. K.Nagarathnamma Vs. Sree Sreenivasa Financial Services, Kurnool 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 247 = 2009(5) ALD 41 = 2009(5) ALT 167.

—Or.7, R.11(d) - Rejection of plaint - Pinciples of res judicata - Suit for partition - Final decree passed and Commissioner appointed to demarcate land falling to share of plaintiff - Parties had taken possession of properties fallen in their respective shares and had been enjoying and even alienating them to 3rd parties - Appellant denying and disputing same - Appellant filing fresh suit claiming partition in some items appended to plaint in earlier suit - Trial Court allowing application filed by respondents for rejection of plaint which was confirmed by High Court - REJECTION OF PLAINT - Or.7, Rule 11 (d) of

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Code has limited application - It must be shown that suit is barred under any law - Such a conclusion must be drawn from averments made in plaint - There cannot be any addition or subtraction - For purpose of invoking Or.7, Rule 11(d), no amount of evidence can be looked into - At that stage Court would not consider any evidence or enter into a disputed question of fact of law - Effect of a partition suit which has not been taken to its logical conclusion by getting properties partitioned by metes and bounds is a question which, cannot be gone into in proceedings under Or.7, Rule 11(d) - Identity of properties which were subject matter of earlier suit vis - vis properties which are subsequently acquired and effect thereof is beyond purview of Or.7, Rule 11(d) of code - "Application for rejection of plaint can be filed if allegations made in plaint even if given face value and taken to be correct in their entirety appear to be barred by any law. For said purpose only, averments in plaint are relevant. At this stage Court would not be entitled to consider case of defence" - Impugned order - Unsustainable - Appeal, allowed. Kamala Vs. K.T. Eshwara Sa 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 133 = 2008(4) ALD 24(SC) = 2008(4) Supreme 204.

—Or.7, RULE 11(d) - A.P. APARTMENTS (PROMOTION OF CONSTRUCTION AND OWNERSHIP) ACT,1987, Sec.24. - Respondent filed suit for perpetual injunction restraining petitioner/defendant from parking car in stilt area of Complex - Petitioner filed written statement raising plea that suit is not maintainable as it is against provisions of A.P. Apartments Act and filed application under Or.7 Rule 11(d) for rejection of plaint - Lower Court dismissed Application observing that the issue whether common area in Apartment premises could be sold or not being a mixed question of fact and law needs to be adjudicated only after trial - Petitioner contends that suit is wholly misconceived and relief claimed therein is barred by provisions of A.P. Apartment Act and therefore lower court ought to have rejected plaint and that when plaint does not disclose clear right to sue, court of 1st instance should exercise its power under Or.7 rule 11 C.P.C. to prevent bogus and vexatious litigation - Dispute raised in suit is governed by provisions of Act and no provision is brought to notice of this court whereby it has barred by Civil court's jurisdiction to entertain suit of any nature – Unless Court is satisfied that filing of suit is barred by statutory enactment either expressly or impliedly and further continuance of proceedings causes grave prejudice to defendants, it will not generally proceed further and examine whether plaintiff has made out a prima facie case for further continuance of suit proceedings - In the absence of any provision Under Act, expressly barring suit, lower court has rightly dismissed Application field by petitioner for rejection of plaint - CRP dismissed accordingly. Y.Sri Ramulu Vs. K.Venkatesham 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 521 = 2015(3) ALD 635 = 2015(3) ALT 812.

—Or.7, Rule 11(d) - LIMITATION ACT, Arts.58 & 65 - Rejection of plaint - Limitation - Appellant filed suit for declaration of title and for injunction and alternatively for recovery of vacant possession - Respondents contend that plaintiff lost his right long before to rectify alleged mistake - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by respondent/defendant for rejction of plaintiff holding that pleas raised in written statement are irrelevant such stage and they can be considered during trial by casting issue suitably - Division Bench of High Court reversed judgment of trial Court - Application for rejection of plaint can be filed if allegations made in plaint even if given face value and taken to be correct in their entirety appear to be barred by any law - Question as to whether suit is barred by limitation or not would, therefore, depend upon facts and circumstannces of each case - For said purpose, only averments made in plaint are relevant, - At this stage, Court would not be entitled to consider case of defence - LIMITATION ACT VIS-A-VIS OR.7, R.11 OF CODE - CONSIDERED - Law of Limitation relating to suit for possession has undergone a drastic change - If plaintiff has filed suit claiming title over suit property in terms of Arts.64 & 65 of Limitation Act, burden would be on defendant to prove that he has acquired title by adverse possession - In this case, Defendant did not accept that plaintiff was in possession - Therefore an issue in this behalf is required to be framed and the said question is therefore required to be gone into - Limitation would not commence unless there has been a clear and unequivocal threat to rights claimed by plaintiff - In instant case, Application under Or.7, R.11(d) not maintainable - Contentions raised by respondent may have to be gone into at a proper stage - Impugned judgment, unsustainable - Appeal, allowed. C.Natarajan Vs. Ashim Bai 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 93.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.7, Rule 11(d) and Sec.11 - "Rejection of plaint" and "Res judicata" - Earlier suit filed by petitioner against 1st respondent for recovery of money, decreed - Pursuant thereto petitioner filed E.P for sale of schedule property - 2nd respondent filed E.A under Or.21, Rule 58 claiming title under registered settlement deed executed by 1st respondent in his favour - E.A. allowed by Court inspite of petitioner contending that settlement deed is collusive, nominal and fraudulent document brought into existence to defeat legal claim - Hence petitioner filed appeal and same is pending - While so petitioner filed O.S (S.R.) seeking declaration that settlement deed is not valid under law and said rejection of plaint at threshold exercising power under Or.7, Rule 11(d) observing that order in E.A operates as res judicata u/Sec.11 of CPC - Hence, present revision petition filed - Petitioner contends, that question whether suit is barred by res judicata being mixed question of fact and law cannot be decided at that stage - Court below committed grave error in rejecting plaint at threshold even without notice to defendant - Admittedly no notice was issued to defendants in present case and no enquiry was conducted on question whether order passed by lower Court operates as res judicata and no such conclusion is possible from averments in plaint - Court below committed an error in concluding at that stage that order in I.A operates as res judicata - Impugned order of lower Court, unsustainable - Revision disposed of with direction to number suit and may frame an issue with regard to resjudicata and pass appropriate orders after hearing both parties. Ganesula Uma Parvathi,Hyderabad Vs. Ayitam Rama Swamy 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 90 = 2011(4) ALD 1 = 2011(5) ALT 275.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Order VII Sub-rule (3) of Rule 14, Sec.151 and Order XVIII Rule 3 and Order XVIII Rule 17 – Suit was filed by M/s.Ramalingam Mills Ltd., seeking recovery of money against the defendants and another suit was filed by one Velu Yarn Traders seeking recovery of money against same defendants - When suits were coming up for arguments, plaintiffs filed two sets of four interlocutory applications in both suits for reopening suits, for receiving certain documents, and for recalling P.W.1 and D.W.1 - All applications were allowed by learned District Judge, by two common orders, challenging which, defendants filed this Civil Revision Petitions.

Held, it is clear that documents, which were sought to be filed now, were available with plaintiffs and there was no foundation made in plaint with regard to those documents - Plaintiffs earlier availed opportunity to file additional documents and on that occasion also they did not choose to file present documents - Even sub-rule (3) of Rule 14 of Order VII of CPC provides for production of documents with leave of Court at hearing of suit - But, when evidence of parties was completed and suit is coming up for arguments, though technically speaking, hearing of suit can be called as not completed, it is not intendment of sub-rule to grant leave to a party to file documents before commencement of arguments - Further, affidavits filed in support of applications do not indicate any justifiable reason for accepting said documents and recalling witnesses after conclusion of trial - Amendments to the Code of Civil Procedure were made in order to speed up process of disposal of cases and if this type of applications are allowed, it would go against spirit of scheme of Code of Civil Procedure - A perusal of orders of trial Court shows that it travelled much beyond case pleaded by petitioners in their petitions - In circumstances, this Court is constrained to set aside impugned orders of District Judge, and the Civil Revision Petitions are, accordingly, allowed. Lakshmi Priya Exports (India) Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Ramalingam Mills Ltd. 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 450 = 2016(3) ALD 658 = 2016(2) ALT 537.

—-Or.7 Rule 14(3), Or.18 Rule 17 - Filing of IAs after abnormal delay without any reasons - Senior Civil Judge allowed the Applications on the ground that in the event of allowing said applications no prejudice would be caused to defendant/petitioner - Civil Revision Petition filed against the order - Held, reason assigned by senior civil Judge cannot be a ground for allowing Applications unless party applying for satisfies ingredients of relevant provisions of law - Or.18 Rule 17 of CPC is not intended to be used routinely and for mere asking and if said provisions are used for mere asking and in routine manner, same would defeat the very intention behind amendments brought in to expedite trials - Orders passed by Court below suffers from fundamental infirmity, as such the same are unsustainable and untenable in eye of law - CRPs are allowed and orders passed by the court below are set aside. Guduru Nirmala Vs. Guduru Ashok Kumar, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 177.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.8, Rule 1 - Suit for partition - Trial Court rejecting Application for accepting written statement on condonation of delay - High Court dismissed writ petition filed by appellant/ defendant for condoning delay of 35 days in filing written statement - Appellant contends that provisions for filing written statement under Or.8, R.1 are directory in nature and therefore it is open to Court to condone delay in filing written statement and such written statement could be accepted - It would be open to Court to permit appellant to file his written statement if exceptional circumstances have been made out - It cannot also be forgotten that in an adversarial system, no party should ordinarily be denied opportunity of participating in process of justice dispensation - In this case, facts stated would constitute sufficient cause for condoning delay in filing written statement and that non-availability of records prevented appellant in filing written statement within period of limitation which is an exceptional case constituting sufficient cause for condoning delay in filing written statement - Rejection of application for condoning delay in filing written statement by High Court as well as trial Court - Erroneous - Order of trial Court in rejecting application, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Zolba Vs. Keshao 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 75.

—-Or.8, Rl.1- Petitioners herein are defendants in the suit - Petitioners received summons on 05.12.2013 - On 31.12.2013, counsel for petitioners filed vakalat and requested time to file written statement - Case was adjourned to 03.01.2014 and from that date to 03.02.2014 and lastly to 06.03.2014, i.e., the 90th day for filing the written statement - On 90th day also, defendants did not file written statement, but their counsel sought further time - Court below, without acceding to request of counsel for defendants, forfeited the right of the defendants to file written statement - Then defendants filed a petition to set aside the order dated 06.03.2014 and to permit them to file the written statement, which has been dismissed vide impugned order - Held, if parties, in spite of granting short adjournment and imposing costs, do not comply with procedure or the directions of Court, then Courts have to use their discretion and pass appropriate and reasonable orders - There is no hard and fast rule on this aspect and it all depends upon the facts and circumstances of each particular case. In the circumstances, it appears that there are laches on part of defendants - But merely because there are laches on part of defendants, their right to file the written statement should not be forfeited and reasonable costs should be imposed - Accordingly, on payment of costs of Rs.5,000/- by petitioners herein to the respondents herein within a period of ten days from today, the CRP stands allowed and the impugned order stands set aside. Chelimilla Chinna Venkataswamy Vs.Billapuram Gopala Krishna 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 357 = 2015(1) ALD 43 = 2015(3) ALT 736 = AIR 2015 (NOC) 660(Hyd).

—Or.8, Rule 1 and Sec.151 - Respondent filed suit for perpetual injunction - Even though suit summons were served on petitioners/defendants, they have failed to file written statement within stipulated time of 90 days and as such their right to file written statement was forfeited - Trial Court rejected application filed by petitioners/defendants to receive written statement - Petitioners contend that Or.8, Rule 1 is procedural and not sub-stantiative in nature and that stipulation of filing written statement within 90 days contained in said provision only works as constrained on defendant and said provision would not limit or curtail power of civil Court to extend time - Respondent/ plaintiff contends that trial Court has given categorical finding that petitioners failed to offer a satisfactory explanation for accepting written statement beyond prescribed period - Forfeiture of petitioners' right to file written statement would be too harshed which works serious hardship to their interest - After all intendment of law is to adjudicate dispute on merits rather than by default - Trial Court directed to receive written statement subject to petitioners paying Rs.5000 to respondent - CRP, allowed. Dugge Venkataiah Vs. Bellamkonda Meri Dhanamma 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 297 = 2011(5) ALD 100 = 2011(5) ALT 649.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.8, Rule 1 and Or.9, Rule 7 - Filing writen statement - 30 days from date of receipt of summons, which shall not exceed 90 days - May not be mandatory but only directory - Time can not be granted in a routine manner, except in exceptionally hard cases. J.Sydulu Goud Vs. Syed Ashraf Hussain 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 350

—Or.8, Rule 1(3), Sec. 151 - Suit filed by respondents for declaration of title and perpetual injunction was alleged by petitioners in an I.A. as devoid of cause of action and barred by limitation - Trial Court dismissed the I.A filed by petitioners on ground that documents mentioned in petition, though were referred to in plaint, were not filed into trial court and a perusal of same was essential to decide question of limitation or rejection of the plaint giving rise to this Revision - Held, while dealing with an application filed for rejection of plaint, Court has to take contents of plaint on its face value, and it cannot be permitted to look into any external material - A perusal of the plaint discloses that extensive reference was made to the orders passed and judgments rendered by this court in writ petitions and writ appeals etc. - Heavy reliance was placed upon them to plead that the suit is filed within limitation and there exists a cause of action for it - For one reason or other, copies of those orders were not annexed to plaint - Appellants intended to place same before Court, may be, for limited purpose of examining the question of cause of action and limitation - Since documents were very much mentioned in paragraph pertaining to cause of action, they ought to have been received - Therefore CRP is allowed and order under revision set aside. G.Venkata Swamy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 175 = 2014(5) ALD 766.

—Or.8, Rule 1-A(3) - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for recovery of suit amount from respondents/ defendants on base of promissory note - After closure of evidence on plaintiff's side 3rd defendant filed affidavit in view of chief- examination and respondents filed application for receiving 7 pronotes in to evidence - Petitioner contends that respondents have created and brought into existence pronotes and that they failed to show any valid and sufficient reasons for not filing them earlier - Trial Court allowed application by holding that respondents have mentioned adequate reasons for not filing them earlier - Petitioner contends that even though under Or.8, Rule 1-A (3) of Code discretion is vested in Court to permit defendant produce any document beyond time stipulated other than at time of filing written statement, such discretion can be exercised only if defendant comes out with proper explanation for not filing them along with written statement - Rule 1-A and 1-A(3) of Or.8, CPC were substituted by Act 46 of 1999 - Object with which though Rules were amended was to curb phenomenal delays in procedural aspects leading to procrastination of proceedings before civil Court - This being avowed object with which above noted provisions are amended, Rule 1-A(3) of Or.8 which on a literal interpretation appears to vest unlimited discretion with Court, requires to be interpreted so as to advance intendement of legislation - Unless reasons assigned by defendant discloses sufficient cause for his failure to produce documents within time stipulated in Rule 1-A of Or.8, Court shall not permit defendant to file such documents later - In this case, admittedly respondents failed to furnish proper and sufficient reasons for receiving documents at a far too belated stage - Trial Court committed serious error in failing to notice these glaring short coming in case of respondents and holding that reasons given by respondents for belated production of documents are adequate - Order under revision, set aside - CRP, allowed. Voruganti Narayana Rao Vs. Bodla Rammurthy 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 12 = 2011(6) ALD 142 = 2011(6) ALT 299.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.8, Rule 1A(3) - Respondent filed suit against petitioner for recovery of certain amount - When case was coming up for cross-examination of respondent/plaintiff, petitioner filed IA for permitting him to file registered sale deed and registered notice - Trial Court dismissed Application on sole ground that petitioner has not come forth with proper reasons for permitting him to file proposed documents - Hence present CRP - Petitioner contends that suit property originally belonged to SS and petitioner purchased said property under registered sale deed and that due to oversite said document could not be filed earlier and that petitioner also received notice from respondent's counsel without advocate signature and that both these documents are essential for effectively defending suit - Cl.(3) of Or.8, Rule 1A was incorporated by Act22 of 2002 with a view to discourage practice of parties filing documents at a belated stage of proceedings - Procedure is handmaid of justice - While procedural laws need to be adhered to in order to avoid long delays in disposal of cases, at same time, Courts will have to make a delicate balance between strict adherence to these procedural laws and substantial justice that needs to be ensured for parties - In anxiety to curb delays, stopping parties from adducing relevant evidence would lead to failure of justice - However, fair amount discretion is vested by Or.8, Rule 1A (3) in Courts to permit filing of documents - No hard and fast principles can be laid down for Courts as to how discretion has to be exercised - While exercising such discretion, Court will have to consider relevant aspects such as conduct of parties, nature of documents, that are sought to be filed and whether by permitting filing such document, same will help Court to adjudicate suit in a more effective manner - Court should also consider stage at which documents are sought to be filed - Lower Court ought to have permitted petitioner to produce document in question - Order of lower Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. M.R.Anjaneyulu Vs. R.Subrahmanyam Achary, 2012(1) Law Summary 251 = 2012(5) ALD 243.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.8, Rule 1(3) - REGISTRATION ACT, Sec.17 - 1st respondent filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - 1st respondent/plaintiff opposed Appli-cation filed by petitioner to receive document raising objection as to its admissibility - Trial Court passing order that since document not properly stamped it cannot be received - Hence, present Revision - Petitioner contends that document does not confer any independent right on any party, and as such, it is not required to be registered in law and document has only reflected existing state of affairs and no independent transaction, has taken place through it - Respondent contends that since it relates to an item of immovable property, it was required to be registered and duly stamped - In deciding admissibility of document, recitals therein have to be taken on their face value - It is ultimately for parties to prove contents thereof by adducing oral and documentary evidence - It is neither agreement of sale nor sale deed - And on the other hand it is preceded by an agreement of sale as well as a deed - With execution of sale deed, trasnsaction takes place and becomes complete - So it is case with applicability of Sec.17of Registration Act - Neither Stamp Act, nor Registration Act require that acknowledgment of rights of individual to avail legal remedies by another, needs any stamp duty or registration - Strictly speaking an individual does not need consent of approval of another, to enforce his legal rights - Therefore, document cannot be treated as inadmissible in evidence - Trial Court directed to receive document in question in evidence - Revision petition, allowed. M.Nagabhushanam Vs. V.Suresh Kumar 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 73 = 2010(1) ALD 772 = 2010(2) ALT 222.

—Or.8, Rules 3 & 9 and 6-A - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.58 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.53(a) - Respondent/plaintiff is owner of building issued quit notice to appellant/ tenant terminating tenancy and calling upon him to vacate premises and handover vacant possession - Since appellant/defendant failed to vacate premises plaintiff filed suit for eviction - Plaintiff also averred that premises under occupation of defendant would fetch rent of Rs.5,000 and therefore defendant is liable to pay Rs.5,000/- per month towards mesne profits/damages for use and occupation of property from date of suit till date of delivery of possession - Appellant/defendant contends that he had been to pilgrimage during relevant period and that he did not receive notice sent by plaintiff and that after his return he had contacted plaintiff and that there was fresh agreement of lease extending lease by period of 20 years and when he met plaintiff he was not even informed that he filed suit for eviction and he received summons in suit and when he filed suit for specific performance, plaintiff stopped receiving rents - When defendant had taken a specific plea about fresh lease agreement and when plaintiff has not denied same by filing rejoinder, it amounts to admission and as per provisions of Sec.58 of Evidence Act an admitted fact need not be proved and that an unregistered agreement of lease is admissible in evidence u/Sec.49 of Registration Act as evidence of part performance - Plaintiff contends that in his notice had categorically mentioned that defendant is liable to pay damages at Rs.5,000/- per month till vacant possession of premises was delivered to him and any amount paid by defendant after termination of tenancy would be accepted under protest without prejudice to his contentions - Admittedly plaintiff has not filed any rejoinder - Rule 2 of Or.8 envisages that new facts such as that suit is not maintainable or that transaction is either void or voidable in law and also such grounds of defence such as fraud limitation, release, payment of performance, or facts showing illegality must be specifically raised - Rule 6-A deals with counter claim by defendant and counter claim has to be treated as a plaint and governed by Rules applicable plaints under sub-rule (4) of Rule 6-A and plaintiff shall be at liberty to file a written statement in answer to counter claim of defendant within such period as may be fixed by Court under sub-rule (3) of 6-A - What law envisages is that as far as defendant is concerned, he has to denay specific averments or allegations made by plaintiff and when defendant makes specific plea of set- off or counter claim, then only plaintiff is required to file an answer to counter claim or set-off pleaded by defendant - As far as other averments made by defendant, which do not come within definition of set-off or counter claim, plaintiff is not required toanswer same - Admittedly in this case, no evidence has been adduced in support of fresh lease - Only circumstance relied upon by defendant/ appellant is that respondent/plaintiff has accepted rent at Rs.2,000/- per month and that could be only in pursuance of fresh lease - But plaintiff with abundant caution had specifically mentioned that he will be receiving what ever amounts paid towards lease without prejudice to his contentions - However receiving of rent after issuing quit notice cannot be said to be a conduct of signifying “assent” to continuance of lease even after expiry of lease period - Second appeal, dismissed. K.Sajjan Raj Vs. Gopisetty Chandramouli 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 71 = 2011(4) ALD 96 = 2011(5) ALT 329 = AIR 2011(NOC) 411 (AP).

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.8, Rule 4(1) - A.P. STAMP ACT, Schedule-1 of Article 49 (9) (iii) - Revision petitioner/plaintiff filed suit basing on document - Trial Court passed docket order refusing to mark document in evidence on ground that same is insufficiently stamped promissory note and hence not admissible even after payment of required stamp duty and penalty - In this case, when plaintiff has filed affidavit in view of examination-in-chief filed said document along with affidavit - Trial Court made endorsement that required stamp duty and penalty impounded has been collected through lodgement and said document was accordingly impounded - Subsequently when petitioner entered witness box for marking documents, objection was taken by respondent/defendant that promissory note is not admissible in evidence even after it was impounded -

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Petitioner contends that document is not promissory note, but same is only a receipt which can be admitted by evidence - Trial Court by its docket order declined to admit document on ground that as nature of document was already determined by endorsement which has become final petitioner cannot be allowed to plead that same is a receipt and not promissory note - As per amended provisions of Or.8, C.P.C. examination-in-chief of witness shall be by way of affidavit on proviso to sub-rule(1) of Rule 4 of Or.8 which was substituted by amendment envisages that while documents are filed along with chief affidavit and parties relay upon same, proof and admissibility of such documents shall be subjected to orders of Court - Unless both parties are put on notice and Court hears them on admissibility of document, mere unilateral conclusion arrived at by Court at time of presentation of document along with chief affidavit will not bind parties - Trial Court ought to have given opportunity to parties to substantiate their pleas with reference to nature of document instead of relying upon earlier endorsement made when document was presented along with affidavit evidence without hearing parties - Trial Court directed to determine nature of document in question after hearing both parties before proceeding further with case - C.R.P. allowed. Gaddam Varalaxmi Vs. Surakanti Gangu 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 268 = 2012(5) ALD 241 = 2012(5) ALT 628.

—Or.8, Rule 6C and Rule 6-A - Petitioner plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale allegedly executed by 1st defendant/1st respondent - D1 filed written statement denying agreement of sale and that suit property sold to one BVD under registered sale deed and possession also delivered to said vendee - Petitioner/ plaintiff got imple-aded BVD as defendant no.2 and thereafter D2 filed written statement with counter claim under Or.8, Rule 6-A seeking delivery of vacant and peaceful possession of suit property to her and to direct plaintiff to pay damages apart from arrears - Thereafter plaintiff filed Application under Or.8, Rule 6C to exclude counter claim made by D2, contending that said claim was beyond scope of relief sought in main suit - After hearing both parties trial Court dismissed Application - Plaintiff/ petitioner contends that since no relief was sought by plaintiff against D2, question of making a counter claim by D2 did not arise and therefore on that ground alone trial Court ought to have excluded counter claim and that if D2 aggrieved it was for her to file a separate suit seeking relief, but she cannot maintain a counter claim against plaintiff - Or.8, Rule 6-A of CPC entitles defendant to set up any right or claim against claim of plaintiff in respect of cause of action accrued to defendant against plaintiff either before or after filing suit - Sub-Rule(2) of 6-A further made it clear that such counter-claim shall have same effect as cross-suit so as to enable Court to pronounce a final judgment in same suit, both on original claim and on counter claim - Language of Sub-Rule (1) of Rule 6-A of CPC makes it clear that it is open to defendant to make a counter claim in respect of a cause of action accruing to him against plaintiff either before or after filing suit - In this case, cause of action arose against plaintiff after filing suit, therefore D2 is certainly entitled to set up a counter-

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

claim against plaintiff's claim to suit notwithstanding fact that plaintiff did not seek any relief against D2 - Suit claim and counter-claim ought to be regarded as constituting a unified proceeding - Therefore a counter-claim can be excluded only where Court finds that filing of counter-claim is not fair to plaintiff or where it is likely to create complications and prolong trial - No such case could be made out by plaintiff in present case - 2nd defendant is entitled to set up counter-claim and trial Court rightly declined to exclude same - Order of trial Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. G.Pullaiah Vs. P.Vijay Kumar 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 176 = 2011(6) ALD 459 = 2011(6) ALT 274.

—Or.8, Rule 9, r/w Sec.151 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for recovery of certain amount basing on promissory note - Defendant filed written statement contending that amount due under suit promissory note and five other promissory notes has been discharged by executing a registered sale deed in favour of plaintiff in respect of residential house - Elders handedover six promissory notes including suit promissory note - Petitioner/ plaintiff filed Appli-cation under Or.8, Rule 9 seeking permission of Court to file additional pleadings in form of rejoinder for effective disposal of matter - Trial Court dismissed Application on ground that plaintiff cannot be permitted to raise inconsistent pleas so as to alter his original cause of action - Petitioner/plaintiff contends that additional pleadings on his behalf became eminent because of plea taken by respondent/defendant in written statement with regard to execution of sale deed towards discharge of amounts due under various promissory notes - Primary object of subsequent pleading is to supply what has been omitted inadvertently or unintentionally or to deny or clarify facts stated in pleadings of opposite party - In rejoinder plaintiff can be permitted to explain additional facts which have been incorporated in written statement - Application under Or.8, Rule 9 CPC cannot be treated as one under Or.6, Rule 17 as both are contextually different - It is well settled that plaintiff can be permitted to file rejoinder to explain additional facts which have been incoporated in statement - Therefore this is a fit case where leave has to be accorded to plaintiff to place on record additional facts by way of rejoinder - Order passed by trial Court - Justified - CRP, allowed. Mlgireddy Venkata Ramana Vs. Thippanna Narsi Reddy 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 365.

—Or.8 RULE 9, R/W Sec.151 - CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE, RULE 45 - Petitioner filed Suit for perpetual Injunction, restraining respondents from interfering with his peaceful possession and enjoyment of suit property – Petitioner also filed I.A. for temporary injunction and respondents have filed counter-affidavit – Petitioner sought to file reply to said counter-affidavit in the name of rejoinder and therefore, filed I.A. purportedly under Order 8 Rule 9 for permission to file rejoinder - Lower Court dismissed Application on ground that provisions of Order 8 Rule 9 C.P.C. are not attracted to Interlocutory Application - Rule 45 of Civil Rules of Practice permits filing of reply affidavit in Inter- locutory Applications – Lower Court, is unmindful of this basic procedural aspect and dismissed Application purportedly on ground that wrong provision of law is quoted - Procedure is handmaid of justice and that substantive rights of parties cannot be defeated by making hyper technical approach – Mere quoting of wrong provision, obviously out of ignorance on part of counsel appearing for parties, cannot constitute a ground for rejection of Application, if same is otherwise, permissible under any other provision of law - Petitioner has right to file reply- affidavit under Rule 45 of Civil Rules of Practice albeit, with permission of court – I.A. Allowed - Lower court directed to treat rejoinder as reply affidavit – CRP, allowed accordingly. Payala Gopi Vs. Tiebeam Technologies India Pvt. Ltd. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 516 = 2015(3) ALD 608 = 2015(4) ALT 153.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.8, Rule 9 & Or.6, Rule 17 - "Rejoinder" - Petitioner filed suit for declaration of exclusive right over suit wall - 1st respondent filed written statement claiming exclusive right over said suit wall - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioner seeking leave of Court to file rejoinder on ground that petitioner failed to indicate in petition as to what are facts that have come to light through pleadings of 1st respondent and that leave of Court cannot be obtained for rejoinder without his coming out with specific pleading as to necessity for filing such rejoinder - Hence present CRP - Petitioner contends that approach of lower Court is grossly erroneous and that in affidavit in support of petitioner's Application he has clearly stated that certain facts pertaining to some other suit came to his knowledge recently and facts pleaded in said case are very much relevant to present case and that recitals of two documents referred in written statement need to be explained in rejoinder - Primary object of subsequent pleading is to supply what has been omitted inadvertently or unintentionally or to deny or clarify facts stated in pleadings of opposite party, that in rejoinder plaintiff can be permitted to explain additional facts, which have been incorporated in written statement and that application under Or.8, Rule 9 cannot be treated as one under Or.6, Rule 17 as both are contextually different - Unless Court forms an opinion that Application for leave is filed for reasons such as procrastinating suit proceedings or to widen scope of suit or change nature and character of suit proceedings, Applications shall ordinarily be allowed - By permitting subsequent pleadings Court can avoid multiciplity of proceedings - In this case, respondents have not pleaded any prejudice on account of granting of leave to petitioners to file rejoinder - CRP, allowed. Aloor Subrahmanyam Vs. Suthram Prabhakar, 2012(1) Law Summary 241 = 2012(3) ALD 202 = 2012(2) ALT 580.

—Or.8, Rule 9 and proviso to Rule 17 of Or.6 - "Permission to file additional written statement" - Suit originally filed by 1st respondent for relief of specific performance of agreement of sale against sole defendant - After death of sole defendant his legal representatives, petitioner and her mother came on record and also filed additional written statement - At that stage petitioner filed I.A under Or.8, Rule 9 seeking permission to file additional written statement - Application opposed by 1st respondent - Trial Court dismissed Application - Hence present Revision - In this case, through proposed additional written statement petitioner proposes to raise plea pertaining to very character of suit schedule property, particularly in light of recent legislatively changes and an attempt is also sought to be made to find fault with text of written statement filed by original defendant - Parliament has inserted proviso to Rule 17 of Or.6, CPC with an objective of discouraging indiscriminate amendments to pleadings - Strong and acceptable reasons are needed to enable a party to file additional written statement 10 years after suit was filed, that too when it is sought to be presented in absence of any amendment to plaint - Trial Court has taken correct view of matter - Since suit is pending for past 13 years it cannot be kept pending any longer - CRP, dismissed. Jayanthi Vs. K.L.Narayana 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 364 = 2013(4) ALD 273 = 2013(4) ALT 439.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.8, Rule 10- Plaintiff/appellant filed suit for partition and separate possession contending that defendants/respondents failed to arrange partition and separate position of plaintiff's half share in suit property and that defendants/respondents had partitioned property amongst themselves without giving any share to plaintiff/appellant - In this case, plaintiff/appellant sent legal notice to defendants/respondents which was duly served on them in response to which defendants appeared through their advocate and sent reply denying claim of plaintiff - Defendants/respondents served with notice in suit and valakathnama was filed by their advocate - However inspite of numerous opportunities, no written statement filed by defendants/respondents - Since defendants failed to file written statement trial Court directed plaintiff to lead evidence - Plaintiff filed his evidence by way of affidavit alongwith certain documents marked as exhibits - However, plaintiff was not cross- examined by defendants - Trial Court decreed suit and directing plaintiff/appellant shall be entitled to half share in property - High Court set aside judgment and decree passed by trial Court and matter remanded to trial Court for its retrial and for consideration of matter afresh - Hence SLP filed - It is well acknowledged legal dictum that assertion is no proof and hence, burden lay on plaintiff to prove that property had not been partitioned in past even if there was no written statement to contrary or any evidence of rebuttal - Trial Court clearly adopted an erroneous approach by inferring that merely because there was no evidence of denial or rebuttal, plaintiff's case could be held to have been proved - Trial Court decreed suit without assigning any reason how plaintiff is entitled for half share in property and same is absolutely cryptic in nature wherein trial Court has not critically examined as to how affidavit filed by plaintiff in support of his plea of jointness of family was proved on relying upon documents filed by plaintiff without even discussing nature of document indicating that suit property was a joint property - Order of High Court directing retrial justified - Appeal stands dismissed subject to payment of costs of Rs.25000/- to plaintiff/appellant. C.N. Ramappa Gowda Vs. C.C.Chandragowda (dead) by Lrs., 2012(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 1 = 2012(5) ALD 1 (SC) = 2012 AIR SCW 2510 = AIR 2012 SC 2528.

—Or.8, Rule 17 - MOTOR VEHICLES ACT, Sec.169 - Petitioners/claimants filed O.P claiming compensation for death of son of claimants 1 and 2 - Tribunal dismissed petition since petitioners did not attend for marking documents and for cross-examination - Tribunal passed following orders in main petition and I.As:-

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

"Heard, petition is dismissed since filed after closure of petitioners evidence"
"I.A.No.1077/09 to reopen OP is dismissed, this petition is also dismissed."
"Respondent No.1 and his counsel called absent. No further evidence. Evidence on both sides closed. Call on 11-6-2009 for arguments".

In this case Tribunal closed evidence on 29-4-2009 and posted matter for evidence of respondents on 8-5-2009 - OR.18, RULE 17 - Even after closure of evidence of plaintiff or defendants, or both parties, parties may approach Court to reopen case for further evidence and it is discretion of Court to allow any Application filed under Or.18, Rule 17 - However discretion has to be exercised having regard to facts and circumstances of case - Sec.169 of M.V Act makes it clear that Tribunal may follow such summary procedure as it thinks fit - For purpose of enforcing attendance of witnesses and for compelling discovery and production of documents, Tribunal has all powers of Civil Court - While dealing with claim petitions filed under M.V Act Tribunal shall not apply strict rules of procedure as contemplated under CPC and that is not purport of Sec.169, which makes it clear that Tribunal has to follow only summary procedure - When petitioners have filed an application to reopen matter and recall P.W.1 for marking certain documents and further cross-examination, Tribunal ought to have allowed those applications and ought to have given an opportunity to petitioners - Very purpose of relevant provision and constitution of Tribunal for awarding just and reasonable compensation to claimants who approached Tribunal either for death of their near and dear or for injuries caused to them would be defeated if reasonable opportunity is not given to parties to adduce evidence - Impugned orders, set aside - C.R.Ps, allowed. Mohd.Hussain Khan Vs. National Insurance Co., Ltd., , 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 164 = 2011(3) ALD 174 = 2011(3) ALT 233.

—Or.9, Rule 7 - Suit filed for partition and separate possession of plaintiffs share in suit properties - Admittedly suit summons served and appearance was entered on behalf of petitioners/defendants and however they failed to file written statements and hence they were set exparte - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioners/ defendants to set aside ex parte order and permit them to file written statement - Hence present CRP filed by defendants - In this case, trial Court dismissed Application observing that there was no bonafides on part of defendants and application filed at belated stage only to protract litigation - Having regard to facts and circumstances of case on careful consideration of material available on record, there are not justifiable reasons to interfere with findings recorded by trial Court and that application filed at belated stage not bona fide - However defendants cannot be stopped from participating in proceedings from stage at which they put in appearance - Revision petitioners are granted liberty to participate in proceedings from stage at which suit stands as on to day - Written statement of revision petitioners/defendants cannot be received and witnesses already examined cannot be recalled for further cross-examination on behalf of revision petitioners/defendants - Order of trial Court modified to extent indicated above. N.Bayyapu Reddy Vs. M.Surya Prakash, 2012(1) Law Summary 15 = 2012(1) ALD 593 = 2012(1) ALT 417.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, R.9 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Suit filed for recovery of certain amount - Dismissed for default - Trial Court allowing Application filed u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act on condition that petitioner pays costs on or before particular date and files affidavit in lieu of chief-examination - Subsequently trial Court dismissed Application on ground that affidavit, in lieu of chief-examination of P.W.1 not filed - Petitioner contends that though trial Court imposed condition, while allowing I.A that affidavit in lieu of chief-examination must be filed, occasion to file same arises, only when suit is restored to file and that while specific date was stipulated for payment of costs, no such date fixed for filing affidavit and that trial Court ought not to have dismissed Application filed u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act - From perusal of order it is clear that trial Court did not feel necessity to fix any time limit for filing for affidavit, obviously because occasion would arise, if only suit is restored to file - As long as suit is not formally restored to file, there does not exist any occasion for petitioner to file affidavit, in lieu of chief-examination - It must not be forgotten that filing of affidavit, in lieu of chief-examination, is nothing but a substitute for examining witness, in Court - If suit itself is in a condition of dismissal, it is ununderstandable as to how a witness can be examined, at this stage - Impugned order, set aside and I.A shall stand allowed - Trial Court directed to take up application filed under Or.9, R.9 CPC, forthwith. P.Ranjith Kumar Reddy Vs. S. Satyanarayana Raju 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 267 = 2008(2) ALD 468 = 2008(2) ALT 565 = 2008(1) APLJ 37(SN).

—Or.9. Rule 9 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Suit underwent innumerable adjournments for nearly two and half decades and ultimately dismissed for default - Respondents/ plaintiffs filed Applications for restoration of suit by setting aside default order along with Application for condonation of delay of of 2792 days in filing restoration petition - Trial Court allowed applications and condoned delay on cost of Rs.5,000/- and suit restored to file - Hence petitioners/defendants filed present revision petitions - Petitioners/ defendants contend that trial Court exceeded its jurisdiction in condoning enormous delay and it has committed serious error of jurisdiction in setting aside default order without therebeing any reasonable and sufficient cause - Even though discretion is vested in Court to condone delay, such discretion has to be exercised in sound and rational manner and that grounds on which condonation of delay was sought and ex parte order was sought to be set aside are wholly inadequate to condone such huge delay and set aside ex parte order - Respondent/plaintiff contends that revision petition is not maintainable as petitioners/defendants have waived their right, if any, to question order in applications by receiving costs awarded by lower Court for condonation of delay and deposited by respondents and that as condonation of delay falls exclusively within jurisdiction of trial Court, such an order passed by it, even found erroneous falls within its discretion and that High Court cannot set aside such an order by exercising revisional jurisdiction u/Sec.115 of CPC - In this case, plea of respondent that as Advocate to whom case was entrusted did not evince interest properly and they having suspected his bonafides they have changed their Advocate, where upon they came to know that suit was not prosecuted by Advocate and accordingly it was dismissed for default on 28-1-2002 and that fact of dismissal of suit came to their knowledge only on 20-10-2009 when they went to their present Advocate with no objection Valakath and they did not file adjournment petition on 28-1-2002 - Pleas raised by respondents/plaintiffs are self contradictory - Trial Court ought not to have given credence to cobbled-up version of respondents designed only to get suit restored - Lethergic and laidback approach of respondents is further evidence from fact that after dismissal of suit they have kept quite for 7½ years before filing applications in questions - Respondents failed to prove their case that there was reasonable cause for their absence on 28-1-2002 before trial Court - Even though finding of lower Court falls in realm of appreciation of facts, it has failed to take into consideration material aspects while accepting plea of respondents - In this case, respondents/plaintiffs engaged petitioners/defendants in civil litigation for more than 14 years before they allowed suit to be dismissed for default and have gone in do deep slumber for 7½ before they have filed application for condonation of delay in filing application for restoration of suit - By their default, valuable right came to be vested in petitioners and such right cannot be taken away in light-hearted manner by accepting specious plea put-forth by respondents which is a mere subterfuge - Trail Court wrongly exercised discretion vested in restoring suit nearly 8 years after its dismissal - Order of lower Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Manemma Vs. V.Anantha Reddy (died) per L.Rs. 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 1.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, Rules 9 and 13 and Or.22, Rule 4(4) - Condonation of delay in filing Application to set aside ex parte decree - Respondent filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Appellants after filing written statement stopped appearing and they are not represented by Advocate - Subsequently appellant died - Trial Court allowed application filed by respondents for ex parte proceedings and decreed suit - IAs filed by LRs for recall of ex parte decree and condonation of delay in filing IAs Single Judge of High Court did not accept factual assertion made by applicants for explaining delay in I.As observing that applicants were aware of proceedings even during earlier rounds of litigation involving the deceased plaintiff to which they were also parties and therefore reasons given for delay in approaching Court are not satisfactory - Appellant contends that it is imperative for a Court to exempt plaintiff from necessity of substituting LRs of defendant before proceedings with matter - In absence of any such express exemption granted by Court no benefit can be drawn by plaintiff who has obtained a finding in his favour without impleading LRs in place of deceased defendant - Trial Court can proceed with a suit under provisions of Or.22, Rule 4(4) without impleading LRs of defendant who have filed written statement have failed to appear and contest suit - If Court considers it fit to do so - All ingredients of Or.22, Rule 4(4) of CPC stood fully satisfied in facts and circumstances of present case - Therefore Single Judge has not committed any error what so ever in proceedings with matter in suit as against sole defendant without impleading his LRs in his place - Hence determination of Single Judge with reference to Or.21, Rule 4(4) of CPC, upheld - Appeals, dismissed. Sushil K.Chakravarty (D) & LRs. Vs. Tej Properties Pvt. Ltd. 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 46 = 2013(4) ALD 89 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 1942 = AIR 2013 SC 1732.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, Rule 13 - Respondent filed suit for relief of specific performance of agreement of sale against petitioners 1 to 4 - Deceased 1st petitioner father of petitioners 2 to 4 filed written statement and same was adopted by other petitioners - 1st petitioner died - However without taking any formal steps to bring legal representatives of deceased petitioners on record trial Court proceeded and passed ex parte decree - Respondent/DHR filed EP for execution of decree and at that stage petitioners 2 to 4 filed Application under Or.9, Rule 13 to set aside ex parte decree - Trial Court dismissed said Application - In this case decree passed as though 1st defendant was alive without brining his LRs on record - Though version of the petitioners was contradicted by respondent in his counter, Court was under obligation to bestow its attention to relevant facts - However, with one sentence, viz., "the petition is misconceived and also an attempt to mislead the Court", I.A is dismissed - If trial Court was not satisfied with contention of petitioners, be it as to extent of delay or reasons mentioned therefor, minimum expected of Court to record its reasons in support of his conclusions - Order passed in such a hasty and shabby manner cannot at all be countenanced - Application filed under Or.9, Rule 13 CPC by petitioners, shall stand allowed and ex parte decree set aside - CRP, allowed. B.Jagganna Dora Vs. Somi Estates & Housing (PV) Ltd. 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 102.

—Or.9, Rule 13 - Appeals filed aggrieved by conditional order to condone the delay....Sufficient Cause....is to receive liberal construction so as to advance substantial justice - COSTS.... should be so assessed as would reasonably compensate the Plaintiff for the loss of time and inconvenience caused by relegating back the proceedings to an earlier stage. GMG Engineering Industries Vs. ISSA Green Power Solution 2015(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 6

—Or.9, Rule 13 - CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, Secs.15 & 17 (1) (b) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - Complaint lodged by 1st respondent/complaint before District Consumer Forum - Ex parte order passed for non appearance of petitioner and also opposite party No.1 - District Forum returning I.As filed under Or.9, Rule 13 of CPC to set aside ex parte order stating that order passed by Forum is final order on merits and remedy of petitioner is to file appeal before State Commission - Hence present revision under Art.227 - Petitioner contends procedure contemplated under CPC is made applicable to Forum while deciding consumer dispute cases, applications filed under Or.9, Rule 13 CPC should have been entertained and order returning applications so filed is not appealable u/Sec.15 of Act - High Court can exercise judicial review in exercise of certio rari jurisdiction under Art.226 of Constitution against final orders passed by statutory Tribunal or quasi judicial authority, but not against interlocutory order which will have effect of finally adjudicating lis before them - Admittedly in case on hand, if petitioner is aggrieved by order passed by District Forum against final order namely, ex parte order passed in C.Cs, remedy is to file an appeal before State Commission or if he is so aggrieved by order in not entertaining I.As filed under Or.9, Rule 13 for setting aside ex parte, remedy if any is only to file revision u/Sec.17(1)(b) of Act - A specific alternative remedy is provided by way of revision to State Commission to party aggrieved against any order passed by District Forum either pending consumer case or decided finally - An effective alternative remedy is available under special enactment, High Court will not exercise its extraordinary power under Art.227 - In view of alternative remedy available to petitioner, present revision cannot be entertained and same liable to be dismissed - Petitioner is at liberty to avail alternative remedy available under Sec.17 (1) (b) of Act. Koganti Atchutha Rao Vs. Koganti Vineeth 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2011(6) ALD 90 = 2011(5) ALT 797.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, Rule 13 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.498-A - Respondent filed OP filed for divorce against petitioner/wife - Family Court Vizag., decreed OP ex parte - Petitioner/ wife filed petition to set aside ex parte decree with delay of 153 days stating that her parents are from State of Chattisgarh and when she was subjected to harassment for additional dowry, she filed complaint in Mahila Police Station, Raipur, Chattisgarh u/Sec.498-A IPC against respondent/husband and also filed MJC in Family Court at Raipur - Petitioner contends that she was not served with notice in OP filed by respondent and she came to know when respondent appeared before trial Court and stated about ex parte decree - Application opposed by respondent - Trial Court dismissed Application to set aside ex parte decree - Delay of 153 days in filing Application by woman spouse to set aside ex parte decree passed against her, deserved to be condoned by any standard particularly, when she pleaded that she did not receive notice OP and when she is residing in another State- Only reason that weighed with trial Court in refusing to condone delay was that respondent had married another women and that hardly constitutes any basis to defeat rights of petitioner - In this case, that proceedings are pending in Courts at Raipur and Vizag, discloses that relationship not cardial and acts resorted to respondent in obtaining ex pate decree and immediately contacting second marriage cannot at all countenanced, much less Court can put a seal of approval upon it - Though status of second marriage contracted by respondent may be at a stake, it cannot outwit gross injustice done to petitioner - Delay of 153 days in filing application to set aside ex parte decree, condoned - CRP, allowed. Rachokonda Parvathi Vs. Rachakonda Venkata Subrahmanyam 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 48 = 2013(4) ALD 3 = 2013(4) ALT 589.

—Or.9, R.13 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Suit for recovery of Rs.66 lakhs - Decreed ex parte - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by 1st defendant along with Application to condone delay of 190 days in filing petition under Or.9, R.13 to set aside ex parte decree soon after receipt of E.P, notices - CRP also dismissed by High Court - Hence present appeal filed by 1st defendant with delay of 1189 days - In this case, in application filed seeking to condone delay, 1st defendant categorically mentioned that after receipt of suit summons, standing counsel was instructed to make his appearance and defend suit - But ground for condonation of delay in filing application under Or.9, R.13 was that suit summons not received, therefore, 1st defendant had no knowledge about filing of suit - Therefore there is any amount of divergence in statement made by 1st defendant and this variation in stand taken by 1st defendant, obviously nullifies and cuts across its very contention that suit summons not received - Surprisingly again same stand of non-service of suit summon, was taken as ground for filing appeal in time with additional ground of death of Chairman of 1st defendant, Bank - Original delay of 190 days on ground of non-service of suit summons rejected by Court below and same confirmed by single Judge in CRP - 1st defendant cannot be permitted to take same ground in order to maintain present appeal with inordinate delay of 1189 days - What it could not achieve before Court below and in revision before High Court on a particular ground, same cannot be achieved by way of first appeal along with application to condone delay on same ground - Death of Chairman of first defendant, Bank cannot be a ground to prosecute proceedings with diligence - As death of Chairman had taken place during pendency of suit itself same cannot be considered as a valid reason for filing present appeal with inordinate delay - It is for 1st defendant to contest suit with due diligence - Application to condone delay is liable to be dismissed - Appeal also dismissed. Charminar Co-operative Urban Bank Ltd. Vs. S.B.H. 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 65 = 2008(3) ALD 320 = 2008(3) ALT 9.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9 R.13 – LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Delay of 850 days - Trial Court allowed Application to condone delay of 850 days in filing petition to set aside exparte Judgment and decree - Petitioner/Plaintiff contends that Respondent / Defendant preferred appeal challenging exparte Judgment and Decree and subsequently not pressed said Appeal and therefore cannot invoke Provisions of Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. as it is bar under Explanation to said provision - Respondent / Defendant contends that Trial Court rightly negatived objection of plaintiff, because Appeal not decided on merits and it was dismissed as not pressed, which will not amount to withdrawal - In this case Appeal not dismissed on merits and it was dismissed as not pressed - withdrawing Appeal or not pressing Appeal is one and same because in both cases there will be no order on merits - If it was not pressed on any ground which prohibits party from availing any other remedy available under law then Plaintiff may be correct in objecting, but when Explanation provides that withdrawal of Appeal enables party to invoke Provision of order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C., not pressing Appeal would also come under purview of withdrawal and Trial Court has rightly considered this aspects – Order of Trial Court, justified – Revision, dismissed. S.Davender Reddy Vs. S.Ravinder Reddy 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 578 = 2015(4) ALD 392.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, Rule 13 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Suit decreed ex parte - Petitioner/defendants filed Application under Or.9, Rule 13 to set aside ex parte decree along with I.A u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act to condone delay of 502 days - Trial Court allowed Application holding that valuable rights of defendants involved in matter and they cannot be condemned unheard - Hence present revision filed by plaintiffs - Petitioner contends that defendants are negligent in contesting suit and they did not explain day to day delay in filing Application under Or.9, Rule 13 and that defendants failed to avail opportunity of contesting suit and therefore no indulgence can be shown to them.

"It is axiomatic that condonation of delay is a matter of discretion of Court . Sec.5 of Limitation Act does not say that such discretion can be exercised only if delay is within certain limits - Lengthof delay is not a matter, acceptability of explanation is only criterion.".

In this case, defendants had engaged Counsel by paying him fee and through him written statement also filed in 2007 - Proceedings in suit admittedly dragged on and on 17-2-2010 defendants were set exparte due to non appearance of their Counsel - Though their Counsel told them that he would call them as and when their presence is required but unfortunately he did not appear to have contacted defendants and informed them about proceedings in suit after filing of written statement and there is no reason to disbelieve plea of defendants that they have waited bonafidely believing that Counsel would inform them about proceedings in suit - As rightly observed by Supreme Court length of time is not matter, but acceptability of explanation is only criterion - In this case, defendants had made out sufficient cause for condonation of delay in filing Application to set aside ex parte decree and that they deserve a chance to contest suit on merits - Impugned order of lower Court, justified - CRP, dismissed. R.Krishna alias Kistaiah Vs. R.Bala Narasaiah 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 147 = 2014(2) ALD 297 = 2014(2) ALT 634.

—Or.9, R.13 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 & Art.123 - Suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Decreed ex parte - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by defendant to set aside ex parte decree - Appellate Court confirmed order of trial Court - Petitioner/defendant contends that suit agreement of sale is rank forgery and plaintiff deliberately taken suit summons to wrong address and that suit decreed ex parte without service of summons to him - Respondent/plaintiff contends that defendant failed to contest even execution petition and possession of suit property also delivered to him through Court and therefore petition filed under Or.9, Rule 13 at belated stage was not bona fide apart from being barred by limitation -In this case, as finding has been recorded that summons were not served on defendant, later part of Art.123 is attracted and consequently period of limitation begins to run when defendant had knowledge of decree - It is also relevant to note that defendant in his affidavit in I.A as well as in his evidence categorically stated that he never resided at Chennai at

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

address shown in casue title - In absence of any evidence on behalf of plaintiff contradicting version of defendant, lower appellate Court not justified in holding that deendant can be imputed knowledge on date of delivery of possession -Both Courts below had misdirected themselves in law in holding that I.A was barred by limitation on mere assumption that defendant had knowledge of ex parte decree more than 30 days before application under Or.9, Rule 13 - Such a conclusion without recording a clear finding as to date of knowledge of defendant about ex parte decree is erroneous and unsustainable - Order of trial Court as confirmed by lower appellate Court, set aside. K.Naveen Kumar Vs. M. Suresh Babu 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 197 = 2009(5) ALT 187.

—Or.9, Rule 13, Sec.13(1)(b) and Or.23 - Appellants filed suit for declaration on basis of oral partition in family and obtained ex-parte decree - One year thereafter respondents filed suit against appellant with prayer to cancel said decree contending that summons in suit were not served in accordance with procedure prescribed under Rule 5 and that process server endorsed that summons were served and taking same into account trial Court set defendants ex-parte and passed ex-parte decree and therefore allegation of fraud on part of appellant herein was made - Trial Court dismissed said suit - Appellate Court allowed appeal filed by respondents - Hence, present second appeal - Appellants contend that in case respondents were of view that summons were not served in accordance with law, they could have filed application under Rule 13 of Or.9 or preferred an appeal and even on merits trial Court recorded finding to effect that summons were properly served - Respondents submit that appellant obtained ex parte decree by playing fraud and that there is no bar in law for institution of separate suit for cancellation of decree obtained by fraud - Filing of separate suit for cancellation of ex parte decree by persons, who are parties to that very decee, is unknown to law and it is not only opposed to provisions of CPC, but also to public policy - If such course is permitted, an independent suit can be filed for setting aside decree which acquired finality after exhaustion of remedies of appeals, simply by raising plea of fraud - Therefore, very institution of suit by respondents for setting aside decree to which they were parties was untenable - Second appeal, deserved to be allowed on that count alone - Accordingly second appeal allowed. Nannuri Sathi Reddy Vs. Nannuri Narsi Reddy, 2012(1) Law Summary 60 = 2012(2) ALD 563 = 2012(2) ALT 113.

—Or.9, Rule 13 r/w Sec.151 - HINDU MARRIAGE ACT, Sec.28 & 21 - Trial Court allowed petition to set aside ex parte decree passed under Hindu Marriage Act - Objection taken about inapplicability of Sec.5 of Limitation Act and Or.9 of C.P.C to proceedings under Hindu Marriage Act - Trial Court overruled objection and passed orders - Or.9, Rule 9 of CPC applicable to proceedings under Hindu Marriage Act - Application under Or.9, Rule 13 of CPC after condoning delay in filing same, obviously in recognition of maintainability of such application in proceedings under Hindu Marriage

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Act - Impugned order - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Eluru Sreenivasa Rao Vs. Eluru Sri Lakshmi Padmavathi @Padmavathi 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 95.

—Or.9, Rule 13 r/w Sec.151 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 and Art.123 - Respondents filed suit for declaration of title, possession and permanent injunction against appellants/ defendants in respect of house property and obtained ex parte decree - Trial Court dismissed Application filed for setting aside ex parte decree holding same as barred by time - Appellate Court allowed appeal - High Court held that Application filed by appellants/defendants barred by time and appellate Court had not recorded any finding on question as to whether filing of Application u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act was necessary or not and that appellate Court exceeded its jurisdiction in allowing Application without condoning delay - In this case, High Court took view that application ought to have been filed within 30 days from passing of decree and since it was not so filed atleast a condonation of delay Application should have been made u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act - Therefore in absence of prayer for condonation of delay, appellate Court could not have allowed application under Or.9, Rule 13 - In this case, appellate Court rightly considered question of filing Application under Or.9, Rule 13 on merits and appellate Court is absolutely right in coming to conclusion that appellant defendants are fully justified in filing application under Or.9, Rule 13 at time when they actually filed it and delay in filing Application was also fully explained on account of fact that they never knew about decree and orders starting ex parte proceedings against them - High Court should not have taken hyper- technical view that no separate Application was filed u/Sec.5 - Application under Or.9, Rule 13 itself have all ingredients of Application for condonation of delay in making that Application - Procedure is after all handmaid of justice - Judgment of High Court, set aside and restore that of appellate Court - Appeal, allowed. Bhagmal Vs. Kunwar Lal 2010(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 23.

—Or.9, Rule 13 & Or.5, Rule 9(5) - General Clauses Act, Sec.27 - Petitioner/Company filed suit for recovery of certain amount from respondent/Industry and obtained ex parte decree on 29-1-2009 - After receipt of E.P notice respondent filed Application under Or.9, Rule 13 for setting aside ex parte decree, along with Application to condone delay of 30 days in filing said Application - Petitioner filed a detailed counter/affidavit denying allegations of respondent that it has not received suit notice and that therefore it has no knowledge passing of ex parte decree and that for first time respondent came to know about passing of decree after receipt of E.P notice and also specifically averred that petitioner has got legal notice served on respondent on 24-3-2008 and that suit notice was served on 1-12-2008 and inspite of said notice, respondent did not appear before Court due to which suit decreed ex parte on 29-1-2009 - In this case, even though acknowledgment of notice, issued by Court in suit, is not marked trial Court, nevertheless, considered same, on which petitioner placed reliance - Trial Court observed that acknowledgment contains signature of receiver but neither name of receiver nor stamp of respondent/Industry have been scene therein - On this premise trial Court has refused to rely upon this acknolwedgment - Hence petitioner filed present CRP - Under Or.5 Rule 9(5) CPC when acknolwedgment or any other receipt purported to be signed by defendant or his agent or postal artical containing summons is received by Court with an endorsement purported to have been made by postal employees or any other person authorised by courier service to effect that defendant or his agent had refused to take delivery of postal article containing summons or has refused to accept summons by other means specified under sub-rule (3) when tendered or transmitted to him, Court issuing summons shall declare that summons have been duly served by defendant - Since petitioner was able to prove that acknowledgment was received by Court showing that suit summons were served on 1-12-2008, lower Court committed serious error in holding that there is no proper proof of service of notice on respondent - Therefore respondent cannot plead to ignore delay till service of notice in E.P - There is nearly two years delay in respondent filing application for setting aside ex parte decree - Trial Court has miserably failed to make a proper and correct approach in appreciating these glaring facts borne by record - Order of trial Court, set aside and I.A stands dismissed. Raghunath Agrotech Pvt. Ltd., Vs. M/s.Ajanta Agro Industries, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 259 = 2012(1) Law Summary 248 = 2012(4) ALD 429 = 2012(4) ALT 560.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, Rule 13 and Or.9, Rule 6(1)(c) and Or.5, Rule 15 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Respondents/ defendants set ex parte basing on report of Process Sever - Trial conducted and ex parte decree passed by trial Court - Subsequently EP also filed - Respondents/ defendants filed Application under Or.9, Rule 13 to set aside ex parte decree along with Application u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act to condone delay of 1521 days in filing application to set aside ex parte decree - Respondents/defendants contend that refusal of summons by some unconcerned persons cannot be taken as refusal by parties to suit and that summons were not properly served on defendants/respondents and that petitioner who is an Advocate misrepresented to Court and obtained ex parte decree by playing fraud on Court on basis of forged and materially altered documents - Respondents contend that there is no sufficient cause for condonation of extraordinarily long period of 1521 days in filing Application to set aside ex parte decree and therefore both Application ought to be rejected - Trial Court allowed Applications holding that respondents/defendants not able to establish that they have changed their address and did not file any document acceptable proof of address to show that they are residing only at a particular place and that petitioner being a pacticing advocate ought to have followed proper procedure and taken a contested decree rather than taking a decree behind back of respondents, particularly when there are serious allegations of fraud and alteration of documents and that there is no negligence and latches on part of respondents in filing application to set aside ex parte decree and there are sufficient grounds to condone delay in filing said application and for setting aside ex parte decree - Petitioner/plaintiff contends that orders passed by trial Court are unsustainable and reasoning of Court is perverse - Respondents contend that trial Court rightly considered evidence on record and condoned delay in filing application to set aside ex parte decree and has set aside said ex parte decree - In this case, trial Court erred in clacin reliance on oral evidence of P.Ws 1 & 4 and accepting plea of respondents that they had shifted to from one place to another place - Observations of trial Court regarding refusal of summons by ladies and affix same to door which are purely based on conjectures and surmises and it should have refrained from making them - It appears to have not notice Rule 15 of Or.5 CPC which permits a Process Server to seek to serve summons on any adult male or female member of family of defendants - When such service was refused by ladies who are adult female members of family of respondents, only conclusion to be given is one of service of summons and this is also a glaring error in order passed by trial Court and it ought to have given due weight to consideration of record of Process Server by Senior Civil Judge before he set respondents ex parte as admittedly record of Process Server would have been available before that Court - Hence it cannot be presumed that Court set respondents ex parte without looking into said record - In this case, one should also take note of second proviso to Or.9, Rule 13 CPC - In facts and circumstances of present case that a presumption of service of notice of summons on defendants respondents is inevitable on account of refusal to receive summons by female members of family of respondents at a particular address and rejection of their plea that they were not residing there at that time - Summons would have been attempted to be served giving sufficient time to defendants to appear at hearing and therefore in view of second proviso to Or.9, Rule 13 CPC, ex parte decree could not have been set aside by trial Court on an assumed irregularity in service of summons - Trial Court acted perversely in allowing Applications to set aside ex parte decree by condoning delay - Revision petitions, allowed. N.Hanmanth Reddy Vs. Smt.Razia Begum 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 228 = 2013(6) ALD 214 = 2013(5) ALT 417.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, Rule 13, Or.17, Rule 2 & Sec.96 - Plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of suit agreement - Defendant denied execution of suit agreement - While plaintiff examined P.Ws. 1 to 3 and marked Exs, and that defendants did not adduce any evidence and their Counsel reported no instructions when P.W.3 was being examined - Suit therefore decreed on basis of evidence adduced by plaintiff - According to appellants/defendants, it is an exparte decree - However, instead of approaching trial Court with an Application under Or.9, Rule 13 CPC regular appeal filed under Sec.96 CPC seeking condonation of delay - In affidavit filed in support of Application for condonation of delay it is stated that though P.W.1 and 2 were cross-examined by their Counsel, Counsel straightaway reported no instructions when P.W.3 was being examined and thereafter there was hardly any opportunity for defendants and that defendants/appellants had knowledge of said ex parte decree when they received notice in execution petition - Respondent/plaintiff contends that Counsel for petitioners in trial Court, cross examined P.Ws.1 & 2, but at time of examination of P.W.3 counsel reported no instructions - Thereafter lower Court heard arguments on behalf of respondent/plaintiff and pronounced judgment and decreed suit - Petitioners being parties to suit are under obligation to attend Court on each date of hearing particularly during trial and as such petitioners cannot make lame excuse of lack of knowledge of proceedings of suit and decree passed by trial Court - Appellants submit that they had engaged counsel and they had depend on him and it now turned out that without knowledge of defendants, he reported no instructions and thereby suit came to be decreed without further contest by defendants. Evidently in this case, on 8-10-2012 trial Court has set appellants/defendants ex parte, but also closed evidence on part of defendants and after hearing arguments posted suit for judgment and pronounced judgment on 11-10-2012 - Whole procedure adopted by trial Court on said two crucial dates, extracted above, clearly shows that trial Court has violated mandate of Or.17, Rule 2 and without posting suit for defendants evidence, trial Court straightaway heard arguments and pronounced judgment - Moreover Counsel for defendants has not cross-examined P.W.3 but reported no instructions - In law, therefore defendants were not represented and any order passed was clearly an ex parte order against defendants - In this case, it is clearly evident that decree passed by trial Court is ex parte decree which is also vitiated on account of non-application of mind and not consideration of issues - Hence impugned judgment suffers from procedural as well as jurisdictional errors and warrants interference u/Sec.96 CPC - Decree and judgment passed by trial Court, set aside - Appellants/defendants are required to be granted opportunity to contest suit by participating in suit from stage of evidence of P.W.3 onwards - Appeal, allowed. Mailwar Narsappa Vs. B.Sangamma 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 178 = 2013(6) ALD 499.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.9, Rule 13 and Or.20, Rule 11 and Or.34, Rule 2 - "Preliminary decree" - Respondent filed suit against appellant for foreclosure of mortgage - Trial Court passed ex parte preliminary decree - Trial Court allowed I.A filed by appellant under Or.9, Rule 13 to set aside ex parte decree on condition that appellant shall deposit half of decretal amount - Since condition not complied with, application dismissed - Appellant contends that trial Court not sure as to amount covered by decree and what was taken into account was, amount claimed in suit - Once High Court granted time for payment of amount and appellant paid same according to his caliculation, trial Court ought not have dismissed I.A - In case, trial Court entertained any doubt as to compliance with order passed by High Court, it ought to have left it to parties to seek necessary clarification from High Court - PRELIMINARY DECREE IN A SUIT FOR FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGE - Defendant in such suit has six months time to pay amount after preliminary decree is prepared - A final decree would follow in event of failure on part of defendant to comply with preliminary decree - In present case, no preliminary decree appears to have been drawn by time trial Court allowed I.A. to set aside ex parte decree - Approach of trial Court cannot be countenanced -

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

First of all, it failed to prepare a preliminary decree as contemplated under Or.36, Rule 2 and there was absolutely no basis for it to indicate any amount - In that view of matter, very condition requiring opposite to appellant to deposit half of decretal amount was not at all a meaningful exercise - In a mortgage suit a preliminary decree can be passed only after undertaking some exercise, such as ascertaining costs,component of interest, as indicated under Rule 2 of Or.34 - A two-line pronouncement, viz., that "the suit as prayed for is decreed" cannot by itself become a preliminary decree and obligated JDR to comply with it - Trial Court ought to have bestowed its attention to relevant provisions of law, that govern suit for mortgage and ensured that lapses pointed out against it, are complied with - CMA, allowed. Mandapalli Chenchu Rama Rao Vs. State Bank of India, Addanki 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 324 = 2011(5) ALD 49.

—Or.9, Rule 13 and Or.43, Rule 1(d) - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Sui decreed ex parte - Defendant could not file counter even in EP - IA filed to condone delay of 252 days in filing petition to set aside ex parte decree stating that she could not file petition due to jaundice and severe fever and since her counsel was suffering from cancer - Trial Court dismiised petition holding that Court has no power to extend period of limitation on equitable grounds, if no suffcient grounds were made out to condone delay - Respondet contends that there was no explanation for delay of 252 days and that an appeal lies under Or.43, Rule 1(d) of CPC against an order under Or.9, Rule 13 CPC rejecting to set aside an ex parte decree - Or.43, Rule 1(d) CPC specifically provides for an appeal against order of rejection of Application under Or.9, Rule 13 and not on petition u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act, which is a prelude or precondition for entertaining an Application under Or.9, Rule 13 CPC - Therefore contention that revision does not lie against impugned order, negative - It is true that delay of more than 252 days in approaching to have ex parte decree set aside, is substantial but it is well settled that Rules of procedure are intended to advance cause of substantial justice, but not to punish parties for their technical lapses - Order, set aside and I.A will be allowed on deposit of Rs.35,000/- to credit of matter. Nagulapu Raju Vs. Tirupathi 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 380.

—Or.10, Rules 1 & 2 and Or.12, Rule 3-A - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.340, 195 (1)(b) r/w Sec.195 IPC - "Ascertainment whether allegations in pleadings are admitted or denied" - "Power of Court to record admission" - Rule 2 of Or.10 CPC - Scope and object and correctness of invoking Sec.340 of Cr.P.C in regard to answers given by party in an examination under Or.10, Rule 2 of CPC – Stated - Rule 1 of Or.10 enables Court to ascertain from each of parties (or his pleaders), at first hearing whether he admits or denies such of those allegations of facts made in pleadings of other party, which were not expressly or by necessary implication admitted or denied by him - Resort to Rule 1 is necessary only in cases where Court finds that plaintiff or defendant has failed to expressly or impliedly admit or deny any of allegations made against him by other party - On other hand Rule 2 enables

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Court to examine not only any party but also any person accompanying either party or his pleader to obtain answer to any material question relating to suit, either at first hearing or subsequent hearings - Object of oral examination under Rule 2 is to ascertain matters in controversy in suit, and not to record evidence or to secure admissions - Power of Court to call upon a party to admit any document and record whether party admits or refuses or neglects to admit such document is traceable to Or.12, Rule 3-A rather than Or.10, Rule 2-A of CPC - Nothing however comes in way of Court combining power under Or.12, Rule 3-A with its power under Or.10, Rule 2 calling upon a party to admit any document when a party is being examined under Or.10, Rule 2 - But Court can call upon a party to admit any document and cannot cross-examine a party with reference to a document - Scope of Or.10, Rule 2 is limited identifying matters in controversy and not adjudicated upon matters in controversy - Object of examination under Or.10, Rule 2 is to identify matters in controversy and not to prove or disprove matters in controversy, nor to seek admissions, nor to decide rights or obligation of parties - Cr.P.C. Sec.340, r/w Sec.195 IPC - Sec.195 Cr.P.C provides that whoever gives or fabricates false evidence intending thereby to cause, or knowing it to be likely that he will thereby cause any person to be convicted of an offence punishable with imprisonment for life or imprisonment for a term of seven years or upwards shall be punished as a person convicted of that a offence would be liable to be punished - Sec.340 of Cr.P.C provides that when upon an application made to it in that behalf or otherwise any Court is of opinion that it is expedient in interest of justice that an enquiry should be made in any offence refer to in Sec. 195 (1) (b) which appears to have been committed in or in relation to a proceedings in that Court, or as case may be, in respect of document produced or given in evidence in proceedings in that Court - Power u/Sec.340 Cr.P.C r/w Sec.195 I.P.C can be exercised only where some one fabricates false evidence or gives false evidence - By know stretch of imagination a party giving an answer to question put under Or.10, Rule 2 of Code when not under oath and when not being examined as a witness, can attract Sec.195 IPC, and consequently cannot attract Sec.195 (1) (b) and Sec.340 of Cr.P.C - Decision of Court to consider initiationof proceedings u/Sec.340 Cr.P.C r/w Sec.195 IPC in regard to an answer to a question put under Or.10, Rule 2 of Code is ill-conceived and wholly without jurisdiction - Appeal, allowed. Kapil Corepacks Pvt. Ltd., Vs. Shri Harbans Lal through Lrs, 2010(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 29 = 2011(1) ALD 1 (SC) = 2010 AIR SCW 4593 = AIR 2010 SC 2809 = 2010(3) SCC(Crl) 924.

—Or.11, Rule 1 - "Interrogatories" - Suit filed for declaration and for recovery of possession - Respondent/defendant filed written statement denying claim of petition - Trial Court dismissed Application seeking to grant leave to deliver Interrogatories to respondents on certain aspects - Petitioner contends that parties to a suit have every right to deliver Interrogatories to other party and latter is under obligation to answer same and that interrogatories can even touch core issues in suit and answer to such questions would minimise scope of controversy - Provisions under Or.11 CPC cannot be invoked to make or compel other party to reveal details of his defence or to state something contrary what has been pleaded by it - However nature of Interrogatories to be delivered on party and which need to be answered by other, must be such that, it does not result in shifting burden or onus of proof on respect issues - Procedure under Or.11, CPC cannot be treated as a substitute for discharge of burden of proof in a suit by concerned party - View taken by trial Court, justified - CRP, dismissed. Mudimela Konda Reddy Vs. Gona Nagi Reddy 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 33.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.11, Rules 1 & 2- CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - Interrogatories - Plaintiff transferee of actionable claim filed suit for recovery of certain amount on ground that actionable claim executed by a Company registered in U.S.A - Defendants after filing written statement filed Application along with interrogatories on plaintiff seeking direction to plaintiff to answer same - Plaintiff resisted petition by filing counter stating that interrogatories annexed to Application or a nature of enlightening defendants themselves about transaction and they are not relevant - Trial Court dismissed petition holding that all interrogatories are in nature of fishing enquiry and these questions to be permitted to be asked at time of cross-examination - INTERROGATORIES - Scope - PURPOSE AND OBJECT - STATED - After settlement of issues, a party to suit may require information from his adversary as to facts or as to documents in possession or power of such party relevant to issue in suit, and where information as to facts is required, party is allowed to put a series of questions to his adversary - These questions are called interrogatories - interrogatory means to ask questions or to make enquiry closely or thoroughly - Function of interrogatories is to enable a party to obtain from opposite party admissions or evidence of material facts to be adduced at a trial to appraise strength or weakness of case before trial and thereby to assist in fair disposal of proceedings at or before trial or in saving costs - Power to serve interrogatories should not be confined within narrow technical limits, but it must be exercised liberally so as to shorten litigation and serve ends of justice - Interrogatories must be directed to facts relevant any matters in issue - In this case answering interrogatories which are now sought to be served on plaintiff by defendants is not by itself a substantiative evidence - Even if plaintiff answers interrogatories still burden is on plaintiff to establish those interrogatories that may be answered by him, during trial of case - Defendants are entitled to know before hand, facts in issue constituting plaintiffs case - Interrogatories now sought to be served on plaintiff by defendants or in nature of facts in issue relevant for purpose of deciding suit - In this case, entire claim of plaintiff is transfer of actionable claim by a particular limited Company, they have to be answered by plaintiff - But defendants denied about availing loan from said Limited Company - Therefore in these circumstances trial Court not justified in dismissing Application - Interrogatories now sought to be served on plaintiff are matters relevant for purpose of deciding facts in issue to be decided during trial - Impugned order set aside and Application is allowed directing plaintiff to answer Interrogatories annexed to Application - CRP, allowed. M.Kishan Rao Vs.R.Subramanyam 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 63.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.11, Rules 8 & 11, r/w Sec.151 - Interrogatories - Trial Court passed order dismissing Application filed by petitioner/plaintiff praying for relief to direct respondents/defendants to report Court particulars of property under their occupation to claim mesne profits, holding that application made is not in accordance with law - PROCEDURE TO ADMINISTER INTERROGATORIES ON OPPONENTS - STATED - Party is entitled to administer interrogatories to his opponents to obtain admission from him with object of facilitating proof of his case as also to save costs which may otherwise be incurred in adducing evidence to prove necessary facts - Petitioner/plaintiff is expected to follow procedure as contemplated under provisions of Or.11 of Code - Impugned order of trial Judge - Justified - Revision petition, dismissed. Mudimela Konda Reddy Vs. Gona Nagi Reddy 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 82 = 2008(2) ALD 66 = 2008(2) ALT 17.

——Or.XII, Rl.6 - Revision grounds are that lower Court gravely erred in not taking into consideration pleadings of plaint and admissions of defendants in their written statement and arrived at erroneous conclusions which are prima facie contrary to material on record - If lower Court had gone through pleadings of plaint and pleadings of defendants in written statement, it would have seen that suit claim was admitted by defendants/respondents herein categorically in their written statement and as such, plaintiffs are entitled for a decree under Order XII Rule 6 CPC - Lower Court gravely erred in arriving at various conclusions on basis of some other transactions which have nothing to do with suit claim - It was contented by respondents/defendants that order of lower Court holds good and for this Court within limited scope of revision, there is nothing to interfere hence to dismiss revision.

Held, admission is since clear and subsequent version is absurd and principal amount of Rs.35,00,000/- with interest of Rs.5,18,000/- is suit claim and what is admitted is only for Rs.40,00,000/ and Rs.40,18,000/- includes subsequent interest, trial Court should have been passed decree on admission for recovery of it by kept open remaining issues regarding entitlement of interest and rate of interest on said Rs.35,00,000/-, either from sale agreement terms dated 19.11.2010 and in absence from date of legal notice and its service till date of suit for preliti interest, besides pendentilite interest, discretion of Court as per Sec.34 CPC equally of postliti interest apart from costs of suit if any.

Accordingly and in result, revision is allowed by setting aside dismissal order of lower Court and by allowing application and by passing decree on admission for Rs.40,00,000/- for rest of suit claim to be determined on other disputed aspects on merits from pleadings of parties.K.Srinivasa Rao Vs. Aasra Archiventures Pvt. Ltd 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 399.

—Or.12, Rule 6 and Secs.2(2) & 96 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - Respondent filed suit for recovery of money due from defendant /revision petitioner - Defendant filed written statement contesting suit claim - Plaintiff filed Application under Or.12, Rule 6, contending that there was clear admission in written statement to extent of Rs.45 lakhs out of suit claim and accordingly praying Court to grant decree to extent of admitted amount of Rs.45 lakhs - Trial Court negatived contention of defendant and granted a decree in favour of respondent/plaintiff for sum of Rs.45 lakhs - Hence present Revision under Art.227 of Constitution - As against judgment and decree in respect of suit amount passed under Or.12, Rule 6 of CPC on basis of admissions made in written statement, an Appeal lies u/Sec.96 of CPC and not Revision under Art.227 of Constitution of India - When an efficacious alternative remedy by way of appeal is available, jurisdiction under Art.227 cannot be invoked - Revision petition, dismissed as not maintainable - Petitioner is at liberty to prefer appeal u/Sec.96 CPC. B.Kesav Rao Vs. P.Sivannarayana 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 320 = 2014(1) ALD 306 = 2014(5) ALT 91.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.12, Rule 6 & Or.23, Rule 3 and Sec.96(3) - Respondent/Plaintiff was entrusted with works of execution for excavation and formation Embankment relating to Sriram Sagar Project - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for recovery of excess amount paid relating to above works - Trial Court decreed suit - Appellant/Govt. contends that judgment and decree of trial Court not considered several crucial aspects as to jurisdiction, limitation and lack of cause of action - Respondent/plaintiff raised preliminary objection with regard to maintainability of appeal by placing reliance on Sec.96(3) CPC, contending that decree in question being a decree of consent, appeal not maintainable and that trial Court passed decree only when Govt. pleader agreed for reasonable rate of interest and it is not open for State to turn round and file present appeal against said decree and consent of Govt. pleader was recorded by trial Court and as such appeal is not maintainable - In this case, respondents had admittedly incurred huge expenditure on interest and when bank guarantees were unjustly invoked, even after far excess amount was recovered than what is due to State, there is no reason as to why State is not liable to pay interest over said amount - Liability, therefore, being purely contractual and easily established by facts of case there are no merits in Appeal and as such same deserves to be dismissed - Impugned judgment records that "during the course of arguments council for plaintiff and learned Govt. pleader have agreed that reasonable interest may be awarded" which shows that on rate of interest Govt. pleader agreed that reasonable rate of interest may be allowed - Trial Court therefore recorded that it is passing an agreed judgment - Admission referred to in Or.12, Rule 6, is that of an admission of any party to suit which is very basis of Or.12 - Consent or admission of Counsel, therefore, is not contemplated under Or.12 CPC - In this case, appellant is not private party but is a State represented by G.P - It is alleged that G.P had no such authority and is inconsistent with stand of appellant throughout suit and as such contention of respondents that binds appellant State cannot be accepted - Decree filed alongwith appeal does not show that it is a decree on consent - Therefore, bar u/Sec.96(3) does not apply and appeal is maintainable - Judgment therefore cannot be said to be judgment as envisaged under Or.12 CPC - Judgment and decree, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Govt.of A.P. Vs. M. Pratima Reddy 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 287 = 2009(6) ALD 396 = 2009(4) APLJ 23.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.13, Rule 3, r/w Sec.151 - REGISTRATION ACT, Sec.17 - STAMP ACT, 1989, Secs.35 & 36 - Respondents 1 & 2/plaintiffs filed suit against petitioner/2nd defendant and 3rd respondent/1st defendant for return of advance amount with interest - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioner/2nd defendant under Or.13, Rule 3 requesting to de mark and reject Ex.A.1 original agreement of sale and to cschew evidence of P.W.1 in regard Ex.A./1 - Petitioner/2nd defendant contends that suit is not for specific performance of said agreement of sale as suit is filed for return of advance amount with interest - Objection raised by 2nd defendant for exhibiting said unregistered agreement of sale on ground that agreement which is required under law to be registered is hit by Sec.17 of Registration Act - Inspite of said objection trial Court allowed document to be exhibited as Ex.A.1 - Hence petitioner filed said petition for demarking and rejecting document - Trial Court erroneously dismissed Application - In written statement no objection was raised in regard to its admissibility and no objection also raised when document was exhibited on behalf of plaintiff - When once document is marked as Ex.A.1 without any objection it cannot be de marked and evidence regard to said document cannot be eschewed - Ordinarily objection to admissibility of evidence should be taken when it is tendered and not subsequently - In this case, trial Court failed to take note of binding ratios in decisions of Hon'ble Supreme Court and Full Bench decision of High Court and had arrived at an incorrect conclusion to effect that document is exhibited without any objection, aggrieved party is precluded from raising an objection as to admissibility of document though matter relates to substantive law such as Registration Act or Stamp Act or other specific provision - Merely because document has been marked as "an exhibit" an objection as to its admissibility is not excluded in case on hand and is available to be raised even at a later stage or even in appeal or revision - Therefore, impugned order liable to be set aside - Revision Petition, allowed - Defendants are at liberty to raise before trial Court as to inadmissibility of exhibit A.1 for want of registration as required u/Sec.17 of Registration Act. Boggavarapu Narasimhulu Vs. Sri Sriram Ramanaiah, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 35 = 2014(2) ALD 426 = 2014(1) ALT 577.

—Or.13 Rule 4 - INDIAN STAMP ACT, Sec.36 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit in Junior Civil Judge's Court seeking decree for perpetual injunction stating that he is absolute owner of suit property and is in exclusion possession of said property and his name is reflected in revenue records including Pattadar Pass Books - Second petitioner-second defendant filed written statement stating that respondent/plaintiff entered into agrement of sale of suit land with 1st petitioner/defendant who is her husband and on payment of total sale consideration possession was delivered to 1st petitioner/defendant and thereupon he constructed house after obtaining permission from Gram Panchayat - After evidence of respondent/plaintiff 1st petitioner/1st defendant was examined as D.W.1 and Exs.B-1 to B-3 which are agreements of sale, were marked through him '- During course of examination of 2nd defendant, objection was taken regarding admissibility of documents on ground that they were deficiently stamped - Trial Court found said documents are deficiently stamped and accordingly passed impugned order with direction to take steps for impounding documents either before Court or before concerned Authorities - Petitioner/defendants contend that impugned order is without jurisdiction and documents in question were marked through D.W.1 without any objection from respondent/plaintiff and that when once documents were so marked, it is not permissible for same Court to impound said document as per provisions of Sec.36 of Stamp Act and that only course left open to aggrieved party is to raise said dispute, if appeal is preferred against said order - Respondent/ plaintiff contends that documents in question, been admitted in evidence and hence provisions of Sec.36 of Act have no application to facts of present case and documents in question were only marked and mere marking of documents does not amount to admission of same unless that fact is judicially determined by Court in terms of Or.13, Rule 4 CPC and trial Court is competent to impugned documents and that impugned order is unassailable - One of essential requirements under Or.13, Rule 4 is that document should contain a specific statement that it has been admitted in evidence and endorsement shall be signed or initialled by Judge - A bare perusal of endorsement of Judge in instant case, does not show any statement to effect that documents have been admitted in evidence - In this case, though documents were marked, it cannot be said that Court had applied judicial mind and admitted documents in evidence and further, even before conclusion of evidence on behalf of petitioners defendants, objection as to admissibility of documents was taken by respondent/ plaintiff and in facts and circumstances of case, it must be held that matter had not reached stage for invoking provisions of Sec.36 of Stamp Act - Trial Court has rightly held that documents are liable to be impounded - Impugned order of trial Court, justified - CRP, dismissed. Athapuram Raghuramaiah Vs. Dyava Ramaiah 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 238 = 2012(6) ALD 505 = 2012(6) ALT 271.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.13, Rule 10 - A.P. (TELANGANA AREA) TENANCY AND AGRICULTURAL LANDS ACT, 1950, Sec. 50-B, - This Revision is filed challenging order in I.A. in O.S. of Family Court - Court below rejected said Application - It held that petitioners had failed to mention interlocutory Application number in which they sought to take return of said document from Court of Senior Civil Judge, and no document is filed to show that they even filed an Application for return of said document before the said Court, or that the Revenue Divisional Officer refused to issue certified copy thereof - It was further observed that said document sought for to be summoned from record in O.S is only an unmarked document and no Court would raise an objection to return it to the parties - Challenging the same, the present Revision is filed.

Held, petitioners herein have filed an affidavit of their Counsel explaining their inability to get the said document from Revenue authorities and also stating that their efforts to get the said document from the court where O.S.No.9 of 1992 was pending did not fructify - There is no reason for Court below to doubt these efforts - In this view of the matter and having regard to the decision of the Supreme Court mentioned above, this Court of the opinion that Court below erred in rejecting I.A. on hyper-technical grounds - The said order therefore cannot be sustained.

Therefore, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and order in I.A. on the file of Family Court is set aside; said I.A. is allowed and Court below is directed to send for certified copy of certificate issued under Sec.50-B of the Act pertaining to the suit land bearing Survey No.367 from O.S.No.9 on file of Senior Civil Judge. G.Suverna Bai Vs. M.Ramesh Chander Rao 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 100 = 2016(1) ALD 77 = 2016(1) ALT 723.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.13, R.14 - INDIAN STAMP ACT, Sec.36 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.65 - Suit for perpetual injunction - Trial Court refusing to mark xerox copy of sale deed holding that same is not admissible as evidence as secondary evidence since improperly stamped an not registered - Respondent/plaintiff contends that existence of original document itself is in dispute and defendant failed to satisfy ingredients of Sec.65 of Evidence Act to adduce secondary evidence - If document is properly stamped and if original is produced, it can be treated as a document admissible or in absence of a copy prepared simultaneously with original, a registration extract or certified copy can be treated as document admissible in evidence - But in absence of such material lower Court was right in coming to conclusion that document cannot be admitted even as secondary evidence on account of improper stamp duty and non-registration - Order of trial Court, in refusing to mark document - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Manda Laxmi Rajam Vs. Kanaparthi Laxmi Bai @ Laxmi 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2008(5) ALD 279 = 2008(5) ALT 222 = AIR 2008 AP 255.

—Or.14 - Framing of additional issues - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Family Court allowed Application filed by respondents/ defendants for framing additional issues without assigning reasons whatsoever - Giving of reasons serves three purposes viz., litigant will know reasons for grant or rejection of his prayer; it will help Court disposing of case to arrive at proper conclusion; and superior Court to examine correctness of order.

"The principle of nature justice has twin ingredients; firstly, the person who is likely to be adversely affected by the action of authorities should be given notice to show cause thereof and granted an opportunity of hearing and secondly the orders so passed by authorities should give reason for arriving at any conclusion showing proper application of mind. Violation of either of them could in the given facts and circumstances of case, vitiate the order itself.....".

Approach of trial Court not only does not satisfy this basic jurisprudential principle but also same does not confirm to judicial discipline - Order, set aside - Family Court directed to pass fresh order in I.A by assigning detailed reasons - C.R.P. allowed. Salem Venkata Ramana Vs. Mellacheruvu Umamaheswar Rao 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 271.

—Or.14, Rule 1 - Framing of issues - Petitioner availed loan from respondent/Bank for purchase of tractor by depositing title deeds of his property - Respondent/Bank filed suit since loan not repaid by petitioner - Petitioner filed written statement stating that tractor not delivered to him, due to fraud and he is also not in possession of tractor - Trial Court framed compre-hensive issue "as to whether the plaintiff/Bank is entitled to recover the suit amount together with subsequent interest from the defendant as prayed for" - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioner seeking to frame additional issue, holding that there is no necessity for framing additional issues - Petitioner contends that issue framed by trial Court would not decide as to whether amounts were advanced to petitioner or not and whether there was any fraud or not - Respondent contends that as issue framed is a comprehensive one nothing comes in way of petitioner leading evidence as to whether vehicle was delivered to him or not - Very object of framing an issue is to determine exact area of conflict and to enable parties to lead evidence in those lines - In absence of a specific issue it will not be possible for parties to lead evidence with regard to specific controversy and even if any evidence is let in, Court may not take in to consideration - Issue framed in present suit, is only with regard to entitlement of Banker to recover suit amount - As contention of petitioner is that fraud is committed and there is collusion between Banker and dealer, an issue with regard to delivery of vehicle is necessary - Impugned order of trial Court, set aside - CRP, allowed - Trial Court directed to frame following issues and decide suit: (1) Whether the vehicle was delivered to the defendant or not. If not, what is the effect?; (2) Whether the suit is bad for non-joinder of necessary parties. Siddavarapu Siva Kota Reddy Vs. State Bank of India, Indukurupeta 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 140 = 2008(5) ALD 317.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.14, Rules 1 & 2. r/w Sec.151 - WAKF ACT, Secs.83 & 85 - Respondents filed suit seeking perpetual injunction against petitioners contending that they are absolutely owners and possessors of suit property and they have succeeded suit property after death of their father - Petitioners filed written statement that said property belongs to Wakf Board and that civil Court has no jurisdiction to entertain suit u/Sec.85 of Act - As far as present case is concerned the averments made by respondents in their plaint reveal that they have been claiming property as absolute owners of property and they did not wishper suit property originally belongs to Wakf Board - In this case, petitioner in written statement categorically referred to certificate issued by Sub-Registrar showing that suit property is Wakf property - After constitution of Tribunals, where a dispute arises with regard to title of wakf property, Tribunal alone has jurisdiction to entertain suit - Order passed by lower Court, set aside - I.A filed by petitioner stands allowed - Lower Court directed to return plaint by respondents for purpose of presenting same before Wakf Tribunal - CRP, allowed. Shameem Sulthana Vs. Syed Ibrahim Quadri, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 345 = 2011(4) ALD 379 = 2011(4) ALT 30.

—Or.14, Rules 1 & 2, Or.39 - ADVERSE POSSESSION - PLEADINGS - FRAMING OF ISSUES - INJUNCTION - FRIVILOUS LITIGATION - Relationship of principal and agent - Explained - Property belonged to Dharma shala - MN owner of property dedicated property in question for construction of Dhara shala - Appellant was engaged as watch man on monthly salary basis by respondent/Society to look after Dharma shala - Appellant lived in premises with his family - When respondent/Society claiming ownership of suit property and tried to dispossess appellant , he filed a suit for injunction against respondent/Society - Suit dismissed - 1st appellate Court allowed appeal and suit decreed - Respondent/Society preferred 2nd appeal in High Court - During pendency of 2nd appeal respondent/Society filed suit for declaration of title and recovery of possession of suit property - Said suit decreed - Appellant preferred 1st appeal and decision of tril Court reversed suit filed by Society dismissed - Respondent/Society preferred 2nd appeal in High Court - High Court heard both 2nd appeals together and by common judgment set aside well considered judgment of 1st appellate Court

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- Hence appellant preferred these appeals by way of Special Leave - In this case, appellant is guilty of introducing untenable pleas Plea of adverse possession which has no foundation or basis in facts and circumstances was case to introduced to gain undue benefit - Appellant failed to prove adversession possession of suit property - Only by obtaining ration card, house tax receipt, appellant cannot strengthen his claim of adverse possession - High Court fully justified in reversing judgment of 1st appellate Court and restoring judgment of trial Court - PLEADING: Pleadings need to be critically examine by Judicial Officiers or Judges both before issuing ad interim injunction and/or framing issues by giving immense importance and relevance of purety of pleadings - Pleadings must set-forth sufficient factual details to extent that it reduces ability to putforward a false or exaggerated claim of claim or defence and that pleadings must inspire confindence and credibility - It is imperative that judges must have complete grip of facts before they start dealing with case and that would avoide unnecessary delay in disposal of case - FRAMING OF ISSUES - Framing of issues is a very important stage of a civil trial and it is imperative for a judge to critically examine pleadings of parties before framing issues - Rule 2 of Or.10 CPC enables Court in its search for truth to go to core of matter and narrow down or even eliminate controversy - GRANTING OR REFUSAL OF INJUNCTION - Grant or refusal of injunction is a civil suit is most important stage in civil trial - Due care caution, deligence and attention must be bestowed by judicial Officers and judges while granting or refusing injunction - Safe and better course is to give short notice on injunctgion application and pass appropriate order after hearing both sides - In case of gragve urgency if it becomes imperative to grant ex-parte and ad interim injunction, it should be granted for a specific period, such, as for two weeks - Ordinarly, three main principles govern grant or refusal of injunction - a) prima facie case; b) balance of convenience; and c) irreperable injury, which guide Court in this regard - Frivolous litigations - Unless wrong doers are denied profit or undue benefit from frivolous litigations, it would difficult to control frivolous and uncalled for litigations - When a litigant is compelled to spend Rs.1 lac. on a frivolous litigation there is hardly any justification in awarding Rs.1000/- as costs unless there are special circumstance of that case - Uncrupulous litigant is not permitted to derive any benefit by absuing judicial process - ON FACTS OF THIS CASE, FOLLOWING PRINCIPLES EMERGE - It is bounden duty of Court, to uphold truth and do justice - Dishonest and uncrupulous litigants have no place in law courts - It is imperative that pleadings and all other presentations before court should be truthful - Court must ensure that there is no incentive for wrong doers in temple of justice - According to principles of justice, equity and good conscience, Courts are not justified in protecting possession of watchman, caretaker or servant who was only allowed to live into premies to look after same - Watchman, caretaker or agent holds property of principal only on behalf of principal - He acquires no right or interest what soever in such property irrespective of his long stay or possession - Protection of Court can be granted or extended to person who has valid subsisting rent agreement, lease agreement or licence agreement in his favour - Since appellant is a Watchman

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

and may not be able to bear financial burden appeals are dismissed with very nominal costs of Rs.25000 - Appellant directed to vacate suit property within two months and handover peaceful possession to respondent/Society - Appeals, dismissed. A.Shanmugam Vs. Ariya Kshatriya Rajakula V.M.N. Paripalanai Sangam 2012(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 125 = 2012(5) ALD 41(SC) = 2012 AIR SCW 3017 = AIR 2012 SC 2010.

—-Or.14, Rules 1 to 3 - Trial court in a suit instituted by respondent/plaintiff for recovery of money, did not frame issues that arose in suit and decreed the suit - Appeal is directed against judgment - Held, a bare look at provisions contained in Rules 1 to 3 in particular of Order 14 of Code would show that a duty/responsibility is cast on trial court, at first hearing of suit, after reading plaint and written statements, if any, and after examination under Rule 2 of Order 10 and after hearing the parties or their pleaders, ascertain upon what material propositions of fact or of law the parties are at variance, and shall thereupon proceed to frame and record issues on which right decision of case appears to depend - It is also mandatory for trial court to assess evidence of parties and consider relevant issues which arise for adjudication and bearing of the evidence on those issues - In present case, trial court has framed only one issue for consideration i.e., "whether the plaintiff is entitled for recovery of suit amount as prayed for" - This practice/procedure adopted by learned judge was wrong and it was inadequate requirement of provisions contained in Order 14 of the Code - It is apparent that the learned judge even did not refer to the material evidence on record and relevant clauses thereof, in particular - Appeal is allowed - Impugned judgment and decree is set aside and suit is restored to file and remanded to trial court - Trial Court shall frame proper issues and deal with same on merits in accordance with law - Trial court shall decide the suit, from stage of arguments, afresh as expeditiously as possible. Apollo Health and Lifestyle Limited Vs. Anupam Saraogi 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 380 = 2015(3) ALD 681 = 2015(2) ALT 550.

—Or.14, Rule 2 and Or.6, Rule 17 - "Territorial jurisdiction" - "Preliminary" "issue" - Trial Court framing issues as to territorial jurisdiction to maintain suit and refusing to decide issue relating to territorial jurisdiction as preliminary issue - Respondent contends that issue relating to want of territorial jurisdiction being mixed question of fact and law trial Court arrived at correct conclusion in dismissing Application - Impugned order of trial Court justified - CRP, dismissed. T.Sarath Chandra Reddy Vs. Margadarsi Chit Funds Ltd., 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 213 = 2009(5) ALD 305 = 2009(2) APLJ 405 = 2009(5) ALT 37.

—Or.14, R.5 - Framing of additional issues - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for declaration that she is entitled to retirement benefits of X stating that she married him and had three sons and that first respondent who is subordinate of X in Office developed illicit relations with him and made claim for benefits of property left by X as though she is legally wedded wife - First respondent filed written statement that marriage between petitioner and X was dissolved and therefore she married him and respondents 2 & 3 born out of their wedlock - After framing necessary issues and when trial commenced first respondent filed certain documents relating to dissolution of marriage of petitioner with X and her marriage with X and Will executed by X - Trial Court dismissed Applications filed by petitioner to frame additional issues touching upon documents and to adduce evidence in respect of additional issues and to send Will for expert opinion - Petitioner contends that necessity to file Applications arose on account of documents filed by 1st respondent, touching upon material status and relation of late X and Will said to have been executed by him and that controversy mentioned in additional issues, would go root of matter and trial Court ought to have acceded to request of petitioner - Respondent contends that she does not intend to claim any benefit under Will and additional issues sought to be framed are irrelevant and out of context - In fact, additional issues proposed to be framed arise out of documents filed by first respondent and implication of these documents naturally assumes significance - While refusing to frame additional issues trial Court had unwittingly answered same - Trial Court is expected to be cautious and careful, particularly when controversy touched upon matrimonial relationship of women and legal consequence thereof - There exists a clear necessity for framing of two additional issues and petitioner shall be entitled to adduce evidence in relation to said additional issues - Impugned order, set aside. Juvva Seetha Punyeswari Vs. Sanadi Muni Ratnam 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 121 = 2008(2) ALD 151 = 2008(1) ALT 314.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or.14, Rule 5, r/w Sec.151 - A.P. COURT FEES ACT, Sec.34(1) - "Framing of additional issues" - Respondents nos.1 to 7 filed suit for partition - Petitioners 1 & 2/defendants 1& 2 filed Application requesting Court to frame additional issues relating to non-payment of sufficient Court fee and non maintainbility of suit under Or.2, Rule 2 on ground that plaintiff already filed previous suit for partition and separate possession - Trial Court dismissed Application - Hence petitioners/plaintiffs filed present Revision - Trial Court dismissed application - Averments in written statement filed by petitioners show that admittedly plaintiffs and defendants are not in possession of suit land and as such plaintiffs cannot pay fixed court fee u/Sec.34(2) of A.P. Court Fee Act and plaintiffs have grossly under valued reliefs and thereby paid most insufficient Court fee under improper provisions of law - It is duty of Court to frame issues on basis of material propositions within meaning of Order 14 of Code - Suit cannot be comprehensively adjudicated unless all material propositions of fact and law are deduced inform of issues and evidence is let in by both parties - From contents of written statement filed by petitioners/defendants it cannot be denied that at earliest point of time they have taken specific plea of payment of insufficient Court fee by pleading that respondents 1 to 7/plaintiffs are not in physical possession of property and this certainly constitutes a material proposition of fact which requires framing of issue - As in case of limitation, it is duty of Court to frame appropriate issues with respect to payment of Court fee as well - Instead of framing such an issue, lower Court has readily accepted plea of respondents/plaintiffs that they are in constructive possession of suit schedule property and sucha perfunctory approach on part of trial Court cannot be appreciated - Order of trial Court, set aside - CRP, allowed - Trial Court directed to frame additional issues as proposed by petitioners/defendants. Tadishetty Padma Rao Vs. Tadi Shetty Jaihind, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 29 = 2012(3) ALD 756 = 2012(4) ALT 6.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.14, Rule 5, Or.41, Rule 33 and Sec.107(2) - Framing of issues - Jurisdictions of appellate Court - 1st respondent filed suit for declaration - Suit dismissed - District Judge allowed appeal filed by 1st respondent - Second appeal filed by Petitioner/ 1st defendant was allowed and matter remanded to lower appellate Court for fresh consideration and disposal - After remand 1st respondent filed I.A under Or.14, Rule 5 with a prayer to frame issue as to whether plaintiff has succeeded to office of deceased "S" and is entitled for decree as prayed for and inspite of petitioner opposed application by filing counter, lower appellate Court allowed Application - Framing of issues under Or.14 constitutes an important step in suits - Issues are to be framed on basis of pleadings before trial Court and it is with reference to issues that parties are required to adduce evidence and address arguments - Once suit is disposed of and matter lands before appellate Court, nature of consideration is slightly different, not withstanding fact that appeal is to be treated as continuation of suit - Once decree is passed the very concept of framing of issues ceases to exist - Only circumstance under which an appellate Court can frame issues is, when it decides to remand matter to trial Court, by framing issue, which it feels is relevant, for adjudication of suit - In instant case, appeal is pending before appellate Court after remand made by High Court - Occasion to frame issue does not arise and very invocation of Or.14, Rule 5 by 1st respondent in appeal is untenable - Impugned order of 1st appellate Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Syed Ali Murtuza Quadri Vs. Syed Abdul Raoof Quadri, 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 251 = 2013(2) ALD 81 = 2013(2) ALT 239.

—Or.15-A - Respondent/owner of premises filed suit for relief of recovery of arrears of rents covering various periods and also filed I.A under Or.15-A with a prayer to direct petitioner to pay arrears of rent and continue to deposit rent every month and in default, to strike off defence - Trial Court allowed I.A - Hence present revision - Petitioner contends that trial Court virtually decreed suit through its order in I.A and that it is only undisputed arrears of rent that can be required to be deposited through an order in application filed under Or.15-A of C.P.C and that whatever be justification for directing that arrears of rents be paid from date of filing of suit, it was not at all competent for trial Court to direct deposit of rents, for period earlier thereto - Or.15-A CPC came in to force from 2005 and purpose underlaying provision is to ensure that owner of premises leased to defendant in a suit pays rents regularly together with arrears if any - Word "undisputed" occurring before word "arrears" assumes significance - If there is a dispute as to quantum Court has decide same, duly taking into account versions put forward by parties - If defendant opposes claim in suit, as to arrears, adjudication there of must take place after trial - Application under Or.15-A is not proper mechanism to recover suit amount, if seriously disputed by defendant - If arrears existed from date of filing of suit a direction can certainly be issued for deposit thereof in application filed under Or.15-A of CPC - Any direction for deposit of arrears prior to date of filing of suit can be issued only when there is no dispute - In this case, petition pleaded that he incurred expenditure for constructing first floor and dispute in this behalf can be resolved after trial - Therefore directions issued by trial Court for payment of entire amount of arrears which is claimed in suit is untenable - There is no dispute that rents are not being paid from date of filing of suit - Both parties represent that undisputed rents would come roughly to certain amount and same can be directed to be deposited in addition to monthly rents from time to time - CRP, partly allowed. K.Zakria Shaik Vs. K.Saleem Basha, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 308 = 2011(4) ALD 757 = 2011(6) ALT 288.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

——Or.XV-A - Plaintiff was a lessee of the land belonging to the APSRTC and under an agreement with it was permitted to construct a commercial complex and sub-lease same to third parties - Plaintiff entered into a sub-license agreement for a period of 10 years from 1-4-2009 with defendant for running hotel and hospitality services business - Defendant committed default in payment of rents and sought time for payment of arrears of rent directed by trial Court by four months agreeing to strike out defence in case of default before Hon'ble Supreme Court - Defendant did not pay arrears of rent within time specified by Hon'ble Supreme Court - Consequently defence is struck off - Now right of defendant in pending suit has to be decided in light of striking off defence - Though plaintiff referred dispute to an Arbitrator through a letter on 18-10-2012 requesting him to act as an Arbitrator between plaintiff and defendant and Arbitrator though expressed his consent on 20-10-2012, defendant did not accept - There were exchange of notices between plaintiff and defendant, which ultimately lead to filing of above suit - A detailed written statement was filed by defendant denying plaint averments - As a matter of fact, arrears were not deposited within said time, but he filed various applications were dismissed by District Judge - Aggrieved by said and similar orders, above Civil Revision Petitions were filed.

Held, In the instant case defendant himself accepted before Hon'ble Supreme Court that his defence can be struck off in case of failure to deposit arrears of rent within extended time granted by Hon'ble Supreme Court - Hence, there is no occasion for trial Court to pass any order striking off defence by applying its mind independently - Assuming for a moment that under deeming order of Hon'ble Supreme Court, if trial Court passed an order striking off defence after applying its mind to facts of case, even then it is held that such an order is a discretionary order - In view of striking off defence, dismissal of applications filed by defaulted defendant are also discretionary orders passed by trial Court and this Court can straight away dismiss CRPs challenging such orders - Neither trial Court nor this Court can go into merits of such applications filed by defaulted defendant after his defence was struck off.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Accordingly, this Court holds that orders passed by trial Court dismissing applications filed by defaulted tenant are not erroneous warranting interference of this Court - All Civil Revision Petitions are, accordingly, dismissed. SRR Hospitalities Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Balina Srimannarayana2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 69 = 2016(5) ALD 423 = 2016(5) ALT 308.

——Or. XV-A - A.P. Buildings (Lease, Rent & Eviction) Control Act, 1960, Sec.11 - Contention of the petitioner in the original suit was that the lease got expired and first respondent continued in occupation of property and running educational society on month to month basis and rent agreed to be paid was on first day of each month - The rent was enhanced to Rs.90,000/- with effect from 01.04.2008 for said property and it continued till 31.03.2011 - Thereafter, rent was enhanced @ 5%, it comes to Rs.94,500/- during financial year 2011-2012 and Rs.99,225/- during financial year 2012-2013 and thereafter, rent was enhanced to Rs.1,50,000/- per month for financial year 2013-2014 - The first respondent failed to pay rent for several months and rent arrears due as on July, 2014 was Rs.20,18,200/-, after adjusting Rs.81,800/- towards part payment made in month of June, 2013 - Despite issuing a legal notice dated 21.07.2014, demanding to vacate schedule premises, first respondent failed to vacate premises and got issued a reply making false and untenable allegations - The arrears of rent as on date of filing petition was Rs.26,18,200/- after adjusting amount paid whatever from months of July, 2013 to November, 2014 - Thus, first respondent continued in possession and enjoyment of property without depositing or paying the admitted arrears of rent, which is mandatory requirement under Order XV-A of C.P.C and prayed for issuing aforesaid direction against the first respondent.

The first respondent filed counter denying material allegations while admitting execution of lease deed dated 27.03.2003 and contended that on date of lease agreement, petitioner handed over total plinth area of 7000 sft in ground and second floor - The first floor and terrace of building was not handed over to first respondent and petitioner was collecting rent of Rs.31,000/- per month since the first floor and terrace of the building were not handed over - The first floor of building was handed over in month of December, 2014 - The terrace of building was constructed and roofed with iron sheets and handed over to respondents on 02.04.2003 - The deposit of Rs.1,93,750/- was for entire building - An understanding was made in agreement that lease was to be continued as long as respondents run educational institution in schedule premises - It is further stated in counter that, as building is an old one, petitioner did not care to attend repairs of building - The respondents have been paying rent @ Rs.66,276/- per month and same was being accepted by petitioner without any protest - Further, it is stated in counter affidavit that respondents were never in arrears of payment of rent to a tune of Rs.26,18,200/- and denied last enhancement of rent from time to time and therefore, no order can be passed against respondents and prayed for dismissal of the petition.

Upon hearing argument of both counsel, Trial Court issued a direction referred in paragraph 9 of order, undertaking an exercise to fix rent and directed respondents to pay a sum of Rs.20,98,825/- as arrears of rent by end of April, 2015 within one month and continue to pay monthly rent of Rs.99,225/- on or before 1st of every succeeding month commencing from 01.06.2015.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Aggrieved by order and decreetal order passed by Trial Court, present civil revision petition is filed raising several contentions, mainly contending that issuance of such direction fixing monthly rent is beyond scope of Order XV-A and in absence of satisfying requirements envisaged under Order XV-A of CPC and passing such an order under challenge is erroneous - Further, it is contended that Trial Court ought not to have conducted a summary enquiry to decide undisputed arrears of rent, ignoring the word 'undisputed' used in Order XV-A of CPC - Therefore, it is contended that order under challenge is erroneous on face of record.

Held, while interpreting Order XV-A Rule 2, basing on principle of ejusdem generis, a summary enquiry under Rule 2 of Order XV-A is mandatory and without making such an enquiry, if any order is passed, it is illegal and liable to be set-aside in view of the judgment in Yeshoda's case AIR 1996 SC 140 - For instance, unscrupulous tenants in occupation of building may set up a frivolous or vexatious pleas, sometimes totally denying rent payable for premises and sometimes low rent for a palacious building, admitting liability to pay megre amount of rent which leads to depriving genuine landlord to enjoy the fruits of tenancy and due to continuation of litigation for decades together to avoid such undue hardship to the landlord, Order XV-A is incorporated by A.P. Amendment to C.P.C, which is similar to Section 11 of A.P. Rent Control Act.

Thus, in view of limited powers of this Court under Article 227 and all more when Trial Court rightly exercised its power, under Order XV-A Rule 2, this Court cannot interfere with findings recorded by Trial Court in order under challenge - Hence, Court find no error in order passed by lower Court.

In view of foregoing discussions, this Court hold that Court is competent to make summary enquiry under Order XV-A Rule 2 when tenant pleaded no errors or disputed quantum of rent, decided error of rent payable and rent payable, issue directions, postponing same to final decision by Court and direct to decide arrears, as required under Rule 2 and continue to deposit at the same rate during pendency of the suit or proceedings before competent Court - Otherwise, it amounts to encouraging unscrupulous tenants who intent to avoid payment of rent for premises in their occupation for decades together which would certainly result in substantial loss to the landlord during pendency of the eviction suit or proceedings based on account of abortive pleas raised by unscrupulous tenants - In result, civil revision petition is dismissed. M.B.Chander Vs. Balakrishna Rao Charitable Trust 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 250.

—Or.15-A and Secs.144 & 89 - 1st respondent owner of commercial premises leased out to appellants under registered sale deed for a period of 9 years - 1st respondent filed suit with prayer to direct appellants to vacate premises and handover possession and also application with prayer to direct appellants to deposit rents - While Application was pending 1st respondent filed another Application under Or.15-A CPC with prayer to direct appellants to deposit arrears of rent and forfeit defence in default - Trial Court passed order directing appellants to deposit arrears of rent and that in default of payment of amount as directed, defence shall stand struck off - Subsequently trial Court decreed suit ex parte stipulating 30 days time for eviction - Appeal filed against said judgment and decree - 1st respondent filed EP basing on decree and executing Court issued warrant of delivery - Appellants contend that trial Court committed serious error at every stage and orders were passed contrary to specific provisions and settled principles of law contending that in lease deed there is specific clause providing for arbitration in event of there being any disputes between parties, and still suit was entertained without any demur - Appellants further contend that Or.15-A CPC places specific obligation upon Court to record a finding as to existence of arrears, after giving opportunity to both parties - But in instant case, virtually an ex parte decree was passed straight away ignoring fact that appellants were before Court from beginning by filing caveat - Respondent owner of premises contends that lease between appellants and respondent stood terminated on account of non-payment of rent and Or.15-A CPC directing payment of rents and it is only when order was not complied with trial Court passed decree when appellants remained ex parte and that decree was executed strictly in accordance with procedure prescribed by law and after possession was recovered premises were given on lease to 2nd respondent - C.P.C.OR.15-A - SCOPE AND OBJECT - STATED - An exercise contemplated under Or.15-A is totally inadequate and unsuited for final determination of arrears of rent for period anterior to date of filing of suit and order passed by trial Court does not accord with this - Striking of defence as consequence of non-compliance of order passed under Or.15-A by CPC by itself did not relieve Court of its obligation to examine merits of suit and in this case, very entertaining suit was untenable in view of existence of arbitration clause - EXECUTION OF DECREE - In instant case, premises involved is a jewelry shop - When EP is filed with jet speed for recovery of possessio on basis of ex parte decree, adequate care ought to have been exhibited - Executing Court ought to have verified whether there was any prayer for removal of obstruction - Whenever EP is filed for recovery of possession of immovable property, notice is required to be served on both parties and if there is obstruction, delivery of possession can be effected - If there is obstruction by parties, matter has to be reported to Court and specific orders in this regard are to be obtained - CPC, SEC.144 - Principles underlaying Sec.144 CPC applies to facts of present case - It becomes duty of Court to set at naught injustice and wrong caused to a party on account of order or decree which is found to be untenable - When very delivery of possession was illegal and contrary to procedure prescribed under CPC and warrant is set aside by High Court, necessity to file Application u/Sec.144 does not arise - Decrees passed by trial Court, set aside - Appeal, allowed - Delivery warrant issued by trial Court and all other consequential proceedings, are set aside - Respondents 1 and 2 are directed to put appellant in possession of suit schedule property - CRP, allowed. Tanmai Jewels Pvt.Ltd., Vs. Ch.Sreesaila Kumari 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 55 = 2013(6) ALD 359 = 2013(5) ALT 105.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Order 15-A and Order 9, Rule 13 - Respondents filed suit for eviction from suit schedule premises along with I.A under Or.XV-A CPC with prayer to direct petitioner to deposit rents - Court passed exparte order in I.A, directing petitioner to deposit arrears of rent from particular month on or before particular date and since order not complied with, defence of petitioner was struck off - At that stage petitioner filed Application with prayer to set aside ex parte order and said Application also was dismissed - CMA filed as against said order is also dismissed - Thereafter trial Court decreed suit solely on ground that defence of petitioner was struck off - Trial Court also dismissed Application filed under Or.9, Rule 13 to set aside ex parte decree - Hence present Revision - When serious dispute exists as to rights of parties, vis-a-vis a valuable item of property, trial Court ought to have given an opportunity to petitioner to put forward his contention - In this case, right from inspection, petitioner was denied opportunity, on sole ground that an exparte order was passed under Or.XV-A CPC - No trial has taken place and only basis for decreeing suit is non-compliance with order passed in Application directing petitioner to deposit rents - Almost everything was taken for granted, simply on ground that defence of petitioner was struck off - Such an approach cannot be countenanced - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. P.Krishna Yadav Vs. M.S.Jayalingam 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 217 = 2013(4) ALD 812.

—Or.16, Rule 1 - Production of documents by witness - Respondent filed suit for possession and for recovery of certain amount - After closure of his examination and cross-examination P.W.3 sought permission of Court to file certain documents - Trial Court not allowed on ground that witness could not be allowed to produce documents under Or.16, Rule 1 and since document in question not produced by respondent/plaintiff either along with plaint or at time of framing of issues, such document at that stage could not be taken on record - High Court allowed production of document and directed that said document be taken on record - Or.6, Rule 1 and Rule 1-A of CPC permits Court to pass order directing witnesses to take document on record - Only, while dealing with Application for production of document under Or.6, Rule1, r/w Rule 1-A of Code, what is required was that, leave of Court would be necessary - In this case, High Court allowed documents to be taken on record to prove date of completion of construction of suit premises within area of society and that date of construction of suit premises, which is located within area of society, cannot be proved except by production of document of Society which could only be produced by Society - Impugned order of High Court - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Ashok Sharma Vs. Ram Adhar Sharma 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 186.

—Or.16, Rule 1 - Or.8, Rule 9 & Secs.151 & 105 - Suit filed on strength of promissory note - Defendant filed written statement denying averments in plaint in toto and that plaintiff obtained decree by playing fraud upon dependant since defendant obtained decree for specific performance of agreement of sale against plaintiff's wife - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by defendant under Or.16, Rule 1 to issue summons

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

to proposed witness to be examined as Court witness since suggestion made by plaintiff that Ex.B4 is forged denied by defendant and also on ground that petitioner/ defendant did not refer said document in written statement - Trial Court also dismissed another Application filed by defendant under Or.8, Rule 9 and Sec.151 C.P.C, seeking to receive additional written statement and wanted to introduce theory of compromise entered into between himself and son of plaintiff and that present promissory note was executed as collateral security - Hence, petitioner filed present Revisions - Petitioner contends that prayer for amendment of plaint and prayer for amendment of written statement stand on different footings and further that addition of new ground of defence or substituting or altering in defence or taking inconsistent pleas in written statement would not be objectionable while adding, altering or substituting new cause of action in plaint may be objectionable and that application for amendment of written statement could not be a ground for rejection of same when no serious prejudice is shown to have been caused to plaintiff - AMENDMENT OF PLAINT AND WRITTEN STATEMENT - INGREDIENTS - Stated - In this case, it is borne out from record that a simple suit for recovery of money on strength of promissory note was filed and same was denied in all aspects - Though divergent pleas are permitted to be taken by defendant, it shall not be to extent of absolute divergent, which may result in keeping plaintiff, after completion of his part of evidence, in cross roads - This virtually amounts to taking new stand which is altogether different to stand that was already taken by defendant in original written statement - Though Courts are expected to be liberal in entertaining different and divergent defence, reasonable care is to be taken by defendant and reins of trial shall not be given to hands of defendant - Trial case and establishing case of plaintiff should not be guided only by, such grave and inconsistent pleas, though otherwise permissible is to be taken - When very object of such liberal approach of Courts is to avoid multiplicity of litigation and if, on facts it is found by Court below that it would only cause injustice to other side and would result in multiplicity of litigation, discretion exercised by Court below in rejecting such application seeking amendment of plaint or written statement need not necessarily be interfered with - Litigant shall not be given to understand that they have every liberty to take inconsistent pleas at any time as per their will and pleasure - Prejudice to other side, valuable time of Court, conduct and bona fides of parties are also something, which deserve attention by Court - In this case, defendant obviously attempted to dilate scope of litigation, further obviously only to procrastinate litigation and that conduct of defendant is so conspicuous that some how or other, by hook or crook he wanted to elongate litigation by filing applications one after other - Impugned orders passed by Court below dismissing Applications filed by defendant – Justified - No illegality or irrationality in impugned orders passed by trial Court - Civil Revision Petitions, dismissed. Viswnadhuni Anjaneyulu Vs. Kothammasu Venkata Pitchaiah 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 68 = 2010(6) ALD 373.

—Or.16, Rules 1,2,5 - NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, Sec.118 - Respondent/ plaintiff filed suit for recovery of certain amount basing on promissory note - Petitioner filed written statement taking plea that suit pronote is rank forgery - Trial Court allowed application filed by petitioner/defendant to send pronote to Handwriting Expert for comparison of signature on pronote with specimen signatures taken in open Court - Expert submitted report opining that signatures taken in open Court not tallying with signature on pronote - Trial Court passing order rejecting contention of petitioner for summoning Expert observing that report of Expert or opinion of Expert is part of record and that can be relied upon and taken to consideration basing on other circumstances and material on record - Unless general presumptions available u/ Sec.118 of N.I Act in favour of plaintiff are rebutted by adducing appropriate evidence as to whether pronote was executed or not for consideration on date and place it may not be just and proper to send pronote for comparison of signature on pronote with that of signatures taken in open Court - Respondent/plaintiff has rightly taken plea that signatures taken in open Court on 30-10-2001 and signature on pronote dt.3-12-1995 are not contemporaneous and it cannot be said that signature taken in open Court of petitioner is his admitted signatures by respondent - Therefore, when earlier order itself is illegal and untenable though there is justification on part of petitioner in seeking to summon Expert and if I.A is allowed, it amounts to restoring an illegal order - CRP, dismissed. M.Satyanarayana Vs. P.Indira Devi 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 143 = 2011(2) ALD 310.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

--Or.16, Rules 1(2) & 6 - CIVIL RULES OF PRCTICE AND CIRCULAR ORDERS, 1980, Sub Rule (2) of Rule 129 - Summoning Commissioner of Municipality to produce documents submitted by plaintiff/R1 in connection with his application made for permission for construction of building and sanctioned plain issued by Commissioner and to give evidence.

Under Sub Rule (3) no Court shall issue summons unless it considers production of original document is necessary or is satisfied that Application for certified copy has been duly made and has not been granted.

In instant case, as petitioners failed to satisfy mandatory conditions of sub rule (2), they are not entitled to seek summoning of public officer for protection of such documents - CRP, dismissed. Vooda Venkat Rao Vs. Vooda Surya Ramu 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 79 = 2016(6) ALD 59.

---Or.18, R.17 & Or.17, Rules 1 & 2 - Respondent/defendant filed suit for recovery of possession and damages - Defendant filing mischievous or friviolus applications one after other seeking adjournment for protracting litigation - INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY OF ADVOCATE - Stated.

In this case, defendant sought adjournment after adjournment for cross-examination on some pretext or other which are really not entertainable in law - Trial Court dismissing Application filed by appellant/defendant seeking further cross examination of plaintiff with costs - High Court dismissed W.P. filed by appellant/ defendant - Hence present Speal Leave Petition.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

It is desirable that reording of evidence should be continuous and followed by arguments and decision thereon within a reasonable time and that Courts should constantly endeavour to follow such a time schedule so that purpose of amendment brought in Civil Procedure Code are not defeated.

Counsel appearing for a litigant has to have institutional responsibility and Code of Civil Procedure so command - Applications are not to be filed on grounds which are referred in this case and that too in such a brazen and obtrusive manner - It is wholly reprehensible - Law does not counten-ance it, and professional ethics decries such practice - It is because such acts are against majesty of law.

In this case, it can indubitably be stated that defendant-petitioner has acted in a manner to cause colossal insult to justice and to concept of speedy disposal of civil litigation - Special Leave Petition is dismissed with cost of Rs.50,000/-. Gayathri Vs. M.Girish 2016(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 17 = AIR 2016 SC 3559 = 2016(5) ALD 113 (SC).

—Order 16 Rule 6 - CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE AND CIRCULAR ORDES IN A.P., Rule129 - CONSTITUTION OF IDNIA, Art.227 – Claimants in L.A.O.Ps filed Applications seeking for re-opening of matter for examination of proposed witnesses praying, to issue summons to Tahsildar to produce documents, Reports passed by then Tasildar to give evidence – Senior Civil Judge dismissed Applications - Reading of impugned Order in clear and unequivable terms, disclosed that none of contentions advanced by petitioners are appreciated by Court below, except referring to same - Therefore it is appropriate to set aside impugned orders and remand IAs for fresh disposal after giving opportunity to all parties to litigation - Orders passed by Court below are set aside – Civil Revision Petitions are allowed. Duvvada Parasuram Choudary Vs. Santha Dalayya 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 353.

—Or.16, Rules 6,7 & 14 and Or.16, Rules 1 and 1-A & Or.7, Rule 11 and Sec.152 - Petitioner filed suit for declaration of title and perpetual injunction in respect of suit property - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioner under Or.16, Rule 14 to summon Chief Engineer as a witness to produce records and to speak about them, observing that Rule 14 of Or.16, does not confer right upon a party to require Court to summon or examine a person as a Court witness - Hence present revision - Petitioner contends that though Rules 6 & 7 of Or.16 may not strictly apply to facts of case, it is competent if not obligatory for trial Court to summon a witness on application made by party to suit, in case, necessity to summon witness is established - Power under Rule 14, Or.16 CPC, is to be exercised by Court on its own accord and not on insistence by party to suit - Though a party to a suit can place any information, which may impress upon or convince Court to exercise its powers under that provision, an independent application for that very purpose does not lie - If parties are permitted to make independent application for summoning of an individual as Court witness and are conferred with right to insist Court to accede their request, it may lead to several complications - It can be used as device to over come their inability or failure to summon witness and in certain cases, to fill up lacuna in evidence which is already on record, - That was never intention of Parliament - If a party wants a particular individual be summoned or examined as witness, it must have recourse to Rules 1 & 1-A of Or.16 - Revision petition, dismissed. Shaik Abdul Rasool, Kadapa Vs. G.Lakshmi Reddy, Kadapa 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 60 = 2011(3) ALD 138 = 2011(3) ALT 627.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.16, Rule 10(2)&(3) and Sec.151 CPC - Suit for declaration of title - Respondent/ defendant filed written statement preferring counter claim - Petitioners/plaintiffs cited one KG as P.W.4 and filed his affidavit in liue of chief examination - Petitioner filed Application for arrest of P.W.4 stating that inspite of summons being issued by Court on four occasions, and personally on one occasion, same could not be served on P.W.4 as he is deliberately evading summons and that he is material witness, it is necessary to examine him - Respondent resisted Application filed by petitioner/plaintiff - Trial Court dismissed said Application on reason that as petitioners have filed chief examination affidavit of P.W.4, Court ought not to have issued summons and that it has committed a serious mistake in issuing summons to P.W.4 - If a party would secure affidavit from a cited witness who at a later point of time made scarce of himself, nothing prevents party from taking help of Court to issue summons to him and also warrant if provisions of Or.16, Rule 10 are satisfied - In the present case, trial Court has issued summons on as many as four occasions and permitted party to serve summons on one occasion - P.W.4 has been deliberately evading summons and appearance before Court - Therefore, there is nothing wrong in party approaching Court for issuance of warrant subject to compliance with procedure under Rule 10 of Or.16 - Trial Court has failed to understand scope of provision from proper perspective - Trial Court directed to dispose of Application afresh by following procedure envisaged u/ Or.16, Rule 10 - CRP, allowed. M.Dhana Lakshmi Vs. M.Chinna Ganganna 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 225 = 2013(5) ALD 20 = 2013(5) ALT 448.

—Or.16, Rule 14 r/w Sec.151 - Suit for declaration and injunction - Contested by 2nd defendant and 1st defendant remained ex parte - Trial Court allowing Application filed by 2nd defendant to summon 1st defendant as Court witness inspite of objection raised by plaintiff - Court may examine party to suit and person who is not party to suit and who has not cited as a witness by a party to suit, subject to satisfaction that examination of such person is necessary - Merely because order contains that 2nd defendant can call 1st defendant has his witness, it cannot be said that 1st defendant is not a Court witness and that Court has not satisfied to summon him as a Court witness - As per Or.16, Rule 14 CPC civil Court is conferred with jurisdiction and empowered to examine any person including a party to suit and not called as a witness by a party to suit earlier, and this can be done on its own motion - Impugned order of trial Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. T.Narayana Reddy Vs. Patan Razak Khan 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 60 = 2009(1) ALD 839 = 2009(1) ALT 471.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.16, Rule 14, r/w Sec.151 - Suit for recovery of certain amount - Evidence closed and matter was coming for arguments - Trial Court dismissed Applications filed by petitioner/defendant for reopening matter and for purpose of summoning one Sainath as Court witness - Petitioner contends that entire transactions was between petitioner and partner of plaintiff/Firm run by one Sainath who is none other than father of P.W.1 and in light of evasive stand taken, it may be essential to summon Sainath as Court witness - "It is clear from Or.16, Rule 14, suit and person, who is not party to the suit and who has not cite as witness by a party to the suit, subject to the satisfaction that examination of such a person is necessary" - Civil Court is conferred with jurisdiction and empower to examine any person including a party to suit, and not called as a witness by a party to suit earlier and this can be done on its own motion - Under Or.16, Rule 14 CPC that Court is expected to exercise its discretion judiciously - Such discretion exercised by trial Court after recording convincing reasons - CRPs are liable to be dismissed. Kavari Agencies, Adoni Vs. Pawan Financiers, Adoni 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 116 = 2009(6) ALD 494.

—Or.16, R.14 & Or.19, R.10 and Or.21, R.32 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.138 - Suit for perpetual injunction - Decreed - 1st respondent/DHR filed E.P to commit JDR to civil prison, alleging that he is preventing him from cultivating land in violation of decree - Executing Court allowing EA filed by DHR to summon JDR for subjecting himself to cross-examination - Contention that since there was no evidence in chief on behalf of JDR, he cannot be compelled to subject himself to cross-examination and that impugned order directing JDR to face cross-examination is beyond scope of Or.16, R.14 - Or.16, R.14 empowers Court to summon on its own any person to give evidence or to produce any document in his possession if Court is satisfied that evidence of such witness is necessary to arrive at a just conclusion - Said power includes to summon even a party to proceedings and that such power can be exercised even on an Application made by party to proceedings - In this case, defendant/respondent opposed E.P and filed counter alleging that no land was in existence as described in suit schedule and therefore decree cannot be executed - In view of specific stand taken by defendant/JDR lower Court having recorded its satisfaction that cross-examination of JDR is necessary, allowed Application filed by DHR under Or.16, R.14 - Since veracity of stand taken by JDR in counter requires to be tested to elicit true facts, executing Court, in exercise of its discretion rightly directed respondent/JDR to subject himself to cross-examination - Disretion exercised by executing Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Somisetti Venkata Rama Krishna Rao Vs. Kandiboyina Kondaiah 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 363 = 2008(1) ALD 786 = 2008(2) ALT 304 = 2008(1) APLJ 20.

—Rule 17 and Sec.151 - "Re-opening of case for adducing evidence" - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit and after defendants' evidence was closed petitioner filed I.A for reopening to adduce further evidence on behalf of plaintiff and issue summons to plaintiff in respect of Ex.A.1 contending that she thought that evidence of attestor of Ex.A.1 is sufficient, as such she could not produce executant of Ex.A.1 and as per legal advise, as other side may take advantage of non-production of executant, it is just and essential to re-open case and to issue summons to executant of Ex.A.1 - Respondent/defendants filed counter contending that suit is filed for perpetual injunction on 5-9-2007 and written statement filed on 13-12-2007 denying plaint averments and specifically pleaded that executant has got no right title or interest over suit property and that said executant cannot transfer better right or title to petitioner in respect of suit property - Trial Court dismissed Application by order holding that petitioner has filed petitioner at belated stage to fill up lacunae which were pointed out during arguments - Against said order, present CRP, filed - Petitioner contends that opportunity to party to recall witness for examination, cross-examination or re-examination cannot be said to be governed by Or.18, Rule 17, if circumstances warrant, Court can grant such opportunity u/Sec.151 CPC and that there is no embargo to recall a witness after closure of evidence and it is discretion of Court to allow Application having regard to facts and circumstances of case and that at any stage, Court can recall witness for examining or cross-examining - Respondent contends that Application filed after completion of arguments of both sides and suit is coming up for reply arguments on behalf of plaintiff only to fill up lacunae and that too at belated stage and at this stage matter cannot be re-opened and that trial Court rightly dismissed Application and that power under provisions of Or.18, Rule 17 is to be sparingly exercised - In this case, it appears from record that petitioner is not diligent enough in filing petition to summon said executant at earliest point of time, though suggestions were put to other witnesses and P.W.1 herself - Trial Court considering material available on record came to conclusion that petition has been filed at belated stage in order to fillup lacunae - C.P.C. OR.18, RULE 17 - Supreme Court held that power to recall any witness under Or.18, Rue 17 can be exercised by Court either on its own motion or on Application filed by any parties to suit and that such power is to be invoked not to fill up lacunae in evidence of witness which has already been recorded but to clear any ambiguity that may have arisen during course of his examination and same should be sparingly used in appropriate cases - Order of trial Court, justified - CRP, dismissed. Shaik Gousiya Begum Vs. Shaik Hussan 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 268 = 2014(1) ALD 240 = 2014(1) ALT 268.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.18, Rule 17, r/w Sec.151 and Sec.148 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit against respondents/defendants claiming Rs.20 lakhs as damages for defamation and defendants were set ex parte - I.A filed by defendants for setting aside ex parte order, allowed on condition of payment of costs - Another IA filed by defendants seeking extension of time for filing written statement dismissed - Plaintiff filed his examination-in-chief and marked documents and case posted for judgment - Trial Court allowed IAs filed by defendants to reopen case and permit them to cross-examine P.W.1- Hence, present CRPs filed by petitioner/plaintiff - Petitioner contends that request of defendants to open suit and permit them to cross-examine plaintiff under Or.18, Rule 17 is not maintainable and that Court alone is competent to recall witness and put questions to him under that provision and defendants are not entitled for discretionary relief - Respondents contend that though they are not permitted to file written statement they are entitled to participate in suit atleast from left over stage and that defendants should have fair opportunity to meet case of plaintiff in view of huge claim being made against them - There is no specific provision in CPC which enables parties to reopen evidence for purpose of further examination of parties - However, Sec.151 CPC provides that nothing in Code shall be deemed to limit inherent powers of Court to make such orders as may be necessary for ends of justice or to prevent abuse of process of Court - In this case, defendants have not filed written statement and in absence of their own pleadings it is not permissible for them to lead their own evidence - Though they are entitled to participate in further proceedings without written statement, their participation would be restricted by several limitations and they will be competent to cross-examine plaintiff or his witnesses only to demolish case of plaintiff - Impugned order to extent it has permitted defendants to adduce their evidence is not legal and unsustainable - Order in so far as recalling plaintiff for cross-examination by defendants is confirmed and order in so far as permitting defendants to adduce evidence is set aside - CRPs partly, allowed. P.Bhaskara Rao Vs. Wolfgang Ormeloh, 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 121 = 2013(1) ALD 154 = 2013(2) ALT 110.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.18, Rule 17 & Sec.151 - "Recall witness" - 1st respondent filed suit for partition and separate possession - Petitioner as D6 contested suit - After conclusion of evidence of R1/plaintiff, petitioner/D6 filed affidavit in lieu of chief- examination - In absence of petitioner's Advocate trial Court treated that chief- examination on his part is over, and subjected petitioner for cross- examination as D.W.1 and some documents which were filed in written statement, were not marked through him - Some selective documents filed alongwith written-statement, were marked in "A" series, at instance of counsel for 1st respondent - Trial Court allowed I.A. filed by petitioner/D6 only to extent of enabling him to speak about documents that were already filed and marked through P.W.1 - Having noticed limited scope of application, petitioner filed applications with a prayer to reopen his evidence, to enable him to mark documents and to recall him - Trial Court dismissed both application by observing that petitioner not diligent at relevant point of time - In this case, petitioner filed his affidavits, in lieu of chief-examination, and wanted documents, filed by him along with written-statement to be brought on record, in continuation of chief-examination in Court - It may be a fact that Advocate of petitioner not present in Court on stipulated date - However, Court has chosen to subject petitioner for cross examination in absence of his counsel and without verifying steps that were required to be taken by witness about documents filed on his behalf - Majority of document filed by petitioner along with written-statement were marked through P.W.1, and some of them were left unmarked - Court remained as a silent spectator for all these anomalies - Confining recalling of D.W.1 only to extent referring to documents, that were wrongly marked through P.W.1 and dismissal of applications for recalling D.W.1 - Unsustainable - This is one case, where petitioner was made to suffer for wrong step taken by trial Court in directing that D.W.1 be cross- examined even before his chief-examination was formally concluded - Applications filed by petitioner to reopen and recall are allowed - Impugned orders, set aside - C.R.Ps, allowed. P.Vital Reddy Vs. K.Sharath Babu 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 198.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

——Or.19, Rl.2 - Petitioner/4th respondent in main suit filed an application under Or.19, Rule 2 of CPC to direct 1st respondent/1st defendant to appear before court to cross-examine her to elicit truth in contents of her affidavit filed in I.A. - Court below dismissed application on ground that Order 19, Rule 2 of CPC has no application to present case and it is only applicable when third party affidavits are filed.

Held, Court below by relying on judgment Shetty Chandra Shekar v. Neeti Ramulu dismissed application filed by petitioner on ground that deponents of third party affidavits filed in support of plaintiff or defendant can be called for cross-examination but not affidavit filed by either plaintiff or defendant to proceedings - Court below also relied on judgment of Sudha v. Manmohan, wherein it is held that request for cross examination of defendant cannot be allowed if such request could be to protract and delay proceedings under main suit - Court below has rightly relied on judgment in Shetty Chandra Sheker's case and came to conclusion that application under Order XIX Rule 2 CPC is not maintainable in respect of affidavits filed by parties to proceedings and it will apply to affidavits filed by third parties - In view of above facts and circumstances, this Court do not see any reason to interfere with order of Court below - Accordingly, this Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. Pathange Mohan Krishna Rao Vs. Navale Sreevani 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 361 = 2016(5) ALD 465.

—Or.19, R.2 and Or.39, R.1 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.3 - Petitioners/plaintiffs filed I.A seeking temporary injunction accompanied by affidavit of petitioner/1st plaintiff - Trial Court allowed Application filed by respondents-defendants to summon petitioner plaintiff deponent of affidavit filed in support of I.A filed for grant of temporary injunction for cross-examination - AMBIT AND SCOPE OF OR.19, R.2 - Stated - It is not uncommon that in proceedings under Or.39, R.1, CPC parties file affidavits in support of their respective cases - When affidavits are filed, in case Court entertains a doubt with regard to identity of person or persons who gave affidavit, then it has power and discretion to order attendance of deponent of affidavit, for cross-examination so as to come to a just conclusion to determine such petition - In present case, respondents-defendants filed petition under Or.19, R.2 to direct petitioner-1st plaintiff to come to Court for purpose of cross-examination - Question of applicability of provisions of Or.19, R.2 would arise only in cases where an affidavit was filed in support of cases of respective parties by way of evidence, but certainly not an affidavit filed in support of petition - Since affidavit filed in support of a petition cannot be treated as evidence, the present petition filed by respondents-defendants seeking to summon deponent not maintainable - Application filed by respondents-defendants under Or.19, R.2 not maintainable - Order of trial Court that respondents-defendants counsel is entitled to cross-examine petitioner-plaintiff No.1

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

who swore affidavit - Not justified - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. Shetty Chandra Shekar Vs. Neeti Ramulu 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 253 = 2008(2) ALD 709 = 2008(2) ALT 463 = 2008(1) APLJ 183.

—OR.20, R.11 - Instalment decree - Appellant/plaintiff/Bank filed suit for recovery of certain amount - Trial Court decreed suit directing defendants to pay suit sum in monthly instalments and in case of default, Bank is at liberty to recover entire sum due in lumpsum - In commercial transactions by Public Financial Institutions where money is advanced on security including personal guarantees, granting of instalments, for payment of decretal amount is ruled out because that would frustrate very purpose of taking security - Courts must record reasons and for arriving at a conclusion whether to grant a decree for instalments or not, there should be some acceptable evidence placed before Court and on mere request made by Counsel in absence of any acceptable evidence, Court will not be justified in making such decree - Trial Court granting of decree permitting respondents/defendants to pay decretal amount by way of instalments - Unsustainable - Suit decreed with interest and costs - Appeal, allowed. Indian Bank, Secunderabad, Branch Vs. K.T. Abraham 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 181 = 2008(1) ALD 64.

—Or.20, R.11 & Or.21, Rules 37 and 38 - LIMITATION ACT, 1963, Art.126 - Petitioner/DHR having obtained money decree filed EP for execution of decree by arrest and detention of respondent/JDR - Executing Court allowed EA filed by JDR allowing to pay decree amount in monthly instalments - Petitioner/DHR contends that since executing Court has no jurisdiction to allow discharge of decree in instalments impugned order is illegal - Respondent/JDR contends that since JDR has no sufficient means to pay decretal amount Court below in exercise of its discretion has rightly ordered payment of decretal amount, instalments instead of directing arrest and detention of JDR in civil prison - In this case, initially Executing Court allowed EP directing arrest and detention of JDR in civil prison - In CRP preferred by JDR, High Court set aside order of lower Court giving liberty to JDR to file Application seeking grant of instalments for paying decretal amount and on filing of such Application, Court below shall consider same and pass appropriate order in accordance with law - Executing Court has no power to grant instalments under provisions of CPC - In this case, admittedly money decree passed in favour of petitioner and it did not provide for payment of amount decreed by instalments - Hence, Court below committed grave error in allowing application permitting JDR to pay decretal amount in instalments - It is always open to Court below to make such an enquiry taking into consideration rival claims and material produced by parties and if Court satisfied, execution petition for arrest may probably be dismissed - However, Executing Court cannot direct payment of decretal amount by instalments since not competent to do so under law - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. Seelam Ramadevi Vs. Gadiraju Yanadi Raju 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 195 = 2008(4) ALD 366 = 2008(4) ALT 438 = 2008(2) APLJ 123.

——Or.XX, Rule 12 read with Sec.151 - Indian Limitation Act, Art.137 - Plaintiffs had obtained a preliminary decree in suit filed for partition of plaint schedule properties

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- An appeal preferred by the defendant was dismissed confirming preliminary decree and judgment - Plaintiffs/preliminary decree holders had filed an application for passing a final decree and sought for appointment of an Advocate Commissioner to conduct an inquiry and determine mesne profits as per terms of preliminary decree - Trial Court, by order impugned had appointed an Advocate Commissioner to conduct an inquiry and determine mesne profits as per terms of preliminary decree - Aggrieved of said orders, defendant had preferred this revision petition - Defendant contended that petition was filed in the year 2010 for ascertainment of mesne profits, pursuant to preliminary decree dated 23.01.2001 - Admittedly, petition is filed after a period of more than eleven years - Therefore, application is not maintainable - Court below ought to have seen that Order XX, Rule 12 of Code clearly debars filing of any application for determination of mesne profits beyond three years from date of the decree - Period of limitation is three years as per Art.137 of Indian Limitation Act.

Held, contention of defendant is devoid of merit as a Division Bench of this Court in decision in Velicheti Audinarayana vs. Union of India, held that Order XX, Rule 12 (1)(c) (iii) of the Code is unconstitutional and ultra vires to Article 14 of Constitution of India - As already noted, in case on hand, preliminary decree was granted in a suit for partition - Therefore, in well considered view of this Court, Order XX, Rule 18 of Code is applicable to case on hand and not Rule 12 - View of this Court gets reinforced from ratio in decision in Kolluri Suseelamma v. Yerramilli Nageswara Rao - Ratio in above case was accepted by this Court in subsequent decisions - It is apt to note that Supreme Court in Gopalakrishna Pillai v. Meenakslri, had approved the view taken by the Madras High Court in Basavayya v. Guravayya - After making a reference to subsequent decisions of this Court, decisions of other High Courts and Supreme Court, this Court, in Kolluri Suseelamma case, had finally summed up legal position.

Therefore, in view of ratio in above decision, which squarely applies to facts of case, this Court finds that Order XX, Rule 18 of Code is only applicable to facts of case - Having regard to aforesaid reasons this Court holds that contention of defendant based on provision of Order XX, Rule 12(1)(c)(iii) of Code that decree holders are entitled to claim mesne profits until expiration of three years from date of appellate Court's decree is untenable and is devoid of merit - Further, in view of finding of this Court that provision of law applicable to facts of instant case is Order XX, Rule 18 of Code, this Court holds that order impugned does not brook interference - Accordingly, Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. Merla Veera Venkata Satyanarayana Vs. Merla Srivani 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 433 = 2016(5) ALD 476 = 2016(5) ALT 243.

—Or.20, Rule 18 - Or.22, Rules 10A, 3 & 4 - Petitioner's father, 'S' filed suit for partition and for recovery of possession of half share - 'S' died pending suit and his wife and children were brought on record - Preliminary decree passed - Appeal filed by respondents dismissed by District Judge and second Appeal also dismissed - Petitioners filed I.A

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

under Or.22, Rule 18 for appointment of Commissioner for submitting a report so that final decree can be passed in suit - Petitioners also sought for condonation of delay of 1053 days in bringing legal representatives of some deceased respondents on record, to set aside abatement caused by their death and to bring them on record as LRs of deceased respondents - 3rd respondent filed counter contending that Application is vague and vexatious and there is no specific prayer in petition that specific dates of death of deceased were not given and that petitioners are to explain delay in respect of each deceased and they also ought to have file separate petitions in respect of each respondent for condonation of delay in seeking to set aside abatement and to bring LRs on record and that pending second Appeal death of persons not reported and therefore he could not take steps to bring them on record in second Appeal - Trial Court dismissed I.A on ground that petitioner did not add LRs of deceased in Appeal and that petitioner did ot give even date of death of deceased/respondents and that delay is not properly explained and that there were latches on part of petitioner - Hence present Revision - Petitioner contends that under Or.22, Rule 10A CPC it is incumbent on Counsel who appeared for deceased parties in suit to give information about date of death and details of LRs of deceased defendants to petitioners; that petitioners were not aware of these details and therefore, they could not mention specific dates of death of these individuals and that since there is no time limit to file Application to pass final decree in a suit for partition. in Application filed to pass final decree, petitioners are entitled to state that these persons have died and their LRs be brought on record by condoning delay if any in filing Application to set aside abatement and that all procedure is hand-maid of justice and mere fact that separate Applications in respect of each deceased/respondents are not filed it is not open to trial Court to dismiss Application for passing final decre under Or.22, Rule 18.

".....It is well-established proposition of law that a suit cannot be dismissed on ground of abatement after a preliminary decree was passed for thereby rights are accrued to one party and liabilities are incurred by the other"

Or.22, Rules 3 & 4 have no application to present case as preliminary decree in suit was passed in 1984 and death of respondents took place subsequently in 1997, 1999 and 2001 and thus there can be no abatement of suit on account of death of defendants after passing of preliminary decree and so there was no necessity for petitioners to file petitions for condonation of delay seeking to set aside abatement and to set aside abatement - Order of trial Court holding that they should have filed such Applications and explained day to day delay in respect of each of deceased defendant is contray to law and unsustainable - Admittedly in this case all LRs of deceased/respondents were shown as respondents in final decree petition and it would merely suffice if they implead LRs of deceased respondents in it which they did - Trial Court ignored settled legal position and dismissed IA for passing final decree on untenable grounds and in perverse manner and such orders are likely to cause parties to lose faith in Institution of Judiciary itself - Impugned order of Trial Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Ausali Siddiramulu Vs. Ausali Dubbaiah, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 85 = 2014(1) ALD 550 = 2014(2) ALT 413.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21 – Execution of decree – Suit filed for declaration of right of easement and sought direction for restoration of cart track - Defendant denied existence of any Cart track – Trial Court decreed suit – First and Second appeals ended in dismissal – Executing Court passing order directing JDR to restore cart track within one month - Petitioner/ JDR contends that decree is inexecutable in absence of a mandatory injunction for removal of trees standing on suit schedule cart track – In this case, the decree in suit for restoration of suit schedule cart track attained a finality, thus making JDR/petitioner liable for restoration of suit schedule cart track which means and includes removal of trees or any other obstructions and bring it to original shape - As matter of fact, existence of trees existing even by date of suit made it all more clear that decree for restoration for cart track includes removable of trees - Even according to JDR/petitioner trees in question are existing even by date of suit - Hence it is clear that decree for restoration of cart track includes removal of trees existing on said cart track – Judgment of Court below – Justified – CRP, dismissed. Ch.Ranga Reddy Vs. M. Suryanarayana Reddy 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 293.

—Or.21, Rules 1 & 4, r/w Sec.34 - INTEREST ACT, Sec.3(3)(c) - Execution of arbitration award - Distinction between "award amount" and "interest payable" - Award having become Rule of Court and while making said Rule it is clearly make note that award contained an amount which is payable to respondent quantifying said amount in certain amount - After quantification of said amount, arbitrator dealt with grant of interest independent of said payment and fixed rate of such interest at 12% per annum - When such a clear distinction consciously made by Arbitrator while passing award no one can even attempt to state that award amount and interest mentioned in award should be merged together and state that award amount would comprise of quantified amount and interest worked out thereon became payable when once it is made rule of Court and thereby became decretal amount - Such construction of said award cannot be made having regard to specific terms of decree - While applying Or.21, Rule 1, when payments were made towards satisfaction of decree as provided under Or.21, Rule 1 (a) (b) & (c), what would be implication of sub-rules 4 & 5 of Or.21 - In order to under stand said implication of Or.21, Rule 1 read alongwith sub-Rules 4 & 5, in foremost it will be necessary to understand what is contemplated under Or.21, Rule 1, in particular, opening set of expressions namely, "all money, payable under a decree shall be paid as follows..." - It will be necessary to keep in mind that said provision does not state decretal amount - Expression used is all money payable under a decree - PRINCIPLES OF APPRO-PRIATION:

a) The general rule of appropriation towards a decretal amount was that such an amount was to be adjusted strictly in accordance with the directions contained in the decree and in the absence of such directions adjustments be made firstly towards payment of interest and cost and thereafter towards payment of the principal amount subject, of course, to any agreement between the parties.

b) The legislative intent in enacting sub-rules 4 and 5 is clear to the pointer that interest should cease to run on the deposit made by the judgment debtor and notice given or on the amount being tendered outside the Court in the manner provided in Order XXI Rule 1 sub-clause (b).

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

c) If the payment made by the judgment debtor falls short of the decreed amount, the decree holder will be entitled to apply the general rule of appropriation by appropriating the amount deposited towards the interest, then towards cost and finally towards the principal amount due under the decree;

d) Thereafter, no further interest would run on the sum appropriated towards the principal. In other words if a part of the principal amount has been paid along with interest due thereon as on the date of issuance of notice of deposit interest on that part of the principal sum will cease to run thereafter;

e) In cases where there is a shortfall in deposit of the principal amount, the decree holder would be entitled to adjust interest and cost first and the balance towards the principal and beyond that the decree holder cannot seek to reopen the entire transaction and proceed to recalculate the interest on the whole of the principal amount and seek for re-appropriation. Bharat Heavy Electricals Ltd. Vs. R.S. Avtar Singh & Co. 2012(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 225 = 2013(1) ALD 44 (SC) = 2012 AIR SCW 5639 = AIR 2013 SC 252.

—Or.21, Rule 22 and Sec.50 – Maintainability of E.P against LRs of JDR – Suit for perpetual injunction in respect of suit property – Decreed – Respondent/plaintiff filed EP alleging that petitioners, LRs of deceased JDR causing obstruction for construction of compound wall around suit property - Contention that E.P is not maintainable against LRs of JDR straightaway – Executing Court allowed EP directing detention of petitioners in civil prison – It is true that petitioners are not parties to decree and they were not brought on record after death of JDr - Sec.50 of CPC however, permits institution of EP against LRs also, in case, JDR dies, before decree has been satisfied – Only rider is added to effect that liability of LRs shall be limited to estate, succeeded by them – Liability of LRs of JDr in decree for perpetual injunction obviously needs to be limited to extent of interference, which was restrained through such decree – It is only such of LRs, who defy decree, that can be proceeded against - From provision of Or..21, Rule 22, it is difficult to discern either that decree holder is placed under obligation to file an independent application to bring LRs of judgment holder on record or that executing Court must insist on such a step – In this case, executing Court did issue notice to petitioners and they also submit that they do not any more intend to interfere with construction of compound wall and they would abide by decree - However, that any development, that is said to have taken place subsequent to impugned order, cannot constitute subject matter of E.P – If respondent feels that petitioners have resorted to any acts or omissions, giving raise to fresh cause of action to file an E.P or to extend scope of pending E.P, necessary steps are to be taken – High Court cannot discharge functions of executing Court – Impugned order, set aside – CRP, allowed. Kalpuri Ellamma Vs. Nellutla Venkata Lakshmi 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 224 = 2008(6) ALD 180.

—Or.21, Rules 22, 37 and Sec.151 - Suit filed by respondent against petitioner, decreed - Initially respondent filed E.P - When petitioner filed E.A raising objection as to maintainability of E.P, same dismissed - Respondent filed an other E.P under Rule 37 of Or.21, seeking arrest of petitioner - Petitioner filed E.A u/Sec.151 CPC with prayer to dismiss E.P on ground that notice under Rule 22 of Or.21 not issued - Executing Court dismissed E.A - Hence present Revision - If an execution petition is filed by DHR within 2 years for relief, other than one pertaining to detention in civil prison or sale of property in execution, steps therein can takes place without issuing notice to JDR - Where however E.P is filed after lapse of two years from date of decree, executing Court would be under obligation to issue notice as contemplated under Rule 22 - Rule 1 of Or.21 makes it mandatory for executing Court to issue notice calling upon JDR to appear before Court - Once JDR appears before Court, almost a trial like procedure to be followed - DHR would be under obligation to prove that JDR is in possession of adequate means and still is not paying amount - Therefore Rule 22 of Or.21 cannot be made applicable to any execution petition filed under Rule 37 of Or.21 CPC - Question of issuance of notice under Rule 22 would arise only after E.P is filed - Very filing of E.P cannot be challenged on ground that notice under provision not issued - CRP, dismissed. B.Gangadharam Vs. D.Sivasankar Reddy, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 82 = 2011(3) ALD 831 = 2011(4) ALT 127.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 30 r/w Secs.51 & 58 - ARBITRATION ACT, Sec.17 - Respondent secured arbitration award and filed E.P for arrest and detention of petitioners in civil prison for non-payment of decretal amount - District Judge allowed E.P and ordered arrest of petitioners - Hence, present Revision Petition - Petitioners contend that mere possession of property by itself would not be enough for DHR to seek arrest of JDRs that unless mala fide intention to evade payment of decretal amount is pleaded and established, arrest of JDRs cannot be ordered and that Court below having already directed attachment of properties of petitioners, committed an error in ordering arrest and detention in civil prison - Respondent submits that even though petitioners have sufficient means to pay decretal amount as established by respondent before Court below, they have been deliberately evading payment and hence Court below is justified is ordering petitioners' arrest and that DHR has an option to execute decree by any of methods envisaged under provisions of Or.21, Rule 30 and that Court can order attachment of properties and arrest of JDRs, simultaneously - U/Sec.17 of Arbitration Act award itself shall be considered as decree and that no separate decree need be obtained - In this case, admittedly petitioners are owning landed property and u/Sec.58 of CPC, sine qua non for ordering arrest and detention of JDRs in civil prison that despite having means to pay amount under decree or some substantial part thereof, they have refused or neglected to pay same - In Sec.51 of CPC, Supreme Court held that there must be some element of bad faith beyond mere indifference to pay, or some deliberate or recusant disposition in past or alternatively, current means to pay decree or substantial part of it and that present needs of JDR are relevant consideration for considering his conduct in not paying decretal amount - In this case, no reasons have been put forth by petitioners as to why they are not able to liquidate property and pay decretal amount - Contentions of petitioners that Court below has committed error in ordering petitioners' arrest for non-payment of amount under awards, cannot be accepted - DHR can simultaneously seek execution of decree by delivery of property specifically decreed; by attachment and sale or by sale without attachment of any property; or by arrest and detention in prison for such period not exceeding period specified in Sec.58 where arrest and detention is permissible under that section - Order of lower Court directing both arrest and attachment of property of petitioners - Justified - CRP, dismissed. K.Ravi Kumar Reddy Vs. I.C.D.S. Limited, 2012(1) Law Summary 181 = 2012(3) ALD 152 = 2012(3) ALT 758.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—OR.21, R.32 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.28 (1) - E.P filed to execute sale deed pursuant to decree passed for specific performance - JDR objecting that DHR deposited balance sale consideration after lapse of three years and it shows that he has no money or ready to perform his part of contract and therefore not entitled to relief - Executing Court overruled objection and E.P numbered - Sec.28(1) of Act, "RESCISSION OF CONTRACT" - In this case, decree does not contain any positive direction to deposit balance sale consideration on any particular date - If decree holder fails to pay money within period allowed by decree or such further period, as Court may allow, it is open to JDR to apply same suit in which decree is made to have contract rescinded - Power u/ Sec.28 of Act is discretionary and Court cannot ordinarily annul decree once passed by it - Although power to annul decree exists yet Sec.28 of Act provides for complete relief to both parties in terms of decree - Court does not cease to have power to extend time even though trial Court had earlier directed in decree that payment of balance price to be made by certain date and on failure suit to stand dismissed - Power exercisable under this section is discretionary - Decree holder failed to deposit balance sale consideration till 24-2-95 though suit decreed on 12-8-92 - It is not case of JDR that DHR did not offer to pay balance sale consideration and therefore they could not execute sale deed on or before 21-1-92 - JDRs have not filed any Application for rescission of contract and no whisper in counter about relief of rescission - No explanation what so ever forthcoming from DHR as to why he did not deposit balance sale consideration - Court has to see reasonableness of request for extension of time or as to whether it is a fairly a case of rescission of contract - No endeavour on part of executing Court to consider these aspects - A clear and unequivocal finding is needed to be reached by Court - Impugned order, set aside - Matter remitted to executing Court for fresh consideration - Revision petition, allowed. L.Venkata Krishna Reddy (died) Vs. M.Anjappa(died) per L.R 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 32 = 2008(2) ALD 379 = 2008(1) ALT 260 = 2007(3) APLJ 289.

—-Or.21, Rule 32(1) - Unless the decree-holder, with cogent and convincing evidence, proves the existence of the ingredients of Rule 32 of Order 21 of CPC, order of arrest cannot be made - Impugned order passed by learned Junior Civil Judge, is neither sustainable nor tenable - Petition allowed - Order of Junior Civil Judge set aside. Malle Ranga Reddy Vs. Thirunagaru Purushotham 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 140 = 2014(6) ALD 457.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 35 and Or.21, Rule 22 (1) & (2) - Lok Adalat passed compromise Award in RCC - Under award both parties inter alia agreed for continuance of lease in favour of petitioner for particular period - As petitioner failed to handover possession to respondent he filed E.P - Court issued warrant under Or.21, Rule 35 CPC - Petitioner contends that admittedly award passed by Lok Adalat was more than two years old by time respondent has filed E.P and that Court has committed a serious error in issuing warrant without notice to petitioner as envisaged in Or.21, Rule 22(1) - In this case, it is not in dispute that petitioner has undertaken to vacate possession of property immediately on expiry of agreed lease period - Instead delivering vacant possession, petitioner embarked upon further litigation by setting up oral lease and filing civil suit - In this case, facts make it an eminently fit case for invocation of provisions of Or.21, Rule 22(2) CPC, because petitioner made respondent to await expiry of extended lease period under compromise award and filed suit setting up plea of oral lease obviously with a view to thwart respondent's effort to recover possession of property - Issuance of notice under Cl.1 of Rule 22 would definitely cause unreasonable delay and defeat ends of justice - Therefore, order of lower Court, Justified - CRP, dismissed. Karumuri Sambasiva Rao Vs. Vysyaraju Suryanarayana Raju, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 335 = 2011(3) ALD 662 = 2011(4) ALT 47 = AIR 2011 (NOC) 299 (AP).

—Or.21, Rule 35, Or.21, Rule 97, r/w Sec.151, Or.21, Rules 99, 101,103,105 and 106 - 1st respondent filed suit against 2nd respondent for recovery of possession of suit property claiming that she is owner of suit property and 2nd respondent is tenant - Ex parte decree passed - E.P filed for delivery of possession of suit property under Or.21, Rule 35 - Bailf returned warrnat unexecuted since 3rd parties are in possession of property and they have resisted delivery of possession - Respondent filed E.A under Or.21, Rule 97 for removal of obstruction caused by 3rd parties and subsequently filed Memo to permit to withdraw said E.A - Since 1st respondent remained absent and unrepresented, EA was dismissed, and on same day respondent filed another application u/Sec.151 CPC seeking direction to remove obstruction with police aid - Petitioner, third party took strong objection to maintainability of subsequent application, as earlier application filed by respondent under Or.21, Rule 97 was dismissed for default - Lower Court allowed application of 1st respondent with costs and granted police aid - Petitioner, 3rd party contends that lower Court has committed serious illegality in entertaining second application u/Sec151 CPC having dismissed earlier application filed under Or.21, Rule 97 and that lower Court has failed to consider conduct of 1st respondent in filing Memo seeking withdrawal of earlier application and also took exception to subsequent action of lower Court in closing very EP after suo motu advancing same - Lower Court over ruled objections raised by petitioner on maintainability of subsequent application on reasoning that earlier application was dismissed for default and not on merits and same will not operate as res judicata - Where earlier suit was dismissed by Court for want of jurisdiction or for default of plaintiff's appearance etc., decision not being on merits would not be res judicata in a subsequent suit - A party to an application under Or.21, R.97 of CPC has to necessarily file application for setting aside ex parte order within 30 days from date of passing such order or from date of knowledge of order in case of non service of notice - In this case, even though 1st respondent has filed a memo seeking withdrawal of her application, she has allowed application filed under Or.21, Rule 97 of Code to be dismissed for non-representation and failed to follow mandatory procedure under Rule 106 - Even in absence of specific bar as contained in Or.9, Rule 9 of Code for filing fresh application same principles which apply to suit should equally be applied to applications filed under Or.21, Rule 97, as such an application has been same status as a separate suit - Court below being oblivious of this legal position, has brushed aside objection raised by petitioner by assiging a lopsided reasoning that previous order does not operate as res judicata - Being executing Court, least that is expected of it is to ascertain from 1st respondent as to reason for her not prosecuting petition filed under substantative provision of Or.21, Rule 97 and filing separate Application invoking Courts inherent power u/Sec.151 of Code for same relief as claimed in previous application with addition of relief of police aid, on same day on which earlier application was dismissed for non-prosecution - Once 1st respondent has allowed her application filed under Or.21, Rule 97 of Code to be dismissed for non representation question of entertaining a subsequent application on same cause of action would not arise as such a course encourages parties to indulge in sheer abuse of process of law and Courts - Hence order under revision cannot be sustained and same is accordingly set aside - Civil Revison petition, allowed. E.S.Sulochana Vs. P.Yogamba Lakshmi, 2012(1) Law Summary 219 = 2012(3) ALD 211 = 2012(3) ALT 224.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 37 – INDIAN CONTRACT ACT, Secs.43 & 44 & 128, 133,135,136,137,146 and 147 – 2nd respondent is prized subscriber of 1st respondent/Chit Fund Company who obtained surety from petitioner and six others, viz., respondents 3 to 7 for ensuring payment of instalments of chit – 1st respondent/Chit Fund Company filed suit on default committed by 2nd respondent and obtained decree – 1st respondent filed EP against petitioner and Respondents 5 and 7 for arrest - Executing Court ordered arrest of petitioner holding that though petitioner is possessed of sufficient means to pay decretal amount, he did not honour decree - Petitioner contends that liability of sureties is co-extensive with that of principal debtor and unless steps are taken against principal debtor also it would become untenable for executing Court to enforce decree – Chit Fund Company contends that being a surety, petitioner is equally liable to pay entire decretal amount and it is always competent for 1st respondent to choose either principal debtor or all or any of sureties to recover decretal amount - In this case nothing is stated as to why Chit Fund Company has picked up judgment debtors 4,6 & 7 and left aside principal debtor and other sureties - CONTRACT ACT, Secs.43 & 44 – A contract comes into existence when a person promises to do or forbear from doing in favour of another for consideration – While Sec.40 of Act mandates that it shall be obligation of promisor himself, to perform

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

contract, implying existence of only one promisor, Sec.44 visualises situation of there being more than one promisor – Provision binds all joint promisors alike – Sec.45 is extension of same principle, in its different dimension – It needs to be seen as to whether or not principle underlying these provisions can be applied to cases of sureties – This would be possible, if only sureties are treated as joint promisors - Unlike in case of joint promisors, there are certain circumstances which relieve sureties, even while obligation of principal debtor towards creditor remains or subsists – U/Sec.133 of Act, a surety would stand discharged, if creditor had varied contract with principal debtor without consent of surety – Secs.43 & 44 make it amply clear that discharge of one joint promisor would not enure to benefit of other joint promisor – Almost opposite results flow, as between principal debtor and surety – Discharge by one would discharge other – Any transaction or deal between creditor and principal debtor without knowledge of surety, to alter terms of contract, would have effect of completely relieving surety - Principle underlying Sec.128 of Act which mandates that liability of surety is co-extensive is that of principal debtor – If for any reason that amount cannot be recovered from principal debtor whole entitlement of creditor collapses – This is in contrast to cases of joint promisors covered by Sec.43 & 44 – In this case 1st respondent/Chit Fund Company did not choose to effectively implead principal debtor and three sureties though mentioned their names in cause title in E.P - Steps were not initiated against principal debtor on account of fact that she was declared as insolvent under provisions of Insolvency Act – If 1st respondent felt that it suffers legal disability from proceeding against principal debtor, by that very reason he suffers incapacity vis-à-vis others also by operation of principle underlying u/Sec.120 of Act - Failure to implead 2nd respondent or to proceed against her would therefore attract Sec.135 of Act - Admittedly there is no contract to contrary and at most, petitioner is liable to share whole debt equally alongwith other 5 sureties – There is absolutely no basis for 1st respondent to proceed only against petitioner for entire amount – Executing Court did not follow procedure prescribed under various Rules of Or.21, CPC – Impugned order passed by executing Court – Unsustainable – CRP, allowed. M.Venkataramanaiah Vs. Margadarsi Chit Fund Ltd., 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 25 = 2009(4) ALD 300.

—Or.21, Rules 37 & 38 - Arrest of JDR - Petitioner obtained decree against respondent - Since respondent not complied with decree, petitioner filed E.P for arrest of respondent and detain in civil prison - Executing Court dismissed E.P basing on averments in counter filed respondent stating that he has no mesne discharge decretal amount and he is dependent upon his father - Petitioner contends that respondent admitted in his deposition that his family is owning Ac.3.50 cents of land and their family running a business which yield Rs.700-800 per day and in that in view of matter executing Court ought not to have dismissed E.P - BURDEN OF PROOF - In matters of this nature, initial burden to show that JDR possessed adequate means, rests upon decree holder - It would be sufficient if DHR broadly indicates nature of properties owned or means possessed by JDR - Beyond that he cannot be expected to have perfect and complete knowledge about resources of JDR - In this case, admittedly

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

JDRs family deriving income of Rs.700 to 800 per day and is possessed of agricultural income, and as such JDR can certainly make an effort to discharge obligation under decree - JDR granted facility of clearing decretal amount in monthly instalments and if he commits default in payment of instalments for two consecutive months, E.P shall stand allowed and he shall be liable to be detained in civil prison - Impugned order of executing Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Bathula Ravi Kumar Reddy Vs. Shaik Masthan Vali 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 177 = 2013(1) ALD 103 = 2013(2) ALT 68.

—Or.21, Rules 37 & 38 & Or.21, Rules 106 (3) &106(4) and Sec.122 - LIMITATION ACT, Secs.5 & 29 - Petitioner suffered money decree and failed to satisfy decree - Respondent filed E.P and obtained ex parte order for arrest - Petitioner filed Application to set aside ex parte order contending that he has no means to satisfy decree and hence his arrest cannot be ordered, alongwith Application to condone delay of 26 days in filing Application to set aside ex parte order - Executing Court dismissed Application for condonation of delay without considering two decisions of High Court, wherein it was held that Sec.5 of Limitation Act would also be Applicable to an Application filed under Or.21, Rule 106 CPC - Single Judge referring matter to Division Bench and subsequently matter referred to Full Bench for an authoritative pronouncement - Petitioner contends that though Sec.5 of Limitation Act excluded Application under any other provisions of Or.21 CPC by reason of amendment of High Court of A.P. u/Sec.122 CPC adding sub-rule (4) in Rule 106 of Or.21 an Application for condonation of delay u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act in filing such an Application would be maintainable for condonation of delay - Respondent contends that under Or.21, Rule 106(3) of CPC, Application to set aside ex parte order under Or.21, Rule 106(1) has to be filed within 30 days from date of order or within 30 days from date when applicant has knowledge of order - Any application filed beyond 30 days as contemplated therein would not be maintainable and Sec.5 of Limitation Act has no Application - By reason of amendment made by A.P High Court in 1991 sub-rule (4) has been added in Rule 106 of Or.21 CPC - As a result of this, Application to set aside an ex parte order passed under Rule 105(2) can be filed even after 30 days by seeking condonation of delay as provided for by Rule 106(4) of Or.21 - A reading of Sec.122 of CPC leaves no doubt that in exercise of that power High Court can even annul, alter or add Rules in First Schedule - At least in field of civil judicial procedure; power conferred on High Court u/Sec.122 of CPC is greater than power to amend provisions of CPC and that even if such a Rule is conflict with previous existing rule, it must be by implication deemed to have been annulled or/and altered by new rule - Therefore, by virtue of Sec.32 of Act 46 of 99 and Sec.16 of Act 22 of 2002 and by necessary implication, inevitable construction should be that amendment made by High Court of A.P through Judicial Notification, already remains unsettled and very much intact - Therefore, that notwithstanding repeal provisions in 1999 and 2002 amendments to CPC, Or.21, Rule 106(4) as inserted by High Court in exercise of power u/Sec.122 of CPC enables of a party to proceedings to file Application u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act seeking condonation of delay in filing Application to set aside ex parte order passed under Or.21, Rule 106(1) - Order of lower Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Ch. Krishnaiah Vs. Ch. Prasada Rao 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 144 = 2009(6) ALD 195 = 2009(4) APLJ 1 = 2009(6) ALT 82.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rules 37, 38 and 40 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.14,19,21 r/w Sec.151 C.P.C - DHR filed suit and obtained decree and sought for arrest and detention of JDR in civil prison for not honouring money decree - Executing Court passed impugned order holding that DHR failed to show that JDR has means and therefore JDR cannot be committed to civil prison - DHR contends that JDR has means and if he is not willing to honour decree he should be liable to be arrested and sent to civil prison - Executing Court held that DHR failed to establish that JDR has means to honour decree and that if JDR has means, decree holder would be welcome to proceed against properties of JDR - ARREST AND DETENTION OF JDR WHO DOES NOT HAVE MEANS - Stated -

"There must be some element of bad faith beyond mere indifference to pay some deliberate or recusant disposition in the past or alternatively, current means to pay the decree or a substantial part of it. The provision emphasizes the need to establish not mere omission to pay but an attitude of refusal as demand verging on dishonest disowning of the obligation under the decree. Here consideration of the debtor's other pressing needs and straitened circumstances will play prominently"

It would not be sufficient if it is shown that JDR has means to honour decree and has failed to do so, there must be element of bad faith beyond mere indifference to pay before it can be held that JDR is liable for detention in civil prison - In this case, evidence of JDR clearly shows that it is not a case of some element of bad faith, but a case of supine indifference and mala fide on part of JDR in shade of legal protection that unless DHR establishes means of JDR, he need not honour money decree - In this case, failure of JDR to honour decree is on account of bad faith on his part and consequently is liable to be arrested and detain in civil prison - Execution Court erred in assessing legal position correctly and passed erroneous order - Order of execution Court, set aside - E.P remitted for further proceedings. Marepally Narasimha Reddy Vs. Kancharla Kumara Swamy, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 197.

—Or.21, Rules 37,38, 39,40 & Sec.51 - Respondent/DHR filed E.P to arrest and detain petitioner/JDR in civil prison for non payment of certain amount - Executing Court passed orders issuing warrant of arrest of JDR under Rule 37(2) for conducting means enquiry as he did not appear in person before Court inspite of previous warrant and notice - Petitioner/JDR contends that DHR has to pay subsistence allowance under Rule 39 as declared by presiding Officer of Court to be sufficient and in fact such amount was not paid and it was not proper to issue warrant without notice to be DHR - Respondnt/DHR submits that suit was filed in 2006 and it was decreed but petitioner/

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

JDR has been involved in prolonging matter by reason of which DHR has been suffering great hardship - In this case, as seen from records it is clear that matter has been coming up since long time but JDR failed to attend before Court to face means enquiry and therefore it cannot be said that in EP proceedings there was no notice to JDR - Sub-Rules (2) and (3) of Rule 40 CPC are distinct because under first one JDR, can be detained in custody of Officer of Court or released by Court on his furnishing security to satisfaction of Court of his appearance when he is required for enquiry under sub-rule (1) where as sub-rule (3) provides for taking necessary steps after conclusion of enquiry - Rule 40(2) and Rule 37 are to be read inconjunction - However detention should be subject to question of providing necessary subsistance allowance - In present Circumstances it cannot be said that order passed by Court below is wrong - It is for Court below to take necessary steps under sub-rule (2) when once JDR is arrested in view of arrest warrant issued - Impugned order of lower Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Donthy Reddy Atchyutha Reddy Vs. N.Ratnan Babu, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 157 = 2013(2) ALD 445 = 2013(2) ALT 7.

—Or.21, Rule 42-A - Suit filed for eviction against 1st respondent - Decreed - E.P filed by petitioner allowed and 1st respondent was evicted and petitioner was put in possession - Since 1st respondent did not remove articles that were present in premises at time of eviction, bailiff of Court removed same and entrusted them to 2nd respondent for safe custody - E.A filed by 1st respondent for redelivery of articles allowed by executing Court and directed to handover articles to 1st respondent - Since order in E.A not complied with 1st respondent filed E.P mentioning that he is entitled decretal amount of Rs.4,20,000/- and interest of Rs.1,87,000 and also prayed for attachment and sale of land and property and house of petitioner - Inspite of objection as to maintainability of E.A executing Court overruled objection and numbered E.P making reference to Or.21, Rule 42-A CPC - Executing Court gave also finding that properties belonging to 1st respondent were misappropriated by petitioners and for realization of value of said goods executing Court directed attachment of properties owned by petitioner and further issued directions for sale of attached properties - Petitioners contend E.P filed by 1st respondent is not at all maintainable in law, since there was no decree in his favour - 1st respondent contends that he was forcibly evicted and articles found in premises were entrusted to custody of 2nd respondent and that Rule 43-A of Or.21 CPC confers right upon him to recover goods owned by him or value thereof - In this case, when Ameen of Court case resistance from 1st respondent he approached Court for Police aid to evict 1st respondent and delivered vacant possession of premises - After eviction had complete 1st respondent filed E.A with prayer to direct 2nd respondent to handover petition schedule properties as many as 116 items were listed - Executing allowed application ex parte - it is rather surprising to note that learned Judge did not even issue a notice to 2nd respondent much less made an attempt to verify either list furnished by 1st respondent accords with official records - In this case, 1st respondent has taken resort to an ingenious method of filing E.P that too after two years from date of order as though there was a decree in his favour and curiously E.P was filed not for delivery of items mentioned in E.A and it was recovery of principal of Rs.4,20,000/- and interest 1,87,000/- - Though office of executing Court refused to number E.P, presiding officer however exhibited his legal acumen and experience and directed E.P be numbered - Or.21, Rule43-A CPC, would get attracted only when an item of movable property that is under attachment is entrusted to custody of respectable person - Rule does not at all, entrustment of property which is not attached - Even where custodian as mentioned in Rule 43-A fails to restore properties as provided under sub-Rule (2) thereof, it is only an application for necessary directions that can be filed but not an independent E.P - It is settled principle of law that what becomes executable becomes a decree - If no decree is drawn either on basis of judgment or an order, occasion to file E.P does not arise - In this case, petitioners herein were nowhere in picture - Executing Court has proceeded on totally impressible lines and adopted a typical perverse reasoning in ordering attachment and sale of properties of petitioners - This is one case, where Court has penalized persons who approached it for grant of relief though they were successful in suit - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. Udayagiri Ramija Begum Vs. Mulla Alli Baig 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 144.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 46-C r/w Sec.151 & Rule 46 (h) - Suit filed for recovery of certain amount alongiwth Application under Or.38, Rule 5 - Trial Court allowed application attaching amount lying with petitioner/garnishee with direction to deposit amount - Subsequently suit decreed - 1st Respondent/DHR filed E.P requesting Court to send attachment amount from petitioner, garnishee - Executing Court dismissed E.A filed by petitioner stating that they are not liable to pay any amount to first respondent/ DHR - Petitioner contends that garnishee is entitled to prove debt owed to him by JDr for purpose of set off claim, same has to be adjudicated by Court - Respondent contends that Or.21, Rule 46-C application is not maintainable because before making attachment of amount lying with garnishee, notice was issued to him in I.A and after hearing garnishee, amount lying in his hands were attached - E.A was filed much after decree was passed in favour of plaintiff - When debt arises to garnishee after attachment is effected, garnishee has no right to adjustment or set off - In this case, admittedly liability of JDR to petitioner even as per its own admission is only much after attachment order is made absolute - Where debt owing from JDR to garnishee arises after attachment is effected, garnishee has no right to adjustment or set off - Or.21, Rule 46-H says an order made under Rule 46-B, 46-C or Rule 46-E shall be appealable as a decree - When appeal lies against order passed under Rule 46-C, revision under Art.227 of Constitution cannot be entertained - Revision, dismissed. Marico Ltd.,Mumbai Vs. S.S.Transport, Rajahmundry 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 75 = 2009(4) ALD 209 = 2009(4) ALT 371.

—Or.21, Rule 47 and Or.6, Rule 17 - A.P. CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE, Rule 55 - Plaintiff/ respondent filed suit against Revision petitioner/defendant for specific performance of agreement of sale - Petitioner agreed to purchase property for certain amount and paid certain amount as advance and agreed to pay remaining amount within two months - Respondent plaintiff subsequently addressed a letter expressing his inability to purchase plaint schedule plot and permitting him to sell away same to third party and pay earnest money back to him - After receiving letter petitioner sold part of suit property to one SR and executed registered sale deed - Subsequently respondent/plaintiff filed suit for specific performance of contract in terms of agreement of sale - After knowing particulars of sale from additional evidence petition filed by Revision petitioner, respondent/plaintiff filed I.A seeking amendment of plaint and impleadment of SR, subsequent purchaser as defendant in suit - Trial Judge allowed petition filed by plaintiff - Hence present revision petition - Petitioner contends, since respondent addressed letter stating that he is not willing to purchase property he sold property to SR and therefore respondent/plaintiff cannot maintain petition either to amend plaint or to implead SR as second defendant and that impleadment of SR as second defendant and that amending plaint and adding relief of cancellation of registered sale deed are two distinct relief and said reliefs cannot be sought in one petition - From facts of case, it seems that inspite of due diligence by respondent he could not file petition seeking amendment as well as impleadment of subsequent purchaser as second defendant and therefore it cannot be said that there are any latches on his part and that proposed amendment are addition of SR as second defendant in suit does not alter cause of action in suit and that subsequent deed executed by revision petitioner in favour of SR was not in knowledge of respondent plaintiff at time of filing suit - Trial Court rightly exercised its jurisdiction in allowing prayer for amendment and impleadment of SR as second defendant - There is no error of jurisdiction and no irregularity or illegality committed by trial Court in passing impugned order - Order of trial Court justified - CRP, dismissed. Massarath Yasmeen Vs. Mohammed Azeemuddin 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 137 = 2011(6) ALD 598 = 2011(6) ALT 202.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 58 - 1st respondent filed suit through her mother against deceased 2nd respondent for partition, separate possession and mesne profits - Preliminary decree passed in year 1955 - After attaining majority 1st respondent initiated final decree proceedings - Final decree passed in year 1982 and properties devided by mets and bounds and possession delivered - 1st respondent filed E.P for recovery of mesne profits - 4th respondent/wife of deceased 2nd respondent and her children attached four items of E.P schedule property basing on gift as well as a Will - Executing Court dismissed Applications filed by 4th respondent for raising attachment in respect of four items - Hence present appeal - Appellant contends that items 1 to 4 were gifted by deceased 2nd respondent and they were his absolute property and are not available to be proceeded since they are gifted to appellants - Respondent contends that so-called gifts in favour of appellants were much before final decree was passed and that gift deeds were executed only with a view to defeat claim for mesne profits

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

- In this case, undisputedly that by time of gift was made, no partition has taken place and it was only in year 1994 properties came to be partitioned by mets and bounds - Decree suffered by 2nd respondent was not only as regards partition but also one for payment of mesne profits - Every item of property that fell to share burdened with obligation to discharge mesne profits - Law permits a coparcener to transfer his undivided share or to allot transferred item towards share of transfer - Till such time, transferee does not acquire any absolute right not- withstanding legality of transfer - Right of 1st respondent to recover mesne profits was thwarted on one pretext or other - However, delay caused by appellants and respondent No.4 have in fact helped them on account of spurt of prices of land and that a small fraction of property that has gifted or settled upon them would clear liability towards mesne profits - Executing Court directed to conduct fresh auction of item of attached property to extent needed for recovery of amount of mesne profits - Appeals, dismissed. Kavuru Venkataramanamma Vs. Kavuru Narayanarao 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 402 = 2011(1) ALD 659 = 2011(2) ALT 217.

—-Order XXI, Rule 58 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.52 - Appellant herein is the claim petitioner - He is a third party to the suit as well as execution proceedings - Plaintiff filed suit against defendants for specific performance of an agreement to sell, executed by the defendant in respect of house site admeasuring 350 sq. Yards - During pendency of suit, defendant died - Thereafter, his wife and son were brought on record as his legal representatives and they are defendants 2 and 3 in suit - Thereafter, suit for specific performance was decreed - During pendency of suit, defendants 2 and 3 allegedly sold an extent of 143.40 square yards of house site wherein there is a built up area of 437 square feet, under registered sale deed to claim petitioner - Suit was decreed in favour of plaintiff and against defendant - Subsequently, plaintiff filed execution petition under Order XXI, Rule 34 CPC seeking execution of registered sale deed by defendants 2 and 3 - In said E.P. third party-claim petitioner filed a claim petition claiming that he purchased part of schedule property to an extent of 143.40 square yards with built up area of 437 square feet from defendants 2 and 3 - After making an enquiry into claim petition, executing Court dismissed claim petition as not maintainable on ground that there is no prior attachment of the schedule property - Against said order, third party-claim petitioner filed present appeal.

Held, crucial aspect in instant case is that in suit filed by appellant against first defendant obtained an injunction restraining him or his men or agents from alienating suit schedule property - The same was granted and subsequently it was also made absolute - After his death, defendants 2 and 3 were brought on record - Since defendants 2 and 3 were brought on record as legal representatives of first defendant, order of injunction restraining first defendant from alienating property also operates against defendants 2 and 3 - Therefore, defendants 2 and 3 in violation of order of injunction, sold part of scheduled property to appellant-third party - Thus, third party-appellant is purchaser pendente lite but not absolute owner of property in his own right.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Defendants 2 and 3 adopted written statement filed by first defendant but they did not bring it to notice of trial Court that pending suit they sold the property to appellant - Appellant also did not get himself impleaded as a party in suit by making an appropriate application - Even though appellant is not a party to suit, he is bound by decree passed by trial Court by virtue of provisions of Section 52 of Transfer of Property Act - Therefore, he cannot set up an independent right in schedule property and file a claim petition taking objection to execution of registered sale deed in terms of decree and judgment passed by trial Court - Rule 102 of Order XXI of CPC lays down that a purchaser of suit property during pendency of litigation cannot resist possession - Therefore, as rightly held by executing Court, execution application is not maintainable - Consequently, the order passed in E.A. is hereby confirmed and appeal is dismissed without any order as to costs. Shaik Afzal Vs. Mohd.Amjad Ali 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 295 = 2016(5) ALD 299.

—Or.21, Rule 58 & Or.38, Rule 10 - DHr brought Schedule properties for sale in execution of decree obtained against JDr/2nd respondent - Executing Court dismissed E.A filed by appellant/purchaser under Or.21, Rule 58 for raising attachment holding that Court gave finding that appellant failed to prove sale transaction and payment of consideration and that sale without consideration is not binding on DHr - District Judge confirmed order of trial Court - Appellant/purchaser contends that Courts below are not justified in going into validity of proceedings in specific performance suit and attachment before judgment of schedule property does not affect rights of purchaser existing prior to such attachment and therefore, schedule property cannot be sold - Or.38, Rule 10 - Rule would show that if person acquires right under a valid document/ transaction prior to attachment before judgment, rights of such person are not affected if such person is not a party to suit - If person having rights under prior transaction obtains in decree, subsequent attachment of property does not bar execution of any decree obtained by such person - In this case, 2nd respondent executed registered agreement of sale in favour of appellant 7 months prior to filing of suit by DHr - Therefore, rights of appellant are not in any way affected by said attachment, that 2nd respondent executed agreement of sale which is a sham and collusive - Admittedly appellant filed specific performance suit and same was decreed and Court also executed sale deed in favour of appellant - Effect of accepting submission of 1st respondent would be to sit in appeal over judgment in suit for specific performance - When 2nd respondent did not come forward to give evidence, it would not be safe to assume or infer that agreement has been accepted by Court in specific performance suit is sham and collusive - Both Court below failed to appreciate law correctly and also failed in applying correct law to admitted facts - 2nd appeal allowed. Gopisetti Venkata Lakshmi Narasimharao Vs. Sri Satya Financial Services 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 108.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rules 58, 90 and Or.21 Rule 66(2) - Petitioners/JDrs contend that when part of petition schedule property is enough to satisfy decree which was put to execution, executing Court committed material irregularity by not setting apart property for sale to satisfy decretal amount - On said grounds petitioners sought to set aside sale which was acceded to by executing Court as well as 1st appellate Court - In this case, petitioner further contends that 3rd petitioner who is owner of property sustained substantial injury due to fraud played by decree holder in not disclosing actual price of land and therefore both Courts below are justified in setting aside sale as it is vitiated by material irregularity and fraud played by decree holder - While conducting auction sale in execution of decree, Court is under a duty to follow mandatory requirements contained under Or.21, Rules 64 & 66 of CPC - Failure on part of Court renders same void ab initio Provisions under Or.21, Rules 64 & 66 do not confer any discretion in Court, they are mandatory, and Court cannot sell more than such extent of property which is enough to satisfy decree - In this case, according to petitioners, value of Ac.1 of land in vicinity of petition schedule land in their village was Rs.50,000 at relevant time and even Ac.1 of land is sufficient to satisfy decree which was put to execution - Admittedly decretal amount as per sale warrant is Rs.27,211/- - But execution Court without setting apart amount of which is sufficient to satisfy decree sold entire extent of Ac.9.72 cents of petition schedule land for a paltry sum of Rs.1,10,000/ and that amount for which entire land was sold is very very low - It is obligatory on part of execution Court to find out as to what extent of petition schedule land is enough to satisfy amount due under decree - But in this case, it does not appear that any such exercise has been done by execution Court - Auction sale conducted by Court is totally vitiated and is liable to be set aside - Latches on part of petitioners/JDRs is inconsequential because execution Court failed to observe its statutory duty - Concurrent findings recorded by Courts below confirmed - Appeals, dismissed. Akula Veerraju Vs. Karumuru Rukmabai, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 354 = 2011(3) ALD 581.

—Or.21, Rule 58F, Sec.47 r/w Sec.151 - Mortgage of Property with Banker - Default of loan amount by mortgagor - Suit filed by Plaintiff/Bank - Plaintiff/Bank has right to foreclose - E.P. filed by Bank against the mortgagor - Subsequent Purchaser of the property filed claim petition - Trial Court dismissed application - Appeal filed by Claim Petitioner allowed by First Appellate Court - Second Appeal by the Plaintiff/ Bank/Mortgagee against the Orders of First Appellate Court - Maintainability of claim petition by the subsequent purchaser in a mortgage suit - Held, no claim petition u/ Sec.47 or u/Order 21, Rule 58 of C.P.C. would lie and be maintainable in an execution taken out in a suit raised on a mortgage - Transfer of Property Act – Mortgage - What mortgagee gets is not the legal ownership of the property but merely an interest in immovable property - Right to redeem remains with the debtor - A mortgage shall always be redeemable and a mortgagor's right to redeem shall neither be taken away nor can be limited by any contract between parties - C.P.C Sec.47 or u/Order XXI, Rule 58 - Failure to make a person interested in equity of redemption a party to the mortgage suit is not fatal. Indian Bank, Nidadavole Vs. Nallam Veera Swamt 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 266

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rules 58 & 59 - Revision petitioner being aggrieved by grant of stay of delivery of E.P. schedule property pending in E.A., filed present C.R.P. - Held, executing Court prima facie has committed an illegality in entertaining E.As' is pending for delivery of possession - Order impugned is erroneous and unsustainable - Once claim petition is not maintainable in law, question of granting stay of delivery of possession does not arise - Hence, the order impugned is set aside and C.R.P. allowed - Revision petitioner is given liberty to bring to notice of executing Court observations on maintainability of E.A. and obtain appropriate orders - With above observation, C.R.P. is allowed. E.Aruna Vs. Vemala Sreenu 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 57 = 2015(5) ALD 676 = 2015(6) ALT 214.

——Or.21, Rule 64 & Or.21, Rule 89 – LIMITATION ACT, Art.127 – Revision petitioners making claim over suit schedule property and seeking stay of further proceedings on E.A – Applications filed by Revision Petitioner are dismissed for default – Applications to restore are pending before lower Court – Thereafter, Revision Petitioner filed another E.A. in lower Court, seeking permission for depositing decretal amount and same was dismissed – Hence present Revision Petition filed challenging the same.

High Court directed petitioners to deposit entire E.P amount and petitioners complied with said directions and deposited entire E.P amount.

Revision filed by petitioners for seeking permission of Court to pay decretal amount and other expenses to decree holder towards full satisfaction of decree and to raise attachment and to set aside sale conducted in E.P.

3rd respondent auction purchaser contends that he is a bona fide purchaser of E.P schedule property and petitioners having knowledge about sale of property, no steps were taken within time by complying with provisions under Or.21, Rules 89 & 92 of C.P.C.

High Court held petitioners while filing earlier petition under Or.21, Rule 89 did not deposit any amount – In view of settled law such Applications are not maintainable – Court further held it does not debar petitioners from filing instant Application seeking permission of the Court to deposit the amount dehors the provisions of Or.21, Rule 89 or 92 – In such Application petitioners can raise invalidity of sale and it is duty of Court to examine that issue under Or.21, Rule 64 – That right is available to the petitioners as sale was not confirmed in favour of auction purchaser and right of auction purchaser to take back his amount is protected.

Impugned order of E.A is set aside and Application is remanded to the lower Court to consider issue relating to Or.21, Rule 64 of C.P.C. Kamireddy Sumathi Vs. C.Mallikarjuna Reddy 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 205 = 2016(3) ALD 311.

—-Or.21, Rules 64,89 to 93 - Revision petitioners are third parties to suit filed by plaintiff against defendant for recovery of money - The suit was decreed in favour of plaintiff - Thereafter, plaintiff filed E.P. for sale of petition schedule property for realisation of decree amount and property was sold in public auction - Questioning public auction, petitioners/third parties to suit but for claiming as vendees from judgment debtor filed E.A.SR. in E.A. under Order XXI Rule 90 CPC to set aside auction on grounds of irregularity in conducting sale for entire property, instead of sufficient portion therein and said petition since rejected holding not maintainable, present revision is filed impugning same.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, right of auction purchaser arises only on confirmation of sale and till then his right is nebulous and has only a right to consider for confirmation of sale as held in DESH BANDU GUPTA by Apex Court - In this case auction purchaser is no other than decree holder and not even a third party purchaser. - Thereby order impugned in revision is unsustainable and revision is accordingly liable to be allowed to remit back matter to lower Court for fresh disposal on merits by treating application only under Order XXI Rule 64 and Order XXI Rule 97 CPC as per decisions and also of the other expressions of the Apex Court in PORAHMDEO CHOWDARY VS. RISHIKESH PRASAD JAISWAL on principle that right of third party to decree can be even before dispossession to raise claims for adjudication from which a decree to be passed and same is appellable by referring to the earlier expressions in BANWAR LAL VS. SATYANARAYANAN AND BABULAL VS. RAJ KUMAR.

Accordingly and in the result, revision petition is allowed by setting aside impugned order of lower Court and by remanding back same to lower Court for fresh disposal on merits under Order XXI Rule 64 & 97 CPC. Bangaru Krishnarjuna Vs. Dasari Atchutamba 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 265.

—Or.21, Rules 66, 67, 89 & 90 and Or.34, Rule 5 - 1st respondent filed suit against petitioner for redumption of mortgage - Trial Court passed final decree - Since petitioner failed to pay amount, respondent filed EP for sale of mortgaged property - E.A. filed by petitioener to adjourned sale proceedings was dismissed and property brought to sale and 2nd respondent emerged as highest bidder for Rs.13 lakhs - Executing Court confirmed sale and dismissed petition to set aside sale - Hence present revision - Petitioner contends that material irregularity had crept into sale, since value of property mentioned by petitioner not reflected in proclamation of sale or notification and that stipulation of value furnished by JDR in sale proclamation is mandatory under Rule 66 of Or.21 CPC and it applies to State of A.P and that executing Court has choosen to permit notification to be published in a totally unknown news paper and since JDR deposited decretal amount, in compliance with interim direction issued by Court and same need to be treated as a step under Rule 5, Or.34 CPC and in that view of matter, sale must be set aside - Respondents contend that petitioner did not file Application under Rule 89 of Or.21 and subsequent deposit by him particularly, in revision, cannot be taken into account for setting aside sale and that a revision cannot be said to be continuation of execution proceedings to enable petitioner to claim benefit under relevant rules of Or.34 CPC - It is important to note, second proviso to sub-rule (2) of Rule 66 mandates that proclamation shall include estimate, if any, given by either or both parties - Recognizing importance of value that parties furnish for property, High Court of A.P, added a clause after (e) in sub-rule (2) which runs as "value of property as stated (i) by decree holder and (ii) by the judgment debtor" - Once Rule make its mandatory that estimate or value furnished by JDR must be reflected in same proclamation, executing Court has no option, but to mention it without any further scrutiny - Executing Court negatived contention of petitioner as to value, namely Rs.25 lakhs through its order and mentioned it as Rs.13 lakhs - This itself is a clear violation of Rule 66(2) of Or.21 - Court did not verify that even estimation of Rs.13 lakhs ordered in its own proceedings as against Rs.25 lakhs furnished by petitioner; not furnished resulting a serious flaw and fatal defect in sale proclamation, at various stages - A sale effected in pursuance of such a proclamation cannot sustained in law - JDR in a suit for mortgage would have facility to seek annulment of sale, which is more liberal in nature, when compared to one available to a DHR in other suits under Rule 89 of Or.21 - In this case, It is true that amount was deposited after dismissal of appeal - Since an appeal can be filed against order passed in E.A, a revision filed against order passed in appeal, can certainly be treated as continuation of proceedings - Order of lower Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Patnam Subbalakshmamma Vs. Sunkugari Sreenivasa Redy, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 127 = 2011(3) ALD 619 = 2011(3) ALT 591 = AIR 2011(NOC) 298 (AP).

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rules 66 & 72-A and Sec.151 – "Mortgage decree" – Powers of Court to reduce upset price – Stated – Senior Civil Judge allowed Application filed by DHr/Finance Corporation to reduce upset price and reducing sale price to Rs.35 lakhs from Rs.50 lakhs - Petitioner/JDr contends that Court has no power to reduce and fix upset price – In this case, Amin fixed value at Rs.50 lakhs and certificate issued by Sub-Registrar clearly reveals that value of property is Rs.35 lakhs - Procedure contemplated by Or.21, Rule 72-A of Code is mandatory – It is no doubt true that at same time Or.21, Rule 66 may have to be followed – In case of mortgage decrees both provisions of Or.21, Rule 72-A and Or.21, Rule 66 may have to be harmoniously construed - Impugned order, set aside – Matter remitted to Senior Civil Judge to hear both parties again on aspect of valuation and pass appropriate orders. N.Prabhakara Naidu (Dr) Vs. Nellore Finance Corporation 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 328.

—Or.21, Rule 66 (2) and Order 21, Rule 64 and Or.26, Rule 19 and Or.43, Rule 1 - JDr filed petition on ground that upset price fixed by Executing Court is far below than market value of schedule property and executing Court not followed very spirit and object of Or. 21, Rule 64 - Application dismissed on ground that when upset price fixed at certain price no bidders have come forward and as such Court has no option except to conduct sale reducing upset price - Appellant/JDr contends that Or.21, Rule 64 was not followed and value of property as per Basic Value Register is not less than Rs.80 lakhs even according to DHr - Fixing upset price at Rs.50 lakhs is very low and subsequently at Rs.45 lakhs is illegal and it is a material irregularity so as to set aside sale and that there is an obligation imposed upon Court to follow Rule 64 of Or.21 - DHr contends that mere material irregularity by itself is not a ground to set aside sale, that when upset price was fixed at Rs.50 laksh, no body participated in auction and in those circumstances Court has no option except to reduce upset price - JDr can move an application to set aside sale under Or.21, Rule 90, CPC on two grounds of material irregularity or fraud in publishing or conduct sale - Any person adversely affected may apply to Court for setting aside sale on ground of material irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting sale - In this case, basis for fixing upset price at Rs.50 lakhs in first instances is not based upon any material on record any material on record- Simply because bidders have not come forward, same cannot and would not be a ground to reduce upset price far below value of Basic Value Registrar - Therefore, in these circumstances,it can be said it is a material irregularity in conducting sale - Even according to valuation given by DHr value of property is Rs.85 lakhs - Where as according to JDr value of property is Rs.95 lakhs - No reasons are assigned for fixing upset price far below value of property - In this case, executing Court has not exercised its discretion judiciously in fixing upset price and secondly procedure as contemplated under Or.21, Rule 64 has not been followed - Sale is set aside - CMA, allowed. C.Rayam babu Vs. B.K.L. Traders 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 201.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rules 84 & 85 and Or.47, Rule 1, r/w Sec.114 - Petitioner/DHR participated in auction sale after securing permission and deposited entire sale consideration and poundage, but did not deposit cost of non-judicial stamp papers within 15 days from date of sale - Executing Court dismissed E.A to enlarge time and also another E.A to review order - Petitioner contends that though rigor of Rule 85 may operate against sale consideration, executing Court has power to enlarge time for deposit of non-judicial stamps - Rule requires only deposit of sale consideration before expiry of 15 days from date of sale and admittedly petitioner deposited entire sale consideration on date of sale itself - From Rule 85, it is clear that not only balance of sale consideration but also amount required for general stamp for certificate under Rule 94 or amount required for such stamp shall be deposited before expiry of 15th day - Admittedly that amount was not deposited before stipulated time.In this case, petitioner wanted executing Court to review its order - Scope of review is very limited - It is only when a substantial omission on part of concerned Court in taking note of important question of fact, or a relevant principle of law, is alleged that there should be a possibility for Court to review its earlier order, even if different view is possible in superior Court, on facts of case, it cannot constitute a ground for review - CRP, dismissed. Dasarla Koteswaramma Vs. Alla Venkayamma 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 346 = 2009(5) ALD 237 = 2009(3) APLJ 122 = AIR 2009 AP 195 = 2009(6) ALT 249.

—Or.21, Rules 89 & 88 and Secs.148 & 151 - DHR obtained decree against JDRs and brought certain properties for sale - 1st respondent/auction purchaser purchased properties being highest bidder, deposited 1/4th of bid amount and subsequently 3/4th amount - Thereafter DHR/JDRs collided together and filed full satisfaction Memo - Auction purchaser filed Application for confirmation of sale and JDRs filed Application to set aside sale and have not deposited 5% of auction money as required for an Application under Or.21, Rule 89 of CPC; but auction purchaser has not deposited registration fees on Non-Judicial stamps and filed EA for extension of time for deposit of Non-Judicial stamps - Respondents 2 to 5 contend that amount was paid to DHR and matter was settled out side Court - There is no need for JDRs to deposit 5% purchase money as matter was settled out side court - In this case, evidently sale was confirmed - If that is to be so, even before required stamps was deposited, sale was confirmed which is not at all valid or proper - It is not known as to under what provision, such Application can be allowed by Court - Further more it is also to be mentioned that when specific mandatory provisions are provided in CPC, invoking all discretionary powers u/Sec.148 or 151 CPC does not arise - It is mandatory to auction purchaser to deposit entire balance of 3/4 sale consideration and also value of non-judicial stamps for engrossing sale certificate - In default of deposit of 3/4th sale consideration or default in deposit of amount required for purchase of stamps for sale certificate within 15 days as per State amendment under Or.21, Rule 85 CPC,sale is nullity and further steps have to be followed by Court - Extension of time is not valid - Failure to file Application for setting aside sale does not arise since it is duty of Court to order re sale - Order of lower Court suffers from infirmity - CRP, allowed. V.Vedanda Vyasulu Vs. K.Purushotam 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 196 = 2011(2) ALD 616 = 2011(2) ALT 599.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rules 89 & 92 - Suit for foreclosure of mortgage - Preliminary decree passed - Auction held in favour of 7th respondent as he emerged as highest bidder - Executing Court dismissing Application filed by Appellants/ purchasers of mortgaged property, under Or.21, Rules 89 & 92 to set aside auction sale, on ground that Clause (a) of Rule 89(1) not complied with - Or.21, Rule 89 - Principles governing mode of payment of decretal amount - Procedure - Culled out - Conditions to be complied with – Stated - If Or.21, Rule 89 is to be understood as one, operating with such stringency and rigor; as regards mode of deposit, no exception can be take to order under appeal - Two aspects become important; first is about mode of payment and second is about power of Court to correct deficiencies if any - Except stating that amounts mentioned in clauses (a) & (b) of Rule 89 (1) of Or.21 CPC; shall be deposited in Court, Rule does not stipulate any particular method of deposit - In instant case, entire amount was deposited - Objection raised by 7th respondent/auction purchaser, was only as to mode of payment - Payment of decretal amount made by appellants through demand draft accords with Rule 1 and thereby satisfies Rule 89 (1)(b) of Or.21 - Though Rule 89 of Or.21 may appear to be an independent provision, a perusal of Rule 92 makes it clear that, both provisions would operate in tandem - In this case, executing Court did not raise any objection when appellants tendered amount covered by Rule 89()

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

(b) through demand draft - Had tendering or depositing of amount been defective, application could have been returned, in which event, appellants would have corrected it and represented Application after compliance or filed a fresh one within period of limitation - Executing Court is conferred with power to correct deficiencies, if any, in application filed under Rule 89, particularly as regards method and adequacy of deposit - Impugned order, set aside - Application filed by appellant, allowed - 7th respondent is at liberty to withdraw 5% of amount deposited by appellants and it is open to DHR to withdraw amount paid towards decretal amount. M.Swarna Vs.State Bank of India 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 24 = 2009(5) ALD 755 = 2009(5) ALT 596.

—Or.21, Rule 90, r/w Secs.47 and 151 - 1st respondent/plaintiff filed suit against 5th respondent and obtained decree and filed EP and got E.P schedule property sold on28-10-1998 which was confirmed on 10-10-2004 - Petitioner, wife of 1st respondent filed E.A to set aside sale of property and confirmation on ground of committing irregularities in conducting sale - Petitioner contends that 1st respondent suppressed payment of amounts by 5th respondent filed E.P and brought property of 5th respondent for sale by furnishing low price and managed to kncok down property accordingly by virtue of fraud played by 1st respondent and that no publicity was given for sale of property and that there are two storied RCC buildings in E.P schedule but it is described as tiled house and thereby sale of property is to be set aside - Respondents 1,3 & 4 claim that petition was barred by limitation and that number of similar petitions were filed by members of petitioner family which were dismissed by Courts below and that no irregularities were committed in respect of sale of property and that 5th respondent is no other than husband of petitioner filed E.A under Or.21, Rule 90 and Sec.47 to set aside sale and said E.A is filed to drag on proceedings only and further plead to dismiss claim petition - Petitioner contends that by virtue of Sec.47 CPC all questions arising between parties in suit in which decree was passed or their representatives and relating to execution, discharge or satisfaction of decree, shall be determined by Court executing decree and not by separate suit by reason of which petitioner has got every right to question irregularities in conducting sale and that question of actual right of petitioner in property need not be gone into and on other hand by virtue of Or.21, Rule 90, any person who has got some interest in property can also question sale on ground of material irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting sale of property - Respondents contend that in order to question sale of property petitioner should have right in property but as established she got no right in property by reason of which she got no locus standi to file claim petition – Sec.47 CPC does not deal with question of material irregularity or fraud in conducting sale where as that aspect is to be dealt with under Or.21, Rule 90 CPC only - On other hand if grounds alleged do not lead to matters in publishing or conducting sale but are anterior to, or subsequent to sale corresponding application is out side purview of Or.21, Rule 90 CPC and comes within purview of Sec.47 CPC and for purpose of finding out whether particular application comes under Or.21, Rule 90 or Sec.47

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

CPC, substance of Application must be taken into consideration - Or.21, Rule 90(2) CPC clearly postulates that question of sale of property can be raised by a person who got actual interest in property - Hence petition not maintainable - In this case, petitioner is claiming shelter u/Sec.47 CPC and other way is claiming shelter under Or.21, Rule 90 - With regard to question of irregularity or illegality in publishing and conducting sale of property in question clearly comes within purview of Or.21, Rule 90, where as it does not come within purview of other provision - When Sec.47 speaks of execution of decree certainly Or.21, Rule 90 deals with a different aspect as it deals with question of setting aside sale of property on grounds of illegality and irregularity in conducting sale - Therefore question on hand is to be decided on question of Application of Or.21, Rule 90 - In this case, circumstances make it very clear that auction purchaser suffered a lot to enjoy fruits of sale held in 1998 - Family members of petitioner and also petitioner successfully thwarted his endeavour to achieve his object having filed various petitions and thereby placing necessary hurdles - CRP dismissed with exemplary costs of Rs.l lakh payable by petitioner to 3rd respondent/ auction purchaser in pursuing frivolous litigation. Amalakanti Lakshmi Saroja Vs. Chaluvadhi Raghavamma 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 295 = 2013(3) ALD 554 = 2013(6) ALT 435.

—Or.21, Rule 90 r/w Sec.47 and Or.21, Rule 67 - 1st Respondent filed suit against appellant Firm for recovery of certain amount and obtained decree - E.P filed and attachment obtained against 'A' to 'E' Schedule properties and 'B' & 'C' properties belonging to Firm brought to sale - Executing Court dismissed E.A filed by appellant/ JDR under Or.21, Rule 90 r/w Sec.47 to set aside sale - Appellant contends that determination of market value of property is an important step in execution proceedings and same was observed in breach and that Rule 67 makes it obligatory on part of executing Court to ensure that sale proclamation is given adequate publicity and insists that publication be made in locality in which property is situated - Respondents contend that appellant did not raise any objection before sale took place and that Rule 90 disables JDR from challenging sale, in case concerned objections were not raised at relevant point of time - Rule 67(2) signifies importance of participation of JDR and DHR in furnishing estimate of value of property - In this case, Executing Court valued property on its own accord - Not even a single step contemplated under Rule 66 was followed - Neither parties were issued notice, nor figures were collected from any authenticated and recognized source - Procedure not complied for fixing value - However, a serious lapse on part of Executing Court in determination of market value cannot be condoned - Rule 90 of Or.21 CPC provides for setting aside sale of immovable properties in execution, if sale is vitiated by any irregularity or fraud - Rule is enacted to protect interests of JDRs, where an immovable property is brought to sale by playing fraud on Court, or where entire proceedings suffer from any irregularity - Plea of waiver, estoppel and other related principles against appellant cannot be applied to cases where grievance is as to manner in which proclamation is drawn and about stages subsequent thereto - Sale conducted by Executing Court, set aside - CMA, allowed. Chirravuri Veerabhadra Rao Vs. State Bank of India, Rajahmundry 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 52.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 90, r/w Secs.47 & 151 and Or.21, Rule 66 & 64 - Suit filed on basis of promissory note - Junior Civil Judge decreed suit - E.P. filed by 2nd respondent/ DHr to bring schedule properties to sale to recover amount of Rs.18,449/- as per decree - Items 1,2 &3 properties were brought to sale in E.P. - Objections filed by JDR were over- ruled by executing Court and sale papers and E.C in respect of E.P. Schedules were filed and sale notice ordered along with proclanation Schedule - JDR set ex parte as he has not filed any counter - Sale held for item no.1 of E.P schedule and petitioner became highest bidder for amount of Rs.17,700/- out of five bidders - On same day sale of item no.3 also held and 5th respondent became highest bidder for said itme for amount of Rs.24,000/- - JDR/1st respondent filed E.A under Or.21, Rule 90 r/w Sec.47 to set aside sale alleging that there was no attachment of properties brought to sale as contemplated under law and that DHR did not take notice as contempled under Or.21, Rule 66 and there was no publication as contemplate under law and that there was no assessment and fixation of value by Court and at time of sale value of properties was easily around Rs.70,000/- per acre and that properties were sold for meager amount and that all bidders arranged by DHR and bids were collusive – Junior civil Judge dismissed E.A holding that there was no challenge by 1st respondent/JDR to attachment of E.P schedule properties and there is no material irreguarity resulting in substantial injury to JDR - JDR further contends that DHR realized Rs.17,700/- throgh auction sale of item no.1 of E.P schedule property against sale warrant amoun of Rs.18,449.95 paise only a meager amount of Rs.750/- is left to be recovered - 1st respondent/JDR filed CMA relying upon Or.21, Rule 64, before Senior Civil Judge contending that item 1 alone would have been sufficient to satisfy entire decretal amount and there was no necessity to auction entire item 3 and without applying its mind executing Court sold item 1 and 3 in their entirety - Senior Civil Judge passed order holding that when Rs.24,000/ - was realised in auction on sale of itme 3 and only Rs.18,449.95 is E.P amount, trial Court would not have sold item no.1 for 17,700/- and therefore set aside sale of itme no.1 of E.P schedule property - Challenging same petitioner auction, purchaser of item 1 of E.P schedule property filed present revision - When more than one item is mentioned in E.P Schedule for sale how executing Court should go about sale and select priority among items mentioned in Schedule for sale - A common sense approach is to be adopted by executing Court and no universal rule as to sequence to be followed can be laid down - In such cases it is duty of executing Court to arrive at value of each item chronologically and sell them in seriatim, if sale of earlier item is not sufficient to satisfy deceree - In present case, JDR sought Application of Or.21, Rule 64 CPC in regard to sale of item 3 - Executing Court having sold item 1 for Rs.17,700 to petitioner, keeping in view mortgages in respect of items 1,2,3 should have applied its mind and then decide whether item 2 should be sold or item 3 should be sold totally in part - This exercise does not appear to have been done by executing Court at all - Judgment of Sr.Civil Judge in CMA and judgment of Jr.Civil Judge in E.A are set aside - Sale of item 1 of E.P schedule to petitioner confirmed - Sale of item 3 to 5th respondent, set aside - Jr.Civil Judge directed to consider in light of Or.21, Rule 64 CPC, whether item 2 or part or whole of item 3 of E.P Shcedule should be sold to recover balance E.P amount of Rs.750/- to satisfy decree. Malempati Harinarayana Vs. Vankayalapati Subba Rao 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 175 = 2013(3) ALD 525 = 2013(2) ALT 520.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 90 & Or.21, Rule 85 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.254 - Irregularity in conducting sale - Executing Court allowed E.A filed under Or.21, Rule 90 r/w Sec.151 to set aside sale on ground that auction purchaser failed to deposit stamp duty amount within stipulated period - High Court allowed revision and remanded matter to executing Court to dispose of EA after giving opportunity to both parties - Executing Court heard both parties afresh and allowed application filed by JDR and set aside sale - Hence revision by auction purchaser - Petitioner/auction purchaser contends that non-deposit of stamp duty does not constitute a material irregularity in conducting sale and therefore, impugned order liable to be set aside and that in view of amendment to CPC 1976, it is not mandatory on part of auction purchaser to deposit amount required for stamp duty amount within 15 days of date of auction and what is required to be deposited within 15 days is only full amount of purchase money - Deposit of stamp amount is subsequent to conduct of sale - Failure to deposit stamp amount does not constitute a material irregularity in conducting sale - Executing Court thoroughly misread Or.21, Rule 90 in recording finding that non-payment of stamp duty constitutes a material irregularity - Application filed by 1st respondent/JDR under Or.21, Rule90, stands dismissed - CRP, allowed. G.Venkata Reddy Vs. B. Venkata Reddy 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 75.

—Or.21, Rules 95, 97,98, 99, 101 & 103 - LIMITATION ACT, Art.134 - Suit filed by 2nd respondent against 1st respondent for recovery of certain amount - Decreed - In execution proceedings an item of immovable property got attached and brought to sale - Appellant emerged as highest bidder and sale confirmed in his favour - E.A. filed under Rules 95 of Or.21 for delivery of possession of E.P schedule property - 1st respondent/JDR raised objection contending that since E.A filed beyond period of limitation stipulated under Art.134 of Schedule to Limitation Act, same is not maintainable - Executing Court overruled objection and allowed E.A - High Court disposed of Revision, leaving it open to 1st respondent to persue remedy of appeal - Lower appellate Court allowed appeal - Appellant contends that appeal not maintainable at all, since it is presented against order passed in Application filed under Rule 95 Or.21 and in Revision High Court has simply obsered that 1st respondent can persue remedies in accordance with law and said observation cannot be taken as conferring jurisdiction upon lower appellate Court and that Application for possession of property sold in execution of decree can be filed within one year from date of sale certificate - 1st respondent contends that limitation for filing Application for delivery of possession has to be reckoned from date on which sale was confirmed and that E.A filed by appellant was clearly barred by limitation - In this case, Order in I.A is nothing but adjudication referrable Rule 98 and thereby it culminates in a decree referable to Rule 100 of Or.21 CPC and that being case, appeal filed by 1st respondent is certainly maintainable and lower appellate Court has taken correct view of matter - Sale in instant case, became absolute on 21-4-2008 E.A for delivery of possesion was filed in 2012 and it is clearly beyond time stipulated under Art.134 - Appellant sought to overcome objection by stating that sale certificate was issued to him only on 3-2-2012 and hardly within 10 days from that date he filed E.A. - However, date of sale certificate becames hardly of any significane in contest of calculating limitation and starting point is date of confirmation of sale and that lower appellate Court has taken note of judgment of Supreme Court - Starting point for limitation is date of confirmation i.e., when sale became absolute - Lower Appellate Court has taken correct view of matter - Second Appeal dismissed accordingly. Yakkala Mohana Rao Vs Shaik Hussain 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 279 = 2014(2) ALD 105 = 2014(1) ALT 258.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rule 97 - Once a suit is numbered by a court of competent jurisdiction, the proceedings therein would terminate only after trial, unless it was dismissed for default or an ex parte decree is passed - Rejection of a plaint is an extraordinary facility, created in favour of a defendant subject to his establishing ingredients of Rule 11 of Order VII CPC - Plaint, or for that matter, a claim petition in an E.P., cannot be rejected on ground that it is devoid of merits - Conclusions on such grounds can be arrived at only after the trial. T.N.V. Ravi Kumar Vs. Habeeb Aqeel Bin Mohd. Jamal Allail 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 318 —-Or.21, Rules 99 &101 and Secs. 47 & 151 - “For the purpose of considering an application under Order XXI Rules 99 and 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure what was required to be considered was as to whether the applicant herein claimed a right independent of the judgment-debtor or not - A person claiming through or under the judgment-debtor may be dispossessed in execution of a decree passed against the judgment-debtor but not when he is in possession of the premises in question in his own independent right or otherwise” - In view of this principle there is no difficulty whatsoever in holding that the application moved by the petitioner herein under Rule 99 Order XXI CPC is certainly maintainable - May be the mentioning of Section 47 CPC by the petitioner herein is inappropriate - The petitioner being a third party, he cannot maintain any application under Section 47 CPC - In this view of the matter, the order passed by the learned Junior Civil Judge, is not sustainable - It is accordingly set aside - The E.A. is restored and now the court shall proceed to consider the same on merits subject to all such objections that might be raised on merits as well as the objection that the application is barred by limitation shall be considered independently and uninfluenced in any manner by the observations made herein above - The civil revision petition is accordingly allowed. Kottu Veera Venkata Satyanarayana Vs. Padala Ramanna Dora 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 295 = 2015(3) ALD 622 = 2015(2) ALT 750.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.21, Rules 102, 106 & 29 & Or.39, Rules 1 and 2 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for declaration of title and for recovery of possession - Suit decreed ex parte after examining plaintiff and his witnesses - Appellant/defendant subsequently filed suit asserting that she purchased suit property and that respondent, wrongfully and illegally filed suit and that decree is illegal inexecutable and null and void and was obtained suppressing real facts - Application filed by appellant/plaintiff for injunction was rejected - Executing Court allowed Application filed by appellant and stayed further proceedings - High Court set aside order of executing Court - Appellant contends that where a substantive suit is filed by JDR against DHR and execution proceedings are pending before Court, till suit is finally decided, execution proceedings should not be allowed to continue further resulting in virtual dismissal of suit - Respondents contend that doctrine of lis pendens applies to said sale and Rule 102 of Or.21 immediately gets attracted and therefore appeal deserves to be dismissed - A transferee from JDR is presumed to be aware of proceedings before Court of law and he should be careful before he purchases property which is subject matter of litigation - If unfair, inequitable or undeserved protection is afforded to a transferee pendente lite, a decree holder will never be able to realize fruits of his decree - Fact that purchaser of property during pendency of proceedings had no knowledge about suit, appeal or other proceeding is wholly immaterial and he/she cannot resist execution of decree on that ground - High Court also right in observing that if appellant succeeds in suit and decree is passed in her favour she can take appropriate proceedings in accordance with law and apply for restitution - Order passed by High Court - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Usha Sinha Vs. Dina Ram 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 213.

—Or.21, Rules 103, 106, 95, 96, 98 & 35 & Sec.151 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Suit for specific performance of agreement of sale - Decreed ex parte directing defendant to execute sale deed and put plaintiff in possession - Since defendant failed to execute sale deed E.P filed - E.P also decreed ex parte and JDR directed to deliver possession to DHR - At that stage JDR filed I.A to set aside ex parte decree and EA and set aside ex parte order in E.P - In meanwhile executing Court allowing Application filed by DHR seeking police aid for delivery of possession of suit property - JDR contends that lower Court not justified in allowing E.A and granting police aid for taking delivery of possession while keeping Applications to set aside ex parte decree in suit as well as ex parte order in E.P pending - Respondent/DHR contends that order passed in exercise of jurisdiction under Or.21, R.98 shall be deemed to be a decree as per Rule 103 of Or.21 and therefore only regular Appeal can be maintained but not Revision - In this case admittedly JDR/ petitioner is in possession and DHR alleged that she obstructed delivery of possession - Court is empowered to direct removal of such obstruction under sub-rule (3) of R.35 of Or.21 and it cannot be confused with power conferred under Rules 95 to 98 - Powers conferred on executing Court under R.35 (3) and Rules 95 to 98 of Or.21 are quite different from each other governing two different situations - Hence contention of respondent/DHR untenable - LIMITATION - Contention of DHR that E.A to set aside ex parte order in E.P is barred by limitation since same filed beyond 30 days prescribed under Or.21, R.106 (3) - In case of ex parte order where notice not duly served, Application can be made within 30 days from date of knowledge - Whether said plea is sustainable is subject matter of enquiry that may be conducted in EA on basis of evidence that may be produced by parties and at this stage, it cannot be concluded that Application is barred by limitation - Lower Court ought not to have allowed E.A filed by DHR for police aid since said order virtually rendered Applications to set aside ex parte decree in suit and ex parte order in E.P infructuous - - Impugned order, set aside - Lower Court directed to consider and dispose of Applications filed by petitioner to said the ex parte decree in suit and ex parte order in E.P. G.Kethamma Vs. Allam Keshava Raju 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.)115 = 2008(3) ALD 15 = 2007(3) APLJ 266.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or,21, Rules 106(4), 105(3) & Sec.122 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Suit filed for specific performance of agreement of sale - Decreed - Plaintiff/DHR filed EP for execution of decree - JDR set ex parte since failed to appear - JDR filing petition to set aside ex parte order along with E.A u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act to condone delay of 246 days - Executing Court dismissed petition holding that Sec.5 of Limitation Act not applicable to execution proceeding under Or.21 of CPC - Petitioner/JDR contends that in view of sub-rule (4) of Rule 106 of Or.21 CPC, provisions of Sec.5 of Limitation Act are applicable to execution proceedings - On combined reading of Rule 105 & 106 of Or.21, it is clear that said provisions are applicable to an Application under any of Rules of Or.21 - Though under Rule 106 (3) limitation prescribed for making such Application is 30 days, as per sub-rule(4) of Rule 106 as inserted by amendment made by High Court of A.P provisions of Sec.5 of Limitation Act are made applicable to applications under Rule 106(1) - Having regard to express provisions of sub-rule (4) of Rule 106 as inserted by A.P Amendment, it is clear that executing Court is empowered to entertain Application filed u/Sec.5 of Limitation Act to condone delay in filing application to set aside ex parte orders under Rule 105 of Or.21 CPC - Order of lower Court - Erroneous - Hence set aside. Habeeba Babu Vs. B.Chowdesh 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 389.

—-Order 21-A , Rule 84, and Clause 2 of Rule 90, Order XXI - GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, Sec.10 - Both these cases arise out of the same execution proceedings between the same parties and hence are heard together - The J.D.R. No.1 is the appellant in this Civil Miscellaneous Appeal, which is preferred aggrieved by the orders passed by the Senior Civil Judge, on 02.06.2015 in EA(SR).No.6238 of 2015 in E.P.No.207 of 2014 - The suit O.S.No.623 of 2012 was instituted for recovery of a sum together with interest at 2.5% per month - That suit was decreed on 22.08.2014 directing the two defendants therein to pay, jointly and severally, a sum of Rs.9,58,650/- with interest - For executing this decree dated 22.08.2014, E.P.No.207 of 2014 was filed on 20.10.2014 before the Principal Senior Civil Judge's Court - It is also appropriate to notice that during the pendency of the civil suit, immovable property of the appellant

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

herein a flat located Hyderabad was attached prior to the judgment as per the orders passed in I.A.No.1086 of 2012 on 03.10.2013 - It is that immovable property, which was brought to sale on 02.04.2015 by the executing Court - It is to set aside the said sale that took place on 02.04.2015, the J.D.R. filed petition EA(SR).No.6238 of 2015 - Three objections have been raised mainly in support of the plea that the sale that was conducted on 02.04.2015 is vitiated and consequently it has to be set aside - The 1st objection is that upset price has been fixed at Rs.13,20,000/- for 880 Sq.Feet flat at Saroornagar, Hyderabad wholly based upon the valuation certificate issued by the Sub-Registrar's office, instead of ascertaining its market value in the locality - It is the claim of the J.D.R. that the market value of the flat is anywhere between Rs.22,00,000/- to Rs.25,00,000/- - The next objection was that the Execution Petition has been directly filed before the Principal Senior Civil Judge's Court at Ranga Reddy District without the decree passed by the XVII Additional Senior Civil Judge, City Civil Court, Hyderabad being transferred and finally it was urged that the sale by way of public auction took place on 02.04.2015, whereas the auction purchaser has deposited the 1/4 th of the bid amount not immediately but on 04.04.2015 and hence the sale is liable to be set aside and the property is liable to be resold - Held, it is not every irregularity, which can fetch a satisfaction for the Court to set aside the sale conducted - The irregularity must be of such a grave nature and magnitude that it should result in causing substantial injury to the interest of the Judgment Debtor - In the instant case, no such substantial injury suffered by the J.D.R. was either urged or demonstrated - Hence, this Court not find any merit in the appeal preferred by the Judgment Debtor and hence it deserves to be dismissed - The Civil Revision Petition is preferred against the order passed on 10.02.2015 by the Executing Court in E.P.No.207 of 2014 - The E.P.No.207 of 2014 is filed under Rules 64 and 66, Order XXI CPC. The objection was about the maintainability of the Execution Petition on the ground that the decree was passed by the XVII Additional Senior Civil Judge, City Civil Court, Hyderabad and without transferring the same, no execution petition can be filed directly before the Court at Ranga Reddy District - That objection was rejected as the assertion was factually incorrect - The decree was in fact transferred by the XVII Additional Senior Civil Judge, City Civil Court, Hyderabad to Ranga Reddy District and received in the District Court, Ranga Reddy on 18.10.2014, whereas the Execution Petition was filed thereafter on 20.10.2014. The next objection raised by the J.D.R. was that he preferred an appeal in ASSR.No.12082 of 2014 and the same is pending - Except mentioning that an appeal was preferred, the J.D.R. could not furnish either the regular number assigned to such an appeal or as to the fate of any stay application moved therein - Therefore, the Executing Court found no impediment in proceeding with the execution of the decree - Since both the objections raised by the J.D.R. against the maintainability of the Execution Petition are without any merit, rightly, the Executing Court has passed orders on 10.02.2015 rejecting the objections of the J.D.R. and directing the D.H.R. to file the estimated value of the attached immovable property, for proclamation of sale thereof to be drawn - Hence Court do not find any merit in the revision either and hence it also deserves to be dismissed - Accordingly, the Civil Miscellaneous Appeal and Civil Revision Petition stand dismissed. Ch.Mahender Vs. D.Venkat Reddy 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 212

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.22, R.4 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for declaration of title - During pendency of suit one of defendants died and among his legal represen-tatives, one daughter not brought on record - Pursuant to directions of High Court daughter is permitted to come on record as D8 and filed her written statement - Trial Court directed defendants to restrict themselves relating to right of newly impleaded LR over suit property for purpose of leading evidence - Contention that after remand and after framing additional issues appellant is entitled to lead fresh evidence - No need to record evidence afresh in respect of all issues and direction was to permit daughter to come on record and file her written statement and decide matter based on her claim as well as other materials which are on record - After remand and after impleadment of daughter as 8th defendant plaintiff confined himself to case as against D8, daughter - In view of same High Court rightly observed that defendants cannot be permitted to lead evidence afresh on other issues - Orders of trial Court and High Court directing first defendant to confine himself to defence taken in written statement of 8th defendant - Justified. K.S.Krishna Sarma Vs. Kifayat Ali 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 37 = 2008(2) ALD 61(SC) = AIR 2008 SC 1337 = 2008 AIR SCW 754 = 2008(1) Supreme 59.

—Or.22, Rule 4 - Suit for specific performance of agreement of sale in respect of Cinema Theatre and vacant site - Partly decreed - Defendants, mother of petitioners are directed to return sale consideration with interest - 1st respondent filed EP for execution of decree and attachment of Theatre - EP dismissed for non payment of Batta and service of notice on 4th JDR (mother of petitioners) - Executing Court allowed E.A filed by DHR to bring petitioners as legal representatives of 4th JDR - Petitioner contends that when EP dismissed against 4th JDR, and E.P not pending as against 4th JDR and therefore same having become final petitioners cannot be brought on record as LRs of 4th JDR - Petitioners further contend that E.P abated as against 4th JDR and therefore without therebeing Application to set aside abatement and Application to condone delay, petitioners cannot be brought on record as LRs of deceased 4th JDR - 1st respondent/DHR contends that as per Sec.50, r/w Or.22, Rule 4 of CPC, EP can be proceeded with against legal representatives of deceased - Plain reading ofSec.50 would show that it is always competent to executing Court to execute decree against LRs of deceased either suo moto or on application, provided that JDR died before decree has been fully satisfied - Therefore, when JDR dies before decree has been fully satisfied, Court can always proceed against LRs of deceased - As per Sec.50 (2) it shall be duty of LRs to satisfy decree either fully or to effect of property of deceased which has come to his hand - CRP is misconceived and dismissed. Thota Kodanda Raja Rao Vs.Vardhineedi Bhimeswara Rao, 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 286.

—Or.22, Rule 4 - Petitioner junior paternal uncle, Kistanna having satisfied his services executed registered Will and registered sale deed in his favour to an extent of certain land - LAO acquired certain extent of land got by petitioner under said will - Kistanna died while matter was pending and by virtue of Will executed by Kistanna, petitioner stepped into shoes of said Kistanna and hence he is entitled to receive compensation from LAO - Respondents contend that they are grand children of said Kistanna and that they became title holders of said lands by virtue of principle of succession as their father son of Kistanna died and also denied execution of Will - Respondents further contend that after death of Kistanna respondents made Application to Tahsildar for mutation of their names as legal representatives of Kistanna and Tahsildar ordered mutation of their names in revenue records and that when deceased Kistanna is having legal heirs and property is ancestral one and not his self acquired property and unless and until his share is devided he has no right execute any such deeds - Petitioner contends that RDO as well as Court below failed to consider that after death of Kistanna only Will came into operation and that petitioner looked after welfare of Kistanna in his old age, as respondents have left him to his fate, Kistanna executed Will in favour of petitioner out of gratitude and that there is distinction between legal heir and legal representative and as respondents though they be legal heirs of late Kistanna cannot be termed as legal representatives of late Kistanna - DISTINCTION BETWEEN LEGAL HEIR AND LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE - Respondents left deceased Kistanna to his fate in his old age and petitioner alone look after Kistanna in his old age and out of gratitude only he executed Will and sale deed in favour of petitioner - Respondents also claiming some interest as legal heirs and it is not necessary that in every case a legal heir is entitled to be treated as legal representative - Petitioner is permitted to come on record and contest O.P - Revision, allowed. Mala Narasimhulu Vs. The LAO-cum-Spl. Dy Collector 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 186.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.22, Rule 4 - Respondent Nos.1 to 6 have filed above mentioned suit for partition of suit schedule properties - Pending the suit, respondent Nos.4 and 5 have died - This case is concerned with death of respondent No.5 - It is not in dispute that respondent No.5 died as far back as the year 1999 - More than 15 years later, applicants who claimed to be legal heirs of deceased respondent No.5, filed application under Order 1 Rule 10 of Code of Civil Procedure, for their impleadment as plaintiff Nos.7 to 10 in suit in place of their deceased father - Said application was dismissed by lower Court - Feeling aggrieved thereby, the unsuccessful applicants filed present Revision Petition - Held, as could be seen from above noted provisions, Code has prescribed specific procedure for the legal representatives of a deceased plaintiff to come on record - Admittedly, petitioners failed to follow this procedure - Instead, more than 15 years after suit has abated qua plaintiff No.5, petitioners have filed an application under Order I Rule 10 of the Code - For above mentioned reasons, Court do not find any jurisdictional error in order of lower Court - Civil Revision Petition is accordingly dismissed. Lingala Bhagya Laxmi Vs. Lingala Prabhu Lingam 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 347 = 2015(6) ALD 407 = 2015(4) ALT 652.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.22, Rl.5 - I.A. was filed by daughter of first plaintiff in suit under Order 22 Rule 3 CPC - According to her, her father died on 27.12.2013 and she was sole legal representative - She therefore sought to be brought on record as third plaintiff in the suit - 13th defendant in suit, 13th respondent in IA, filed a counter contesting her claim stating that though a death certificate had been procured by her from the Gram Panchayat to the effect that first plaintiff in suit had expired, it was not so - In this context, he alleged that Secretary of Gram Panchayat had committed various irregularities - A complaint was stated to have been made against said Panchayat Secretary, which was pending, and therefore, death certificate issued by said Gram Panchayat could not be acted upon - According to him, first plaintiff suffered from mental imbalance and his whereabouts were unknown - He further stated that first plaintiff also had a son and therefore, daughter could not claim to be sole legal representative - By order under revision, trial Court took note of the contentions of both parties and allowed petition subject to condition that the daughter of first plaintiff should file a legal heir certificate and amend the plaint - Aggrieved by this condition, daughter of first plaintiff is before this Court by way of this civil revision petition.

Held, Order 22 Rule 5 CPC empowers trial Court to determine question as to whether any person is or is not legal representative of a deceased plaintiff - Losing sight of this provision of law, trial Court adopted a novel procedure of asking petitioner to produce a legal heir certificate - It is not explained as to under which law and from whom petitioner was to obtain such a legal heir certificate - Approach of trial Court in this regard is therefore without legal foundation and cannot be sustained - Order under revision is accordingly set aside and matter is remitted to trial Court for undertaking an enquiry under Order 22 Rule 5 CPC, after duly verifying fact as to whether first plaintiff in suit had actually died - Civil Revision Petition is allowed to extent indicated above. Bale Venkateswarlu (died) Vs. Paralamma Temple 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 136.

—Or.22, Rule 10 - INDIAN SUCCESSION ACT, Sec.74 - BC filed suit against her husband claiming maintenance - Trial Court awarded maintenance - In Appeal, District Judge enhanced maintenance amount - Thereafter BC filed EP for execution of decree seeking arrest of respondent/husband - BC died during pendency of EP. - Petitioner/ LR, filed EA under Or.22, Rule 10 CPC with a prayer to add her as legal representative of BC contending that during her life time BC executed Will bequeathing all her movable and immovable properties to petitioner and she is entitled to come on record - Executing Court dismissed E.A. - Legatee of deceased party to proceedings can come on record and pursue proceedings - Where however in this case, bequest is not clear and doubt arises as to purport thereof, execution proceedings are not proper avenue for adjudication of same - This issue becomes more acute, when legatee is not a lenial descendant or immediate successor - Petitioner contends that u/Sec.74 of Indian Succession Act, it is not necessary that any technical words or terms of art being used in Will - Other provisions are to effect that where no specific reference is made any items, bequest can be treated of entire property left by testator - Nature of enquiry that is to be undertaken by a Court to validity or otherwise of a Will in Application filed under Or.22, Rule 10 CPC would be very limited - Such enquiry is required to be made only to enable party to continue proceedings to their logical end - No final pronouncement can be made about rights flow from Will - In this case, petitioner claims rights not only vis-a-vis subject matter of EP but also entire movable and immovable properties left by late BC, it is better that petitioner institutes separate proceedings to seek declaration of her rights under Will - CRP, dismissed - Petitioner is at liberty to file separate suit to claim benefits under Will, duly impleading legal heirs or successors of deceased BC. Bejawada Chenchuramamma (died) Vs. Bejawada Suryanarayana 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 180 = 2011(6) ALD 112 = 2011(6) ALT 592.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.22, Rule 10-A - "Abatement of suit" - Suit originally instituted by plaintiff/petitioner against defendants 1 & 2 - When 2nd defendant died petitioner took prompt steps by filing I.A and legal representatives were brought on record as defendants 3 to 9 - 1st defendant is said to have died long before IA filed to bring Lrs of 2nd defendant - Had petitioner/plaintiff been aware of factum of death of 1st defendant he would have certainly taken steps to bring LRs of 1st defendant on record - In this case, defendants 1 & 2 were represented by same Counsel in trial Court - Rule 10-A of Order 22, CPC places an obligation on counsel to inform Court as well as other party, when his client dies, during pendency of proceedings and that limitation to file Application to bring legal representatives of a party to suit, on record would commence from date, on which the other party in suit, receives intimation through Memo filed under Or.10-A of Or.22 CPC - That having not been done in this case, proposed respondents cannot resist attempt made by petitioner to bring LRs on record, or to implead them as defendants - In this case, it is at instance of respondents 3 to 9 trial Court declared suit stood dismissed as abated and decree to that effect was passed - Petitioner was rightly advised to file revision as well as appeal - In both proceedings petitioner was successful as a result suit remained on file of trial Court - It is not a case where sole defendant in suit died - Defendants 3 to 9 were very much on record - Question as to whether death of 1st defendant result in abatement must be examined independently - Now efforts are being made to bring LRs of 1st defendant on record, there should not be any possible objection - In case, such of respondents who are LRs of 1st defendant oppose efforts made by petitioner to implead them in suit, a presumption has to be drawn to effect that they do not have any resistance to offer and decree if any, that may be passed in suit shall bind them also - Trial Court ought to have numbered I.A filed by petitioner/appellant and instead a cryptic order which does not make any sense has been passed - It is only gross negligence or total indifference or lack of basics on part of Officer, that bring about such hopelessly bad order - Impugned order, set aside and IA (C.F) shall stand allowed - CRP, allowed. N.Sankar Reddy Vs. N.Rami Reddy (died) 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 242 = 2013(3) ALD 72 = 2013(2) ALT 343.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.23, Rule 3 & Sec.151 - LIMITATION ACT, Secs.5 & 17 - Suit originally filed by deceased 1st petitioner for partition and separate possession - Petitioners 1 to 3 are represented by Power of Attorney as they are not available in India - Suit dismissed by trial Court with following order - " Counsel for plaintiff endorsed as suit is compromised out of Court, hence to dismiss the suit - Hence the suit dismiss without costs" - When suit is withdrawn by Counsel for plaintiff ostensibly on instructions of a party or representation by Counsel for plaintiff that matter was settled out of Court, but it is proved to satisfaction of Court that such instructions from party were non-existent or there was no such settlement out of Court as represented by Counsel - In such event Court can invoke its inherent powers u/Sec.151 CPC and can set aside order permitting withdrawal of suit - Trial Court rightly entertained Application filed by petitioners under Or.23, Rule 3 r/w Sec.151 CPC to set aside order - Once fraud played by Counsel on petitioners is established and his collusion with one of the respondents is apparent period of limitation be counted from date of discovery of fraud - Petitioners are entitled for calculation of period of limitation from date of knowledge of fraud - Order passed by lower Court in dismissing Application filed by petitioners to set aside order of dismissal of suit is perverse - Petitioners made out sufficient cause to set aside order - Impugned order, set aside - CRP allowed with cost of Rs.5000/-, payable to 6th respondent. Basheerunnisa Begum Vs. Meer Fazeelath Hussaini 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 201 = 2014(2) ALD 529 = 2014(2) ALT 97.

—Or.23, Rule 3 & Or.15, Rule 1 - "Consent decree" - Suit filed for permanent injunction - Plaint and written statement filed on same day - Court recorded statements of appellant/defendant and respondent/plaintiff on the date of presentation of plaint - Appellant/defendant filed written statement admitting assertions in plaint to be correct and in fact prayed for decree of suit - Trial Court decreed suit - Consent decree obtained by playing fraud - In this case, defendant/appellant a rustic and illiterate woman is taken to Court by a relation on plea of creation of lease deed and magically in hurried manner, plaint is presented, written statement is drafted and filed, statement is recorded and a decree passed within three days - On a perusal of decree it is manifest that there is total non-application of mind - It only mentions there is consent in written statement and suit has been decreed - In instant case, though decree was passed in 1973, it was alleged that defendant was already in possession - She lived upto 1992 and expired after 19 years - Evidently possession was not taken over by the respondent - Further there was an implied agreement that decree would be given effect to after her death - All these reasons are absolutely non-plausible and common sense does not even remotely give consent to them - It is fraudulent all the way - Whole thing was buttressed on edifice of fraud and it needs no special emphasis to state that what is pyramided on fraud is bound to decay - Decree of High Court in second appeal as well as judgments and decrees of Courts below are set aside - Appeal, allowed. Badami Vs. Bhall 2012(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 93 = 2012(5) ALD 99(SC) = 2012 AIR SCW 3560 = AIR 2012 SC 2858.

——Order XV-A(2) - INDIAN EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.116 - Petitioner/plaintiff is a lease holder of premises with powers to sub-lease property - While so, respondents/defendants had obtained shop no.15 on lease from the plaintiff vide lease deed dated 29.05.2002 for a term of three years, having paid Rs.6,00,000/- as deposit - The defendants had agreed to pay a monthly rent of Rs.4,500/- for running optical trade - However, defendants changed business to Car Accessories without consent of plaintiff - Presently, defendants are running eatables business under name and style 'Vegetable Nation' - At request of defendants, plaintiff had executed an annexure to lease agreement - Defendants under took to sell only bakery items, Tea, Coffee, Lebanese Sweet and confectionary, fruit cocktail, salad bar, sweet corn, pop corn, sugar candy, fruit juices, cool drinks and softy ice creams etcetera but not vegetable chat items and specially Chinese Food - But, defendants are carrying on business contrary to same and are violating terms of Annexure - While doing the business in said shop no.15, defendants had also obtained on lease mulgies bearing nos.15/A and 54 and agreed to pay monthly rents of Rs.1,500/- and Rs.15,000/- respectively - The defendants 1 and 2 had thereafter renewed lease and are paying Rs.24,965/- towards rent in respect of shops nos.15, 15A and 54 and a sum of Rs.3,000/- per month towards use of covered open space on the Western side of front shop no.15 - Thus, total monthly rent payable is Rs.27,965/-. Thus, plaintiff is landlord and defendants are tenants - Monthly rent as enhanced from 01.09.2012 is Rs.33,385/- - The said rent is exclusive of electricity charges, water charges and service tax - The total deposit made by the defendants with plaintiff is Rs.9,75,000/- and it is an interest free deposit refundable to them on their vacating the property - As per the agreed terms of lease, defendants have to pay rent due in advance, i.e., on or before the 5 th day of month - However, defendants are not paying rents in time - They had committed defaults in payment of monthly rents since March 2013 - The arrear of rent for the said period works out to Rs.2,67,080/- and same is payable together with service tax amounting to Rs.33,011/-. The defendants are due to pay arrears of rent from March 2013 till November 2013, which comes to Rs.3,00,465/- together with Service Tax @ 12.36% amounting to Rs.37,137/- - Thus, total amount due and payable by defendants to plaintiff is Rs.3,37,602/- - In spite of receiving legal notice, they did not pay said amount and had also failed to vacate property - Defendants are liable to pay the monthly rents from March 2013 till November 2013 as stated above - Hence, it is necessary to direct them to deposit said sum together with service tax which comes to Rs.3,37,602/- to plaintiff/landlord.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

The defendants denied allegations - At time of enquiry before trial Court, no oral and documentary evidence was adduced - On merits, and by order impugned, trial Court had allowed petition of landlord/plaintiff and directed defendants/tenants to pay admitted monthly rent of Rs.27,965/- from March 2013 till 31.07.2015, i.e., for 29 months in a total sum of Rs.8,10,985/- within two months from date of order - In orders, it was further observed that if said amount is not deposited within time stipulated, defence of the defendants will be struck off - In said order it was also ordered that defendants shall continue to pay future rents at said rate to plaintiff on or before 5th of succeeding month till disposal of the suit - The unsuccessful defendants/respondents filed this petition against that order.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, in case on hand eviction suit by original lessor against plaintiff herein is not yet decreed and said suit is pending - The present case is not a case where original owner/original lessor is armed with legal process for eviction, which cannot be resisted by defendants/subtenants who are tenants of plaintiff herein - Therefore, attornment pleaded by defendants/ sub-tenants is not under compulsion - Therefore, neither plea of mere voluntary attornment urged by defendants/sub-tenants nor plea of mere institution of suit for eviction against plaintiff by original owner/original lessor is of any avail to defendants herein - Without discharging their statutory obligations towards their landlord/plaintiff herein, on mere plea of voluntary attornment to original Lessor and on mere fact that a suit for eviction was filed by original lessor against plaintiff/landlord, defendants, who are tenants of plaintiff, cannot justify their theory that landlord and tenant relationship between plaintiff and defendants has come to an end on voluntary attornment to original owner/original lessor.

For reasons aforementioned this Court holds that plaintiff had established prima facie landlord and tenant relationship between plaintiff and defendants herein and made out valid and sufficient grounds to direct defendants to pay monthly rents at the rate as admitted by them i.e., @ Rs.27,965/- per month from 01.03.2013 till 31.07.2015 and future rent - Viewed thus, this Court finds that order of the Court below is justified and it does not brook interference - In the result, the Civil Revision Petition is dismissed. Sayed Salimuddin Vs. Abdul Kareem 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 43 = 2016(6) ALD 89 = 2016(5) ALT 546.

—Or.26 - Appointment of second commission - Trial Court rejected Application filed by petitioner/plaintiff to appoint second Advocate-Commissioner to conduct survey and demarcate Sy.Nos. of village - Before appointment of Second Advocate-Commissioner, Court should record its dissatisfaction about report submitted by first commissioner, object being to avoid conflicting reports before Courts - If revision petitioner otherwise seeks to discredit first Advocate Commissioner's Report in total and have a second Advocate Commissioner for local inspection, then invariably he should persuade trial Court to conclude about unacceptability of report of first Advocate Commissioner with reference to objections raised by him against said report or any other relevant considerations that he may bring to notice of trial Court - CRP, dismissed. P.Upendra Laxmana Rao Vs. Commissioner of Survey & Settlement, Hyd 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 191.

—Or.26, - "Appointment of Advocate-Commissioner to fix boundary" - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for perpetual injunction - 1st defendant filed written statement contending that he is owner of land adjacent to land of petitioner and structures and existing trees on bund belong to him and he is in possession and enjoyment - Petitioner/ plaintiff filed Application seeking appointment of Advocate-Commissioner on ground that 1st defendant disturbed boundary during pendency of suit - Trial Court dismissed Application on ground that Commissioner cannot be appointed to gather evidence with regard to possession of land covered by trees - Petitioner contends that trial Court misread material brought on record and thereby erred in observing that Commissioner has been sought for to gather evidence and that purpose of appointment of Commissioner is to demarcate boundary with assistance of Surveyor and note existing features - Respondents contend that commissioner cannot be appointed for demarcating land in injunction suit - Commissioner can be appointed for purpose of demarcating suit land - Order passed by trial Court in dismissing Application for appoint-ment of Advocate-Commissioner - Erroneous - Hence, set aside - CRP, allowed. Varala Ramachandra Reddy Vs. Mekala Yadi Reddy 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 172.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

——Or.26 Rules – 1,2,3 and 4 - "Appointment of Advocate Commissioner" to mark documents and record evidence - Respondent filed suit for recovery of certain amount from petitioner defendant and court suomoto appointed advocate commissioner to mark documents and record evidence of plaintiffs - Hence challenging said order, present CRP by petitioner defendant.

Perusal of Rule 1 or Rule 4-A of Order 26 C.P.C shows that Court cannot appoint an Advocate Commissioner without assigning any reasons – Perusal of impugned order does not show reason which prompted lower court to appoint advocate commissioner for examination of plaintiff – As per cause title, plaintiff is aged 40 years and is resident of village within jurisdiction of Lower court - In these circumstances impugned order passed by lower court appointing Advocate Commissioner, set aside. Vemunandana Ramakrishnam Raju Vs. Darla Srinivas 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 80 = 2016(3) ALD 516.

—Or.26, Rule 1 & 9 - "Appointment of Advocate-Commissioner to record evidence" - Suit filed for specific performance of agreement of sale executed by deceased 1st defendant - Defendants L.Rs of deceased/D1 filed Application for appointment of Commissioner to record evidence of attestors of Will allegedly executed by their deceased mother - Plaintiff contends that Will is fabricated document and it is unenforceable and examination of attestors of said Will is unnecessary and not relevant for adjudication of case - Trial Court appointed Commissioner - Petitioner/plaintiff contends that since suit is based on agreement of sale executed by 1st defendant, validity or otherwise of alleged Will in favour of defendants 2 to 4 cannot be gone into and that since there is no issue with regard to proof of alleged Will, trial Court committed grave error in appointing Commissioner to record evidence of attestors of said will - Merely because plaintiff raised an objection that no medical certificate is produced to substantiate inability of witnesses to attend Court to give evidence, plea of applicants need not be disbelieved and on that ground trial Court cannot be said to have committed any illegality in allowing application- CRP, dismissed. V.K.Chandrasekhar Vs. V.K. Suseelamma (died) rep. by Lrs. 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 29.

—Or.26, Rule 9 - "Appointment of Commissioner" - In a suit for permanent injunction petitioner filed Application for appointment of Advocate Commissioner - Trial Judge appointed Advocate-Commissioner for inspection, location, measurement of entire extent of suit schedule property with help of Mandal Surveyor with a direction to fix up boundaries, note down physical features - Advocate Commissioner returned his warrant by stating that several efforts made by him for execution of warrant prove futile - Court therefore appointed anothr Advocate-Commissioner who also returned warrant stating that he personally meat Mandal Surveyor who stated that he had already visited petition Schedule properties and taken measurement of same in presence of previous Advocate-Commission and that unless and until District Surveyor assists him, he cannot execute warrant - Considering report of second commissioner trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioners for appointment of commissioner - Considering reasons given by second Advocate-Commissioner Court is unable to comprehend as to how petitioners are responsible if Mandal Surveyor has expressed his inability to execute warrant without assistance of District Surveyor - Order appointing Advocate Commissioner is a judicially enforceable order - When such order is passed it is not only duty but also obligation of Court which passed it to enforce same - Unless Court is convinced that its order is not enforceable in law for legally sustaiable reasons it cannot allow its order to be vioilated - If Mandal Surveyor has failed to execute warrant without assistance of Distict Surveyor it is incumbent upon trial Court to take appropriate measures by giving direction to District Surveyor to assist Mandal Surveyor in executing warrant - Petitioner cannot be blamed for purported inaction on their part, if Mandal Surveyor has not helped Advocate-Commissionr in carrying out warrant - Order of trial Court, set aside - CRP, allowed. Gundra Adilakshumma Vs. Uppuluru Yella Reddy, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 151 = 2012(5) ALD 280 = 2012(5) ALT 264.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.26 Rule 9 – Appointment of Advocate Commissioner for localizing plaint schedule land – Petitioner/Plaintiff filed suit for bare Injunction basing on registered sale deed – Respondent/ Defendant contend that suit schedule property not properly described land which are in their position – Trial Court dismissed IA filed by petitioners for appointment of commissioner to survey land with assistance of Asst. Director of Survey on ground that already survey was conducted by Inspector of Survey and land records - Petitioner contend that unless survey is conducted under supervision of a commissioner appointed by court, dispute between parties as to identity of subject matter cannot be resolved - A Commission at instance of one of parties to find out as to who is in possession of property cannot be issued as it enables party seeking appointment of commissioner to collect or gather evidence, but where there exists a dispute regarding identity of suit property, Court has to necessarily issue a commission with assistance of surveyor, otherwise it would be highly difficult for court to completely and effectively resolve dispute and issuing such commission would not amount to collection of evidence – Commission for said purpose can be issued prior to or after parties let in their evidence - In this case, Appointment of Commissioner for purpose of localizing suit lands is necessary – Order of Trial Court rejecting request of petitioners for appointment of commissioner, erroneous – Order of Trial Court set aside, and directed to appoint commissioner to localize lands with assistance of assistant director – C.R.P. allowed. Velaga Narayana Vs. B.Srinivas 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 48 = 2014(3) ALD 605 = 2014(4) ALT 152.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.26, Rl.9 - Suit for permanent Injunction – Appointment of Advocate Commissioner - Even before trial commenced petitioner/plaintiff filed application for appointment of Advocate Commissioner – Trial Court dismissed application observing that petitioner is owner of suit property and that burden was on him to establish his plea by adducing evidence - It is only after both parties adducing their respective evidence if any ambiguity prevails with reference to identity of property, that Court on its own or an application of either party may appoint Advocate Commissioner - Application for appointment of Advocate commissioner at threshold itself cannot be entertained as same will amount to gathering of evidence – C.R.P dismissed. Arvind Kumar Agarwal Vs. Legend Estates (P) Ltd. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 199 = 2015(2) ALD 206 = 2015(2) ALT 484.

—Order 26, Rule 9 - Suit for perpetual injunction from interfering from their alleged peaceful possession and enjoyment of plaint schedule properties - Court below appointed advocate commissioner ex parte and directed him to file a report as to physical features of the suit locality, but in said order, court below not directed advocate commissioner to take assistance of Mandal Surveyor - I.A filed for same advocate commissioner to direct him to inspect the plaint schedule properties with help of Mandal surveyor and to locate it and file a fresh report - Court below dismissed the I.A. - Present revision is filed against that order - Held, in present case, from pleadings of parties it is clear that respondents alleged that it is petitioners who encroached their property while petitioners allege that it is the respondents who have encroached their property - Therefore, it is necessary to localize the suit schedule properties and this can be done with the help of an Advocate-Commissioner, who takes the assistance of the Mandal Surveyor and also with reference to the F.M.B. and other relevant records - Court below erred in holding that when the Advocate-Commissioner went to note down the physical features, no one disputed about the identification of the suit property and after lapse of six months petitioners came up with this petition, because the pleadings of the parties mandate the Court to decide as to who encroached whose land - Having regard to case law mentioned above, this Court is opinion that the Court below is not correct in holding that there is no necessity for a revisit of Court Commissioner and if really there is necessity to appoint a Court Commissioner, it will do so if only when evidence on record leaves something to be explained further - Therefore, the Civil Revision Petition is allowed. G.L.Purusotham Vs. Y.Nagaraju 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 20 = 2015(5) ALD 460 = 2015(5) ALT 286.

—-Or.26, Rule 9 - Present revision petition is filed by respondent/defendant assailing order and decree passed by District Judge - Respondent filed suit before trial court for declaration and consequential injunction against petitioners and others in respect of an extent of Ac.40.89 cents - First petitioner filed suit for perpetual injunction against respondent in respect of wet land admeasuring Acs.8.70 cents and said suit was transferred to the trial court - Trial court clubbed both suits and recorded evidence in one suit - During pendency of the suits, petitioners filed I.A. for appointment of advocate commissioner to inspect suit schedule property, constructed pucca house and the existing crops therein, and submit the report - After hearing both parties, trial court allowed petition and appointing advocate commissioner - Feeling aggrieved by order and decree of trial Court, respondent filed present revision petition.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, Court has to ascertain intention of party from recitals of affidavit - A careful perusal of affidavit filed in I.A. clearly reveals intention of petitioners to file present petition for appointment of advocate commissioner - As rightly pointed out by learned counsel for petitioners, mere delay in filing of petition itself, is not a valid ground to dismiss petition without considering its merits - But, in instant case, conduct of first petitioner in filing petition nearly five years after filing of the suit, that too when matter is coming up for judgment, indicates his intention to drag on matter on one pretext or the other - In a suit for declaration, plaintiff may succeed or fail basing on strength and weakness of his case - Even if advocate commissioner was not appointed, the same may not cause any prejudice to the petitioners - It is a settled principle of law that in a suit for declaration, plaintiff has to establish his case by preponderance of probability - Viewed from that angle also, there is no necessity for appointment of advocate commissioner in this case - Having regard to facts and circumstances of case, this Court considered view that it is not a fit case to appoint an advocate commissioner - If trial court had considered all these aspects, finding of trial court would be otherwise - Moreover, petitioners No.2 and 3 have no locus standi to file petition or join in this petition along with petitioner No.1 - Viewed from that angle also, present petition is not maintainable - Basing on factual or legal aspects, order passed by trial court is not sustainable - If order of trial court is allowed to stand, certainly it would hamper progress of suit - There are valid grounds to set aside order passed by the trial Court - Accordingly, points are answered - In result, the civil revision petition is allowed at admission stage setting aside order passed in I.A. Chekuri Lavanya, Vizianagaram Vs. K. Ravikumar Varma, Visakhapatnam 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 131.

——Or.26, Rule 9 - Application filed for appointment of Advocate Commissioner to localize Survey numbers in suit for declaration of title and recovery of possession of plaint schedule property from respondents/defendants - Trial Court dismissed petition filed by petitioner/plaintiff, hence present CRP filed.

Under Or.26, Rule 9 CPC, main purpose of appointing Advocate Commissioner is to elucidate any matter in dispute - In this case, it does not appear from pleadings of parties that identity of property is in dispute and therefore question of localizing property does not arise - CRP, dismissed. K.Sambasiva Reddy Vs. Chilla Rama Rao Reddy 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 81 = 2016(6) ALD 61.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or.26, Rl.9 - Revision Petitioner/Plaintiff sought for appointment of an Advocate Commissioner for measurement and demarcation of lane by measuring property of Plaintiff and defendant respectively - Lower court by impugned order dismissed petition on ground that suit was at stage of arguments – Hence, revision petitioner contends that impugned order was baseless and unsustainable whereas defendant/ revision respondent supported order of lower Court.

Held, where demarcation of disputed property is involved it is a fit case for appointment of Advocate Commissioner, as held by the Apex Court in Haryana Waqf Board supra, and same was followed in Smt. Donadulu Uma Devi and there is no time limit for appointment of Advocate-Commissioner as even an exparte Advocate Commissioner for localization and noting of physical features can be appointed at time of filing suit and delay in filing is otherwise not a ground to negate.

Revision petition is disposed of giving liberty to plaintiff to file fresh petition within one week from date of receipt of this order before lower Court and lower Court is directed therefrom to receive counter, hear and dispose of application on own merits. Bandi Samuel Vs. Medida Nageswara Rao 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 480.

—Or.26, Rules 9, 10 to 22 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for permanent injunction - Respondent/defendant also filed another suit against petitioner for grant of permanent injunction - Inspite of interim injunction respondent highhandedly ploughed foot path and raised crop in some portion of suit land - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by petitioner for appointment of Advocate Commissioner holding that in a suit filed for grant of permanent injunction, burden is only on parties to establish their respective possession independently and no Advocate Commissioner shall be appointed to note down possession aspect over schedule property and that appointing of an Advocate Commissioner to measure and demarcate lands as required by petitioner with help of Mandal Surveyor is far fetching relief and it is not within proximate ambit of main suit - Petitioner contends that order of trial Court is illegal and erroneous in holding that in a suit for grant of permanent injunction, no Advocate Commissioner can be appointed - Respondent contends, in a suit for injunction no Advocate Commissioner can be appointed and it is for plaintiff to establish her possession over suit property and therefore under guise of appointment of Advocate Commissioner, there cannot be any gathering of material evidence - Perusal of Or.26, Rule 9 goes to show that there is no distinction of suit in which Advocte Commissioner can be appointed or rejected, but it makes clear that where local investigation is required for purpose of elucidating any mater in dispute Advocate Commissioner can be appointed - It may not be correct in contending that in a suit for perpetual or permanent injunction, Advocate Commissioner cannot be appointed - In this case trial Court not properly appreciated rival contentions in disposing of Application filed for appointment of Advocate Commissioner - It is for Court below to consider scope and ambit of Advocate Commissioner to be appointed for local inspection with help of Surveyor as report filed by Advocte Commissioner in suit filed by respondent is not exhaustive and do not cover aspect of controversy involved in respect of suit schedule property - Impugned order of trial Court, set aside - CRP allowed. Salla Eswaramma Vs. C. Subba Reddy 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 161 = 2009(2) ALD 160 = 2009(2) ALT 59 = 2009(1) APLJ 13 (SN).

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.26, Rules 9 & 18 - Appointment of Advocate Commissioner - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for permanent injunction restraining petitioners/defendants from interfering his peaceful possession and enjoyment of "ABCD" marked vacant site - Pending suit respondent filed I.A under Or.26, Rule 9 CPC, for appointment of Advocate Commissioner to take measurements of property mentioned in registered sale deed under which he has purchased property and to find out whether "ABCD" plan marked vacant site is part and parcel of property mentioned in said register sale deed or not with help of qualified surveyor - Petitioners/defendants opposed said I.A contending that at their instance I.A was filed in year 2004 for local inspection and Advocate Commissioner appointed and executed warrant and filed Report and that respondent/ plaintiff had not filed any objection at that time and now he has filed present petition to appoint Advocate Commissioner again to harass petitioners/defendants - Trial Court, allowed I.A holding that real question in controversy is with regard to localization of ABCD marked site and that it is necessary to localize it with reference to sale deed of respondent and other title deeds if any of both parties and also rejected objection of petitioners that present petition is not maintainable because of earlier order appointing Advocate Commissioner to note down physical features - Hence, present Revision - Petitioners contend that purpose for which I.A was filed by respondent was to collect evidence and that earlier Advocate Commissioner was appointed to note down physical features of property and therefore another Advocate Commissioner cannot be appointed to localize "ABCD" site which is subject matter of dispute between parties - It is no doubt true that previously Advocate Commissioner was appointed at instance of petitioners but he only noted down physical features and it is not case of petitioners that measurements of disputed site and its localization were done by earlier Advocate Commissioner - In Sanjaya & Ors., case cited by petitioners, Court held that an Advocate Commissioner cannot be appointed to submit a Report recording actual possession of disputed property - In present case, however, Advocate Commissioner is appointed to localize disputed "ABCD" portion with reference to title deeds of both parties with assistance of qualified surveyor and not to determine possession of any party and therefore said decision has no application - Order passed by trial Court - Justified - CRP, dismissed. Bandaru Mutyalu Vs. Palli Appalaraju 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 38.

—Or.26, Rule 9 and Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Petitioner filed suit for relief of perpetual injunction - Trial Court passed orders of status quo - 1st respondent/defendant filed Application to appoint Advocate Commissioner to note existing features viz., a hut and construction of compound wall - Petitioner/plaintiff opposed Application - Trial Court allowed Application - The only question that assumes significance in suit whether plaintiff is in possession and enjoyment of schedule property and burden squarely rests upon petitioner to prove possession - Appointment of Commissioner to note physical features or to undertake other related activities in a suit for injunction is a rarity - Reason is that plaintiff cannot be permitted to gather evidence to prove his possession and he has to satisfy Court through oral and docuentary evidence - When that is law on subject, appointment of Commissioner at instance of defendant in such suits is a still rare phenomenon - Admittedly in this case, trial is yet to commence and it is only for petitioner/plaintiff to prove his possession - In case, respondent/ defendant is of view that boundaries mentioned in suit schedule are not correct and that case presented by plaintiff is not true, he can take relevant plea in written statement and not only cross-examine petitioner/plaintiff and other witnesses - Appointment of Commissioner that too for noting physical features at this stage is a pure step aimed at gathering evidence - Order under Revision, set aside - CRP, allowed. A.Gopal Reddy Vs. R.Subramanyam Reddy, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 356 = 2013(4) ALD 347 = 2013(3) ALT 623.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or.26, Rule 10-A - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.45 - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for recovery of certain amount basing on promissory note - Petitioners/defendants specifically averred in their written statement that plaintiff forged and fabricated alleged pronote - Petitioners/defendants having taken number of adjournments did not cross-examine P.W.1 and cross examination of P.W.1 as marked nil - After filing chief-affidavit of P.W.2, Application filed to send disputed document to Hand Writing Expert for his opinion - Trial Court dismissed Application observing that Application was filed at belated stage and that whenever application for sending particular disputed document to expert is filed that does not mean that necessarily and automatically said petition may have to be allowed - Petitioner contends that Application u/Sec.45 of Evidence Act, r/w u/Or.26, Rule 10-A CPC can be filed at any stage of trial - A cogent reading of Sec.45 of Evidence Act and Or.26, Rule 10-A CPC make it clear that it is discretion of Court to send any disputed document to Handwriting Expert for his opinion as to ascertain whether signature or thumb impression is forged or not - Whether to send a disputed document to Hand writing expert or not depends upon nature of rival contentions of parties and nature of evidence already let in - If there are latches on part of parties in protracting litigation, Court may impose costs or pass conditional orders - But that cannot be a ground to deny relief sought by parties at time of trial - Doors of trial Court should not be closed at this stage denying opportunity to any party to adduce any evidence - When a document is said to be forged and when a party has specifically denied signature or thumb impression on that particular document, such party should certainly have an opportunity to send document to handwriting expert for comparison - At stage of trial of a case, trial court, must give reasonable opportunity to parties to adduce evidence - Where parties are not diligent or intending to protract litigation, Court may pass conditional order imposing suitable conditions - Impugned order, set aside - I.A filed in trial Court, allowed. Jalagadugula Eswara Rao Vs. Davala Surya, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 154 = 2011(2) ALD 572 = 2011(1) ALT 652 = AIR 2011 AP 78.

—Or.26, Rules 10-A, 10(3),9 & 12(2) - EVIDENCE ACT, Secs.45,46 & 72 - "Appointment of second Commissioner" - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit basing on pronote - Respondent/

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

defendant contends that suit promissory is rank forgery - Pronote was sent to private expert, at instance of respondent/defendant, who opined that pronote is forged one - Trial court dismissed Application filed by petitioner/plaintiff to send suit pronote to any Govt., handwriting expert for comparison of disputed signature with that of admitted signatures of respondent/defendant - Respondent contends that petitioner cannot seek opinion of second expert and such a course is not permissible in law - Petitioner contends that Sec.45 of Evidence Act is substantive law where as Or.26, Rule 9 CPC is procedural law - Thus there is much difference between Or.26, Rule 9 and Or.26, Rule 10-A, r/w Sec.45 of Evidence Act and that expert had selected admitted signatures in a pick and choose manner and that for arriving at truth and for doing complete justice, opinion of second expert must be obtained and that seeking of opinin of second expert is not for purpose of filling up of any gaps but to establish truth and to rebut false contention of respondent that signature in pronote is a forged one - Respondent contends that trial in lower Court is almost over and at that stage petitioner filed this petition to send pronote to second expert and that if petitioner is not satisfied with report of expert he should have filed objections and requested Court to reject opinion of expert and that without rejecting earlier report of expert, report of second expert cannot be sought for - A combined reading of Rule 10-A and 10(3) and 12(2) gives an impression that report of Commissioner is part of record of Court and if Court is not satisfied with proceedings and report of Commissioner it may direct such further enquiry which include issuing of second Commission for same purpose - Goal of Court should be to find out truth and procedural aspects should not come in way of finding truth - Procedural law should always be subvergent to substantiative law - Therefore seeking opinion of second expert in such cases may be necessary for rendering complete justice- As far as Sec.45 & 46 of Evidence Act are concerned, same is undoubtedly a part of substantiative law and where as provisions under Or.21 of CPC appears to be procedural - Therefore in cases where Court is of opinion that report of expert is not satisfactory, where expert had not followed required procedure where findings of expert appears to be prima facie incorrect where there is a error on face of record, where it appears that Commissioner or expert had acted in partisan manner and where deficiency in report cannot be completed by same Commissioner or expert or where Court feels that referring matter to second Commissioner would be useful for better appreciation of evidence and for better reaching just conclusion, Court may refer matter to second Commissioner or to second expert for his opinion, even without setting aside earlier report or opinion - In this case, admittedly there are certain peculiar circumstances as admitted by expert - Order of lower Court in dismissing petition for appointing second Commission - Erroneous - Order, set aside - Revision allowed. M.Ramesh Babu Vs. M. Sreedhar 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 360 = 2009(5) ALD 187 = 2009(3) APLJ 134 = 2009(4) ALT 780.

—Or.32, Rules 1, 2-A and 3 - CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE, Rule 172 - Suit filed by minor daughter through her maternal uncle as “next friend” - Defendant raised

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

preliminary objection as to maintainability of suit on ground that minor girl not properly represented, much less any guardian was appointed - Trial Court dismissed suit on ground that no guardian was appointed for appellant/girl - Appellant/girl contends that CPC provides for presentation of plaint on behalf of a minor through a next friend and in instance case maternal uncle was shown as next friend and that Or.32 of CPC provides for various stages and once plaint is presented through next friend, trial Court has to undertake exercise of appointment of guardian for purpose of suit and that trial Court could have at most insisted on filing of application for appointment of guardian or return plaint and that there was no justification for dismissal of suit - Respondents contend that when parents of appellant are very much alive, suit could have been filed through one of them, acting as guardian and that if for any reason natural parents cannot be appointed Application ought to have been made for appointing maternal uncle as guardian and that minor cannot prosecute remedies, unless she is properly represented and that trial Court has taken correct view of matter - What is needed in law is presence of next friend and not guardian - Trial Court failed to maintain distinction between next friend on one hand, and guardian, on other hand - It is only when a minor figures as defendant, that Court would appoint a guardian for him - Concept of "next friend" does not exists, if minor figures as defendant in a suit - Only exercise which Court can undertake in a suit, where it is filed by a minor through a next friend, is that it can insists on furnishing of security by next friend by payment of all costs, incurred or likely to be incurred by defendant in such a suit - It is not necessary that next friend must be a natural guardian or close relation - Rule 172 of Civil Rules of Practice mandates that where plaintiff is minor or under disability, and it is filed by next friend, affidavit shall be filed by a disinterested person to effect that "next friend" has no direct or indirect interest in subject-matter or suit - In this case, suit was presented through next friend and there was compliance with Rule 1 of Or.32 - Lapse if at all, was on part of trial Court in not insisting on security being furnished under Rule 2-A of Or.32 or affidavit under Rule 172 of Civil Rules of Practice - When only consequence that Or.32 provides, in event of suit being filed by a minor without there being next friend; is that plaint be "taken off" file, dismissal of suit filed through next friend cannot even be imagined on account of totally untenable view taken by trial Court interest of minor girl were subjected to jeopardy - Blames squarely rests upon trial Court, on one hand, and respondent on other hand - Appeal, allowed with costs - Appellant is accordeed permission to comply with requirements under Rule 2-A of Or.32 CPC and Rule 172 of Civil Rules of Practice. Vardhineedi Sivani Vs. Vardhineedi Narasimha Rao 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 96 = 2011(6) ALD 18.

——Or.36 - INDIAN STAMP ACT, 1899, Sec.2(5) and Art.48, Sch.I-A - INDIAN CONTRACT ACT, Secs.124 and 126 - This Civil Revision Petition filed with a request to direct office of Court below to put up an appropriate note for collecting stamp duty, if any, payable on the suit documents, as envisaged under Article 48 of Schedule

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

I-A of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 - Plaintiff is not objecting to contents of said office note of court below and is prepared to comply with said directions in office note, as per submissions made at hearing - However, Court below after perusing documents did not agree with note put up by its office and therefore, disapproved office note and had further directed that stamp duty and penalty are collectable as per Article 13 of Schedule 1-A of Act and had accordingly rejected IASR of the plaintiff by order, which is impugned - Hence, plaintiff is before High Court.

Held, a contract of guarantee is precisely a contract to perform promise, of discharge of liability, of a third person in case of his default - Such person who gives guarantee is called surety and person in respect of whose default, guarantee is given is called principal debtor and person for whom guarantee is given is called creditor - A guarantee may be either oral or written - Therefore, Article 13 of Schedule 1-A of the Indian Stamp Act, in the well-considered view of this Court is not applicable to facts of case on hand - But, Article 48, is applicable to document in question in case on hand because bond is a security bond executed by surety or guarantor in view of fact that there are three parties to contract and surety has undertaken to pay debt in case of failure of principal debtor to pay said debt covered by promissory note to creditor - Viewed thus, this Court finds that order impugned of Court below in not accepting office note and further directing plaintiff to pay stamp duty in accordance with Article 13 of Indian Stamp Act, is unsustainable under facts and in law and is, therefore, liable to be set aside - In result, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and impugned order is set aside. A.Shakunthla Vs. A.Mangamma 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 49 = 2016(3) ALD 541 = 2016(3) ALT 683.

—-Order 36, Rule 5 - Plaintiff had categorically pleaded that the defendant having borrowed principal sum mentioned in promissory note had executed suit promissory note agreeing to repay debt with interest at 24% per annum simple and that despite oral requests she did not repay debt - He had further pleaded that he reliably came to learn through third parties that defendant is making hectic attempts and serious efforts to alienate her only property, that is, petition schedule property and is further trying to shift her family to some other place to defraud plaintiff and to delay and defeat just claim of plaintiff - It is also his case that in view of said facts and urgency in matter, a legal notice could not be issued before instituting suit - Trial court by an interim order directed defendant to furnish security within 48 hours or appear and show cause as to why such security shall not be furnished - In its order the trial Court had also directed that property shall be attached on failure of defendant to comply with either of above said directions - Defendant while denying claim of plaintiff and inter alia contending that suit promissory note and third party affidavits are created had denied her liability and had pleaded that she has no intention to alienate property or defraud anybody - She had further given an undertaking affidavit stating that she is not going to alienate property and that she undertakes not to alienate her property till disposal of suit - Having given such an undertaking affidavit and filed an undertaking memo, she had requested trial Court to accept her undertaking and raise interim order of attachment and dismiss application of plaintiff.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, In case of an application filed for attachment before judgment in a suit for recovery of money, property to be attached and which is subject matter of such application is not property involved in suit and it cannot be termed as suit property as suit is one for recovery of money - Thus, in a suit for recovery of money, property, which is subject matter of application filed for attachment before judgment, cannot be said to be suit property being not directly related to main relief, which is only recovery of money - Decree that would eventually be granted in suit for recovery of money would only be a decree for money - Such decree would not affect rights in any immovable property as subject matter of suit is money and not any immovable property; therefore, rule enshrined in doctrine of lis pendens dealing with alienation of suit property during pendency of suit does not apply to a suit for recovery of money as any immovable property is neither directly or specifically involved in suit or the proceeding.

Having regard to discussion coupled with reasons supra, this court finds that request for accepting an undertaking affidavit filed by defendant without offering to furnish security or showing cause as to why security shall not be furnished cannot be countenanced - Therefore, this court finds that order of trial Court raising interim order of attachment after accepting undertaking affidavit filed by the defendant is unsustainable under facts and in law and is liable to be set aside - In result, CRP. is allowed and order of Court below in IA accepting the undertaking of defendant is set aside. Y.Kesavulu Vs. T.Kalavathi 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 102 = 2016(6) ALD 286 = 2016(5) ALT 363.

—Or.37, Rules 1 & 2 - INDIAN PARTNERSHIP ACT, Sec.69 - Respondent/plaintiff filed summary suit for recovery of certain amount payable under cheque - Revision petitioner/defendant filed I.A under Or.37, Rule 3(5), seeking leave of Court to defend suit - Trial Court allowed application subject to depositing 25% of suit amount - Hence present revision petition filed by defendant - Law is well settled that if defendant raises at triable issue satisfying Court that he has good defence to claim on its merits defendant is entitle to unconditional leave to defend - If defendant has no defence or defence is illusory or sham or practically moonshine then although ordinarily plaintiff is entitled to leave to sign judgment, Court may protect plaintiff by only allowing defence to proceed if amount claimed is paid into Court or otherwise secured and give leave to defendant on such condition and thereby show mercy to defendant by enabling him to try to prove a defence - In light of settled principles of law and having recorded a finding that there are triable issues, Court below ought to have granted unconditional leave. Though power conferred under Rule 5(3) of Or.37 is purely discretionary, however once a finding is recorded that there are triable issues, defendant is entitled to unconditional leave to defend - Impugned order, set aside and IA allowed granting unconditional leave to defendant/revision petitioner to defend suit - CRP, allowed. Hemanth Industries Vs. Sri Datta Products 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 386 = 2012(1) ALD 412 = 2012(1) ALT 439.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.37, Rules 1,2 and 3 r/w Sec.151 - Leave to defend - Respondent filed suit against petitioner for recovery of certain amount - District Judge dismissed Application filed by petitioner for leave to defend suit contending that cheque in question had been handedover by petitioner to respondent/Firm by way of security only and not for presentation and petitioner neither purchased any material nor counter signed bills and that since cheque issued in 2000 claim of respondent also barred by limitation and that District Judge committed an error in rejecting petitioner's application - Courts have consistently held that if affidavit filed by defendant disclosed a triable issue i.e. atleast plausible, leave should be granted, but when defence raised appears to be moonshine and sham, unconditional leave to defend cannot be granted - What is required to be examined for grant of leave is whether defence taken in Application under Or.37, Rule 3, CPC makesout a case which if established, would be plausible defence in a regular suit - In this case, defence raised by petitioner does not make out any triable issue - High Court has justifiably rejected petitioner's application - SLP, dismissed. V.K.Enterprises Vs. Shiva Steels 2010(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 71.

—Or.37, Rule 35 and Or.38, Rule 5 - Respondents filed suits against petitioner for recovery of amounts basing on promissory notes by invoking summary procedure under Or.37 CPC - Respondents also filed Applications under Or.38, Rule 5 for attachment before Judgment of certain items in which trial Court passed conditional attachment - On receiving summons for judgment petitioner/defendant filed Applications under Or.37, Rule 5 with a prayer to grant leave to defend contending that promissory notes on basis of which suits are fled are fabricated and that orders of attachment before judgment are already in force - Trial Court passed orders granting leave to defend, but imposed condition that petitioner shall furnish security for suit amount - Hence present Revisions - In this case, respondents invoked summary proceedings under Or.37 and normally in such cases, Applications under Or.38, Rule 5 are not filed and however, respondents /plaintiffs have filed such applications and obtained orders of attachment before judgment - Trial Court ought to have simply granted leave to defend suit and however it proceeded to direct petitioner to furnish security for suit amount - In this case, security for suit amount is already existing in form of attachment before judgment and that trial Court expressed view that petitioner has case to defend and that itself is sufficient to grant leave to defend and it cannot be burdened with any other condition - Condition imposed by trial Court for furnishing Security, set aside - CRP, allowed. Vishnu Das Baheti Vs. Abhishek Kerthan 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 369 = 2013(4) ALD 194 = 2013(5) ALT 63.

—Or.38, Rule 5 - "Attachment before judgment" - "Priority" - Petitioner filed suit against 1st respondent for recovery of certain amount and got attached property before judgment - When suit was pending attached property brought to sale by Bank from whom 1st respondent obtained loan and after adjustment of loan, Bank kept without balance amount - 2nd respondent filed suit against 1st respondent and attached amount lying in Bank - Trial Court dismissed I.A filed by petitioner under Or.38, Rule 8 to raise attachment - Petitioner contends that immovable property owned by 1st respondent was soled by Bank even when attachment before judgment ordered in I.A filed by him was in force, and remainder of sale proceeds were got attached by 2nd respondent in different suit - When immovable property could not have been proceeded against during substance of attachment same prohibition operates, vis-a-vis sale proceeds also - 2nd respondent contends, in case property was sold in contravention of order of attachment, petitioner ought to have initiated steps, in accordance with law - Once property was sold, order of attachment does not operate against sale proceeds - 1st respondent is a debtor, not only to petitioner but also 2nd respondent - Claim of petitioner for said amount could have certainly been accorded priority, vis-a-vis, 2nd respondent, in case that very amount was attach before judgment in suit filed by petitioner - Attachment obtained by petitioner against an item of property - With sale of that item, petitioner virtually gets bereft of her rights under order of attachment unless sale itself is set aside - She did not initiate any steps in that direction - Had petitioner been vigilant she would have obtained attachment against amount, soon after sale was conducted, in case there exists any impediment for her, to prevent or challenge sale - Attachment obtained by 2nd respondent vis-a-vis amount, was first one - Petitioner do not have claim against that amount, and in that view of matter there was no basis for her to insist on raising of attachment - C.R.P, dismissed. Yadava Kamala Bai Vs. Bijjam Venkata Subbamma 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 196.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.38, Rule 5 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - "Order of conditional attachment" - Plaintiff/Sports Company filed suit against petitioner/defendant, Sports Authority for recovery of certain amount - Trial Court passing order of conditional attachment on Application filed by plaintiff under Or.38, Rule 5, directing petitioner to furnish security and if he fails to furnish security there shall be attachment of certain items of schedule after giving 5 hours time - Petitioner contends that none of ingredients to be satisfied under Or.38, Rule 5 CPC has been satisfied and that revision petitioner is a statutory authority functioning under Govt., and hence there is no need to direct petitioner to furnish security - Before making an order of conditional attachment before judgment, Court should have satisfied on material viz., affidavits or otherwise which may be placed before it, and that prima facie to safe guard interests of plaintiff such conditional attachment order need to be made - Unless ingredients of Or.38, Rule 5 are made prima facie, order of attachment before judgment by way of conditional attachment or otherwise cannot be made in a mechanical and routine way - In this case, impugned order was made in a mechanical way without proper application of mind, and without exercising discretion in proper perspective and so such order cannot be allowed to stand - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. Sports Authority of A.P. Vs. Regal Sports Co. 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 72 = 2008(6) ALD 759.

—Or.38, Rules 5, 3 & 6 - Or.43, Rule 1 (q) - Petitioners/plaintiffs filed different suits for recovery of loan amount against respective defendants, along with Applications under Or.38, Rule 5 - Ex parte orders of attachments before judgment were passed at threshold itself - 1st defendant/Company in respective suits fled counters with request to raise attachment - Trial Court passed orders raising attachment in respective suits - Hence present Revisions - Petitioners contend that orders of attachment before judgment are in force for past five years and that attachments are raised without there being any justification and that on one hand 1st defendant/Company pleads that properties are owned by other individuals arrayed as defendants, and on other hand, it prays for raising of attachment in respective suits - Respondents contend that at initial stage itself, prescribed procedure not followed and taking same into account trial Court has raised attachments and that revisions are not maintainable and that, only appeals would have been filed - As regards maintainability, it is no doubt true that Or.43, Rule 1 (q) provides for an appeal against order passed under Rules 3 or 6 of Or.38 and omission of Rule 5 in that provision, under which order of attachment before judgment can be passed has its own significance - High Court has taken view in some cases that an order through which attachment before judgment is raised, is not appealable and there is no independent provision, which deals with raising attachment and invariably, it must be under Rule 5 of Or.38 - Hence objection as regards to maintainability of revisions, unsustainable - Petitioner/plaintiff in suit has to act upon his apprehension may be that apprehension must be supported by some relevant facts and except that he can gather information from known sources, he cannot have direct access to steps being taken by defendants vis-a-vis property - In this case, besides third-party affidavits apprehension of petitioner that respondents are trying to sell property has been proved to be correct from fact that soon after trial Court has raised orders of attachment, they have executed sale deeds in respect of various items of property - At any rate, respondents can take steps for raising attachment by offering security upto value of suit claim or item of property, as case may be - Orders of attachment before judgment that were in force for past five years cannot be withdrawn at this stage - Instead suits can be taken up for trial - Orders of attachment before judgment passed in suits shall remain in force until disposal of suits - CRPs, allowed. Velu Yam Traders Vs. Lakshmi Priya Exports (India) Pvt. Ltd. 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 321 = 2013(4) ALD 140 = 2013(3) ALT 663.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Plaintiff filed suit for injunction simpliciter contenting that suit property is gifted by her father under registered gift deed and defendant is threatening to dispossess her - Appellant/defendant filed written statement claiming that suit property is ancestral property and father had no right to execute gift of part thereof and that document of gift, Ex.A.1 is void - Trial Court discussed evidence relating to possession as claimed by plaintiff but on basis of its finding that gift deed is void, dismissed suit, holding that plaintiff ought to have filed a suit for partition but cannot maintain suit for permanent injunction - Said decree of trial Court reversed by lower appellate Court - Appellant contends that gift deed itself is void as father had no right to gift away part of ancestral property and that his admissions are clearly explainable and that itself is not sufficient to decree suit of plaintiff- Respondent contends that suit being only for injunction, validity of said gift deed not a germane consideration and Court below ought to have decided suit only on basis of proof of possession by plaintiff on date of suit - In a suit for injunction, Courts should concentrate on aspect of possession rather than issue of title - In this case, inspite of noticing Ex.A.1 gift deed, defendant has not taken any steps to challenge or to cancel said document and that defendant specifically admits that he is not in possession of suit land and that plaintiff establishes possession of property on basis of revenue receipts - In a suit for injunction what is material, is only aspect of possession - Appellant is not entitled to any relief - 2nd appeal, dismissed. Ramavath Hasala Naik Vs. Sabahavath Gomli Bai, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 32 = 2011(2) ALD 350 = 2011(2) ALT 690.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Suit for specific performance and permanent injunction - Plaintiff subsequently withdrew relief of specific performance and pressed for relief of permanent injunction - Granting of permanent injunction being equitable relief such relief, cannot be granted to a person whose conduct is suspicious and who failed to prove that he at any point of time had exercised any act of possession over subject matter of dispute - When plaintiff failed to make out prima facie case of possession in his favour, suit filed by them for grant of permanent injunction is liable to be dismissed - In this case, plaintiff failed to adduce convincing evidence saying that under unregistered lease agreement he took possession of property and he is continuing possession of same on date of suit - 1st appellate Court rightly dismissed suit for permanent injunction filed by plaintiff by reversing decree and judgment passed by trial Court - This case, does not involve any substantial question of law for consideration in second appeal which is sine qua non for exercising jurisdiction by High Court to entertain 2nd appeal - 2nd Appeal, dismissed. Borugadda Martin Luther Vs. Andhra Evangelical Lutheran Church, Guntur 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 110 = 2011(4) ALT 113 = 2011(4) ALD 137.

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - A.P. (T.A) TENANCY AND AGRICULTURAL LANDS ACT, 1950, Sec.38-E - Respondent/plaintiff filed I.A to grant temporary injunction restraining petitioner and their men from interfering with peaceful possession and enjoyment over suit schedule land, stating that he is owner and possessor and in occupation of suit land having purchased from one “X”and his name was recorded as owner and possessor in revenue records and that he acquired title by adverse possession - 1st petitioner contends that her husband cultivated suit land on behalf of “Y” and by taking into his long occupation and enjoyment over suit land, RDO issued Sec.38-E certificate and that name of respondent is wrongly recorded as possessor and that he was never in possession and enjoyment of property at any point of time, but in collusion with revenue people, he got entered his name in revenue records - Trial Court granted injunction and same confirmed by appellate Court - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.227 - Power under Art.227 involves a duty on High Court to keep inferior Courts and Tribunals within bounds of their authority and see that they do

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

what their duty requires and that they do in legal manner - C.P.C, Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Grant or refusal of injunction is guided by three well established principles viz., (1) if plaintiff has made out a prima facie case (2) if balance of convenience is in his favour i.e., it would be grater inconvenience to plaintiff if injunction is not granted than inconvenience which defendant would be put to if temporary injunction is granted and (3) if plaintiff suffers irreparable injury - A person who is in settled possession of property, cannot be evicted forcibly by true owner - But true owner has every right to dispossess or throw out a trespasser, while he is in act or process of trespassing - Once a person is in settled possession, he is not to be dispossessed otherwise than by legal manner - Respondent has no right to get a permanent injunction to prevent his eviction for all times to come, but he cannot be evicted or removed without due process of law - As there is no error of law apparent on face of record power under Art.227 of Constitution cannot be exercised - Concurrent findings of two Courts below are based upon proper appreciation of material on record - Impugned order, justified - CRP, dismissed. Gone Rajamma Vs. Chennamaneni Mohan Rao 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 438.

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.5 - Granting of ad interim injunction - Pursuant to tender Notification issued by Hyderabad Cricket Association inviting tenders for maintenance of Rajiv Gandhi International Stadium for One Day International Match - 1st respondent/plaintiff submitted his tender - Even though price quoted by 1st respondent is less than price quoted by 3rd respondent work not awarded to him - Hence 1st respondent filed suit for declaration - Trial Court granting ad interim injunction restraining 3rd respondent from proceeding with arrangements until further orders - Petitioners/defendants contend that since 1st respondent/plaintiff filed suit praying to declare contract awarded in favour of 3rd respondent as null and void, unless and until contract awarded in favour of 3rd respondent is declared as nulla and void, 1st respondent/plaintiff not entitled to grant of any relief, much less ad interim injunction order and that trial Court committed grave error in passing impugned interim ad interim injunction without issuing notice to parties to be affected - Respondent/ plaintiff submits that since impugned order of interim injunction is an order under Or.39, Rule 1 & 2 CPC remedy of petitioners/defendants is to file regular Appeal, and as such, CRP filed by them invoking jurisdiction of Art.227 of Constitution is not maintainable and CRP be dismissed as not maintainable - PRINCIPLES GOVERNING GRANT OF AD INTERIM INJUCTION ORDERS - Stated - Court before granting ad interim injunction must satisfy for itself three things viz., 1) prima facie case; 2) irreperable injury or loss that would be caused if no interim injunction is granted; 3) balance of convenience - If nature of relief sought for by parties as bearing on public interest or affecting public peace and order, then Courts could not grant them unless opposite party is issued notice and heard - Evidently, from prayer sought by plaintiff in suit he was asking to declare allotment of tender work in favour of 3rd respondent as null and void and to accept his tender - Court could not have granted any relief to plaintiff much less ad interim injunction order unless and until allotment of work order granted in favour of 3rd respondent is declared as null and void, set aside - Admittedly, contract work relates to supply of security staff, chairs and putting up barricades at site and execution of such contract is a time bound programme and has to be executed before commencement of Matches - Court ought to have seen whether 1st respondent/plaintiff had capacity to execute work - In this Case, Trial Court before granting ad interim injunction order, apart from failing to look into principles governing grant of injunction orders, also failed to look into provisions of Sec. 5 of Specific Relief Act - As this is one of rarest of rare cases and if ad interim injunction order granted by Court is not set aside, then entire proceedings in suit would become academic - Therefore instead of rejecting CRP on technicalities and relegating petitioners/ defendant to avail remedy of appeal, to prevent mis-carriage of justice, it is appropriate to exercise supervisory jurisdiction under Art.227 and allow same by setting aside impugned order of ad interim injunction passed by Court below - Hence injunction order granted by Court below, set aside - CRP, allowed. Hyderabad Cricket Assn., R.R. Dist., Vs. C.Babu Rao 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 160.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.53-A - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.54 - Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit against respondent for perpectual injunction contending that he is in possession and pattadar pass books also issued by competent authority - When petitioner refused to sell property, 1st respondent which is an Industry with colluded with 2nd respondent and brought into existence sale deed and started interfering with property on basis of same - Trial Court granted temporary injunction inspite of respondents 1 & 2 opposing application filed under Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 CPC - District Judge allowed CMAs filed by respondents - Hence present revisions - Petitioner/ plaintiff contends that appellate Court travelled beyond scope of I.A. and allowed appeals and made observation which would have bearing upon merits and maintainability of suit and that petitioner has yet to acquire perfect title over property, he can protect his possession on strength of agreement of sale by relaying upon Sec.53-A of T.P Act - Sec.53-A of Act is intended to protect rights of persons who have entered into an agreement for purchase of an item of immovable property but are facing threat of dispossession from concerned vendors - PURPORT OF SEC.53-A OF T.P ACT - Stated - "Utility of Section or rights conferred thereunder should not be made to depend on maneuvering for positions in a Court of law, otherwise a powerful transferor can always defeat salutary provisions of Section by dispossessing transferee by force and compelling him to go to a Court as plaintiff - Doubtless, right conveyed under Section can be relied upon only as a shield and not as a sword, but protection is available to transferee both as a plaintiff and as a defendant so long as he uses it as a shield" - Petitioner has, prima facie, proved his right in relation to property and balance of conveyance is in his favour - While petitioner intends to put land to agricultural use, 1st respondent proposed to use it as a dumping yard - Balance of conveyance is in favour of petitioner, to enable him to cultivate land - Order of temporary injunction shall remain in force till disposal of suit - Revisions, allowed. Madala Kotaiah Vs. Hamsa Minerals & Exports, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 303 = 2011(5) ALD 57 = 2011(6) ALT 19.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.39, Rules 1 and 2 and 2-A r/w Sec.151 – Petitioner/plaintiff filed suit for perpetual injunction against Municipal Corporation – Ad-interim injunction granted with direction not to make unauthorized construction against sanctioned plan – Subsequently after considering affidavits of petitioner and respondent, trial Court modified earlier interim order and ordered that petitioner shall not make any construction in suit premises until further orders - Respondent filed Application under Or.38, Rule 2-A r/w Sec.151 of CPC to punish petitioner for violating orders of injunction passed by Court - Trial Court after making enquiry considering oral and documentary evidence allowed petition in part and directed Office to issue arrest warrant for detaining petitioner in civil prison for term of one week as punishment - Under Order 39, Court is empowered to grant temporary injunction and it can also impose condition on plaintiff to prevent him from violating law under guise of temporary injunction granted by Court - Provisions of Or.39, do not indicate that injunction order is applicable only to defendant, but not plaintiffs - Plaintiff can also be restrained from committing or omitting any act determinntal to interest of opposite party - Petitioner contends that Or.39, Rule 2-A is not applicable since there is disobedience of condition imposed by Court only but not injunction to attract Rule 2-A – Order of lower Court is a clear indication that plaintiffs are also restrained from making any further construction till further orders – Rule 2-A is pumitive in nature, strict compliance of violation of order is essential and unless there is a positive proof that plaintiff is violated orders of Court, he cannot be punished - In this case, there is sufficient evidence to show that petitioner not only violated Building Rules and approved plan, but also proceeded with construction disregarding direction of Court not to make any construction till further orders – If party willfully flouts an order of Court then such a party can expect no equitable relief from Court - Such a party must be made to bear consequences of his action – Otherwise all parties will ignore or flout order of Court – Order of trial Court in imposing civil imprisonment for one week on plaintiff – Justified – CRPs, dismissed. K.Jawahar Reddy Vs. G. Kamala Rao 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 306 = 2009(1) ALD 442 = 2008(6) ALT 772.

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 and 2-A & Or.21, Rule 46 & 46-B - Respondent availed loan from State Bank of India and constructed godowns and let out to FCI, by depositing title deeds - SBI filed suit for recovery of loan amount, impleading FCI as 7th defendant - Trial Court allowed Application in suit seeking interim direction to FCI to restrain it from paying rent for said godowns to defendants 1 to 3 and further interim direction to FCI to deposit rents relating to godown to loan account of defendants 1 to 3 - In fact SBI/plaintiff not filed petition under Or.39 Rules 1 & 2 - An interim direction to defendant/tenant in a suit by creditor against landlord borrowers to deposit arrears of rent in Court and to continue deposit rents in Court with a condition that tenant will have to pay interest if rent was not so deposited, cannot be considered to be an order of "injunction" - A direction to pay money either by way of final or interim order, is not considered to be an injunction as assumed by Courts below - Application under Or.39, Rule 2-A of Code is maintainable only when there is disobedience of any "injunction" granted or other order made under Rule 1 or 2 of Or.39 or breach of any of terms on which injunction was granted or order was made - As impugned order was neither under Rule 1 or Rule 2 of Or.39, Application under Rule 2-A of Or.39 not maintainable - If a garnishee, or a defendant, who is directed to pay any sum of money, does not pay amount, remedy is to levy execution and not in an action for contempt or disobedience/breach under Or.39, Rule 2-A, r/w Rule 11-A of Or.38 of Code - Contempt jurisdiction, either under Contempt of Court Act or under Or.39, Rule 2-A of Code is not intended to be used for enforcement of money decree or directions/orders for payment of money - Power under Rule 2-A should be exercised with great caution and responsibility - It is shocking that trial Court had entertained an Application under Or.39, Rule 2-A from a person who was not entitled to file Application, has accepted an interpretation of Order which does not flow from Order, and has created liability where none existed, resulting in attachments of assets of FCI to an extent of more than crore - Impugned order, unsustainable - Orders of High Court and trial Court, set aside - Application filed by respondent under Or.39, Rule 2-A of Code, dismissed. Food Corporation of India Vs. Sukh Deo Prasad 2009(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 6 = 2009(4) ALD 68(SC) = 2009(3) Supreme 240 = AIR 2009 SC 2330.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 and Or.41, Rule 5 – A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994, Sec.22-A – A.P. CONDUCT OF ELECTION OF MEMBER (CO-OPTED), PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT OF MANDALA PARASHID AND MEMBERS (CO-OPTED), CHAIRPERSON AND VICE CHAIRPERSON OF ZILLA PARASHID RULES, 2006, Rules 21 & 22 – CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.136 - Inherent and statutory powers to stay/restrain the execution of the action impugned in the lis during pendency of the lis - Distinction between grant of injunction and stay and explained effect of both including consequences, after their termination - Show cause notice to appellant as to why action should not be taken against him for violating the decisions issued in the WHIPS and why he should not be disqualified as per G.O.Ms.No.173 of A.P. Panchayat Raj Act - Division Bench not right in observing that so long as the order of disqualification not set aside, it remain operative - Legality of WHIP issued by political party – Question not decided in view of pendency of election petitions before District Court - Appeal against interim orders – If reasoning given by High Court while passing the interim orders is perverse and legally unsustainable being against the settled principle of law laid down by Supreme Court, there interference of Supreme Court in such order is called for regardless of the nature of the order impugned in the Appeal - Reasoning extracted by High Court are wholly unsustainable being against the well settled principle of law, it is necessary for Supreme Court to interfere – Hence, impugned order of High Court, is set aside - Appeals are accordingly allowed. Edara Haribabu Vs. T.Venkata Narasimham 2015(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 39

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—-Or.39, Rule 1 and 2A(1)&(2) - "Disobedience of injunction" - "Police aid" - Suit for partition and injunction - Trial Court granted ad interim injunction and granted Police aid - Hence present CRP - Petitioner contends that trial Court ought to have considered that no Application was filed under Or.39, Rule 2A CPC and without resorting to procedure prescribed and Or.39, Rule 2A CPC and without considering facts and circumstances of case, - Trial Court straightaway granted Police aid - Admittedly petitioner and respondent are brothers and dispute is with regard to joint family property - In this case rival claims and relationship of parties have to be kept in mind - Question whether petitioner has a share in disputed property or not, whether sale deed is valid or not has to be decided by trial Court after full fledged trial - Main purpose of granting injunction is to see that a party who is in peaceful possession is not dispossessed and to see that property in dispute is not being wasted, damaged or alienated by any party to suit, pending disposal of suit - As far as granting of police aid is concerned, there cannot be any dispute with regard to principles laid down in decisions cited by either side - However Courts have to see facts and circumstances of each case - Where it appears that a person having no right and title wrongfully interferes with possession of any other person who is in lawful owner of property then Court is always justified in granting Police aid to protect possession of such party, but where it appears to Court that a party may have a right by birth for example a party claiming right as coparcener in property or a share in property then Courts must be slow in granting Police aid in such situation - Merely because a person is not in actual possession of property or may be residing at some other place, that does not mean that he has no right in property, but however where party has been in continuous possession of property for considerable period and claims right over such property, Court is justified in protecting his possession temporarily till rights of parties have been crystallized - But this does not mean that a party can alter physical features of any property or make constructions in disputed property particularly where other side party claims a share in property and particularly when a partition suit is pending between parties or between persons claiming under partition suit - In this case, lower Court ignored relationship between parties and rival claims of parties and partition suit filed by petitioner is pending - Normally in civil matters unless and until rights have been crystallized and it is clear to mind of Court that a party without any semblance of right is violating orders of Court, interference of Police should not be called for - Impugned order, set aside - Revision petition, allowed. Mettu Malyadri Vs. Mettu Sivaiah, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 59 = 2014(1) ALD 704 = 2014(3) ALT 17.

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2, r/w Sec.151 & Or.41, Rule 5, r/w Sec.151 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.136 - 2nd appellant filed suit to declare him as Mathadipathi of a Math and filed an Application for injunction during pendency of appeal - Trial Court directed to main status quo and subsequently dismissed suit allowing counter claim of 1st respondent by granting mandatory injunction directing 2nd appellant to handover articles of Math to 1st respondent - Appellant filed Application for injunction pending appeals and also filed separate application under Or.41, Rule 5 seeking stay of judgment and decree of trial Court - High Court dismissed applications of appellants and directed that execution of decree grated by trial Court would be subject to final out come of appeals filed before it - Hence, present SLPs. - Appellants contend that since an interim order of status quo regarding functioning of Mathadipathi of Math was operative during pendency of suit and triable issues have to be gone into by High Court in first appeals, it was fit and proper for High Court to direct parties to maintain interim order which was granted by trial Court during pendency of suit - Respondents contend that since appellants could not make out any prima facie case to get an interim order of injunction during pendency of appeals, question of continuance of interim order which was grated by trial Court during pendency of suit, cannot arise at all - In this case, trial Court, in its judgment had carefully and in detail, considered material documents as well as oral evidence and then had come to conclusion that 2nd appellant had failed to make a prima facie case in his favour for purpose of obtaining injunction in his favour - 2nd appellant was not entitled to any discretionery remedy of injunction - In order to obtain an order of injunction, party who seeks for grant of injunction has to prove that he has made out a prima facie case to go for trial, balance of convenience is also in his favour and he will suffer irreparable loss and injury if injunction is not granted - When party fails to prove prima facie case, to go for trial, question of considering balance of convenience or irreparable loss and injury to party concerned would not be material at all - If party fails to prove prima facie case to go for trial it is not open to Court to grant injunction in his favour even if, he has made out a case of balance of convenience being in his favour and would suffer irreparable loss and injury if no injunction order is granted - High Court directed to dispose of pending appeals within six months - Appeals, dismissed. Kashi Math Samsthan Vs. Srimad Sudhindra Thirtha Swamy 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 1.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 2 - Or.40, Rule 1 - Powers to appoint Receiver - In suit for perpetual injunction - Trial Court appointed Receiver to manage suit schedule property - 1st Appellate Court set aside appointment of Receiver - In this case, present Application filed by plaintiff into Trial Court for appointment of Receiver on ground that inspite of granting injunction on earlier occasion, plaintiff is unable to protect its possession and if Receiver is not appointed there would be scramble for possession and defendants would cause structural damages to building and change physical features of property -Therefore appointment of Receiver is imperative so as to safeguard suit schedule property till disposal of suit - Requirements for appointment of Receiver – Stated - In this case, from date of passing ex parte order appointing Receiver till today Receiver is managing properties - Case of plaintiff Baptist Church is that though Church is in possession and enjoyment of suit schedule property, it is unable to safe guard and manage property because of illegal, high-handed and intimidating acts of defendants, several cases are pending between parties including filing of suits by some third parties and also Police initiated action u/Sec.145 Cr.P.C - Therefore in view of long standing disputes between various groups including third parties with regard to same subject matter of property, it would cause public disorder in area of Schedule property, if Receiver is discontinued at this point of time - Purpose and object of appointing

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Receiver is for benefit of those ultimately found to be rightful owners - CRP, allowed. Trust Association (CBCNC) Vs. J.Malini Tyagaraj 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 73.

—Or.39, Rules 1 & 3 - Application filed by plaintiff praying for injunction against interference by the defendants and also filed another application for grant of the ad interim injunction order to facilitate construction of the compound wall - Lower Court allowed both the application and granted both reliefs even before notice is served on the defendants without assigning any reason - Held, bad in law - While the former relief could be granted by the Court based on prima facie material by recording reasons for dispensing with notice, in the latter category of cases, the Court should be conscious of the fact that ordering of notice would not defeat the purpose for which the suit is filed, for plaintiffs can wait for a few days or even a few weeks without constructing compound wall as their interests have been firmly secured by way of an ad interim order of injunction to protect their possession-Order passed by the lower Court borders on judicial impropriety and constitutes abuse of judicial discretion - Appellant is permitted to file an application for his impleadment within two weeks from the date of receipt of order - Lower Court to rehear case - Appeal against Lower court's order by third party and not the defendants - Plea to continue order against defendants dismissed - When this Court is interfering with order of the lower Court on ground of impropriety, order in its entirety must be set at naught, irrespective of whether defendants have questioned same or not - Appeal Allowed. P.Sudershan Reddy Vs. Smt.Geetha Srinivasan 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 301 = 2014(4) ALD 510 = 2014(4) ALT 781.

—-Or.39, Rules 1 and 3A - Ex parte injunction granted - Court should have made sincere endeavour to dispose of Notice of Motion on merits in light of mandate contained in Order XXXIX Rule 3A of Code, which in clear terms provides that Court shall make an endeavour to finally dispose of application within 30 days from date on which the ex parte injunction was granted - Contempt proceedings stayed till Motion application is decided. Quantum Securities Pvt Ltd Vs. New Delhi Television Ltd 2015(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 47 = 2015(6) ALD 124 (SC) = 2015 AIR SCW 5330 = AIR 2015 SC 3699.

—Or.39, Rule 2-A and Or.21, Rule 32 - Police protection - Respondent/plaintiff filed suit for perpetual injunction restraining defendants from interfering which is alleged peaceful possession and enjoyment of plaint schedule property - Ad interim injunction was granted and subsequently it was made absolute - Trial Court allowed Application filed by plaintiffs for "Police help" and directed SHO shall provide necessary Police aid to plaintiff - Hence the present Revision filed by defendants contending that order passed by Court below is erroneous since there is an allegation made by plaintiff that defendants are causing interference with his peaceful possession and enjoyment, plaintiff can only file an

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Application under Or.39, Rule 2-A CPC to punish defendants for violating temporary injunction passed by Court and they cannot seek "Police aid" - Petitioner contend that only remedy available to a party for violation of order of injunction is to file an Application under Or.21, Rule 32 or Application under Or.39, Rule 2-A CPC and respondent/plaintiff cannot file Application for Police protection - Apex Court held that Police protection may be granted in writ jurisdiction when a Court is approached for protection of rights declared by decree or by an order passed by a civil Court granting an injunction in favour of Applicant and same was being deliberately flouted - An order of temporary injunction has to be obeyed by parties to it and when plaintiff complains that defendant is committing breach of said order and seeks Police protection, a Court is under an obligation to accord such protection - Unless this is done, the rule of law will not prevail and judicial orders would not be effectively implemented - Granting of such orders would uphold dignity and effeteness of judiciary - Order of lower Court in granting Police aid to respondents - Justified - Revision, dismissed. Gampala Anthaiah Vs. Kasarla Venkat Reddy 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 153 = 2014(2) ALD 281 = 2014(2) ALT 661.

—Or.40 - "Powers of Receiver" - In this appeal question falls for consideration is "whether the Court Receiver stands discharged or whether he continues in his office till an order of discharge is passed by the Court?".....The Apex Court held that the objective of appointment of Receiver is to preserve the property by taking possession or otherwise till case is finaly decided - The Functions of Receivers come to an end with the final deciaions of the case - However, even after the final decision, the Court has power to take further assistance of the Receiver as and when the need arises. Sherali Khan Mohamed Manekia Vs. State of Maharashtra 2015(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 31 = 2015(3) ALD 182 (SC) = 2015 AIR SCW 1638 = AIR 2015 SC 1394.

—Or,40, Rule 1 - "Appointment of Receiver" - Suit for partition and separate possession relating to Petrol Pump and Weigh Bridge - Plaintiff filed petition seeking appointment of Receiver to take charge of business of petrol pump and Weigh Bridge and collect daily business amount, profit and deposit same before Court - Trial Court allowed Application and Advocate-Receiver appointed - In this case, there is no whisper that suit property is being misused or mismanaged and there is likelihood of damage being caused to Petrol Pump - APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER - 5 principles (Panch Sadachar) are as follows: "1. The appointment of a Receiver in a pending suit is a matter vesting in the discretion of the Court; 2. The Court should not appoint a Receiver except upon proof of prima facie that plaintiff has a very excellent chance of succeeding in the suit;3.Apart from conflicting claims to the property, the plaintiff must show some emergency or danger or loss demanding immediate action and therefore the element of danger is an important consideration;4. Where the property is shown to be "in modio" that is to say in enjoyment of none; 5.The conduct of the party who made the application shall be free from blame" - Trial Court on mere conjectures and surmises proceeded to observe that there are some wastage and damage to petition schedule property and that impugned order is solely unsustainable and not based on any material - CMA, allowed. Mohd. Tajuddin Vs. Smt.Muneerunissa Begum 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 335.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.40, Rule 1 - Appointment of Receiver - Suit property worth more than 1000 crores and second appellant filed suit that her husband is unable to manage affairs of Company and his property and filed suit on his behalf for declaration that Will and certain documents are null and void - Appointment of receiver - Guidelines - Stated -Appointment of a Receiver pending suit is a matter which is within the discretionary jurisdiction of the Court - Ordinarily the Court would not appoint a receiver save and except on a prima facie finding that the plaintiff has an excellent chance of success in the suit - It is also for the plaintiff not only to show a case of adverse and conflict claims of property but also emergency, danger or loss demanding immediate action - Element of danger is an important consideration. Ordinarily, a Receiver would not be appointed unless a case has been made out which may deprive the defendant of a de facto possession - For said purpose, conduct of the parties would also be relevant - It is a fit case where High Court should have appointed a Receiver and/or an administrator with suitable directions leaving matter to High Court relating to imposition of conditions or appointment of Chartered Accountant or others to assist Receiver. Parmanand Patel (died) by LRS Vs. Sudha A.Chowgule 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 120 = 2009(4) ALD 7 (SC) = 2009(4) Supreme 63 = AIR 2009 SC 1593.

—Or.41, Rules 1 (3), 2 and 5 & Or.37 - Appellant filed summons suit for recovery of certain amount - Trial Court allowed Application for leave to defend subject to condition of payment of undisputed and admitted amount - Since respondent failed to deposit amount within stipulated time suit decreed - High Court stayed operation of execution of decree in its entirety - Non compliance of direction to deposit decretal amount or part of it or furnish security therefor would result in dismissal of stay Application but not entire Appeal - In this case, High Court failed to notice provisions of sub-rule (3) of Rule 1 of Or.41 - Appellate Court indisputably has discretion to direct deposit of such amount as it may think fit - But while granting stay of execution of decree, it must take in to consideration facts and circumstances of case before it - It is not to act arbitrarily either way - If a stay is granted sufficient cause must be shown, which means that materials on record were required to be perused and reasons are to be assigned and such reasons should be cogent and adequate - Appeals, allowed. Malwa Strips Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Jyoti Ltd. 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 46.

—Or.41, Rule 17 - 'Second appeal' dismissed for default of Advocate - Respondent-workman filed suit questioning his termination of service by appellant/ Horticulture Department - Trial Court held that impugned order of termination of service is perfectly valid and legal - Appellate Court set aside decree of trial Court, declaring order of termination as null and void and inoperative - High Court dismissed second appeal on merits for non- appearance of appellants and subsequently Application for recall of order also dismissed - Advocate has no right to remain absent from Court when case of his client comes up for hearing - He is duty bound to attend case in Court or to make alternative arrangement - Non appearance in Court cannot be excused - Such absence is not only unfair to client of Advocate but also unfair and discourteous to Court and can never be countenanced - However, when a party engages an Advocate who is expected to appear at time of hearing but fails to so appear, normally, a party should not suffer on account of default or nonappearance of Advocate - In this case, taking into consideration, facts and circumstances in their totality, even though counsel for appellant not present, it would have been appropriate, had High Court granted an opportunity to counsel for appellant to make his submissions by adjourning matter - In instant case, appeal before High Court is not an appeal from Original Decree (1st appeal), but an appeal from Appellate Decree (2nd appeal) - Once an appeal is admitted and is placed for hearing i.e., hearing on merits, it can be dismissed for default but cannot be decided on merits in absence of appellant (or his Advocate) - Order of High Court, set aside and matter remitted to High Court for fresh disposal in accordance with law.Secretary Department of Horticulture, Chandigarh Vs. Raghu Raj 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 135.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.41, Rule 23 - "Remanding of case by Appellate Court" - Suit filed by appellant for injunction simplicitor - Decreed - Lower Appellate Court remanded matter to trial Court for fresh consideration and disposal - Appellant contends that very approach of lower appellate Court is defective, as much as a specific point was framed as to whether matter must be remanded and that discretion by lower appellate Court throughout judgment has centered around aspect of remand - Respondent contends that trial Court did not take into account, fact that applications were filed for appointment of Commissioner and for receiving additional evidence and that matter was remanded to provide opportunity to parties to do the needful - In this case, lower appellate Court framed first point as to "whether the suit is remanded to the lower Court?" - It was proceeded as though remand of matter to trial Court is a substantial issue, or a point by itself, little realizing that appeal is continuation of suit and it ought to have been decided on merits - Evidently basis for remanding was filing of application by second respondent for appointment of receiver and another for receiving additional evidence - None of these grounds constitute basis for remanding matter to trial Court - Impugned order, set aside - Lower appellate Court directed to decide matter on merits - CMA, allowed. Sri Baljaji Chicken Centre,Vijayawada Vs. R.K.Chicken Centre, Vijayawada 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 76 = 2009(6) ALD 188 = 2009(6) ALT 450 = 2009(3) APLJ 47 (SN).

—Or.41, Rule 23 & Or.43, Rule 1(u) - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.68 - "REMANDING OF MATTER" - 1st respondent/plaintiff filed suit for declaration of title and for injunction against appellants/defendants conducting that he became owner of property under registered Will - Trial Court dismissed suit holding that original of exhibit A.1, Will not filed and no explanation is furnished by plaintiff for not producing original and he did not examine attestors of said Will or its scribe to prove its execution - Lower appellate Court set aside judgment and decree of trial Court and remitted matter back to trial Court, to give opportunity to both parties to adduce further evidence on all documents already produced and also documents filed in first appellate Court as additional evidence and dispose of suit afresh, holding that plaintiff did not examine any witness to prove Wills Exs.A1 and A2 as required u/Sec.68 of Evidence Act - In this case, lower appellate Court having held that plaintiff failed to prove Ex.A1 and A2 or his possession of plaint schedule property, and having confirmed findings of trial Court in that regard acted perversely in setting aside judgment and decree of trial Court and remitting matter back to trial Court - Order of remand made without coming to conclusion that decision of trial Court is wrong and that it is necessary to reverse or set aside decree, is illegal, that appellate Court has to consider evidence on record and then has to arive at conclusion whether finding recorded by trial Court cannot be supported by evidence on record and that in considering whether remand is necessary or not, conduct of parties has to be considered, that is whether they have sufficient opportunity to adduce evidence at trial Court or not - There is a clear danger that in such cases a remand order may in effect to be an invitation to perjury; that provisions of Or.41, Rule 23 CPC are not intended to circumvent provisions of Or.41, Rule 27 CPC and that merely using formula "in the interest of justice", an otherwise unjustifable remand cannot be clothed with an air of legality - In this case, by remitting matter to trial Court, lower appellate Court has virtually rewarded plaintiff, who had adequate opportunity to lead evidence in trial Court and who had neglected to lead evidence to prove Ex.A.1 and A.2 Wills or his possession, by giving him another opportunity to cover up lacuna in his evidence - It causes undue hardship to defendants due to prolongation of litigation and also further expenses - Order of lower appellate Court, unsustainable - Judgment and decree of appellate Court setting aside judgment and decree of trial Court and remitting matter back to trial Court, set aside and consequently judgment of trial Court confirmed - CMA, allowed. Vidya Sagar Cole (Died) Vs. J.Balaji Singh 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 162 = 2013(6) ALD 519.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.41, R.26-A & Or.9, R.9 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.5 - Suit filed for specific performance of agreement of sale - Decreed - Appeal allowed and matter remanded to trial Court for fresh disposal, observing that purchaser of property during pendency must be impleaded as defendant - Since nothing was forthcoming for years together though appeal disposed of in 2001, Application filed to take up hearing of suit - On information that suit dismissed for default in 2004, Application filed under Or.9, R.9 to set aside order along with Application to condone delay of 1228 days - Trial Court dismissing Application - So far as parameters for condo-nation of delay are concerned, hardly there exists any uniformity or straightjacket formula - However, if satisfactory and valid explanation is not forthcoming, Application for condonation of delay of even few days, is liable to be rejected, where as, delay of fairly large extent also can be condoned if valid explanation is offered - Matter was remanded for fresh adjudication for disposal with specific direction that subsequent purchaser must be impleaded as defendant - Course of action to be adopted, whenever a matter is remanded by appellate Court, is indicated in Rule 26-A of Or.41 CPC - Object of this Rule is to enable parties to appear before Court, to which

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

matter is remanded and take further steps - Record does not disclose that any such date was fixed by High Court while remanding matter - Unless parties are informed of any date of hearing, either by appellate Court, which remanded matter or by trial Court, parties cannot be expected to be in indefinite waiting and watching - In this case, mere issuance of notice was treated as sufficient without verifying whether it was served upon sole plaintiff at all - When valuable rights of parties are involved, such casual approach is untenable - Petitioners cannot be penalised for improper handling of matter by trial Court - Impugned order, set aside - CRP, allowed. Mamidi Rama Krishna Prasad (died) Vs. Upuluru Satyavathi 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 13 = 2008(2) ALT 590 = 2008(1) ALD 807.

—Or.41, R.27 - 'Receiving additional evidence' - Trial Court dismissed suit filed by petitioner/plaintiff for declaration - Appellate Court dismissing Applications filed by petitioner for summoning certain documents which contain signatures of 11th respondent - Petitioner contends that she is not aware of existence of such documents when trial was conducted in suit and it is only after dismissal of suit on ground that signatures of husband of 11th respondent not proved - Respondent contends that petitioner is not deligent enough in getting admitted signature of husband of 11th respondent marked or send for examination by expert and now asking for summoning of such document, is nothing but to protract litigation - In this case, plea taken by petitioner does not fall in any of grounds provided for under Or.41, R.27 - When it is case of petitioner that her sister who is arrayed as 11th respondent is her tenant and she is residing in demised premises with her husband and husband of 11th respondent has executed lease deed in favour of petitioner, petitioner should have tried to examine husband of 11th respondent - Hence it is clear that petitioner not taken any steps to examine husband of 11th respondent - Petitioner is not deligent enough during course of trial and hence she cannot say that despite her exercising due deligence she could not produce such evidence, cannot be accepted - Order of Court below in dismissing Applications - Justified - Revisions, dismissed. Balsa Sarada Vs. Talluri Anasuryamma (died) 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 406 =2008(5) ALD 828 = 2008(5) ALT 3.

—Or.41, R.27 - Production of additional evidence - Suit for partition of suit property - Trial Court decreed suit directing partition of suit property among sharers - During pendency of Appeal defendant/appellant filed praying to permit him to file ROR certificates as additional evidence in Appeal and mark them as exhibits - Appellate Court dismissed Application observing that petitioner not entitled to file documents - Petitioner/defendant contends that documents proposed to be filed are certificates issued under provisions of A.P. Rights in Land and Pattadar Pass Books Act, validating unregistered sale deed and said documents are relevant and crucial and are admissible as additional evidence and that he could not produce those documents in lower Court due to filing of them before MRO and unless said documents are marked and sufficient opportunity is given to prove sale transaction he will suffer great loss - In this case, lower Court considered oral and documentary evidence placed before it and disposed of suit - Though appellate Court can permit additional evidence to be adduced for giving a judgment, documents filed by defendant are documents obtained subsequent to filing of suit and no record to show as to how MRO issued said certificates on basis of agreement of sale - Order of lower Court dismissing petition to file additional evidence - Justified - Revision petition, dismissed. Annam Malla Reddy Vs. Bangi Nagaiah 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 381 = 2008(4) ALD 564 = 2008(3) ALT 626 = 2008(2) APLJ 31.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Order 41, Rule 27 - Predecessor-in-interest of 7th respondent, who was arrayed as 1st respondent in appeal, was original plaintiff – Plaintiff filed suit for partition of plaint schedule property into three equal shares and for allotment of 1/9th share to her - Said suit was decreed and against said judgment and decree, defendants 2 to 6, 12 and 13 preferred appeal - They filed three applications, to receive death certificate, to receive certified copy of judgment in O.S.No.615 of 2002 and to receive registration extract of sale deed executed - When said applications were allowed, revision petitioner herein who is successor of plaintiff filed above civil revision petitions challenging said orders - Held, in case before lower appellate court, applications were allowed even before considering evidence before it and coming to conclusion that the additional evidence is required for pronouncing judgment in a more satisfactory manner - Hence the orders are not in accordance with law - In result, orders allowing applications for reasons aforesaid are set aside and applications are posted along with the appeals for consideration of applications along with the appeals and taking the additional evidence, if necessary at time of disposal of appeal on basis of available evidence when it feels that additional evidence is necessary - Civil Revision Petitions are allowed accordingly. Medidhi Chakra Veni Vs. Kamisetti Venkata Ramanam, 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 519

---Order 41, Rule 27 - Predecessor-in-interest of 7th respondent, who was arrayed as 1st respondent in appeal, was original plaintiff – Plaintiff filed suit for partition of plaint schedule property into three equal shares and for allotment of 1/9th share to her - Said suit was decreed and against said judgment and decree, defendants 2 to 6, 12 and 13 preferred appeal - They filed three Applications, to receive death certificate, to receive certified copy of judgment and to receive registration extract of sale deed executed - When said Applications were allowed, revision petitioner herein who is successor of plaintiff filed above civil revision petitions challenging said orders.

Held, in case before lower appellate court, Applications were allowed even before considering evidence before it and coming to conclusion that additional evidence is required for pronouncing judgment in a more satisfactory manner - Hence orders are not in accordance with law - In result, orders allowing Applications for reasons aforesaid are set aside and Applications are posted along with appeals for consideration of Applications along with Appeals and taking additional evidence, if necessary at time of disposal of appeal on basis of available evidence when it feels that additional evidence is necessary - Civil Revision Petitions are allowed accordingly. Medidhi Chakra Veni Vs. Kamisetti Venkata Ramanam 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 69 = 2016(2) ALD 155 = 2016(1) ALT 677.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.41, Rule 27 r/w Sec.151 - "Permission to adduce additional evidence" - Suit filed by respondent against petitioner/defendant for recovery of money basing on promissory notes, dismissed - In appeal/plaintiff filed Applicaion under Or.41, Rule 27, seeking permission to adduce additional evidence by examining his son as additional witness on his behalf, stating that he could not examine him as witness as he was far away in Saudi Arabia and inspite of exercise of diligence, he could not examiNe his son as a witness at time of trial of suit and therefore he should be permitted to examine him in appeal as his witness by way of additional evidence - Petitioner filed counter denying contentions of plaintiff, contending that Application itself is not maintainable, as it does not fulfill conditions set out in Or.41, Rule 27 CPC - Appellate Court, allowed application filed by plaintiff - Hence present revision filed by petitioner - Petitioner/defedant contends that Application for additional evidence should be decided along with appeal and in present case, even though appeal was not taken up for final hearing, appellate Court had taken up application filed by respondent/plaintiff, under Or.41, Rule 27 - Respondent/plaintiff contends that Court had satisfied itself that evidence of son of respondent is essential to prove endorsements on promissory notes and that respondent had satisfied Court that Application should be ordered as respondents case comes within Or.41, Rule 27(1)(aa) and (b) of CPC, therefore order passed by appellate Court allowing application does not warrant in interference by this Court - In this case, reading of impugned order indicates that while considering Application filed under Or.41, Rule 27 CPC, Appellate Court had gone into merits of appeal also to some extent and thereafter it had considered whether application filed by respondent/plaintiff comes within perview of Or.41, Rule 27 CPC - There is nothing on record to show that Court was considering appeal also alongwith application filed under Or.41, Rule 27 CPC - It is not a matter of right for a party to walk into appellate Court and seek grant of permission to produce additional evidence and that an Application for receiving additional evidence at appeal stage would only be allowed, if conditions laiddown in Or.27, Rule 41, CPC have been satisfied - Before a party was allowed to produce additional evidence pleading under Or.41, Rule 27(1)(aa) of CPC, he has to establish that such evidence was not within his knowledge or could not, after exercise of due diligence, be produced by him at time when decree appealed against was passed - In present case, appellate Court not adheared to above principles and allowed Application, erroneously - Impugned order of appellate Court, set aside - C.R.P., allowed. Nandam Rama Rao Vs. Battu Rama Rao 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 50 = 2013(6) ALD 754.

—Or.41, Rule 27 & Or.22 & Sec.100 - EVIDENCE ACT, Secs, 55,65,74, 58 & 114(g) - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.34 - "Adverse inference" - "Additional Evidence" - "Admission" - Plaintiff/1st respondent filed suit seeking decree for declaration that he is owner of suit property contending that land partitioned between ancestors of plaintiff, being only heir his mother became absolute owner and after death of his mother he became absolute owner - Appellant filed written statement denying owner- ship of plaintiff/respondent no.1, contending that land belong to Ministry of Defence i.e. Unionof od India - Since plaintiff failed to prove partition between his ancestors, suit dismissed - 1st appellate Court allowed application filed by the plaintiff for adducing additional evidence and allowed appeal - High Court dismissed 2nd appeal filed by appellant Union of India - Hence present appeal - Appellant contends that there was no documentary evidence or trustworthy evidence that suit property belongs to plaintiff/respondent no.1 and that first appellate Court had no occasion to decide application under Or.41, Rule 27 prior to hearing of appeal and that High Court framed four substantial questions of law at time of admission of appeal and two additional substantial questions at a later stage, but did not answer either of them nor recorded any finding - In this case, appellant/Union of India did not produce revenue record before trial Court, 1st appellate Court has wrongly drawn adverse inference u/Sec.114(g) of Evidence Act and that appeal deserves to be allowed - Respondent contends that concurring findings recorded by 1st and 2nd appellate Court are not liable to be intefered with in discretionary jurisdiction under Art.136 of Constitution of India - In view of fact that 2nd appeal could be decided on limited issues, High Court is not bound to answer substantial questions of law framed by it - Appeal liable to be dismissed - ADVERSE INFERENCE - Issue of drawing adverse inference is required to be decided by Court taking into consideration pleadings of parties and by deciding whether any document/evidence withheld, has any relevance at all or omission of its production would directly establish case of other side - Court cannot lose sight of fact that burden of proof is on party which makes factual averment - Court has to consider further as to whether other side would file interrogatories or apply for inspection and production of documents etc., as is required under Or.11 CPC - ADMISSION - “Failure to prove defence does not amount to an admission nor does it reverse or discharge burden of proof of plaintiff” - Admission made by party though not conclusive is a decisive factor, in a case, unless other party successfully withdraws same or proves it tobe erroneous - Law requires that an opportunity be given to person who has made admission under cross-examination to tender his explanation and clarify point on question of admissions - Failure of a party to prove his defence does not amount to admission, nor it can reverse or discharge burden of proof of plaintiff - Admissions are governed under Secs.17 to 31 of Evidence Act - While admission for purpose of trial may dispense with proof of particular fact - Admissions are not conclusive proof but may operate as estoppel against its maker - Documents are necessarily either proved by witness or marked on admission - C.P.C. OR.41, RULE 27 - ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE - Application taking for additional evidence at an appellate stage, even if filed during pendency of appeal, is to be heard at time of final hearing of appeal - In case, application for taking additional evidence on record has been considered and allowed prior to hearing of appeal, order being product of total and complete non-application of mind

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

as to whether such evidence is required to be taken on record to pronounce judgment or not, remains in conse-quential inexecutable and is liable to be ignored - SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, Sec.34 - It is not permissible to claim relief of declaration without seeking conse-quential reliefs - In this case, suit for declaration of title of ownership has been filed, though, plaintiff is admittedly not in possession of suit property - Thus suit is barred by provisions of Sec.34 of Specific Relief Act and therefore ought to have been dismissed solely on this ground - High Court though framed substantial question on this point but for unknown reasons did not considered it proper to decide same - Appellate Courts have decided appeals in unwarranted manner in complete derogation of statutory requirements - Provisions of CPC and evidence Act have been flagrantly violated - Judgments and decrees of 1st and 2nd appellate Courts are set aside - Appeal, allowed. Union of India Vs. Versus Ibrahim Uddin 2012(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 195.

—Or.41, Rule 27 and Or.47, Rule, 1 - "Review" - High Court passing common judgment without disposing of Applications filed seeking amendment of plaint, amendment of cause of action in appeals, impleadment for impleading respondents in appeal and to receive two more documents as additional evidence in appeal - Petitioner/appellants contend that non-consideration of Applications by High Court while adjudicating and passing common judgment in appeals, is an error apparent on face of record - Respondents contend that notwithstanding non-consideration of applications including for reception of additional evidence, common judgment is not liable to be reviewed and that though non-consideration of applications, in particular applications filed for reception of additional evidence may amount to an error apparent on face of record, every apparent error does not legitimize review unless error has also occasion miscarriage of justice - Non consideration and determination of several miscellaneous applications clearly amounts to an error apparent on face of record - When an application for production of additional evidence under Or.41, Rule 27, it is duty of appellate Court to deal with same on merits; and non-consideration of such application vitiates appellate judgment - Where a review of judgment is sought on ground for instance that relevant material was not considered including an application for production of additional evidence, appropriate procedure is to consider vitality of such Application and analysis of additional evidence, anterior to considering whether review of judgment is warranted - Present application for review of common judgment have to facets; one facet targets judgment for invalidation on ground that miscellaneous applications including applications for production of additional evidence were neither adverted to nor considered - Second and substantial facet of applications for review is that determination/conclusion in common judgment is errorneous on merits and a contrary conclusion is legitimate if additional evidence sought to be produced is considered - It is second facet of review application which requires consideration of analysis of merits of several miscellaneous applications - It is not pragmatic nor conduceive to expeditious and efficient adjudication to consider merits of each of miscellaneous applications prior to considering whether common judgment must be set aside on singular ground that several pending miscellaneous applications including those for production of additional evidence were neither adverted to nor determined in passing judgment - On aforesaid analysis present applications for review of common judgment are allowed - Common judgment set aside - Appeals shall be taken up for final adjudication along with ASMPs. Durga Matha House Building Constructions Vs.Sada Yellaiah, 2012(1) Law Summary 318 = 2012(3) ALD 633.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.41, Rule 27(a), (aa)(b) - Additional evidence - Respondents/plaintiffs filed suit for partition - Trial Court decreed suit - In first Appellate Court, plaintiff filed Application with prayer to receive Will and Relinquishment deed as additional evidence - Appellate Court received documents treating them as additional evidence under Cl.(b) of Rule 27 of Or.41 - Contention, that appellate Court committed patent legal error in taking on record additional evidence - It could have simply remanded matter by giving necessary directions - However, it has taken on record two documents Will and Relinquishment deed, marked as Exs.A4 & A5, in exercise of power and Cl.(b) of Rule 27 of Or.41 - Even where permission is accorded, one of two courses must be adopted by lower appellate Court; first is that additional evidence must be subjected to same tests, as is done in course of trial - Second is that it must remand matter to trial Court, for limited purpose of recording evidence, and arriving at a finding thereon - In instant case, lower appellate Court, recorded finding to effect that application made by plaintiffs does not fit into clauses (a) and (aa) of Or.41, Rule 27 CPC - Still, it has received evidence and straightaway proceeded as though said two documents were proved - Not a single witness was examined with reference to those two documents - Hence first substantial question of law is answered against plaintiffs, and infavour of appellant - First appellate Court has just chosen to treat document, which are sought to be marked as additional evidence, as though required by Court itself - such a course is totally impermissible in law and lower appellate Court committed error in this regard - Since judgment rendered by trial Court is equally defective, judgments rendered by both Courts, set aside - Matter remanded to trial Court for fresh consideration and disposal - Second appeal, allowed. Sajja Malleswara Rao Vs. S. Nageswara Rao 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 161 = 2011(6) ALD 636.

—-Order 41 Rule 33 - Respective sole defendants are the appellants herein and the respective self-same sole plaintiffs in both the matters are the respondents - Both suits are filed by self-same plaintiff against the respective defendants - Trial Court on separate trial decreed both suits for relief of specific performance of contract for sale respectively, to execute and register sale deeds on receiving balance sale consideration and to deliver possession and with costs - Contentions in grounds of appeal common almost in both appeals of respective suits are that decree and judgment respectively of trial Court supra are contrary to law, unlawful and against probabilities of case, perverse and misconceived against canons of justice.

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

Held, It is how apart from no truth even for silence of plaintiff without even expressing his readiness and willingness to perform his part of contract to seek specific performance to obtain sale deed by payment of major portion of consideration remained unpaid and from hardship to defendant/s if ordered performance from showing from plaintiff's own evidence from contents of Ex.A17 of value of lands later abnormally increased, plaintiff not entitled to equitable relief of specific performance and for not even pleaded any alternative relief for refund or damages or compensation, not entitled even to order refund though under general law of contract Act from Sections 65 to 70 it could be , from specific legal bar under special law of specific relief Act - Trial Court thereby went wrong totally in ignoring these vital legal and factual aspects which go to root of matter in decreeing suit for specific performance instead of dismissing for specific performance - Thus, trial Court's decrees in both suits covered by common judgement for both suits are liable to be set aside by allowing appeals - Accordingly and in the result, both appeals are allowed by setting aside trial Court's common judgement. Dhanaraj (Died per LRs) Vs. Salesh 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 475 = 2016(4) ALD 1 = 2016(2) ALT 417.

—-O.43, Rule 1(r) - Or.39, Rule 3 - This civil miscellaneous appeal filed by Defendants 2, 5, 6 and 7 in O.S on the file of Senior Civil Judge, challenges order passed by said Court in I.A. - According to counsel for appellants/defendants, learned Judge passed impugned order without giving reasonable opportunity and in deviation to mandatory requirements of law and on contrary, counsel for respondent/plaintiff vehemently argued that learned Judge passed impugned order strictly in accordance with law and only after taking into account entire material available on record and said order is not amenable to any correction by this Court under Order 43 Rule 1(r) of CPC.

Held, notice under Order 39 Rule 3 of CPC is not a mere formality and it needs to be adhered to unless same is decided to be dispensed with as per proviso to Rule 3 of Order 39 of CPC - That is not situation in instant case - Having ordered notice under Rule 3, without affording reasonable opportunity, learned Judge on same day of service of notice, passed questioned order - Even as per Rule 58 of Civil Rules of Practice, it is incumbent upon Court to issue 3 days notice in advance of hearing of interlocutory application and in utter deviation and disregard to said mandatory requirement, learned Judge passed impugned order.

In circumstances, this Court does not find any scintilla of hesitation to hold that the learned Senior Civil Judge passed impugned order by totally ignoring mandatory requirements of law, as such, impugned order is liable to be set aside - For aforesaid reasons, Civil Miscellaneous Appeal is allowed. Raj Kumar Malpani Vs. Durganagar Colony Welfare Association 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 285.

—Or.43, Rule 1(u) and Sec.100 - LIMITATION ACT, Arts.64 & 65 - Suit filed by respondent/ plaintiff for recovery of possession of plaint schedule property from appellants/defendants, contending that she is absolute owner and possessor of plaint schedule property and that she is staying with her daughter after demise of her husband and taking advantage of her old age and her absence, defendants illegally occupied plaint schedule property and they are liable to be evicted - Defendants filed written statement contending that mother of 1st defendant purchased plaint schedule property and constructed house in said plot and also a compound wall and residing therein and 1st defendant gifted plaint schedule property to his wife, second defendant and that she perfected title and possession over plaint schedule property from 1970 and therefore suit of plaintiff is barred by limitation and ought to be dismissed - Trial Court dismissed suit, accepting genuineness of documents on ground that they were executed more than 30 years back and also held that it was incumbent on plaintiff to seek relief of declaration of title over plaint schedule property and she could not have filed a suit only for recovery of possession - Lower appellate Court allowed appeal set aside judgment and decree of trial Court and remanded matter back to trial Court to consider issue as to whether plaintiff's suit is barred by limitation as she had not filed within 12 years of her dispossession - Appellants/defendants contend that lower appellate Court ought not to have remitted matter back to trial Court as it had found several errors in judgments of trial Court; that it could have itself framed necessary issues and ought to have decided them instead of remitting matter back to trial Court - Lower appellate Court ought not to have remanded matter back to trial Court and it might as well have itself decided appeal on merits as it has all powers of trial Court to re-appreciate evidence - Supreme Court and High Court of A.P have also deprecated practice of remanding matters to trial Court when lower appellate Court itself could have dealt with and decided issues - Supreme Court held that an appellate Court should have circumspect in ordering a remand when case is not covered by Rule 23 or Rule 23-A or Sec. 25 IPC of Or.41and that an unwarranted order of remand gives litigation an undeserved lease of life and must therefore be avoided - Judgment of lower appellate Court , setting aside judegment and decree of trial Court and remitting matter back to trial Court, set aside - Appeal, allowed - Lower appellate Court directed to decide appeal in accordance with law within two months. Bayyarapu Narayana Raidu Vs. Pagadala Varalaxmi, 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 66 = 2014(2) ALD 176 = 2014(4) ALT 808 = AIR 2014 (NOC) 98 (AP).

CIVIL PROCUDRE CODE:

—Or.44, Rule 1 and Or.33, Rule 1A - Appellants filed suit for recovery of certain amount- Suits decreed - Respondent preferred first appeal before High Court alongwith petition to prosecute appeals as an indigent person under Or.44, Rule 1 CPC - High Court after conducting enquiry into means and financial capacity of respondent permitted respondent to prosecute appeal as indegent person - Hence appellant filed present appeal - Appellant copntends that respondent failed to produce bank accounts and Pass Books which amounts to suppression of fact of receiving substantial amount of money from his son who is employed in foreign country and amount received by him by way of pension from Govt. as retired employee - Therefore amount received by respondent from his son and by way of pension amount to a sufficient means to pay Court fee which disentitled him to be an indegent person under Or.33, Rule 1, and under Or.44, Rule 1 of CPC - Respondent cannot be declared as an indegent person to prosecute appeals before High Court - Order of High Court, set aside - Appeals, allowed. Mathai M. Paikeday Vs. C.K. Antony 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 57 = AIR 2011 SC 3221 = 2011 AIR SCW 4416 = 2011(6) ALD 100(SC).

CENTRAL MOTOR VEHICLES RULES, 1989:

—-Rule 126 - REGISTRATION OF SOCIETIES ACT, 1860 - Original Petition was filed by three claimants claiming an amount of Rs.1,00,00,000 for the death of one Mohammed Asif in the said accident - Claim petition was filed against owner of bus, insurance company and two others - A written statement was filed by second respondent, insurance company in said O.P. was filed seeking impleadment of proposed respondent Nos.5 to 7 therein, who were stated to be the lessees of the bus, was filed seeking impleadment of proposed respondent Nos.8 to 11 therein i.e., the National Highway Authority of India, M/s.Volvo Buses India Pvt. Ltd., Automotive Research Association of India and the Motor Vehicle Inspector, RTO Bangalore Central, Bangalore - Application in I.A. was supported by an affidavit stating that on the date of the accident, the bus was leased to the proposed respondent Nos.5 to 7 therein, who were in possession of the bus and the driver was under their sole control and hence they are necessary to be impleaded as parties - Aforesaid applications were opposed by claimants as well as by M/s.Volvo Buses India Pvt. Ltd., and the Automotive Research Association of India - Claimants opposed applications in general and the counter of proposed respondent No.9 stated that the vehicle involved was more than four years old and had covered more than 9,00,000 kilometers without any issues.

Held, there is no material to show that proposed parties are joint tort feasors - Even if it is assumed that some of proposed parties are joint tort feasors, in their absence also a finding can be recorded with regard to entitlement of claimants and petitioner herein can recover amount which it was forced to part with due to role of other joint tort feasors by initiating separate proceedings - But, summary proceedings in a claim petition arising out of a motor vehicle accident cannot be enlarged and Tribunal cannot be asked to give a finding with respect to role of other parties in accident - The reliance on United India Insurance Company Limited's case is of no avail as that case arose out of an accident caused by Jayanthi Janatha Express hitting a passenger bus at unmanned level crossing - Decision was rendered on facts of that case only and it cannot be extended to authorities like National Highways Authority of India Limited who undertake laying of roads - The decision of the Supreme Court in Khenyei's case is a complete answer to points raised on behalf of petitioner - Tribunal also relied on said decision - In view of same, these Civil Revision Petitions are liable to be dismissed and are accordingly dismissed. HDFC ERGO General Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Khawjabi 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 245 = 2016(4) ALD 721 = 2016(4) ALT 501.

COMPANIES ACT, 1956

-—AND NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, Sec. 138 - Six quash petitions besides another one pending before another Bench are between lending party M/s.Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd., (company) under the Companies Act, 1956, the complainant, respectively in all cases for the offences punishable under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act for dishonour of respective cheques, maintained against the company M/s. Nusun Genetic Research Limited, under the Companies Act, represented by its Managing Director.

COMPASSIONATE APPOINTMENTS:

Held, as it is clear from factual matrix supra cheque issued is not for any legally enforceable debt or any other liability but for as security for so called one time settlement under which already borrowed amount covered by two cheques issued and criminal prosecutions pending and those not even withdrawn by virtue of one time settlement apart from there is a stipulation for payment of amounts and not only that cheques also obtained and stipulation is not to dates of post-dated cheques to commence but even prior to date of post dated cheques on its face and apart from it for nonpayment and dishonour of cheques even subsequently presented on date mentioned of post dated cheques remedy provided is to give a go-bye to terms and proceed for original amount when such is case when very settlement is no way in subsistence from not adhering to it and any cheques issued pursuant to it to enforce while going back to settlement that too when earlier prosecution is pending though strictly not within scope of Section 300 Cr.P.C. which is directly within meaning of no legally enforceable debt or other liability for not to apply presumption from undisputed facts for no other independent debt or other liability - Accordingly and in the result, the petitiones are allowed and proceedings, respectively, on the file of Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, are quashed. Nusun Genetic Research Ltd. Vs. State of Telangana 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 500 = 2016(1) ALD (Crl) 1044 = 2016(2) ALT (Crl) 35 (AP).

COMPASSIONATE APPOINTMENTS:

— Writ Petition was filed by Vijayawada, Guntur, Tenali, Mangalagiri Urban Development Authority, aggrieved by order passed by the A.P. Administrative Tribunal in O.A. No.3167 of 2012 dated 28.05.2012 ("Tribunal" for short) - 1st respondent herein invoked jurisdiction of Tribunal to declare action of petitioners herein, in not considering her case for appointment as an NMR (Last Grade Service employee) on compassionate grounds in place of her husband who died while working as NMR (Last Grade Service employee) in office of 1st petitioner, as arbitrary and illegal - Reason why the 1st respondent was denied such a benefit was that scheme of compassionate appointment was not available to persons who died in harness while working as an NMR - O.A. was disposed of directing the petitioners herein to consider case of the 1st respondent for appointment as NMR (LGS employee) on compassionate grounds taking into consideration judgment in W.A. No.1119 of 2010 dated 07.12.2011 - Held, Courts and Tribunals should not fall prey to sympathy syndrome, and issue directions for compassionate appointments, without reference to prescribed norms - Every such act of undue sympathy and compassion, whereby directions are issued for appointment on compassionate grounds dehors prescribed procedure, could deprive a needy family, requiring financial support, of opportunity of seeking employment, and thereby pushing into penury a truly indigent, destitute and impoverished family - Discretion is, therefore, ruled out - So are misplaced sympathy and compassion. (Prabhat Singh 15). In absence of any scheme, providing for compassionate appointment for dependants of deceased NMR employees, Tribunal has erred in directing petitioners herein to consider the case of 1 st respondent on compassionate grounds - Order of Tribunal must therefore be and is, accordingly, set aside - Writ Petition is allowed. Vice Chairman, Vijayawada, Guntur, Tenali, Mangalagiri U.D.A. Vs. V.Padma 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 207 = 2015(6) ALD 175 = 2015(4) ALT 311.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—— Writ of Mandamus - Disputes arose between Municipal Corporation of Hyderabd and writ petitioner - Fundamental question in this case is whether premises sought to be occupied by third respondent Hyderabad Metro Water Supply is premises bearing No.3-5-784/1 or is 3-5-784/1/A - In this case, there is considerable amount of confusion as identity of property in dispute and these are questions "Whether petitioner being dispossessed highhandedly by third respondent in respect of property owned by writ petitioner himself" - These are pure questions of fact - Merely because a question of fact whether disputed property bears Municipal No.3-5-784/1 or is 3-5-784/1/A cannot be rejected on ground that it is a question of fact, so long as a decision can be reached on a reasonably plain examination of circumstance of case - High Court would be justified in declaining to exercise its Court special jurisdiction when question of fact involving process of recording evidence is necessary - In present case question of fact is such that it requires recording of evidence - Finding of single Judge that writ petition is not maintainable as it involves question of fact - Justified - Writ appeal, dismissed. Fazal Ali Vs. State of A.P. 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 62 = 2011(6) ALD 76 = 2011(6) ALT 13.

—It is settled law that the principles of constructive res judicata are applicable to case arising under Article 226 of the Constitution of India – Court opinion that plea/defence that petitioner's property has been earmarked for recreation and open space (park) in sanctioned master plan prepared by VUDA on 17-11-2005 was available to respondents in two earlier Writ Petitions but was not raised by them there - So principle for constructive res judicata would apply and respondents are precluded from raising said plea in present Writ Petition - Stand in impugned endorsement that as per GVMC, subject land is earmarked for recreation/open space (park) cannot also be accepted because no material is placed on record that 1st respondent GVMC had done so or is empowered to do so - Counter affidavit also does not state that it was 1st respondent GVMC which had done so - So this contention cannot be accepted - In view of above principle of law and having regard to repeated arbitrary refusal of respondents to grant permission to petitioner to make construction in subject property, Writ Petition is allowed and a Writ of Mandamus is issued directing 1st respondent to approve application of petitioner for grant of building permission in respect of subject property without reference to objections raised by respondents in Endorsements. Jupiter Automobiles Vs. Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 222

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Arts.12 & 14 - Petitioner was appointed as Distributor of LPG by HPC Ltd. in year 1985 and there was no complaints as regards its functioning and letters of appreciation were given on several occasions - 2nd respondent/Chief Regional Manager LPG of HPC issued show cause notice alleging complaints received from customers regarding to effect that petitioner not effecting door delivery to customers nor is issuing bills and subsequently second show cause notice also issued to petitioner supplementing some more facts for which petitioner submitted explanation - 2nd respondent/Chief Regional Manager passed order suspending distributorship of petitioner, pending further investigation into matter and initiation of suitable action in terms of agreement and policy guidelines of Corporation - Petitioner contends that impugned order is contrary to terms of Agreement and in particular Cl.28-A thereof according to which suspension of Distributor can be ordered only as a substantial punishment and not as a measure pending investigation and that 2nd respondent has undertaken a roving enquiry with sole objective of disabling petitioner from functioning as Distributor and in process prescribed procedure was completely ignored or violated - Respondent raised objection as to very maintainability of writ petition and that relationship between petitioner and respondents is governed by terms of Agreement and any dispute that arises between them can be resolved by having recourse to arbitration provided under Cl.13 of Agreement and that petitioner was given ample opportunity before order of suspension was passed and that impugned order passed as a measure pending further investigation and enquiry and that no exception can be taken to it - Petitioner further submits that Cl.28-A of Agreement provides for suspension of distributorship that too for a specified period as a measure of penalty on proof of violation and not as a measure pending enquiry - It is not in dispute that 1st respondent, HPC Ltd., is a creature of statute enacted by Parliament and it partakes character of State as defined under Art.12 of Constitution and that nature of activity undertaken by it may be commercial in nature - Being an instrumentality of State, it is required to act in a fair and reasonable manner and its acts and omissions are always liable to be tested on touchstone of tenets referable to Art.14 of Constitution of India - Mere fact that activity entrusted to petitioner is commercial in nature does not keep 1st respondent HPC out side purview of judicial review - Writ petition filed by petitioner challenging order passed by respondents imposing penalty is very much pending before High Court - Therefore objection of respondent as to maintainability of writ petition cannot be sustained - A clear distinction needs to be maintained between suspension pending enquiry on one hand and suspension as a measure of substantial penalty on other - Suspension pending enquiry can be ordered only when rules specifically provided for it and language of provision clearly suggests same - Suspension pending enquiry cannot be treated as a penalty, where as one imposed after conducting enquiry on basis of findings adverse to agency or person, is a penalty - In instant case, 2nd respondent issued two show cause notices and extensive enquiry was also undertaken - Had it been a case, where 2nd respondent imposed punishment of suspension of licence for specific period on basis of conclusions arrived by it, not much could have been said about it - Impugned order however discloses that on one hand final opinion was expressed as to nature of violations by petitioner and on other hand, much is left to be investigated at later point of time - Even where suspension is permitted as a substantiative penalty, it is required to be for a specified period - Concept of suspension of licence for any definite period that too in contemplation of enquiry is totally unknown in respect of Agreement of LPG distributorship - When a substantiative punishment on facts itself is for limited period, suspension pending enquiry which is not provided for under Agreement cannot be for an indefinite period - Being a creature under statute is an organization owned by Govt., of India 1st respondent, HPC and its Officer 2nd respondent were supposed to act in a fair, reasonable, and objective manner - In this case, tone and tenor of show cause notice as well as other proceedings do not fit in to one that is expected from a reputed organization like HPC Ltd., - Impugned order, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Sri Saibaba Agency Vs. Hindustan Petroleum Corpn., Ltd., 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 153 = 2012(4) ALD 569 = 2012(5) ALT 95.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art. 14 - "Auction of lease, hold rights of Govt., properties" - 2nd respondent/District Collector granting lease, hold right to run canteen in Govt. property in favour of 3rd respondents without calling for tenders - Petitioner contends that failure of District Collector to follow well established methods in awarding lease to 3rd respondent vitiated decision making process and consequently very decision itself - It is trite that properties belonging to State and its instrumentalities shall be duly protected and responsibility is cast on executive functionaries at helm of affairs to ensure that they fetch maximum revenue - 2nd respondent being head of District Administration is trustee of properties situated in District and belonging to State - It is therefore his constitutional obligation to see that they fetch maximum possible revenuefor State - Plea that petitioner has not applied for canteen is wholly without merit because unless proper notification is issued, a person is not expected to approach respondents with application for grant of lease - 2nd respondent/District Collector not acted in transparent manner and has deviated from settled norms of calling for tenders - Lease granted in favour of 3rd respondent, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Padma Pawar Vs. Govt., of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 93 = AIR 2011 (NOC) 340 (AP) = 2011(3) ALD 452 = 2011(4) ALT 57.

— Art.14 - "Concept of equality" enshrined in Art.14 is "positive concept" - Regularisation of lease deed - State Govt., rejecting application made by appellant to regularize forged lease deed executed in her favour - Single Judge of High Court held that appellant claim founded on forged document and no directions can be issued under Art.226 for regularization of lease deed merely because in other cases lease had been regularized - Division Bench dismissed writ appeal filed by appellant and upheld judgment of Single Judge - In this case, even though appellant had raised plea of discrimination, she did not produce any evidence to prove that other cases are identical to her case - In absence of such evidence High Court could not have relied upon bald statement contained in writ petition filed by appellant and quash well reasoned decision taken by State Govt., not to regularize lease in her favour - Art.14 cannot be invoked for compelling Public Authorities to pass an illegal order or commit an illegality on ground that in other cases similar order has been passed - If order in favour of other person is found to be contrary to law or not warranted in facts and circumstances of his case, it is obvious that such illegal or unwarranted order cannot be made basis of issuing writ compelling respondent, Authority to repeat illegality or to pass another unwarranted order.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

Appeal dismissed with following directions:

(i) Within two months from today, the State Government shall take possession of the land and, if necessary, by demolishing the illegal structures which may have been raised by the appellant or any other person.

(ii) Within next four weeks, a report showing compliance of the aforesaid direction be submitted in the Registry of the Andhra Pradesh High Court.

(iii) The Registrar (Judicial) of the High Court shall take orders from the Chief Justice and list the case before an appropriate Bench. If it is found that the State functionaries have failed to comply with the aforesaid direction, then the High Court shall initiate proceedings against the defaulting officers under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971. Usha Mehta Vs. Govt. of A.P. , 2013(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 141 = 2013(2) ALD 16 (SC) = 2012 AIR SCW 6107 = AIR 2013 SC 132.

—-Art.14 - U.P INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT ACT, Sec.10 - Notice issued to appellant requiring him to remove unauthorised constructions and bring construction in conformity with sanctioned plan so that interest of general public was not adversely affected - Request of appellant for changed user of ground floor and upper ground floor, rejected - Hence writ petition filed taking stand that he should be permitted to use these floors as was done in cases of lessees of other plots - High Court dismissed the writ petition - Appellant contends that discrimination is being made vis-a-vis some others and that change of policy on question of regularization was done and benefit which has been extended to others should be allowed to appellant - In this case, when representation made by appellant there was no policy in question and change of policy came subsequently - Authorities may have acted in any irregular manner in case of some others and that does not confer any legal right on appellant to claim a similar benefit - Art.14 is not meant to perpetuate illegality - It provides positive equality and not negative equality and therefore any Authority cannot be directed to repeat wrong action done by it earlier - A judicial forum cannot be used to perpetuate illegalities - Appeal, dismissed. Vishal Properties Pvt Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 58.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Arts.14 & 15 - Correction of date of birth - Petitioner got appointed as casual worker in respondent's Company and his date of birth was recorded in all relevant service records - Respondent issued letter directing petitioner to retire from service by 31-9-2009 as he will be completing 60 years age as on 6-1-2009 - Petitioner contends that he was aged 24 years as on 15-1-1975 and his age was incorrectly recorded in service records by respondents and therefore, necessary application was made by petitioner for rectification of same and that action of respondent in not rectifying entries in service register with regard to date of birth is not legal and proper - In this case, entries in service register as well as Form-B Register clearly indicate that petitioner was aged 33 years as on 6-1-1982 and petitioner signed in relevant columns of entries - Petitioner having accepted correctness of entries cannot be permitted to dispute same at fag end of his service - Writ petition, dismissed. Gundlaboina Yellaiah Vs. M.D., Singareni Collieries Co.,Ltd. 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 281 = 2009(3) ALD 141 = 2009(1) APLJ 242.

—Arts.14,19,21 & 226 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.482 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.353/34 - "Manipulation of FIR" - "General Dairy" - FIR registered against petitioners/accused for offence punishable u/Secs.353/34 IPC - After completing investigation Police filed charge-sheet before Magistrate for above offence - Petitioners/accused seek relief in writ petition as well as in criminal petition to quash proceedings on ground that there was manipulation of FIR by SHO while registering crime and that originally crime registered against five persons and that subsequently said FIR was replaced by another FIR showing petitioners alone as accused persons and that this procedure adopted by SHO is unknown to criminal law and contrary to prescribed criminal procedure and is also unconstitutional - There is lot of manipulation of FIR by S.I of Police in this matter right from stage of registration of crime till filing of charge sheet/final report befrore Magistrate - Such manipulations and manoeuvre cannot be allowed to be perpetrated in a public office particularly in Police Station which is an important organ in administration of criminal justice and this is nothing but subverting criminal justice system and it cannot go scot-free particularly when it has come to notice of High Court and when mischief and manipulation of S.I of Police is caught redhanded - In this case, there is attempt on part of said Sub-Inspector to manipulate entries in General Dairy also by preparing a copy which stated to be a photostat copy, prepared by suppressing relevant entry relating to crime and Sub-Inspector also gave false affidavits in this case, on issuing different FIRs in same crime - Therefore FIR in crime which is vitiated by illegality as well as manipulation coupled with subverting criminal justice system cannot be allowed to stand and it is liable to be quashed under Art.226 of Constitution - When basic document in crime namely FIR is being quashed, edifice built on such manipulated F.I.R by way of final report/Charge-sheet cannot have legs to stand and consequently criminal proceedings before Magistrate are liable to be quashed in exercise of power u/Sec.482 Cr.P.C. - Superintendent of Police directed to keep said S.I under suspension forthwith and launch necessary disciplinary proceedings. Sunkara Srinivasulu Vs. S.H.O. Owk P.S. Kurnool District 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 10.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Arts.14,19 (1) (g), 300-A & 226 - Petitioner participated in auction held by HUDA and became successful bidder in respect of some plots and present writ petition filed seeking declaration of inaction of respondent-HUDA in handing over possession of plots to petitioners by providing infrastructure facilities - Respondents contend that plots were put to auction on "as is where is condition" and that payment of ID amounts does not depend upon facilities which are undertaken to provide in Cl.16 (m) of Tender and in view of petitioner's failure to make payments as per tender conditions, tender is deemed to have been cancelled and EMD amounts have to be forfeited and that petitioners indulged in misleading Court by coming out with false averments that ID amounts were paid by them and that writ petition is liable to be dismissed for suppression of material facts - Constitution of India, Art.226 - Even under a concluded contract, which is non-statutory, if State or its instrumentalities act arbitrarily and in violation of Art.14 of Constitution, writ petition under Art.226 can be maintained by High Court and adjudicate issues raised therein on merits - In this case, there is deliberate attempt on part of petitioners to mislead Court by making false claim of payments and that petitioners have not controverted specific allegations in reply affidavit and from these uncontroverted averments it is clear that petitioners deliberately tried to mislead Court by claiming in their affidavit that they have paid ID amounts and also by filing copies of demand drafts long after they were got cancelled by them - A party which has misled Court in passing an order in its favour is not entitled to be heard on merits of case - For suppression of material facts and attempting to mislead Court, petitioners are liable to pay cost of Rs.20,000 - Writ petition, dismissed. G.Bharati Devi Vs. HUDA, rep. by its Chairman 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 191 = 2008(3) ALD 292 = 2008(2) ALT 214.

—Arts.14 & 162 - G.O.Ms.No.187, dt: 6-12-2000 - G.O.Rt.No.25, dt:8-1-2013 - "Appointment of Asst. Govt. Pleader" - Writ petitioner, Bar Association filed present writ petition questioning the appointment of 5th respondent as AGP and sought relief to declare action of 1st respondent/Govt. in appointing 5th respondent as AGP as arbitrary, illegal discriminatory and is in violation of G.O.Ms.No.187 and Art.14 of Constitution - After 5th respondent assuming charge as AGP in Court of Jr.Civi Judge, President Bar Association informed District Judge that criminal cases were pending against 5th respondent for offences u/Secs.353, 504,506 IPC and that 5th respondent suppressed fact that criminal cases are pending against him and there are several other meritorious candidates eligible for post of AGP having clean record and that 5th respondent suppressed criminal cases pending against him and obtained appointment - 1st respondent/Govt. filed counter stating that District Collector furnished names of 5 Advocates in consultation with District Judge for appointment as AGP and name of 5th respondent was at Serial No.4 in said panel and that Superintendent of Police reported to Collector that ""the empanelled advocates had not come to any adverse notice either politically, criminally, communally or otherwise as per records of local police stations in which jurisdiction the candidates are staying/residing" and that suppression of criminal cases of 5th respondent had come to notice of 1st respondent/Govt. after G.O.Rt.No.25, dt:8-1-2013 was issued and that report has been called for from concerned regarding wrong antecedent report and after receipt thereof suitable steps should be taken as per rules - 5th respondent states that on directions of Jr.Civil Judge, he had submitted his bio-data; since there was no prescription or acquisition made for his antecedents, nor was there any query about criminal cases, it would not be a ground for exercise of power by High Court under Art.226 of Constitution; and merely because a criminal case is registered, it does not disentitle a citizen from holding any post either constitutional or contractual, under Govt. before his guilt is proved as it would be in violation of principles of natural justice and fair play - JUDICIAL REVIEW OF APPOINTMENT TO POST OF GOVT. PLEADERS/ASST.GOVT. PLEADERS IN SUBORDINATE COURTS - Its SCOPE - STATED - Judicial review is concerned with whether incumbent possesses qualifications prescribed for appointment, manner in which appointment came to be made, and whether procedure adopted for appointment was fair, just and reasonable - Where Govt., has discretion to appoint an eligible and suitable advocate as AGP in Subordinate Courts, there is no such thing as absolute or untrammelled discretion , nursery of despotic power, in democracy based on rule of law - While Court will not interfere with choice of an individual with reference an appointment made in due exercise of discretion by Govt., without shutting out of consideration claims of others for post, courts will certainly stand guard, against flargant abuse of powers on simple and sound principle and Constitution cannot have intended powers to be abused beyond what may be called inevitable area while opinions may legitimately differ - District Collector is mandated under G.O.Ms.No.187 to satisfy himself that persons, to be included in panel to be forwarded to Govt., are "suitable" for being appointed as G.Ps/AGPs - District Judge may take into consideration, before satisfying himself that an eligible Advocate is "suitable" to be empanelled for being considered for appointment as G.P/A.G.P would include performance of Advocate at Bar, volume and quality of practice, manner in which he conducted him self in Court, his integrity, a blemishless back ground, fairness of approach to cases presented by him before Court etc. - "Pendency of criminal cases" would undoubtedly, be one of relevant factors to be taken into consideration while adjudging "suitability" of Advocate for appointment to said post - It does not stands to reason that a person against whom criminal cases are pending and charge sheets already filed, should be appointed to a post which would require him to conduct cases on behalf of State - Such a person can hardly be said to be "suitable" for appointment as G.P/AGP - Insistance under G.O.Ms.No.187 that District Collector should ascertain views of District & Sessions Judge, clearly spells out policy of Govt., to select best person available for appointment as GP/AGP - Names included in panel must be meritorious persons, who according District Collector are "suitable" for appointment as GP/AGP - In this case, as relevant material, regarding pendency of criminal cases was not taken into consideration by District Collector while examining "suitability" of 5th respondent for being included in panel of Advocates forwarded to Govt, for being appointed as AGP and as this relevant factor, has not only an important bearing on decision making process, but also on integrity of office of G.P/AGP, impugned G.O must be, and is accordingly, set aside - Govt.,is at liberty to consider other names in panel or call for a fresh panel from District Collector for appointment to post of AGP - In case a fresh panel is called for District Collector shall prepare a panel afresh in accordance with law and forward same to Govt. for its consideration - Writ petition, disposed of accordingly. Bar Association, Junior Civil Judge's Court, Alampur Vs. Govt.of A.P. 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 270 = 2013(4) ALD 106 = 2013(3) ALT 588.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Arts.14 & 226 - Complaint lodged against petitioner Transport Contractor with A.P. State Civil Supplies Corporation and driver of Truck diversion of PDS stock of rice loaded into transport Vehicle belonging to petitioner - Subsequently accused (driver, cleaner and person who purchased stock) were arrested and stocks kept in Court custody - Criminal Court ordered to release of stock and delivered to MLS point and also distributed to beneficiaries - Corporation terminated contract of Corporation forfeited pending bills, security deposit and bank guarantee and block-listed petitioner from participating in any future tenders of 1st respondent/Corporation - Hence present writ petition assailing orders - Pursuant to directions in earlier Writ Petition filed by petitioner explanation was called to show cause as to why transport Contractor did not be terminated as per clause No.3 and 8(iv) of Agreement - Defence taken by petitioner was that he was not aware of diversion of stocks, that illegality was committed by his employee that driver of vehicle was traced and arrested and stocks were also recovered and that Police have informed that petitioner not involved in alleged diversion of stocks - Final orders passed rejecting contention of petitioner in his explanation - Petitioner contends that impugned order passed without conducting any enquiry and without considering explanation filed by petitioner and that Joint Collector seems to have conducted enquiry behind back of petitioner and he did not issue notice to petitioner when he conducted enquiry and report of Joint Collector and record based on which said Report was drawn not furnished to petitioner and that petitioner had no occasion to go through report of Joint of Collector and to respond same and that impugned order is based entirely on said report of Joint Collector and this amounts to gross violation of procedure - Petitioner further contends that no loss is caused to respondent/Corporation and that entire stock was recovered and given to Corporation and that Corporation have utilized stock and that there was no wastage or damage to stock on account of its storage for some time till Court passed orders for release of stocks and that petitioner was also penalized by imposing double cost of rice transported and since stock was already recovered and to utlize it would amount to triple cost - Corporation contends that in view of para 8(v) of agreement failure or diversion of Trucks with stocks or misappropriationof stocks, results in termination of contract forfeiture of security deposit, Bank guarantee and pending bills and contractor can be block-listed along with his representatives - In valid exercise of said power vested in Competent Authority, order impugned is passed and that there is no illegality or irregularity in order passed by competent authority - In this case, Report of Joint Collector not communicated to petitioner and that no semblance of enquiry was conducted though High Court directed to conduct enquiry in earlier writ petition and that order impugned goes beyond show cause notice issued by Joint Collector - Competent Authority would not have relied upon material without supplying same to petitioner and that order impugned visited with severe penal and civil consequences and such order would not have been passed without following due process and without affording due opportunity - No further exercise was undertaken by 1st respondent Managing Director and he straightaway passed order impugned relying on Report of Joint Collector - Hence there was no independent application of mind by MD and his de cision was completely weighed by Report of Joint Collector - Order impugned is vitiated on several counts - Before taking extreme step of block-listing petition, forfeiting his bank guarantee and security deposited, petitioner ought to have been afforded fair hearing and not affording opportunity vitiates impugned decision - In this case, there is no allegation of personal involvement of petitioner in diverting stock of rice - On complaint lodged by respondent/Corporation Police investigared and file charge sheet and that Police have not alleged involvement of petitioner and not implicated in criminal case - However subsequent decision of block-listing, forfeiture of bank guarantee, security deposit and pending bills is disproportionate, violative of principles of natural justice, arbitrary and discriminatory has compared to gravity of violations committed by petitioner and when petitioner was already visited with penal consequences - Impugned order, set aside - Amount withheld shall be released to petitioner - Amount recovered from petitioner has double amount of cost of goods diverted from vehicle can be retained by respondent/ Corporation - Writ petition, allowed. A.Ramalingeswara Reddy Vs. Vice Chairman and M.D., A.P. State Civil Supplies Corporation Ltd., 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 75 = 2014(2) ALD 376 = 2014(1) ALT 299.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Arts.14 and 300-A - Permission for Construction of Building - Merely because property has been transferred to petitioners, it is not open to 2nd respondent/Municipal Corporation to refuse to grant building permission to petitioners particularly when 2nd respondent had granted such permission on 16-7-2012 to vendor of petitioners - Therefore, it is not open to 2nd respondent to reject application of petitioners for building permission reiterating its untenable stand that land in question is earmarked as an open space - Such a plea is not available to respondents at all in view of judgment in W.P. No. 362 of 2005 where in this court has categorically held that land in question cannot be said to be reserved open space and said judgment was confirmed in W.A. No. 325 of 1997 and in S.L.P. No. 18460 of 2008 - Judged by the above standards, for reasons stated supra, decision of 2nd respondent in refusing permission to petitioners to construct in subject land is vitiated by arbitrariness and is unreasonable - 2nd respondent, on irrelevant considerations, i.e. that petitioners are different from Smt. N.Sarojini, that land is reserved for open space in layout, has passed the impugned order - Adamant and cantankerous attitude adopted by 2nd respondent practically amounts to open defiance/contempt of Court's earlier orders and deserves to be strongly deprecated - Rule of law depends on obedience by public officials of court orders and repeated disobedience of court orders should be visited with punitive costs to discourage such behaviour - In this view of matter, writ petition is allowed and writ of mandamus is issued declaring Endorsement order of 2nd respondent as arbitrary, illegal, violative of Arts.14 and 300-S of the Constitution of India and a direction is given to respondents to pass orders on application made by petitioners for grant of permission for construction of a building in subject property without treating it as reserved space/open space in accordance with law within a period of four weeks. D.Anki Reddy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 373 = 2015(1) ALD 720 = 2015(5) ALT 136.

—Art.19 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.40(1) - "Probation" - "Termination of Service" - Petitioner applied for post of Asst.(Accounts & Cash) and was successful in written test and also subsequent personal interview - Respondent/Bank issued to him appointment letter, 2-1-2009 - Respon-dent /Bank extended probation of petitioner for further period of 3 months i.e., 5-10-2009 by mentioning in letter that FIR was lodged against petitioner and report Verification of Conduct and Antecedents from District Collector is not at received - Subsequently terminated services of petitioner under Order dt.29-9-2009, stating that as per terms of appointment, Bank is entitled to terminate services during period of probation on giving one month notice or paying one month salary in view of notice without assigning any reasons for termination - In this case, FIR lodged against petitioner on 29-3-2009 in Police Station on ground that he was involved in co-operating with banned Maoist party and having considered evidence pertaining to case they declared him not suitable for post and accordingly his probation was not extended resulting terminating of service - Whether a person has been terminated alleging misconduct or alleging that his conduct is not suitable to said post, same amounts to punishment - Respondent/Bank issued proceedings just one day prior to 30-9-2009 ie., 29-9-2009 terminating services of petitioner contending inter alia for taking into consideration entire material facts and evidence pertaining to case, it has been decided by appointing authority to dispense with his services from Bank owing to his unsuitability - Merely because a person is related to an extremist (Moist) as a brother, sister or brother-in-law or son, it does not mean that he is sympathiazer or follower of Moist philosophy - If a person is punished merely because he has expressed certain views or if he is in possession of certain literature, same is nothing but violative of Art.19 Constitution of India - If Right of expression is suppressed then democracy would be only on paper and people of this country cannot have true democracy - Termination of services of petitioner appears to be clearly illegal and violative of principles of natural justice - Respondents are directed to reinstate petitioner in service, with continuity of service and all consequential benefits - Writ petition, allowed. B.Mallikarjuna Reddy Vs. State Bank of India, 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 235 = 2012(4) ALD 204.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Arts.19 & 226 - DRUGS AND COSMETICS ACT, 1940 - DRUGS AND COSMETICS RULES, 1945, Rules 105 - Right of Consumer to know ingredients of Cosmetics etc. as to their origin - A citizen has right to expression and receive information under Art.19(1)(a) of Constitution - Right is derived from freedom of speech and expression comprised in Article - Freedom of speech and expression includes right to receive information, but such right can be limited by reasonable restrictions under law made for purpose mentioned in Art.19(2) of Constitution - It is imperative for State to ensure availability of right to citizens to receive information - But such information can be given to extent it is available and possible and without affecting fundamental right of others - In present case, appellant Union of India, taken plea that information relating to ingredients of drug particularly those ingredients of non vegetarian origin should not be given in interest of general public - High Court of Division Bench held that consumer has fundamental right to know whether food products, cosmetics and drugs available for human consumption are of non-vegetarian or vegetarian origin.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

".....Drugs which are not life saving drugs must stand at part with food products and must disclose whether or not they are made of animal, whether in the whole or in part - "In so far as cosmetics are concerned the same must be treated at par with articles/packages of food for purpose of disclosure of their ingredients - Appellant/ Union of India contends that it is not possible to distinguish which drug is a "Life Saving Drug" or otherwise, under given circumstance and condition of patient, a drug which originally may not be treated as a "Life Saving Drugs" can be used in a "Life Saving Drugs" and in some other case it may be general - Thus it is not possible to demarcate drugs as "Life Saving Drugs" or otherwise - Therefore direction issued by High Court to extent it requires Union of India to prepare list of "Life Saving Drugs" would neither be appropriate nor proper, particularly when there is no definition of "Life Saving Drugs" in Pharmacology of modern system of medicines - High Court under Art.226 of Constitution has no jurisdiction to direct executive to exercise power by way of subordinate Legislation pursuant to power deligated by Legislature to enact a law in a particular manner as has been done in present case - For same reason, it is also not open to High Court to suggest any interim arrangement as has been given by impugned judgment - Writ petition filed by respondent being not maintainable for issuance of such direction, High Court ought to have dismissed writ petition, in limine - Order and directions issued by High Court, set aside - Appeals, allowed. Indian Soaps & Toiletries Makers Association Vs. Ozair Husain 2013(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 211.

—Preamble AND Art.19(1)(g) - STEET VENDORS/HAWKERS (PROTECTION LIVELIHOOD AND REGULATION OF STREET VENDING) BILL, 2012 - "Diginity" - "Street vendors/hawkers" - A street vendor/hawkers is a person who offers goods for sale to public at large without having a permanent structure/place for his activities - Some street vendors/hawkers are stationary in sense that they are occupying space on pavements or other public/private places while others are mobile in sense that they move from place to place carrying their wares on push carts or in baskets on their heads - Unfortunately street vendors/hawkers have received raw treatment from State apparatus before and even after independence - They are a harassed lot and are constantly victimized by Officials of local authorities, Police etc., who regularly target them for extra income and treat them with extreme contempt - Goods and belongings of street vendors/hawkers are thrown to ground and destroyed at regular intervals if they are not able to meet demands of officials - Perhaps, these minions in administration have not understood meaning of term "dignity" enshrined in Preamble of Constitution - Constant threat faced by street vendors/hawkers loosing their source of livelihood has forced them to seek intervention of Courts across Country from time to time - Supreme Court has struggled in last 28 years to find out a workable solution of problems of street vendors/hawkers on one hand and other sections of Society including residents of localities/places where street vendors/hawkers operate and delivered several judgments - Supreme Court placed an embargo in entertaining of matters by High Courts - Experience has however shown that it is virtually impossible for Supreme Court to monitor day to day implementation of provisions of different enactments and directions contained in judgments and therefore it will be appropriate to lift embargo placed on entertaining of matters by High Courts and orders passed accordingly - Following directions issued for facilitating implementation of 2009 Policy and they shall remain operative till appropriate legislation is enacted by Parliament or any other competent legislature brought into force:

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

i) Within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this order, the Chief Secretaries of the State Governments and Administrators of the Union Territories shall issue necessary instructions/directions to the concerned department(s) to ensure that the Town Vending Committee is constituted at city / town level in accordance with the provisions contained in the 2009 Policy. For the cities and towns having large municipal areas, more than one Town Vending Committee may be constituted.

(ii) Each Town Vending Committee shall consist of representatives of various organizations and street vendors / hawkers. 30% of the representatives from the category of street vendors / hawkers shall be women.

iii) The representatives of various organizations and street vendors / hawkers shall be chosen by the Town Vending Committee by adopting a fair and transparent mechanism.

iv) The task of constituting the Town Vending Committees shall be completed within two months of the issue of instructions by the Chief Secretaries of the State and the Administrators of the Union Territories.

v) The Town Vending Committees shall function strictly in accordance with the 2009 Policy and the decisions taken by it shall be notified in the print and electronic media within next one week.

vi) The Town Vending Committees shall be free to divide the municipal areas in vending / hawking zones and sub-zones and for this purpose they may take assistance of experts in the field. While undertaking this exercise, the Town Vending Committees constituted for the cities of Delhi and Mumbai shall take into consideration the work already undertaken by the municipal authorities in furtherance of the directions given by this Court. The municipal authorities shall also take action in terms of Paragraph 4.2(b) and (c).

vii) All street vendors / hawkers shall be registered in accordance with paragraph 4.5.4 of the 2009 Policy. Once registered, the street vendor / hawker, shall be entitled to operate in the area specified by the Town Vending Committee.

viii) The process of registration must be completed by the municipal authorities across the country within four months of the receipt of the direction by the Chief Secretaries of the States and Administrators of the Union Territories.

ix) The State Governments / Administration of the Union Territories and municipal and local authorities shall take all the steps necessary for achieving the objectives set out in the 2009 Policy.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

x) The Town Vending Committee shall meet every month and ensure implementation of the relevant provisions of the 2009 Policy and, in particular, paragraph 4.5.1 (b) and (c).

xi) Physically challenged who were allowed to operate PCO's in terms of the judgment reported in (2009) 17 SCC 231 shall be allowed to continue to run their stalls and sell other goods because running of PCOs. is no longer viable. Those who were allowed to run Aarey/Sarita shall be allowed to continue to operate their stalls.

xii) The State Governments, the Administration of the Union Territories and municipal authorities shall be free to amend the legislative provisions and/or delegated legislation to bring them in tune with the 2009 Policy. If there remains any conflict between the 2009 Policy and the municipal laws, insofar as they relate to street vendors/hawkers, then the 2009 Policy shall prevail.

xiii) Henceforth, the parties shall be free to approach the jurisdictional High Courts for redressal of their grievance and the direction, if any, given by this Court in the earlier judgments / orders shall not impede disposal of the cases which may be filed by the aggrieved parties.

xiv) The Chief Justices of the High Courts are requested to nominate a Bench to deal with the cases filed for implementation of the 2009 Policy and disputes arising out of its implementation. The concerned Bench shall regularly monitor implementation of the 2009 Policy and the law which may be enacted by the Parliament.

xv) All the existing street vendors / hawkers operating across the country shall be allowed to operate till the exercise of registration and creation of vending / hawking zones is completed in terms of the 2009 Policy. Once that exercise is completed, they shall be entitled to operate only in accordance with the orders/directions of the concerned Town Vending Committee.

xvi) The provisions of the 2009 Policy and the directions contained hereinabove shall apply to all the municipal areas in the country. Maharashtra Ekta Hawkers Union Vs. M.C., Greater Mumbai, 2013(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 126.

—Art.19(1)(g) & 226 - "Proceedings of District Collector in Rc.No.199/9/GR2, Dt:8-5-2010" - Petitioners, owners of Cold storages doing business in Cold Storage for storing Chillies of formers by providing required atmosphere of cooling to deposited stocks of Chillies. so that Chillies do not get damaged - Petitioners also obtained necessary licences for running their business - Petitioners, Association passed resolution for collecting charges @ Rs.90/- for every Chilli bag of 45kgs weight from depositors - Subsequently petitioners' Association passed resolution for not collecting more than Rs.100 for the year 2009 - 1st respondent/District Collector issued show cause notice to all Cold storage owners stating that they have been collecting Rs.100 per bag where as charges fixed by 'District Administration' for season was Rs.90 only and excess collection of Rs.10 per bag was unwarranted and it resulted in collection amount of Rs.6 lakhs due to stock of sixty thousand bags and if amount not paid 1st respondent would see that licence issued by concerned Department would be cancelled - Subsequently Joint Collector passed final order without considering reply sent by petitioners directing petitioners to pay amount of Rs.6 lakhs within 7 days failing which amount would be recovered under provisions of R.R Act - Petitioners contend that 1st respondent/Collector has no authority under law to direct petitioners to deposit amount alleged to have been collected in excess of amount fixed by District Administration and that relationship between petitioners and formers are contractual and dictated by market conditions and there is no law which governs relationship enabling 1st respondent/Collector to enforce same - Govt., contends that writ jurisdiction of High Court being discretionary writs cannot be issued as of right or as a matter of course and it should be issued only if substantial injustice is ensued or is likely to ensue and Court should interfere only when it comes to conclusion that over whelming public interest requires interference in matter - Powers of "bureaucracy" in democratic set up in general and that of "District Administration" in particular have to be delineated and explored for purpose of proper decision - "History of Office of District Collector" - Stated - Refund would enable to unjustly enrich itself at cost of State and retain tax collected from purchasers - In instant case, there is no question of unjust enrichment and rates were collected during course of their business - In this cases, petitioners approached High Court challenging action of District Collector and High Court has duty to see whether District Collector has acted within his authority in fixing price for storage of chilli bags by farmers and also in demanding excess amount alleged to have been collected by petitioners for refund to farmers - High Court has duty to protect business rights of petitioners also under Art.19(1)(g) of Constitution of India and cannot order refund of alleged excess amount collected from farmers - Impugned order passed by Joint Collector/1st respondent is clearly without jurisdiction and not sanctioned by any provisions of law - Respondents are directed to refund amount to petitioners deposited by them in pursuance of interim orders passed by High Court - Writ petition, allowed. Venkateswara Vegetable Fruits Pvt. Ltd. Vs. District Collector, Guntur Dt. 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 130 = 2014(2) ALD 289 = 2014(2) ALT 166.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.20(3) - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.161 - NARCO ANALYSIS TEST - Magistrate rejecting requisition of Police to send persons for NA Test observing that Court has no jurisdiction to entertain requisition since above persons are neither accused nor suspects and they are not arrested by Police and therefore question of giving those persons to police custody for purpose of NA test does not arise - Prosecution contends that NA Test can be conducted on any persons including witnesses and they need not necessarily be accused or suspects and it is safe test to elicit information relating to crime from above persons, instead of resorting to third degree methods - Field of criminology has expanded rapidly during last few years and demand for supplemental methods of detecting deception and improving efficiency of interrogation has increased concomitantly - Investigating Agency has statutory right to investigate crime and to find out truth and to reach to accused - Narco Test for criminal interrogation is valuable technique, which would profoundly affect both innocent and guilty and thereby hasten cause of action - In accusations made in India, Police are attributed with applying third degree methods in eliciting information and there are instances of culprits or suspects dieing in lockups during course of interrogation on account of application of third degree methods, there is a blame that Indian Police are flagrantly violating human rights and fundamental rights guaranteed under Art.21 of Constitution - There is every need to apply scientific test to elicit information to make further investigation in crimes - U/Sec.161 Cr.P.C Police are empowered to examine not only witnesses, but also accused during course of investigation and it is duty of every citizen to assist Police in taking crimes and to bring criminals to justice - In present case since respondents are not accused arrested by Police, there is no need to obtain any permission from Court to undertake NA Test - Police are required to convince Court as to what are circumstances that made Police to gain an impression that persons proposed to be to NA Test, likelihood of knwoing something about commission of offence - Police concerned are required to take all precautions as required under medical jurisprudence to undertake NA Test to be conducted in presence of medical experts to monitor condition of subject to avoid any complications of above test - Criminal Revision Cases, accordingly allowed. State of A.P. Vs. Inapuri Padma 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 284 = 2008(2) ALD(Crl.) 668(AP) = 2008(3) ALT(Crl.) 26(AP) = 2008 Crl. LJ 3992.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.21 - Violation of Righ to life and liberty - 'Civil disputes between to private parties' - Petitioner carrying on business of manufacturing bricks in schedule property under oral lease and filed suit for permanent injunction restraining respondent owner of land from evicting petitioner except under due process of law - When suit and I.A filed by petitioner was pending respondents/police took him to police station and fixed dead line to evict plaint schedule property by threatening that if he failed to do so,he will be implicated in false criminal cases - Society governed by rule of law, State or its subordinates cannot be permitted to Act in a manner which would violate constitutional or legal rights of its subjects - It is no part of duty of police to interfere with civil disputes between two private parties unless Court of competent jurisdiction directs granting of aid to comply with orders of Court. Darapaneni Krishna Murthy Vs. Superintendent of Police, Guntur Dt. 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 266 = 2008(4) ALD 105 = 2008(4) ALT 545 = 2008(2) APLJ 20.

—Art. 21 - A.P. PREVENTION OF DANGEROUS ACTIVITIES OF BOOT LEGGERS, DACOITS, DRUG OFFENDERS, GOONDAS, IMMORALTRAFFIC OFFENDERS AND LAND GRABBERS ACT, 1986, Secs.3 (1) & (2), r/w Sec.2 (a) and (f) - Competent authority passing order of detention against petitioner's husband on 11 grounds for offences allegedly committed which was ratified by Govt. and advisory Board - Petitioner contends that there is no proximity between ground No.2 and ground Nos.3 to 11 mentioned in order of detention and that offences mentioned in ground Nos.3 to 9 had taken place in year 2006 whereas offences mentioned in ground No.10 to 11 had taken place in year 2008 and therefore passing order of detention under Act not justifiable and same amounts to taking away right to detenu granted under Art.21 of Constitution of India - While a person is in judicial custody, it is totally inexpedient to pass order of detention under Act and that there must be sufficient material, apparently to satisfaction of competent authority that detenu would act in a prejudicial manner in case of his being not in judicial custody - It is always desirable for competent authority to record reasons, while passing order of detention, under Act even though person is in judicial custody -

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

Therefore it is for competent authority to record a finding as regards his absolute satisfaction about passing of order of detention notwithstanding fact that person is in judicial custody or not - In present case, when petitioner is in judicial custody he has every right under law to make an Application seeking bail, in case, any order of bail is passed by competent Court, same would be virtually, nullified because of present order of detention under Act - Similarly even if detenu is tried in any one of cases, which are pending as of now and acquitted therein, he cannot have benefit of said order of acquittal because of present order of detention - Order of detention passed by competent authority is not justifiable and is liable to be set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Narasama Vs. The Collector & District Magistrate,Visakhapatnam 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 89 = 2009(1) ALD (Crl) 444 (AP) = 2009(1) ALT 31.

—Art.21 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.45 - TELEGRAPHS ACT, Sec.7 - Petitioner/husband filed O.P before Family Court seeking decree of divorce against respondent/wife - Petitioner moved Application seeking to produce Hard Disk relating to conversation of his wife recorded by him in USA - Family Court passing order directing that admitted voice of the respondent-wife be recorded by an expert on his equipment in presence of both parties and then admitted voice of wife be compared with disputed portion of conversation in Hard Disk (Ex.P-18) - There should be some trust between husband and wife and in any case, right of privacy of wife is infringed by her husband by recording her conversation on telephone to others and if such right is violated, which is fundamental, can such husband who have resorted to illegal means, which are not only unconstitutional, but also immoral, later on relay on evidence gathered by him by such means - Clearly, it must not be permitted - Supreme Court gave directions as to in which circumstances under what conditions telephone can be tapped - It categorically stated that order of telephone tapping can only be passed by Home Secretary and in urgent cases power may be delegated to Officer of Home Department not below rank of Joint Secretary - Therefore, husband does not derive any power whatsoever to record a telephone conversation of his wife without her knowledge - The act of tapping itself by husband of conversation of his wife with others was illegal and infringed right of privacy of wife - Therefore, these tapes, even if true cannot be admissible in evidence - Hence hard disk, (Ex.P-18) not admissible in evidence - Revision petition, allowed. Rayala M.Bhuvaneswari Vs. Nagaphanender Rayala 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 70 = 2008(2) ALD 311 = 2008(1) ALT 613 = AIR 2008 AP 98.

—Art.22(5) - Preventive detention - CONSERVATION OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE AND PREVENTION OF SMUGGLING ACTIVITIES ACT, (COFEPOSA)1994 ACT, Sec.3(2) - Detaining authority passing order of detention considering nature and gravity of detenu's action over a period of time - Detenu's wife filing Hebeas Corpus petition challenging legality of detention order on ground of non supply of various documents which prevented detenu from making an effective representation - High Court allowed writ petition and quashed detention order - When detention order is passed all material relied upon by Detaining Authority in making such an order, must be supplied to detenu to enable him to make an effective representation against detention order in compliance with Art.22(5) of Constitution, irrespective of whether he had knowledge of same or not - Although

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

State is empowered to issue orders of preventive detention, since liberty of an individual is in question such power should be exercised by detaining authority, though against and in favour of individual concerned, to arrive at a just conclusion that his detention is necessary in interest of public and to prevent him from continuing to indulge in activities which are against public interest and interest of State - In instant case, as some vital documents which have a direct bearing on detention order, had not been placed before Detaining Authority, there was sufficient ground for detenu to question such omission - On account of non supply of documents, detenu is prevented from making an effective representation against his detention - Judgment and order of High Court - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Union of India Vs. Ranu Bhandari 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 73.

—Art.32 - Writ of Habeas Corpus - Petitioner, father filing petition praying habeas corpus for protection of his minor son and handing over custody and his passport - In this case, parties got married at A.P according to Hindu rites and child was born at USA - Disputes arose between parties and approached Court - New York Supreme Court dissolved marriage between parties and granted joint custody of child - Pursuant to orders of Court, CBI issued look out notices on India basis through heads of Police of States - Child and mother traced at Chennai after lapse of two years - Order passed directing 6th respondent, wife to act as per consent order passed by Family Court at State of New York - CUSTODY OF CHILD - In cases of custody of child removed by parent from one Country to another in contravention to orders of Court where parties had set up their matrimonial home, Court in country to which child has been removed must first consider question whether Court could conduct an elaborate enquiry on question of custody - Court is bound to consider welfare and happiness of child as paramount consideration and go into all relevant aspects of welfare of child including stability and security, loving understanding care and guidance and full development of child's character, personality and talent - While doing so order of foreign Court as to his custody may be given due weight; weight and pursuasiva effect of foreign judgment must depend on circumstances of each case - Court passed following order: (i) Respondent No.6 shall act as per consent order of Family Court of New York and she will take child of her own to USA within 15 days and report to that Court (ii) petitioner shall bare all travelling expenses of child and mother (iii) petitioner shall not file or pursue any criminal charges for violation by wife of consent order in USA. Dr.V.Ravi Chandran Vs. Union of India 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 178.

—Art.32 – COMMISSIONS FOR PROTECTION OF CHILD RIGHTS ACT, 2005, Sec.13 – "Surrogacy" – 'Custody of child born to surrogated mother' - Biological parents entered into agreement with surrogated mother – Matrimonial discords between biological parents - SURROGACY – Meaning of – Surrogacy is a well known method of reproduction where by a women agrees to become pregnant for purpose of gestating and giving birth to a child she will not raised but handover to contracted party - Kinds of surrogacy – Stated – If any person has any grievance, same can be ventilated before Commission constituted under Act. Baby Manji Yamada Vs. Union of India 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 194.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.226 – Removal of Encroachment on National Highways – Petitioners occupied land belonging to National Highways and located bunks and running petty businesses – Respondent sought to evict petitioners without issuing notice - Admittedly petitioners are in occupation of land, which either belongs to Gram Panchayat or National Highway Authority of India without any permission from either of Authorities, action of respondents in seeking to evict them is unexceptionable - Even if notice was given to petitioners in face of their admission that they are in unauthorized occupation of land they would not have been in a position to offer any semblance of explanation to justify their continuance on land – Writ petition, dismissed. Mangali Chinna Rama Subbanna Vs. E.E.,R & B, Dhone 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 296 = 2009(1) ALD 496 = 2008(4) APLJ 38(SN).

—Arts.32 & 226 and 14 & 21 - "Judicial Activism" - "Public Interest Litigation" (PIL) - MOTOR VEHICLES ACT, 1988, Chapter VIII - Petitioner is a Society registered under Societies Registration Act, which claims to be engaged in espousing problems of general public importance, referring to, raising number of road accidents in country, defects in licensing procedure, inadequate infrastructure relating to roads and inadequate provisions of traffic control devices and alleging number of accidents, filed writ petition seeking necessary directions to respondent, Union of India and others and to set up Committee of experts in each State for dealing with various requirements for minimization of accidents on roads - Prayers made by petitioner in petition seeking directions of legislative or executive nature can only be given by legislature or executive - Motor Vehicles Act is a comprehensive enactment on subject, if there is lacuna or defect in Act, it is for legislature to correct it by suitable amendment and not by Court - What petitioner really prays for in this petition is for various directions which would be legislative in nature, as they would amount to amending Act - Judges should not proclaim that they are playing role of a law-maker merely for an exhibition of judicial valour - They have to remember that there is a line, though thin, which separates adjudication from legislation - That line should not be crossed - A Committee can be appointed by Court to gather some information and/or give some suggestions to Court on matter pending before it, but Court cannot arm such Committee to issue orders which only a Court can do - Futile writs should not be issued by Court - JUDICIAL ACTIVISM - When other agencies or wings of State over- step their constitutional limits, aggrieved parties can always approach Courts and seek redress against such transgression - If however Court itself becomes guilty of such transgression, to which forum would aggrieved party appeals - Only check on Courts is its own self restraint - Worst result of "Judicial Activism" is unpredictability - Unless Judges exercis self restraint, each Judge can become a law unto himself and issue directions according to his own personal fancies, which will create chaos - Chapter VIII of Motor Vehicles Act has provisions of control of traffic and obviously provisions are meant for road safety and if further provisions are required for this purpose petitioner may approach legislature or concerned authority for this purpose, but this Court can certainly not amend law - People must also know that judiciary has its limits and cannot solve all their problems, despite its best intentions - Problems facing people of India have to be solved by people themselves by using their creativity and by scientific thinking and not by using judicial crutches like PILs - People also must know that Courts are not remedy for all ills in Society - PUBLIC INTEREST LITIGATION

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

(PIL) - PIL is a weapon which is to be used with a great care and circumspection - Unfortunately PILs are being entertained by many Courts as a routine and result is that dockets of most of superior Courts are flooded with PILs, most of which are frivolous or for which judiciary has no remedy - "Public Interest Litigation" has nowadays largely become "publicity interest litigation", "private interest litigation" or "politics interest litigation" or latest trend "paise income litigation" - Much of P.I.L is really blackmail - PIL which was initially created as a useful judicial tool to help poor and weaker section of society who could not afford to come to Court, has, in course of time, largely developed into an uncontrollable Frankenstein and nuisance which is threatening to choke dockets of superior Courts obstructing hearing of genuine and regular cases which has been waiting to be taken up for years together - Writ petition, dismissed. Common Cause (A Regd. Society) Vs. Union of India 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 9 = 2008(3) ALD 81(SC) = AIR 2008 SC 2116 = 2008(2) Supreme 865 = 2008 AIR SCW 3164.

—Arts.40 and 243-G - A.P. PANCHAYAT RAJ ACT, 1994, Sec.4(2) - This Court of the opinion that the impugned order could not have been issued by 3rd respondent/ District Panchayat Officer, since the 6th respondent Grampanchayat is a body representing the will of the people and an institution of self-governance and all affairs relating to administration of village having been vested in it - Without a resolution by the Grampanchayat agreeing for shifting of its office from the new building to the old building, merely at the instance of the Sarpanch and a Minister in the State Cabinet, and on the basis of certain reports submitted by respondent No. 3 to 5, 3rd respondent could not have passed the impugned order - If such a process is permitted, it would render the 5th respondent Grampanchayat not as an institution of self-government but as a puppet in the hands of respondent Nos. 1 to 5 - Therefore, the impugned order passed by 3rd respondent has to be held contrary to Articles 40 and 243-G of the Constitution of India - So, the Writ Petition is allowed, and the impugned proceedings are set aside - The 3rd respondent as well as 7th respondent shall pay costs of Rs. 2000 each to all the petitioners. Gollapalli Ganghadhar Rao Vs. State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 287 = 2015(4) ALD 44 = 2015(3) ALT 223.

—- Art.136 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.302 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec. 313 - "Murder" - "Circumstantial evidence" - Appellant/accused suspecting his wife of having illicit relations with his neighbour, killed three children and his wife - Trial Court convicting appellant and awarded him death sentence - High Court dismissed appeal - Hence, present appeal - It is not case of direct evidence, but conviction of accused is founded on "circumstantial evidence" - In case, based on circumstantial evidence prosecution must establish chain of events leading to incident and facts forming part of that charge should proved beyond reasonable doubt - They have to be of definite character and cannot be a mere possibility - In this case, circumstantial evidence read with statement of prosecution witnesses and statement of appellant himself prove one fact without doubt, i.e. accused has certainly murdered his wife - On appreciation of evidence on record no hesitation in holding that appellant is guilty of offence u/Sec.302 IPC for murdering his wife and three minor children - In this case, prior to commission of crime none of prosecution witnesses including immediate blood relations of deceased, made any complaint about his behaviour or character - On contrary it is admitted that appellant/accused used to prohibit deceased from speaking to neighbor, P.W.10, about which she really did not bother - His conduct, either way at time of commission of crime is unnatural and to some extent even unexpected - Appellant felt great remorse and was sorry for his acts and he informed police correctly what he had done - Another mitigating circum-stance is as a result of commission of crime appellant himself is greatest sufferer - He has lost his children, whom he had brought up for years and also his wife - Besides that it is not a planned crime and also lacked motive - It is a crime which had been committed out of suspicion and frustration -Considering above aspects it is not a case, which falls in category of "rarest of rare" - Cases where imposition of death sentence is imperative - Therefore while partially accepting appeals only with regard to quantum of sentence, commuted death sentence awarded to appellant accused to one of life imprisonment (21 years). Brajendrasingh Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh 2012(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 158.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.141 - Service Rules - Seniority - Regarding - Judicial review - Law laid down by Constitution Bench in B.S. Yadava – Stated - Approach of High Court to follow dicta in Paramjit Singh is most appropriate which pertains to same service and same Rules - High Court depart only in a situations where it finds that said judgment has been subsequently over ruled, specially or impliedly or it is per-in-currim - Article 141 - Law declared by Supreme Court is binding on all Courts in country and such law has to be followed unless it is over ruled specifically or impliedly or it is per-in-curium - Judgment in Paramjit Singh specifically taken note in B.S. Yadev but not over-ruled - Approach of High Court in following Dicta laid down in Paramjit singh was perfectly justified - No merit in Appeals - Hence dismissed. M.S.Sandhu and Anr. Etc Vs. State of Punjab 2014(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 63.

—Art.142 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.482 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.498-A - Appellant/husband and R2/wife both doctors - Allegations that wife started behaving cruelly with her husband and his parents and ultimately deserted husband - Decree of divorce obtained by mutual consent - Trial Court acquitted appellant/husband and other accused in criminal cases filed by respondent/wife - Magistrate convicting appellant and others u/Sec.498-A IPC - When appeal was pending parties sorted out their differences and filed petitions for recording compromise in criminal proceedings - Appellate Court rejecting petitions holding that offence u/sec.498-A not liable of compromise - High Court also declined to interfere in matter - In this case, wife categorically admitted that she does not want to prosecute appellants - In peculiar facts and circumstances of case, continuation of criminal proceedings would be an abuse of process of law - Criminal proceedings pending against appellants – Quashed. Dr.Arvind Barsaul Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 69.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.226 - WPMP dismissed for default - Application filed to restore WPMP along with Affidavit stating that she obtained list from Court for listing WPMP and that Section clerk brought to her notice that WPMP listed on 21-4-2008 and that order passed on said date and that "the circumstances that let to pass such order are highly arbitrary and unjust" and that Court ought to have given chance of posting case for "dismissal for default" on another date - Tenor of contents of Affidavit lacks any modicum of decency and same boarders on arrogance - Such affidavit is not expected from any litigant, more so when she is a practicing Advocate - Evidently WPMP was listed in 22-4-2008 and same dismissed on same day as petitioner not represented by either her counsel or herself - Surprisingly instead of offering explanation for their absence, she termed dismissal of Application by Court has "highly arbitrary and unjust" on a thorough misconception that Court shall not dismiss a case for default at first instance and that it should be posted for "dismissal for default" - Far from offering any semblance of explanation, petitioner has indulged in insinuation not only by seeking to suggest to Court procedure to be followed but also by terming act of dismissal of Application in default as arbitrary and unjust - Though conduct of petitioner calls for stringent action, taken a lenient view by administering caution to petitioner that repetition of such conduct will not be spared in future. S.Jayashree Vs. The Secretary, A.P. Bar Council, Hyd., 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 10 = 2008(6) ALD 120.

—Art.226 - "Misappropriation" - Petitioner/Project Implementing Agency was appointed to implement water development programmes (PIA) - Collector passing orders suspending petitioner as PIA on ground of some lapses in implementation of water shed programmes and appointed Enquiry Officer to conduct enquiry into lapses and submit report - 1st respondent/District Collector directed recovery of Rs.7.62 lakhs said to have been misappropriated or mis-utilized from petitioner and cancelled its appointment - Hence writ petition filed questioning impugned order passed by 1st respondent/Collector - Petitioner contends that Report of Enquiry Officer not furnished inspite of its request and as such order impugned is liable to be set aside - Respondents contend that since show-cause notice and final order give all details of irregularities committed by petitioner and as Enquiry Officer relied on account books maintained by petitioner non-furnishing of copy of enquiry report of Enquiry Officer did not cause any prejudice to petitioner and proceedings impugned cannot be said to be vitiated for mere failure to furnish copy of report of Enquiry Officer - In this case, admittedly report of Enquiry Officer not furnished to petitioner - When person accused of misappropriating funds and maintaining false accounts, is subjected to enquiry and Enquiry Officer submits report, penalty cannot be imposed without furnishing copy of enquiry report - Orders passed against petitioner basing on report of Enquiry Officer directing for recovery of amount from petitioner, set aside. Peddireddy Thimma Reddy Farm Foundation Vs.District Collector, Ranga Reddy 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 423 = 2008(3) ALD 712.

—Art.226 - IOC Ltd., - Retail outlet - Termination of dealership - After death of dealer of retail outlet, his three sons constituted a partnership firm with consent of IOC - Subsequently one partner retired and another partner died and since respondent

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

Company not positively responded to take wife of deceased partner as partner, only one partner running outlet - Basing on some papers to effect that wife of deceased partner entered into agreement with one third party to enable him to run dealership and that GPA was executed in his favour, respondent IOC terminated dealership of petitioner and thereafter possession of entire outlet was taken over by Company and entrusted outlet to 2nd respondent, a dealer who was selected in year 2005 - Hence present writ petition - Petitioner contends that wife of deceased partner did not become partner on account of lack of clearance from 1st respondent/Company and there was absolutely no basis for taking into account any agreement or arrangements said to have been made by her, with third parties - 1st respondent/Company has no basis or justification infer anything from acts and omissions on part of persons who are not in partnership - 1st respondent/IOC contends that Management of dealership was entrusted to certain third parties without any approval of or intimation to and also raised objection maintainability of writ petition - Petitioner contends that a request made by sole surviving partner, to take his sister-in-law as one of partners was not acceded to by respondents Company and in that view of matter, there was no basis for Company to give any credence to so- called arrangements or agreements, said to have been entered by her - Any penal action could have been taken, if only change in dealership or partnership as taken place with participation of sole surviving partner - In this case, in their reply petitioner, categorically stated that a request made to induct wife of deceased partner, as partner, was not accepted by Company, and that any arrangement or agreement on her part is not binding upon him or firm - In this case, admittedly it was an authorized representative of surviving partner, that was on seat of management - In dealership agreement there is a clause that dealer must personally supervise running of outlet - It is different from requiring that a dealer must be physically present on any point of day, throughout - That however is not basis, on which dealership was cancelled - In this case, neither showcause notice nor in any other correspondence, it was alleged that wife of deceased partner entered into agreement with others, keeping Company in dark - In fact, allegation can be only against existing dealer, and anything done by persons other than actual dealer would not bind him - Termination of dealership, untenable - Writ petition, allowed. E.Satyanarayana & Co., Nalgonda Vs. Indian Oil Corpn., Ltd. 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 162.

—Art.226 - Writ petition filed seeking a writ of mandamus for striking off false report/ opinion of DNA test - DNA test - Meaning of - Stated - In viewof principle enunciated by Supreme Court collection of blood sample for purpose of DNA finger printing does not amount to a custodial compulsion of self-incrimination - Hence it is perfectly legitimate exercise to have ordered for a DNA finger printing test to be conducted by FSL and its opinion rendered on subject can neither be treated nor termed as a false or improper opinion - Writ petition, dismissed. V.Prem Sagar Vs. Joint Civil Surgeon, Govt. of A.P. 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 73 = 2012(1) ALD(Crl) 98 (AP) = 2012(3) ALT 50.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.226 - Change of date of birth - Petitioner filed present writ petition seeking writ of mandamus declaring proceedings issued by respondent-Singaneri Collieries Company issued proceedings, determining age of petitioner as 25 years as on 12-1-1971 fixing date of superannuation as, 31-1-2006 as illegal, and arbitrary and consequently to direct respondent/Company to rectify same and to incorporate date of birth of petitioner in his service records as 10-2-1950 and permit him to continue in service upto 31-1-2011 - Petitioner contends that in school records his date of birth mentioned as 10-2-1950 and as per said entry he was aged about 21 years on date of joining respondent Company, but respondent Company mentioned his age as 25 years instead of mentioning it as 21 years in his service register and that recruiting officials neither asked him to produce his date of birth nor School Leaving Certificate in proof of age, and they themselves by looking at him made self assessment and incorporated his age as 25 years in his service records, which was not communicated at any point of time - Respondent/Company denied allegations of petitioner stating that petitioner joined in respondent-Company as illiterate and he did not produce any evidence at time of his entering into service as proof of age, as such, as per Rules and practice in vogue, at time of appointment petitioner was examined by Company's Medical Officer and his age was assessed as 25 years as on 12-1-1971 and same was entered in his service book and petitioner also affixed his thumb impre-ssion in service book as token of acceptance - Petitioner further contends that his date of birth is 10-2-1950 and though he submitted all his educational certificates as well as statutory certificates issued by Mines Authorities his age and date of birth as 10-2-1950 but respondent-Company did not correct wrong entries made in service records and that when same date of birth is consistently mentioned in all certificate of petitioner prior to joining in respondent-Company till now, calling petitioner to appear before age determi-nation Committee is bad and illegal - In this case, there cannot be any doubt to say that age of petitioner was shown as 25 years at time of his initial appointment and it may be also a fact that petitioner had affixed his thumb impression on relevant documents at time of his appointment - However, crucial aspect is whether claim of petitioner is genuine and whether his claim has to be thrown out merely because he had affixed his thumb impression on relevant papers at time of appointment - Admittedly, petitioner was appointed as Badli Coal Filler Casual Worker - No educational qualifications required for that post and when person gets an opportunity to join service and where educational qualifications are not required, it is for Officers concerned to ascertain correct age and guide employees properly and they cannot take advantage of illiteracy or semi-literacy of candidates who come forward to join post - In this case, petitioner filed admission certificate issued by Headmaster of Primary School, where his date of birth was shown as 10-2-1950 and this document is dated 5-6-1956 i.e. prior to date of petitioner joining into service and that respondent-Company has not disputed genuiness of this document - Respondent also obtained some other certificates which were signed by Secretary and Chairman of Board of Mining Examination and in which date of birth of petitioner mentioned as 10-2-1950 - When respondent-

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

Company receives such statutory certificate,before acting upon those certificates they must verify whether the date of birth mentioned in those certificates is in conformity with date of birth mentioned at time of initial appointment and if there is contradiction they must resolve dispute before acting upon such statutory certificates - When genuiness of those certificates are not in dispute and when those documents have been acted upon by respondent-Company without any dispute, those certificates have to be taken into consideration - Moreover petitioner has also produced his primary school record in support of his claim - Hence, claim of petitioner cannot be denied - Writ petition, allowed as prayed for. A.Raja Murali Vs. Singareni Collieries Company Limited, 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 19 = 2013(6) ALD 306 = 2013(5) ALT 691.

—-Art. 226 - Two Writs previously filed by petitioner and both 1st respondent/Union Government and 2nd respondent/State Government have not acted in accordance with the directions issued therein - Present Writ petition is filed challenging the order passed by the 1st Respondent/Union Government rejecting the claim of the petitioner for pension for her late husband who participated in anti-Nizam Government movement in response to a scheme introduced on 15-08-1972 which was later liberalized as Swatantra Samman Pension Scheme, 1980 which came into force on 1-8-1980 - Which clearly stipulates that a person who had suffered a minimum imprisonment of six months or who on account of his participation in freedom struggle remained underground for more than six months on whom an order of detention was issued and award for arrest was announced is entitled for pension and there is absolutely no further need to produce secondary evidence by such persons - Petitioner herein has already produced the proceedings of the Director General of Police, Nizam Government, Hyderabad Dt. 5th Aban 1356 Fasli which clearly shows that arrest warrants were issued against Petitioner's husband and he also went underground for more than six months as per 2nd Respondent's report - But 1st Respondent rejected plea of Petitioner on ground that she has not furnished any secondary evidence - Held, Scheme clearly says there is no need for secondary evidence to avail pension and in wake of principles laid down by Apex Court in many judgments in such cases regarding preponderance of probabilities and also considering laudable object behind the scheme, rejection order of 1st Respondent set aside - Writ Petition Allowed with a direction to 1st Respondent to pay pension along with arrears. M.Jannamma Vs. Union of India 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 17 = 2014(6) ALD 374.

—Article 226 – Correction of Date of Birth – The date of birth of the petitioner from primary level to class X, having been correctly recorded, mere recording of erroneous date by the SSC Board in its record obviously cannot put the petitioner to a serious prejudice - The judgment of the Division Bench in W.A. No. 1021 of 2010, referred to above, distinguished G.O.Ms. No. 430, dated 31-12-1992, therefore, are not attracted as held by the Division Bench - Therefore, the aforesaid decision is clearly applicable to the facts and circumstances of the present case and as such, is required to be followed in this case also - Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed and the impugned order is set aside. Gogineni Gnana Jyothi Vs. State of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 337 = 2015(3) ALD 530 = 2015(2) ALT 663.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.226 - Power of revenue authorities to provide police protection - Admittedly there are civil disputes pending between petitioners and respondents - R3/Tahsildar directing R4/SHO to provide police protection to respondents to enable them to cultivate their lands - Action of Tahsildar is totally unsustainable and illegal - Revenue authorities cannot direct Police Department to give aid to one party or other except in exceptional cases wherein Court directs implementation of orders of injunction - Proceedings of R3 Tahsildar are set aside - W.P allowed with costs of Rs.2000. Sake Chandrayudu Vs. State of A.P. 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 522 = 2015(5) ALD 10 = 2015(5) ALT 308.

—-Art.226 - Judicial Review in awarding compensation in the case of death - Two children of petitioners died as they were victims of snake bite which was corroborated by post mortem report - Special Officer of School filed a complaint in Police Station complaining about death of two children due to snake bite and same was registered as a Crime - In final report, police have shown cause of death as snake bite - This Writ Petition is filed by petitioners claiming compensation for death of their children caused on account of negligence of respondents.

Held, having regard to principle adopted by Supreme Court in Lata Wadhwa and having regard to fact that incident in instant writ petition occurred in year 2006 and for reasons assigned above, Court considered opinion that a consolidated amount of Rs.8,00,000/- to each of petitioners would meet ends of justice, mitigate hardship undergone by parents, and would at least give some kind of solace to parents of children whose lives were taken away even before they could blossom - Writ Petition is allowed accordingly. Mulukutla Pochaiah Vs.Union of India 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 426.

—Art.226 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.11, Explanation III - G.O.MS. NOs.522,242,243 & 244 - REVENUE LAWS - PUBLIC INTEREST LITIGATION - Alienation of lands situated within Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation to various Societies comprising members of A.P. Legislature and Members of Parliament and A.P. I.A.S, IPS & I.R.S and other VIPs. - Petitioners contends that allotment of land to judges of High Court affects independence of judiciary and persons belonging to all India Service constitutes creamy layer and therefore not entitled to affirmative and allotments are violative of "Trust" doctrine - Objections raised pertaining to locus standi ad laches of petitioners, rejected - Doctrine of res judicata or constructive res judicata or Or.2, Rule 2 C.P.C have no application to present cases - Division Bench held in unequivocal terms that there can be no rationale or justification for allotting land to individuals falling under two categories, viz., (i) those who own properties in their own name or in name of their spouse or children (ii) those who may have already been benefited by allotment of land at concessional rate either directly or through Society - Division Bench also held that there is imperative need to ensure that allotment of land in name of providing house cites to needy people does not become a source of profiteering by those who fall in either of above two categories - It could have been perfectly legitimate for previous Division Bench to have quashed G.O.Ms.No.522 in toto, its not doing so and leaving State to reframe its policy in light of findings contained in judgment was only to provide an opportunity to State to take corrective steps, but State cannot be understood as Court leaving State with an option or freedom to repeat same constitutional impropriety that was held to have been committed in G.O.Ms.522 by including one of above stated categories viz., those who have a house or house site, as beneficiaries of allotment of State land - Such an understanding of Division Bench Judgment will render specific and categoric findings contained in its judgment, nugatory - Impugned G.Os., to extent that they did not render ineligible persons, who own a house or house site in their own name or in name of their spouse or children for allotment of house sites by respective Societies of which they are members cannot be sustained in law - All impugned G.Os except G.O.Ms.No.421, dt.25-3-2008, which was rescinded consequently ceased to exist, are quashed. Dr.Rao V.B.J. Chelikani Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 312.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Article 226 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec. 151 – The petitioner/ HPCL obtained injunction order and protection order from competent Civil Court – However, respondents 3 to 6 are interfering with possession of petitioner – Hence, petitioner filed complaint before R2/S.H.O. seeking enforcement of Civil Court Order – R2/S.H.O. not taking any action – Hence, present Writ Petition to compel R1,R2, to perform their public duty - Execution of the lease deeds having been admitted and the sub lease not being questioned by respondent No. 7, prima facie, shows that the right in property created in favour of HPCL is required to be accepted for the purpose of this writ petition unless in the final adjudication in the suits, a finding contrary is recorded - Secondly, the fact that the trial court has considered injunction applications of HPCL as well as respondents 3 to 6 and has confirmed the injunction in favour of HPCL and vacated the injunction in favour of respondents 3 to 6 clearly establishes that HPCL is in possession and its possession was protected by the order of interim injunction - As long as the said orders subsist, it is, therefore, not open to draw an inference of conclusion that notwithstanding the said injunction orders, the HPCL is not in possession of the property - It is, therefore, clear that so far as the writ petition is concerned, HPCL is justified in claiming that its possession is protected by the orders of the Civil Court, as referred to above and as such, respondents 1 and 2 are duty bound to protect and provide aid to HPCL so as to enforce the said orders and ensure that the said orders are not violated - In the circumstances, the writ petition is accordingly allowed. Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 332 = 2015(3) ALD 30 = 2015(3) ALT 59.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Art.226 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE r/w INDIAN PENAL CODE - "Perjury" - Respondents/Corporation rejecting application of petitioner for HPCL Dealership on ground that she filed false affidavit - Writ petition filed seeking direction to respondents to reconsider her application -In this case, petitioner has not only failed to comply with mandatory requirement of filing a personal affidavit regarding change of her name, but also made a blatantly false averment in her affidavit filed in Court and tried to mislead Court by filing copy of purported affidavit with a specific plea that said affidavit was filed before concerned authority of Corporation - By conduct of petitioner in filing deliberately false affidavit supported by copy of purported affidavit to buttress her false statement made in affidavit, petitioner has polluted pure stream of justice - A litigant who attempts to pollute stream of justice or who touches pure fountain of justice with tainted hands, is not entitled to any relief interim or final - Registrar (judicial) is directed to initiate prosecution against petitioner for her conduct in terms of Code of Cr.P.C r/w I.P.C for "Perjury"- Writ petition dismissed with cost of Rs.10,000. Yalala Swapna Vs. Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd. Mumbai 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 244.

—Art.226 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.41-A, rw/ Sec.161 - Crime registered against petitioner u/sec.406,420 468 and 471 of IPC for duping complainant to a tune of Rs.2 crore and investigation has been taken up - Petitioner contends that while passing order in criminal petition Hingh Court made it clear that petitioner should appear at Central Crime Station, before Investigating Officer on every Saturday at 10 am for three months or until filing of charge sheet - In this case, theree month period is over nerely one year back but still petitioner is being unnecessarily harassed and made to appear before Investigating Officer and inspite of his appearing he is made to unnecessarily wait at Police station for number of hours so that he will not be able to attend to any other activity of his own on said date - If Investigating Officer requires petitioner to appear before him at a particular time, on a particular day, he must try to complete investigation as expeditiously as possible, preferably within two or three hours time - He cannot summon petitioner to appear before him at 10 in morning and start interacting with him at 10 pm thus making him wait at Police Station for number of hous so that he will get fed up and frustrated in process - That is not manner in which investigation can be caried out - Even if recording of statement is taking enoromus time, say beyond 4 to 6 hours if person making statement makes a request for adjourning session by about 2 or 3 hours to enable him to recuperate from fatigue, such a request has to be conceded - After all, one is entitled to an appropriate rest to get recharged - Therefore 3rd respondent/Inspector of Police is directed to finalize investigation as expeditiously as possible and if at all he needs to interact with petitioner he should do so within next two or three hours from time specified by him - If petitioner, inspite appearing before Inspector of Police, has not been interacted with, all due to preoccupation of Investigating Officer, real or pretentious, it shall be open to him to leave premises of Central Crime Station after expiry of

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

3 hours time without intimation to 3rd respondent/Inspector of Police and petitioner cannot be faulted on that ground - Police machinery cannot go on investigating in to a crime for such long period, if it is truly interested in bringing out truth of matter - Writ petition stands disposed of accordingly. Grandhi Madhusudan Rao Vs. Commissioner of Police, Hyd., 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 199 = 2014(1) ALD (Crl) 155 (AP) = 2014(1) ALT (Crl) 259 (AP).

—Art.226 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.482 & 156(3) - PREVENTION OF CORRUPTION ACT, Sec.11,12 & 13 - "Quashing of FIR" - Special Judge ACB cases took cognizance of private complaint filed by an Advocate against petitioner/ Company and forwarded same to DG of ACB for investigation and report - Hence, petitioner filed writ petition to quash FIR/Proceedings in CCSR - Petitioner contends that no overt or covert acts much less commission of cognizable offences u/Secs.406 & 409 of IPC not alleged against petitioner in complaint and if there is any breach of agreement, remedy of complainant, is to approach competent civil Court - 3rd respondent/ACB contends that petitioner has an effective alternative remedy u/Sec.482 and writ petition under Art.226 of Constitution is not maintainable - Ordinary power of Court under Art.226 of Constitution and inherent power u/Sec.482 Cr.P.C to quash criminal proceeding should be exercised very sparingly and with circumspection and that too in rarest of rare cases - Extraordinary or inherent powers donot confer an arbitrary jurisdiction on Court to act according to its whim or caprice, - Considering allegations made by 2nd respondent in complaint in their totality, and sworn statement given by him before Court, Principal Special Judge, felt that complaint, prima facie disclosed commission of cognizable offence u/Secs.406,409 & 420, r/w 120-B and Secs.11,12 & 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act, by accused and feeling so, took cognizance of same and referred same to ACB for investigation and to file report - When law is well settled that disclosure of a dispute in complaint, which may be civil in nature to some extent, by itself cannot be a ground for High Court to interfere or scuttle investigation into allegations which attract penal provision - Even assuming complainant is a political opponent that by itself cannot be a aground to stall investigation of allegations made in complaint, which prima facie disclose commission of cognizable offence punishable under criminal law - Purpose of investigation is to find out whether there is any substance in allegation made in complaint - In this case, complaint is merely at stage of investigation - Once investigation is over, if complaint and material collected does not disclose commission of any offence as such, then it would result in filing of final report - However even before investigation is taken up or completed, it would not be proper for High Court to interfere with matter and interfere with investigation or scuttle investigation process - Action of special Judge in taking cognizance of complaint - Justified - Writ petition, dismissed. Emmar Hills Township Pvt., Ltd., Vs. Govt. of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 227 = 2011(5) ALT 47 = 2011(3) ALT (Crl.) 74 (AP) = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 99 (AP).

—Art.226 - LETTERS PATENT, CL.15 - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.482 & 154 & 173(8) - Manipulation of FIR and General diary - Single Judge quashing criminal proceedings before Magistrate on ground of "manipulation of FIR" and "General Diary" and directing Superintendent of Police concerned to keep SHO under suspension forthwith and launch disciplinary proceedings - Hence writ appeals filed by de facto complainant and SHO - In this case, admittedly, though first complaint lodged by de facto complainant has been registered as FIR by SHO neither copy of FIR registered on online nor complaint has been forwarded to jurisdictional Magistrate, but it is only FIR registered manually on basis of later complaint lodged by complainant together with later complaint has been forwarded to jurisdictional Magistrate and on basis of same a charge sheet has been filed - In such circumstances and since order of single Judge is to be set aside on ground that both complaints discloses commission of offence and keeping in view law laid down by Apex Court, later FIR will stand - U/Sec.173(8) since Officer-in-charge is empowered to forward a further report, he can submit an additional report and Magistrate keeping in view circumstance of case has to take same also on file and to be proceeded with - Therefore prosecution would be at liberty to file further report under Sec.173(8) Cr.P.C bringing out reasons for not registering earliest report, if necessary, by making further investigation as required u/Sec.156 Cr.P.C with permission of Court - Earlier, finding recorded by Single Judge that there was manipuaion of FIR while registering crime upheld - Therefore matter need to be examined on administrative side by Superintendent of Police constituting an enquiry committee to find out where lapse had been occurred and who are persons or person responsible for same - What disciplinary action is required to be taken against erring Officers is with in domain of administrative authority - High Court in exercise of power under Art.226 of Constitution or inherent powers u/Sec.482 of Cr.P.C. cannot direct that particular action should be taken or an Officer be placed under suspension in matter of this nature - Therefore order of Single Judge to said extent is also liable to set asdie - Appeals are partly allowed in terms that order of single Judge set aside and proceedings on file of Magistrate is restored and Superintendent of Police shall cause enquiry as to manipulation occurred while registering crime by officer-in-charge of P.S and initiate appropriate disciplinary proceedings against Officers responsible for manipulation and submit compliance to High Court. D.Kasaiah Vs. Sunkara Srinivasulu 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 139 = 2013(1) ALD (Crl) 685 (AP) = 2013 Cri. LJ 1186 (AP).

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—Arts.226 & 14 - Hindustan Petroleum Ltd., terminating dealership of petitioner for alleged tampering of Seals and was delivering 1.40 ml. litre short, for every five litres - Petitioner contends that Seals of Unit are in tact and that Unit manufactured by M/s.Larsen & Turbo and seals are put by Legal Metrology Department and that petitioner was unnecessarily penalized for no fault of it - Respondents contends that petitioner tampered with machinery and inserted a spurious gear with an oblic motive and therefore petitioner is guilty of serious misconduct - Petitioner established petroleum outlet about half century ago and it is one of oldest petrol bunks in that area - Periodical inspections were conducted upon unit by officials of company authorities of Civil

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

Supplies Department and Legal Metrology Department - Petitioner also contends that previous inspection by Company was made on 14-9-2009 and seals on equipment put by Department of Legal Metrology on 26-3-2009 was found in tact and that no descrepancy as to measurement was pointed on 14-9-2009 and if any difference as arisen even while seal was in tact, petitioner cannot be liable - It is no doubt true that writ petition does not lie for determination of disputed questions of fact particularly when relationship between parties is governed by written contract - Once manufacturer of Unit calibrates equipment ensuring proper delivery of product, relevant part of machinery is sealed by Department of Legal Metrology, after verification of accuracy - In this case, petitioner made an elaborate reference to previous inspection, conditions of seals etc., - In impugned order it is stated that a duplicate gear was implanted by petitioner - Not a word is said about seal being in tact - Therefore, it is a case of non application of mind - Things would have been different had respondent said that petitioner or for that matter any individual, can have access to gear even while seal was intact - It is stated that opinion tendered by manufacturer of unit Larsen & Turbo was not available to petitioner - Failure to supply same results in violation of principles of natural justice - Petitioner cannot be expected to answer certain issues regarding which he has no information - Impugned order - Unsustainable - Writ petition, allowed. P.Laxmikanth Rao and Sons Vs. Union of India, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2011(3) ALD 505 = 2011(3) ALT 221.

—Arts.226, 14 & 12 - INSURANCE REGULATORY AND DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY ACT, 1999, Sec.14 (2) (b) - Cancellation of Insurance Policy unilaterally - Petitioner-Police Officers' Association obtained Long Term Group Janata Personal Accident Insurance Policy by paying full premium for entire period of 10 years covering risks of death and personal injuries - 2nd respondent-Divisional Manager sent letter dt.12-4-2002 to petitioner, stating, as per Condition No.6 of Terms of policy, policy cancelled with effect from 27-4-2002 - Petitioners contend that cancelling policy unilaterally under pretext of Condition No. 6 is arbitrary and illegal and that cancellation of policy in middle without any basis, purely motivated for commercial reasons, vitiates fundamental rights and that cancellation of policy without notice unilaterally even in teeth of Condition No.6 is arbitrary and illegal - Respondent-Insurance Company contends that contract is in nature of private contract between two private individuals and therefore question of amenability of dispute under Art.226 of Constitution does not arise and petitioner would approach Civil Court and obtain damages for breach of contract and that writ petition is not maintainable and in teeth of Condition No.6, Insurance Company is entitled to cancel policy as and when it was found to be necessary - Insurance Company is instrumentality of State under Art.12 of Constitution and is amenable to writ jurisdiction under Art.226 and contract is a statutory contract and respondent-Company must act fairly and reasonably when dealing with customers - Mere giving a letter cannot be a sufficient notice or a notice furnishing reasons - Contention of respondent -Company that this is a concluded contract and even if it is statutory in nature, Condition No.6 is binding on petitioners and that cancellation cannot be questioned or it cannot be examined on anvil of Art.14 – Unsustainable - High Court under Art.226, can definitely go into fact as to whether cancellation of policy, may be even if it is a concluded contract between parties, is correct or not-Impugned letter dt.12-4-2002,set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Police Officer's Association, Adilabad Vs. United India Insurance Co.,Ltd. 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 301 = 2008(1) ALD 257 = 2008(1) ALT 772.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—-Art.227 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.XV-A - Petitioners do not dispute that they are lessees of the suit schedule premises owned by the respondents, the quantum of rent is admittedly Rs.1,50,000/- per month and it was not even stated by the petitioners that they have paid the rent for period mentioned in the I.A. - Held, the pleas of Senior Counsel for petitioners that issue can be considered only at the stage of trial is bereft of any merit and a tenant or a lessee can adjust the amount payable as rent only when specifically authorised by landlord or lessor, in writing and the investment said to have been made by petitioners towards decoration or renovation being adjusted against rents does not arise as it was for their beneficial use of premises -The trial court has taken correct view of the matter - CRP is dismissed. Chaitanya Lanka Vs. Suresh Kumar Gupta 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 36 = 2014(5) ALD 744 = 2014(6) ALT 185.

—-Art. 227 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec. 151 - INDIAN REGISTRATION ACT, Secs. 49, 77 - INDIAN STAMPS ACT, Sec.35 - Petitioner filed O.S. for relief of specific performance, in form of a direction to respondents to register sale deed, or in alternative for a decree of perpetual injunction, or for delivery of possession of property and a draft sale deed was filed as one of documents, along with suit - In context of receiving and marking documents, the office of trial Court raised an objection - Petitioner filed I.A. under S.151 of CPC with a prayer to mark draft sale deed as Ex.A-4 - It was pleaded that there cannot be any objection to receive document in its present form, without any necessity to pay deficit stamp duty, or registration charges, or penalty - Trial Court dismissed I.A. resulting in revision - Held, document relied upon by petitioner is neither an agreement, or of sale, nor a sale deed - Document, no doubt, registerable, but it was not even executed - It is only on execution of a document that requirement of registration would arise - If document, irrespective of its description is yet to be executed, question of its being subjected to any stamp duty or levying deficit stamp duty much less penalty, does not arise - Therefore, Civil Revision Petition is allowed and order under revision is set aside. T.Jai Singh Vs. Pyaro Kaur 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 97 = 2014(5) ALD 755.

—Articles 300 & 79 - WRIT PROCEEDING RULES, 1977- C.P.C. Sec.79 - Writ petition has been filed amongst others, against Government of A.P. and order has been passed thereon - Impugned judgment and order has been passed on a proceeding which has not been legally instituted at all – Government of A.P. is not a sui-juris - If any action has to be brought against Central Government or State Government it has to be brought against Union of India and State, not in names of respective Governments and in this case, State of Andhra Pradesh or State of Telangana, would have been necessary parties - 1st respondent- Writ petitioner contends that this defect is not an incurable one, it is merely a technical one - When provision of Constitution mandates in a particular way a proceeding is to be instituted, no one can change it and it has to be done in that manner alone – If it is allowed to be done in a different manner, that would amount to re-writing Constitution - No Court of law can afford to change Constitutional Provision by Judicial prescription, particularly, Article 300 of Constitution of India is an original provision of Constitution and it cannot be struck down nor be read down by Court, for there is no ground of such challenge - Sec. 79 of C.P.C. also mandated before Constitution came into force, same way – Court cannot change it – Though it is a curable defect stage of curing is time bound Viz., before final disposal - After matter is disposed of finally with defect, it can't be cured at all – In this case final order has been passed and this order has been passed on an incompetent proceeding and therefore, order is nullity because same has been passed as against a non-existent party – Hence, judgment is set aside and on that ground alone Writ Petition is restored for fresh hearing enabling to remove defect – Writ appeal allowed accordingly. S.Shyamala Reddy Vs. Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 406 = 2015(4) ALD 380 = 2015(2) ALT 812.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA:

—-Arts. 350-A, 19(1)(a), 19(1)(g) r/w Arts.21, 21(a), 29(1) and 30(1) - Educational Laws – Interpretation of Statutes and Articles of Constitution of India - "Mother tongue" – The only provision in constitution which contains expression 'Mother tongue' - Art.350A – It means mother tongue or language of Linguistic minority in a particular State and it is parent or guardian of a child who will decide the mother tongue of child and hence it can neither expand power of a State nor restrict a Fundamental right by saying that mother tongue is language which child is comfortable with - Arts.29(1) & 30(1) – Choice of minority community under Art.30(1) need not be limited to imparting Education in language of minority Community – A private unaided non-minority school not enjoying protection of Art.29(1) and 30(1) can choose medium of instruction for imparting education to children in school – As Law developed by Supreme Court it is clear that all schools whether they are aided by Government or not aided by Government require recognition to be granted in accordance with provisions of appropriate Act or Government order – Accordingly Government recognized schools will not only include Government aided schools but also unaided schools which have been granted recognition - "Linguistic minority" under Art.30(1) of Constitution has right to choose medium of instruction in which Education will be imparted in primary stages of school which it has established – Art.350-A therefore cannot be interpreted to empower State to compel a linguistic minority to choose its mother tongue only as a medium of instruction in a primary school established by it in violation of this fundamental right under Art.30(1) – A child and parents have right to choose mothertongue of child – State has no power under Art.350-A of Constitution to compel Linguistic minorities to choose their mother tongue only as a medium of instruction in primary schools.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

State of Karnataka Vs. Associated Management of (Govt. Recognized-Unaide-English Medium) Primary &Secondary Schools 2014(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 38 = 2014(5) ALD 114 (SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 2908 = AIR 2014 SC 2094.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

—Secs.2(1)(e)(c)(o) & 3 - ELECTRICITY ACT, Secs.126,12,135 to 140, 173,174 & 175 - "Consumer Forum" - Jurisdiction - "Assessment made for unauthorized use of electricity u/Sec.126" - Maintainability of complaint before Consumer Forum - Appellant/Power Corporation contends that proceedings u/Secs.126,127,135 etc., of Electricity Act, initiated by Service providers are not related to deficiency of service in supply of electricity by service providers under Electricity Act - Complaint against proceedings under above said provisions of Electricity Act not maintainable before Forum constituted under Consumer Protection Act - In absence of any inconsistency between Secs.126,127,135 etc., of Electricity Act and provisions of Consumer Protection Act, Secs.173 & 174 of Electricy Act are not attracted - Respondents, complainants contend that complaint under Consumer Protection against final assessment order passed u/Sec.126 of Electricity Act is maintainable before Consumer Forum - National Commission though held that intention of Parliament is not to bar jurisdiction of Consumer Forum under Consumer Protection Act and have saved provisions of Consumer Protection Act, failed to notice that by virtue of Sec.3 of Consumer Protection Act, or Secs.173,174 & 175 of Electricity Act, Consumer Forum cannot derive power to adjudicate a dispute in relation to assessment made u/Sec.126 or offences u/Sec.135 to 140 of Electricity Act, as acts of indulging in "unauth-orized use of electricity" as defined u/Sec.126 or committing offence u/sec. 135 to 140 do not fall within meaning of "complaint" as defined u/Sec.2(1)(c) of Consumer Protection Act - It is therefore held that in case of inconsistency between Electricity Act and Consumer Protection Act, provisions of Consumer Protection Act will prevail, but ipso facto it will not vest Consumer Forum with power to redress any dispute with regard to matters which do not come within meaning of "service" as defined u/Sec.2(1) (o) or "complaint" as defined u/Sec.2(1)(c) of Consumer Protection Act - "Complaint" against assessment made by assessing Officer u/Sec.126 or offences committed u/Sec.135 to 140 of Electricity Act, is not maintainable before Consumer Forum - Electricity Act and Consumer Protection Act runs parallel for giving redressal to any person who falls within meaning of "consumer" u/Sec.2(1) (d) of Consumer Protection Act or Central Govt., or State Govt., or association of consumers but it is limited to dispute relating to "unfair trade practice" or a "restrictive trade practice adopted by service provider" or "if consumer suffers from deficiency in service" or "hazardous service" or "service provider has charged a prize in excess of price fixed by or under any law" - Orders passed by National Commission, set aside - Appeals filed by service provider-licensee, allowed. U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. Vs. Ans Ahmad 2013(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 36 = 2013(5) ALD 130 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 4342 = AIR 2013 SC 2766.

—- Secs.2(1)(o), 2(1)(g) & 2(1)(r) - Medical education - Deficiency in service - "Service" - In view of specific advertisement "No capitation fees", respondents/Complainants joined appellant, "The Buddhist Mission Dental College Hospital" by paying Rs.1 lakh each at time of admission and subsequently paying substantial amounts under various heads and after several months came to know that appellant College neither affiliated to any University nor recognized by Dental Counsel of India - Respondents/complainants also contend that no efforts were being made to improve standard of Institution by appointing regular teaching staff with proper qualification and that respondents deeply frustrated because their entire academic career was ruined - Hence claim petition - National Commission held that there was insufficiency of services on part of appellant and that respondents were legitimately entitled to claims made in petition and directed appellant to refund admission expenses paid at time of admission along with interest and also Rs.20,000/- to each of respondents by way of compensation for loss of two valuable academic years - Appllant contends that in unmistakable terms it was mentioned that "the academic syllabus of college meets a standard as per Dental Counsel of India Rules and as prescribed by Faculty of Dental Science ....Dental Science (BDS Degree)" and that appellant's institute is an industry and service rendered by institute amounts to deficiency in service with in the meaning of Sec.2(1)(g) of CP Act and that allegation of unfair trade practice within meaning of Sec.2(1)(r) of Act against appellant are without any merit - Admittedly appellant institute is neither affiliated with University nor recognized by Dental Counsel of India and in absance of affiliation and recognition, appellant institute would not have started admissions in 4 years degree course of BDS - Imparting of education by an educational institution for consideration falls within ambit of 'service' as defined in Act - Fees are paid for services to be rendered by way of imparting education by educational institutions - Complainants had hired service of respondent for consideration so they are consumers as defined in Consumer Protection Act - In this case, respondents were admitted to BDS course for receiving education for consideration by appellant college which neither affiliated nor recognized for imparting education - This clearly falls within purview of deficiency as defined in Act - Order of Commission that this is a case of total misrepresentation on behalf of institute which tantamounts to unfair trade practice - Justified - Appeal dismissed. Buddhist Mission Dental College & Hospital Vs. Bhupesh Khurana 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 146 = 2009(2) ALD 38(SC) = 2009(2) Supreme 378.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

--— Secs.2(1)(o) & 21 - "Medical negligence" - Deceased, Senior Operation Manager in IOC admitted in hospital for malignamy and surgery was conducted for abdominal tumor twice and discharged from hospital and subsequently died on account of pyogenic 'meningitis' - Appellants, wife and children of deceased filed complaint claiming compensation of Rs.45 laksh attributing deficiency in service and medical negligence in treatment of deceased - National Commission dismissed complaint on ground that complainants failed to make out any case of medical negligence against respondents - Sec.2(1) (o) - SERVICE - Defined - Service rendered to a patient by medical practitioner, by way of consultation, diagnosis and treatment, both medical and surgical, would fall within ambit of service - Deficiency in service has to be judged by applying test of reasonable skill and care which is applicable in action of damages for negligence - DISTINCTION BETWEEN NEGLI-GENCE 'AND CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE' - STATED

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

- While 'negligence' is an omission to do something which is a reasonable man guided upon those considerations which ordinarily regulate, doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do - Criminal negligence is gross and culpable neglect or failure to exercise that reasonable and proper care and precaution to guard against injury either to public generally or to an individual in particular, which having regard to all circumstances out of which charge has arisen, it was imperative duty of accused person to have adopted - MEDICAL NEGLIGENCE - Principles to constitute medical negligence - Stated - Negligence is breach of duty exercised by omission to do something which reasonable man guided by those considerations which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do - Negligence to be established by prosecution must be culpable or gross and not negligence merely based upon an error of judgment - Medical professional is expected to bring a reasonable degree of skill and knowledge and must exercise a reasonable degree of care - Medical practitioner would be liable only where his conduct fell below that of standards of reasonably competent practitioner in his field - Just because a professional looking to gravity of illness has taken higher element of risk to redeem patient out of his/her suffering which did not yield desired result may not amount to negligence - Negligence cannot be attributed to a doctor so long as he performs his duties with reasonable skill and competence - Merely because Doctor chooses one course of action in preference to other one available, he would not be liable if course of action chosen by him was acceptable to medical profession - Medical professionals are entitled to get protection so long as they perform their duties with reasonable skill and competence and in interest of patients - Interest and welfare of patients have to be paramount for medical professionals - As long as Doctors have performed their duties and exercises an ordinary degree of professional skill and competence, they cannot be held guilty of medical negligence - It is imperative that Doctors must be able to perform their professional duties with free mind - National Commission dismissing complaint of appellants - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Kusum Sharma Vs. Batra Hospital & Medical Research Centre 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 120.

—Secs.2(a),(c) & (d) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.20 &21 - Retrial benefits - Govt., servant - "Consumer" - Defined - Gov., servant does not fall under definition of "consumer" as defined u/Sec.2 (1)(d)(ii) of Act - Such Govt., servant is entitled to claim his retiral benefits strictly in accordance with his service conditions and reticulations or statutory rules framed for that purpose - Appropriate Forum, for redressal of any his grievance may be State Administrative Tribunal, if any or Civil Court, but certainly not a Forum under Consumr Protection Act, 1985 - Govt., servant cannot approach any of Forums under Act for any of retiral benefit. Dr.Jagmittar Sain Bhagat Vs. Dir. Health Services, Haryana, 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 285.

—-Secs.2(d),2(f),2(d),3,11,12 & 13(1)(c) - SEEDS ACT, 1966, Secs.9,19 & 21 - SEEDS RULES, 1968, Rules,13(3) & 23(a) - ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996,

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

Secs.8 - Appellant National Seeds Corporation supplied seeds to respondents/farmers/ growers - Complaints filed by respondents claiming compensation alleging that they suffered loss due to failure of crops/less yield because of defective seeds supplied by appellant - District Forum allowed complaints and awarded compensation basing on the Reports submitted by Commissioner, to respondents/farmers - Appeals and Revisions filed by appellant were dismissed by State Commission and Nation Commission - Hence present Appeal filed by appellant questioning orders of National Commission - Appellants contend that District Forum awarded compensation without following procedure u/Sec.13(1)(c) of Act and that growers of seeds are not covered by definition of "consumer" u/Sec.2(d) of Consumer Act, because they purchased seeds for commercial purpose - Appellant further contends that claim of respondents was liable to be dismissed because District Forum was not competent to decide issue relating to quality of seeds and that crop had failed because while sowing seeds respondents did not take precaution - State Commission and National Commission approved conclusions recorded by District Forum that respondents had suffered loss because. seeds sold by appellant were defective - Appellant also further contends that impugned orders are liable to be set aside because District Forum did not have jurisdiction to entertain complaints filed by respondents and State and National Commissions committed grave error by brushing aside appellant's objections to maintainability of complaints - If respondents/growers had any grievance about quality of seeds, then only remedy available to them to either filed an application u/Sec.10 of Seeds Act or to approach concerned Seed Inspector for taking action u/Sec.19, r/w 21 of Seeds Act - Respondents contend that they have used entire quantity of seeds purchased by them for growing and they had not retained samples by anticipating loss of crops or less yield - Commissioners had inspected fields of respondents and recorded categorical findings that formers had suffered losses because seeds supplied by appellant were defective and that appellant would not produce samples of seeds sold/supplied to respondents and get them tested to prove that same were not defective, but no such steps were taken by it - In context of farmers/growers and other consumers of seeds Seed Act is a Special Legislation in so far as provisions contained therein ensure that those engaged in agriculture and horticulture get quality seeds and any person who violates provisions of Act and/or Rules brought before law and punished - However there is no provision in Act and Rules framed thereunder for compensating farmers etc., who may suffer adversely due to loss of crop or deficient yield on account of defective seeds supplied by person authorized to sell seeds - Since farmers/growers pur-chased seeds by paying price from appellant they would certainly fall within ambit of Sec.2(d)(i) of Consumer Act and there is no reason to deny them the remedies which are available to other consumers of goods and services - Therefore so-called remedy available to aggrieved farmer/grower to lodge complaint with concerned Seed Inspector for prosecution of sellar/supplier of seed cannot but be treated as illusory and he cannot be deny relief under Consumer Act on ground of availability of an alternative remedy - Reports of agricultural experts produced before District Forum unmistakably revealed that crops had failed because of defective seeds/foundation seeds - After examining reports District Forum felt satisfied that seeds were defective and this is reason why complainants were not called upon to provide samples of seeds for getting same analyzed/tested in appropriate laboratory - Procedure adopted by District Forum was in no way contrary to sec.13(1) (c) of Consumer Act and appellant cannot seek annulment of well-reasoned orders passed by Consumers Forums on specious ground that procedure prescribed u/sec.13(1)(c) of Act not followed - National Commission took cognizance of objections raised by appellant that procedure prescribed u/Sec.13 (1)(c) of Act had not been followed and observed that contention of appellant that respondent complainant should have kept portion of seeds purchased by him to be used for sampling purpose is not only unsustainable in law but to say least, is very unbecoming of a leading Public Sector Company to expect this arrangement - In fact a Senior Officer of Govt., had visited field and inspected crop and given report under his hand and seal, clearly certifying that seeds were defective - Appeals are dismissed and appellant directed to pay costs of Rs.25,000 to each of respondents. National Seeds Corporation Ltd Vs. M.Madhusudhan Reddy 2012(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 70 = 2012(3) ALD 136(SC) = 2012 AIR SCW 1191 = AIR 2012 SC 1160.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

—Secs.3 & 12 - ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1996, Sec.8(1) - ARBITRATION ACT, 1940, Sec.34 - Petitioner and respondent entered into Development Agreement - Since petitioner failed to carry out contractual obligations under agreement, respondent filed Complaint before District Forum seeking certain reliefs against petitioner - District Forum rejecting Application filed by petitioner for reference of dispute for arbitration holding that under Sec.3 of 1986 Act remedies made available under Act are in addition to and not in derogation of remedies available under other laws - Contention that language of Sec.8 of 1996 Act is couched in mandatory terms leaving no discretion for any judicial authority other than referring dispute brought before it, which is subject matter of arbitration agreement, for arbitration in accordance with arbitration agreement - Consumer Protection Act being special enactment, which created an additional remedy in favour of consumer by raising consumer disputes before Fora constituted under said Act, Sec.8 of 1996 Act does not have effect of taking away such a remedy from consumers as in case of civil suits, which are in nature of common law remedies - Purport of Sec.3 1986 Act is that party chooses to avail remedy other than consumer dispute, he shall be free to do so because remedy under Act is not in derogation of other remedies available to such a party - But, conversely if he chooses to avail remedy before consumer Fora such a right cannot be denied to him on ground of availability of alternative remedy such as arbitration - Sec.3 of Act is intended to provide an additional remedy to a party and same is not meant to deny such a remedy to him - Writ petition, dismissed. Saipriya Estates Vs. V.V.L.Sujatha 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 375 = 2008(3) ALD 608 = 2008(3) ALT 125 = AIR 2008 AP 166.

—Secs.11(2)(c) & 12 - "Territorial jurisdiction" - Deficiency in service - Petitioner/ Doctor treated 2nd respondent/complainant at Kurnool - District Forum of

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

Mahaboobnagar District entertained complaint filed by 2nd respondent claiming compensation for deficiency of service on part of petitioner - Petitioner contends that complainant was treated at Kurnool and thereafter at Hyderabad and therefore District Consumer Forum at Mahaboob-nagar has no territorial jurisdiction to entertain complaint - In this case, legal notice was emnated within jurisdiction of District Consumer Forum Mahaboobnagar and reply sent by petitioner was also received by complainant within terrotorial jurisdiction of Mahaoobnagar - Therefore District Consumer Forum at Mahaboobnagar has terrotorial juisdiction to entertain consumer dispute - Writ petition, dismissed. Dr.B.Mohanlal Naik Vs. District Consumer Forum Mahaboobnagar 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 47 = 2009(4) ALD 559 = 2009(2) APLJ 21 (SN) = 2009(3) ALT 634.

—Secs.12, 13, 16 & 17 - A Circular issued by Andhra Pradesh State Consumer Redressal Commission to file a certificate, in case against a Firm or a Company, from Registrar of Firms of Registrar of Companies, as case may be, showing names of partners or directors as well as memorandum of association and the articles of association was upheld by the High Court Bench on 09-02-2011 and taking same into account, a detailed order Dt. 05-09-2011 was passed by Bench which heard this case, expressing view that the order in WP. No. 2545 of 2011 requires reconsideration - Since both Benches were of same strength, matter is placed before Full Bench - Held and, circular would place a complainant before a forum, in a more disadvantageous and difficult situation, than a plaintiff in an ordinary suit before a civil court - When intention of Parliament was to provide a speedy and simple remedy in comparison to a suit, step taken by the State Commission making proceedings more stringent cannot be sustained therefore, circular is ultra vires the Act and the same is set aside. Writ Petition Allowed. P.Saraswathi Devi Vs. A.P. State Consumer Redressal Commission 2014(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 161 = 2014(6) ALD 211 = 2014(6) ALT 1.

—Secs.12 & 21 - Appellant's father took insurance Policy for Rs.7 lakhs in name of appellant covering death, permanent total disablement, loss of two limbs or two eyes, one limb and one eye caused by accident - While appellant playing outside his house fell down and sustained injuries in right portion of his head and right eye and on account of injury caused to his right eye, appellant suffered total loss of vision and severe loss of hearing in both ears - Appellant filed complaint through his father for award of compensation of Rs.7 lakhs - After receiving Report of Medical Board, State Commission dismissed complaint on ground that there is no total loss of vision in right eye and that loss of vision could have been caused by fall while playing and that there is no definite opinion regarding loss of vision in Report given by Medical Board - In the Appeal filed by appellant National Commission also opined that Statement made by appellant about loss of hearing was falsified by record of maternity hospital which revealed that child was hard of hearing since birth - In this case, unfortunately both Consumer fora did not bother to carefully go through report of Medical Board and State Commission and National Commission committed serious error by dismissing complaint of appellant by assuming that his right eye was afflicted which decease of Phisis bulbi and same was cause of loss of vision - Sufficient evidence produced by appellant before State Commission to prove that he had an accidental fall and as result of that right side of his head and right eye was injured - State Commission and National Commission committed serious error by rejecting appellant's claim - Impugned orders passed by State Commission and National Commission are set aside - Respondent/ Insurance Company directed to pay compensation of Rs.7 lakhs to appellant with interest - Appeal, allowed. Sandeep Kumar Chourasia Vs. D.M. New India Insurance Company Ltd. 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 71.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

—Sec.13(4) - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.9, Rule 9 & Or.26, Rule 9 - District Forum allowed Application for appointment of Advocate Commissioner to note down physical features with assistance of civil engineer - State Commission dismissed Revision filed by petitioner - Petitioner contends that under provisions of Consumer Protection Act, no such powers, as are exercisable by civil Court, are available to authorities under Act - Or.26, of CPC is not extended to authorities under Act - Except those provisions of CPC mentioned u/Sec.13 (4) of Act, no other provisions of Code can be applied to Consumer Fora under Act - If really legislature intended to provide for applicability of entire Or.26 of Code, it could have said so instead of confining itself to issuance of commission only for purpose of examination of witnesses - Invoking provisions under Or.26, Rule 9 of Code and seeking appointment of Advocate-Commissioner to make local inspection along with civil engineer and submit a report etc as ordered by District Forum and as approved by State Commission - Unsustainable - Writ petition, allowed. Sivashakthi Builders Vs. A.P.S.C.Disputes Redressal Commission 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 269 = 2009(2) ALD 589 = 2009(3) ALT 266 = AIR 2009 AP 84.

—Sec.14(1)(f) - "Unfair trade practice by Ayurvedic Doctor" - Appellant approached 1st respondent/Doctor on seeing advertisement published in news paper for treatment cure to fits and paid amount towards consultancy charges and costs of medicine for one year - Despite medicines being given regularly condition of appellant's son deteriorating day by day, though appellant administering medicines to her son as per instructions of 1st respondent/Doctor - 1st Respondent advised complainant to bring her son again and continue treatment for three years - Since condition of her son worsned she consulted doctor who originally treated her son and was informed that there was no hope of her child becoming normal - Subsequently on enquiry as nature of medicines prescribed by 1st respondent to her son it is revealed that medicines given by 1st respondent not meant for children and that 1st respondent was passing off Allopathic medicines as Ayurvedic medicines and that 1st respondents is a quack and guilty of medical negligence, criminal negligence and breach of duty as he was playing with lives of innocent people without understanding decease and prescribing Allopathci medicines for which he was not competent to prescribe - Hence appellant filed complaint with a prayer to issue direction to respondents to pay Rs.20 lakhs as compensation and Rs.10 lakhs for undergoing termination of pregancy as advised by respondent - Medicines were sent to appropriate laboratory and obtained Report that medicines were Allopathic medicines - After hearing parties and on perusal of Report of Laboratory, National Commission held that 1st respondent having made false representation was guilty of unfair trade practice with a view to curb such false representation and to restore faith in people in Ayurvedic system, National Commission passed direction to pay compensation of Rs.5 lakhs and out of said amount Rs.2.5 lakhs to be deposited in favour of Consumer Legal Aid account of National Commission - Appeal filed by complainant challenging quantum of compensation - Since both appellant and her son suffered physical and mental injury due to misleading advertisement, unfair trade practice and negligence of respondents they are entitled for enhanced compensation of Rs.15 lakhs - Appeal, allowed. Bhanwarkanwar Vs. R.K. Gupta, 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 40 = 2013(4) ALD 100 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 3047.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

—Sec.17 and 19 – CONTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 – REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, Sec.17(1)(b) and 49 – STAMP ACT, 1899, Sec.36 – Admissibility of unregistered and unduly stamped GPA-cum-JDA - State Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission allowed unregistered document as exhibit – Petitioner contended decision of State Commission to allow 2nd respondent to mark the unregistered document is contrary to law laid down by Apex Court - If aggrieved against orders of State Commission, remedy is to approach National Commission and not to invoke the jurisdiction of High Court under Constitution - Held, petition is not maintainable u/Art.226 of Constitution of India, since effective and efficacious remedy available under the Act of 1986. IVRCL Assets & Holdings Vs. A.P. State Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 207 = 2014(4) ALD 1 = 2014(5) ALT 93.

—Sec.21(1) & 23 - "Medical negligence" - Respondent/complainant, employee in a Bank while going on his bicycle was hit by motorcycle leading to an injury to his leg - Surgery performed by appellant/doctor on injured leg as per choice of surgery chosen by respondent/complainant - Complainant gave lawyer notice to appellant/doctor, alleging negligence and deficiency in service, as simple fracture had got displaced to a more complicated one, on account of mishandling by hospital staff and calling for compensation of Rs.3 lakhs - Appellant/Doctor denied all allegations - State Commission dismissed complaint holding that there had been no negligence or deficiency in service on part of appellant and respondent, complaint not able to prove mishandling by hospital staff - National Commission opined that fact, only a few days after hemiarthroplasty, respondent had developed an infection, clearly showed negligence at hands of attending doctors with result that respondent, complainant had perforce to undergo total hip replacement and therefore total amount of Rs.5.5 lakhs awarded as compensation - In this case, from a reading of order of Commission that it proceeded on basis that whatever had been alleged in complaint by respondent was in fact inviolable truth even though it remained unsupported by any evidence - Onus to prove medical negligence lies largery on claimant and that this onus can be discharged by leading cogent evidence - A mere averment in complaint which is denied by other side can, by no stretch of imagination, be said to be evidence by which case of complaint can be said to be proved - It is obligation of complainant to provide facta probanda as well as facta probantia - Negligence in context of medical profession necessarily calls for a treatment with a difference - To infer rashness or negligence on part of professional, in particular a doctor, additional considerations apply - A case of occupational negligence is different from one of professional negligence - A simple lack of care, an error of judgment or an accident, is not proof of negligence on part of medical professional - So long as a doctor follows a practice acceptable to medical profession of that day, he cannot be held liable for negligence merely because a better alternative course or method of treatment was also available - Respondent's complaint, dismissed - Appeal, allowed. Dr.C.P. Sreekumar, M.S. (Ortho) Vs.S. Ramanujam2009(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 138 = 2009(5) ALD 93 (SC) = 2009(4) Supreme 573 = 2009 AIR SCW 3878.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

- Sec.23 - COMPANIES ACT, 1956 - Settled rule of interpretation that when the words of a statute are clear, plain or unambiguous, i.e., they are reasonably susceptible to only one meaning, the Courts are bound to give effect to that meaning irrespective of consequences - In other words, when a language is plain and unambiguous and admits of only one meaning, no question of construction of a statue arises, for the Act speaks for itself - Equally well-settled rule of interpretation is that whenever the NOTE is appended to the main Section, it is explanatory in nature to the main Section and explains the true meaning of the main Section and has to be read in the context of main Section - This analogy, equally applies while interpreting the words used in any contract. United India Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Orient Treasures Pvt. Ltd. 2016(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 10 = AIR 2016 SC 363 = 2016(2) ALD 157 (SC).

—Sec.23 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.45 - "Medical negligence" - Expert opinion and evidence - Admissibility - Appellant/complainant, Teacher aged 60 years patient of "Dorsol Cord Compression D4-D6 pott's spine", got operated by 2nd respondent and since problem aggravated 3rd respondent conducted second operation and though third operation provided some relief, but left him handicapped due to his legs being rendered useless and loss of control over his Bladder movement - Hence appellant filed complaint before National Commission claiming that there is gross negligence and carelessness on part of respondents in treating complainant/appellant and therefore respondents be directed to pay Rs.22 lakhs - EXPERT OPINION - Law of evidence is designed to ensure that Court considers only that evidence which will enable it to reach a reliable conclusion - Sec.45 of Evidence Act which makes opinion of experts admissible, lays down, that real function of expert is to put before Court all materials, together with reasons which induce him to come to conclusion, so that Court, although not an expert, may form its own judgment by its own observation of those material - "Mere assertion without mentioning data or basis is not evidence, even if it comes from expert - Where experts give no real data in support of their opinion, evidence even though admissible may be excluded from consideration as affording no assistance in arriving at correct value" - In present case, appellant filed all records of statement before Commission - Asst. Registrar due to over sight, did not send original records and X-ray films to expert - Commission while rendering its judgment has failed to appreciate that in such cases expert would not be in a position to form a true opinion if all documents pertaining to matter, on which opinion is desired, or made available to him - Appellant brought to notice of National Commission lack of care shown by Asst. Registrar who had failed to forward records of treatment to expert, by filing Application before Commission and that Application rejected by Commission holding that reconsideration of expert opinion at this stage is not necessary - Registrar of Commission is directed to forward all records of treatment filed by appellant before Commission with a request to give his expert opinion on basis of records of treatment - After receipt of expert opinion Commission is requested to pass fresh orders in accordance with law - Impugned order, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Ramesh Chandra Agrawal Vs. Regency Hospital Ltd. 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 133 = 2009(6) ALD 119 (SC) = 2009(6) Supreme 535.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 1986:

—Secs.27 & 24, 25, 27-A, 19 &17 (a) (i) - "Penalties" - Respondents/purchasers of residential Apartments filed complaints before State Commission alleging that petitioner/ Company failed to complete Project and seeking direction for refund of amount advanced by them together with interest - Since State Commission allowed complaints petitioner preferred appeals before National Commission which are pending - Respondents filed Application u/Sec.27 of CP Act before State Commission with prayer to punish petitioner's for its failure to comply with orders of State Commission in which State Commission initially directed notice to writ petitioner and subsequently bailable warrants were issued for ensuring personal appearance of petitioner - National Commission allowed Revision petitions filed by Petitioners challenging orders of State Commission - Subsequently writ petitioners filed Applications before State Commission raising objection as to very maintainability of proceedings under Sec.27 of Act and praying to reject all applications filed u/Sec.27 as not maintainable - Respondent raised objection as to maintainability of writ petition on ground that alternative remedy of appeal is available u/Sec.27 of Act and that petitioner cannot invoke jurisdiction of High Court under Article 226 of Constitution of India - Petitioner contends that remedy of appeal u/Sec.27-A of Act is available only against order passed u/Sec.27 and such order has not yet been passed in present case and therefore remedy of appeal u/Sec.27-A of Act cannot be availed by petitioner at this stage - Admittedly in this case, since no final orders passed and as such on petitions filed by respondents u/Sec.27 of Act, question of appeal u/Sec.27-A does not arise at all - Hence preliminary objection raised on behalf of respondents cannot be accepted - Penal proceedings u/Sec.27 of Act cannot be allowed to be taken recourse to even before order of District Forum or State/National Commission attains finality merely on ground that Act provides for speedy and simple redressal to consumer dispute - In fact language of Sec.24 of Act is plain and unambiguous and makes it clear that order of District Forum or State/ National Commission shall be final only, if no appeal has been preferred against such order - In light of Sec.24, it can be safely concluded that penal proceedings u/Sec.27 of Act cannot be entertained while appeal is pending before State/National Commission - Petitions filed by respondents u/Sec.27 of Act cannot be entertained in this Stage and that State Commission has no jurisdiction to entertain and proceed with E.As filed by respondents u/Sec.27 of Act - Impugned orders passed by State Commission being without jurisdiction liable to be set aside - Writ petitions, allowed. Maytas Properties Ltd. Hyd. Vs. A.P. State Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 234 = 2013(3) ALD 561 = 2013(3) ALT 220 = AIR 2013 AP 93.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—Secs.27-A, 17 (1) (b) and 21 (b) - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Secs.397 & 32 - Complainants obtained orders from District Forum against opposite party for payment of maturity value of fixed deposits along with interests and costs - Since petitioners/opposite parties failed to comply with order, penalty petitions filed before Forum u/Sec.27 - Since petitioners/opposites did not attend even after receipt of notices, District Forum issued NBWs and PT Warrants - Petitioner/opposite party filed revision petitions u/Sec.397 for setting aside orders taking cognizance of penalty petitions and issuing summons - When there is right of appeal provided by Statute against any order made by District Forum to State Commission, any order made by State Commission to National Commission and any order made by National Commission to Supreme Court, petitioners/opposite parties cannot circumvent law and approach High Court by way of revision petitions u/Sec.397 Cr.P.C - Sec.27-A of Act takes away remedies under general criminal law against any order passed by either District Forum or State Commission or National Commission - That apart, Sec.27-A (2) of Act specifically debars any other appeal to any Court from any order of District Forum or State Commission or National Commission - Therefore present petitions u/Sec.397 Cr.P.C are not maintainable at all - Sec.27(2), as well as Sec.27A of Act make it more explicit that provisions of Cr.P.C have no applications u/Sec.27 of Act - Criminal revision cases, dismissed. Venkataraya Enterprises Vs. District Consumer Disputes Redressal Forum 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 375 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 110 (AP) = 2010(3) ALT (Crl.) 120 (AP).

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—Sec.2(b) - A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008 - Petitioner is permanent Fair Price Shop dealer - His authorization was suspended by respondent No.1, on several allegations - Petitioner alleged that no inspection of his shop, no enquiry conducted before suspending authorization, and approached this Court by filing W.P.No.37203 of 2014 - Respondent No.1 personally appeared in Court on 15-12-2014 and admitted that he had committed a mistake in issuing said proceedings and requested Court to set-aside the same - This Court has accordingly set-aside said proceedings and allowed the Writ Petition, leaving

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

respondent No.1 free to hold a detailed enquiry and pass a final order - Petitioner averred that in pursuance of said order of this Court, respondent No.1, restored his Fair Price Shop authorization and directed respondent No.2 to allot essential commodities to his shop from the month of January 2015 and that when he approached respondent No.2 requesting him to allot essential commodities to his shop, latter bluntly refused to allot stocks citing oral instructions from respondent No.1 not to allot stocks pursuant to proceedings - Petitioner further averred that respondent Nos.1 and 2 have willfully and intentionally disobeyed the order of this Court by refusing to supply essential commodities for the months of January and February 2015 to his shop and allotting same to another Fair Price Shop dealer - Held, in order to get rid of some dealers not to liking of the powers that be, Revenue Officials, such as respondents herein, appear have been acting to a set pattern by raising bogey of non-remittance of value of essential commodities by dealers - This tendency on part of Revenue officials is not only alarming but also distressing - This conduct constitutes official and moral delinquency on their part destroying fabric of rule of law and subverting judicial process - They being the public servants cannot allow themselves to be guided by extraneous reasons defiling the sanctity of the judicial orders - They are showing their ingenuity by adopting abhorrent tactics as a façade to mock at and defeat the judicial orders - The whole conduct they have been exhibiting is a subterfuge and when their bluff is called, they are not hesitating to mislead the Court by coming out with blatantly false versions - Such conduct on the part of the public servants like the respondents is perilous and pernicious to a civilized Society - This Court therefore feels that they do not deserve any leniency under the provisions of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 - For aforementioned reasons, the respondents are convicted u/Sec.2(b) of Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 for wilful violation of the order of this Court dated 15-12-2014 and sentenced to imprisonment for one month in civil prison and pay a fine of Rs.2000/- each, and in default, to undergo imprisonment for one week. Tangirala Ramana Reddy Vs. M.Srinivasa Rao, R.D.O., Narasaraopet 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 368

—Secs.2 (b),12 & 13(a) - A.P. MUNICIPALITIES ACT, Sec.194A(1)(b) - WRIT PROCEEDINGS RULES, Rule 21 - Contempt case filed against 1st respondent and 2nd respondent, Principal Secretary and Director of Municipal Administration for willful disobedience of orders of Court - 4th respondent/Commissioner by entering into needless correspondence with 2nd respondent has successfully dragged on matter for nearly a year from when order was passed till contempt case was admitted by High Court - His failure to act with prompatitude, and resorting dilatory tactics as hindered due course of justice - CONTEMPT OF COURT - In contempt proceedings Court is both accuser and judge of accusation - It should act with circumspection making allowances for errors of judgment and difficulties - Punishment under Law of Contempt is called for when lapse is deliberate and in disregard of one's duty and in defiance of authority - Power of contempt is not intended to be exercised as a matter of course

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

- Courts should not feel unduly touchy when they are told their orders have not been implements forthwith - Courts are expected to show judicial grace and magnanimity in dealing with action for contempt - APOLOGY - Acceptance and scope - Discussed - In this case, it is no doubt true that respondents/cotemnors have expressed apology and 1st respondent issued circular directing all Municipal Commissioners in State regarding public auction of Municipal property - Respondents 1 and 2 have directed 4th respondent to disobey order of this Court - A mere statement made by contemnor before Court that he apologizes is hardly enough to amount to purging himself of contempt - An apology is not intended to operate as universal panacea, it is not a weapon of defence forged to purge guilty of offence - "Apology" tendered by respondents is neither a product of remorse nor is there any evidence real contrition on their part - It is but lofty expression used only to avoid being committed for contempt - Accepting such an apology, in facts of present case, would result in contemnors going scot free after committing gross contempt of Court - SEC.2(B) "CIVIL CONTEMPT" - CONDITIONS - DISCUSSED - A person can be held to have committed civil contempt there must be a judgment, decree direction, order, writ or other process of a Court (or an undertaking given to a Court) ii) there must be disobedience to such judgment decree direction order writ or other process of Court, or breach of undertaking given to a Court iii) such disobedience of judgment etc., must be willful - Civil contempt arises where power of Court is invoked and exercised to enforce obedience to orders of Court - Mere disobedience is not enough to hold a person guilty of civil contempt - If a party who is fully in know of order of Court, or is conscious and aware of consequences and implications of Court's order ignores it or acts in violation thereof, it must be held that disobedience is wilful - "Willful" means an act or omission which is done voluntarily and with specific intent to do something law forbids or with specific intent to fail to do something law requires to be done, that is to say with purpose of either disobeying or disregarding law - Element of willingness is an indispensable requirement to bring home charge within meaning of act - In purposes of judging "civil contempt" intention or mens rea is not relevant - Question is only whether breach was on account of willful disobedience that is whether it was not causal or accidental or intentional - Effective administration of justice would require some penalty for disobedience to order of Court if disobedience is more than causal, accidental or intentional - Respondents 1,2 & 4 are sentenced u/Sec.12(3), r/w 13(a) of Contempt of Courts Act - Respondents shall be detained in civil prison for a period of 15 days and shall pay a fine of Rs.2000 each. B.Krishna Reddy Vs. Pushpa Subrahmanyam, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 46 = 2011(3) ALD 1 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 504 (AP) = 2011(6) ALT 73.

—Sec. 2(c)(i) - Principal District Judge, forwarded to High Court letter dated 25.08.2014 addressed by Additional District Judge, to Superintendent of Police, relating to an incident that occurred on 15.08.2014 involving Sri Bandaru Madhava Naidu, MLA, Narsapur, who was stated to have abused the Additional District Judge, Narsapur, in connection with removal of hawkers from the encroached road side on the western side of Court complex - Additional District Judge, addressed a separate letter in this regard on 28.08.2014 to High Court - Bar Association, Narsapur, also submitted a representation to High Court on issue - Thereupon, Hon'ble Chief Justice directed District Judge to enquire into matter and report. Upon due enquiry, Principal District Judge, West Godavari, submitted report dated 19.09.2014 - An Office Note was then placed before the Hon'ble Chief Justice and matter was directed to be placed before this Bench on judicial side - This suo motu contempt case was accordingly registered - Held, this Court would have expected the respondent/contemnor to behave responsibly in keeping with his status as a people's representative and be suitably penitent - However, such is not the case as is clear from his affidavits wherein he approbated and reprobated but also offered an apology - As pointed out by Supreme Court in VISHRAM SINGH RAGHUBANSHI 5 , an apology can be accepted when it is given with a sense of genuine remorse and repentance and not as a calculated strategy to avoid punishment - An apology, as pointed out, should be a regretful acknowledgement for failure but not an explanation that no offence was intended coupled with expression of regret for any that may have been given - As the apology in present case is not bonafide and unequivocally falls in latter category, this Court is compelled to reject the same - This Court therefore hold respondent/contemnor guilty of committing criminal contempt as defined in Section 2(c)(i) of Act of 1971 - Considering totality of circumstances, trial Court impose upon him punishment of paying a fine of Rs.1,000/-(Rupees one thousand only) to Andhra Pradesh State Treasury within one month from date of receipt of a copy of this order. In Re Sri Bandaru Madhava Naidu, Member of the Legislative Assembly, Narsapur, 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 279 = 2015(4) ALD 453 = 2015(5) ALT 31 = 2015 Cri. LJ (NOC) 418.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—Secs.10 & 12 – Petitioner filed contempt case against 1st respondent/ IAS Officer and others for not complying with orders of Court in accordance with law within period of three months – Since 1st respondent violated order of Court Notice Form-I issued to present in person and when he failed to present despite notice, bailable warrant issued to secure his presence – 1st respondent passed order after nine months after expiry of stipulated period and only after contempt case was admitted and notice in Form-I was served – WPMP seeking extension of time dismissed as same is filed only to avoid contempt proceedings - "Wilful disobedience" – Meaning - Wilful would exclude casual, accidental, bonafide or unintentional acts or genuine inability to comply with terms of order – To establish that disobedience was wilful it is not necessary to show that it was contumacious in sense that there was direct intention to disobey order - In this case, failure on part of 1st respondent to comply with orders of this Court cannot be said to be casual, accidental or unintentional or for reasons of genuine inability to comply with terms of order – Hence it is held that disobedience of orders of this Court is willful – 1st respondent expressed his apology both in counter affidavit and in additional counter affidavit – An apology is not intended to operate as universal panacea – Apology tendered by contemnor, to be accepted by Court should be a product of remorse - Apology tendered by 1st respondent is neither a product of remorse nor is there any evidence of real contrition on his part – It is but an expression intended to avoid being committed for contempt – No reason to accept such an apology – Hence 1st respondent is guilty of contempt - If guilty are let off and their sentence remitted on grounds of mercy, people would lose faith in administration of justice – Court is duty-bound to award proper punishment to uphold rule of law, how so high person may be - There cannot be any laxity, as otherwise law Courts would render their orders to utter mockery – Law should not be seen to sit by limply, while those who defy it go free and those who seek its protection lose hope - Since 1st respondent is senior IAS Officer of Govt., that any punishment imposed by this Court may mar his career - In light of assurance given by him to appoint Officers to monitor implementation of orders of Court in time, it is wholly unnecessary to penalize him with imposition of fine - While 1st respondent is, undoubtedly guilty of contempt it is appropriate to impose any substantive sentence on him - 1st respondent is let off with severe warning. B.Suguna Devi Vs. C.B.S. Venkata Ramana, 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 170.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—Sec.12 - Petitioner/landlady filed suit seeking eviction and for recovery of possession of suit schedule premises - Suit decreed - Appeal filed by respondent/tenant dismissed - In second Appeal filed before High Court Single Judge took Undertaking on record and granted time to vacate premises and to handover to vacant possession of same to petitioner landlord - Subsequently, in suit filed by petitioner/landlady against respondent and another respondent, filed Memo stating that he delivered possession to one Arif - Since respondent/tenant did not vacate premises in terms of Undertaking submitted before High Court, petitioner filed E.P in which respondent filed claim-petition through third party i.e. Arif - Hence petitioner filed present contempt case against tenant/ respondent for punishing him according to law for violating undertaking given to High Court in second Appeal - Respondent contends that as per undertaking given before High Court he vacated suit premises and in view of legal notice issued by Arif, he bonafidely believed sale transaction and memorandum of understanding between Arif and petitioner/landlady and delivered possession to Arif - According to respondent he had no intention to violate order and undertaking given before High Court and has great respect to judicial process and judicial system and submitted unconditional apology with open heart requesting to condone wrong committed by him genuinely believing version of Arif and therefore states that he complied with undertaking given before High Court - Petitioner/landlady contends that respondent did not vacate premises in terms of undertaking and respondent colluded with Arif and fabricated alleged agreement of sale - Since disputes were subsisting between her and respondent for not vacating premises and respondent being in possession, question of her delivering possession of property to third party does not arise and that respondent intentionally and deliberately violated order of High Court pursuant to undertaking given by respondent and therefore he cannot escape punishment under guise of unconditional apology and pleading innocence - Pursuant to undertaking furnished by respondent he has to handover vacant possession of premises to petitioner/landlady only and not to any other person - Merely because some civil proceedings initiated by third party, right of petitioner/landlady to file contempt case, cannot be taken away and that mere pendency of civil suit for specific performance filed by Arif does not debar petitioner from pursing her remedy and contempt of Courts case - Version of respondent is not only without basis but also palpably false - Respondent is guilty of contempt of Court punishable u/Sec.12 of Act - Since respondent-tenant is therefore found guilty of contempt of Courts for deliberately and intentionally violating orders passed by High Court and is sentenced to simple imprisonment for a period of six months - Apology is submitted by respondent/tenants rejected - Contempt case, allowed. Saleemunnisa Begum Vs. Syed Hafeez 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 261.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—Sec.12 and CONTEMPT OF COURTS RULES, 1980, Rule 31 - Having admitted the fact that the enquiry notice was received by the petitioner only on 25-2-2014, respondent No.1 made a false claim that "plenty of opportunity" of personal hearing was given to the petitioner - Defence of respondent No.1 in contempt case is thus a mere subterfuge - What baffles this Court is when respondent No.1 received petitioner's reply on 25-2-2014 stating that he has received enquiry notice much after date fixed for enquiry has expired, respondent No.1 went ahead with passing of order on 3-3-2014 - It passes one's comprehension as to why respondent No.1 did not think it fit to hold an enquiry as directed by this Court, at least after 25-2-2014 - This conduct of respondent No.1 clearly demonstrates that he has shown scant respect for order of this Court and evidently acted at behest of respondent No.4 in Writ Petition with a pre-conceived mind that an order adverse to interests of petitioner must be passed without holding any enquiry - Instead of retracing his steps and taking remedial measures by requesting this Court to give him one more opportunity to comply with order of this Court, he has come out with a blatantly false plea that he has given petitioner "plenty of opportunity" - This conduct of respondent No.1 proves that he is not feeling remorse or penitence - By his conduct, respondent No.1 has seriously undermined majesty of this Court - Hence it is a fit case where he must be sentenced with simple imprisonment for a period of one week, besides a fine of Rs.2000/-. S.Narsimha Rao Vs. P.Arun Babu 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 233 = 2015(5) ALD 291 = 2015(3) ALT 268 = 2015 Cri. LJ (NOC) 210.

—Sec.12(3) - CONTEMPT OF COURT RULES. 1980, Rule 32 (1) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.215 - A.P. S.C. (PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM) CONTROL ORDER, 2008 - Respondent/RDO kept petitioner's F.P. shop authorisation under suspension - High Court allowed writ petition filed by petitioner, quashing suspension order passed by respondent giving liberty to respondent to pass fresh order and in accordance with law - Petitioner approached respondent and submitted copy of the order in writ petition and requested for restoration of authorisation - Petitioner alleged that respondent claimed that he was directed by Minister hailing from their District to cancel authorisation and allot shop to person of Minister's choice and as such respondent issued notice for cancellation of authorisation and failed to restore authorisation before a fresh order was passed - Hence present Contempt Case - Petitioner contends that even though order of High Court was brought to knowledge of respondent, he has not restored petitioner's authorisation deliberately and willfully by claiming that District Minister wants replacement of petitioner - Govt. Pleader while conceding that quashing of suspension order entitle petitioner for restoration of authorisation before a fresh order was passed, however, action of respondent in not restoring authorisation of petitioner is not willful and deliberate, but is on account of bona fide mistake and that respondent has passed final order against which appeal was filed by petitioner which is pending before appellate authority - In this case, it appears that respondent is trying to take shelter from fact that petitioner handedover only a photo copy of order of High Court and not a certified copy and that receipt of certified copy, more than one month after his receiving photo copy, he has initiated action, which constituted sufficient compliance of order of High Court - Respondent failed to state whether he had doubted genuineness of photo copy of order of High Court and therefore he has not acted upon said copy and also failed to explain as to why he has not restored petitioner's authorisation, pending passing of fresh order - High Court cannot appreciate implied stand of respondent that he is not under obligation to act on photo copy of order of High Court until he receives a certified copy in due course - Such a stand if accepted, destroys efficacy of judicial orders and brings down dignity and majesty of Court in public esteem - Act of respondent in not restoring petitioner's authorisation constitutes deliberate and willful violation of order of High Court - Apex Court repeatedly held that upholding dignity and majesty of Court is very much essential for maintaining rule of law and preserve faith of people in judicial system - Stream of justice cannot be allowed to be polluted by unscrupulous elements to meet their personal ends - Judiciary being lost resort for vexed citizen, its dignity and decorum should always and at all times be protected - No mitigating circumstances found in favour of respondent to let him off serious act of contempt - Respondent has indulged in deliberate violation of order of High Court - Accordingly Respondent/RDO is held guilty of contempt and he is sentenced u/Sec.12(3) of Act and he shall be detained in civil prison for period of fifteen days besides paying fine. Chada Ramulamma Vs. Sri Saranga Padmakar, RDO, Nalgonda 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 233 = 2011(4) ALD 648 = 2011(5) ALT 19.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—CONTEMPT OF COURTS (Andhra Pradesh High Court)) RULES,1980, Rule 5 - Exercising power u/Sec.10 of Act - Violation of order of Subordinate judge can be brought to its notice by a prescribed methodology and in case of any criminal contempt application has to be made by person with leave of Advocate General of State - Sec.10 of Contempt of Courts Act, 1971, confers power on High Court and not on any particular judge alone - Power can be exercised by Court only when lawfully instituted proceedings have been brought and not otherwise - Held, lower Court took up matter without any lawful conferment. Kunam Raghava Reddy Vs. Shah Enterprises 2014(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 197 = 2014(5) ALD 230 = 2014(4) ALT 519.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—and A.P. BUILDINGS (LEASE, RENT AND EVICTION) CONTROL ACT - "Violation of undertaking given to Court" - Petitioner/land lord owner of premises filed R.C for eviction of Contemnor/tenant - Rent Controller allowed eviction petition and ordered eviction of Contemnor - Chief Judge dismissed appeal filed by Contemnor granting two months time to vacate Schedule premises - High Court passed order permitting Contemnor to remain in possession for four months - Subsequently contemnor filed CRMP for enlargement of time, along with his sworn affidavit stating that as per orders of High Court he has filed his undertaking affidavit in R.C. before Rent Controller - Petitioner contends that except condition relating to deposit of rents, contemnor has violated all other conditions stipulated in order of High Court - Violation of undertaking given to Courts has to be treated as civil contempt - Courts must take serious view of conduct of contemners in committing breach of undertaking in view of growing tendency to trifle with Court's orders based on undertaking with impunity and that it would be travesty of justice if Courts were to allow such gross contempt to go unpunished without an adequate sentence - In present case, contemnor has abused process of Court by taking undue advantage of its benevolence shown, based on his counsel's undertaking that contemnor will vacate premises within period of four months and that contemnor has further abused process of Court by making false statement that he has filed undertaking before Rent Controller and that contemnor is totally remoreless for his contumacious conduct and that far from purging contempt, he continued to show his defiance - Vexed with attitude of contemnor, two counsel have stopped appearing leaving him to his fate therefore contemnor has committed blatant contempt of High Court - Therefore contemnor is committed for contempt and sentencing him to simple imprisonment for four months. Abdullah, Hyderabad Vs. Mohd. Abdul Raheem, 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 222 = 2013(4) ALD 10 = 2013(3) ALT 635.

—Principle of Res judicata - Appellant herein is defendant and respondent herein is plaintiff in O.S.No.3459 of 2004 - According to plaintiff, he is the absolute owner of the plaint schedule property having got it from his mother through gift deed which was executed in pursuance of a memo of understanding - On the other hand, it is contention of defendant that this is common passage and there was finding in earlier proceeding about nature of very same suit property and therefore, that finding would operate as res judicata - Held, when executant has no right in property, beneficiary of document cannot get any better right - Existence of common passage was confirmed by mother of both parties and also plaintiff under Ex.A.4 and A.15 documents - When plaintiff claimed relief of declaration, burden is heavy on him to prove his right over suit property with cogent and convincing reasons - When there was an earlier finding in respect of same property, that was given in suits filed by plaintiff himself, his burden is more heavy - In order to get relief of declaration, plaintiff must plead and prove as to how nature of property is converted from jointness to absolute right and then only, he can overcome earlier finding with respect to nature of property - But here,

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

plaintiff neither pleaded nor proved as to when this common passage is changed into absolute right to mother of both parties and therefore, plaintiff cannot get relief of declaration - Learned trial judge has rightly applied principle of res judicata to case on hand but lower appellate court on surmises and presumptions reversed such finding which in this Court view is not a correct approach - For these reasons, this Court view that lower appellate court has erred in reversing finding of the trial court with reference to the application of principle of res judicata, as such, findings of lower appellate court are to be set aside - When property is a common passage and even all the parties have equal rights, order of status quo would only convey that parties have to enjoy rights existing as on date of order and therefore, it cannot be treated as violation - For these reasons, this Court view that there are no merits in the contempt case and the same is liable to be dismissed - In the result, this Second Appeal is allowed and the judgment of first appellant Court is set aside and the judgment trial Court, is restored - In view of above findings and observations, Contempt Case is dismissed. Sardar Balwanth Singh Vs. Sardar Bhagath Singh 2015(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 287

—and A.P. STATE PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM (CONTROL) ORDER, 2008 - Petitioner is authorized dealer of Fair Price Shop - As supply of Essential Commodities was stopped to her shop, she has filed WP.No.27332 of 2014 - Said Writ Petition was disposed of by this Court, on 16- 09-2014, with observation that so long as petitioner's authorization was valid and subsisting, respondents are bound to supply essential commodities to her fair price shop - Subsequently, one MBR claiming to be a card holder attached to petitioner's fair price shop, filed W.P.No.33679 of 2014, with allegation that though petitioner's fair price shop authorization was suspended, on strength of direction issued by this Court in WP.No.27332 of 2014, respondents are seeking to supply essential commodities to her shop - He has averred that, on 13-08-2014, respondent No.2 has suspended the petitioner's authorization and that therefore, the petitioner is not entitled to be continued as fair price shop dealer - This Court has disposed of said Writ Petition by Order, dated 11-11-2014, with observation that if the petitioner's authorization was suspended on 13-08-2014, unless said order was subsequently stayed by this Court or any other forum, she is not entitled to be continued as the fair price shop dealer Thereafter, respondent No.2 has issued the proceeding in Rc.No.264/2014 (B), dated 15-12-2014, whereby he has removed petitioner from fair price shop dealership and appointed fair price shop dealer of another village as incharge dealer - Feeling aggrieved by same, petitioner filed WP.No.39906 of 2014 - Held, respondents being public servants cannot be expected to ignore orders of this Court by raising a specious plea that they have not received order of this Court despite fact that they had knowledge of same - It is not pleaded case of respondents that they had any doubt about factum of disposal of WP.No.39906 of 2014 or its result or that they have, at any point of time, consulted Government Pleader's office for instructions before denying February quota to petitioner - From these facts, irrestible conclusion that needs to be drawn is that respondents have willfully, consciously and deliberately violated order of this Court and they are liable for appropriate punishment - Background of case would clearly reveal that respondent No.2 has acted with malice against petitioner all through and this Court, upon rendering a clear finding that his conduct was wholly malafide, has even mulcted him with exemplary costs of Rs.10,000/- payable from his pocket - Viewed from this background, non-implementation of order of this Court for month of February, 2015, by him cannot be perceived as a bona fide lapse on his part - On contrary, his action suggests deliberate and designed attempts to overreach as many as two orders of this Court i.e., order passed in WP.No.27332 of 2014 and order passed in WP.No.39906 of 2014, out of which present Contempt Case arises - Hence, respondent No.2 is sentenced to simple imprisonment of one month and pay a fine of Rs.2,000/- - As regards respondent No.1, though he is equally guilty of deliberate violation of order of this Court, by not taking any action on receipt of notice from the petitioner on 02.01.2015 to implement order of this Court and wiled away his time till 27.01.2015 on jejune ground that he has received the order copy from the petitioner only on 24.01.2015, only mitigating circumstance in his favour is that on receipt of the order, he has addressed letter, dated 27.01.2015, directing respondent No.2 to implement the order of this Court. Hence, this Court inclined to impose lighter punishment on respondent No.1. Accordingly, respondent No.1 is sentenced to pay fine of Rs.2,000/ - - The Contempt Case is, accordingly, allowed. T.Nagarathnamma Vs. G.Ram Murthy 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 393 = 2015(5) ALD 307 = 2015(5) ALT 21.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

—Petitioners in W.P.No. 23641 of 2013 filed writ petition against respondents apprehending eviction from their huts - This court by order dt. 13-09-2013 directed respondent No. 2 to consider petitioners' applications for grant of house sites subject to their eligibility and communicate his decision to them within two months from date of receipt of said order and that till communication of such decision, respondents shall not disturb petitioners' possession if they are in possession thereof - After disposal of the said writ petition, another writ petition was filed by a registered union of washer men community that they were making representations to respondent Nos. 1 and 3 for grant of house site pattas, that for last 2 years 200 people occupied the land in D/600/1 of Adavitakkellapdu village, Summerpeta, Guntur Rural and are living with families by raising huts, that some of the members of the Union have filed W.P.No. 23641 of 2013 apprehending dispossession and this court, by order dated 13-09-2012 has directed respondent No. 3 to consider their applications for grant of house site pattas and not to dispossess them till a decision is taken and communicated to the petitioners; that on 05-10-2013 Kancharla Manikya Rao-respondent No. 6 and his wife came with goondas and threatened members of the Union to vacate the huts by claiming that respondent Nos. 3 and 5 have given them the said land; The court has disposed of the writ petition in favour of the petitioners to approach the competent civil court for appropriate relief against respondent No. 6 - Petitioners in both the Writ Petitions have filed the respective Contempt Cases on the same day i.e., on 13-12-2013 - In C.C.No. 2233 stating that respondent No. 6 came to the land along with the Tahsildar, Revenue Inspector and the Village Revenue Officer along with goondas, damaged the huts with poclainer and when they tried to resist, the rowdy elements beat up residents of huts including women and children and threw out their utensils and caused damage to huts; that by their action they have disobeyed order dated 13-09-2013 of the Court and that on same day petitioner have lodged a complaint with Superintendent of Police, Guntur Urban - In C.C.No. 128, filed by the Union, it was averred that after their Writ Petition was disposed of on 11-12-2013 directing the Tahsildar not to dispossess the members of Union pending their representation for grant of house site pattas, the respondents came along with goondas to the land and beat the inmates and demolished 25 huts in deliberate disobedience of order dated 11-12-2013 - Held, assuming that huts were sought to be raised overnight, there was absolutely no necessity for Tahsildar to act in a high-handed manner of forcibly removing the huts - In such a situation, he could have followed the due legal procedure by initiating proceedings under the A.P. Land Encroachment Act, 1905 - As noted earlier, except his self-serving statement that huts were attempted to be raised overnight, the Tahsildar failed to place any evidence in support of said stand - Added to this, by making highly disparaging remarks on order passed by this Court which stood proved in absence of specific refutation of allegations leveled by the petitioners, Tahsildar has conducted himself in a manner unbecoming of a public servant - Even after a full-fledged enquiry, he has failed to justify his action of removing the huts despite the restraint order passed by this court in W.P.No. 23641 of 2013 – This court has therefore no hesitation to conclude that there were no bonafides whatsoever in action of the Tahsildar in removing huts on 6-12-2013 - The alleged unlawful interference by the Tahsildar and his subordinate staff on 11-12-2013 is the subject matter of C.C.No. 128 of 2014 - Tahsildar filed his counter affidavit wherein while admitting that when small huts, temporary in nature, were sought to be erected on 5-12-2013, they were removed by himself and his subordinate staff on 6-12-2013 - Statement made by the Tahsildar in his cross-examination reflects his contumacious attitude towards the order of this Court and the due process of law and the scant respect and regard he has for the rule of law - Tahsildar sought to project himself as a messiah of the Government property and appears to think that for protecting such property he can ignore the directions issued by this Court - Attitude of Tahsildar not only reveals his arrogance but also his lawless approach of indulging in blatant violation of the orders of the Constitutional Court - Despite this Court speaking its mind in unmistakable terms and restraining him from repeating his act committed on 6-12-2013, the Tahsildar had the temerity to evict members of the Union more than once - His action not only reflects his vengeful conduct towards persons in occupation of the land in question, but also his utter lack of respect for, nay, fear of violation of the orders of this Court - He has abandoned trepidation for vituperation, shunned discipline for brazenness and preferred confrontation to conformance - This Court is thoroughly convinced that plea raised by contemnor that he has acted to protect the public property is a mere subterfuge and unconditional apology offered by him is only a bogey to extricate himself out of the contempt proceedings - Court also convinced that he has not shown real remorse or penitence for his despicable conduct - Even while taking the most liberal view, Court unable to find any mitigating circumstance to let off the contemnor - Had he indulged in isolated violation, Court would have unhesitatingly taken a lenient view against him - If the Contemnor, who is a public servant is let off with a lighter punishment, it sends the wrong signals to the society - This Court has no qualm of conscience in convicting and sentencing him for simple imprisonment for two months and to pay a fine of Rs. 2000/- as any lesser punishment would be a grave travesty of justice. S.Venkateswarlu Vs. Tata Mohan Rao 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 107 = 2015(4) ALD 771 = 2015(3) ALT 428.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1971:

(INDIAN) CONTRACT ACT, 1872:

(INDIAN) CONTRACT ACT, 1872:

—-Sec. 23 - Held, No doubt specific relief Act provisions are not exhaustive, however, that does not mean even a suit of civil nature otherwise not falling within scope of Section 34 of the Specific Relief Act, won't lie for not impliedly or expressly taking away jurisdiction of a civil Court - It is not a contention either from written statement or grounds of appeal much less from any of expressions referred supra including of appellant of Binny supra to say there is a bar to civil suit - In Binny supra even in case of private bodies, it is not prone to writ jurisdiction much less to construe strictly application of Article 14 of Constitution of India or basic principles of natural justice, but for otherwise to govern by contractual terms and to consider scope of Section 23 of the Contract Act therefrom, if at all, opposed to public policy - Though it is one of contentions of appellants of contractual terms when equitably speak, either of employer and employee can invoke when employer invoked clause 16 and terminated with three month's notice, there is nothing to say opposed to public policy from facts and circumstances showing employee did not leave job all through after appointment by working hard and still employer terminated him and from that employee could not secure a suitable employment suffice to say, employer is in a dominant position in upperhand and exercised the discretion unjustly, that too, when employee has been sincerely working with clear track record with unblemished service and not even terminated for any misconduct and misdemeanor in course of his employment and that too so called entity issued termination order is not even entity that appointed as can be seen by keeping Exs.A.1 and A.4 in juxtaposition, besides same not even in dispute but for to say another sister concern to whom if at all transferred was not continuing there as was re-transferred back to the entity appointed i.e. D.3, apart from if at all to terminate is only by D.3,D.1 has no right undisputedly being an independently and separate entity to give order of termination, same is illegal and also opposed to public policy including contra to the terms of the clauses 1 to 16 of the contract of employment under Ex.A.1.

(INDIAN) CONTRACT ACT, 1872:

Thus, it is not even a case of specific plea of he could not be in some other avocation to get any means - Once that also requires consideration in arriving quantum of damages, even from possessing earning capacity not in dispute, even 50% therein as capacity of getting alternative source of earning taken consideration, what trial Court granted of Rs.20lakhs requires to reduce to Rs.10lakhs and but for that there is nothing to interfere with trial Court's decree and judgment by sitting against - Accordingly and in result, appeal is allowed in part by confirming order of termination as illegal and opposed to public policy and consequently from entitlement to reasonable sum as damages to be arrived by some guess work and from what trial Court arrived of Rs.20,00,000/- is excessive by reducing to 50% therein awarded towards damages Rs.10,00,000/- by confirming rate of interest awarded thereon. Zee Entertainment Enterprises Limited Vs. Syed Inam 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 162 = 2016(4) ALD 645 = 2016(5) ALT 479.

—Sec.28 - LIMITATION ACT, Sec.44 - 'Insurance claim' - Repudiation - Respondent/ Insurance Company insured timber of appellant Company and policy issued - Timber washed away on account of heavy rains - Respondent/Insurance Company repudiated claim of appellant on pretext that policy had, in fact, been issued for a period of 8 months only and period of one year mentioned in policy was on account of typographical mistake - National Commission dismissed complaint as time barred - In this case it is apparent that as on date of flood, there was no insurance policy in existence or any commitment on behalf of respondent to make payment under policy - If policy of insurance provides that if a claim is made and rejected and no action is commenced within time stated in policy, benefits flowing from policy shall stand extinguished and any subsequent action would be time barred - Such a clause would fall outside scope of Sec.28 of Contract Act - Therefore Cl.6 (ii) of Insurance Policy is not hit by Sec.28 of Contract Act. H.P. State Forest Company Ltd., Vs. United India Insurance Co.,Ltd., 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 106 = 2009(2) ALD 33(SC) = 2009(1) Supreme 375 = AIR 2009 SC 1407.

—Secs.56 & 16 KERALA AKBARI ACT, Sec.29 - "Doctrine of frustration of contract" - "Doctrine of fairness" – Explained - "DOCTRINE OF FRUSTRATION" - Doctrine of frustration excludes ordinarily further performance where contract is silent as to position of parties in event of performance becoming literally impossible - However, a statutory contract in which party takes absolute responsibility cannot escape liability what ever may be reason - In such a situation, events will not discharge party from consequences of non-performance of contractual obligations - In a case, in which consequences of non performance of contract is provided in statutory contract itself, parties shall be bound by that and cannot take shelter behind Sec.56 of Contract Act - "DOCTRINE OF FAIRNESS" - Doctrine of reasonableness or fairness cannot apply in a commercial transaction and it is not possible to equate a contract of employment with a contract to vend arrack - A contract of employment and mercantile transaction stand on different footing and it makes no difference when contract to vend arrack is between an individual and State, which is evident as follows.

(INDIAN) CONTRACT ACT, 1872:

". ……This principle, however, will not apply where the bargaining power of the contracting parties is equal or almost equal or where both parties are businessmen and the contract is a commercial transaction."

In a contract under Akbari Act and Rules made thereunder licensee undertakes to abide by terms and conditions of Act and Rules made thereunder which are statutory and in such situation, licensee cannot invoke doctrine of fairness or reasonableness - Hence contention of appellant negatived - Appeal, dismissed. Marry Vs. State of Kerala 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 49 = 2014(1) ALD 1 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 6082 = AIR 2014 SC 1.

—-Secs. 56 & 63 – "Waiver" and "frustration" of contract - Conduct of plaintiff Company, in this case demonstrates that more than two years of the agreement entered into, they did not think of waiving the clauses which required them to obtain the permission prior to proceeding with the sale deed - Only in November, 1979 (more than two years of agreement) they have informed the defendants that they are waiving the said requirement and are prepared to proceed with the transaction even though the permission to construct the theatre was not granted - In view of the above circumstances, this court feel that it is not a fit case where the plaintiffs can be said to have waived the requirement within a reasonable time so as to hold that he can call upon the defendants to complete the transaction even though the prerequisite condition is not fulfilled. Therefore, the contention of the appellant/plaintiff is unsustainable and the same is liable to be rejected as has been done by the trial court - Suit was rightly dismissed by the court below - There are no merits in the appeal and the same is liable to be dismissed. In the result, the appeal fails and the same is dismissed with costs. Poorna Pictures Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Karimunnisa Begum 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 320 = 2015(3) ALD 2 = 2015(3) ALT 82.

—Sec.74 - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.55 - STATE FINANCIAL CORPORATION ACT, Sec.29 - "Forfeiture of earnest money" - Appellant/Corporation issued advertisement for sale of land of defaulting Unit - Respondent since became highest bidder, deposited earnest amount of Rs.2.5 lakhs - Inspite of specific request for apprisal regarding approve/authorised passage to factory, appellant issued letter to deposit balance amount of 25% of bid amount - Respondent not satisfied with the information furnished by appellant and did not pay balance amount - Hence appellant/ Corporation invited fresh Tender for sale of land and forfeited earnest amount of 2.5 lakhs deposited by respondent - Division Bench of High Court quashed and set aside order of Corporation forfeiting earnest amount and directed appellant to refund amount along with interest - Appellant contends that they cannot now permit respondent to wriggle out of a confirmed bid, on ground that there is no independent approach road to Unit and that appellant/Corporation are entitled to forfeit security amount in view of Cl.5 of terms and conditions for sale of property as contained in Advertisement - Respondent contends that judgment of High Court is self- speaking and is not open to challenge and that appellants cannot be permitted to take advantage of their own worng and that they have misled respondents in making a huge deposit for plot of land which was not suitable - In this case, respondent had deposited 2.5 lakhs on clear understanding that there would be an independent approach road to Unit - Without any independent passage plot of land would be not more than an agricultural land, not suitable for development as a manufacturing Unit - Appellant/Corporation cannot be permitted to relay upon Sec.55 of T.P Act - Since Corporation fails to disclose to respondent material defect about non-existence of independent passage to property, appellant clearly acted in breach of Sec.55(1)(a) (b) of T.P Act - Appellants directed to refund forfeited amount to respondent with interest - Appeal, dismissed. Haryana Financial Corporation Vs. Rajesh Gupta 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 64.

(INDIAN) CONTRACT ACT, 1872:

—Secs.160,161,167 & 171 - Plaintiff,Firm sent tobacco seed oil to third defendant Company for refining oil - 1st defendant APIDC seized 3rd defendant's premises and stock including tobacco seed oil belongs to plaintiff, since 3rd defendant failed to keep up payment schedule - Plaintiff also availed financial assistance from 2nd defendant/Bank - Since stocks not released, plaintiff approached High Court and on account of delay in complying with directions of High Court oil entrusted to 3rd defendant damaged to large extent and became unfit for use - Hence plaintiff filed suit for declaration of title and interest in goods entrusted to 3rd defendant and for consequential recovery of value of goods - Trial Court partly decreed suit, holding that plaintiff is having title to property in question, restricting suit claim to certain amount as plaintiff failed to establish that damage was on account of exclusive fault of defendants 1 and 2 - Hence, plaintiff filed present Appeal - Sec.167 of Contract Act deals with right of third person claiming goods bailed - If a person, other than bailor, claims goods bailed, he may apply to Court to stop delivery of goods to bailor and to decide title to goods - In this case, lower Court rejected plea of 2nd defendant/Bank that stocks of third party brought to premises of 3rd defendant creates a lien in favour of Bank and held that plaintiff is owner of goods which goes unchallenged, as no appeal has been preferred by Bank - Trial Court also determined value of goods which were attached and not released at instance of 2nd defendant/Bank, at Rs.9,45,600/- - Once trial Court decreed suit of plaintiff and held that it is owner of goods as 2nd defendant/Bank unlawfully kept goods with 1st defendant/Corporation by lodging a claim and failed to establish its right of lien over goods, bank has to compensate loss sustained by plaintiff to extent of value of goods - In this case, Cause of action is wrongful detention, is based on wrongful withholding of plaintiff's goods at instance of 2nd defendant/Bank and goods were converted into cash as per directions obtained by Bank - If it is found that Bank claim is wrongful and unjust it has to compensate loss as on date goods were seized or its value, as case may be - Appeal allowed decreeing suit of plaintiff against 2nd defendant/Bank for some of Rs.9,45,600. Coastal Oil Mills, Ongole Vs. The APIDC, 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 86 = 2009(6) ALD 41 = 2009(5) ALT 551.

—Sec.171 - "Banker's lien" - Petitioner availed gold loan for certain amount from respondent, bank by pledging gold jewellery - Though petitioner paid entire loan amount with interest respondent/bank declined to return jewellery on ground that petitioner stood as guarantor for loan availed by one KKR - Hence present writ petition seeking direction to respondent/Bank to return gold ornaments - Petitioner contends that said KKR paid excessive in loan account and filed case against respondent/Bank before DRT and that Bank has many more securities and mortgages of immovable properties against loan account of KKR - Respondent/Bank contends that petitioner has agreed under Cl.(7) of sanctioned terms that Bank shall have a lien on ornaments pledged in respect of other sums of money which borrower may be liable to pay Bank either solely or jointly with other person or persons and petitioner having stood as a guarantor to loan facility availed by said KKR, and since KKR is liable to pay certain amount to Bank, petitioner is liable to pay same and that therefore respondent/Bank justifies exercise of its lien over pledged gold ornaments, though Bank accepts liability under gold loan discharged by petitioner - In this case, petitioner as borrower under gold loan as well as in capacity as guarantor to other loan account of KKR has expressly agreed to Banker's lien over gold loan ornaments vide Cl.(7) of conditions of sanction of gold loan and Cl.(15) of deed of guarantee - Petitioner as borrower of gold loan account holding that Banker has lien u/Sec.171 of Indian Contract Act over pledged gold ornaments - Documents executed by petitioner and particularly Cl.(15) of gold loan and deed of guarantee respectively clearly disentitle petitioner from seeking relief prayed in writ petition - Writ petition, dismissed. V.Srinadha Reddy Vs. Indian Bank, Chittoor 2011(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 319 = 2012(1) ALD 149 = 2012(2) ALT 49.

—Sec.177 - LIMITATION ACT, Art.70 - Appellant/plaintiff filed suit for preliminary decree for redemption of plaint schedule ornaments pledged towards loans and directed defendants to return same - Defendant filed written statement stating that alleged pledge of ornaments is not true and suit is not maintainable - After considering evidence and record, Subordinate Judge dismissed suit of plaintiff - As per Sec.177 that redemption of pledged goods should be by payment of amount due and also additional expenses which has arisen from his default - It is duty of plaintiff to deposit said amount and seek for return of pledged goods - But, however, in this case, plaintiff instead of instituting suit for return of ornaments on deposit of amounts due has resorted to suit of settlement of accounts, which is not at all proper - No suit for settlement of accounts is maintainable and only remedy is to deposit money and seek for return of goods - Claim of plaintiff is not sustainable - Judgment and decree passed by lower Court - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Heerakar Baloji Vs. Kaleru Venkataiah, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 122 = 2011(3) ALD 678.

—Secs.171 & 174 - Petitioner/Firm availed cash credit facility and also agricultural loan from respondent/Bank and created mortgage by deposit of title deeds towards security - Suit filed by respondent/Bank against petitioner settled by way of compromise before Lok Adalat - Since respondent failed to return title deeds, present writ petition filed stating that action of Bank in retaining title deeds as illegal and arbitrary - Respondent/Bank contends that it has got general lien on property despite settlement of cases, on ground that other loan transaction is yet to be settled and that Lok Adalat also upheld Bank's right of general lien and that u/Sec. 171 of Indian Contract Act Bankers have got right of lien on goods held by Bank in normal course of Banking business unless there is contract to contrary - Banker's lien contemplated by Sec.171 as such is specific provision relating to Banker's lien and has an over riding effect on general provisions of Sec.174 which provide for relationship of pawnee and pawner in respect of pledged goods - Banker's lien will carry over to such pledges and Bank can retain pledged goods, if debtor has not cleared his amount in connection with another loan - Writ petition, dismissed. Mohan Enterprises Vs. Andhra Bank 2008(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 95 = 2008(6) ALD (NOC) 99.

CONTRACT SERVICE

—Though the initial period of contract expired, petitioner's services were continued and while rendering her service she tendered resignation to the post of Mentor on 28.05.2013 by sending email to the Director of the third respondent institution - However, within two days thereafter i.e., on 30.05.2013 she withdrew her resignation and sought leave for a period of one week from 03.06.2013 to 10.06.2013 - After expiry of leave, she submitted joining report on 10.06.2013 and she was permitted to join duty four days thereafter - She continued for remaining period of June and July 2013 - However, on 13.08.2013 she received intimation from Registrar of University accepting resignation of petitioner with effect from 01.06.2013 - The said letter was received by her on 27.08.2013 and she submitted a representation on 28.08.2013 seeking her continuance as Mentor - It was followed by another representation on 30.08.2013 - As no orders were passed, present Writ Petition is filed.

Held, learned Counsel for respondents placed reliance on Condition No.7 of letter of appointment dated 25.09.2009, which says that individual shall give one month advance notice or pay back three months salary, in case individual desires to leave University before contract period expires.

In letter of resignation dated 28.05.2013 she stated that she may not be attending college from June onwards and requested for consideration of same as advance intimation of resignation to her duties. - On 30.05.2013 she sent another mail stating that doctors advised her to take rest and she may not be attending duties in month of June and requested for not considering previous mail and specifically stated that she will be back to duties - In above circumstances and in view of law laid down by Apex Court, this Court has no hesitation to hold that communication of second respondent dated 13.08.2013 accepting resignation of petitioner is invalid and contrary to law, and same is, accordingly, set aside - Writ Petition is, accordingly, allowed. G.Priyanka Vs. State of A.P. 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 230 = 2016(6) ALD 703 = 2016(6) ALT 343.

COMPASSIONATE APPOINTMENT

—ENDOWMENT DEPARTMENT - "Compassionate appointment" - G.O.Ms. No.1357, Revenue (Endowment I) Dept. Dt:18-7-2011 - Petitioner's father worked in R.2 Temple for 30 years and died in harness - High Court directed Commissioner Endowments and 2nd respondent/temple to examine case of petitioner for offering him compassionate appointment for Junior Assistant Post - Commissioner rejected case of petitioner for compassionate appointment under his proceedings dt:22-2-2011 - Petitioner filed contempt case, alleging violation of interim order of High Court in W.P. - While matters stood thus, Govt., of A.P. promulgated G.O.Ms.No..1357 accepting recommendations of PRC Committee and extending Scheme of compassionate appointment which is available in Govt., to all employees of temples - Contempt case disposed of granting three months time to Commissioner to act on basis of G.O.Ms.No.1357 - Commissioner again rejected petitioner's claim for compassionate appointment on ground that appointments would be from date of issue of appointment order only - Petitioner once again approached High Court claiming that his mother, his younger brother and he were only dependents of deceased father and avered that they were still facing financial crunch owing to loss of bread winner and sought declaration that action of Commissioner in rejecting claim for compassionate appointment was illegal and contrary to object of G.O.Ms.No.37 - Joint Commissioner and Vigilance Officer, Endowments filed counter contending that petitioners brothers were employed in 2nd respondent temple as contract basis and petitioner was not eligible for compassionate appointment as they were earning members in family - 2nd respondent/temple filed separate counter stating that two of petitioners brothers were engaged in its service on contract basis contending that it is not true to say that there was no earning member in family as contended by petitioner - Petitioner contends that authorities were resorting to selective discrimination, by appointing persons of their choice on compassionate grounds - Long and chequered history of present case, reflects callous indifference of Commissioner in implementing orders of High Court in their true spirit - In this case, various orders of compassionate appointment, placed on record by petitioner, indicate that Commissioner was quite generous in allowing such appointments earlier and that Commissioner permitted 2nd respondent/temple also to resort to such compassionate appointments since 2006 - In this case, despite tolerance shown by High Court in face of persistent and intractable stance of Commissioner in time and again searching for ways and means to reject petitioner's case, and he now states that case of petitioner cannot be considered as G.O.Ms.1357 is prospective in nature as clarified by Govt., in its Memo dt; 15-11-2011. - Stangely, inspite of various orders passed by High Court in petitioners case, Commissioner remains defiant and headstrong - Pick and choose method adopted by Commissioner, in permitting compassionate appointments in cases of his liking while pressing to service one feable reason or other to deny others identically situated, cannot be countenanced - Such action reeks of patent arbritraness and his anathema to Rule of law - Impugned proceedings of Commissioner are set aside - Respondents directed to provide compassionate appointment to petitioner in post of Junior Assistant in respondent/temple - Writ petition, allowed. K.Brahmaiah Vs. Commissioner, Endowment Department, Hyderabad 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 64 = 2012(6) ALD 20.

COMPASSIONATE APPOINTMENT

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.2, 155, 156(3),190, 200, 460 & 482 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.463, 464 & 465 - "Cognizance of offence and non-cognizance of offence" - "Forgery" - Complaint filed for offences of forgery and making false document under provisions of IPC - Magistrate referred matter by invoking provision u/Sec.156(3) - Investigating Agency registered FIR for said offences arrested accused and filed final report - Hence present petitions filed to quash proceedings - Petitioners contend offence u/Sec.465 being non-cognizable offence reference made by Magistrate u/Sec.156(3) Cr.P.C instead invoking provision u/Sec.155 Cr.P.C. is erroneous and that Investigating Officer should not have arrested accused in non-cognizable offence without obtaining warrant from competent Court and after investigation, filing of Report before concerned Court not amounts to complaint since it is Police Report and that cognizance taken by Magistrate is erroneous and illegal and liable to be quashed - Sec.155 Cr.P.C. mandates Police Officer, on receipt of complaint for non-cognizable offence, refer informant to Magistrate and further mandates Police Officer to investigate a non-cognizable offence with order of Magistrate having jurisdiction - In this case, no order was passed by Magistrate for investigation since complaint is filed by complainant by invoking provision u/Sec.200 Cr.P.C. - Sec.190 Cr.P.C. empowers Magistrate to take cognizance not only of offences come under category of cognizable offence and also of non-cognizable offence and no specific bar is mentioned in said chapter - Sec.155 Cr.P.C. speaks about power of Police to proceed on information - Sec.156(3) Cr.P.C. clearly indicates that on receipt of reference by Magistrate, Police Officer have power to investigate, hence forwarding of complaint by Magistrate u/Sec.156(3) in a non-cognizable offence that too in a pre-cognizance offence stage does not cause to any prejudice to petitioners - Said act of Magistrate cannot be held to be illegal - As far as arrest of accused by Police Officer in non-cognizable offence is concerned, it is not only erroneous but also illegal - In present case arrest of petitioner is highly illegal but at same time High Court cannot pass any orders to ventilate grievance of petitioner for said act by invoking provision u/Sec.482 Cr.P.C. - Petitioners are always at liberty to seek their remedy in appropriate forum by invoking appropriate provisions - Petitioners contention that filing of charge-sheet before concerning Court cannot be called as a complaint, as such Magistrate has no power to take cognizance is unsustainable - As far as Sec.465 IPC is concern, there is no specific bar to take cognizance by Magistrate on basis of Police Report - u/Sec.460 Cr.P.C sub-sec.(e) makes it very clear that cognizance taken by Magistrate not empowered will not vitiate proceedings - Thus present complaints are not liable to be quashed - Criminal petitions, dismissed. V.K.Rudrama Devi Vs. The State of A.P. 2012(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 200 = 2012(2) ALD(Crl) 101 (AP).

—Secs.2(d), 2(g), 154, 157, 40, 41,41A, 41B, 160 and 161 - Petitioner, Managing Director of a Company is directed to appear before D.S.P of Police CID with all relevant documents and connected papers in person - In this case, except impugned notice, petitioner was not furnished either with a copy of directions alleged to have been issued by 1st respondent/Addl. Director General of Police, CID, to 2nd respondent/ DSP or with copies of alleged complaint.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

"The point that falls for consideration in this writ petition is whether 1st respondent has power to investigate in to a cognizable offence without registering a case, as required u/Sec.154 of Cr.P.C - In other words, whther 1st respondent or Police can conduct enquiry before investigation to ascertain truth or otherwise of allegations made in complaint?".

Petitioner contends that without registering a case, Police have no power to conduct an enquiry before investigation and admittedly no case is registered against any person so as to summon any person for examination including accused, and hence impugned notice is liable to be quashed - Respondents 1 & 2 contend that Petitioner was called as a witness to speak about allegations in complaint and that 1st respondent has got power u/Sec.41A of Cr.P.C to do so and therefore impugned order needs no interference by High Court - Respondents 3 to 6 contend that Cr.P.C does not expressly bar a Police Officer, muchless 1st respondent, from making a preliminary enquiry as to ascertain truth or otherwise of allegations in complaint and that as Police got power to investigate into matter, there are no grounds to interfere with impugned order - CONDITIONS RELATING TO RECORDING F.I.R - Stated - First Information of Commission of cognizable offence is enough to constitute FIR - Object of FIR from point of view of informant is to set criminal law into motion, and from point of view of investigating authorities, is to obtain information about alleged criminal activity so as to enable to take suitable steps for tracing and bringing to book guilty person - Therefore, condition which is sine qua non for recording First Information is that there must be an information and that information must disclose a cognizable offence before an Officer in-charge of Police Station satisfying requirement of Sec.154(1) - "Investigation" - "enquiry" - Defined - For commencement of investigation in a cognizable offence by Police Officer two conditions are satisfied viz., firstly Police Officer should have reason to suspect commission of cognizable offence as required u/Sec.157(1) Cr.P. C and secondly Police Officer should satisfy himself as to whether there is sufficient ground for entering on an investigation even before he starts investigation into facts and circumstances of case, as contemplated u/Sec.157(1)(b) Cr.P.C. - Sec.2(g) Cr.P.C - word "Inquiry" - Defined - Term inquiry "as a wider conotation under Code - It includes every inquiry other than a trial - It refers to a judicial inquiry into a matter by Magistrate or Court - Inquiry relates to proceedings before a Magistrate prior to trial while investigation is confined to proceeding taken by Police or by any person other than Magistrate who is authorized in this behalf - Object of investigation is collection of evidence, and of an inquiry is taking of evidence for further action - Police have statutory power to investigate a cognizable offence without Magistrate's order - So, from definition of "inquiry " it is clear that Police have no power to conduct inquiry because it has to be conducted under Code by a Magistrate of Court" - As seen from impugned notice, it is clear that 2nd respondent proposed to examine petitioner as a witness and therefore contention of respondents 1 and 2 that source of power of 2nd respondent is from Sec.41A Cr.P.C cannot be accepted and it is wholly devoid of merit and untenable - And that power is available u/Sec.160 contained in Chapter XII of Cr.P.C which authrizes Police Officer making investigation to require attendance before him of any person appears to be acquainted with facts and circumstances of case - Power u/Sec.160 can be exercised by Police Officer after commencement of investigation - Therefore 2nd respondent has no authority to summon petitioner either under Secs.41A or 160 or 161 for examination - Impugned notice is liable to be set aside - Writ petition, allowed. Parchuri Ramakoteswara Rao Vs.Addl.Director General of Police CID., 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 15 = 2012(2) ALD(Crl) 498 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.24 - Provisions of Remembrancer's Manual (L.R Manual) framed by Govt., of U.P - Mechanism for appointment of District Govt., counsel for civil, criminal and revenue Courts - Renewal or non renewal of term of District Govt., counsel and termination of their services - Stated - High Court issuing mandamus for renewal of term of respondents as District Govt., counsel (criminal) - While renewing term of appointment of existing incumbents, State Govt., is required to consider their past performance and conduct in light of recommendations made by District Judges and District Magistrates - Therefore High Court could not have issued a mandamus for renewal of term of respondents and other similarly situated persons and thereby frustrated provisions of L.R manual and Sec.24 Cr.P.C - Appeal allowed, impugned order, set aside. State of U.P. Vs. Ajaykumar Sharma 2013(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 233.

—Secs.24 & 24(8) - 1st respondent/Govt. of A.P appointed petitioner as Special P.P for Court of 1st Additional District Judge u/Sec.24(8) of Cr.P.C - On expiry of petitioner's term Additional P.P of III Additional District Judge was placed in charge of cases - In modification of arrangement, District Collector issued proceedings, continuing petitioner as such till new appointment is made - Subsequently 1st respondent/Govt., appointed 2nd respondent as Special P.P for said Court - Petitioner contends that he was chosen to deal with particular category of cases and that for past two years, he became acquainted and has handled them to substantial extent and as such appointment of 2nd respondent would be detrimental to interests of State and that there are serious procedural irregularities in appointment of 2nd respondent - 2nd respondent contends that mere fact that a panel was forwarded by District Judge even for appointment of Special P.P does not invalidate exercise and that stand taken by petitioner is not only vague but is self contradictory - In this case, term of petitioner expired and he was continued as in-charge till a new incumbent is appointed - 2nd respondent was appointed as Special P.P for period of three years under G.O. in which there is reference to proceedings of District Collector - Therefore it has to be presumed that appointment is with consideration of panel - Sub-section (3) to (6) of Sec.24 of Code, prescribe procedure for appointment of P.Ps to Districts - This includes preparation of a Panel of Advocates of particular standing by District Collector to Govt., in consultation with District Judge - Requirement is so mandatory that sub-sec(5) stipulates that Govt. shall not appoint an Advocate as P.P unless his name appears in Panel to be forwarded by District Collector - Though it is competent for 1st respondent/Govt., to appoint 2nd respondent as Special P.P, without calling for, or consideration of Panel, mere fact that such a panel existed does not, in any way, render appointment, illegal, for reason that though such procedure is mandatory for appointment of Special P.P., it is not prohibited - Being ultimate execute authority of State, 1st respondent can choose any mechanism to satisfy itself to arrive at a just and proper conclusion as long as step chosen by it not prohibited by law - Consultative process is not mandatory for appointment of P.P - Even where Panel is required to be forwarded discretion of District Collector to prepare a Panel in consultation with District Judge is almost unfettered, - it is not part of duty of District Judge to send report of assessment about an existing incumbent, either u/Sec.24 of Code or under G.O.MsNo.187 which prescribes procedure for appointment of Law Officers - Writ petition, dismissed. B.Venkateswara Rao Vs.State of A.P. 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 58.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.24, 225 & 321 - "Power of State Government to appoint PPs and Additional PPs" - Crime registered against appellant by Police at Tamil Nadu - Appellant/accused filed petition seeking transfer of case to any other State alleging that he is being unnecessarily harassed by State of Tamil Nadu and that he would not get fair trial - Session Judge transferred case to Court of Sessions Judge Pondicherry - Appellant/accused filing petition before Sessions Court challenging appointment of Public Prosecutors by State of Tamil Nadu contending that PP appointed by Tamil Nadu has no right to conduct prosecution of sessions case pending before Pondicherry Court - Sessions Judge of Pondicherry passing order holding that Tamil Nadu State had not lost its right to appoint PP merely on account of transfer of case to Sessions Court at Pondicherry - High Court confirmed decision of Sessions Court - Purpose of transfer of criminal case from one State to another is to ensure fair trial to accused - In this case, main ground on which transfer of case was that action of prosecution agency had created a reasonable apprehension in mind of accused/appellant that he would not get justice if trial was held in State of Tamil Nadu - Public Prosecutor plays a vital role during trial of Sessions Case though Sessions Judge has got supervising control over entire trial of case, it is PP who decides who are witnesses to be examined on side of prosecution and which witness is to be given up - Tamil Nadu State Government can only appoint PPs and Addl. PPs u/Secs.24 to conduct prosecution and appeal in criminal Courts in respect of any case pending before Courts of Tamil Nadu and in respect of any case pending before Courts at Pondicherry, State Government of Pondicherry is appropriate Government to appoint PP - Expenses for conducting trial are to be born by State of Tamil Nadu - Impugned order passed by High Court, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Subramaniam Vs. State of Tamil Nadu 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 268.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.24,(4)&(5) - G.O.Ms.No.187, dt.16-12-2000, dealing with appointment and service conditions of Law Officers, Cl.5 (1) - 3rd respondent/District Judge sent panel of 6 Advocates to 2nd respondent/District Magistrate for appointment to post of Addl. Public Prosecutor, in which petitioner's name is shown at Sl. No.4 - District Magistrate in his turn included names of two advocates viz., 4th respondent and one other Advocate and requested 1st respondent, Govt., to appoint an Advocate from panel of 8 Advocates to post of Addl. P.P - Govt., issued G.O. appointing 4th respondent as Addl. P.P for period of 3 years - Petitioner contends that name of 4th respondent not recommended and included in panel sent by District Judge and hence District Magistrate without consulting District Judge included name of 4th respondent as was required under sub-secs.(4) & (5) of Sec.24 of Code and Instructions issued by Govt., in G.O.Ms.No.187 and as such orders issued by Govt., cannot be sustained - From provisions of Sec.24 of Code and Instructions issued by Govt., it becomes clear that District Magistrate shall in consultation with District Judge prepare pannel of names of persons, who in his opinion, are fit to be appointed as P.Ps or Addl. P.Ps - In matter making appointments to posts of PPs/ Addl.PPs, procedure as contemplated u/Sec.24 of Code particularly sub-secs.(4) & (5) thereof, has to be followed in letter in spirit - In instant case, despite name of 4th respondent having been refused to be included in pannel by District Judge, yet District Magistrate included his name in panel and recommended his case along with others for appointment to post of Addl. P.P - There was no consultation of District Judge by District Magistrate as was required u/Sec.24 and instructions issued by Govt. in G.O.Ms.No.187 and as such recommendations made by District Magistrate violative of statutory provisions - Orders issued by Govt. appointing 4th respondent as Addl. P.P based on illegal recommendations made by District Magistrate is sheer violation of provisions of Sec.24 and hence, set aside - Writ petition, allowed. K.Nagappa Vs. State of A.P 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 98 = 2008(2) ALD (Crl.) 148(AP) = 2008(3) ALT 129 = 2008(2) ALT(Crl.) 356 (AP) = 2008 Crl. LJ 2147.

—Secs.24(7) & 24(8) - Power of State Govt., to appoint Special Public Prosecutor - Petitioners/accused facing in prosecution launched by State for causing death of deceased - State Govt. appointing one Advocate PSR as Special Public Prosecutor exercising powers u/Sec.24(8) of Cr.P.C, after entertaining representation submitted by wife of deceased - Petitioners contend that Special P.P may get carried away and consequently may not conduct prosecution in a just and fair manner as a true representative of State and they are apprehensive impartiality and fairness on part of Spl.P.P to conduct sessions case - A person to be appointed as a Public Prosecutor or as an Addl. Public Prosecutor u/Sec.24(6) such person is required to be in practice as an Advocate for not less than seven years and in matter of appointment of Spl. P.P a person who has been in practice as an Advocate for not less than ten years, as a Spl. P.P u/Sec.24(8) - Therefore statute has recognized a clear cut distinction between method and manner of making appointment of P.P with that of appointment procedure of Spl. P.P - Power conferred by sub(8) of Sec.24 is required to be exercised carefully, sparingly and cautiously - Very nature of appointment of Special P.P connotes great significance - It is not merely a professional challenge for person so chosen to act as Special P.P, but it also connotes a significant trust that is reposed in sense of impartiality and fairness in carrying on prosecution on part of chosen individual - State is bound to verify credentials of any individual, both professional and personal before narrowing down it's choice - Hence, request made by wife of deceased is not a factor to disentitle State from appointing PSR as Special P.P - Writ petition, dismissed. Tharala Veerabhadram Vs. Govt. of A.P., 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 43 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 90 (AP) = 2010(3) ALT (Crl.) 352 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—-Secs.70 & 71 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.21 - "Issuance of non-bailable warrant" - Complaint filed against appellant practicing Advocate regularly attending Court, u/Sec.324 IPC - Chief Metropolitan Magistrate finding appellant to be absent issued non-bailable warrant against him - In present case, having regard to nature of complaint against appellant and his stature in community and fact that admittedly appellant was regularly attending Court proceedings, it was not fit case, where non-bailable warrant should have been issued by Magistrate - Attendance of appellant could have been secured by issuing summons or at best by a bailable warrant - In facts and circumstances of case issuance of non-bailable warrant was manifestly unjustified - In this case, respondent no.2 was aware that non-bailable warrant issued on account of failure on part of appellant to attend Court on particular date returnable only on particular date - Undoubtedly respondent no.2 was duty bound to execute warrant as expeditiously as possible, but there is no justifiable reason for urgency in executing warrant on a National holiday more so when it had been issued more than a week ago and even complaint against appellant was in relations to offence u/Sec.324 IPC - Unfortunate sequel of an unmindful action on part of respondent no.2 was that appellant practicing Advocate with no criminal history remained in Police custody for quite some time without any justification whatsoever and suffered unwarran-ted humiliation and degradation infront of fellow members of Club - In this case though conduct of respondent no.2 in arresting appellant ignoring this plea that non-bailable warrant issued by Court in a bailable offence had been cancelled deserve to be deplored, yet, strictly speaking action of respondent no.2 in detaining appellant on strength of warrant in his possession, perhaps motivated, cannot be said to be per se without authority of law - No other action against respondent no.2 is warranted and he has been sufficiently reprimanded - Any endorsement/variation which is made on such warrant for benefit of person against whom warrant issued or persons who are required to execute warrant, would not render warrant to be bad in law - What is material that there is power vested in Court to issue a warrant that power is to be exercised judiciously depending upon facts and circumstances of each case - No ground is made out warranting interference with impugned judgment of High Court imposing fine of Rs.2000 respondent on no.2 and therefore judgment of High Court confirmed - Appeal, dismissed. Raghuvansh Dewanchand Bhasin Vs. State of Maharashtra 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 180.

—Secs.82,83 & 482 - Case registered against accused u/Secs,120-B,147,148, 302/149 IPC - Since petitioner/A2 could not be apprehended even after obtaining non-bailable warrant as he was absconding, Proclamation issued by Magistrate u/Secs.82,83 of Cr.P.C against petitioner - Petitioner contends that since proclamation did not give 30 days clear time for appearance of petitioner and giving only 5 days time for appearance before Magistrate from date of its publication, is illegal and that 30 days time prescribed u/Sec.82 is mandatory - Inherent power of High Court u/Sec.482 Cr.P.C can be exercised by High Court in three contingencies viz., a) to give effect to any order under Code or b) to prevent abuse of process of any Court or c) to secure ends of justice - In this case, instead of rushing to High Court, petitioner could have appeared before Magistrate in local Court - Due to failure of giving 30 days time as contemplated u/Sec.82 Cr.P.C, petitioner did not suffer any prejudice nor injustice - 30 days time prescribed in Sec.82(1) is not mandatory but is only directory - Criminal petition, dismissed. K.Rama Krisha Vs. State of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 358 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 129(AP) = 2011(1) ALT (Crl.) 1 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.97 & 482 - "Search for persons wrongfully confined" - Wife and husband are estranged spouses are having two sons who are staying with mother - Husband allegedly visited house of parents of wife took away elder child - Wife filed petition u/Sec.97 of Cr.P.C to issue search warrant for production of minor son before Court - Magistrate dismissed petition filed by wife - Sessions Judge set aside finding of Magistrate and directed husband to handover custody of minor child to wife - Hence present Revision by husband - In this case, minor child who is subject matter already crossed 8 years of age and that under Mohammad Law mother would be entitled to custody till child crossed seven years only and that father would take priority to custody of child thereafter and that, as child is over 8 years old, mother cannot seek custody of child and that child is interested to stay with husband rather than wife - Further, in present case, that marriage between wife and husband already stood dissolved, and that wife married Unani Doctor and in fact handedover custody of other child to her relatives, so much so there is no justification for wife to insist upon custody of minor child - Wife contends when Court directed delivery of child to wife, it would be just and proper to insist upon complying with orders of Court and that Sec.97 Cr.P.C envisages that "the Court shall make such order as in circumstances of case seems proper" and that powers of Court are wide enough to order custody of minor child with mother rather than father and that order of revisional Court perfectly valid - Petitioner, father produced child and is examined in Chamber of Judge and that child claimed that he has been staying with his father and curiously stated that he did not have mother - Impugned order of Sessions Judge in revision petition, set aside and ordered that custody of child shall remain with petitioner/father. Syed Siddiq Ahmed, Vs. State of A.P., 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 28 = 2013(1) ALD (Crl) 394 (AP) = 2013 Cri. LJ (NOC) 539 = 2013(2) ALT (Crl) 178 (AP).

—Secs.110(e) - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.21 - A.P. POLICE MANUAL STANDING ORDER, No.601 - "Opening of rowdy sheet" - Petitioner/press reporter wrote news items against 3rd respondent/SHO - As an act of reprisal, SHO registered crime by falsely implicating him as petitioner allegedly forged house site patta document and later opened rowdy sheet against him - Opening of history sheet /rowdy sheet can be justified only when it is proved before Court by State that based on relevant material - Competent Police Officer has applied his mind with due care and considered all aspects in light of law and then ordered opening history sheet/rowdy sheet or its continuation or its retention - In this case, facts would clearly suggest that obviously wreak vengeance against petitioner for his writing a news report against 3rd respondent/ SHO as pleaded by him in his affidavit, rowdy sheet was opened against him - Opening of rowdy sheet will undoubtedly have effect of causing humiliation to petitioner and bringing down his dignity and honour in Society - Action of 3rd respondent, is subversive of Art.21 of Constitution of India which guarantees every person a right to live with human dignity - Therefore, opening rowdy sheet against petitioner is wholly unwarranted and unconstitutional - Hence, quashed - Respondents are saddled with costs of Rs.5,000/- payable to petitioner. P.Sathiyya Naidu Vs. Superintendent of Police, E.G. at Kakinada 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 383.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.125 - Maintenance - Applicability of Sec.125 to Muslim Woman who has been divorced - Appellant/Muslim women filed Application in Family Court u/Sec.125 of Criminal Procedure Code for grant of maintenance against her husband @ Rs.4000/ - per month stating that her husband was working as Nayak in Army and getting salary of Rs.10,000 - Husband resisted Application disputing all averments pertaining to demand of dowry and harassment alleging that he had already given divorce to appellant and also paid Mehar to her - As husband was getting at time of disposal of Application as per salary certificate Rs.17,654/- and accordingly Family Court directed that a sum of Rs.2500/- should be paid as monthly maintenance allowance from date of submission of Application till date of Judgment and thereafter Rs.4000/- per month from date of Judgment till date of remarriage - High Court reduced amount of maintenance from Rs.4000 to Rs.2000 by showing immense sympathy to husband on account of his retirement - Supreme Court considering other aspecs of salary particulars of pension of husband encashment of Commutation and other retiral dues i.e. AFPP, AFGI, gratuity, and leave encashment to a tune of Rs.16,01,455 and which facts have not controverted by respondent/husband - Appeal allowed - Order passed by High Court set aside and that of Family Court is restored. Shamima Farooqui Vs. Shahid Khan 2015(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 10 = 2015(2) ALD(Crl) 549 (SC) = 2015 AIR SCW 2646 = AIR 2015 SC 2025 = 2015 Cri. LJ 2551 (SC) = 2015(2) SCC (Cri) 785 = 2015(5) SCC 705.

—Sec.125 - FAMILY COURTS ACT,1984, Secs.3 & 8(c) - HINDU ADOPTIONS AND MAINTENANCE ACT, 1956 - Magistrate awarding maintenance to major daughtors by applying provisions of Sec.20(3) of Hindu Adoption Act - Petitioner-father contends that Magistrate has no jurisdiction to award maintenance to the major daughtors who are entitled to maintain u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C till they are attained majority but not there after and it is only Family Court which is entitled to award maintenance - Sessions Judge dismissed order of Magistrate - It is not in dispute that proceedings in civil Court are substantial, where as proceedings u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C are summary in nature - Once civil Court of competent jurisdiction comes to conclusion that wife is not entitled to maintenance, criminal Court u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C cannot seek in appeal over said decision - Family Court conferred jurisdiction to award maintenance u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C. or u/Sec.20(3) of Act - Admittedly in this case, Magistrate's Court at Badrachalam is an Agency Court and conferred with jurisdiction to decide case under Cr.P.C. only but not conferred with civil jurisdiction - Impugned order, set aside - Parties are at liberty to avail remedies under Act - Criminal petition, allowed. Yerram Vinod Vs. State of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 247 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 668 (AP) = 2011(1) ALT (Crl.) 305 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.125 - HINDU MARRIAGE ACT, Sec.5 (1) - Petitioner/wife filed petition seeking maintenance alleging that respondent married her as per Hindu custom and six months after marriage started harassing and used to beat severely and therefore she is forced to leave company of respondent - Respondent/husband contends that she is not his legally wedded wife and she was already married to another person which marriage is subsisting - Family Court dismissed petition holding that petitioner not entitled to claim any maintenance from respondent as she is legally wedded wife of some other person and said marriage is subsisting - Petitioner claims maintenance against respondent while admittedly she has not obtained any divorce from her first husband - Even according to petitioner her marriage with respondent took place during subsistence of her first marriage with some other person - Sec.5(1) of Hindu Marriage Act imposes a condition that neither party should have a spouse living at time of marriage, for such a marriage to be lawful - As marriage of petitioner with respondent is said to have been taken place during subsistence of first marriage of petitioner with some other person said marriage cannot be termed lawful nor can petitioner be considered as legally wedded wife of respondent - Petitioner is not entitled to claim any maintenance from respondent - Impugned order of Family Court - Justified - Criminal Revision, dismissed. Nagireddy Sai Kumari Vs. Nagireddi Vara Nageswara Rao 2008(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 16 = 2008(1) ALD (Crl.) 747 (AP) = 2008(2) ALT (Crl.) 171 (AP) = 2008(2) APLJ 39.

—Sec.125 - HINDU MARRIAGE ACT, Secs.9 & 13-B - Petitioner/husband filed O.P against respondent, wife for restitution of conjugal rights and obtained ex parte decree - Subsequently O.P filed by both parties for divorce by mutual consent, dismissed for default - Now, Family Court allowed maintenance case, filed by 2nd respondent, wife u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C and granted maintenance of Rs.1500/- p.m. - Petitioner contends that Sec.125 Cr.P.C contemplates proof of neglect or refusal on part of husband to maintain his wife - Wife has to further prove that she has reasonable or justifiable cause to live separately from her husband - In view of decree for restitution of conjugal rights, any reasonable or justifiable cause to wife to live separately from her husband - Now, 2nd respondent, wife cannot be heard to say that she has reasonable or justifiable cause to live separately from petitioner inspite of decree for restitution of conjugal rights obtained by petitioner against her - Order passed by Family Court is erroneous and liable to be set aside - Revision petition, allowed. Madavarapu Ramakrishna Vs. State of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 55.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.125 - MUSLIM WOMEN (PRORECTION OF RIGHTS ON DIVORCE) ACT, 1986 - FAMILY COURTS ACT, Secs.7(1)(f) & 20 - Appellant married respondent according to Muslim rites - Respondent/husband and his family members treated appellant with cruelty demanding more dowry and did not take her back from her parents even after delivery of child - Hence, calimed maintenance - Respondent/husband contends that appellant has already been divorced in accordance with Muslim Law, and that she is not entitled to any maintenance after divorce and after expiry of iddat period - Family Court partly allowed appellant's application - High Court dismissed Revision substantially upholding order of Family Court - Appellant contends that single Judge of High Court gravely erred in dismissing appellant's Revision on misconception of law on ground that after divorce of a Muslim wife, a petition u/Sec.125 of Cr.P.C would not be maintainable - Impugned orders of Family Court and High Court are set aside and quashed, holding that even if a Muslim woman has been divorced, she would be entitled to claim maintenance from her husband u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C, after expiry of period of iddat also, as long as she does not remarry - Matter remanded to Family Court for its disposal on merits in accordance with law. Shabana Bano Vs. Imran Khan 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 204.

—Sec.125 - MUSLIM WOMEN (PROTECTION OF RIGHTS ON DIVORCE) ACT, 1986, Secs.3(1) and (3) and 4,5 & 7 - MAHOMEDAN LAW, Secs.307 & 308 - Petitioners, wife and children of respondent filed Application claiming maintenance, contending that respondent/husband ill-treated 1st petitioner, wife and drove petitioners away from his house and petitioners are living in 1st petitioner's parents and respondent is a mechanic having immovable properties getting income of Rs.1 lakh per year - Magistrate granting maintenance to all petitioners @ Rs.500 each per month - Respondent/husband filed Crl. Revision Petition taking stand that 1st petitioner is a divorced wife and therefore she cannot invoke Sec.125 of Cr.P.C and she is covered only by Sec.3(1) of Muslim Women Protection Act - Sessions Judge set aside order of Magistrate holding that 1st petitioner Muslim divorced women cannot straightaway claim maintenance u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C without exercising her option to be governed by Act - Petitioner contends that she is not divorced wife but she is only a deserted wife since there is no proper pronouncement of talak by respondent/husband, and therefore she is entitled to claim maintenance u/Sec.125 of Cr.P.C. - In this case, factually it is clear that Talak has been pronounced only after filing of Application for maintenance by petitioners and respondent/husband has pronounced Talak and there is no proof that it was properly communicated to 1st petitioner - Contention of respondent/husband that he has divorced petitioner is not sustainable both on facts and law - Order of Sessions Judge, set aside - Order of Magistrate, upheld - Crl.R.C, allowed. S.Shakila Vs. S.Khaleel 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 115 = 2008(2) ALD (Crl.) 660 (AP).

—Secs.125 and 482 - Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Divorce) Act, 1986, Sec.3(1)(a) - Petitioners 1 & 2 wife and daughter of respondent filed petition u/Sec.125

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

Cr.P.C for granting monthly maintenance of Rs.3000/- on ground that respondent/ husband neglected and deserted them having got sufficient means - On contest enquiry Court partly allowed petition awarding Rs.1500- per month to petitioners - Sessions Judge dismissed revision imposing cost of Rs.1000/- against respondent - Hence present petition/Petitioner husbands disputes about maintainability of maintenance case on ground that both parties belong to "Dudekula community" and they follow customs of Islam by reason of which, they are to be treated as Mohammedins and that there was pronouncement of Talak as per law enforced against 1st respondent wife and as such Sec.125 Cr.P.C is not applicable to them and the relevant provisions of Muslim Women Act, 1986 are applicable to them - In this case, admittedly marriage between petitioner and 1st respondent took place in Darga as performed by"Quazi" and consequently " Nikahnama" was prepared and people of Dudekula community got no separate personal laws - Therefore whatever custom of particular religion they follow personal laws of that religion made applicable to them having regard to evidence recorded correspondingly - Wife got right to approach u/Sec./125 for her maintenance unless it is proved that there was divorce between them, but however even supposing that there was divorce between them still she got right to approach Court u/Sec.3(1) (a) of Act which imposes condition with regards to time of payment of maintenance and proceedings initiated u/Sec.125 Cr.P.C are to be treated as proceedings under Act, 1986 for purpose of paying necessary maintenance to her, as both matters to be enquired by same Court - Criminal, petition, dismissed. Dudekula Mahboob Saheb Vs. Dudekula Shahnaz Begum, 2012(1) Law Summary 81 = 2012(1) ALD(Crl) 719(AP) = 2012(3) ALT(Crl) 86 (AP) = AIR 2012(NOC) 222(AP).

—Sec.125, 354(6) - Apex Court held that as a normal rule, Magistrate should grant maintenance only from date of the order and not from date of application for maintenance - It is, therefore, open to the Magistrate to award maintenance from the date of application - Apex Court further held that Sec.125 of the Code of Criminal Procedure must be construed with Sub-section (6) of Sec.354 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, Court should record reasons in support of the order passed by it, in both eventualities. Jaiminiben Hirenbhai Vyas Vs. Hirenbhai Rameshchandra Vyas 2014(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 70 = 2015(1) ALD (Crl) 627 (SC) = 2014 AIR SCW 6511 = AIR 2015 SC 300 = 2015 Cri. LJ 608 (SC) = 2015(2) SCC 385 = 2015(2) SCC (Cri) 92.

—Sec.125 (4) – Divorce by mutual consent – Maintenance to divorced wife – Trial Court granting maintenance to divorced wife observing that dissolution agreement entered into between petitioner and respondent not valid and there is no customary divorce in their caste – Revision Court allowing revision filed by husband that it is duty of petitioner to prove that she is entitled for maintenance and there was divorce between parties in year 1970 through elders and petitioner is living separate with respondent/husband by mutual consent and that no wife is entitled for maintenance if she is living away by way of mutual consent and present case comes within purview of Sec.125 (4) of Code and as wife received certain amount towards permanent alimony, she is not entitled for maintenance - Wife who obtains divorce by mutual consent and has not remarried cannot be denied maintenance by virtue of Sec.125(4) of Code - In present case, petitioner/wife has been denying from beginning that she voluntarily gave divorce agreement and her plea that there was no customary divorce in their community of Kapu is not resisted by respondent/husband and it is also not contention of husband that wife has means of livelihood - Power to be exercised under this section is discretionary – Court has to exercise such discretion in a judicious manner consistent with language of constitution - Petitioner/wife expressed her inability to maintain herself on account of sickness of her father and her old age - When she stretched her hand before a Court of justice by conveying she is suffering from hunger, she cannot be denied relief on ground that respondent/husband gave a paltry amount of Rs.1400/- about 30 years ago to her and she cannot be made to shut her mouth that she agreed to receive said amount towards permanent alimony undertaking not to claim any further amount - Sessions Judge applied letter of law without considering object behind it – Impugned order lacks rationality and objectivity and is liable to be set aside – Criminal case, allowed. Maddala Nagaratnam Vs. Maddaala Ranga Rao 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 217 = 2008(2) ALD (Crl.) 683 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

——Sec.144 - Petitioners filed this Writ Petition challenging the order of 5th respondent/ Executive Magistrate promulgating an order u/Sec.144 Cr.P.C - Petitioners belong to a village where government is allegedly taking their consent by force and coercion in order to build a project - Petitioners contended that respondents have virtually robbed them of their freedom to move freely - Respondents denied contentions and argued that there was a law and order problem which necessitated them to promulgate Sec.144 - The point for consideration is whether petitioners have made out any ground for setting aside impugned order and whether acts alleged by petitioners against respondents fall within scope of order passed u/Sec.144 Cr.P.C.

Held, though petitioners contended that facts mentioned in impugned order are not true and that peaceful processions of land owners of Vemulaghat and other neighbouring villages were attacked by the police on 24-07-2016 without provocation causing serious injuries and false cases were foisted on them, this disputed question of fact cannot be gone into in this writ petition - This Court is therefore not expressing any opinion on correctness or otherwise of facts recited in impugned order on basis of which 5th respondent has felt it necessary to invoke Sec.144 Cr.P.C.

Having said that, Court cannot be oblivious of pleadings of petitioners that under guise of above order passed u/Sec.144 Cr.P.C., there are strict and absolute curbs on movement of residents of Vemulghat village; no outsiders are allowed to visit village; every entry into village and exit therefrom is being strictly monitored by police; and police are insisting on identity proofs of persons found in village - No doubt above allegations are denied by respondents - Respondents cannot expand scope of order u/Sec.144 Cr.P.C. and if they do so it amounts to harassment of residents of villagers or outsiders who wish to enter villages bona fide - There would be an atmosphere of fear, intimidation and coercion, which cannot be allowed to exist in a democratic country like India - For foregoing reasons, while sustaining impugned order passed by 5th respondent/Executive Magistrate, Tahsildar, Writ Petition is disposed of giving directions to respondents on other restraints alleging interference with fundamental rights of petitioners and residents of two villages. Yerrangari Santosh Reddy Vs. State of Telangana 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 326.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.145, 154,155 & 173 (2) & 482 - Inspector of Police issuing FIR by registering crime in matter relating to 145 Cr.P.C - Issuing of FIR by registering crime in a matter relating to Sec.145 Cr.P.C. is unkonwn to Criminal Procedure Code - A senior Police Officer who had put in 12 long years of service in Department committed such mistake which can be classified as blunder - Police Officer acting u/Sec.154 Cr.P.C is at receiving end with reference to information - Where as a Police Officer in proceedings u/Sec.145 Cr.P.C. is not at receiving end, but is at forwarding stage with reference to information - Therefore question of registering a crime u/ec.154 Cr.P.C and forwarding FIR to Magistrate u/Sec.157 Cr.P.C does not arise in case of proceeding u/Sec.145 Cr.P.C - Even though provisions of Cr.P.C do not contemplate registering of crime and issuing FIR by Police Officer in proceedings relating to Sec.145 Cr.P.C, giving FIR after registering a crime in such cases is not only out side realm of law and would likely to lead abuse of power by certain unscrupulous Police Officers - This cannot be permitted in law - Inspector of Police exceeded his powers under Code and is liable to be quashed on this ground alone irrespective of merits of contents therein. K.Guravaiah Vs. State 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 190.

—Secs.145 and 482 - Executive Magistrate Passed orders restraining A and B groups from entering into disputed land until further orders to keep peace in the area - Hence A and B groups filed present petitions to quash orders - Parties in A and B groups are close relations and civil suits are pending between them in different courts - Petitioners contend that when civil suits are pending between parties in respect of same properties Executive Magistrate shall not exercise jurisdiction to pass orders U/sec. 145 Cr.P.C. and that Executive Magistrate has not followed procedure contemplated under said provision and inasmuch as he did not issue notice to respective rival parties calling for their written statements to make an enquiry to decide which party was in possession of disputed land and therefore, impugned order vitiated by procedural irregularity besides lacking jurisdiction - State contends that Executive Magistrate had passed a preliminary order restraining both parties from entering in to disputed properties and said order of Executive Magistrate is predominantly aimed at preventing breach of peace and nothing more and that therefore, order does not suffer vice of illegality or irregularity - From various rulings of Supreme Court, when dispute touching same subject property is already pending in Civil Court, parallel proceedings U/Sec. 145 Cr.P.C. are not maintainable before Executive Magistrate - However, present case is concerned, it appears, Executive Magistrate has not passed final order U/Sec. 145 Cr.P.C. by taking the statements of parties but he has only passed a preliminary order restraining both the parties from entering into property in order to prevent breach of peace - Therefore, parties have to approach concerned

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

Civil Court to vindicate their rights in respect of disputed properties and obtain suitable interim order as they are representing that standing crop is there on the disputed land. Till parties obtained, suitable interim orders from Civil Court in order to prevent breach of peace, preliminary prohibitory order passed by Executive Magistrate shall be maintained – Criminal proceedings are disposed of accordingly. Chella Venkata Ramana Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2015(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 71 = 2015(1) ALD (Crl) 927 = 2015(2) ALT (Crl) 164 (AP).

—Secs,145 (8), & 146 - Sub-Collector and Sub-Divisional Magistrate attaching land belonging to members of three parties on ground of breach of peace and tranquility, basing on report of C.I of Police - Petitioner contends that Sub-Divisional Magistrate ought not to have passed impugned order straightaway without notice which is contrary to provisions contemplated u/Sec.145 Cr.P.C and that civil suits are pending between parties - No procedure is envisaged u/Sec.145 Cr.P.C who order attachment of property for interim custody - Sub-Divisional Magistrate in interest of justice may require crop etc., to be harvested, sold, and kept sale proceeds thereof in deposit - Sec.146 Cr.P.C deals with power to attach subject of dispute and to appoint receiver - It comes in to operates only when an order of attachment is already passed - In this case, basing on report of C.I of Police with regard to registration of crimes apprehending law and order problem Sub-Divisional Magistrate straightaway passed impugned order which is bad - When matter is purely civil in nature and a competent civil Court is seized of matter, Sub-Divisional Magistrate cannot issue an order u/Sec.145 Cr.P.C - Admittedly, in a suit has already been admitted for settlement of disputes in respect of land question and same is pending adjudication - Impugned order is bad in law and liable to be set aside - Criminal Revision case, allowed. Ponuganti Raj Gopal Rao Vs. State of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 332 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 674 (AP).

—Sec.154 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.3 - INDIAN PENAL CODE,Sec.302 - "FIR" - "Dying declaration" - Sessions Judge convicted accused for offence u/Sec.302 and awarded life sentence - High Court maintained judgment of conviction - Out of three accused present appeal preferred only by appellant/accused - FIR - Once registration of FIR is proved by Police and same is accepted on record by Court and prosecution establishes its case beyond reasonable doubt by other admissible cogent and relevant evidence, it will be impermissible for Court to ignore evidentiary value of FIR - DYING DECLARATION - To rule of inadmisiability of hearsay, oral dying declaration is an exception - Dying declaration in this case, is reliable, cogent and explains events that had happened in their normal course which was not only a mere possibility but leaves no doubt that such events actually happened as established by prosecution - Once there exists reliable, cogent and credible evidence against one of accused, mere acquittal of other accused will not frustrate case of prosecution - Where High Court, exercising its judicial discretion ultra-cautiously, acquitted unnamed accused in FIR, there High Court for valid reasons, held present appellant guilty of offence - High Court had recorded reasons in support of both these conclusions - Appeal, dismissed. Bable @Gundeep Singh Vs. State of Chattisgath 2012(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 152 = 2012(2) ALD(Crl) 952(SC) = 2012 AIR SCW 3962 = 2012 Cri. LJ 3676(SC) = AIR 2012 SC 2621.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.154 - EVIDENCE ACT, Secs.41,42 & 43 - Trial Court decreed suit filed by respondents 1 to 4 for specific performance of agreement of sale - Appellants filed suit seeking cancellantion of decree passed in favour of respondents 1 to 4 and said suit dismissed on 10-6-2002 against which appellant preferred 1st appeal and same sill pending - Appellants filed FIR u/Secs.420/423/467/468/120-B IPC alleging, forging of signatures of deceased Kishan Singh on agreement to sell - Respondent filed Application for quashing of FIR on ground that appellants had lodged FIR after loosing civil case with inordintae delay and that findings on factual issues recorded in civil proceedings are binding on criminal proceedings - High Court allowed said Application and quashed FIR on ground that appellant could not succeed before civil Court that and findings have been recorded by civil Court to effect that agreement not forged or fabricated - Hence, present appeal - Findings recorded by civil Court do not have any bearing so far as criminal case is concerned and vice-versa - Standard of proof is different in civil and criminal cases - In civil cases it is preponderance of probabilities while in criminal cases it is proof beyond reasonable doubt - However, there may be cases where provisions of Sec.41,42 & 43 of Evidence Act dealing with relevance of previous Judgments in subsequent cases may be taken into consideration - In this case, it is difficult to believe that appellants, father was not aware of pendency of suit - No explanation has been furnished as to why after expiry of date of execution of sale deed dt.15-6-1989 appellants, father did not filed suit for specific performance which was subsequently filed on 6-2-1996 as civil suit - In this case, FIR has been filed on 23-7-2002 after filing 1st appeal before High Court on 15-7-2002 and there is no necessity to wait till decision of suit for lodging FIR - Therefore there is inordinate delay on part of appellant's father in filing FIR and there is no explanation whatsoever for same - Prompt and early reporting of occurrence by informant with all its vivid details gives an assurance regarding truth of its version - In case there is some delay in filing FIR, complainant must give explanation for same - However deliberate delay in lodging complaint is always fatal - Orders passed by High Court quashing criminal proceedings against respondents, cannot be intefered with. Kishan Singh (d) Through L.Rs. Vs. Gurpal Singh 2010(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 138.

—- Sec.154 – INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.149 – FIR - Delay in lodging FIR – Occurrence took place at 3 pm – FIR registered at 7.45 pm – Distance between place of occurrence to Police Station is 24 km – No delay in lodging FIR. Om Prakash Vs. State of Haryana 2014(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 15.

—-Sec.154 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.149 & 34 - "FIR" - "Common object" - Due to sending of love letter by son of one of accused, relative of D2 there was clash between two groups in village - Basing on rumour accused came in mob and attacked D2 and D1 with dangerous weapons - Trial Court convicted some accused u/Sec.302 r/w 149 - High Court acquitting accused in respect of Sec.302 r/w 149 holding that there was no common object and confirmed conviction for offence u/Sec.302 IPC - Contention that presence of PW.2 is not stated in Ex. P.1, complaint and since allegations not fully established because some accused persons were falsely implicated, evidence of witnesses is suspect - Mere non-mention of name of witness does not render prosecution version fragile - There can be no hard and fast rule that names of witnesses, more particularly, eye witnesses should be indicated in FIR - Even otherwise, though name of P.W.2 not been specifically mentioned in FIR, it cannot lost sight that he is son of deceased and incident took place in his own house - His presence is natural considering time when incident took place - Unless investigation Officer is categorically asked as to why there was delay in examination of witness, defence cannot take advantage therefrom - Mere presence in unlawful assembly cannot render a person liable unless there was a common object and he was actuated by that common object and that object is one of those set out in Sec.141 - Where common object of an unlawful assembly is not proved, accused persons cannot be convicted with help of Sec.149 - "COMMON OBJECT' - "COMMON INTENTION" - Common object is different from 'common intention' as it does not require a prior concert and a common meeting of minds before attack - It is enough if each has same object in view and there number is five or more and that they act as an assembly to achieve that object - Even if major portion of evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of accused, his conviction can be maintained - NON-EXPLANATION OF INJURIES - When prosecution comes with a definite case that offence has been committed by accused and proves its case beyond any reasonable doubt, it becomes hardly necessary for prosecution again explain how and what under circumstances injuries have been inflicted on person of accused - It is more so when injuries are simple or superficial in nature - Appeal, dismissed. Gunnana Pentayya @ Pentadu Vs. State of A.P. 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 1 = 2008(2) ALD (Crl.) 726(SC) = 2008(6) Supreme 40 = 2008 AIR SCW 6132.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.154,156 & 157 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.32 - Interpretation of Sec.154 Cr.P.C. - Present writ petition filed by minor through her father for issuance of Hebeas Carpus or directions against respondents for protection of his minor daughter who has been kidnapped - Grievance of writ petitioner is that inspite of written Report to in-charge Officer of Police Station concerned, he did not take any action on same and when Superintendent of Police was moved, FIR registered and even thereafter steps not taken either for apprehending accused or for recovery of minor girl child - Petitioner contends that upon receipt of information by Police Officer in-charge of Police Station disclosing of a cognizable offence it is imperative for him to register case u/Sec.154 of Cr.P.C - State contends that Officer-in-charge of Police station is not oblized under law upon receipt of information disclosing commission of cognizable offence to register a case rather discretion lies with him, in appropriate cases, to hold some sort of preliminary inquiry in relation to veracity or otherwise of accusation made in Report - After carefully analyzed various judgments delivered in last several decades, Supreme Court clearly discern divergent judicial opinions on main issue "whether u/sec.154 Cr.P.C, a Police Officer is bound to register or FIR when a cognizable offence is made out or he (Police Officer) has an option, discretion or latitude of conducting some kind of preliminary enquiry before registering FIR" - Issue which has arisen for consideration in these cases is of great public importance - In view of divergent opinions in a large number of cases decided by Supreme Court, it has became extremely important to have a clear enunciation of law and adjudication by larger Bench of Supreme Court for benefit of concerned Courts, Investigation Agencies and Citizens - Hence matter referred to Constitutional Bench of 5 Judges of Supreme Court for authoritative judgment.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

Constitution Bench held:

(i) Registration of FIR is mandatory under Section 154 of the Code, if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary inquiry is permissible in such a situation

(ii) If the information received does not disclose a cognizable offence but indicates the necessity for an inquiry, a preliminary inquiry may be conducted only to ascertain whether cognizable offence is disclosed or not.

(iii) If the inquiry discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, the FIR must be registered. In cases where preliminary inquiry ends in closing the complaint, a copy of the entry of such closure must be supplied to the first informant forthwith and not later than one week. It must disclose reasons in brief for closing the complaint and not proceeding further.

(iv) The police officer cannot avoid his duty of registering offence if cognizable offence is disclosed. Action must be taken against erring officers who do not register the FIR if information received by him discloses a cognizable offence

(v) The scope of preliminary inquiry is not to verify the veracity or otherwise of the information received but only to ascertain whether the information reveals any cognizable offence.

(vi) As to what type and in which cases preliminary inquiry is to be conducted will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. The category of cases in which preliminary inquiry may be made are as under:

(a) Matrimonial disputes/family disputes

(b) Commercial offences

(c) Medical negligence cases

(d) Corruption cases

(e) Cases where there is abnormal delay/laches in initiating criminal prosecution, for example, over 3 months delay in reporting the matter without satisfactorily explaining the reasons for delay. The aforesaid are only illustrations and not exhaustive of all conditions which may warrant preliminary inquiry.

(vii) While ensuring and protecting the rights of the accused and the complainant, a preliminary inquiry should be made time bound and in any case it should not exceed 7 days. The fact of such delay and the causes of it must be reflected in the General Diary entry.

(viii) Since the General Diary/Station Diary/Daily Diary is the record of all information received in a police station, we direct that all information relating to cognizable offences, whether resulting in registration of FIR or leading to an inquiry, must be mandatorily and meticulously reflected in the said Diary and the decision to conduct a preliminary inquiry must also be reflected, as mentioned above.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

With above directions Constitution Bench disposed of reference and directed to list all matters before appropriate Bench for disposal on merits. Lalita Kumari Vs. Govt of U.P. 2013(3) Law Summary (S.C.)179 = 2014(1) ALD(Crl) 159 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 6386 = AIR 2014 SC 187 = 2014(1) SCC (Cri) 524 = 2013(2) SCC 1.

—Secs.154, 157 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.217 & 379 - Delay in registering FIR - Petitioner made complaint to respondent SHO on 27-6-2011 and same is kept in Cold storage - Writ petition filed questioning inaction of SHO in registering FIR - When case came up before High Court on 26-11-2013 and after underwent four adjournments High Court has expressed its dismay at inaction of SHO and passed order directing respondent 3 & 4 C.I and SHO to be personally present before Court to explain reason for not registering FIR dispite law laidown by Apex Court and High Court - Apex Court reiterated legal possession in no uncertain terms and gave following directions.

(i) Registration of FIR is mandatory under Section 154 of the Code, if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary enquiry is permissible in such a situation.

(ii) If the information received does not disclose a cognizable offence but indicates the necessity for an inquiry, a preliminary inquiry may be conducted only to ascertain whether cognizable offence is disclosed or not.

(iii) If the inquiry discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, the FIR must be registered. In cases where preliminary inquiry ends in closing the complaint, a copy of the entry of such closure must be supplied to the first informant forthwith and not later than one week. It must disclose reasons in brief for closing the complaint and not proceeding further.

(iv)The police officer cannot avoid his duty of registering offence if cognizable offence is disclosed. Action must be taken against erring officers who do not register the FIR if information received by him discloses a cognizable offence.

(v) The scope of preliminary inquiry is not to verify the veracity or otherwise of the information received but only to ascertain whether the information reveals any cognizable offence.

(vi) As to what type and in which cases preliminary inquiry is to be conducted will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. The category of cases in which preliminary inquiry may be made are as under :(a) Matrimonial disputes/family disputes (b) Commercial offences (c) Medical negligence cases (d) Corruption cases (e) Cases where there is abnormal delay/laches in initiating criminal prosecution, for example, over 3 months delay in reporting the matter without satisfactorily explaining the reasons for delay.

The aforesaid are only illustrations and not exhaustive of all conditions which may warrant preliminary inquiry.

(vii) While ensuring and protecting the rights of the accused and the complainant, a preliminary inquiry should be made time bound and in any case is should not exceed 7 days. The fact of such delay and the causes of it must be reflected in the General Diary entry.

(viii) Since the general Diary/Station Diary/Daily Diary is the record of all information received in a police station, we direct that all information relating to cognizable offences, whether resulting in registration of FIR or leading to an inquiry, must be mandatorily and meticulously reflected in the said Diary and the decision to conduct a preliminary inquiry must also be reflected, as mentioned above." (Emphasis added).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

Court comprehended as to why Police in State have been turning a blind eye to above well settled legal possession and forcing innocent citizens to resort to invoking extraordinary jurisdiction of High Court under Art.226 of Constitution of India - Victims are vexed and High Court is disgusted with the attitudy of Police - High Court felt that it is high time that Director General of Police take stern measures against SHOs responsible not registering FIRs where complaints disclosed commission of cognizable offence - DGP directed to forthwith issue circular to all SHOs in State where in incorporate guideliens for registration of cases in consonce with provisions of Sec.154 as explained by Supreme Court and High Court of A.P. - Guide lines must include criminal action to be taken against erring SHOs u/Sec.217 IPC as prescribed in Police manual - Found, no justification what so ever for 4th respondent SHO for keeping complaint pending for nearly 2 1/2 years and respondent no.2 is directed to pay petitioner cost of Rs.20,000/- and further directed to identify SHO who is responsible for non-registration of complaint by petitioner and initiate appropriate proceedings against him as per Police manual and recover from him cost paid by him to petitioner - Writ petition, allowed. T.V.G. Chandrasekhar Vs. State of A.P. 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 162 = 2014(1) ALD(Crl) 507 (AP) = 2014(2) ALT (Crl) 6 (AP).

—Secs.154,157,173 & 482 - POLICE STANDING ORDERS (PSO), 861.1, 1028 and 1031 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.14, 20,21 & 22 - Appellant leased his premises to 1st respondent for carrying on business of jewellary - Appellants illegally broke open shop locks and looted stocks worth about Rs.10 lakhs and certain cash and also lease agreement and some other documents - Since SHO did not take any action on report given by 1st respondent, he sent report to Commissioner of Police and also made representation to Home Minister marking copies to DGP and CP - Thereafter, SHO except registering FIR, did not take any action - Single Judge of High Court allowed writ petition directing DGP and CP to entrust investigation to CBCID for expeditious completion and filing of report before Court - Appellants contend that without there being any formidable reasons and grave situation, investigation cannot be entrusted to a different agency ignoring Police and that single Judge ought not to have entertained writ petition when appellants are not made parties to proceedings and that directions issued by Court is in violation of principles of natural justice - No human right vested in accused to be informed early that a crime is being registered against him or her or a crime is being investigated and/or a registered crime is being transferred from one agency to another agency for purpose of investigation and that no accused can be heard to say that he has not been issue notice before registering crime or entrustring investigation to an agency other than regular Police - Contention that non-joinder and denial of opportunity before transferring case to CBCID is palpable error that invalidates impugned mandamus, is without any merit - No accused can legitimately make out a grievance if investigation is entrusted to specialist agency

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

- One cannot lose sight of fact that criminal investigation and criminal trial are intended to know truth and protect rights of innocent and not intended always to bring innocent to book and in that view of matter appellants are not necessary parties and there non-joinder in writ petition does not in any manner vitiated impugned order - There cannot be any denial that person accused of offence is a fundamental right of fair trial - It cannot be achieved without an independent investigation and prosecution which is a linchpin of criminal justice administration - When High Court discovers that investigation and prosecution lack requisite independence and impartiality, it becomes duty of Court to give proper directions - It is in this context that Court requires power to direct CBI or CBCID to investigate offences - High Court can give directions to a Central Agency for enforcement of fundamental rights by taking up fair and impartial investigation - Indeed in appropriate cases, even Magistrate competent to take cognizance of offences can direct re-investigation in appropriate situations - Single Judge considering matter recorded finding of fact that investigation so far "reveals utter lack of seriousness on part of SHO and he does not appear to maintain neutral pastures and it discloses some what biased approach towards accused" - Order of learned single Judge - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Uppalapati Nirupa Rani Vs. Koganti Lakshmi 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 12 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl) 907 (AP) = 2010(3) ALT (Crl) 332 (AP).

—Secs.154, 161 & 162 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.106 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.302, r/w Sec.120-B & 121 - 9 accused persons tried for an offence u/Secs.302 etc., r/w Sec.121-B - Trial Court convicted appellant/accused, High Court dismissed appeal filed by appellants - Appellants contend that delay in lodging FIR often results in embellishment as well as introduction a coloured version or exaggerated story and FIR loses its value and authenticity - Delay in examination of a witness in Course of investigation if not properly explained creates a serious doubt about reliabiity of evidence of witness - Delay of two months and 21 days to lodge complaint to Direct General of Police had been explained and this is not a case where prosecution case could be disbelieved on ground of delay in lodging of FIR - Explanation u/Sec.162 Cr.P.C provides that an omission to state a fact or circumstance in statement recorded by Police Officer u/Sec.161 Cr.P.C may amount to contradiction if same appears to be significant and otherwise relevant having regard to context in which such omission occurs and whether any omission amounts to contradiction in particular context shall be question of fact - Thus, unless omission in statement recorded u/Sec.161 of witness to signficant and relevant having regard to context in which omission occurs it will not amount to a contradiction to evidence of witness recorded in Court - Trial Court and High Court had rightly considered these omissions as not material omission amounting to contradiction covered by explanation u/Sec.162 Cr.P.C - Therefore, High Court rightly maintained conviction of appellants u/Secs.364 & 452 IPC - In this case, appellant contends that there is no evidence what so ever on record to show that 7 persons alleged to have been abducted by appellants have been killed by appellants - Evidence adduced by P.Ws.3 to 6 is that 7 persons abducted by appellants were found in different police stations and also in residential quarters near Police Station and on this evidence Court cannot held that two appellants have killed 7 abducted persons only because 7 persons have not been traced or are found missing - When 7 persons abducted by appellants did not show missing immediately after their abduction and were found in different police stations, Court cannot hold 7 abducted persons were last in custody of appellants accused and hence they must discharge burden u/Sec. 106 of Evidence Act, and must explain what they did to abducted persons - Prosecution should have examined witnesses from amongst police personnel or Police Station to establish that 7 abducted persons were last in custody of appellants - In absence of such evidence finding of guilt recorded by trial Court and High Court u/Sec.302 IPC against appellants accused, not correct either on facts or on law - Appeals, partly allowed. Baldev Singh Vs. State of Punjab 2013(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 87.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.154, 161,173 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, Sec.2(c) - TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, Sec.106 - Lady tenant of flat filed suit against her land lord seeking perpetual injunction - Suit decreed - Suit filed by landlord for eviction of landlady dismissed - Thereafter writ petitioner land lady rushed to police station complaining of trespass physical assult, attempt to rape and forcible eviction by land lord - Investigating Officer visited apartment found petitioner/ tenant's belongings strewn on payment outside apartment building - Without even examining complainant and having failed even to note outcome of two suits which ended in favour of tenant, investigating Officer at behest of Asst. Commissioner of Police prepared draft final report stating that complaint "lacked evidence" - As per the version of Investigating Officer that tenant had vacated apartment on her own volition and complaint against 3rd respondent/landlord of trespass, attempt to rape assult etc., lacked evidence or, in other words complaint was false - Petitioner, house wife aged 32 years filed present writ petition to declare failure of 1st respondent/ Commissioner of police to take action on her representation illegal and arbitrary - In this case, records revealed that then Investigating Officer examined complainant and had recorded detailed statement on very date of registration of FIR and said statement was misplaced and he was tendering his apology to High Court for misplacing statement of petitioner - Both Investigating Officer and Asst. Commissioner of Police who approved proposal for closure were present in Court and their statements were recorded on being asked whether a draft final report had been submitted to judicial Officer, Asst. Commissioner of Police expressed ignorance and sought to ascertain position from SHO - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.226 - High Court is not deprived of its jurisdiction to entertain petition under Art.226 merely because, in considering petitioner's right of relief question of facts may fall to be determined - High Court has jurisdiction to try issues both of fact and law - On consideration of nature of controversy High Court can decide that it should go into disputed questions of fact - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.21 - Art.21 in its broad application not only takes within folds enforcement of rights of an accused but also right of victim - State has a duty to enforce human rights of citizen providing for fair and impartial investigation against any person accused of commission of cognizable offence - If deficiency in investigation is visible or can be perceived by lifting veil which hides realities or covers obvious differences, Court has to deal with them with an iron hand within frame work of law - It is duty of Court to ensure that full and material facts are brought on record to avoid miscarriage of justice - Justice delivery system cannot be allowed to be abused, misused and mutilated by subterfuge - Where Court comes to conclusion that there are serious irregularities in investigation or that investigation has been done with object of helping a party it may direct further investigation - Where non-interference of Court would ultimately result in failure of justice, Court must interfere - In such a situation, it may be in interest of justice that an independent agency chosen by High Court makes a fresh investigation - Stream of justice has to be kept clear and pure and any one soiling its purity must be dealt with sternly so that message perculates loud and clear that no one can be permitted to undermine dignity of Court and interfere with due course of judicial proceedings or administration of justice - Registrar General of High Court directed forthwith to initiate suo motu criminal contempt proceedings under Contempt of Courts Act against Police Officials/ personal and 3rd respondent landlord. Anjali Jain Vs.Commissioner of Police, Hyderabad 2012(1) Law Summary 266 = 2012(2) ALD (Crl) 45(AP) = 2012(4) ALT 641.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.154 & 162 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.304 - "Telephonic information" regarding death of person" - "Defective Investigation" - "Delayed examination of witness" - "Discrepancy in deposition of witness" - Trial Judge rejected contention that Telephonic intimation given by P.W. 3 must be treated as FIR for purpose of Sec.154 Cr.P.C and consequently complaint lodged by P.W.1 could not be FIR and contends there of would be hit by Sec.162 Cr.P.C holding that ingredient of Sec.154 of Cr.P.C were not made out and telephonic message given by an unknown person with regard to death of another unknown person could not be treated as FIR - A bare reading of Sec.154 makes it clear that even though oral information given by an Office incharge of Police Station can be treated as FIR, yet some procedural formalities are required to be completed, including reducing information in writing and reading it over to informant and obtaining his or her signature on transcribed information - It is well settled by series of decisions rendered by Apex Court that a cryptic telephonic information cannot be treated as an F.I.R. - INVESTIGATION - Delayed examination of witnesses will not vitiate prosecution case - Delay per se may not be a clinching factor but when there is a whole range of facts that need to be explained but cannot be then cumulative of all facts would have an impact on case of prosecution - In investigation results in real culprit of offence not being defined, then acquittal of accused must follow - It would not be permissible to ignore defects in investigation and hold an innocent person guilty of an offence which has not committed - Investigation must be precise and focused and must lead to inevitable conclusion that accused has committed crime

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

- If Investigation Officer leaves glaring loopholes in investigation, defence would be fully entitled to exploit lacunae - In such a situation it could not be correct for prosecution to argue that Court should gloss over gaps and find accused person guilty and if this were permitted in law prosecution could have an innocent person put behind bars on trumped up charges and hence, this is impermissible - Conviction of appellant/ accused for offence of murder of deceased, set aside - However he is guilty of offence punishable under second part of Sec.304 of IPC. Surajit Sarkar Vs. State of West Bengal, 2013(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 1 = 2013(1) ALD (Crl) 568 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 648 = 2013 Cri. LJ 1137 (SC) = 2013(1) SCC (Crl) 877 = 2013(2) SCC 146 = AIR 2013 SC 807.

—Secs.154 & 313 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.376 (2)(g) & 363 and 366 - "Delay in filing FIR" - Trial Court convicted accused for offences u/Secs.363, 376 (2)(g) and 368 of IPC - High Court dismissed appeals and judgment of conviction as awarded by trial Court was upheld - Hence appellant filed present Appeal - DELAY IN FILING FIR - Once a reasonable explanation is rendered by prosecution, then mere delay in lodging of F.I.R would not prove fatal to case of prosecution - MATERIAL CONTRADICTIONS IN STATEMENTS OF PROSECUTION WITNESSES - Every small discrepancy or minor contradictions which may erupt in statement of witness because of lapse of time, keeping in view educational and other background of witness, cannot be treated as fatal to case of prosecution - Court must examine statement in its entirety correct perspective and in light of attendant circumstances brought on record by prosecution - COMMON INTENTION TO COMMIT OFFENCE OF RAPE - On proof of common intention of group of persons which would be of more than one to commit offence of rape, actual act of rape by even one individual forming group would fasten guilt on other members of group, although he or they have not committed rape on victim or victims - Direct proof of common intention is seldom available and therefore such intention can only be inferred from circumstances appearing from proved facts of case and proved circumstance - In this case, there is no evidence that there was common concert or common intention or meeting of minds prior to commission of offence between two accused - Judgment of trial Court convicting accused u/Sec.376 (2) (g), set aside and appellant is acquitted of said charge - However his conviction u/Sec.368 of IPC and sentence awarded by High Court is maintained. Om Prakash Vs. State of Haryana 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 83 = 2012(1) ALD(Crl) 148(SC) = AIR 2011 SC 2682 = 2011 Cri. LJ 4225 (SC) = 2011 AIR SCW 4245 = 2012(3) SCC(Cri) 1319 = 2011(14) SCC 309.

—Secs.155 & 482 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.355, 323 & 506 - Police registered case against petitioner allegedly committed offence u/Secs.355,323 & 506 of IPC - Police investigating case - Petitioner/accused contends that Police has no right to investigate non-cognizable offence without directions from concerned Magistrate and that very investigation is bad, as offences alleged against petitioner are non-cognizable offences - 2nd Respondent/defacto complainant contends that failure of Police to obtain prior permission of Magistrate is a curable defect and same cannot be a ground to quash proceedings - In view of clear mandate of Sec.155 Cr.P.C,

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

Police are not entitled to investigate a non-cognizable offence without prior permission of Magistrate concerned - Admittedly in this case, there is no such permission - Therefore very investigation in this case is bad, as it suffers from illegality - Charge sheet in CC, on file of Magistrate, quashed - Criminal petition, allowed. Y.Muralinadha Reddy Vs. State 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 94 = 2014(1) ALD (Crl) 146 (AP) = 2014(1) ALT (Crl) 14 (AP).

—Secs.156, 157 & 159 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.302, r/w 149 and 449 - "Powers of Police Officers to investigate congnizable cases" - "Delay in sending FIR" - Sessions Judge convicting 12 accused for committing murder of two persons - High Court confirmed conviction and sentence imposed on 5 accused and acquitted rest of accused by giving benefit of doubt - Trial Court observed that keeping in view of serious and tense situation in village because of murder of three persons entire staff of Police Station sent to maintain law and order problem in village and there is no delay in lodging FIR with Police and that delay in sending FIR to Magistrate was due to shortage of Police personnel - High Court held that delay in sending FIR not deliberate and intentional - Contention that FIR was anti-timed and anti-dated and that delay of 16 hours in sending FIR to Magistrate would cast a serious doubt of its correctness - Explanation, as recorded by trial Court, no cogent and convincing reasons are found for doubting correctness or truthfulness of FIR which was promptly lodged in Police Station - Since delay is satisfactorily explained, not fatal to case of prosecution - EVIDENCE OF INTERESTED WITNESSES - Mere relationship of witnesses cannot be sole basis to discard or disbelieve their evidence if it is otherwise found to be believable and trustworthy - If evidence of any interested witness or a relative on a careful scrutiny is found to be consistent and trustworthy, free from infirmities or any embellishment there is no reason not to place reliance on same - In this case, evaluation of findings recorded by High Court do not suffer from any manifest error and mis-appreciation of evidence on record - Findings of High Court in convicting 5 accused as real culprits and their conviction and sentence - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Bathula Nagamalleswara Rao Vs. State rep. by PP 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 117 = 2008(1) ALD (Crl.) 944(SC) = 2008(3) Supreme 129.

—Secs.156 & 482 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Arts.21 & 226 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.397,398 r/w Sec.402 -'Power of Police Officers in field of investigation of cognizable offences" - Company petition - Disputes regarding breach of Joint Ventures - Criminal cases filed against appellants - POWER OF POLICE OFFICERS - Power of Police Officers in field of investigation of a cognizable offence is not unlimited - However, power during investigation must be exercised strictly with limitation prescribed in Criminal Procedure Code and such power may not result in destroying personal freedom of a citizen - In this case, after dispute was finally settled by Company Law Board and High Court in appeal respondent approached Economic Offences Wing, who refused to entertain complaint - Respondent then moved complaint before Judicial Magistrate for initiating criminal action against appellant for breach of contract, which was dismissed by Magistrate holding same as nothing but to take vengence and further held that if conditions of agreement are violated respondent has to seek remedy under Contract Act or Company Law instead of filing criminal case - Suppressing said complaint and order passed by Magistrate respondent again filed a complaint before another Judicial Magistrate for initiating criminal action against appellant for breach of contract and conspiracy - In this case, although FIR was registered, but a closure report as a mistake of fact was prepared - High Court while passing order observed that Court would frown upon conduct of complainant in indulging in repeated harassment of petitioners/appellants - Irrespective of dispute with regard to closure of case, a fresh life was given to criminal case at instance of Superintendent of Police, who directed re-investigation in said criminal proceedings irrespective of FIR, appellants were harassed on technicalities, various orders for surrender, arrest and their detention had been passed - High Court dismissed all writ petitions observing that modus operandi of writ petitioner/1st respondent was to defraud person or entity and thereafter approached Courts with multiple proceedings in order to destract attention from his own misdeeds - In this case, neither High Court nor Magisterial Court have never applied their mind and considered conduct of respondent and continuance of criminal proceedings in respect of disputes which are civil in nature and finally adjudicated by competent authority i.e., Company Law Board and High Court in appeal - Complainant has manipulated and misused process of Court so as to deprive appellants from their basic right to move free any where inside or out side Country and more over it would be unfair if appellants are to be tried in such criminal proceedings arising out of alleged breach of Joint Venture Agreement, specially when such disputes have been finally resolved by Court of competent jurisdiction - Hence allowing criminal proceedings out of said FIR to continue would be an abuse of process of Court and therefore for ends of justice such proceedings ought to be quashed - Since High Court failed to lock into this particular aspect of matter while passing impugned order and same is unsustainable in law. Chandran Ramaswami Vs. State 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 193.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.156(3) - Complaint filed against appellant's Company for several irregularities regarding granting of loans - Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Ahamabad, directed investigating Agency to carry out investigation - Investigating Agency submitted report stating that allegations complained of had been committed within territorial limits of city of Mumbai and that investigation should, therefore, be transferred to Investigating Agency in Mumbai - Investigating Agency was only required to state outcome of investigation pursuant to an order u/Sec.156(3) Cr.P.C and that it had no authority to state which Court had jurisdiction to enquire into alleged offence - High Court dismissed writ petition filed by appellant - It is open to Magistrate to direct investigation u/Sec.156(3) Cr.P.C without taking cognizance on complaint and where an investigation is undertaken at instance of Magistrate a Police Officer empowered under sub-sec.(1) of Sec.156 is bound to conduct such investigation even if he was of view that he did not have jurisdiction to investigate matter - Appeal, dismissed. Rasiklal Dalpatram Thakkar Vs. State of Gujarat 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 158.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.156(3), 155(2), 199(1) and 200 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.499 and 500 - Complaints filed by Inspector and Sub-Inspector before Magistrate against petitioner/ accused for offence u/Sec.499 and 500 IPC for defamatory publication against Police Officers in EEENADU Daily Telugu News paper - Magistrate referred complaints to Police u/Sec.156(3) Cr.P.C. - Petitioners contend that ordering investigation by Magistrate in a non-cognizable offence is bad in law and for said offence there is a bar u/Sec.199 Cr.P.C to take cognizance unless complaint is filed by aggrieved person - In present case, admittedly offence alleged is u/Sec.499 and 500 IPC and there is a bar u/ Sec.199(1) Cr.P.C as per which, complaint should be filed only by aggrieved person - A charge sheet filed by Police Officer cannot be called as a complaint filed u/Sec.200 Cr.P.C and investigation proceeded by Police Officer u/Sec.155(2) and (3) would serve no purpose even if charge sheet is filed before Court concerned in view of bar u/ Sec.199(1) Cr.P.C. - Complainants have approached Court with a proper prayer, where as Magistrate has referred same u/Sec.156 (3) Cr.P.C - Hence, complainants are directed to file fresh complaints and that limitation should be condoned in view of fact that already respondents have set law in motion and also they filed complaints within period of limitation - Magistrate is at liberty to take cognizance if said complaints disclose any offence and that complaints are in accordance with provisions of law. K.Venkateswarlu Vs. R.G.Subramanyam 2011(2) Law Summary 182.

—Secs.156(3), 161, 200, 203, 204,199 & 482 - Respondent/complainant filed a private complaint against petitioners accused for offence u/Sec.427, 447 and 448 IPC - Magistrate referred matter to Police for investigation u/Sec.156(3) - Police investigated and submitted report stating that it is a mistake of fact and law - On filing of protest petition by complainant, Magistrate recorded sworn statement of complainant and two more witnesses on his behalf, dismissed complaint u/Sec.203 holding that it is not a fit case for taking cognizance - Sessions Judge, set aside order of Magistrate holding that dismissal of complaint by Magistrate is misconceived - Petitioner contends that Sessions Judge though ordered notice to them and permitted them to appear before Court, has not permitted to advance any arguments which is contrary to established canons of law and that trial Court rightly held that complaint filed by respondent is not maintainable for reason that complainant did not obtain necessary sanction as provided u/Sec.199 Cr.P.C. - When complaint filed by respondent was dismissed, and matter was carried by Sessions Court by filing revision petition invoking provisions Secs.397, 399 Cr.P.C Court issued notices to them - Simply because 1st respondent had shown petitioners as respondents therein, and Court below issued notices to them, they do not get any locus standi - It is only when trial Court after examination of complaint u/Sec.200 Cr.P.C issue process as provided u/Sec.204 Cr.P.C, then only petitioners come into picture and their remedy is altogether different - If it is a warrant case, they can file application seeking discharge or they may approach High Court u/Sec.482 - Revision is not maintainable. R.Rama Krishna Rao Vs. K.Ramanaiah 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 270 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl) 38 (AP) = 2011(1) ALT (Crl.) 4 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—-Secs.156(3), 173, 202, and 2(h) – "Powers of Magistrate to give directions to police after complaint referred under Section 156 (3) for investigation" - Defacto-complainant filed complaint against accused for offences u/Secs.420,406,r/w 34, and 120(b) of I.P.C. - Magistrate referred complaint U/Sec. 156(3) of Cr.P.C. and police registered case - While investigation is going on defacto-complainant filed petition u/Sec. 156(3) requesting court to direct police to incorporate Secs. 409, and 477 (A) of I.P.C. - Petitioner/Accused contends that when once, court forwarded complaint to police U/Sec. 156(3) Cr.P.C. for registration of F.I.R. and investigation, it will be prerogative of Police, to conduct investigation and either to file charge sheet or refer report and during course of investigation, Judicial intervention is unwarranted and impermissible under law - State and defacto-complainant contends that Magistrate's order directing police to incorporate additional sections of offences in FIR tantamounts to intruding into domain of investigation and therefore, said order is vitiated by abuse of process of law - State and defacto-complainant contends that Magistrate only instructed police to add some more Sections of Offences and conduct investigation and submit report as to whether offences mentioned in FIR are committed by accused or not – That does not mean Magistrate has intruded into domain of investigation - Police have every liberty to conduct investigation and file ultimate report as per law – Therefore, Magistrate was within his right under Sec.156 (3) of Cr.P.C. to give such a direction - Apex court in its decision reported in Dilwar Singh V. State of Delhi (2007 Criminal Law Journal ,4709)- "That Although Sec.156(3) is very briefly worded, there is an implied power in Magistrate u/Sec. 156(3) Cr.P.C. to order registration of a Criminal Offence and or to direct the officer in charge of concerned police station to hold a proper investigation and take all such necessary steps that may be necessary for ensuring proper investigation including monitoring same - Even though these powers have not been expressly mentioned in Sec.156(3) Cr.P.C., they are implied in the above provision" - In instant case, Magistrate under impugned order directed police to add Sec. 409 and 477-A I.P.C. to F.I.R and investigate and file report and that by this order Magistrate has not committed any judicious over reaches and impermissible penetration into domain of investigation and prerogative of Police to investigation has been kept intact, but they were only asked to investigate whether accused have in fact committed offences, under newly added Sections including ones which are already referred – Act of Magistrate, justified – Criminal petition, dismissed. Aknuri Kankaraj Vs. State of Telangana 2015(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 507 = 2015(2) ALD (Crl) 94 = 2015(3) ALT (Crl) 245 (AP).

—Secs.156(3) & 202 - Powers of Magistrate taking cognizance of offence - Stated - Powers u/Sec.156(3) can be invoked by Magistrate at a pre-cognizance stage, where as powers u/Sec.202 of Code are to be invoked after cognizance is taken on a complaint but before issuance of process - Any Judicial Magistrate, before taking cognizance of offence can order investigation u/Sec.156(3) of Code and in doing so, he is not required to examine complaint since he was not taking cognizance of any offence therein for purpose of enabling Police to start investigation - Once Magistrate takes cognizance of offence, he is, thereafter precluded from ordering investigation u/Sec.156(3) of Code. Rameshbhai Pandurao Hedau Vs. State of Gujarat 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 175.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.161 & 164 - EVIDENCE ACT, Secs.134,157 & 9 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.201 r/w 120-B & 302 - Sessions Judge convicted appellant accused u/Sec.302 r/w Sec.120-B of IPC - High Court dismissed Appeal preferred by appellant - Hence present Appeal - Evidence given in a Court under oath has great sanctity, which is why same is called substantiative evidence - Statements u/Sec.161 can be used only for purpose of contradiction and statement u/Sec.164 Cr.P.C can be used for both corroboration and contradiction - In a case where Magistrate has to perform duty of recording statement u/Sec.164, he is under an obligation to elicit all information which witness wishes to disclose, as witness who may be an illiterate, rustic villager may not be aware of purpose for which he has been brought, and what he must disclose in his statements u/Sec.164 Cr.P.C - Hence, Magistrate should ask witness explanatory questions and obtain all possible information in relation to case - So far as statement of witnesses recorded u/Sec.164 is concerned object is two fold; in first place, to deter to witness from changing his stand by denying contents of his previously recorded statement, and secondly to tide over immunity from prosecution by witness u/Sec.164 - A proposition to effect that if a statement of witness is recorded u/Sec.164, his evidence in Court should be discarded is not at all warranted - "MOTIVE" is primarily known to accused himself and therefore, it may not be possible for prosecution to explain what actually prompted or excited accused to commit a particular crime - In a case of circumstantial evidence, motive may be considered as a circumstance which is a relevant factor for purpose of assessing evidence in event that there is no unambiguous evidence to prove guilt of accused - "Motive" loses all significance in a case of direct evidence provided by eye witnesses, where same is available, for reason that in such a case, absence or inadequacy of motive cannot stand in way of conviction - "APPRECIATION OF EVIDENCES" - It is not number of witnesses, but quality of their evidence which is important, as there is no requirement in law of evidence stating that a particular number of witnesses must be examined in order to prove/disprove a fact - It is a time honoured principle, that evidence must be weighed and not counted - Test is whether evidence as a ring of truth, is cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise - Legal system has laid emphasis on value provided by each witness as opposed to multiplicity or plurality of witnesses - It is thus, quality and not quantity which determines adequacy of evidence, as has been provided by Sec.134 of Evidence Act - It is settled legal proposition that conviction of a person accused of committing offence, is generally based solely on evidence that is either oral or documentary, but in exceptional circumstances such conviction may also be based solely on circumstantial evidence for which prosecution must establish its case beyond reasonable doubt and cannot derive any strength from weakness in defence put up by accused - CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY - A criminal conspiracy hatched in secrecy, owing to which, direct evidence is difficult to obtain - Therefore offence can be proved either by adducing circumstantial evidence or by way of necessary implication - In order to constitute offence of conspiracy, it is not necessary that person involved has knowledge of all stages of action - In fact mere knowledge of main object/purpose of conspiracy would warrant attraction of relevant criminal provision - Thus an agreement between two persons to do, or to cause an illegal act, is basic requirement of offence of conspiracy under penal statute - When a statement recorded in Court and witness speaks under oath, after he understands sanctity of oath taken by him either in name of God or religion, it is left to Court to appreciate his evidence u/Sec.3 of Evidence Act - Basis for appreciating evidence in a civil or criminal cases remain same - However, in view of fact that in criminal case, life and liberty of person is involved, by way of judicial interpretation, Courts have created requirement of high degree of proof - Found no merit in appeal - Appeal, dismissed. R.Shaji Vs. State of Kerala 2013(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 113 = 2013(2) ALD (Crl) 153 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 1095 = AIR 2013 SC 651.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.161,340 and 482 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.193 - Accused charged for offence u/Sec.332 IPC basing on report of petitioner - Petitioner/de facto- complainant was examined as P.W.1 - During course of evidence petitioner stated before Court that he cannot identify accused due to delay - Magistrate having found evidence of de facto-complainant i.e., petitioner, was hostility towards accused, lodged complaint - In this case, petitioner/de facto-complainant having lodged report to Police, could not able to identify accused due to delay - He did not deviate his version before Court to earlier version stated before Police u/Sec.161 Cr.P.C. - It is well settled law that Sec.161 Cr.P.C statement is not admissible in evidence - Simply because he is complainant, who shown hostility towards accused, it cannot be said that complainant committed any offence much less against his own case - As such it cannot be said that P.W.1 committed an offence u/Sec.193 IPC - Criminal prosecution cannot be initiated merely on ground that witness has taken different stand from his statement u/Sec.161 Cr.P.C without taking in to consideration of various facts - Proceedings in C.C are liable to be quashed - Criminal petition, allowed. Seshapu Bhujanga Rao Vs. State 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 188 = 2011(2) ALD (Crl) 547 (AP) = 2011(2) ALT (Crl.) 239 (AP).

—Sec.167(2)(a)(ii) - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sces.498,366,342 & 506 - Petitioner is an accused for offence punishable under provisions of IPC and he is in Judicial Custody for 77 days - Magistrate returned Bail Application on ground that Bail application u/Sec.167(2)(a) of Cr.P.C. has to be filed after 90 days from the date of Judicial custody - Hence present Criminal Revision case - In the present case punishment provide for u/Sec.366 of IPC is "which may extend to 10 years and also fine" - It can vary from minimum to Maximum of 10 years and it cannot be said that imprisonment prescribed is less than 10 years - Therefore, Magistrate has fallen into error in returning petition filed u/

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

Sec.167(2)(a)(ii) of Cr.P.C - Since petitioner is in Judicial Custody for 77 days, he is entitled for statutory bail u/Sce.167(2)(a)(ii) of Cr.P.C. as charge sheet not filed within prescribed period of 60 days - Criminal case allowed - Petitioner is ordered to be released on bail on his executing a personal bond for Rs.10,000/-. Byagar Mallesh Vs. State of A.P. 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 185 = 2014(1) ALD (Crl) 745 (AP) = 2014(2) ALT (Crl) 223 (AP).

—Secs.173 & 167 - Petitioners charge sheeted for offences u/Secs.302, 376, 379 & 201 IPC - Petition filed u/Sec.167 (2) Cr.P.C seeking release of petitioners on ground that on expiry of 90 days remand period they are entitled to enlarge on bail, as Police failed to file report before expiry of 90 days - Magistrate dismissed petition holding that charge sheet was file though it was named as preliminary charge sheet, no where it was mentioned in charge sheet that "the investigation is not yet completed and after completion of full investigation another charge sheet will be filed" - Petitioners contend that they were arrested on 30-10-2008 and remanded to judicial custody by Magistrate on 30-1-2008, filing of charge sheet on 29-1-2009 after expiry of 90 days of remand period, which was returned by Court on same day and same has not been represented before Court till date and that once requirement of Sec.173(2)& (5) Cr.P.C has not been complied with petitioners are entitled to be enlarged on bail, as a matter of right as required u/Sec.167(2) Cr.P.C.

Single Judge referred matter to Division Bench for authoritative pronouncement.

In this case, as seen from charge sheet, two requirements u/Sec.173(2) (5) have been complied with - Though it is clearly mentioned in preliminary charge sheet as to what remains to be done in investigation, it cannot be said that preliminary charge sheet is filed to defeat rights of accused - Once charge sheet is filed within 90 days, but was returned for compliance of certain technical objections of not filing expert's opinion, is a proper compliance under Sec.173(2) and same will not confer any right on accused to seek bail as a matter of right - Even in a case where charge sheet is filed after 90 days, but before accused seeks bail availing benefit under proviso to Sub-sec.(2) of Sec.167, is indefeasible right will be extinguished on filing such charge sheet - Criminal petition, dismissed - Petitioner is at liberty to move regular bail Application. Venkatarayanakota Krishnappa Vs. State of A.P. 2009(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2009(1) ALD(Crl) 818(AP) = 2009(2) APLJ 268 = 2009(2) ALT(Crl) 191(AP) = 2009 Cri. LJ 3168(AP).

—Secs.173 & 482 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.73 & 45 - CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.20 (3) - Petitioner/A1 charged for offences punishable u/Secs.417, 420,376 & 506 - Sub-Divisional Police Officer filed petition requesting Court to record original voice of petitioner/A1 and victim for forwarding same to A.P.F.S.L for comparison with Compact Disc (CD) allegedly containing voices/conversations of A-1 and victim recorded by cell phone - Trial Court allowed petition permitting to record voices of A1 and victim in open Court - Petitioner contends that directing A1/petitioner to give sample voice for purpose of comparison of same with alleged voice contained in CD

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

offends his fundamental right under Art.20 (3) of Constitution - Prosecution contends that petitioner/A1 is not willing to give his sample voice for purpose of comparison with voice contained in CD, then he may be permitted to do so subject to lower Court drawing adverse inference on his refusal to give his sample voice and that recording sample voice of accused in Court, does not violate Art.20 (3) of Constitution of India - Exercise of recording of sample voices of A-1 and victim in open Court is not going to incriminate A-1 on basis of such sample voice, but only facilitates Investigation Officer and Court to identify voice contained in CD which is already in possession of Investigating Officer - By any stretch of imagination, exercise of recording sample voice of A-1 for purpose of identifying male voice already contained in CD which is collected by Investigating Officer during investigation cannot amount to testimonial compulsion which is prohibited under Art.20(3) of Constitution - Trial Court is at liberty to proceed towards that exercise of recording sample voices of petitioner/A1 and victim - Criminal Revision petition, dismissed. Y.Ranganadh Goud Vs. State of A.P. 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 390.

—Secs.173(1)(2) & (5) and 167(2) - Petitioners/accused charged for offences u/Secs.147, 148,302,307 r/w Sec.149 IPC - "Filing of preliminary charge sheet" - Since investigation not completed as report filed u/Sec.173 Cr.P.C has been returned, petitioners have indefeasible right to be enlarged on bail u/Sec.167(2) Cr.P.C - Once charge-sheet has been filed, question of granting bail for non- compliance of sub-sec.(2) of 167does not arise - If accused files a petition before filing of charge-sheet and offers to furnish bail he is said to have availed his right - Once right is availed by accused, it will not get extinguished by subsequent filing of charge-sheet - Where in a case Investigating Officer is unable to secure some documents such as Forensic report, Ballstic Expert Report etc. and if Investigating Officer files charge-sheet enclosing all other documents as required to be filed by him under sub-secs.(2) & (5) of Sec.173, then same can be treated as filing of report u/Sec.173(1) Cr.P.C - In this case except P.M Report and wound certificates no other documents were filed along with charge sheet - Admittedly only certain documents were filed - Thus it is clear that there is total non-compliance of sub-sec.(5) of Sec.173 Cr.P.C - Action of investigating Officer in filing only P.M. Report and wound certificate cannot be treated as filing of report u/Sec.173 and such act of Investigating Officer is nothing but an act of subterfuge and clearly not in accordance with law and not in conformity with mandatory provisions of Sec.173 (2) & (5) and therefore it cannot be construed as report contemplated u/Sec.173 (1) Cr.P.C - Petitioners shall be enlarged on bail - Criminal petition, allowed. Puligada Pitcheswara Vs. State of A.P. 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 1.

—-Secs.173(2) (5)(8),167 & 309 (2) - CBI filed charge-sheet against appellant/Company for offences u/Secs.409, 420 & 120-B of IPC, after completion of investigation -Magistrate taking cognizance, specifically noting that NBW was still pending - CBI seeking remand of appellant in judicial custody u/Sec.309 (2) - Magistrate rejecting statutory bail Application filed by appellant after expiry of 30 days from date of arrest - Sessions

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

Judge allowing revision Application filed by appellant holding that Sec.309 (2) not applicable to appellant who was arrested in course of further investigation - Single Judge of High Court over turned decision of Sessions Judge holding that Sec.309(2) cannot be applied to person who was arrested in course of further investigation - Charge-sheet is a final report within meaning of Sec.173 (2) of Code - If Investigating Officer finds sufficient evidence even against such an accused who had been absconding, law does not require that filing of charge-sheet must await arrest of accused - Power of Investigating Officer to make prayer for making further investigation u/Sec.173(8) is not taken away because a charge-sheet has been filed u/Sec.173 (2) - A further investigation is permissible even if order of cognizance of offence has been taken by Magistrate - It is true that ordinarily all documents accompanying charge-sheet - Even if all documents not filed, by reason thereof submission of charge-sheet itself does not become vitiated in law - In this case, charge-sheet has been acted upon as an order of cognizance had been passed on basis thereof and appellant not questioned said order and that validity of said charge-sheet also not in question - So long as charge-sheet is not filed within meaning of Sec.173 (2) of Act, investigation remains pending - It does not preclude Investigation Officer to carry on further investigation despite filing of a police report in terms of Sec.173 (8) - Appellant has no statutory right to be released on bail - Judgment of High Court - Justified – Appeal, dismissed. Dinesh Dalmia Vs. C.B.I. 2008(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 46 = 2008(1) ALD (Crl) 331 (SC) = AIR 2008 SC 78 = 2008 Crl. LJ 337 (SC) = 2007 AIR SCW 6112 = 2007(8) SCC 770.

—Sec.173(2) & (8) - Jurisdiction of Magistrate to direct reinvestigation of case - Stated - Magistrate can take cognizance on basis of material placed on record by investigating agency - It is also permissible for Magistrate to direct further investigation - Magistrate or Superior Courts can direct further investigation, if investigation is found to be tainted and/or otherwise unfair or is otherwise necessary in ends of justice. Kishan Lal Vs. Dharmendra Bafina 2009(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 49.

—Secs.173(2) & 173(8), 190 & 319 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.420, 408,120-B/34 - Scame occurred in TTD in relatio to selling of “Poorabhishikam” tickets to piligrims - Basing on report of Asst. Vigilance Officer report/charge-sheet originally filed against A-1, A-3 & A-4 - Subsequently when Magistrate returned charge-sheet, Investigating Officer and Police Department deleted names of A-3 & A-4 from case without collecting further evidence/material about complicity of A3 & A4 - When case taken up for trial lower Court allowed petition filed by prosecution u/Sec.319 Cr.P.C to implead Special Officer, Camp-clerk and Asst.Sharoff in J.E.Os office to implead them as A2 to A4 - Hence present petitions filed by newly added accuused questioning orders of Magistrate - Petitioners contend that impugned order is not sustainable inview of several pronouncements of Supreme Court prescribing norms required for impleading an outsider as accused persons while exercising power u/Sec.319 Cr.P.C - This is subject in which entire public and more particularly those belonging to Hindu Religion in this Country who have faith in Lord have curiousity - When crimes are being committed infront of Lord and under nose of Lord, it is a matter having considerable public importance, hence this cannot be viewed lightly and cannot be allowed to be investigated superficially by producing window- dressed - Local Police at Tirumala and Chittoor District are not able to raise to occasion for their own reasons - It is therefore necessary that C.I.D of State has to investigate further into this matter in a comprehensive manner and submit a report to this Court and thereafter additional final report before Magistrate u/Sec.173(8) Cr.P.C - Cr.P.C. Secs.173(2) & 173(8) fresh investigation - Reinvestigation - Further investigation - Meaning of - Even after completion of investigation under sub-sec.(2) of Sec.173, Police has right to further investigate under sub-sec.(8), but not fresh investigation or reinvestigation - Magistrate or Superior Courts can direct further investigation, if investigation is found to be tainted and/or otherwise unfair or is otherwise necessary in ends of justice - Investigation agency can pray before Court and may be granted permission to investigate into matter further - There are no illegal fetters to High Court to order further investigation of this case, u/Sec.173(8) Cr.P.C by C.I.D of State - Pending further investigation trial of C.C in lower Court cannot go on - Hence trial of C.C on file of Magistrate stayed pending further orders on these petitions - Addl. Director General of Police C.I.D is directed to take up further investigation of this case, and entrust same to a team of competent investigating officers constituting special investigating team. A.Dharma Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2010(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 437.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.173(2) & 173(8) - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.498-A - "Filing of additional report by Investigating Officer" - Case registered against A1 to A3 u/Sec.498-A IPC basing on report given by 2nd respondent/de facto complainant, wife of A1 - After investigation Sub-Inspector filed charge- sheet against A1 only as sole accused harassing de facto complainant in charge-sheet and that witnesses stated that A1 was only harassing de facto complainant and that A1 and A3 are no way concerned and they never involved in harassment of their daughter-in-law - Subsequently, same Sub-Inspector filed memo in C.C without quoting provision of law requesting Court to treat A2 and A3 as accused in addition to A1 as they also harassed their daughter-in-law, mentally and physically in demanding additional dowry; and requesting Court to finalise case as per additional charge-sheet - In this case, it is not stated in Memo at whose instance he made further investigation in this case, after filing of report/ charge-sheet u/Sec.173(2) Cr.P.C in Court and after it was taken cognizance by Court - No permission is taken by Investigation Officer from lower Court for making further investigation - u/Sec.173 (8) Cr.P.C, it is clear that even though law does not prescribed any prior permission to be taken by Police Officer from Magistrate who already took cognizance of case for further investigation, but it is ordinarily desirable that Police to inform Court and seek formal permission to make further investigation when fresh facts come to light instead of being silent about matter - In this case, in memo filed along with additional charge-sheet, Sub-Inspector did not mention any circumstances which prompted him to take up further investigation in this case, after he filed charge-sheet u/Sec.173(2) Cr.P.C - Admittedly no formal permission was taken by S.I of Police to make further investigation in this case from Court after his final report/charge-sheet was taken on file - Apart from irregularity or illegality in not obtaining prior permission of lower Court for further investigation, there is gross impropriety on part of S.I of Police in taking up further investigation suo motu and come to conclusion which is quite opposite to conclusion which arrived at during original investigation in so far as A2 & A3 are concerned - He made a clean U-turn about complicity of A2 & A3 in this offence - S.I of Police simply abused provisions of Sec.173(8) Cr.P.C - Evidently S.I of Police has tilted from one side to another side on some extraneous consideration - Proceedings in lower Court against A2 & A3 are liable to be quashed - Petition, allowed. Lanka Vani Vs. State of A.P. 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 207.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.173(5), 173(6) & 313 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.120-B - PREVENTION OF CORRUPTION ACT, Sec.13(2) r/w 13(1) (e) - "Inspection of unmarked and unexhibited documents" - Trial Court dismissed application filed by appellant accused seeking certified copies of certain unmarked and unexhibited documents which were in custody of Court - Since High Court also dismissed criminal petition appellant/ accused filed Application before trial Court seeking inspection of said unmarked and unexhibited documents - Trial Court rejected said application and High Court also dismissed Criminal Petition - Hence, present Appeals - In this case, Investigating Officer forwarded to Court unmarked and unexhibited documents of cases, that are being demanded by accused, u/Sec.173(5) but are not being relied upon by prosecution - Though prosecution has tried to cast some cloud on issue as to whether unmarked and unexhibited documents are part of Report u/Sec.173 Cr.P.C., it is not denied by prosecution that said unmarked and unexhibited documents are presently in custody of Court - In such circumstances it can be safely assumed that what has been happened in present case is along with Report of investigation a large number of documents have been forwarded to Court out of which prosecution has relied on only on a part thereof leaving remainder unmarked and unexhibited documents - Sec.175(5) Cr.P.C makes it incumbent on Investigating agency to forward/transmit to concerned Court all documents/statements etc., on which prosecution proposes to relay in course of trial - Sec.173(5), however is subject to provisions of Sec.173(6) which confers a power on Investigating Officer to request concerned Court to exclude any part of statement or documents forwarded u/sec.173(5) from copies to be granted to accused - Object of recording statement of accused u/sec.313 of Cr.P.C is to put all incriminating evidence against accused so as to provide him an opportunity to explain such incriminating circumstances obtaining against him in evidence of prosecution - At same time, also to permit him to putforward his own version or reasons, if he so chooses in relation to his involvement or otherwise in crime - Court has been to empowered to examine accused but only after prosecution evidence has been concluded - Courts may relay on a portion of statement of accused and find him guilty in consideration of other evidence against him lead by prosecution, however, such statements made under this section should not be considered in isolation but in conjunction with evidence adduced by prosecution - In view of avowed purport and object of examination of accused u/Sec.313 Cr.P.C, appellant/accused cannot be denied access to documents inrespect of which prayers have been made in his application for certified copies of unmarked documents and for inspection before trial Court - Appellant/2nd accused, be allowed an inspection of unmarked and unexhibited documents referred in her application - Venue of such inspection and also persons who will be permitted to be present at time of inspection will be decided by trial Court. V.K.Sasikala Vs. State 2012(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 242.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.173(8) - Accused has no right to be heard at stage of investigation - Prosecution will however have to prove its case at trial when accused will have full opportunity to rebut/question validity and authenticity of prosecution case - Evidentary value can be tested during trial only. Narendra G.Goel Vs. State of Maharashtra 2009(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 176.

—Sec.173(8) and 173(2) - "Further investigation" - Case pertains to offence punishable u/Secs.147, 323, 506 and 489 etc., IPC and Secs.3(i)(x) and 3(i)(xi) of S.T & S.C Act - After investigation CID Police filed charge sheet against A1 and A5 - In charge sheet name of A4 is given as Are Lingareddy, s/o Buchi Reddy, described as Ex.M.P.P - CID Police filed charge sheet without arresting A2 to A5, without taking into custody and producing them alongwith charge sheet and without compliance of Sec.170 Cr.P.C - Present petition filed by proposed A4 in PRC - Compliance of Sec.170 Cr.P.C is a condition precedent for filing report or charge sheet and Investigating Officer is expected to file final report u/Sec.173(2) Cr.P.C after completion of investigation - Without completing investigation as prescribed by law, question of Investigating Officer resorting to Sec.173(2) Cr.P.C by way of filing final report/charge sheet before Magistrate will not arise at all - Magistrate also is not expected to take cognizance of offences mentioned therein unless investigation is complete - In this case, no reasons or given for not arresting A4 as well as A2, A3 & A5 before filing charge sheet in Magistrate Court - Inspite of it, Magistrate took cognizance of offence against A1 to A5 by way of taking case on file against A1 to A5 and after taking cognizance Magistrate issued non- bailable warrants against A2 to A5 - Investigation Agency DSP of Police filed petition u/Sec.173(8) Cr.P.C stating that on enquiry A4 Linga Reddy deposed that he was not at all concerned with said offence and was not aware of same and when Investigating Officer met de facto complainant and his family members they stated that A4 was not person involved in commission of offence and there is another Lingareddy whose name is Ganga Lingareddy - Therefore petition filed before Magistrate praying for permission for further investigation of case to ascertain which Lingareddy was real culprit and also for permission to file additional charge sheet after proper investigation - Hence Ganga Lingareddy filed present petition u/Sec.482 Cr.P.C for quashing proceedings - Simply because Are Linga Reddy is stated to have deposed to DSP who went to his house for arrest in execution of non-bailable warrant issued by Magistrate that he was not person concerned in that case, Investigating Officer should not have returned without execution of non bailable warrant by way of arresting A4 and taking him into custody - Petition file before Magistrate u/Sec.173(8) Cr.P.C reads that entire further investigation of case by way of changing identity of Lingareddy was complete - It is contended by P.P that when Investigation Officer went to A4/ Are Linga Reddy for his arrest there was agitation by public who gathered at his residence - Investigating Officer cannot be carried away by agitation but has to relay upon substance of his investigation - This is not a case, where another Linga Reddy of same village with sur name is sought to be identified in place of A4 Are Linga Reddy - Petitioner's identity is no way near to identity of A4 against whom charge sheet is already filed - Investigation Officer intended to play game of "Body Doubling" in this case, in order to facilitate A4/Are Linga Reddy to be away from this case - This sort of making a U-turn by Investigating Agency is likely to hamper credibility of said investigation itself - There may be instances of prosecution witnesses turning hostile to prosecution by not identifying accused person in dark during trial in Court and by naming another person as real culprit - This sort of activity by witnesses is resorted for helping accused during trial, but in present Investigating Officer himself wanted to turn hostile to Investigation which he made already in this case and concluding of Investigation by way of filing charge sheet before Magistrate - Such Somersaults by Investigating Officer in CID should not have been permitted by Magistrate - Further investigation in this case as against petitioner is nothing but abuse of process of law - Further investigation quashed in PRC on file of Magistrate - Criminal petition, allowed. G.Linga Reddy Vs. M.Dharma Raju, 2011(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 94 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl) 892 (AP) = 2011(2) ALT (Crl) 131 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.173(8) & 439 – CONSTITUTION OF INDIA, Art.136 & 21 – "Transfer of Investigation from State Police to CBI" - "Bail" - High Court has Discretionary Power to Transfer Investigation from State Police to CBI - Accused has no right to have any say as regards manner and method of Investigation – Save under certain exception under entire Scheme of Code, accused has no participation as a matter of right during course of investigation of case instituted on Police Report till investigation culminates in filing of final Report u/Sec.173(2) of Code in a proceeding instituted otherwise than on Police Report till process is issued u/Sec.204 of Code - GRANTING OF BAIL – After charge sheet being filed, obviously, petitioner/appellant is no longer required for further investigation and there is no likelihood of petitioner/appellant tampering with evidence as copies of all sensitive statements have not been supplied to petitioner/appellant - In this case keeping in a view that the CBI has submitted supplementary charge sheet and Trial likely to take long time, it is appropriate to enlarge petitioner/appellant on bail subject to certain conditions. Dinubhai Boghabhai Solanki Vs. State of Gujarat 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 97.

—Sec.174 – Mother committed suicide "custody of minor child" – Appellants/maternal grand parents filed OP for a custody of child and respondent/father filed another O.P – District Judge allowed O.P filed by respondent/father and dismissed O.P filed by grand parents - Appellants/grand parents contend that keeping in view of past conduct of respondent relating to suspicious death of their daughter, wife of respondent it would not be safe to trust respondent for being given custody of minor child and also alleges that respondent married 2nd wife within one year of death of his 1st wife and that appellants are looking after minor child affectionately - Respondent contends that he is being natural father of minor child, he is alone entitled for custody of child especially as nothing is established against him which disentitles him from said right of natural parent and that he is highly educated working in Engineering College as Lecturer having professional reputation to his credit and he is financially very sound and his 2nd wife is keen on looking after minor child and for that purpose she had undergone Tubectomy operation, so that she will not beget any children to ensure that minor child is not neglected - Legally natural father undoubtedly stands on a better position than maternal grand father provided there are no circumstances which disqualify father from such custody – Interest and welfare of minor child being paramount consideration, economic condition of father and status in society also needs to be assessed vis-a-vis maternal grand father - Where grand father is seeking preferential custodial right over natural father's claim for custody of minor child, it is essential for grand father to plead and establish that natural father is unfit or is otherwise disqualified from being given custody of child - On analysis of entire evidence oral documentary, respondent-father of child is highly educated and is responsible father having very comfortable financial position - There is total lack of any allegations much less any evidence on part of appellants showing that respondent/ father is any manner unfit for disqualification from having custody of minor child – Mere dislike of respondent by appellants is no ground to deny custody to respondent - Minor child has already lost his mother and it would be wholly erroneous to deprive him of his father as well and overlook claim of father and give custody to maternal grand parents – Order of District Judge granting custody of minor child to respondent/father – Justified – Appeals, dismissed. K.Venkat Reddy Vs. Chinnapareddy Viswanadha Reddy 2008(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 149 = 2008(6) ALD 222 = 2008(6) ALT 360.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.190 and 227- Magistrate taking cognizance of case basing on F.I.R. registered on undated photocopy of petition and issuing summons to accused – High Court set aside summoning orders of Magistrate - In view of report of investigation by CID which was also called for and there being no dispute that FIR was registered only on basis of Photostat copy on which signature is not in original - High court grossly erred in interfering with order of taking cognizance – Order of High Court, set aside- Appeals – Allowed. Sonu Gupta Vs. Deepak Gupta 2015(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 35

—Sec.197 - "Public servant" - "Sanction for prosecution" - Magistrate took cognizance for alleged commission of offences punishable u/Secs.387/504/34 IPC, against 2nd respondent, Deputy Superintendent of Police - High Court quashed proceedings - All acts done by a public servant in purported discharge of his official duties cannot as a matter of course be brought under protective umbrella of Sec.197 Cr.P.C - If authority vested in public servant is misused for doing things which are not otherwise permitted under law, such acts cannot claim protection of Sec.197 Cr.P.C - Hence in respect of prosecution for such excesses or misuse of authority, no protection can be demanded by public servant concerned - In this case, complaint prima face makes out offences alleged to have been committed by 2nd respondent which were not part of his official duties - Judgment and order of High Court, set aside - Directed trial Court to proceed with trial - Appeal, allowed. Choudhury Parveen Sultana Vs. State of West Bengal 2009(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 81.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

——Sec.197 - The Apex Court framed following points for adjudication (1) Whether an order directing further investigation u/Sec.156(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure can be passed in relation to public servant in absence of valid sanction and contrary to judgments of this Court in Anil Kumar and Ors. v. M.K. Aiyappa and Anr. : (2013) 10 SCC 705 and Manharibhai Muljibhai Kakadia and Anr. v. Shaileshbhai Mohanbhai Patel and Ors.: (2012) 10 SCC 517 (2) Whether a public servant who is not on same post and is transferred (whether by way of promotion or otherwise to another post) loses protection Under Section 19(1) of the P.C. Act, though he continues to be a public servant, albeit on a different post? L.Narayana Swamy Vs. State of Karnataka 2016(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 1 = AIR 2016 SC 4125 = 2016(2) ALD (Crl) 738 (SC).

——Sec.197 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs. 34, 420 - Rule 26 (i) (k) (i) of the A.P. Rules under The Registration Act, 1908 - This Criminal Petition is filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C. seeking to quash the proceedings against petitioner for an offence punishable under Section 420 r/w 34 of IPC.

Held, having regard to facts and circumstances of case and also principle enunciated in cases, Court considered view that complaint is not maintainable against petitioner without obtaining previous sanction - The learned Magistrate, while taking cognizance of offence, has not considered the scope of Section 197 Cr.P.C. - Therefore, it is manifest that trail Court has committed grave error in taking cognizance of offence against petitioner - Taking cognizance of offence against petitioner in violation of Section 197 Cr.P.C. is non-est in eye of law - In such circumstances, compelling petitioner to face rigour of trial would certainly amount to miscarriage of justice.

Having regard to facts and circumstances of case and also principle enunciated in case, this Court considered view that it is a fit case to quash criminal proceedings against petitioner in order to secure ends of justice - For foregoing discussion, this Criminal Petition is allowed, quashing the proceedings against the petitioner. Ummadisetti Ratnasagar Vs. State 2016(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 237 = 2016(2) ALD (Crl) 135 = 2016(5) ALT 337 = 2016(3) ALT (Crl) 26.

—Sec.197 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.448, 323, 380 & 506 - Petitioner lodged complaint in Police station against respondents 2, 3 & 4 and crime registered under above provisions of IPC - Investigating Officer did not file charge sheet even though investigation was completed - Respondents contend that charge sheet could not be file in view of pendency of sanction proceedings u/Sec.197 Cr.P.C - A reading of Sec.197 Cr.P.C, it is clear that Court shall not take cognizance of offence against class of persons mentioned in said Section when they are accused of any offence alleged to have been committed by them while acting or purporting to act in discharge of their official duty and unless previous sanction of concerned Govt., is obtained - Section gives protection against irresponsible, frivolous or vaxatious proceedings for acts done in discharge of official duty and does not extend to every act or omission done by public servant in service - Said protection is not available to public servant if act complained of is not in connection with discharge of his duty or in excess of his duty - Requirement of sanction has to be gathered from allegations in complaint - In instant case a perusal of allegations in complaint against respondent no.4 prima facie disclose that they do not relate to discharge of official duties by 4th respondent and hence no sanction is required in circumstances of case - This is one of cases where citizen is unable to set criminal law in motion inspite of clear mandate of law, due to one reason or other - Though investigation was completed long back filing of charge sheet was held up on untenable ground of sanction merely because of involvement of public servants - "Action of Police Officer in committing trespass into floor mill of complainant by breaking open lock, removing sign boad and a motor was held to be no part of their duty actual or purported even if property has been acquired for purpose of Police Station" - In this case, it is 11 years since complaint was lodged - Journey to justice through process of law should be swift and secure - Citizen should not have feeling it is difficult to proceed against public servant even if they exceed their powers or misuse their powers - When law treats every one as equal law enforcement agencies should not treat some as more exceptional - Respondents 1 & 2 DGP, Commissioner of Police are directed to issue instructions to concerned officers to file charge sheet within one week - Writ petition, allowed. G.Haritha Vs. Director General of Police, Govt. of A.P. 2013(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 301 = 2014(1) ALD (Crl) 258 (AP) = 2014(1) ALT (Crl) 261 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.197 & 132 - ARMY ACT, Sec.125 - Armed forces J & K (Special Powers) Act, Sec.7, r/w Sec.90 Cr.P.C. - Appellants filed application for not entertaining charge sheet filed by CBI - "Prosecution" means a criminal action before Court of law for purpose of determining "guilt" or "innocence" of a person charged with a crime - Civil suit refers to a civil action instituted before a Court of law for realization of right vested in party by law - Phrase "legal proceeding" connotes a term which means proceedings in Court of justice to get remedy which law permits to person aggrieved - It is not synonymous with "judicial proceedings" - Every judicial proceeding is a legal proceeding but not vice-versa for reason that there may be legal proceedings which may not judicial at all e.g statutory remedies like assessment and Income Tax Act, Sale Tax Act, Arbitration proceedings etc - So ambit of expression "legal proceeding" is much wider than "judicial proceedings" - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.197 - Sanction for prosecution - Protection given u/Sec.197 Cr.P.C. is to protect responsible public servants against institution of possibly vexatious criminal proceedings for offences alleged to have been committed by them while they are acting or purporting to act as public servants - Use of expression "official duty" implies that act or omission must have been done by public servant in course of his service and that it should have been done in discharge of his duties - Section does not extend its protective cover to every act or omission done by public servant in service, but restricts its scope of operation to only those acts or omissions which are done by public servants in discharge of official duty - If on fact, therefore it is prima facie found that act or omission for which accused was charged had reasonable connection with discharge of his duties, then it must be held to be official to which applicability of Sec.197 Cr.P.C cannot be disputed - General clauses act, Sec.322 - "Good faith" - Defined - Good faith to mean a thing which is in fact done honestly whether it is done negligently or not - Any thing done with due care and attention which is nor mala fide, is presumed to have been done in good faith - There should not be personal ill-will or malice, no intention to malign and scandalize - Presumption of good faith therefore can be dislodged on ly by cogent and clinching evidence and so long as such a conclusion is drawn, a duty in good faith should be presumed to have been done or purposes to have been done in exercise of powers conferred under statute - In this case, appellants contend that Armed Forces Act is a special Act and Sec.7 thereof provides full protection to persons who are subject to Army Act from any kind of suit, prosecution and legal proceedings unless sanction of Central Govt., is obtained - Court-martial proceedings are akin to criminal prosecution - However, once matter transferred to Army for conducting Court martial, Court martial has to be as per provisions of Army Act which does not provide for sanction of Central Govt., - Contention raised by appellant rejected. General Office, Commending Vs. C.B.I. 2012(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 9.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.197 & 482 - APGST ACT, Sec.37, r/w Sec.197 of Cr.P.C - 'Prosecution of public servants' - "Good faith" - Appellant, Asst. Commissioner of Commercial Taxes inspected respondent's shop and best judgment assessment was completed since respondent failed to give proper explanation for non-maintenance of any account books relating to his business inspite of extension of time - After period of three months after inspection, respondent filed complaint alleging that appellant taken away bill books, cheque books and also Indira Vikas Patras forcibly without giving any acknowledgment and without conducting panchanama - Magistrate issuing notice and process to appellant and asked to appear before Court for trial - High Court dismissing petition filed by appellant u/ Sec.482 Cr.P.C seeking quashing of complaint holding that it is for appellant to lead evidence and establish that acts done by him was in due discharge of official duties and non issue of receipt in evidence of seizure was in dereliction of duties - It is not possible for Court to accept plea taken by appellant that acts complained are done in discharge of official duty or in dereliction of duties for quashing proceedings at initial stage unless complainant is given opportunity to establish his case - Appellant contends that proceedings were nothing but abuse of process of law and therefore, High Court should have interfered in matter - "Good faith" means a thing which is in fact done honestly whether it is done negligently or not and anything with due care and attention which is not malafide is presumed to have been done in "Good faith" - Sec.197 Cr.P.C provides for protection to public servants in discharge of official duties, there is a need to balance between protection to Officers and protection to citizens - In this case, factual scenario goes to show that proceedings were nothing but abuse of process of law - Hence proceedings in CC before Magistrate, stand quashed - Appeal, allowed. Goondla Venkateswarlu Vs. State of A.P. 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 82 = 2008(2) ALD (Crl.) 876 (SC) = 2008 AIR SCW 5748 = 2008(6) Supreme 472.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—-Sec.197(2) and 482 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.120-B, 203 & 302 r/w 34 - Prosecution of public servants - "Sanction" - "Police personnel" - "Encounter" - Complaint filed against Police personnel alleging that complainant's son was killed in fake encounter by accused/Police personnel and dead body was cremated keeping him and his family members in dark, with a view to destroy evidence and manufacture story of Police encounter - Complainant also contends that accused committed offence not in discharge of their official duties and therefore no sanction is require to prosecute them, u/Sec.197 of Cr.P.C - High Court allowed petition filed by some of accused, Police personnel on ground that sanction required u/Sec.197 of Code not obtained and dismissed petition filed by some of Police personnel accused on ground that no Notification issued u/Sec.197(3) of Code to show that they were protected against prosecution in respect of any offence against prosecution - Aggrieved by judgment of High Court appellants/Police personnel and complainant filed present appeals - It is not duty of Police Officers to kill accused merely because he is a dreaded criminal - Undoubtedly Police have to arrest and put them up for trial - Apex Court repeatedly admonished trigger happy Police personnel, who liquidate criminals and project incident as encounter - Such killings must be deprecated and they are not recognized as legal by criminal justice administration system and they amount to State sponsored terrorism - Requirement of "sanction" to prosecute affords protection to Police men who are some times required to take drastic action against criminals to protect life and property of people and to protect themselves against attack - Unless unimpeachable evidence is on record to establish that their action is indefensible, mala fide and vindictive, they cannot be subjected to prosecution - Sanction must be a precondition to their protection and it affords necessary protection to such Police personnel and that plea regarding sanction can be raised at inception - Power u/Sec.482 Cr.P.C should be used sparingly and with circumspection to prevent abuse of process of Court but not to stifle legitimate prosecution and if it appears to trained judicial mind that continuation of prosecution would lead to abuse of process of Court, powers u/Sec.482 of Code must be exercised and proceedings must be quashed - In instant case, proceedings initiated against Police personnel need to be quashed - Appeal filed by complainant, dismissed. Om Prakash Vs. State of Jharkhand 2012(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 128.

—Sec.199 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.499 Explanation-2, 500 & 501 - Public speech given by petitioner/accused making several allegations against Congress Party leaders describing them as Thieves and Betrayers of Country and that said speech published in many Telugu Daily Newspapers - Hence complaint filed u/Secs.500 & 501 IPC - Petitioners contend that complaint/1st respondent has no locus standi to file criminal complaint as he was not named by accused in his speech and that he cannot be termed as aggrieved party within meaning of Sec.199 Cr.P.C and that no public interest litigation can be allowed in case of prosecution in defamation - 1st respondent complaint inviting attention of Court to Explanation 2 of Sec.499 IPC and that if alleged derogatory statement or imputation was made against an association or collection of persons as such, then any member of such association or collection of persons can maintain a complaint for defamation before Magistrate in case members of association or collection of persons are definite and identifiable - u/Sec.199 Cr.P.C only a person aggrieved can maintain lis for Criminal defamation - 1st respondent/ complainant claims to be a Congress Party worker since long time and he is not only congress man but also a local leader of youth wing in Congress Party - Members of Indian National Congress is verifiable and ascertainable - Hence it cannot be said that complaint filed by 1st respondent is not maintainable on ground that he is not an aggrieved person - Criminal petition, dismissed. K.Pawan Kalyan Vs. D.Kiran Kumar 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 299 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl) 29 (AP) = 2011(1) ALT (Crl) 47 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.200,202(2) and 482 - Appellant lodged FIR alleging that respondents 1 to 4 killed his son - Police submitted final report after conducting investigation with finding that they have no clue about culprits - Hence, appellant filed protest petition accusing Police were not conducting proper investigation due to Political pressure - Magistrate accepting final form submitted by Police and at same time directed that protest petition be numbered as separate complaint - Magistrate after examining appellant and two witnesses took cognizance against respondents 1 to 4 for offence u/Sec.302, r/w 120-B of IPC - Respondents challenged order of Magistrate under Sec.482 Cr.P.C - Single Judge of High Court accepted contention of respondents remitted matter to concerned Court for passing appropriate orders after making further enquiry in light of proviso to Sec.202(2) Cr.P.C - Appellant contends that Sec.202(2) Cr.P.C is not mandatory and High Court committed serious error by remitting matter to Magistrate for further enquiry - Respondents contend that proviso to Sec.202(2) is mandatory and Magistrate committed a serious error in taking cognizance against respondents 1 to 4 and issuing non bailable warrants against them without insisting on examination of two witnesses named in complaint - Object of examining complaint and witnesses is to ascertain truth or falsehood of complaint and determine whether there is a prima facie case, against person who according to complaint has committed offence - If upon examination of complainant and/or witnesses, Magistrate is prima facie satisfied that a case is made out against person accused of committing offence then he is required to issue process - Even though in terms of proviso to Sec.202(2), Magistrate is required to direct complaint to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath, failure or inability of complainant or omission on his part to examine one or some of witnesses cited in complaint will not preclude from taking cognizance and issuing process - Such order passed by Magistrate cannot be nullified on ground of non-compliance of proviso to Sec.202(2) - Examination of all witnesses cited in complaint is not a condition precedent for taking cognizance and issue process against persons named as accused in complaint - High Court committed serious error in directing Magistrate to conduct further enquiry and pass fresh order in light of proviso to Sec.202(2) - Impugned order, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Shivjee Singh Vs. Nagendra Tiwary 2010(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 165.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.200 & 203 - Trial Court dismissing complaint - Complaint registered against petitioner/accused for offences punishable u/Secs.109,147,148,341,324, 323,427 r/w 149 I.P.C - Trial Judge perused complaint and dismissed u/Sec.203 Cr.P.C for lack of sufficient ground - Petitioner and P.P contend that trial Court after receipt of complaint without examining complainant or his witnesses proceeded to dismiss complaint and therefore order of dismissal of complaint is liable to be set, aside and trial Judge should have recorded statement of complaint without doing same she has dismissed complainant which is not legal - Sec.200 Cr.P.C makes it incumbent on Magistrate to examine witnesses who were present in Court on oath and it can apply Sec.203 Cr.P.C only if after examining complainant and witnesses who are present in Court, he finds sufficient grounds for not proceeding with case - Section is mandatory and it is therefore obligatory on part of Magistrate to examine not only complainant, but also witnesses who are present in Court - Except in cases arising out of clauses (a) and (b) of Sec.200 Cr.P.C, Court is bound to examine complainant and record sworn statement of complainant and witnesses - Object of such examine is to ascertain whether there is prima facie case and sufficient ground for proceedings - Therefore it is incumbent on Magistrate taking cognizance on complaint to examine upon oath complainant and his witnesses, if any to satisfy himself has to veracity of complaint - Correct position therefore appears to be that omission to examine to complaint on oath u/Sec.200 Cr.P.C is not irregularity and if by reason thereof complainant is prejudiced is entitled to an order subsequent proceedings are invalid - In this case, in fact prejudice has been caused to complainant because he had been deprived of opportunity to explain his case to Magistrate which he could have got had Magistrate examine on oath - Impugned order liable to be set aside - Criminal case, allowed. G.Pal Vijay Kumar Vs. State of A.P. 2013(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 171 = 2013(1) ALD (Crl) 681 (AP) = 2013(2) ALT (Crl) 38 (AP-) = 2013 Cri. LJ (NOC) 644 (AP).

—Secs.203 & 197 - INDIAN PEAL CODE, Secs.277, 268,455 & Sec.23(3) r/w 35(1)(2) WALTA ACT, 2002 - Complaint filed against respondents/employees of State Govt. for offence u/Sec.277, 268 & 455 IPC for not taking steps for removal of debris from tank deposited on account of immersion of Ganesh idols every year - Magistrate recorded sworn statement of complainant and dismissed complaint u/Sec.203 on ground that complaint is not maintainable for want of sanction as provided u/Sec.197 Cr.P.C - Petitioner contends that once Magistrate recorded sworn statement of Complainant constitutes taking cognizance of offences and in which case, dismissal of complaint does not arise and that sanction is not necessary before taking cognizance of offence and therefore order impugned is unsustainable and liable to be set aside - In this case, admittedly respondents are Public Servants and alleged omissions on their part are only by the virtue of their office and that bar u/Sec.17 is mandatory where acts have been done by public servant in course of his service or discharge of his duty - Since complainant questions omission of respondents by virtue of their office and which omission constitutes an offence, sanction as provided u/Sec.197 Cr.P.C. to prosecute them is mandatory - Order of Magistrate - Justified - Criminal Revision Case, dismissed. Mamidi Venu Madhav Vs. Sri Ramakanth Reddy, 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 89 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 768 (AP) = 2011(1) ALT (Crl.) 230 (AP) = 2011 Cri.LJ (NOC) 437 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.203 & 204 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.420 - "Filing of second complaint on same allegations as in first complainant" - Respondent filed complaint before Magistrate against appellant u/Sec.420 IPC, for alleged fraud played by complainant on him in execution of sale deed relating to land - Magistrate dismissedcomplaint holding that whole story of complainant is bundle of falsehood - High Court dismissed revision and same attained finality since not challenged - Civil suits filed by respondents also dismissed and attained finality - Suit filed by appellant against respondent, decreed - Thereafter, respondent filed another complaint before Magistrate on virtually same facts suppressing totally facts of filing of first complaint and its dismissal - Magistrate passing order summoning appellants - Sessions Judge allowed revision and set aside order of Magistrate - High Court reversed order passed by Sessions Judge and directed appellants to appear before trial Court - EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES TO ENTERTAIN SECOND COMPLAINT - EXPLAINED - (a) where the previous order was passed on incomplete record (b) or on a misunderstanding of nature of complaint (c) or order which passed was manifestly absurd, unjust or foolish or (d) where new facts which could not, with reasonable deligence have been brought on record in previous proceedings - Interest of justice cannot permit that after decision has been given on complaint upon full consideration of case, complainant should be given another opportunity to have complaint enquired into again - In this case, second complaint was on almost identical facts which was raised in first complaint and which was dismissed on merits - So second complaint is not maintainable - Core of both complaints is same and nothing has been disclosed in second complaint which is substantially new and not disclose in first complaint - Therefore second complaint is not covered with exceptional circumstances - Hence second complaint cannot be entertained - Order passed by High Court in revision - Quashed - Appeal, allowed. Poonam Chand Jain Vs. Fazru 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 144.

—Secs.209,227,482 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.120-B, 419,420,467,468,471 r/w Sec.109 - "Magistrate committing case to Sessions Court" - "Exercise of power u/Sec.482 Cr.P.C" - "Panel Advocate" - "Improper legal advice" and "wrong legal advice" - CBI registered FIR against Branch Managers of Bank for commission of offence punishable under IPC for abusing their official position as public servants and for having conspired with private individuals, Builder and other accused for defrauding Bank by sanctioning and disbursement of housing loans in violation of Bank Rules and Guidelines and thereby causing loss of huge amount to Bank - After investigation CBI filed Charge-Sheet in which, respondent/KNR/panel advocate arrayed as A-6 for giving false legal opinion in respect of housing loans - High Court of AP quashing criminal proceedings on file of CBI in so far as A-6/legal practitioner is concerned - Hence present SLP filed by CBI - Magistrate enquiring in to a case u/Sec.209 is not to act a mere post office and has to come to a conclusion whether case before him is fit for commitment of accused to Court of Session - If there is no prima facie evidence or evidence is totally unworthy of credit it is duty of Magistrate to discharge accused on other hand, if there is some evidence on which conviction may reasonably be based, he must commit case - Magistrate should not make a roving enquiry into

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

pros and cons of matter and weigh evidence as if he was conducting trial - OPINION OF LAWYER - A Lawyer does not tell his client that he shall win case in all circumstances - Likewise a physician would not assure patient of full recovery in every case - Only assurance which such a professional can give or can be given by implication is that he is possessed of requisite skill in that branch of profession which he is practising and while undertaking performance of task entrusted to him, he would be exercising his skill with reasonable competence - A professional may be held liable for negligence on one of findings viz., either he was not possessed of requisite skill which he professed to have possessed, or, he did not exercise with reasonable competence in given case, which he did possess - "IMPROPER LEGAL ADVICE" AND "GIVING WRONG LEGAL ADVICE" - Mere negligence unaccompanied by any moral deliquency on part of legal practitioner in exercise of his profession does not amount to "professional mis conduct" - Liability against opining advocate arises only when lawyer was an active participant in a plan to defraud Bank - In this case there is no evidence to prove that A-6/legal practitioner abetting or aiding original conspirators - However, it is beyond doubt that a lawyer owes an "unremetting loyalty" to interest of client and it is lawyer's responsibility to act in a manner that would best advance interest of client - Merely because his opinion may not be acceptable, he cannot be mulcted with criminal prosecution, particularly, in absence of tangible evidence that he associated with other conspirators - At most he may be liable for gross negligence or professional misconduct if it is establishes by acceptable evidence and cannot be charged for offence u/Secs.420 & 109 of IPC along with other conspirators without proper and acceptable link between them - Such tangible materials are lacking in case of respondent - Conclusion of High Court in quashing criminal proceedings and reject, stand taken by CBI - Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Central Bureau of Investigation, Hyderabad Vs. K. Narayana Rao 2012(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 149.

—Secs.211,220 and 222 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.120-B, 302,390,392,397 and 457, r/w Sec.34 - Framing of charges - Trial Court not framed charge u/Sec.397 of IPC.

Trial Court, convicted accused u/Secs.120-B, 302,390,392 and 457 - High Court remitted matter to trial Court to frame charge u/Sec.397 IPC against accused and liberty was also granted to trial Court to record additional evidence, if construed necessary.

Held, charged Sections adequently encompassing all essential facts of murder in course of robbery together with lurking house trespass and house breaking by night - Ingredients of Sec.397 already consider - Remanded uncalled and High Court ought to decide matter on merits. Bharamappa Gogi Vs. Praveen Murthy 2016(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 57 = AIR 2016 SC 791 = 2016 Cri. LJ 1260 (SC) = 2016(1) ALD (Crl) 694 = 2016(6) SCC 268.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.211 & 313 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.302, 149,34 and 148 - ARMS ACT, Sec.27 - Appellant convicted u/Sec.302 and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment - In this case, charges framed against all five accused only u/Sec.302 IPC without aid of either Sec.149 or Sec.34 of IPC and that trial Court did not charge accusedu/Sec.148of IPC - In criminal trial, in Bihar no proper attention is paid to framing of charges and examination of accused u/Sec.313 of Cr.P.C, two very important stages in criminal trial - Framing of charge and examination of accused are mostly done in most unmindful and mechanical manner - Patna High Court should take note of neglectful way in which some of Courts in State appear to be conducting trials of serious offences and take appropriate correct steps - In this case, P.W.5 only who claims to have seen appellant accused among other accused while they were going away after commission of offence - But his statement admittedly recorded by Police after ten or twenty days of occurrence and till then he had not disclosed name of appellant as one of accused - In facts and circumstances, it becomes difficult to accept testimony of P.W.5 in so far as appellant is concerned - In this case, appellant neither named in FIR nor established that he is member of unlawful Assembly - It will not be wholly safe to maintain conviction of appellant and applying rule of caution, he must be given bnenefit of doubt - Conviction of appellant, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Sajjana Sharma Vs. State of Bihar 2011(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 64.

—Sec.227 - Discharge - Trial Court dismissed discharge petition filed by appellant/ IPS Officer - High Court refused to interfere with order passed by trial Judge - If two views are possible and one of them gives rise to suspicion only, as distinguished from grave suspicion Trial Judge will be empowered to discharge accused and at this stage he is not to see whether trial will end in conviction or acquittal - Further, words “not sufficient ground” for proceeding against accused clearly show that Judge is not mere Post Office to frame charge at behest of prosecution, but has to exercise his judicial mind to facts of case in order to determine whether case for trial has been made out by prosecution - In this case, High Court as well as Supreme Court are confined only for disposal of discharge petition filed by appellant u/Sec.227 of Code - It is for prosecution to establish its charge and trial Judge is at liberty to analyze and to arrive at an appropriate conclusion, one way or other, in accordance with law. P.Vijayan Vs. State of Kerala 2010(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 150.

—Secs.227, 239 & 161(3) - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.147, 150,307,382,506 r/ w 34 - Wife filed complaint against husband and his parents, brothers and sisters - After investigation charge-sheet laid for above said offences - Sessions Judge dismissed Application filed by petitioners/accused to discharge them holding that at time of framing charge it is not necessary and proper for Court to consider inconsistencies and contradictions in statement of witnesses and that Court has to see whether their exists any prima facie case or not - Petitioners contend that in this case no test identification parade has been conducted though neighbours are cited as witnesses and that entire case is made up to take revenge against accused and when it is clear case of false implication petitioners are entitled for discharge - Court has to see whether there is sufficient ground to proceed against accused - Reasons have to be recorded if Court comes to conclusion that accused have to be discharged - Approach of Court should be pragmatic - Charge should not be framed in cases where available material does not disclose ingredients of offence - Court cannot act merely as a post office or a mouthpiece of prosecution, but has to consider broad probabilities of case, totally effect of evidence and documents produced, any basic infirmities and find out whether prima facie case against accused has been made out - In this case, no prima facie case has been made out against A2 and A8 to A-10 shown in charge-sheet who are A-1, A-2 and A5 in FIR - Therefore, they are entitled for discharge - Order of lower Court set aside in respect of A-2 and A-8 to A-10 - Criminal revision allowed in part. Mohd. Younus Vs. State of A.P. 2010(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 218.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.227,239,245, 258 & 320(1) (2) (8) - "Compounding of offence" - Complaint lodged by de facto complaint against 3 accused for an offence u/Secs.468, 471,476,477-A, 419 & 420 IPC - Case is taken on file and numbered as C.C - Magistrate dismissed petition filed by accused No.3 seeking to discharge - High Court dismissed revision filed by A3 - Trial Court also dismissed petition filed by A-1 for discharge - High Court also dismissed revision filed by A-1 - Subsequently petitioner/A1 filed a fresh petition for discharge on ground that other accused were already acquitted - Trial Court dismissed petition - Petitioner contends that when a case is compounded offence is compounded as a whole - Since Sec.320(1) & 320(2) envisages that it is offence that is compounded and not accused - Sec.320(8) Cr.P.C points out that composition of offence u/Sec.320 shall have effect of acquittal of accused "with whom the offence has been compounded" - Petitioner/accused further contends that as offence was compounded against accused 2 & 3, by trial Court, it is deemed to have been compounded accused no.1 as well and that proceeding against accused no.1 by trial Court is not permissible - De facto complainant contends that there was no composition of offence in this case and that at any rate, where overt acts against A- 1 can be segregated from overt acts against accused 2 & 3, mere compounding of offence against A2 and A3 does not ensure to benefit of A1and that docket order of trial Court under which accused 2 & 3 were acquitted was in a petition filed u/Sec.257 Cr.P.C - However, present case is not case of withdrawal against A2 and A3 and that docket order shows that compounding petition was filed u/Sec.320 Cr.P.C - If it is case that some of accused were either acquitted or discharged remaining accused cannot invoke Sec.320 Cr.P.C albeit Sec.257 Cr.P.C may come to their rescue certain cases - In this case, offence was indeed compounded and consequently compounding of offence through docket order enures to present petitioner/A1 as well - Trial Court not justified in dismissing petition where, petition, inter alia was laid u/Sec.258 Cr.P.C in view of Secs.320 and 257, it is appropriate to allow revision acquitting petitioner/accused no.1 of offenes levelled against him - Impugned order, set aside - Petitioner/accused is acquitted of offences levelled against him in view of composition of offences by de facto complainant against accused A2 and A3 - Revision, allowed. Kamal Kishore Biyani Vs. Shyam Sunder Bung 2013(2) Law Summary (A.P.) 194 = 2013(2) ALD (Crl) 460 (AP) = 2013(3) ALT (Crl) 219 (AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.235(2), 164, 157 &313, - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.302 & 309 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.32 - "Dying declaration" - "Extra judicial confession" - Sessions Judge convicting accused for offences u/Secs.302 & 309 for causing death of his daughters by administering endosulphan pesticide poison due to his indebtedness - Sessions Judge rightly rejected statement given by accused as same is not admissible u/Sec.32 of Evidence Act, since maker of statement is alive - But he proceeded to accept said statement by invoking provisions u/sec.164 Cr.P.C. r/w Secs.157, 155 Evidence Act - If statement recorded by Magistrate is not a dying declaration whether it can be a statement made u/Sec.164(2) or 164(5) Cr.P.C - Sec.164(5) Cr.P.C speaks about statement of person other than accused - In this case, accused is not arrayed as witness - Hence statement of accused cannot be treated as a statement u/Sec.164(5) - As rightly pointed out by appellant, statement recorded u/sec.164(2) amounts to a confession and specific procedure to be followed by Magistrate for recording same - In absence of any such procedure followed by Magistrate while recording statement it cannot be treated as statement made by accused u/Sec.164(2) - Admittedly in this case, person who made statement before Magistrate is arrayed as accused - Statement made by accused cannot be treated as extra judicial confession, since extra judicial confession should be voluntary in nature by person, who makes same - Hence same cannot be treated as extra judicial confession - When evidence collected by investigation agency which is not under purview of any provisions of law to make it as admissible in evidence same cannot be relied upon - Conviction and sentence imposed by Sessions Judge for offence u/Sec.309 is also liable to be set aside since there is no evidence adduced by prosecution to that effect - Conviction and sentence passed by Sessions Judge punishable u/sec.302 & 309 IPC, set aside - Criminal appeal, allowed. Surasani Venkata Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 158 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl) 364 (AP) = 2011(1) ALT (Crl) 194 (AP).

—Sec.239 - "Discharge of accused" - Complaint filed by wife against her husband a Captain in Indian Army regarding mental and physical harassment faced by her at hands of appellant/husband and also repeated demands for dowry - Trial Court dismissed application filed by appellants, husband and others for discharge u/Sec.239 holding that grounds urged for discharge could be considered only after evidence was adduced in case, and that appellant/husband would not be discharged on minor contradictions in depositions recorded in course of investigation - High Court dismissed Criminal Revision on ground that same did not make out a case for quashing of proceedings against appellants - Hence present appeal assailing correctness of order of dismissal - At stage of framing of charge Court is required to evaluate material and documents on records with a view to finding out if facts emerging therefrom, taken at their face value, disclosed existence of all ingredients constituting alleged offence - At that stage, Court is not expected to go deep into probative value of material on record - What needs to be considered is whether there is a ground for presuming that offence has been committed and not a ground for convicting accused has been made out - In present case, allegations made against appellants are specific not only against husband but also against parents-in-law of complaint, wife - Any such determination can take place only at conclusion of trial - Appellants No.1 who happends to be father-in-law of complaint, wife has been a Major General, by all means a respectable position in Army - But nature of allegations made against couple and those against husband appear to be much too specific to be ignored at least at stage of framing of charges -Order of Courts below in refusing a discharge -Justified - Appeal, dismissed. Sheoraj Singh Ahlawat Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh 2013(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 71.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—-Secs.239,154 & 173 – IMMORAL TRAFFIC (PREVENTION) ACT, 1956, Secs.3 to 7 – Appellants filed petition u/Sec.239 before Judicial Magistrate for discharge – Petition dismissed by Magistrate, Court of Sessions in Revision Petition, has upheld decision of Magistrate and further upheld by High Court – Correctness of said order is challenged before Supreme Court.

Appellants involved in Immoral Trafficking case and furnished wrong information to Investigating Officer, regarding their names and also in bail Application filed by them before Magistrate.

Inspector of Police, registered Second FIR against appellants for offence punishable u/Sec.419 and 420 of IPC.

Appellants contend that registration of second FIR is wholly untenable in law and proceedings arising out of first FIR has already been set aside, offence under second FIR are same transaction with first FIR as they were allegedly committed in course of Investigation made on the first FIR, there was no need for institution of second FIR and registration of second FIR is illegal and void ab initio in law as the same is violation of Art.20(2) of Constitution of India and also contrary to Sec.300 of Cr.P.C and Sec.26 of General Clauses Act.

Court held that from bare perusal of second FIR, it is abundandly clear that both appellants have furnished wrong information to Police as to their names, during course of investigation made on first FIR – Offence alleged to have committed by them are distinct offence committed by appellants and same have no connection with offence for which first FIR was registered against them – Principle of law is not applicable to fact situation instant case as substance of allegations in the said two FIRs is different – Submission made on behalf of appellants are not tenable in law and same cannot be accepted by this Court – Court does not find any reason to interfere with lower Court orders – Accordingly, appeal being devoid of merit is dismissed. Awadesh Kumar JHA @ Akhilesh Kumar JHA&Anr.,Vs.The State of Bihar, 2016(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 41.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.239,482,227 & 228 – "Discharge" Charge Sheet filed against petitioners/A1 & A2 alleging commission of offences u/Secs.468 & 506 IPC indicting that they fabricated resignation letter of Defacto complainant - Petitioners filed petition before Trial Court u/Sec.239 of Cr.P.C. seeking their discharge in case contending that there is no Prima-facie material to frame charges against them and therefore they have to be discharged - Trail Court dismissed petition holding that admittedly there are disputes between parties and in view of said disputes, unless complainant enters witness box, it is premature to discharge accused - Power of Trial Court to discharge an accused person is some what different from power of High Court to Quash FIR or Criminal Proceeding in exercise of powers u/Secs.482 of Cr.P.C. - However, for purpose of arriving at a decision, weather a prima-facie case has been made out, Trial Court while considering a discharge petition is not precluded from taking account inordinate unexplained delay in lodging FIR - Though question as to whether case would end in conviction or acquittal would be irrelevant while considering discharge petition, having regard to peculiar facts and circumstances of present case, absence of evidence as to who submitted resignation letter assumes much important and trial Court ought not to have ignored said fact - In this case there is no material before Trial Court that accused might have committed offence, even grave suspicion, which required for framing charge, are absent in present case - Trial Court failed to apply its Judicial mind to material placed on record to charge - When there is no prima-facie case for framing of charge it is imperative for Trial Court to discharge accused and opinion of Trial Court that it would be known only after letting evidence by prosecution cannot said to be a correct view – Trial Court is required to take a decision either to discharge or to frame a charge only basing on material available with it and it cannot make petitioner/accused to face Trial thinking that some evidence would be placed in course of Trial – Trial Court without applying Judicial mind to material placed on record by prosecution erroneously dismissed discharge petition filed by petitioners – Order of Trail Court, set aside – Criminal Revision case, allowed. B.S.Neelakanta Vs. State of A.P. 2014(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 266 = 2014(1) ALD (Crl) 611 (AP) = 2014(2) ALT (Crl) 237 (AP).

—Secs.256 & 285 - NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, Sec.138 - Respondent filed complaint against appellant for dishnour of cheque - Since complainant absent and no representation for several hearings accused acquitted - High Court allowed appeal filed by complainant without issuing notice to accused - In this case, date fixed for examining defence witnesses - Appearance of complainant not necessary - Presence of complainant or her lawyer would have been necessary only for purpose of cross-examination of witnesses examined on behalf of defence - If complainant did not intend to do so, she would do so at her peril but it cannot be said that her presence was absolutely necessary - Further more, when prosecution closed its case and accused has been examined u/Sec.311 of Cr.P.C, Court is required to pass judgment on merit of matter - Manner in which appeal disposed of by High Court not approved - Trial Court directed to proceed with matter in accordance with law and dispose of case expeditiously. S.Anand Vs. Vasumathi Chandrasekhar 2008(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 72.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

——Secs.273 and 317 (2) - HINDU MARRIAGE ACT, 1955 - CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, Or.18, R.4 - INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY ACT, Sec.4 - "SKYPE TECHNOLOY" -Petitioner-husband at USA filed petition before Trial Court to permit his examination including marking of documents on Skype technology at his expense, in open Court or through Advocate-Commissioner, on ground that he is unable to get leave to attend the Court due to most urgent works of his project in USA - Respondent-revision petitioner in opposing same contended that petitioner adopted said procedure for recording his evidence only in order to avoid facing criminal case filed against him and prayed for dismissal of his petition - As trial Court after hearing both sides allowed petition, present revision is filed against it.

Held, having regard to above, examination of witnesses and recording of evidence by commissioner contemplated by Order XVIII, Rule 4 C.P.C from words 'witness in attendance' are to be understood as person being present and it need not be physical presence thus, recording of evidence through Audio, Video link or through internet by Skype or similar technological device is permissible complying words in attendance.

From the above, coming back to facts, for there is no foundation to say request to record evidence through Skype technology is a device to avoid facing criminal case allegedly filed against him and so far as apprehensions as to demeanor and possibility of prompting or tutoring can be taken care of with necessary precautions, reconciliation also can be done if need be by use of Skype technology, there are no grounds to interfere with impugned order of lower court permitting recording of evidence of party-witness abroad through Advocate-Commissioner and by use of Skype technology, but for to give necessary directions of precautions required to be taken to ease out apprehensions of other side in giving disposal of revision petition - In result, revision petition is disposed of with directions. Sirangai Shoba @ Shoba Munnuri Vs. Sirangi Muralidhar Rao 2016(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 345.

—-Secs.389, 397 and 401 - NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT ACT, Sec.138 - Suspension of sentence pending appeal, release of appellant on Bail - Magistrate convicted petitioner-Accused under N.I. Act - Petitioner-Accused filed appeal before District Court – District Judge passed order directing petitioner-accused to deposit 50% of cheque amount for suspension of trial Court Judgment - Petitioner-accused contends that the lower appellant Court ought not to have directed to deposit 50% of cheque amount, in as much as Sec.389 of Cr.P.C. does not give jurisdiction to appellant Court to impose such condition.

Held, Court considering facts and circumstances of Case, Criminal Revision is allowed setting aside orders of lower appellant Court in so far as directing petitioner-accused to deposit 50% of cheque amount. Bommisetty Sridhar Vs. State of A.P. 2016(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 277.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—- Sec.294 - Sessions Judge convicting accused for offence u/Sec.302 - Appellant/ accused contends that delay of 3 days in registering FIR not explained and that Medical Officer who conducted postmortem, not examined and that evidence of eye witnessess to occurrence is discrepant and mutually contradictory - CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Sec.294 - Where genuineness of any document is not disputed, such document can be read in evidence in any enquiry trial or other proceeding without proof of signature of person by whom it purports to be signed - To invoke provisions of Sec.294, document should be one genuineness of which is not disputed - In present case, accused no where admitted genuineness of postmortem certificate nor given any consent at any time for marking it as an exhibit and mere marking of document as an exhibit does not dispense with proof of document - In this case, procedure prescribed u/Sec.294 Cr.P.C. has not been followed and conditions stipulated therein have not been complied with and no witness is examined to prove signature of Medical Officer and that no effort is made by prosecution to examine another doctor who could identify signature and handwriting of Doctor who conducted postmortem examination - Once Postmortem certificate is taken out of consideration for want of necessary proof, there remains no medical evidence on record to establish that death of deceased was homicidal - Conviction of accused, set aside - Appeal, allowed. Suntru Somi Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2009(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 347 = 2009(1) ALD (Crl) 429(AP) = 2009(1) APLJ 282 = 2009(1) ALT(Crl) 379(AP) = 2009 Cri. LJ 2102(AP).

—Sec.301(2) & 439(2) & 154(1) & 200 and Sec.2(u) & 24- “Public Prosecutor” - Defined - Cheques issued by accused in favour of petitioner/complainant, dishnoured - Hence complaint - Accused moved bail Application - Petitioner contends that though he is not a de facto complainant, he is the victim in this case, and that victim has right to put forth his case before Court even at stage of considering application for bail - Respondent submits that petitioner is not a de facto complainant and as such he has no right to put forth his case at stage of hearing bail application - If de facto complainant or victim is allow to come on record at this stage, right to liberty granted to accused person will be seriously, affected - De facto complainant has no right to come on record at this stage and has no right to be heard at this stage - It is duty of Public Prosecutor to assist Court in conducting criminal trials and other criminal proceedings and even representing State, but whether victim or de facto complainant has no role to play or whether he should not be heard at stage of criminal proceedings - There is no specific bar in hearing de facto complainant or victim at stage of considering application for bail or cancellation of bail - Normally, it is duty of State and Public Prosecutor to prosecute accused if private parties are allowed, but there is every possibility of making biased representation and it may be difficult to find out truth or otherwise of allegations and counter allegation - Though it is primary duty of State to conduct prosecution, victims are totally not barred in approaching Court in appropriate cases and represent their grievances - Whatever defacto complainant or victim was to say that initially, they must act as per directions and under instructions of Public Prosecutor, in a given circumstances, hear de facto complainant or victim in appropriate cases if Court feels that in interest of justice, it is necessary - Criminal MPs, allowed. C.S.Y. Sankar Rao Vs. State of A.P. 2009(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 317.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—- Sec.309, 173 (2), 190 (1) (b),169 - A.P. POLICE MANUAL, Part - I, Vol. 2, Or.No.487-3 - Alibi - "Deletion of accused persons from case by Police" - This is most horrible offence of attacking one group of persons against another group of persons resulting 11 deaths - Police filed Charge-Sheet against 46 persons for punishing them for offences u/Secs.147,148, 307,302 etc., and Secs.3,4,6 of Explosive Substances Act and 25(1), 27 of Indian Arms Act - Petitioner contends that Sessions Judge passed orders to implead petitioners as accused and issue summons - Sessions Court during course of preparation of examination of accused u/Sec.313 went throw entire prosecution evidence and particularly evidence of P.W.1 to 4 were taking steps u/Sec.313 against revision petitioners - There is no dispute that names of revision petitioners find place in FIR itself as persons were physically present at scene of offence and exhorted,instigated and abated other accused for killing of opposite group - In this case, case, petitioners as well as Public Prosecutor contend that even though names of petitioners find place in FIR as accused person who were physically present at scene at time of offence and participated in commission of offence, their names were deleted by Investigation after obtaining permission from S.P of Police accepting their plea of alibi - In this case, even though both revision petitioners are named as A.1 and A.2 in FIR Investigation Officer did not take them into custody and interrogate and recorded their statements - Investigating Officer instead of following prescribed and established procedure as per Cr.P.C digressed and went astray in investigation by receiving petitions from accused and began making enquiry in order to give favorable report of clean chit in their favour - Superintendent of Police readily accepted so called report of enquiry of investigating Officer who is DSP and gave directions to him to delete A1 and A2 in case and this is nothing but mockery of procedure during investigation - Without placing evidence collected during investigation and conclusions of investigating Officer before Court/Magistrate it is not for Investigation Police Officer and for Superintendent of Police to delete any accused from case unilaterally - It is for investigating Officer to place all material before Magistrate after investigation and seek decision of Magistrate as to taking cognizance or not of an offence after particular accused person - Without their being judicial decision on cognizance no Police Officer can unilaterally delete or direct deletion of accused persons from a case - If it is allowed to do so then would lead to despotic and tyrannical results which are unsafe to society and not provide by rule of law - In this case, procedure adopted by investigating Officer and Superintendent of Police is unknown to criminal law and contrary to prescribed criminal procedure - Impugned order of lower Court, justified - Criminal petitions, dismissed. Kotla Hari Chakrapani Reddy Vs. State of A.P. 2012(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 42 = 2012(2) ALD (Crl) 675(AP).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.311 - EVIDENCE ACT, Secs. 6,64,91 & 137 – Cross-examination of re-called witness – Accused facing trial for offences under provisions of IPC – One of witnesses being minor tried in children's Court, did not support prosecution version – Trial Court rejecting Application filed by accused to re-examine that witness for cross-examination with reference to statement in Children's Court – High Court allowing petition passing order directing trial Court to recall and re-examine that witness - Object of Sec.311 of Cr.P.C is to bring on record evidence not only from point of view of accused and prosecution but also from point view of orderly society – If witness called by Court gives evidence against complainant he should be allowed an opportunity to cross-examine – Right to cross-examine a witness who is called by a Court arises not under provision of Sec.311, but under Evidence Act which gives a party right to cross-examine a witness who is not his own witness - High Court's view for accepting prayer in terms of Sec.311 of Code does not have any legal foundation and High Court ought not to have accepted prayer made by accused persons in terms of Sec.311 of Code – Impugned order of High Court, set aside – Appeal, allowed. Hanuman Ram Vs. The State of Rajasthan 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 141 = 2009(1) ALD (Crl.) 715 (SC) = AIR 2009 SC 69.

—-Sec.311 - EVIDENCE ACT, Secs.60,64 & 91 - Magistrate rejecting Application filed by appellant seeking re-examination of witness on ground that evidence was closed and Sec.313 examination was over - High Court concurred with view of trial Court - It is not only prerogative but also plain duty of a Court to examine such of those witnesses as it considers absolutely necessary for doing justice between State and subject - Duty cast upon Court to arrive at truth by all lawful means and one of such means is examination of witnesses of its own accord when for certain obvious reasons either party not prepared to call witness who are know to be in a position to speak important relevant facts - Cordial rule in law of evidence that best available evidence should be brought before Court - Whether new evidence is essential or not must of course depend on facts of each case, and has to be determined by Presiding Judge - If a witness called by Court gives evidence against complainant, he should be allowed an opportunity to cross-examine - Right to cross-examine a witness who is called by Court arises not under provisions of Sec.311, but under Evidence Act which gives a party right to cross-examine a witness who is not his own witness - Since a witness summoned by Court could not be termed a witness of any particular party, Court should give right of cross-examination to complainant. Godrej Pacific Tech. Ltd. Vs. Computer Joint India Ltd. 2008(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 9 = 2008(2) ALD (Crl.) 601 (SC) = 2008(5) Supreme 679 = 2008 AIR SCW 6398.

—Sec.311 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.120-B, r/w Secs.420,467,468 and 471 - PREVENTION OF CORRUPTION ACT, Sec.13(2), r/w 13(1)(d) - PRODUCTION EVIDENCE BY DEFENCE -Charge sheet filed again appellants/accused for offences under provisions of IPC and Prevention of Corruption Act - Prosecution examined nearly 52 witnesses in course of over 50 hearings - There after trial Court fixed date for hearing final arguments - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by appellant/ accused u/Sec.311 Cr.P.C for permission to examine three witnesses - High Court also dismissed Crl.M.P filed by appellan/accused - Hence, present appeal - Appellant contends that trial Court committed error in appreciating evidence which could have been provided by three witnesses in antispicitation and that there was no delay on part of appellant/accused in moving application and had this Application been allowed by Courts below no prejudice would have been caused to respondent - Respondents contend that Courts below have recorded finding of fact to extent that said evidence was not necessary to arrive just decision and that it was left to discretion of Court whethr to allow such Application or not and Courts below have considered case in correct perspective and thus no interference is called for - Sec.311 Cr.P.C. empowers Court to summon a material witness, or to examine a person present at "any stage" of "any enquiry", or "trial" or "any other proceedings" under Cr.P.C or to summon any person as a witness or to recall and re-examine any person has already been examined, if his evidence appears to it to be essential to arrival of just decision of case - Undoubtedly application filed u/Sec.311 Cr.P.C must be allowed if fresh evidence is being produced to facilitate a just decision - However in present case, trial Court Prejudged evidence of witnesses sought to be examined by appellant and thereby cause grave and material prejudice to appellant as regards her defence, which tantamounts to a flagrant violation of principles of law governing production of such evidence in keeping with provisions of Sec.311 Cr.P.C - In this case, High Court as simply quoted relevant paragraphs from judgment of Trial Court and has approved same without giving proper reasons, merely observing that additional evidence sought to be brought on record was not essential for purpose of arriving at just decision - No prejudice could have been caused to prosecution if a defence had been permitted to examine said three witnesses - Judgment and order of trial Court, as well as of High Court, are set aside - Application filed by appellant/accused u/Sec.311 Cr.P.C., allowed. Natasha Singh Vs. CBI (State) 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 99.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.311 - Re-examination of P.Ws. - Trial Court dismissed Application filed by 2nd respondent seeking permission for his re-examination contending that on earlier occasion he turned hostile under coercion and threat - High Court set aside order of trial Court - In this case, if really there was threat to his life at instance of appellant under other accused, it is not known as to why there was no immediate reference to such coercion ad undue influence against respondent at instance of appellant, when he had every opportunity to mention same to trial Judge or to Police Officers or to any prosecution agency - Such indifferent stance and silence maintained by 2nd respondent and categorical statement made before Court in his evidence appreciated by trial Court in proper perspective while rejecting application filed u/Sec.311 Cr.P.C - Trial Court shall proceed with trial from stage it was left and conclude same expeditiously - Order of trial Court, justified. Rajaram Prasad Yadav Vs. State of Bihar 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 265.

-—Sec.313 - INDIAN PENAL CODE, Secs.302 and 404 - EVIDENCE ACT, Sec.114 - "Circumstantial evidence" - "Evidence of hostile witness" - Sessions Court convicting appellant/accused for offence punishable u/Secs.302 and 404 - Conviction basing on circumstntial evidence - High Court dismissed Appeal preferred by appellant/accused - CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE - Prosecuion must establish its case beyond reasonable doubt and cannot derive any strength from weakness in defence putt up by accused - Circumstances on basis of which conclusions of guilt is to be drawn must be finally established and same must br of a conclusive nature and must exclude all possible hypothesis, except one to be proved - Facts so established must be consistent with hypothesis of guilt of accused and chain of evidence must be complete so as not to leave any reasonable ground for conclusion consistent with innocence of accused and must further show that in all probability said offence must have been committed by accused - HOSTILE WITNESS - It is settled legal propostion that evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto, merely because prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross examined him - Evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effect, or washed off record altogether and same can be acceepted to extent that version is found to be dependable upon careful scrutiny there of - Last scene theory - "Where an accused is alleged to have committed the murder of his wife and the prosecution succeeds in leading evidence to show that shortly before the commission of crime they were seen together or the offence takes place in the dwelling home where the husband also normally resided, it has been consistently held that if the accused does not offer any explanation how the wife received injuries or offers an explanation which is found to be false, it is a strong circumstance which indicates that he is responsible for commission of the crime - POLICE EVIDENCE - Evidence of Police Officer cannot be discarded merely on ground that they belonged to Police Force and or either interested in investigating or prosecution agency - However as for as possible corraboration of their evidence on material particulars should be sought - CITED WITNESSES - Prosecution is not bound to examine all cited witneses and it can drop witnesses to avoid multiplicity or plurality of witnesses - In an extraordinary situation, if Court comes to conclusion that a material witness has been withheld, it can draw an advrse inference against prosecution as has been provided undr Sec.114 of Evidence Act - In this case, facts established by prosecution do not warrant further review judgments of Court below - Appeal lacks merit - Hence, dismissed. Rohtash Kumar Vs. State of Haryana, 2013(2) Law Summary (S.C.) 114 = 2013(2) ALD (Crl) 806 (SC) = 2013 AIR SCW 3208 = 2013 Cri. LJ 3183.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.313 & 378 - - Medical evidence - Burden of proof - Session Judge convicted accused u/Sec.302, r/w Sec.34 IPC - High Court reversed judgment and order of Session Court - Undoubtedly postmortem report had been proved in this case, but thus does not mean each and every content thereof is stood proved or can be held to be admissible - Such observations cannot be termed to be a substantiative peace of evidence - Court cannot place reliance on incriminating material against accused unless it is put to him during his examination u/Sec.113 Cr.P.C - BURDEN OF PROOF - Once prosecution had brought home evidence of presence of accused at seen of crime, then onus stood shifted on defence to have brought forth suggestions as to what could have brought them to spot at dead of night - In this case, accused were apprehended and therefore, they were under obligation to rebut this burden discharged by prosecution and having failed to do so trial Court were justified in recording findings on this issue - High Court committed error by concluding that prosecution had failed to discharge its burden - In this case, circumstantial evidence is so strong that it points unmistakably to guilt of respondents/accused and is incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis that of their guilt - Therefore findings of fact recorded by High Court are perverse, being based on irrelevant considerations and inadmissible materials - Judgment and order of High Court, set aside - Judgment and order of trial Court restored - Appeals, allowed. State of U.P. Vs. Mohd Iqram, 2011(3) Law Summary (S.C.) 5 = 2011(2) ALD (Crl.) 830 (SC) = 2011 AIR SCW 3844 = 2011 Cri. LJ 3931 (SC).

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Secs.313(5) and 482 - "Filing of written statement by accused to questions, u/Sec.313 Cr.P.C." - Petitioner filed Application before trial Court u/Sec.313(5) of Cr.P.C seeking permission of Court to file his written statement to answer questions u/Sec.313 Cr.P.C - Trial Judge passing order stating that petitioner can answer orally and also file written statement - Petitioner contends that intention of Legislature in amending provision u/Sec.313(5) Cr..P.C is to enable accused person to file written statement on basis of questions prepared by Court with help of prosecutor and defence counsel which enables accused person to file written statement - When there is specific amendment to said prevision which enables accused to file his written statement to questions put to accused u/Sec.313 C.R.PC, there is no necessity to compel accused to answer before Court orally also - When accused himself is not inclined to answer orally and wants to submit himself for filing written statement, there is nothing wrong in permitting accused to file written statement - Impugned order, set aside - Trial Judge directed to accept written statement of petitioner/accused on basis of questionnaire prepared u/Sec.313 Cr.P.C. Bollam Chandraiah Vs. State of A.P. 2011(1) Law Summary (A.P.) 207 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl) 676 (AP) = 2011(1) ALT (Crl.) 290 (AP).

—Sec.317 – INDIAN PENAL CODE, Sec.279 & 304-A – MOTOR VECHICALS ACT, Sec.187 & 186 – Appellant/accused while driving tractor caused accident resulting death of child - Trail Court acquitted appellant/accused on ground that there was no evidence to hold that appellant/accused was driving Tractor at relevant time - High Court has not given any finding that conclusion drawn by Trail Court are perverse so as to mean that same is against weight of evidence - But only important issue is weather High Court was justified in re-appreciating evidence and reversing order of acquittal merely because of a possibility of another view - In this case High Court in impugned judgment does not seem to have taken a view that Judgment of Trail Court in acquitting accused is based on no material or it is perverse or view taken by Trail Court is wholly unreasonable or it is not a plausible view or there is non consideration any evidence or there is palpable misreading of evidence etc. - On contrary, it is only stand of High Court that on available evidence, another view is also reasonably possible in sense that appellant accused would have been convicted – In such circumstances High Court not justified in reversing acquittal – Judgment of Trail Court restored - Appeal allowed. Basappa Vs. State of Karnataka 2014(1) Law Summary (S.C.) 122

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE:

—Sec.319 - Scope and object - Stated - 2nd defendant/defacto-complainant filed complaint against A1 to A3 for alleged offences u/Secs.379,381 etc., of IPC - During trial, defacto-complainant filed Crl.M.P to add petitioners as A4 and A5 and punish them along with A1 to A3 - Trial Court dismissed Crl.M.P holding that there is no prima facie case, muchless material evidence against petitioners to issue process adding them as proposed accused 4 & 5 - Sessions Judge allowed Revision filed by 2nd respondent to add petitioners as A4 & A5 and proceed against them according to law - Power u/Sec.319 Cr.P.C to add new persons as accused in a trial case in order to try them also along with existing accused persons for offences, is an extraordinary power and that it has to be sparingly exercised by trial Courts - Such power can be exercised even when cross-examination or witness(s) was over or not - Yard stick for exercising that power in favour of prosecution or complainant is that evidence adduced on behalf of prosecution till then, if un-rebutted, would lead to conviction of persons sought to be added as accused in that case - In this case, 2nd respondent suspects that A1 to A3 who are employees in his Company colluded with each other and committed theft of intellectual property relating to setting up of another manufacturing Unit which was within knowledge of A1 and A2 basing on letter Ex.C1 seized from new Company alleged to have been addressed to proposed A4 - Admittedly Ex.C1 does not bear date or signature muchless name of author of said letter - Simply because C1 was seized from office of SCPL Company, no assumptions are permissible in criminal law that any of existing accused or newly added accused addressed that letter to proposed A4 - Except daughter of A1, A5 had absolutely no role in this case, muchless in SCPL - Observations of Sessions Judge in impugned order that Ex.C1 supports evidence of P.W.1 about role of proposed accused for offences for which case was filed, is not sufficient ground for allowing complainant to implead A4 and A5 as new persons for being tried along with A1 to A3 in this case - Thus, both on factual as well as on legal matrices - Impugned order of Sessions Judge does not stand to scrutiny - Hence, set aside - Revision petitions, allowed. Vijay Agarwal Vs. The State of A.P., 2010(3) Law Summary (A.P.) 1 = 2011(1) ALD (Crl.) 217 (AP) = 2010(3) ALT (Crl.) 295 (AP) = 2011 Cri. LJ (NOC) 107 (AP).

